"Mr. Speaker, I stand in support of this measure. Human trafficking is an unfortunate circumstance of human beings in poor living conditions, desperate for a better quality of life. As a result, they are deceived, taken advantage of, and abused in numerous ways. Many of them are immigrants, particularly women and children.

"According to the U.S. Government, approximately 800,000 human beings are trafficked across international borders each year, with millions more being trafficked in their own nations. Of these 800,000, 80% are females, and up to 50% are minors.

"Because of Hawaii's geographical position, human trafficking is occurring in our islands. During November of 2003, a Waipahu man was charged with several counts of human trafficking and forced labor on his pig farm in Nanakuli.

"On January 4th of 2008, two men were sentenced by the federal court in Hawaii for illegally recruiting Chinese women to American Samoa. The women were forced into prostitution by being denied access to their passports, and the pay they were promised.

"It is essential that the Hawaii Anti-Trafficking Task Force receives the extended time period, additional members, and funding necessary for Hawaii to stay involved in this united, national battle against human trafficking."

The motion was put to vote by the Chair and carried, and the report of the Committee was adopted and H.B. Representative Lee rose in support of the measure and asked that her written remarks be inserted in the Journal, and the Chair "so ordered."

Representative Lee's written remarks are as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, I am in strong support of HB 2766 – Relating to Electronic Monitoring.

"Victims obtain Temporary Restraining Orders (TRO) or Protective Orders (PO) as legal means for seeking safety from domestic violence. Statistics show that approximately 75% of women murdered by a partner or former partner had separated from their batterer or told their batterer they planned to leave.

"The intimate nature of these relationships means that the offender is well versed in the victim's routines, and personal and social affiliations, such as family, friends, and membership in organizations. He knows when and where she works, the school where she waits to pick up the children, her telephone numbers, as well as her travel routes to reach home, work or fulfill other responsibilities, needs or preferences. Such knowledge of her daily routines furnishes the abuser with numerous opportunities to harass, talk, intimidate, assault or abuse the victim in violation of protective orders.

"The electronic monitor is a global positioning satellite (GPS) device. Its purpose is to reduce contact between an order violator and the victim. If the order violator enters a court defined exclusion zone, the victim and the police will be notified as to the violator's location.

"Electronic monitoring serves as an additional tool that would assist in protecting victims and their children's safety."

The motion was put to vote by the Chair and carried, and the report of the Committee was adopted and H.B. No. 2766, HD 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ELECTRONIC MONITORING," passed Second Reading and was referred to the Committee on Judiciary with Representatives Berg, Herkes and Nakasone being excused.

And basically we're just inviting you out to enjoy some exercise, walking or running on Tuesday. There's the information right there in front of you.

"Throughout the Session, I know it's difficult to carve out that time to do exercise and keep healthy. And in case you're a little afraid of getting out there and getting that heart pumping we will have our Doc of the House out there running with us. So he'll keep an eye on us. I hope to see you there."
