The Senate reconvened at 11:52 o'clock a.m. with the Vice President in the Chair.

ADVISE AND CONSENT

Ldr. Com. Rep. No. 2472 (Gov. Msg. No. 215):

Senator A. Kobayashi moved that Ldr. Com. Rep. No. 2472 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Hagino and carried.

Senator A. Kobayashi then moved that the Senate consent to the nomination of STEVEN H. LEVINSON for Associate Justice of the State Supreme Court, for a term of ten years, in accordance with the provisions of Article VI, Section 3, of the Hawaii State Constitution, seconded by Senator Hagino.

Senator A. Kobayashi rose to speak in support of the nominee and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the nomination.

"Unfortunately, the confirmation process of Judge Levinson was not a simple one and I'd like to apologize to him and his family for any grief that they have encountered, which I'm sure they did. However, we were receiving negative phone calls and letters before the confirmation hearing and immediately after the hearing. Actually the easy way out would have been to confirm him right away, but when have we ever taken that easy way out. We are here to serve the public. We're here to follow through on concerns and not just cast aside citizen complaints. We're here to make sure that nominees, especially those nominees who are appointed to our highest court are individuals who are not only legally qualified but who also care deeply for Hawaii.

"Everyone agrees that Judge Steven Levinson is a highly intelligent man. That was said over and over in testimony and in follow-up letters. He knows the law and he loves the law. Like our other supreme court nominee, Robert Klein, this man, Judge Levinson, has heart. He is a good human being. Like all of us, he doesn't like criticisms but he is not afraid of it. He admits mistakes and he learns from them. All of these human qualities, together with his outstanding judicial qualities, will make him a great supreme court justice.

"I urge confirmation of Judge Steven Levinson."

Senator Iwase also rose to support the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the nomination of Judge Steven Levinson to the State Supreme Court. The accolades he has received from all segments of the legal community attest to the character and superb qualifications of Judge Levinson.

"Mr. President, in supporting Judge Levinson I do wish to note a rather curious editorial which appeared in yesterday's Star-Bulletin, entitled 'Judgeship choices are a system's poor results.' Of course, we do not know who wrote the editorial because the writer has hidden behind the corporate name of the newspaper. We do not know if the writer ever attended any of the Senate hearings we conducted; whether the writer spoke to the Star-Bulletin court reporters about the judges so that the writer could make an informed and intelligent decision; whether the writer has a competent network of information; whether the writer merely leads an Elmer Fudd existence; whether the writer, to borrow from an old Beatles song, 'is nothing more than a fool on the hill.'

"To the writer's credit, either because of a scintilla of honesty or a pound of ignorance, the writer reveals the true motive of the editorial. The writer has a favorite candidate who was not selected. Because the Star-Bulletin's candidate was not chosen the editorial concludes, regarding the selection process, 'Those who participate in it must do better next time to put the public's interest ahead of their own political and personal agenda.'

"First of all, Mr. President, I find it curious that given this newspaper's spotty history throughout this century on progressive human rights, people oriented legislation, that it should now profess to champion the public's interest.

"Secondly, I would remind the writer of the editorial that the people of this state did not anoint the Star-Bulletin to select our judges - wisely so. In our Constitution it is left to a body of 9 individuals - 4 lawyers and 5 lay people - to undertake that task. It is an insult to 9 unpaid individuals that the Star-Bulletin would accuse each one of them of improper motives because the Star-Bulletin's candidate was not selected.

"Mr. President, we have before us the name of Judge Steven Levinson. I do not know this man. I never had a case against this man. I never appeared in his courtroom. We have sat through the process in this Senate. I have read all of the material, pro and con, sent to us on Judge Levinson, and I will vote for this good man. My high political and personal agenda is to vote for highly qualified individuals to serve on the bench. That is in the highest public interest. That is what my vote represents today. I don't know whose interest the Star-Bulletin speaks for but based on this paper's editorial history it speaks for the public interest only by chance.

"Judge Levinson, Mr. President, will make an excellent Supreme Court justice.

"As for this editorial, to borrow from Edgar Allen Poe, 'It is nothing more than a liquid mass of odious putrescence.'

"Thank you."

Senator Blair also rose to speak in support of the nominee and remarked:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the nominee and concur with the remarks of the previous speaker whose eloquence I cannot hope to match. The only thing that I would add is that, unlike the previous speaker, I was once on the opposite side of a case with Steve Levinson when he was in private practice. That experience makes me all the more assured that we are doing a very good thing today if we confirm him.

"I know several hundred lawyers in this town, personally. There are probably well over a thousand with whom I've had some degree of professional contact. By reputation, I guess I know a clear majority of them. Based on my experience and information, the Judicial Selection Commission and the governor could not have, in the entire membership of the bar of the State of Hawaii, found a candidate more worthy of our support than is Judge Steve Levinson.

"Thank you."

Senator Chang also stood to speak in support of the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I participated in the confirmation hearing on Judge Levinson's nomination to the circuit court, and my recollection of the information gathered by the Judiciary Committee at that time leads me to conclude that we have an eminently qualified nominee to the Hawaii State Supreme Court.

"I want to congratulate the nominee for being a very intelligent, a very scholarly, and a very qualified nominee, for offering himself, as talented as he is, for public service, and subjecting him to the caldron of public scrutiny that only we as elected public officials can understand. So this morning I'd like to add my accolade to the nominee for his public service and his sacrifice, and congratulate him on his nomination. Thank you."

Senator Cobb also rose to support the nominee and stated:

"Mr. President, just to go on record. When there were questions raised about the nominee I called him personally and he spent an hour on the phone answering in great detail all of the questions that had been raised and that I had raised, and I find this attitude of being totally forthcoming, very direct, very honest, very detailed in his response, to be a trait of Judge Levinson.

"I think he is strongly deserving of elevation to the Supreme Court because I think he represents the new breed of thinking. It says, 'You go out and you answer every question that's put in detail and then let people decide.' He's done that. I for one have had all of my questions answered and I urge my colleagues to join in support of Judge Levinson.

"Thank you."

Senator Reed added his support of the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to add my voice in support of the nominee.

"Steven Levinson will be a scholarly addition to the Supreme Court. I'm convinced that he is a man of integrity and intellectual honesty. I'm also convinced that, if ever confronted with a choice between what is politically correct and what is legally correct, Judge Levinson will not for a moment hesitate to stand up for and indeed fight for that which is legally correct.

"I'm confident that Steve Levinson will be an excellent member of the Supreme Court. He has a political and intellectual independence, borne of intellectual integrity, and he has my full support."

Senator Holt also added his support of the nominee and remarked:

"Mr. President, speaking in support of the nominee.

"I had an opportunity to meet with him yesterday and, having not known the individual before, found him to be uniquely qualified, very friendly. I knew he had the legal qualifications but I wanted to find out what else he's made of and I asked him what his other interests were. He's very active in Hawaii Speech League and has been in the debate arena for quite some time and I guess his favorite pastime now is collecting videos. I asked him if he had the 'Silence of the Lamb' yet and he said, 'No.' I told him he can borrow mine anytime. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, none. Excused, 4 (Kobayashi, B., Levin, Wong, R., Yamasaki).

At this time, Senator A. Kobayashi introduced Judge Steven Levinson, Mrs. Levinson and their children who were seated in the audience.

At this time, Senator Solomon introduced to the members of the Senate a group of 6th, 7th and 8th grade students from Waimea School, Big Island, accompanied by their teachers: Mrs. Geri Giffin, Ms. Kathy Furuya, Mr. Glenn Kadota; and parents: Ms. Debbie Harkins and Mr. Alan Wilcox.

RE-REFERRAL OF HOUSE BILL

The Chair re-referred the following House bill that was received:

House Bill Referred to:

No. 2123, H.D. 1 Jointly to the Committee on Education and the Committee on Judiciary

Senator McCartney then rose to speak on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak on a point of personal privilege.

"I know it's Friday and we are supposed to talk about good things and I am going to talk about things that are good.

"I read the editorial in this morning's Advertiser which is titled, 'School reform - Legislature dropping the ball?'

"I would like to assure my colleagues that what is good is that we are not dropping the ball. We are working very hard and diligently to bring about school reform and bring about a bill and product that we can all be proud of.

"Let me just say for the record, Mr. President, that it's easy to throw stones but the key is, we all have to work together. The focal point that we need to focus on are the children of the state and we need to make decisions based on what is in their best interest. In no way have we dropped the ball. The Senate is working hard on a bill right now that is very comprehensive in reform and it goes broad-base across all spectrums.

"The proposal that the Advertiser supports, in my mind, drops the ball because it is not comprehensive. It only focuses in on the Board of Education and only reforming the Board of Education. That will not solve improving the quality of education in our schools. They want to put three proposals on the ballot and let the voters decide in the primary election which proposal is good and then put it on the ballot in the general election.

"Mr. President, as policymakers, as lawmakers, it is our duty and responsibility to share our vision with the public, enact it into laws and ask them to ratify it. That is what we are working on. We are not going to throw something out there and pass the buck to the voters. We are going to make the tough decisions that need to be made in order to support the vision of our schools.

"Those three proposals have three different impacts on the schools and if we don't know what we want to happen in the schools how can we put three proposals up there. I don't think that's a wise proposal. I don't think it's good public policy.

"Our reform package, Mr. President, starts from the schools, not from the top down, like this proposal talks about. Our proposal says reform starts at the schools. And how do we create a system that support the schools, the teachers, the principals and the school communities, working together collaboratively to meet the needs of the child.

"In our bill we look at it very comprehensively. We look at the Board of Education, redefining their role and responsibility, taking away their management power and giving that to the schools. Taking away their management power and giving it to the schools, Mr. President! That is school-community-based management and participation.

"We are also looking at reforming what the role of the Legislature is. If we are going to make the schools step forward, all the groups - the Legislature, the Board of Education, the Department of Education, the unions, the bureaucracies - we all need to take a step back if schools are to move forward in student achievement. That is what we are doing in this bill, Mr. President.

"We have the Legislature looking at lump-sum budgeting. We have the Legislature putting in assessment mechanisms. We are telling the schools, if we are going to give you money directly and give up some of our control over method and means in order to achieve greater policy results, then we want some accountability and some outcomes and we want some results. We are putting in mechanisms, Mr. President, that will provide for those outcomes and results to be used as monitoring devices for us. So we want accountability.

"We are looking at the collective bargaining laws to see how we can restructure that. We are looking at the powers of the governor as to whether he should restrict money from education unilaterally - no!

"We are also looking, Mr. President, at a very comprehensive bill that looks at sunseting all the rules and laws on education and instead of putting the burden on the schools to justify their existence, our bill puts the burden on the bureaucracies to justify their existence as to why they should control schools. I think, Mr. President, this is a bill that the Senate can be proud of and the Legislature can be proud.

"In no way are we dropping the ball on education. We are carrying that ball proudly and moving forward and when this bill comes to the floor on Tuesday, I hope that we can discuss and debate it. There may be things in the bill that aren't perfect but we need to continue to work together collaboratively to see this product to its final form.

"With that, Mr. President, I would like to thank you for allowing me to share the good news of the day."

Senator Blair also rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, briefly, I concur with the remarks of the previous speaker. I had the opportunity to sit in on a hearing of the Education Committee, not as a member but because of the constitutional amendment provision on the agenda I was privileged to sit in and watch the committee in action. I found that far from dropping the ball, the Education Committee has a better grasp on this issue than any member of the media that I have talked to or heard or read.

"Furthermore, the proposal, championed by the Advertiser, for three constitutional amendments on the primary election ballot in a run-off, with the winner moving on to the general election ballot for ratification, appears to me to be in violation of Article X, Section 5 of our State Constitution. I would hate for us to work hard, establishing school reforms, and then have our decision appealed to Justice Levinson and the other members of the Supreme Court for the final determination. I think we should be careful before we endorse the run-off proposal of the Lieutenant Governor and the Advertiser because of concerns in the area of Article XI, Section 5.

"Thank you."

Senator McMurdo also on a point of personal privilege stated:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I would like to address the remarks of the first speaker and say that there is a substantial number of people on this island who do not feel that being allowed to make a decision on a ballot on an issue of great importance is what you call 'passing the buck.' Where I come from, we call it initiative and referendum."

Senator Chang also stood on a point of personal privilege and remarked:

"Mr. President, I glanced at the press release issued by the chairman of the Committee on Judiciary and, following the urging of my colleague from Kahaluu in thinking good thoughts, I would like to congratulate the chairman of the Committee on Judiciary for his reincarnation. Thank you."

Senator Koki added his remarks on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege in support of our Senator from Kahaluu.

"When you sit on these hearings, particularly when you are chairing it and knowing the background that Senator McCartney has, and the amount of time that he has spent in looking this over and then for a newspaper to go and endorse a very simplistic plan of putting three alternatives is really, really shortsighted. I think that is one of the services that the media does to the electorate, of trying to get them to think that they are participating in it but when you typically have people who are elected to study the issues, to really struggle over, and it's so tempting for a politician to do what is publicly popular. So I want to state my support in encouraging the Senator from Kahaluu to stick to his guns because I, for one, have full confidence in his ability and the ability of the entire education committee, and in our ability to look over the issue and finally vote on it. Thank you."

Senator Solomon also spoke on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, also on a point of personal privilege in response to the previous speakers.

"Mr. President, in fairness, I would like to commend the Lieutenant Governor and the task force. I think they did a tremendous job coming up with these recommendations.

"The Lieutenant Governor did report to your Committee on Education that it was up to the committee as well as this esteemed body as to whether we would like to put the proposed three amendments on the ballot. In response to the editorial in the Advertiser, whatever the media chooses to do with the information, so be it.

"But, again, I would like to commend the task force. I think they did a tremendous job with a controversial issue. They had a very difficult time in dealing with the issues. They did admit that many of the responses to the public survey were confusing and made it difficult to separate the information and categorize the responses according to subject matter. These categories need to be comprehensible to the Legislature this session so that we could look at the document, discuss those considerations and come up with a reform package which would be meaningful to everyone in the State of Hawaii.

"I am confident that we are moving in that direction. I clearly see, as your former education chairman, the issues of governance and of fiscal accountability and management. We had a lot of difficulty in separating the two areas as they affect governance. The task force admitted that they had a lot of difficulty in trying to separate the two issues because of the conflict between our state's highly centralized fiscal management in our budget proceedings and the issue of autonomy in hiring and firing personnel."

At 12:16 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:17 o'clock p.m.

Senator Crozier then rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, in this morning's newspaper there is an article about the Senators being told to 'stay home' and is written by Andy Yamaguchi. First of all, I would like to compliment Mr. Yamaguchi on the style of writing and the accuracy of his comments and the neutral position that he took and just wrote the facts. In that sense I would like to compliment him.

"I was interviewed both by the Advertiser and the Star-Bulletin. I haven't read the Star-Bulletin but I'm sure they will do just as good a job as the Advertiser did with their accuracy.

"The point I would like to talk about is where I am discussed when I took a six-week practicum exercise to New Zealand. Mr. Ian Lind of the Hawaii Monitor made the comment that, let me quote, and this is where the whole thing started from: 'Crozier in effect granted himself a full scholarship to underwrite his degree program.' That's a conjecture that Mr. Lind made. I would like to respond to the whole of education and as I do I would just like to quote from Darrick Bach who was the president of Harvard University and his quote is quite famous, I'm sure you've heard it, Mr. President, 'If you think education is expensive, try ignorance.'

"Mr. President, when I got elected to the Legislature, you know, I paid my dues in life. I went to high school, fooled around in college for awhile, didn't do much, raised a family, went to war and all of that just like everybody else but then I got elected to a position of responsibility. I've done a lot a reading on my own so I think I understood the issue, understood the matters before the people and how to conduct myself. I think I've conducted myself properly. But along the way I brought a certain agenda with me through my life's experiences but I also knew that I fell short in other areas and I thought it would be prudent upon myself to foster more education so that as I sit down and make policy decisions, I sit down as a more enlightened person. My first attempt in improving my education is when I went to the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard for a three-week program. I was the first legislator from Hawaii to attend that course. Only senior executives from around the nation and legislators attend the course. It is paid primarily through their governments. I asked, at that time Speaker Henry Peters, if I could go. He had more of a myopic attitude or parochial attitude and said I didn't need to go, but, I pestered him and pestered him and finally I convinced him that maybe I could improve my lot if I attend the course.

"Mr. President, I learned. I learned quite a bit. The next session, to the speaker's chagrin, I voted against more of the majority bills than any other individual, including the Republican Party. But to my saving grace, the bills that I voted against were ultimately vetoed by the governor. I told the speaker, 'I told you, I told you those bills weren't good.' But that is something that I got from the educational experience.

"I then went on to go after my bachelor's degree at West Oahu College attending classes during session, at nights, Saturday mornings. I went to school (I'm not tooting my horn but I need to tell this story). One of the courses that I took there was on constitutional law and in that class we had a case study, Midkiff v. Hawaii Housing Authority, the supreme court case where they found the Land Reform Act of 1967 constitutional. We had to study that.

"So now that we have been debating the bills on land reform for condominiums, kept bringing up the same arguments for the single family dwellings. They were trying to put a square peg in a round hole. And I learned from that experience why I have this position today. It's because, based on that ruling based on the constitution, that can happen. I got that from school. I got that from my education.

"Now I was in this public administration program. It's a certificate program, all post-graduate work with about 20 students in the class. Almost every individual in that class works or serves in the city or state government. The governor sends his people to that program. The mayor sends his people to that program. The board of water supply sends people to that program, also the fire department. I thought I gained a lot from that experience, Mr. President. One of the issues that we worked on was taxation. We are supposed to know taxation but in reality, Mr. President, unless you sit down and take classes or do self-reading, most people don't understand taxes. I gained from that. Look at the types of legislation I have introduced on taxes. My taxation legislation will make the Chamber of Commerce feel very satisfied and even the Small Business Association would like the things I have put in.

"I also had a class on Chapter 91, Rule Making. We have to deal with that all the time. I sat down and had to go through an exercise to fully understand Chapter 91. I've improved myself because of that. The list goes on and on.

"We talked about economics. I learned from that. Most of the stuff I knew but I learned more everytime I sat in class and when I sat there I sat with bureaucrats, people from all aspects of government. I learned from them, my schoolmates, not only from the instructors. It's quite a learning experience.

"Now, part of the deal was that I had to do a practicum. Mr. President, I could have chosen to go to work for the Department of Transportation right here on Oahu. I could have chosen to work for the Department of Health. I could have chosen to work for the City and County of Honolulu. Can you imagine as a Senator walking into one of those organizations and telling somebody, 'Okay, you tell me what to do.' What kind of impact would that have? Do you think they would really treat me as an intern? No, I would have had some kind of special treatment and it would not have been fair to me or fair to the department that I had to serve.

"Mr. President, I chair the Housing and Hawaiian Programs Committee and you've been in some of our hearings. You've seen how disheveled some of those hearings get.

"I wanted to take advantage of this opportunity, as a policymaker, and try and do something in the realm of the Hawaiian area. 1993 is the year of the 100th anniversary of the overthrow of Queen Liliuokalani. Right now the governor is before Congress with the Hawaiian Home Lands issues. The Office of Hawaiian Affairs is still struggling with the settlement with the State of Hawaii. The discussion of sovereignty continues. All of these arguments at the fore, where do these arguments end up with the Legislature. The first gate is the Committee on Housing and Hawaiian Programs. I have to deal with all of these issues. I felt that since I must take this practicum, why not go and work with another native Polynesian group and see how they are handling their problems. We have the Office of Hawaiian Affairs but I went to work for the group called 'Manatu Maori' in New Zealand which is very similar to the Office of Hawaiian Affairs. It's now called the Ministry of Maori Development and based in Wellington.

"I served there for six weeks, Mr. President. I learned a lot. I will not go through all the different details of the things that I did learn and I've already implemented some of the aspects. First of all, my committee used to be on TV and in the news all the time. Why? Because I was a great statesman? No, it is because of the disruptiveness in the committee hearings. It was a hard committee to handle. Mr. President, not too many of us volunteer for the Hawaiian Affairs Committee and one of the reasons is because it is so disruptive.

"What I learned down there is I learned that the Maori people when they function they function in the Maori culture. They are not allowed to be abrasive. When they discuss matters they have to use logic and eloquence to convince the people around them. Sad to say, many times we here in Hawaii disregard logic and eloquence and we just depend on emotions. As I analyzed them what I saw was that they stay within the Maori context by having the symbols of their culture present at all times. You have these woodcarvings and they talk about their gods and deities and their culture. They have speeches on their ancestors, the mountains, the place and people. Everything is kept within the Maori confine and they are very civil in their meetings. That is what I try to do in my committee.

"Mr. President, the reporters don't even show up at my committee any more because the meetings are moving so smoothly. Everyone is conducting themselves like polished individuals. There is no name-calling, no rancorous outbursts. All of that has changed. Where did I learn that from? I learned that from my practicum in New Zealand.

"I also learned many other things and instead of going through all of the details, Mr. President, if anyone is interested, I have a copy of my paper that I sent to you as part of my trip report out of state which is the same document used for the public administration program. All of the points are in here; it's public record. If anyone is interested and would like to have a copy, please, get a copy.

"I would just like to quote Professor Dick Pratt when he made a note to me after he had graded my paper: 'Mike, I'm pleased at the way you have used this time. Thanks for taking this as seriously as you have. Expect that more persons than yourself will benefit from the work.'

"Mr. President, I know the Hawaiian people have benefited from the experience that I have had in New Zealand. I know the people of Hawaii have also benefited from that experience.

"Let me close with the thought, once more, of president Bach: 'If you think education is expensive, try ignorance.' I'm not ignorant anymore. Thank you."

Senator Reed also rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I commend the previous speaker for his interest in continuing his education and I'm sure that there has been a lot of growth as a result of that and I haven't read the news stories of it. My only hunch is that taxpayers would be concerned about that kind of thing and, if such travel were being financed by taxpayers. I would share that concern and oppose it.

"That is similar to a topic I'd like to follow up on.

"I had to leave yesterday and didn't hear the President's comments relative to first-class travel. I would just like to briefly share my thoughts on that. I didn't realize that that was occurring. I didn't realize that that was an option or perk available to legislators. I think that it reveals a consciousness that is not acceptable. With the new supreme court justice here, I'd like to also express the fact that the chief justice of the supreme court travels first-class and has publicly expressed his opinion that is something that is important to maintain because of the stature of the Judiciary. I think that's nonsense, and I'm sure my opinion is shared by the vast majority of the people of Hawaii.

"We are public servants. If for any reason a public servant wants to travel first-class on state business, then I think we should have a policy that he or she should pay out of his or her own pocket for the upgrade required to travel first-class. It is a long way to go from here to Washington, D.C., or here to L.A. or wherever somebody has to go on business, and that is legitimate state expense, but any flight expense beyond the cheapest available coach ticket should come out of an individual's pocket, not the taxpayer's.

"Thank you very much."

Senator Cobb also rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and remarked:

"Mr. President, I rise on personal privilege and follow-up on the remarks of the Senator from Makakilo to address very directly my travel to what used to be the Soviet Union. In fact, I had wanted to go last August, two days after the coup started. The Senate President would not allow me.

"It turns out that one of my friends in Moscow was the commanding officer of one of the regiments on the other side of the barricades surrounding the Russian White House. He then, on the third day of the coup, took his entire regiment over to the side of President Yelstin and the democratic forces, and in fact helped break the back of the coup.

"The newspaper is taking a very myopic view when they ask, 'What's the benefit to Hawaii?' Let me share with you.

"I was given tours of military facilities and was asked to witness the destruction of atomic weapons in the Soviet Union. A hundred of those weapons were formerly aimed at this state, now being destroyed. It's not being done as part of any international agreement, this is being done unilaterally on the part of the Russian government and the other republics. Kayakistan, Belarus and Ukraine have all stated they want to be nuclear free by 1994 -- ahead of us in the destruction of weapons. To remind our people here, a number of those weapons in the past have been aimed at this state because of our military facilities. They made it very clear to us that they'd rather trade and educate and communicate, rather than fight. It is in our interest, both state and national interest, to help them achieve that goal, rather than to go back to a former Soviet system that they had.

"The most dangerous thing in the world is a hungry and desperate people in possession of more than 30,000 nuclear weapons, and that's what they have. To have direct and indirect benefits in terms of economic, in terms of trade, travel and tourism is a result of our growing contacts with Russia and the other Republics of the Commonwealth. Increased communication has already started. Four of their Republics are now preparing proposals for transmittal through me to the School of Travel Industry Management for tourism development guidance. They recognize our university as being one of the premier leaders in the world in this area, and they are very interested in taking advantage of this resource.

"The peace dividend also applies. People don't realize that citizens in Japan may now visit the Northern Territories of the Kurile Islands Russia occupied, without visas. Soon it is expected that two of the four islands will be returned unconditionally and the other two were promised at a later date. These discussions came about directly, based on testimony and supporting documentation that I and others provided before the Foreign Relations Committee of the Supreme Soviet when there still was a Soviet Union. I think it is in our national and state interest to have a peace treaty signed between Russia and Japan so that they can get on with the business of trading and exchange of people, goods and ideas. All of that contributes to peace in the Pacific.

"People don't realize that aside from Alaska, Hawaii is the state closest, physically, to Russia. We're world's apart. Why? Because of a lack of communication up until this point.

"There are already over fifteen Hawaii businesses that are now in business or preparing investments in Russia directly as a result of my trip, if they want to quantify. But I don't think you can quantify any legislative travel solely on the basis of what is the dollar benefit back to the state. In a week a delegation of Soviet merchants, Russian fishermen and others will be in Honolulu for a series of meetings on the sale of tuna to American tuna packers, as well as a variety of other economic activities. These are just some of the beginning benefits and there are many more.

"The Russian ruble is not yet fully convertible on the international market. That is changing. My prediction is that it will be convertible in the mid-term future.

"I prepared a detailed five-page report, submitted it to the Senate President, on each of my travels. I'm surprised no one in the media read it or quoted from it. I also made five other trips to Russia at my own expense. I intend to make more. I have no apologies to make.

"I've used, whenever possible, upgrades from previous trips, including personal travel to help lessen the expense to the state and that is a continuing practice on my part. Sometimes the only reservation available is first-class but when it's possible I either go business or coach. And I will continue to do so.

"I invite anyone here or outside to come and see me and ask me about any of the benefits that are now going on or about to happen between us and all of the Russias of Asia.

"One last fact. Many of us here think that Russians are predominantly white, Slavic and orthodox. In 1990 white Russians became a minority in their own country. They have over 75 different minorities and over a hundred languages and sub-language groups. They have much of a minority situation as we do and I think it benefits us all when we get closer -- in terms of economics, trade, travel and tourism.

"Thank you."

Senator Holt also rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, on a point of personal privilege on a different subject matter -- procedural issue.

"In support of the Senator from Kahaluu, this morning the Advertiser's editorial speaks to a special session, in fact supports a special session. We are only on our 46th day, we still have a lot of time left. If anybody's been around this place, that's a lot of time.

"I would hope that if by chance we get to the 60th day and have to extend for school reform, that the Advertiser will support such an extension. They'll be 'slam dunking' in their field of dreams. Thank you."
