Happy Easter from Senator Kidani

Aloha,

As we fast approach the end of Session the Senate is not slowing down. We received the State Budget from the House on Wednesday, March 16th and in less than a month, the Senate, on April 12 passed out the Budget with our amendments. We were able to cut spending while making every effort to keep priorities such as Education intact.

We now begin the conference process with less than a quarter of the bills that we started with in the beginning of Session. Conference is when both the House and Senate sit down to negotiate differences in a bill in order to come to an agreement on those differences. I have been assigned to over 60 conference bills and plan on being very busy. After negotiations all legislation must be finalized and forwarded to the Governor for his consideration by the last day of our 2011 session, Thursday, May 5, 2011.

Last month I was also proud to honor our very own Hawaii Five-0 television series featuring our beautiful island, congratulating them on a very successful first season. Some of the television stars and CBS producers and Vice President was in attendance to receive honors and kudos. We focused on the kind of revenue that shows like Hawaii Five-0 bring to our island State.

As always your comments and suggestions are always welcome. Please feel free to visit me at my office or contact me by phone, fax, or email. Thank you for your continued support.

Me ke Aloha Pumehana,

Hawaii Five-0 comes to the Capitol

Balancing the Budget

With the projection on March 10, 2011 by the Council on Revenues, Hawaii faces a budget deficit of nearly $1 billion over the next two years. The Legislature's priority and greatest challenge will be to preserve essential services for the public while balancing the state budget. The two options are to make cuts to personnel and existing state programs, and/or to increase the state revenue through fees, taxes, and adjustments to credits and exemptions.

Many have urged the state to cut deeper into the budget before raising fees and taxes. The legislature made significant cuts over the past two years. In 2009, the legislature closed a $2.1 billion deficit, half of which was through budget cuts. In 2010, the state faced an additional $1.2 billion deficit and again about half of the deficit was closed by cutting programs.

Given that the annual state general fund budget is normally about $5 billion, cumulative cuts ($2.1 billion + $1.2 billion) were significant to the state budget and its citizens.

The impacts were furloughs, loss of agriculture inspectors which jeopardized food safety, and elimination of many critical programs such as vector control, dam inspections, etc.

As we continue to deliberate the budget, we must be mindful of economic, health and safety impacts to our citizens.

Hawaii Five-0 and Film Industry Honored

On March 31st Senator Kidani recognized and commended CBS as well as the cast and crew of Hawaii Five-0 for an excellent and successful first season. The original Hawaii Five-O ran for 12 seasons from 1967 through 1980.

On September 20, 2010, CBS launched their most highly anticipated new show of the 2010 season on the 42nd anniversary of the original 5-O. The new Hawaii 5-0 became a hit domestically and internationally almost instantly. Fortunately for Hawaii the new show once again focused attention and millions of dollars of free advertising to our state.

The creative industries division of the Department of Business, Economic Development, and Tourism is a vital part of driving the State's creative economy.

Its sectors include the arts, culture, music, film, television, digital and new media. Combined, the creative industries division contributed over $4,000,000,000 to the State's gross domestic product in 2008 and 2009.

The film industry sector generated almost $60,000,000 in tax revenue since the creation of the motion picture, digital media, and film production income tax credit.

The creative industries, particularly film and television productions, go to great lengths to hire locally and invest in training and workforce development of island-based personnel.

The three television series and one independent feature film that recently filmed in Hawaii in 2004-North Shore, Hawaii, LOST, and Tides of War- had crews consisting of 85 to per cent Hawaii residents. More recent blockbuster productions, such as Tropic Thunder, Pirates of the Caribbean 4, and Hawaii Five-0, also have made use of a significant number of local talent and crew.

Senator Kidani urged the Senate to support the film, television, and digital media industries for the following reasons. First, these industries infuse significant amounts of new money into the economy, which is dispersed across many communities and businesses and benefits a wide array of residents.

The creative industries also creates skilled and high-paying jobs, have a natural dynamic synergy with Hawaii's top industry, tourism, and is used as a destination marketing tool for the visitor industry.

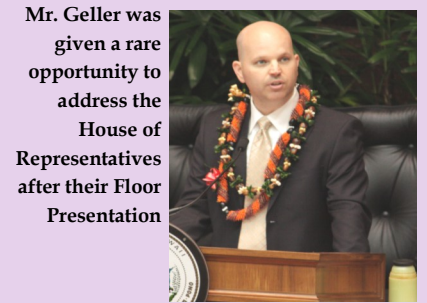

Senator Kidani concluded her Floor presentation by introducing the stars and special guests. Senior Vice President of Current Programming for CBS Paramount Network Television, Mr. Glenn Geller. Executive Producer for Hawaii Five-0, Mr. Peter Lenkov. Steve McGarret, played by Mr. Alex O'Loughlin. Chin Ho Kelly played by Mr. Daniel Dae Kim.

In 1967, the Hawaii State Legislature passed the Art-in-State-Buildings law. Signed by Governor John A. Burns, the law established the State Foundation on Culture and the Arts, Art in Public places Program. The concept of statewide "museum without walls", comprised of site-specific commission works of art and portable relocatable works of art, the program places art in publicly accessible state buildings to expand aesthetic opportunities as part of daily life. Relocatable works of art, which can be seen throughout the Capitol, are intended to be rotated throughout Hawaii at different display sites in order for all people of the state to have access to view visual arts in various styles, techniques and media.

Each year in April the Hawaii State Capitol opens its doors after hours to allow the public to peruse our offices and see all the art we are privileged to have. Senator Kidani participates every year and gives a guided tour of her office space to all of the visitors. The picture that was taken is with her favorite art piece in her office by the artist, Sally French. It is a 2008 digital photography named Fumiko: Keeper of the Meek.

Honoring Hawaii's Fallen Military Ohana

The Hawaii Medal of Honor Ceremony was held on March 29, 2011 at the State Capitol. This year marks the fifth year that the state Legislature convened in a joint session to honor the fallen service members. The 2011 Medal of Honor Recipients gathered in the Senate Chambers for a heartfelt program that included 17 Honor Recipients. One of the young men honored was 28 year old 1997 Mililani High School graduate Army Corporal Specialist Toby R. Olsen . Specialist Toby R. Olsen was with the 3rd Battalion, 509 Infantry (Airborne) stationed out of Fort Richardson, Alaska.

Senator Michelle Kidani was able to meet with Olsen Ohana, Army Colonel Jim and his wife Lis as they accepted the Medal of Honor for their son Specialist Toby R. Olsen. Senator Kidani was able to express her thanks for their sacrifice and to listen to Lis Olsen tell how she is healing by helping other families that have lost loved ones in the War as the Army Community Service outreach director.

The program consisted of a Governors' message, Presentation of Certificates, a 21 Gun Salute and Taps from the Marine Forces Pacific Band. Following the ceremony the families were invited to attend fellowship with families and Legislators.

Symbolism of the Hawaii Medal of Honor

The Hawaii Medal of Honor was designed by Sergeant First Class Aaron Pollick from the National Guard.

This Medal consists of the following six components, superimposed on each other:

Circle of Kalo Leaves: The kalo leaves represent the family or Ohana. The leaves are designed in an encircled fashion and represent the concept of Ohana, which we strive to embrace.

Coat of Arms: The Great Shield is the keystone of the design. The eight bars represent the eight major islands of the state of Hawaii. The kapu sticks symbolize authority or protection. The star in the center of the medallion is the Star of Hawaii, the 50th star on the flag of the United States. This star also represents the honorees of this prestigious award.

Maltese Cross: The Maltese Cross represents the four directional axes of the globe, denoting Hawaii as the Crossroads of the Pacific.

Sun Rays: The irradiant sun is the symbol of the new era. Its position in the center of the Maltese Cross represents our sunny shores and warm hearts ever shining on all the corners of the world.

The Neck Drape: The neck drape is the red and golden yellow in color. These colors symbolize the royal monarchy that once ruled these islands. The red represents courage and strength. The golden yellow depicts the honor that the recipients have brought to our islands.

Service Ribbon & Attachment: The service ribbon represents distinguished service. Its colors are identical to the color of the neck drape. The attachment device at the middle of the ribbon is an ancient flag of the Hawaiian Chiefs.
