Senator Anderson rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege, if I may.

"I'd like to read something that was in the paper, an editorial in the Advertiser, which more or less says that it was unfair of the state to look at taking some of the county dollars. I think what struck me more than anything else is that it says that 'Cayetano and state lawmakers must continue to focus on cutting costs instead of raising revenues to get out of the pickle they're in. Any sort of tax hike, no matter what level of government makes it, will hinder Hawaii's economic recovery.' And I quite agree, Mr. President.

"But let me explain that the governor recently has said that we have to look at welfare, legal immigrants and a credit. He's been giving out money like crazy. Yet, all of a sudden the Hawaiian community is paying for a lot of these things because they're cutting from Hawaiian programs.

"Mr. President, in different committees we have all kinds of bills that could help this economy and they're not going to hatch like an egg. They're going to have to have hearings, and then they will become, maybe, controversial. But if we don't make those kinds of decisions, the economy is going to be at a standstill. And I think that business, just to sit out there and say foul, is just as bad as we are. They are sending a fax here and there, and if you talk to anybody on the street, they can't come in because they're having a bad time. But you and I must realize that the economy is at a standstill. To just turn around and charge our businesses that are here, and say we're going to raise your taxes so that we can give to others, is not going to satisfy all of our people. We have to move the economy forward.

"So if I were you, ladies and gentlemen, if you sit as heads of a committee that has bills, regardless of how controversial, please hear them and make sure that our economy starts to move, because otherwise we are going to become a third-world state. Just saying that we're going to have tourism helping us is not true. There are all kinds of businesses that we could look at.

"So I would hope that you go along with the editorial and start to move the economy the way it should be and not just look at raising taxes and putting businesses out of business.

"Thank you, Mr. President."
