At 11:49 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:49 o'clock a.m.

At this time, Senator Hemmings rose and said:

"Mr. President, I rise for the purpose of a personal inquiry.

"Mr. President, in this process we, the Loyal Opposition, feel it's our responsibility to ask pertinent questions and we try to monitor the system very closely. We did notice that the Friday deadline came and went for the introduction of packages bills, and as I recall, I don't remember seeing anything specific from the Majority Party. We do want to note for the record, though, that we do note that today we're referring over 250 blank bills that are commonly referred to as short form bills, and the question is: Are we to assume that those 250-plus bills are the Majority Party package?"

The President responded:

"No, they are not the Majority Party package. It is for the purposes of the individual Committees."

Senator Hemmings inquired:

"So they're just rider bills to be later filled in?"

The President replied:

"Yes."

Senator Hemmings then said:

"Thank you, Mr. President."

THIRD READING
