Senator Gabbard moved that S.B. No. 1260, S.D. 1, H.D. 1 pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kim.

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"I voted 'yes' on these bills in committees, but after further rumination on it, I believe it is a perplexing problem. On one hand, we want to balance the playing field and remove the exemption of fees for air pollution emissions for one of the state's biggest polluters, Hawaiian Electric, in excess of 400 tons. They were not paying an annual fee so this would be fair. And of course, the environmental groups, always seeking punitive action rather than positive, thought this was wonderful. Let's whack Hawaiian Electric, which quite frankly I don't mind. But the bottom line is, after thinking this all over, what really happens is this is going to be passed on to consumers, so it's really going to add to the terrible cost of electricity in Hawai'i.

"I want to remind all of us that the most egregious state-sanctioned, private sector monopoly is probably Hawaiian Electric. Last year at the height of the fuel crisis, when the nation was lamenting gas prices—which were here in Hawai'i about 40 percent above the national average—Hawaiian Electric's electric rates were 190 percent above the national average. One hundred and ninety percent. I have several constituents who lamented that they had a small family and they had solar water heater to cut their electric prices, and they were paying $300 a month just for electricity. You might remember that, how problematic it was.

"In the meantime, Hawaiian Electric, this monolithic, sanctioned monopoly, continues to have our state number one in the nation for fossil fuel dependency to create electricity, and has continued to blight our landscape with above ground utilities. Since 1995, in the 13 years when the numbers were computed, they collected over $2 billion in HEI profits, the holding company for the regional electric companies. Six hundred million of that money was given to stockholders. The rest, $1.4 billion, was invested in private sector, for-profit organizations that would feed HEI more money. You might remember one of them, especially the good Senator from Kaua'i; one of the electric company's holdings was an insurance company that left the market after the hurricane there, leaving everybody in the entire state holding the bag. Do you all remember your insurance rates going up to pay into the Insurance Hurricane Relief Fund? That was partially due to that insurance company Hawaiian Electric owned that abandoned the market after they saw they couldn't pay out the benefits they owed.

"We had a recent blackout; lasted 36 hours. People came and testified in the Energy Committee that it was at the height of the season for Christmas business, and it left restaurants not only losing their food, but losing one of the most productive evenings in their market; so they lost a tremendous amount of money. What they didn't report is that there is a system called

'black start' for $15 million out of the close to $2 billion Hawaiian Electric gouged from this market. Black start would allow them to cut the time that the system's down to several hours rather than 36 hours. You don't know, but I'll tell you now that Hawaiian Electric invested in a company in inner Mongolia to generate electricity and it went belly up, and Hawaiian Electric lost that money.

"So the point is that Hawaiian Electric has the money and the resources to do what is good and necessary for Hawai'i. And unfortunately this bill makes a lot of sense as far as protecting the environment, but doesn't make a lot of sense economically because Hawaiian Electric will do as they always have done. They will pass the cost of this on to the consumers. It will drive up electric rates and it will do nothing, as Hawaiian Electric has done nothing to wean us from fossil fuel dependency. All it will be is just an additional cost. So with all good intention I voted 'yes' in committee on this bill, but I will vote 'no' now because ultimately the poor consumer once again will get hit for Hawaiian Electric's sins. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Gabbard rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Colleagues, this bill would eliminate a disincentive to pollution reduction by removing the cap to fees for air pollutant emissions. Right now, the polluters are not charged additional fees once they go over 4,000 tons in a year. S.B. No. 1260 would close this loophole and make it so companies that do produce more than 4,000 tons of air pollution annually would pay additional fees. This will encourage large polluters to reduce their emissions in the interest of public health and our environment; and so I urge you to join me in supporting this measure. Mahalo."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"The fact of the matter is this: this bill applies to one company that we know of right now. And, secondarily, as the Minority leader said, this is simply a pass-through and pass-on to the consumers. We're going to be paying more. Now if there were truly a message that we want to send to companies that were polluting the most, then we would put into the bill, as we have in other bills, that in fact these charges cannot be passed on. Besides, this is a company regulated by the Public Utilities Commission and so therefore we have every right to request that, but we haven't done that. So rather than send a message to Hawaiian Electric or anyone else, it just sends a message that the Legislature is willing once again to burden the taxpayers and let them pick up the freight for all of this, and any question of wrong-doing is swept under the rug. Thank you."

Senator Baker rose in support of the measure with reservations and stated:

"I rise with some pretty strong reservations on this measure. We heard this bill last year, and it didn't advance primarily because of some of the objections raised by the prior speakers. And I really think that, in this instance, this measure is going to have a serious impact on my island and I'm very concerned about it. And I had wished that there had been a little bit more discussion before putting it in this fashion because I think there might have been a way to achieve a balance so that the notice could be given, and give the company an opportunity to make some changes in their policies, rather than having it be effective upon approval. So I do have reservations on this measure. I know that from a long-term perspective it will probably be a good thing for our air quality, but in the short-term, it is going to cost our residents an increase in their electric rates, I'm afraid. Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

"I think there's a fundamental economic axiom that's being missed here. This isn't going to cut pollution; it's going to drive up the cost of electricity. Hawaiian Electric has had 25 years or more since I was in the Legislature in the 80s to reduce our dependency on pollutants, fossil fuels, and they've gone backwards, making us the number one state in the nation for dependency. If I really thought this was going to cut pollutants, I might vote in favor of it. What it's going to do is simply drive up the price. I think the fundamental economic axiom that is missing here is: All companies when they're taxed or pay fees do not pay it with money they manufacture in the basement of their business; it's simply an add-on to the cost of doing business. And you say, 'Well, they can take it out of their profits.' Well, as we can see by Hawaiian Electric's numbers, they don't take anything out of their profits. Maui Electric, look at your electrical rates on Maui. Big Island, look at your electrical rates. The Big Island, they're still using World War II type diesel generators on an island that could be totally energy independent with geothermal. But somehow political clout means a lot, and Hawaiian Electric pays a lot for it, I understand—I think we'll be seeing those numbers in the future—but the bottom line is this is not going to reduce pollution. It's going to drive up costs. So, I really believe the good Senator from Maui's partially correct on this, that this is not prudent at this time. Thank you, Madam President."
