HEARING BEFORE THE
HOUSE COMMITTEE ON CULTURE & ARTS

TESTIMONY ON HB 957
RELATING TO LAULAU DAY

Conference Room 309 & Videoconference
10:30 AM

Aloha Chair Kapela, Vice-Chair Kong, and Members of the Committee:

I am Brian Miyamoto, Executive Director of the Hawai'i Farm Bureau (HFB). Organized since 1948, the HFB is comprised of 1,800 farm family members statewide and serves as Hawai'i's voice of agriculture to protect, advocate, and advance the social, economic, and educational interests of our diverse agricultural community.

The Hawai'i Farm Bureau supports HB 957, which designates May 1 of each year as "Laulau Day" in the State. Laulau is an iconic dish in Hawaiian cuisine, deeply tied to both the cultural and agricultural traditions of Hawai'i.

Recognizing Laulau Day not only celebrates the cultural importance of laulau but also highlights the farmers and ranchers who provide the essential ingredients that make this dish possible. Kalo farming has been a foundation of Hawaiian agriculture for generations, with its leaves and corms serving as a staple food source. Traditionally used in cooking, medicine, and cultural practices, Ti leaves remain an important part of local agriculture. Hawai'i's pork industry also contributes to the production of laulau, further supporting local food sustainability.

Establishing Laulau Day provides a valuable opportunity to celebrate the traditions of Native Hawaiian culture and promote greater awareness of the time-honored practices that have been preserved and shared across generations. It also serves as an opportunity to recognize the farmers, ranchers, and food producers who sustain Hawai'i's agricultural industry. Promoting the use of locally grown ingredients in laulau preparation helps strengthen the state's food security, reduces dependence on imports, and supports Hawai'i's farming communities.

We encourage the committee to pass HB 957 to recognize this culturally significant dish while also celebrating and supporting Hawai'i's agricultural industry. Thank you for the opportunity to provide testimony on this measure.

I write in strong support of HB957. Laulau represents the resilience, history, and cultural identity of the Hawaiian people. Hawaii has already recognized cultural observances such as Kimchi Day, Buddha Day, and Sakada Day, highlighting the contributions of diverse ethnic groups in our State. Establishing Laulau Day would ensure Hawaiian culture is honored in the same way.

Aloha Chair Kapela and Vice Chair Kong, and Members of the Committee,

My name is Davina, and I am writing in strong support of HB957, which seeks to designate Laulau Day as an annual celebration of Hawaiian culture, honoring the significance of this traditional dish and the people who perpetuate it.

Laulau is more than just food—it represents the resilience, history, and cultural identity of the Hawaiian people. From the farmers who cultivate kalo (taro) and luau leaves to the chefs and families who prepare it with care, laulau embodies a deep connection to ‘āina (land), sustainability, and community.

Hawai‘i has already recognized cultural observances such as Kimchi Day, Buddha Day, and Sakada Day, highlighting the contributions of diverse ethnic groups in our state. Establishing Laulau Day would ensure that Hawaiian culture is honored in the same way, celebrating not only a beloved food staple but also the economic, historical, and cultural significance it holds.

For many, laulau has also served as a means of economic empowerment. I personally have [share a brief personal connection—e.g., "participated in laulau fundraisers for school/sports" or "learned to make laulau as a way to stay connected to my heritage"]. This measure provides an opportunity to recognize Hawaiian traditions and ensure they continue to thrive for future generations.

I respectfully urge the committee to pass HB957 and formally establish Laulau Day as a recognized cultural observance in Hawai‘i.

Mahalo for your time and consideration.

Respectfully,

Davina

I know firsthand how Laulau brings people together. I’m the owner of Papa Laulauz LLC and we sell Laulau! I always say an “ONO Laulau always take me back to the Good ole days of when I was growing up as a child and at family Luaus. When Laulau was being served you know there’s gonna be Onolicious food! At a young age we were taught how to make Laulau as an Ohana everyone’s hands would play a part in this process from the kupuna to keiki. Definitely good memories of Better days. Doing this as a business going on 8 years good food still brings the ohana to the table and at that moment gives you a chance to talk story with your ohana. We have customers that would reminisce about their past when their ohana would make Laulau. The luau leaf from the Kalo plant which is needed to make Laulau represents Resilience it looks soft but it is super strong. It keeps itself together even in the windiest days!! It’s not Easily broken!

I respectfully urge the committee to pass HB957 and formally establish Laulau Day as a recognized cultural observance in Hawai‘i.

Mahalo for your time and consideration.

Respectfully, Heide Kila Papa Laulauz LLC Owner 808-275-6061

Hello Chair Kapela, Vice Chair Kong, and Members of the Committee,

Aloha, my name is Nanea Lo, and I am writing in strong support of HB957, which seeks to designate Laulau Day as an annual celebration of Hawaiian culture. This bill is not just about honoring a beloved dish—it is about recognizing the resilience, history, and identity of Kānaka Maoli and ensuring that our traditions are celebrated and perpetuated for generations to come.

Laulau is more than just food; it is a symbol of our deep connection to ‘āina (land), sustainability, and community. From the farmers who cultivate kalo (taro) and lu‘au leaves to the families and chefs who prepare it with care, laulau represents the collective effort and knowledge that has sustained our people for centuries. The practice of making laulau is an embodiment of Hawaiian values.

Hawai‘i has already recognized cultural observances such as Kimchi Day, Buddha Day, and Sakada Day, which highlight the contributions of various ethnic communities in the islands. Establishing Laulau Day ensures that Hawaiian culture receives the same recognition and appreciation. This is an opportunity to uplift Kānaka Maoli traditions and reaffirm our place in our homeland.

For many, laulau has also served as a means of economic empowerment. I personally have participated in laulau fundraisers for school and community initiatives, and I have learned to make laulau as a way to stay connected to my kūpuna. These experiences have reinforced the importance of food sovereignty and the need to protect and celebrate our traditional practices.

By passing HB957, we ensure that laulau is more than just a dish—it remains a living legacy of our people. I respectfully urge the committee to support this measure and formally establish Laulau Day as a recognized cultural observance in Hawai‘i.

Me ke aloha ‘āina,

Nanea Lo
