"Mr. Speaker, with reservations, one brief comment. Everything looks to be fine in the bill except the reciprocity issue. There was a lot of testimony in Finance as to how it would be enforced, how it would be verified, and how people coming into the state would be able to bring it into the state, and then how to verify that they in effect have medical cards. And because there's no national database, it looks like it would be a patchwork, which right now, for many of the administration didn't think was too viable or feasible at this stage. Thank you."

Representative Tupola rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations, stating:

"With reservations, similar concerns about the reciprocity program. Looking forward to further conversation at is moves. Thank you."

Representative DeCoite's written remarks are as follows:

"With reservations. The Department of Health had serious concerns with this bill and testified that dispensaries would be placed in a conflict of interest position of self-validating patients to whom they would sell products. It also stated that a reciprocity program is complex and requires discipline of more independent and objective verification processes. Reciprocity could also jeopardize Hawaii patients' access to medical cannabis. The Attorney General also raised concerns regarding this bill. I suggest caution as we move forward with this bill. Mahalo."

Representative Har rose and asked that the Clerk record an aye vote with reservations for her, and the Chair "so ordered."

Representative Har rose in opposition to the measure and asked that her written remarks be inserted in the Journal, and the Chair "so ordered."

Representative Har's written remarks are as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to Standing Committee Report Number 928-18, H.B. 71, HD 1, Relating to Ethics. This bill makes it unlawful for any governor or county mayor, while serving in their respective capacities as governor or county mayor, to maintain any other employment or receive any emolument. I am in opposition to this measure because if the Legislature is to pass such a bill for the executive branch, we should also pass the same measure for the legislative branch. Doing so would exemplify good government and transparency, in that we would remove any purported conflicts from either branch of government.

"Mr. Speaker, while there is no preamble to HB 71, HD 1 explaining the legislative intent of this measure, I can only surmise that the intent is to ensure that any such conflicts of interests the executives of the State or county may have by holding private sector employment, would be avoided should this bill become law. While I wholeheartedly support that intent, the fact of the matter is that we in the Legislature have the same conflicts as the governor and mayors and perhaps even a heightened conflict of interest. What exacerbates our conflicts in the Legislature is that we have the power to appropriate funds, whereas the executives have only the power to release the funds we have appropriated. As such, members of the Legislature who hold outside private sector positions have the ability to influence funds to any private sector interest that would benefit that member. While we in the Legislature requests rulings on potential conflicts, it is rare that the Speaker has ever found an actual conflict, notwithstanding the fact that some members may benefit in a pecuniary manner (i.e. a member who is an attorney and votes on the 'claims against the State' bill which would provide settlement monies to that member). Accordingly, I stand in opposition to this measure insofar as it should apply not only to the executive branches, but to the Legislature and councils as well. For these reasons, I sadly remain in opposition to this measure as it fails to ensure that all conflicts of government officials are averted. Thank you, Mr. Speaker."

The motion was put to vote by the Chair and carried, and the report of the Committee was adopted and H.B. No. 71, HD 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ETHICS," passed Third Reading by a vote of 40 ayes to 6 noes, with Representatives Choy, Har, Ito, Kong, Souki and Tokioka voting no, and with Representatives Cachola, Ing, San Buenaventura, Say and Yamane being excused.

Representative DeCoite rose in support of the measure with reservations and asked that her written remarks be inserted in the Journal, and the Chair "so ordered."

Representative DeCoite's written remarks are as follows:

"With reservations. My concern with this bill is that this bill will increase costs for employers. Employers will not have much of a choice if they have to choose between establishing a sick leave program as spelled out in this bill or increasing their employees' wages to $15 by 2021. Mahalo."

Representative Tokioka rose in opposition to the measure and asked that his written remarks be inserted in the Journal, and the Chair "so ordered."

Representative Tokioka's written remarks are as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, I oppose this bill because it would certainly affect small businesses, many of which cannot afford another financial burden of fees and taxes imposed by the government."

dependent care deduction, I believe that it should be targeted to families with lower incomes. Thank you."

Representative Evans rose to speak in support of the measure, stating:

"Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in strong support and a few comments on this. This is the nonrefundable tax credit for eligible taxpayers for childcare costs for children up to four years of age. I think it's really critical in a time and age where we have, people have to work two jobs, people have to basically make sure their children are well taken care. There's a lot of initiatives this year on early childhood learning and understanding the importance of having our children up to four to five in preschool. I think this will go a long ways to helping us. Nowadays we really need to support working families. I'm the chair of Economic Development, and I believe this is really supporting us in our workforce today. So, I strongly support this bill. Thank you."

Representative Tupola rose to speak in support of the measure, stating:

"In support. I just also wanted to add to the same comment made by one of the previous speakers that actually I've taken advantage of the child tax credit already, because all of my preschool payments for my children were all, we got deductions for that, and currently, for all of my after school care, there's also a deduction for that, currently. So, again, if we're expanding it even more so, then great, but we actually do have that tax credit right now for children. Thank you."

"I have a no vote on this, but I just wanted to explain real quick. I personally stood up and said that Oregon has a really good system, which I'm hoping that we can follow a little bit. What they do is, they go through the signatures when somebody actually says that they're going to vote, they compare that signature to the signature that's sent in with the ballot, they do five different points of the signature to verify that it's actually the same person. However, we've had so many issues with our Office of Elections in the past that it leads us for concern, because we need to actually fix that problem first, which is making sure that our Office of Elections is, I guess, broad enough and adept enough that they can actually implement something of this size, and making all mail-in ballots. So those are my concerns, but again, there's good models we can follow, I hope we do, but in our state, we should probably fix our Office of Election problem first. Thank you."

Representative LoPresti rose in support of the measure and asked that his written remarks be inserted in the Journal, and the Chair "so ordered."

Representative LoPresti's written remarks are as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, I stand in strong support of this measure, which would regulate for-profit universities by requiring them to identify themselves as a for-profit business on all promotional materials, ending a deceptive behavior that can have serious negative consequences for students. The integrity of the diploma received from an institution is of prime importance to the individual who invests years of their life and tens of thousands of dollars—often in the form of state and federal loans or grants. People seeking a higher education should not have to investigate whether an institution is a business that's trying to make a profit versus a non-profit or government institution. This should be stated plainly by the business on all of its promotional materials.

"Those who seek to become students want to enroll at institutions that put students' needs first. Unfortunately, they have too often found themselves to be merely customers who are being bilked for the bottom line of a publicly traded company whose primary incentive is to minimize spending on actual education so that they can maximize profit from their customers' tuition. Genuine higher education nurtures relationships between professors and students conducive to opening minds, instilling knowledge and awakening wonder; it has never been about employees serving customers. It is important that prospective students know which sort of institution they are considering to dedicate years of their life and future earnings towards and this information is so important that it should be in the name of the institution itself.

"National for-profit institutions such as ITT Tech., Trump University, and Heald College locally have failed catastrophically, nullifying the credibility of diploma holders and displacing students. According to a U.S. Senate committee report, 96% of all students in these types of institutions take out loans to pay for their education and have a 22% chance of defaulting on their loans in the first few years of their education. Due to the previous presidential administration's tightening of rules on for-profit institutions, more than 28 institutions, including some of the largest and most popular ones, have been charged with false advertising by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

"According to The Century Foundation, a nationally recognized non-partisan think tank, for-profit institutions, particularly when financed by third parties such as government grants and loans, disproportionately lead to decreased student earnings, growing debt balances, unmanageable debt loads, loan default, and student deception.

"The Century Foundation has further indicated in testimony that across Hawaii, over 2,000 students are enrolled in for-profit colleges. Hawaii students at for-profit colleges are half as likely to graduate and more than twice as likely to default on student loans compared to their counterparts at not-for-profit colleges. In the past, state policymakers may have assumed that, because for-profit colleges receive up to 90% of their funds through the U.S. Department of Education and additional funds for serving military and veteran students, overseeing them is primarily a federal responsibility. But in fact, federal oversight has been demonstrated to be inadequate, and the Trump administration is in the process of rolling back the protections that do exist."
