"Mr. Speaker, I rise in support. Mr. Speaker, I just saw the movie Sound of Freedom. If people haven't seen it, I highly recommend it. It really gives you upfront and close understanding of what this is really about. It's unbelievable all the tragedy that is happening.

"One of the takeaways is the fact that there is now more slavery in the world now, when it's illegal, than when it was legal. And most of the slavery is young girls in the sex trafficking. So, Mr. Speaker, this is not a perfect thing aligning. I understand there's a part where it's not as stringent if we adopt the federal, but it's better than not having the other benefits of the federal. So, this is a good bill.

"But, I cannot believe, and I know Hawai'i is part and parcel of that sex trafficking. Look at Sound of Freedom and you will be angry, but then you will weep or at least shed a tear. This is a good bill. Thank you, Mr. Speaker."
