THE
 TWENTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE
 STATE OF HAWAI'I
 REGULAR SESSION OF 2009
 JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

FIRST DAY

Wednesday, January 21, 2009

In accordance with the provisions of Section 10 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawai'i, the Senate of the Twenty-Fifth Legislature of the State of Hawai'i, Regular Session of 2009, was called to order at 10:07 a.m., by the Honorable Dwight Y. Takamine, Temporary Chair of the Senate.

The Ho'oumau Address was delivered by Pono Shim and the Pule was invoked by Daniel Akaka, Jr.

At this time, the members of the Senate and guests rose to sing the National Anthem and "Hawai'i Pono'i," led by Eric Wahilani.

Nominations now being in order for a temporary clerk, Senator Kokubun nominated Carol Taniguchi, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Gabbard moved that the nominations be closed, seconded by Senator Tokuda and carried.

The Chair declared Carol Taniguchi as Temporary Clerk of the Senate.

Senator Taniguchi then moved that a committee of three Senators be appointed by the Chair as a Committee on Credentials to examine the certificates of election of the newly elected members of the Senate and to submit a report of its findings to the Senate, seconded by Senator Ihara and carried.

The Chair thereupon appointed Senators Kokubun, Sakamoto, and Hemmings to serve on such committee.

At 10:25 a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 10:27 a.m.

Senator Tsutsui moved that Special Committee Report No. 2 be adopted, seconded by Senator Espero and carried.

The Committee on Credentials was thereupon discharged with thanks.

The Chair called upon Chief Justice Ronald T.Y. Moon of the Hawai'i State Supreme Court to the rostrum to administer the oath of office to the newly elected members of the Senate.

Chief Justice Moon administered the oath of office to the newly elected members of the Senate who were standing at their respective desks.

The Roll was then called by the Temporary Clerk showing all Senators present.

Nominations for officers of the Senate being next in order, Senator Kokubun placed in nomination the name of Senator Colleen Hanabusa for President of the Senate, seconded by Senator Hee.

Senator English moved that the nominations be closed, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

The motion to close the nominations was then put by the Chair and carried unanimously and the Temporary Clerk was directed to cast a unanimous ballot for Senator Colleen Hanabusa as President of the Senate.

The ballot having been so cast, Senator Colleen Hanabusa was declared unanimously elected President of the Senate of the Twenty-Fifth Legislature of the State of Hawai'i, Regular Session of 2009.

The Chair then appointed Senators Kokubun and Hemmings to escort the President to the rostrum and the President addressed the members of the Senate and guests as follows:

"Governor Lingle, Lt. Governor and Mrs. Aiona, Chief Justice Moon, former Governor and Mrs. Ariyoshi, former Governor and Mrs. Waihee, former Governor and Mrs. Cayetano, esteemed colleagues, honored guests, ladies and gentlemen: Aloha.

"Yesterday we witnessed a shining moment in American history, and a historic day for Hawai'i as well. Barack Obama—our nation's first African American President—is also the first President born, raised, and educated here in Hawai'i.

"Throughout his long campaign, he challenged us to ask who we are, what we stand for, and what our nation can truly be.

"And as he ascended to lead the greatest nation on Earth—as one chapter ended and another chapter began—our nation and the world saw that this son of Hawai'i has succeeded in drawing our people around him by giving them hope through the rallying cry: 'Yes, We Can.' That belief has defined the American spirit from the beginning, and kept our people steadfast through challenges of every kind. 'Yes, we can.'

"He assumes the leadership of our nation facing one of the greatest challenges any new President has had to address. Still, America expresses confidence in his ability to see us through these difficult times not because of decades of experience or a celebrated lineage, but because he embodies hope, courage, and the opportunity for change.

"Here at home, where we felt the pride of accomplishment in the example of a young President whose life foundation was laid just a few miles from this building, we face our own challenges.

"Hawai'i has not been spared the crisis facing the rest of this nation. We cringed when the Council on Revenues said the deficit for the upcoming biennium will be $1.8 billion. A twenty-five percent reduction in general fund revenues.

"The State's revenue crisis is just another indicator of what our people are enduring. Unemployment is up two points since a year ago, when our rate was the lowest in the nation. Homelessness is growing and the safety net, which people rely upon the government to provide, is full of pukas.

"Governor, members of the executive branch and my colleagues, these are the times when we show the people what we are made of.

"These are the times when we ask the hard question of what the role of government is.

"These are the times when we must say what we can do and what we will do.

"These are the times when we can no longer afford partisanship or politics as usual. Times when our obligation is to bring the service, vision, and leadership we were elected to provide. Times when we stop looking for political points and start looking for solutions.

"As President of the Senate, I am here to pledge this body's unflinching commitment to putting the needs of Hawai'i's people before all other considerations. During my ten years in office, I do not recall my colleagues working as diligently as they have in the past weeks, assembling a majority package to place before all of you for public discussion.

"Let there be no mistake: Yes, the projections with which we must frame our budget are down. But there is a budget and we must not lose sight of the fact that how we appropriate these resources must be guided by what matters most to the people we represent: their jobs, their economic security, their future. Senator Donna Mercado Kim will tackle this formidable challenge.

"The federal government can help stimulate our national economy through the extremely helpful ability to print more money. We can't. Like every family in Hawai'i, we can only rely on the money we bring home. That means that to get our economy moving again, we must be creative with what we have.

"We in the Senate propose that a special oversight committee be formed to meet on a weekly basis to oversee and have input into the capital improvement projects that need to be released. Our representative on that committee will be Senator Shan Tsutsui. I am confident that the Governor will welcome the participation of the Legislature to ensure public confidence that we are doing all we can to keep our construction industry on the job.

"For all businesses, we propose that the Unemployment Insurance Fund be used in the short term to keep your employees as part of your work force. We are asking that Senator Dwight Takamine, our Labor chair, look creatively at the UI Fund and redefine eligibility so that we can truly partner with those employers who have made contributions to this fund for situations like this. If necessary, we stand ready to extend benefits.

"We are committed to examining tax credits to ensure that they are performing and enhancing the economy as they should. We also know that the time has come for us to follow the national trend in adopting the streamlined sales tax, ensuring that out-of-state sales are accounted for in the State's treasury. We must thank Senator Carol Fukunaga for her tenacity in calling upon this Legislature to recognize the lost revenues associated with Internet sales. She was truly a pioneer in this regard.

"At the same time, there are vital issues on which there is as yet no consensus, but where serious discussions must continue. Questions including executive, judicial and legislative pay; legalized gaming; and deferring the transit tax for a year or more to provide relief to Hawai'i tax payers. Everything is on the table for debate and discussion.

"As well, we know we must address the sense of betrayal that many in our Native Hawaiian community feel on the issue of ceded lands, and in particular the case now pending before the United States Supreme Court. We will not turn a deaf ear to these questions, as difficult as they may be. We have heard the call of the people and we must respond.

“Government has always played a vital role in ensuring that those who are less fortunate and in need of temporary assistance are provided for. This is our social safety net. Senators David Ige and Suzanne Chun Oakland will take on the challenge of looking at how we will prioritize the issues of health, food and social service programs with limited funds and growing needs. They are also ready to address changes in the structure of health care, and help ensure that families and children who rely on us do not face locked doors.

“We have a unique opportunity to ask for assistance from Congress and the Obama administration in the form of increased Medicaid assistance through the Federal Medical Assistance Percentage Program. We are prepared to act within days on a Senate Concurrent Resolution asking President Obama and our congressional delegation—particularly Senator Inouye—to appropriate these funds. This will assist us in closing one of those pukas in the safety net.

“We face challenges, but we will overcome them. We have reason to be confident in our future, because we have seen that confidence reflected in others.

“Our visitor industry is still the main driver of our local economy, and that has been one of the factors leading the current downturn. We know that tourism is an industry that responds to outside factors. When rising oil costs drove up air fares, our visitor numbers dropped. Now, with oil prices and fares down, we find that individual uncertainty about the global economic picture prevents some from spending their money on trips to our state. And so the question becomes, how do we boost that confidence and rekindle interest in Hawai‘i vacations?

“Our answer lies in the fact that when industry leaders express their support for Hawaii as a visitor destination, others will follow. And a name that resonates around the world when it comes to travel is Disney.

“Less than a week ago, Disney Parks and Resorts awarded the first phase of the construction contract for their project at Ko Olina. That is an expression of their confidence in the long-term viability of Hawai‘i as a visitor destination. By reiterating their commitment to building and operating a landmark resort on our Leeward Coast, a world leader in the hospitality and visitor market has said, ‘We will put our money where our mouth is. Hawai‘i is the future.’ We can share that confidence. We can reclaim and keep our share of the global visitor market through the cooperation of industry leaders, through effective marketing of what is uniquely ours, and by building on our strengths and preserving our identity.

“In addition, many have looked upon the Disney project as an anchor to ensure the completion of the Second City of Kapolei. This project will help stimulate construction in the Kapolei region which, along with the release of pending state projects, will assist us in keeping our people employed.

“We must also continue investing in our future, despite the challenges we face today. We must take this opportunity to cut our dependence on fossil fuels, one of the root causes of the current economic crisis. It doesn’t matter what the initiative is called. What matters is that we all join hands in the construction of energy-efficient buildings, the production of renewable energy, and the move toward motor vehicles that do not run on petroleum products.

“In this light we need to recognize the military, which has led the way in energy-efficient construction and in the provision of jobs and opportunities for our community. They are and have long been one of the most stable forces in our economy. We must applaud the Department of Defense for projects such as the production of jet-grade fuel from algae which, when it becomes reality, will address many of our concerns into the future.

“We in the Senate have dedicated so many years to our efforts at Sustainability 2050, and we are now beginning to see the fruits of that commitment. Senator Russell Kokubun is pleased with how far along these efforts have come. He sees the challenges that remain, preeminent among them the task of preserving lands for agriculture for future generations and how to balance our need for food with our need for energy. We are confident that we will be able to achieve both.

“I am confident that we will rise above these difficult times. Hawai‘i has always been a place of hope. Whether your family arrived by canoe fifteen hundred years ago or by plane just last week, they set out on their journey with visions of a new beginning. Laborers and businessmen. Asian and European. People of every color and from every social stratum. A family from Kansas by way of Seattle. A young man from Kenya planning to study at the University of Hawai‘i. All came because Hawai‘i offers hope.

“My hope continues today. Not just because of my faith in my colleagues and their individual and unique abilities, but because of my faith in the people of this state. We have come to learn to share and live together in a very special place, and we carry that with us everywhere. Many of us believe that President Obama was able to achieve greatness and carry his message of hope because he was shaped by this special place. General Eric Shinseki, who will be President Obama’s Secretary of Veterans’ Affairs, comes from this special place. Senator Daniel Inouye, chair of the most powerful committee in the United States Senate, comes from this special place. True sons of Hawai‘i, aligned like stars to aid us in meeting our challenge.

“The people of Hawai‘i: working a lo‘i in Hanalei, on a farm in Ka‘u, in a Bishop Street board room or a Ka‘anapali hotel. They are the foundation upon which we will build our efforts, and the reason we will not shy away from the task before us. Mahalo.”

At this time the Chair called on Senate Minority Leader Fred Hemmings.

Senator Hemmings then rose and stated:

“Thank you, Madam President; thank you for your inspiring words of Aloha. The future will bright. I request to yield the honor of the Minority response to the good Senator from Hawai‘i Kai, Senator Sam Slom.”

Senator Slom, Minority Floor Leader of the Senate, then responded as follows:

“Thank you, Madam President. Aloha. This is truly a historic day; you can write this down in your book—this is a day that a Republican yields. Republicans never yield to anyone or any position!

“Mahalo Senate President Hanabusa, Governor Lingle, Lieutenant Governor, Chief Justice, former governors Ariyoshi, Waihe‘e and Cayetano, to all of our distinguished guests and to you, the overburdened taxpayers of the State of Hawai‘i. We, too, offer our congratulations to President Obama and all re-elected lawmakers. Some of you may know that I lived in the same apartment building with Barry Obama for many years and that I worked with his grandmother, the late Madelyn Dunham, at the Bank of Hawai‘i. So I echo the words of the Senate President—this truly is a special place that brings all of us together.

“Senate President, I also want to commend you on your words and pledge the continued support of the Minority to help enact positive legislation for ALL the people of Hawai‘i. And I know that it's going to be a positive year because you're not wearing black, you're wearing your bright orange sunshine.

"You've heard from the Majority and now you're going to hear the rest of the story. Some may wonder what the Senate Minority stands for and how we can have any relevancy or impact on policy in Hawai'i, outnumbered as we are, twelve to one. (How would you like to make this speech today?) And yet, one person, one idea, one effort has always been extremely important. One person, just last week, U.S. Airways Captain Chesley B. 'Sully' Sullenberger saved the lives of more than 150 other people in what is described as the 'Miracle on the Hudson'. It shows what one person and good leadership can do for all others, and that's what we strive for today.

"In the opening prayer you heard the words 'stand firm'. This is extremely important and this is what we intend to do. Your Republican Minority, in number, may be just two of twenty-five state senators, but in actuality we represent more than 40 percent of all of the votes cast, many thousands more of the 'silent majority,' and we have a strong and consistent philosophy, an unwavering voice, and a vote. We also have good humor—a useful trait in this building, in good times and bad. We strive to work hard, do our legislative homework and support leadership when we believe they are right—and to tell them when they're not. We never forget who sent us here and what you expect of all of us.

"Have we had an impact? We shape legislation, we point out errors and omissions in proposals, we actively take part in committees and the advise and consent process, and, if we're lucky, some of our bills are so good that the Majority will take them for their own and enact them. Now, we don't care who gets the credit as long as Hawai'i gets good legislation.

"Now many people and the media have approached this 25th state legislative session with an outlook of gloom, doom, grim times and negative choices. Your Minority approaches this legislative session not with fear, but with enthusiasm for the opportunities that these tough times present to all of us.

"There is a two-party system here, or at least two distinct philosophies. Now, one party has been expert at winning elections and controlling the government for more than 45 years, and they have stressed taxation, spending and decision-making by government. Selective sacrifice has been their mantra. The buzz word of the recent election was—say it—'change,' but yet change seems to have escaped Hawai'i's government and our public education.

"Our philosophy emphasizes individual risk and accomplishment, lower taxes on families and businesses, transparency in government and more economic choices for everyone. We stand for individual rights superior to those of the federal or state government, and we want the government chained by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Recent events have shown us that too much reliance on government has resulted in government inaction, corruption, conflicts of interest, unwise redistribution of your wealth through subsidies, preferential treatment and ill-conceived bailouts. In short, government has not solved problems; it treats symptoms and creates unintended consequences.

"There has been widespread public discontent with legislative bodies—the Congress, City Councils, and even the State Legislature. Many believe we spend too much time on increasing our own salaries and our own benefits, exempting us from the laws that we passed for others, and for covering up questionable ethics. Your Minority has spoken out and introduced legislation to correct these abuses and we will continue to do so. I said months ago that we in government should not have a pay increase when so many people in our community are suffering and having a difficult time economically. Instead of exempting us from laws, we should be held to a higher standard. I've got to tell you, for four years now I've attended sexual harassment training classes and mandated ethics training. What's wrong with this picture when you have to teach your elected officials not to sexually harass and to be ethical? Maybe what we should do instead, at least in the Senate, is install breathalyzers at every desk before we speak.

"Our opinion today is that our problems are not economic but they are political. And we can address these economic challenges through support of competitive private market capitalism which allows us more of the greatest amount of freedom and individual choice, unavailable under more government control. The market hasn't failed us; individuals and part of government has.

"We don't want to urge you to just hunker down, reduce your consumer spending and economic activity and further reduce your standard of living. We stress success and prosperity, not just survival, and we know this is possible even in these difficult times.

"We are positive and believe we have reason to be so. We need to get back to work, stop whining, not look for government handouts, and be more productive and creative. Successful businesses do just that—they reinvent themselves for changing times. We have numerous examples of that in Hawai'i, including Ko Olina, Hawaiian Airlines, City Mill, The Systemcenter, Oils of Aloha, CyberCom, and many others that we can cite.

"The good news is that we have the tools and resources despite slowing revenues, rising unemployment, business closures and home foreclosures. The recession is real but we do not have to be mesmerized or paralyzed by bad news. Everything in life is cyclical. And your Minority always has hope and faith in Hawai'i's talented and remarkable individual people.

"This year, Hawai'i is celebrating its 50th anniversary of statehood and we proudly proclaim the many blessings of citizenship as Americans. We are appreciative and respectful of our Native Hawaiian culture and its many contributions. And the best way to show that respect is to expand the rights of every citizen in the State of Hawai'i.

"We honor all of our men and women in uniform and are grateful for the military's many contributions, not just the financial part—the contributions in leadership they make every day to our community. We must not hesitate to stand up for them vocally, not just when it is convenient to do so, because every day they sacrifice a great deal and risk their lives to protect all of us.

"To those in law enforcement and our first responders who keep us safe, even during power blackouts and earthquakes—we thank you. We cherish our kupuna and the lessons that we learn from them. And hopefully I'm getting old enough that I can join them.

"But we are also invigorated by our youth who have unlimited potential. Moanalua grad turned golf pro Tadd Fujikawa made us all—and the nation—proud of us this past weekend, as do surfer Carissa Moore and football star Manti Te'o of Punahou, Castle High grad and Olympic gold medalist Bryan Clay. And right here with me, I'm so happy that we've got young people—Dylan Encarnacion, and we've got Aina Kay, Gordon Hemmings, and also Jake Taniguchi. These are the young faces and the future of Hawai'i; mahalo. But there's so much more. There are so many amazing people from Hawai'i who are talented in music, art, dance, acting, production, robotics, business, technology and much more. These are individuals with God-given talent.

“This session we pledge to the people of Hawai‘i, who look to all of us for leadership, to listen even more, to work even harder, to cooperate for the good of all of our people, and to passionately continue to stand up against bad laws, poor economics and loss of freedom and choice. Now, some have suggested that they want to jettison some values and positions just because they are old. We will retain and honor the permanent values which stand the test of time and should not be partisan.

“In the words of Winston Churchill, ‘We will never give up, never, never, never, never, never.’ Your Minority stands for the enforcement of existing laws rather than duplication with more legislation, and specifically (so you know where we stand):

- No more taxes. Hawai‘i residents are taxed too much; we are among the top four taxed states in the nation. The best economic stimulus is money left with you so that you can spend it on your own family and your own business in the ways that you think best. We support a tax holiday for general excise taxation and elimination of excessive taxes and fees.
- As the Senate President talked about the budget, it will be difficult. We must honestly balance the budget—as every individual, family and small business must do every day. We’ve got to stop raiding the ‘special funds’ such as the Hurricane Relief Fund, or be honest, do the right thing and abolish all those funds. We need to eliminate those non-productive programs and expenditures; among them: tax credits given without proper oversight, grants to ‘special’ friends of lawmakers, costly mandates and projects such as outside, that $1 million ‘bounce-about’ which is covering up the tile restoration. One million bucks for that. We can do better than that.
- Let me talk about gambling. It may be on the table, but we will continue to oppose gambling as neither an economic nor social benefit, especially since no tax reduction give-back has been proposed with gambling, only more money for the government to spend.
- Education. We all say we want better education. We in the Minority support more educators in the school, less money for questionable programs with no outcome accountability, less money for a bloated bureaucracy, and a full audit of the Department of Education. We also support small community schools. Now, it’s strange to me; for years we pump money into reducing the teacher-pupil ratio. Now that we’ve achieved it, we want to close those schools which mean so much to various communities. We will oppose that. We also support strongly more charter schools, substitute teachers and home schooling parity.
- Energy. The two of us have got a great deal of energy here and you’ll see that during this legislative session. We continue to support voluntary, incentivized alternative energy, including wind, solar, geothermal, OTEC and nuclear. My colleague Senator Hemmings has proposed a bold nuclear option incorporating a nuclear commission exploring possibilities. Now for those of you that are frightened by the word ‘nuclear,’ let’s remember that we already host nuclear activities on our submarines, and in some of its darkest days, the island of Kaua‘i was saved by a nuclear power plant generated by that military submarine.
- Environment. Republicans understand we can’t have a viable economy without a protected environment. It’s not ‘either/or,’ but certain mandates, regulations and invasive species prohibitions need to be examined adequately and objectively for their important impact and unintended consequences.

- Turning to health, we must now stop the cause of losing those in the medical profession by saving our doctors with a real change in tort reform, equitable fee reimbursement, the abolition of state SHPDA, and by embracing private, non-tax investment in medical facilities on all the neighbor islands.
- I was enthused by the President’s remarks about the tax surcharge, which is damaging so many individuals and businesses. We can’t afford billions of dollars for ego steel-on-steel transit when congestion relief and new design is what will help O‘ahu residents and taxpayers the most. We need to speed alternative transportation construction and alternatives.
- And turning to law enforcement, we fully support the law enforcement coalition initiatives. But instead of giving lip service to justice, we support tougher judges, more choices, protection and services for victims, and swift, equal enforcement for those who break our laws and harm our residents.
- Finally, on the sanctity of life: we will continue for protection of the unborn and oppose so-called partial birth abortions. If we cannot stand up for life at its beginning, than all of the other basic laws are useless.

“Your Minority has many other ideas for diversifying our economy and reducing dependence on the visitor industry. We don’t want just one egg producer, one dairy, one electric company and fewer farmers. We propose expanded private-public partnerships, targeted tax incentives for job creation, and state water and land policy reform to help the farmers and ranchers insure agriculture sustainability. We also see that we can better use our resources and facilities such as Senator Hemmings’ idea of making the Ke‘ehi Private Boat Harbor both more accessible to the public and a great marina. We need to cease class warfare between those with wealth and those without. Hawai‘i is short of venture capital and we support an improved business climate to clearly signal that we are serious about business investment and new jobs here and now.

“While we may appear small in number, we are large in the willingness and capacity to think and act outside this square building. We have considerable ideas, tremendous dreams on how wonderful Hawai‘i can be if its people aren’t hampered by poor government choices. And we have the energy to make it all a reality. That’s our stand.

“Hawai‘i honored Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. this week. He once said, ‘Almost always, the creative dedicated minority has made the world better.’ That’s what we pledge to do. We are compassionate, but not at the expense of complacency of our fiscal responsibilities.

“Can we make a difference? Help bring true change to Hawai‘i? Yes, we can—more importantly, yes, we will, with your support.

“As Edward Everett Hale said more than 200 years ago, ‘I am only one, but still I am one. I can’t do everything, yet I can do something. And just because I can’t do everything, I won’t refuse to do the something I can do.’ Aloha, mahalo and God bless Hawai‘i.”

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The following concurrent resolution (S.C.R. No. 1) was read by the Clerk and was disposed of as follows:

S.C.R. No. 1 "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION URGING CONGRESS TO SUPPORT THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSED ECONOMIC STIMULUS INITIATIVE INCREASING FEDERAL SUPPORT FOR THE MEDICAID PROGRAM."

Offered by: Senators Hanabusa, Baker, Chun Oakland, English, Espero, Fukunaga, Gabbard, Galuteria, Green, Hooser, Ige, Ihara, Kidani, Kokubun, Nishihara, Sakamoto, Tokuda, Tsutsui, Bunda, Hee, Kim, Takamine, Taniguchi.

Senator Sakamoto moved that S.C.R. No. 1 be adopted, seconded by Senator Slom.

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"The resolution sounds innocuous. It sounds like something we all want—Medicaid, federal support for funding of the Medicaid program, which is in dire straits nationally. But I think it's important to note that hidden within the confines of this resolution is general support for the President's economic stimulus initiative, which needs to be gone over quite extensively before we sign on to it. There are a lot of contradictory elements in that economic stimulus package, like, for one, calling a 230 million—billion dollars, excuse me, (it's a lot of money)—an economic stimulus, part of it being called tax cuts when really it is giving money to people who did not pay taxes. So, before we sign on to supporting the entire stimulus package, we'd better examine through our congressional delegation and through better, doing better work, here in Hawai'i exactly what we signing on to. It sounds nice to vote in favor of supporting a resolution for Medicaid program, but this is a lot more than that and I would urge my colleagues to be careful when we make broad, sweeping resolutions like this because they do have an impact on others and others' perceptions. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Slom requested that a 'no' vote be entered into the Journal.

Senator Baker rose in support of the measure and said:

"Madam President, this is one of the areas that we're hoping Congress will favorably act because it will help all of the states, because it improves a program known as the FMAP which is the percentage of reimbursement that the federal government will provide to the states to improve our services to those most needy in our community.

"An increase in the FMAP allows us to expand and make sure that everybody that's on Medicaid receives the services that they need because it allows the federal government to increase their share so it doesn't come from strapped states' budgets. And, as the Senate President noted so eloquently on Opening Day, 'we cannot print money'. The federal economic stimulus will help us and all of the other states, all of our sister states, to make sure that we will—our burdened states' coffers—will be able to reach out and assist those most needy in our community with health care and with other important services. So I encourage all of my colleagues to vote in favor of this resolution. Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"I must rise now at this time to give some remarks about my opposition to this resolution. I think the Minority leader expressed it quite well. We have no problem whatsoever with supporting the increased funding for Medicaid. It's the right thing to do, and we want to make sure that Hawai'i gets its equitable funds.

"I think the problem, however, is that so many bills and resolutions that we debate in this chamber have something else embedded within them. If this had been solely about Medicaid, there would have been no problem and you would have had unanimous support. But because you're calling on us to blindly support the so-called economic stimulus package which will separate taxpayers from their money, and with little oversight by objective outside sources, we now see that we're over a trillion dollars in this amount of money, heading toward two trillion dollars. The money all comes from the same source, and that's the people, the taxpayers, who are suffering so much right now with unemployment and other problems. So we just urge you, in the future, if you're going to do bills and resolutions that call for Hawai'i to get its equitable share, then let's stick to that particular subject and then we can all join together in support. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Hooser rose in support of the measure and said:

"I would just like to state for the record that my support is for the entire stimulus package, as well as the FMAP. You know, our country, our state, is going through very difficult times. There's no question that Congress is going to be passing the stimulus package. And, yes, we will not know those details of that package until it's passed, but I for one want to see Hawai'i get its fair share of support from the federal government to help rebuild our schools, our highways, our hospitals, and to help those most in need, and I encourage the members to vote enthusiastically in support. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.C.R. No. 1, entitled: "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION URGING CONGRESS TO SUPPORT THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSED ECONOMIC STIMULUS INITIATIVE INCREASING FEDERAL SUPPORT FOR THE MEDICAID PROGRAM," was adopted with Senators Hemmings and Slom voting "No."

ORDER OF THE DAY

ADVISE AND CONSENT

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 1 (Gov. Msg. No. 167):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 1 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Takamine and carried.

Senator Taniguchi then moved that the Senate consent to the nomination of ROM A. TRADER to the office of Judge, Circuit Court of the First Circuit, for a term of ten years, in accordance with the provisions of Article VI, Section 3, of the Hawai'i State Constitution, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Taniguchi rose in support of the nominee and said:

"Madam President, your Committee on Judiciary and Government Operations heard from Mr. Trader, and we are convinced that he will serve well in his capacity as a circuit court judge.

"The testimony received was overwhelmingly in support of Mr. Trader, including the offices of the Attorney General, the Prosecuting Attorney for the City & County of Honolulu, and several criminal defense attorneys, including the Public Defender. We also received information regarding Mr. Trader's experience as a prosecutor, and we believe that his work experience will provide him with a solid foundation to begin his public service on the bench.

"For these reasons, I'm asking my colleagues to support the nomination of Rom Trader as circuit court judge for the first circuit. Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in support of the nominee and said:

"Thank you. On behalf of your Minority, here is a good example where you're going to see unanimous support.

"Mr. Trader is an outstanding individual. There were some questions before the hearing about why another prosecutor? What about the defense attorneys and so forth? I think it is a tribute to Mr. Trader as an individual, to Mr. Trader's experience and background, that we did have a unanimous support in testimony. There was not anyone who testified in opposition or even raised a question. And more importantly, the defense attorneys, who are on the other side with him, came and they supported him enthusiastically saying, 'The number one word about Rom Trader is his fairness.' His abilities, his experiences are well known but it was his fairness. And we did check with his wife about his temperament, and she said he's got a good temper, so that was good, too.

"We were a little reluctant though, at the end when we had to take a vote. We almost held him back because he has done so much for this office in the prosecuting attorney, in that department, particularly for domestic violence and for those issues which very few people stand up and volunteer for. And he has been a leader in this community in protecting women and children, and taking some of the most horrendous cases. He is going to be a very difficult person indeed to have his shoes filled, but we are buoyed by the knowledge that he is going to be an outstanding judge. And so we lend our support, and we're very, very happy to endorse Mr. Rom Trader. Thank you, Madam President."

The motion was then put by the Chair and carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Hee).

At this time, Senator Taniguchi introduced Judge Trader and his family to the members of the Senate.

At 12:04 p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:11 p.m.

At this time the Chair made the following announcements:

"The deadline to submit bills to the Clerk's office for introduction is 6:00 p.m. tonight. Please remember that after today, bill limits will be in effect for the duration of the bill introduction period. You may file up to five bills each on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week.

"The Senate session on Monday, January 26th will convene at 9:00 a.m., after which we will meet in joint session with the House to receive the Governor's State of the State address at 10:00 a.m. in the House Chamber.

"Referrals are made in accordance with the referrals that will be listed on a supplemental Order of the Day and distributed to your offices later today."

“Senate President Hanabusa, Speaker Say, Lt. “It is a great privilege and a humbling experience to come before you each year to share my thoughts about where our state stands, and where we are headed.

“The annual State of the State Address is a time-honored tradition in states all across our great nation.

“It is a time to take stock of where we are as a state, to recognize a few successes, and to lay out a clear roadmap for our future.

“In this sense, it is a fairly typical speech.

“But this has not been a typical year. We are facing a time like no other in our state’s history.

“And 2009 will be one of the most challenging years in our nation’s history as we confront one of the severest economic crises we have ever faced.

“The daunting task we face in the months ahead is making some very difficult decisions in order to address our immediate fiscal problems.

“These are not decisions that any of us want to make, but they are decisions that must be made.

“They are the same kinds of decisions being made across our state by individuals, families, businesses and organizations as they too confront a near-term future with substantially fewer financial resources, and a high degree of uncertainty.

“I’m an optimist by nature...and as Winston Churchill said, ‘An optimist sees the opportunity in every difficulty.’

“So, I come before you today with a clear understanding of the enormity of what we face in the near term, but still enthusiastic about planning for our future together and optimistic about Hawai‘i in the 21st century.

“Together we will meet both our near-term and long-term obligations by making those decisions necessary to navigate through the turbulence of the current fiscal crisis and achieve our preferred future.

“That future includes energy independence, increased food self-sufficiency, and a 21st-century infrastructure that supports existing and emerging industries.

“Our future also includes a well-cared for environment that increases recreational opportunities across the state.

“We cannot afford to merely hunker down and muddle through the next year or two.

“This is a time for us to work together to address the immediate reality, while searching for those opportunities that will enable us to emerge from this situation stronger than ever.

“This dual effort will take patience and courage because there will be those who want to ignore reality and continue spending at current levels.

“And others who only want to deal with our immediate revenue shortfall while deferring any talk of the future.

“Either approach would leave us far short of meeting our duty to the people of Hawai‘i – a duty both to live within our means and position ourselves for a brighter future.

“As we face this historic challenge, it is easy to forget how much success we have enjoyed in recent years.

“Since May of 2006 we have built nine new emergency shelters and transitional housing projects that provide safe and clean places to live for many who previously could only find a night’s rest in our parks, beaches, doorways or in their cars.

“Nearly 2,800 people, including hundreds of children, have received not only safe shelter, but social services and an outpouring of community support to help them transition from homelessness to self-sufficiency.

“It took many people to achieve so much in just two-and-a-half short years. I want to thank our entire community for embracing and helping those who had lost all hope.

“In an attempt to address a completely different kind of housing need, we’re all aware of the success the Department of Hawaiian Home Lands has had.

“They’ve awarded more land to their beneficiaries than at any time in the history of the trust, and we all enjoy seeing families who have waited for decades finally receiving their homesteads.

“But there’s a much larger DHHL story that will be fully revealed in the years ahead.

“It is the story of a native Hawaiian agency that has chosen to meet its fiduciary duty to its beneficiaries by leading in a way that benefits the larger community of Hawai‘i.

“Whether it’s their pivotal role in the $110 million Kroc Center, development of the future DeBartolo regional mall, kick-starting the infrastructure UH West O‘ahu needed in order to move forward, or being the first state department to move its entire O‘ahu operation to the Second City of Kapolei, DHHL has chosen to lead.

“We now look to them as an important and integral part of our economic recovery, and as an example of how to develop desirable communities.

“They are even blazing their own trail in our state’s efforts to achieve energy independence and provide a clean energy future for the generations that will follow.

“Few could have envisioned six years ago the heights to which DHHL and the Hawaiian Homes Commission would soar.

“I believe their well-recognized success has been achieved partly because of how they contributed to the broader community.

“DHHL is not just about building homes, it is about building great communities.

“And they have succeeded because they have demanded more of themselves and their beneficiaries.

“The bottom line is that they have chosen to lead, not follow...and what a joy it has been to watch their transformation and ongoing journey.

“I want to personally thank the DHHL staff and those who have served on the Hawaiian Homes Commission for showing us all what great things can be achieved when you recognize we are all part of one ‘ohana.

“An important part of that ‘ohana is Hawai‘i’s keiki, especially those who are most vulnerable.

“Two remarkable trends have occurred in Hawai‘i’s child welfare system since 2005.

“The first is a 50 percent decline in the number of children in state care, to just 1,500 children, which is the lowest number since 1993.

“At the same time, Hawai‘i’s child re-abuse rate also dropped by half to just 3.1 percent, which is one of the lowest re-abuse rates in the United States.

“These positive trends were the result of a fundamental shift in the state’s approach to child welfare.

“The Department of Human Services previously removed children from the custody of their biological parents at a rate four times higher than the national average, with no improvement in safety outcomes.

“Today, DHS, and its community partners, uses a comprehensive assessment system to carefully weigh the risk factors in a child’s family environment, and ensure that they receive much-needed social services.

“Director Lillian Koller has received national recognition for these and other achievements.

“In November of last year, Governing Magazine honored her as a “Public Official of the Year” for widespread improvements at the Department of Human Services, including the overhaul of the child welfare system.

“This was the first time a public official from Hawai‘i has won this prestigious national award.

“I know Lillian believes that this success would not have been possible without our many outstanding social service agency partners as well as her own committed staff. Mahalo to all of you.

“No matter how noteworthy these and other achievements may be, recent reductions in revenue forecasts mean that they and other worthy programs will take a back seat to our more immediate need to balance the budget.

“Today’s struggling economy has created a deep hole in our budget that we need to dig out of this session.

“The Council on Revenues has never in its history lowered its projections by so much in such a short period of time.

“Over the past eight months, the Council has reduced its general fund revenue projection by $1.4 billion.

“This downward projection reflects an unprecedented decline in tourism, construction, business activity, and consumer demand brought about by national and international events beyond our control.

“These events – including sub-prime lending, frozen credit markets and volatile oil and other commodity prices – will impact us for at least the next couple of years.

“Climbing our way out of this hole won’t be easy.

“It won’t be quick.

“It won’t be without pain; but it will be done.

“When a recently retired couple watches the value of its 401K drop dramatically...or a family struggles to make the mortgage payment now that their work hours have been cut back...or a social service agency faces the need to lay off employees because the government reduces the purchase of a service contract they were counting on...it is natural to want to understand why this is happening, and to hold someone accountable.

“But we must refrain from playing the blame game because we know this downturn was not caused by any of us.

“And we know we had been making good decisions in recent years to create a brighter future for Hawai‘i’s people by lowering taxes, increasing science and math education, moving toward energy independence, and preserving more of our natural and cultural resources.

“We also know that we are all in this together, and it is only by sticking together that we will be able to deal effectively with the immediate fiscal crisis and strengthen our economy in the long run.

“We will need a mixture of courage, compassion, and collaboration to cope with the unprecedented budget gap we face.

“Collaboration doesn’t mean we will see all issues the same way, it means that for the sake of Hawai‘i’s future, we must acknowledge our predicament and find an acceptable way to move ourselves forward.

“In order to do this, we must start by accepting the fact that in this new economic and fiscal environment, there is simply no possible way to continue operating and spending the way we have.

“Although I am extremely optimistic about Hawai‘i’s long-term prospects, I am not going to sugarcoat the immediate challenge we face.

“The reality is that we will have to make some unpopular choices that will reduce some services and cause others to be delivered in a different way.

“Not because we want to, but because we can’t afford business as usual.

“A number of projects will likely be delayed, curtailed, or possibly eliminated.

“Not because we want to, but because we can’t afford business as usual.

“We will have to ask government employees, like those who work in the private sector, to accept some reduction in wages and benefits.

“Not because we want to, but because we can’t afford business as usual.

“Some who currently enjoy special tax credits, exemptions and deductions will see them reduced or eliminated.

“Not because we want to, but because we can’t afford business as usual.

“This is a time of shared sacrifice when everyone must be willing to give up something.

“This is a time when we must rely on each other, because no one is coming to rescue us.

“We must also keep in mind that the economy will likely continue to soften in the near-term, perhaps causing the Council on Revenues to further reduce projections at its March meeting and then again in May after the budget is adopted.

“We are not alone in facing this new reality and near-term uncertainty.

“Families and businesses across the country and throughout our state have had to come to terms with this same situation.

“But we should also recognize that the difficulty we face is temporary.

“Our nation will regain its economic footing, and so will Hawai‘i.

“How fast we recover here at home will depend to some degree on the decisions we make during this session.

“Our solutions need to be decisive enough to address our immediate situation, but just as important, must prepare the way for our future.

“Short-term solutions that merely defer the hard choices to those who will follow us are just as bad as no solutions at all.

“We can’t meet our responsibility by kicking the can down the road.

“We must make meaningful choices now that address the reality we face today while laying the foundation for a better future.

“That better future is one that transitions us from an economy over-reliant on land development to one that is innovation-driven and relies on the capacity of our people.

“A key area where we must bring innovation to bear is ending our over-reliance on imported foreign oil.

“Oil pollutes the environment, it sucks billions of dollars out of our economy, and leaves us dependent on the goodwill of foreign countries and companies for our very survival.

“We remain today the most oil-dependent state in America, but we have made great strides over the past few years.

“Today windmills hum atop Kaheawa Ridge on Maui delivering clean, plentiful power and displacing the need to import 220,000 barrels of foreign oil each year.

“On Lāna‘i, a 10-acre solar farm now provides 30 percent of the island’s peak power needs.

“A geothermal project on the Big Island that currently provides power for 30,000 homes is in discussions to increase its output by 50 percent.

“And on O‘ahu, engineers are already figuring out where we will be plugging in the electric cars coming to dealer showrooms in the near future.

“Last year we entered into a unique partnership with the federal Department of Energy called the Hawai‘i Clean Energy Initiative or HCEI.

“It established the goal of a 70 percent clean energy economy by 2030.

“HCEI experts from government, national labs, our military, utilities, universities and the private sector have recommended specific actions to achieve the 70 percent clean energy goal through indigenous renewable resources and energy conservation.

“My administration and legislators will introduce several bills based on these HCEI recommendations.

“These changes will significantly increase energy efficiency in our commercial buildings and residences, give consumers more control over their energy costs, transition us to alternative fuel vehicles, such as electric cars, and ban new fossil fuel power plants in Hawai‘i.

“When adopted, these proposals will form the basis for Hawai‘i’s transformation to one of the world’s first economies based primarily on clean energy.

“Implementing these policy changes will require a large measure of collaboration as we will need public funding, assistance from county governments, conservation by citizens, and investment by the business community.

“To successfully transition to a clean energy economy, we will need the involvement of our entire community, alignment of our efforts, and a continual focus on our objectives.

“I expect there will be a fair amount of spirited debate about the specific energy choices we should make, but if we recognize that we cannot go back to where we were, then I believe the choices are clear.

“We can either work together toward a clean energy future or continue to operate in a business-as-usual fashion that will leave Hawai‘i vulnerable to the vagaries of world oil prices and the whims of foreign countries and companies.

“As the world’s most isolated set of islands and our nation’s most oil-dependent state, a clean energy future is no longer simply a desire of environmentalists, it is an absolute necessity for our long-term economic survival.

“This energy transformation is something we owe to future generations, and something they have a right to expect.

“They have a right to expect energy security.

“They have the right to expect stable and lower energy costs, and a cleaner environment.

“They have the right to expect higher-paying, green-collar jobs that come with a thriving new energy sector.

“And they have the right to expect us to stop sending up to $7 billion a year out of Hawai‘i to buy foreign oil, instead of keeping most of it here at home, to circulate in our economy.

“We must remain steadfast in our pursuit of energy independence and security, regardless of fluctuating oil prices.

“Another area in which we must decrease our over-reliance on outside sources of supply is the food we eat.

“We import 85 percent of everything we consume.

“We need to take action now to increase Hawai‘i’s food self-sufficiency and strengthen and preserve agriculture for future generations as required by our State Constitution.

“We must increase our efforts to protect the best agricultural lands from development.

“And, we must strengthen our commitment to provide affordable water for agriculture.

“Increasing our food self-sufficiency will contribute to the state’s economic recovery by keeping more of our money here at home.

“I will be asking state agencies such as schools, prisons and hospitals to take the lead by purchasing locally grown fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs and meat.

“Under new rules, Hawai‘i farmers will receive a 15 percent price preference when placing their bids for state purchases.

“If we each make an effort to buy more locally produced food we will be contributing to our economic recovery, helping Hawai‘i farmers lower their unit costs, and protecting our open spaces.

“Agriculture keeps Hawai‘i green, it recharges our aquifers and promotes a healthy lifestyle and good nutrition for families.

“It also diversifies our economy and supports small businesses and rural communities.

“Another requirement for a strong and innovative economy is an advanced communications infrastructure that will serve as the backbone for connecting us to the global economy.

“This 21st century infrastructure is essential to creating the kind of high-paying jobs we are striving for in the coming years.

“The communications infrastructure we have in place today barely meets our current needs.

“We need to be planning for tomorrow’s needs.

“We shouldn’t be limited in our thinking to believe that what we have in place today is acceptable.

“We need to dream about tomorrow, and begin now to lay the groundwork for getting there.

“We need a communications infrastructure that will allow us to achieve competitive advancements in the areas of: education, health care diagnosis and treatment, public safety, research and innovation, civic participation, creative media, e-government, and the foundation for overall economic development.

“We have been working with the Legislature’s Broadband Task Force to craft a bill that recognizes the convergence of technologies that are used to provide voice, data and video services through wireline, wireless, cable and satellite communication.

“The bill consolidates regulation and advocacy of communication services under one agency, a new Hawai‘i Communications Commission, in order to make attainable the latest communications services at the earliest possible time.

“The Commission will not increase the size of government.

“It will be funded from existing fees, and will focus on achieving specific goals, including: creating broadband access on a competitive basis at reduced prices...streamlining the permitting process...and providing access to businesses and residents by 2012 at prices and speeds that will make us a world leader and a place that will attract investment, while empowering our residents with enhanced communications capability.

“This exciting, high-tech proposal couldn’t have moved forward without the hard work over the last two years of the Broadband Task Force, and I applaud the Legislature for the foresight shown in establishing it.

“Although I have been discussing ideas that will position us well for the future, I think you would agree that the problem that bothers residents the most today is the everyday annoyance of sitting in traffic.

“Sitting in a seemingly endless line of cars, burning expensive fuel, missing an appointment or your child’s soccer game, is not the way any of us want to spend our time.

“The status quo has become intolerable, so we have joined with legislators in proposing a six-year, multi-island, Highways Modernization Plan to address known traffic problems with proven solutions.

“This plan is intended to save lives...save time...and save money.

“The program combines road building, highway and bridge safety improvements, anti-congestion traffic management, and a pavement maintenance program, in addition to safety legislation and increased public outreach and education.

“The bulk of the near-term projects will be started using existing funds and anticipated federal fiscal stimulus funding.

“In other words, we will have a plan in place that is ready to go to construction when our economic situation improves.

“This innovative recommendation to tie future increases to measurable economic results in order to address a long-festering problem is the kind of creative approach being used by departments and agencies throughout government.

“I have challenged every one of our departments to find new and creative ways to improve our quality of life in these tough economic and fiscal times.

“The Department of Land and Natural Resources has risen to this challenge, and developed a comprehensive proposal to renew our state parks, small boat harbors and trails as well as the very way we care for these precious places – a true “Recreational Renaissance” that will benefit all residents and visitors.

“The heart of the plan is $240 million in capital improvements over five years for both land- and ocean-based recreation.

“The Department will fund this innovative plan by dedicating rents from some existing commercial properties to pay debt service, and developing now-vacant industrial and commercial lands that will fulfill the high demand for light industrial spaces in areas suitable for those uses.

“Additional funding to support maintenance and operations will be generated from leases and concessions in parks and harbors combined with a small entry fee paid by visitors at a limited number of high-destination parks.

“The plan’s final piece is the development of new land and ocean recreational opportunities through a public-private partnership to develop the long-proposed Ke’ehi Lagoon Triangle adjacent to Lagoon Drive in Honolulu.

“This centerpiece initiative will include 119 acres of light industrial space as a long-term source of revenue, coupled with new marina slips, canoe club storage and practice areas, boat ramps, storage and dry docks, beach parks and picnic areas.

“I want to thank the staff at DLNR, DBEDT and Budget and Finance who developed this creative and comprehensive proposal which creates brand new, non-tax revenues and a better way of managing and caring for our recreational, natural and cultural resources.

“Working together, we can set the stage for this long-overdue ‘Recreational Renaissance’ that will provide residents and visitors across our state with new and better recreational areas that are well-maintained, secure and enriching.

“I am especially enthused about working with the Legislature on this and other proposals as a colleague rather than an adversary.

“I will do more than reach across the aisle; I will walk across the aisle, and my door will always be wide open to you.

“Our collaboration will demonstrate to the people of Hawai‘i that when history called on us to do so, we rose to the occasion.

“I firmly believe that only by working together can we produce the kind of significant results that will enable us to exit this temporary downturn, and to position our economy for a stronger and more sustainable future.

“Before concluding I want to take a moment to speak about the case pending before the United States Supreme Court involving the issue of ceded lands.

“The issue involved in this case is not whether ceded lands should or should not be sold.

“Rather the issue involves the fundamental question of whether the State of Hawai‘i has clear title to the land transferred to us by the federal government at the time of statehood.

“The roots of this case date back to a decision made by former Governor Waihe‘e in the 1980s to sell certain ceded lands on Maui and Hawai‘i for the construction of affordable housing.

“It was a decision he believed was in the best interest of all the people of Hawai‘i.

“It is a decision that former Governor Cayetano defended in court because he believed it was in the best interest of all the people of Hawai‘i to do so.

“And it is a decision that we are appealing to the United States Supreme Court because I believe it is in the best interest of all the people of Hawai‘i.

“Acting in the best interest of all the people is the same standard I applied when supporting the Akaka Bill, fighting to protect federal programs benefiting native Hawaiians, or expediting Hawaiian Homestead leases.

“And I will continue to advocate for these issues in the coming years just as passionately as I have in years past.

“I call upon all who cherish what is the essence of Hawai‘i to come together with a willingness to understand and respect the nature of this case and its importance to the future of our state.

“Our current fiscal crisis and the ceded lands issue arise during the same year that we commemorate our 50th anniversary as a state.

“It is a time when we can reflect on just how unique we are among the 50 states.

“But it is more importantly a time to remind ourselves that regardless of the short-term decisions we must make in this moment of economic difficulty, we should remain firmly anchored on the sure footing of Hawai‘i’s rich culture, diverse heritage and sometimes complicated history.

“Governors of Japanese, Hawaiian, and Filipino descent have delivered State of the State addresses at this very podium.

“Hawai‘i elected the first Asian American to the United States Senate.

“And, less than a week ago, Hawai‘i’s heart swelled with pride as one of its own, Barack Obama, became the first African American to take the presidential oath of office when he was sworn in as our nation’s 44th president.

“We have so much to be proud of in our history, and so much to look forward to in the coming years.

“We are indeed the most unique among all the 50 states, and we are certainly capable of meeting this current challenge.

“In my heart, I know that if we work together to make these difficult budget decisions, the people of Hawai‘i will understand that these weren’t the decisions we wanted to make but that we had to make.

“The people of Hawai‘i are counting on us to lead our state through this unprecedented time – and that is exactly what we are going to do.

“When the curtain comes down on our time on this stage, I want our collective legacy to win reviews as a story of pulling together for the good of all rather than being written off as a cast of characters who was each acting in their own one-man show.

“If we deal decisively with the current crisis while keeping our eyes open to the opportunities that these kinds of challenging times create, then the people of Hawai‘i will conclude that we have lived up to our obligation.

“Now, let’s get to work.”

Senate President Colleen Hanabusa then rose and stated:

“Thank you, Governor Lingle. On behalf of Speaker Say and myself, I want to confirm that we have full confidence in the members of the House and the members of the Senate that they are not only able, but willing and ready to meet this challenge.

“We all know that we are facing the most difficult economic crisis that this State has seen in recent history. We all know that the one thing we must do is to work together if we are going to face this crisis and come out of it, so that the people of Hawai‘i are not caused to suffer any more than they will. And we all know that it is the people of Hawai‘i that we serve and they are the ones who we must protect and understand their needs and face this challenge.

“So on behalf of Speaker Say and myself, and the members of the House and Senate, we look forward to working collaboratively with not only you, Governor, the Lieutenant Governor and members of your cabinet, but also with the people. The people must be a part of this. We must hear you. You must participate because these are the times where we cannot say that if the idea doesn’t come from here it is not a good one. We need all the input that we can have.

“So with that, I declare this Joint Session adjourned.”

At 10:51 a.m., President Hanabusa declared the Joint Session adjourned.

S.B. No. 195	Committee on Commerce and Consumer Protection, then to the Committee on Ways and Means	S.B. No. 707	Jointly to the Committee on Commerce and Consumer Protection and the Committee on Judiciary and Government Operations
S.B. No. 198	Committee on Commerce and Consumer Protection, then to the Committee on Ways and Means		Senator Hee rose on a point of personal privilege and said:
S.B. No. 218	Jointly to the Committee on Water, Land, Agriculture and Hawaiian Affairs and the Committee on Public Safety and Military Affairs, then to the Committee on Judiciary and Government Operations		“Members, I wanted to, on behalf of all of you, extend our congratulations to our President for signing as an amicus in the ceded lands case before the United States Supreme Court. I wish she had invited us to join her, but she has her reasons. But we join you in spirit.
S.B. No. 237	Jointly to the Committee on Energy and Environment and the Committee on Water, Land, Agriculture and Hawaiian Affairs, then to the Committee on Commerce and Consumer Protection		“I also wanted to recognize that Governor Waihe‘e and C.J. Richardson, as well as Princess Abigail Kawananakoa also signed as amicus curiae. But John Waihe‘e, in particular, because he and I have had a lot of discussions because in 1994 when I was Chairman of the Office of Hawaiian Affairs, we brought the lawsuit, and he was governor at the time. I guess he did not appreciate that what was being characterized as an affordable housing development essentially was a developer’s development, which included market homes on the ridge line, golf courses, shopping centers, and then some affordable housing. And that was the danger of the development, that in fact, the State was engaging to become a developer under Joe Conan at the time.
S.B. No. 238	Jointly to the Committee on Energy and Environment and the Committee on Water, Land, Agriculture and Hawaiian Affairs, then to the Committee on Commerce and Consumer Protection		“As all of you know, we will be engaging discussion on this issue. The Committee on Water, Land, Agriculture and Hawaiian Affairs intends to hold hearings on all the bills that are submitted, and during that course, the Committee will make clear that reconciliation with native Hawaiians is not new—in fact, has been done with the Indians of the lower 48, native Alaskans, the AJA that were interned during the war, and, presently, reconciliation is ongoing with the Filipinos who fought for the U.S. in World War II.
S.B. No. 245	Committee on Energy and Environment, then jointly to the Committee on Judiciary and Government Operations and the Committee on Commerce and Consumer Protection		“There’s a missing piece in the discussion, and that is the Kamehameha Schools, of which I am a graduate of. Kamehameha Schools evidently forgot to sign on as an amicus curiae and they should be held accountable for that. Kamehameha Schools, after all, has its very core in the lands of Princess Pauahi, who received those lands from her cousin, Princess Ruth Ke‘elikōlani.
S.B. No. 246	Jointly to the Committee on Energy and Environment and the Committee on Commerce and Consumer Protection, then to the Committee on Ways and Means		“It is regrettable that Kamehameha is not an amicus curiae, and they owe, not only the Hawaiian people, but all those who may be married to Hawaiian people, all those who may have children who are Hawaiian, all those who have friends or family that are Hawaiian, and all those like President Obama, who may
S.B. No. 263	Committee on Energy and Environment, then to the Committee on Ways and Means

S.B. No. 271	Committee on Tourism, then to the Committee on Ways and Means not be Hawaiian, but are keiki hānau o ka 'āina. They were born here.

“Kamehameha owes an explanation because when John Doe prevailed at every step, they wasted no time in calling—guess who?—the supporters of their lands to rally with Kamehameha Schools. And some of you may have been there. I was there.

“Kamehameha Schools should be held accountable, and it is with this discussion that the expectation is Kamehameha Schools will be an active participant in all of the hearings. After all, the difference between the lands of Pauahi and the lands of the crown, which were taken and then ceded back, are the same.

“So, it is with that discussion that we look forward to the Kamehameha Schools. Thank you.”

ADJOURNMENT

Senator Baker rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

“Madam President, colleagues, yesterday Hawai'i lost a truly great woman, Dr. Donnis Thompson. She was a trailblazer, a champion for women athletics, and a champion for women's rights overall.

“As one of her former students noted, she was ‘way, way ahead of her time.’ Donnis Thompson was UH's first director of athletics. She also served as the superintendent of Hawai'i's public schools. And, for us, she helped inspire Congresswoman Patsy Mink to write the Title IX legislation, which made it illegal for any education program receiving federal assistance to discriminate on the basis of gender.

“She grew up in Chicago with two passions: track and education. By the age of 16, she graduated from high school; by age 20, a bachelor's degree. And then she went on to earn a doctorate in physical education administration. In 1961, she moved to Hawai'i to start UH's women's track and field program. As the article in this morning's paper noted, 'the track was dirt and the budget dirt poor.' That was pre-Title IX.

"As one of her former athletes noted, 'She was a great lady. She was unselfish, always a giver. She always broke down barriers. She didn't see color. It was not a part of her. She fought for the rights of the most needy'—for children and for women.

"She was indeed a woman of many talents. One of those was really encouraging and advancing the cause of women athletics here at the UH. And one of the things that I found most amazing in her background was the efforts on behalf of women's volleyball—charging admission and bringing the sport to a much larger arena. She was, by the time she left UH, instrumental in seeing that the school had added five women's sports and won the first national team title (just happened to be the national volleyball title in 1979). She was truly a trailblazer and a woman for all seasons, and I know that women's athletics and women's sports not just here in Hawai'i, but throughout our country, would not be at the level that they are now without her persistence.

"So, Madam President, to honor her legacy and her memory, I request that the Senate observe a moment of silence and adjourn on a rising vote in memory of Dr. Donniss Thompson, a trailblazer who called Hawai'i 'home.' "

The Chair so ordered.

ADJOURNMENT

G.M. No.	Re-referred to:

Gov. Msg. No. 259	Committee on Higher Education
Gov. Msg. No. 260	Committee on Health

Gov. Msg. No. 266	Committee on Water, Land, Agriculture and Hawaiian Affairs
Gov. Msg. No. 269	Committee on Health
Gov. Msg. No. 272	Committee on Health
Gov. Msg. No. 274	Committee on Higher Education

At this time, Senator Hemmings rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

“Colleagues, I know that sometimes you wish you had a one-party system on the floor of this Legislature and certainly in committees, where oftentimes the good Senator from Hawai‘i Kai, Senator Slom, and myself feel it’s our duty to speak up on issues of the day.

“The founding fathers did write about the tyranny of the majority in oftentimes yielding our duty to the fleeting public opinion. But I feel it’s my duty to speak up once again about a problem that’s been plaguing this state for well over a generation. In that time, many young people have been cheated and a huge amount of money’s been spent with diminishing results. And I’d like to bring your attention once again to the headlines that we often see in newspapers: The Advertiser’s headline, ‘School spending up in Hawai‘i but scores down, study says.’

“The $350,000 a year (last I checked) communications department—which is really the spin department for the Department of Education—says what it always says every time one of these headlines appear: DOE rejects ranking near bottom as meaningless.

“Well, I submit to you that it’s not meaningless, that something should and could be done. And business as usual, and throwing money at the Department of Education, and making sure that teachers are in charge of certain things like teacher accreditation, just does not make sense. And we just continue to do the same thing.

“Madam Chair and colleagues, are we going to continue to do the same thing or are we going to heed the warnings that are given to us on a regular basis?

“I know I will not yield, and I know Senator Slom will not yield in our quest to really bring about some significant change to our public education system.

“In closing, Madam President, these organizations don’t have a bias against Hawai‘i. They don’t go through and say, ‘Let’s make a nationwide study and let’s sock it to Hawai‘i.’ This is good information and really should be a lesson to us without going through denial about. So I’m hoping that the Education Committee can possibly do an audit on the $2.4 billion dollars we spend to get some of the worst results in the nation. Thank you, Madam President.”

ORDER OF THE DAY

Senator English moved that S.B. No. 718, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Gabbard.

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

"I certainly recognize the good intent of the author of this bill, and under other circumstances both statewide and nationally, I would wholeheartedly support this initiative. I think it is well worth the time and consideration. But right now, our nation's under tremendous economic peril, and I don't recall in my lifetime—our lifetime, Mr. President—having a state that is facing more daunting problems regarding the economy. Besides the existing layoffs, there are many, many businesses that are on the cusp of collapsing. And this is not only going to affect businesses, but (for instance) affordable housing and other projects that help the truly needy.

"Anything we do during this legislative session to add to the regulations, which costs money and mandates, will ultimately burden the consumers and affect the marketplace. And since margins are so tight with the economy here, we may be really killing projects. This may seem innocuous, but if you calculate the impact of all of the other things that developers have to do to make housing available, affordable or otherwise, it adds up. And I would suggest that for the next session or two that we're going to really have to do everything we can to open up the marketplace to investment and risk-taking and affordability. And though I support the outcome of this initiative, I believe that we may be doing more harm than good. So, I will be voting 'no.'"

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 718, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TRANSPORTATION," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

ORDER OF THE DAY

ADOPTION OF RESOLUTIONS

MATTERS DEFERRED FROM THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 2009

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 177 (S.C.R. No. 40):

Senator Sakamoto moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 177 and S.C.R. No. 40 be adopted, seconded by Senator Slom.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"The U.S. Supreme Court is going to take up the matter of ceded lands on Wednesday; our Attorney General is already there. Several hours ago, the United States Supreme Court ruled on a motion by the Obama administration to allow the acting Solicitor General to intervene and to provide comments to that argument. So, I find it very difficult to ascertain why we in the Legislature would adopt a resolution to call for the withdrawal of the Governor, the Attorney General, particularly since all the previous governors going back to Governor Waihe'e, Governor Cayetano, have supported the state's right to buy, sell or transfer lands.

"Other states—more than two dozen other states—have joined in this action, and, really, it's a states' rights issue and it will be decided on Wednesday. It does not, however, require that the state do anything. It just reestablishes the powers of the state and particularly when we're talking about trust lands or ceded lands.

"We also have an interesting situation here with our Hawai'i Supreme Court and its ruling: taking an apology resolution and making it into the force of law. Again, this goes beyond anything that the last three administrations have stood for, and so I think we should wait and see what the arguments are and what the decision of the nation's highest court is next Wednesday. Thank you."

Senator Hee rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"With response to the previous speaker, these resolutions are appropriate. It is an expression of the elected representatives of the State of Hawai'i. It dovetails the expression of the majority that shall be voted upon on this floor, if it should be passed, to be consistent with the Hawai'i Supreme Court. It is an expression that represents and recognizes the limited land resource of ceded lands. It acknowledges that the state has and will continue in all likelihood to transfer remnant pieces as they have done since statehood. And perhaps most importantly, it will demonstrate that two branches of government, the legislative branch and the judicial branch of government, stand united as one when it comes to the disposition of what was formerly crown and government lands which were taken without the consent or compensation of a peaceful kingdom by a colonial power. I rise in strong support. Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Understanding the sensitivity of the prior speaker’s position on this issue, we certainly can go back to the events of 1893 and what really happened. But I would submit that never before, prior to 1893, did the individual Hawaiian citizen, regardless of ancestry, have sovereignty over the land. Sovereignty was obviously vested in the sovereign. So, the evolution of land can be debated in many ways. Nevertheless we come to this time in our history when we discuss—we, the sovereign people of Hawai‘i, regardless of our race—making decisions on how to use land. And I would submit that the bill we’re looking at today is a good bill. It will follow the resolutions, but these resolutions do not dovetail with that.

“To ask the Supreme Court to take away states’ individual rights to sell land if they deem appropriate does not make sense for the people—the sovereign people of the State of Hawai‘i, or the sovereign people of any state. Obviously the Founding Fathers created a federal system because they felt that states’ rights reign supreme in all things with the exception of the mutual protection of our nation through defense and interstate commerce. That principle, Madam President, is well articulated in, I believe, the 42nd paper by James Madison in the Federalist Papers. You probably know it well, being the Constitution scholar that you are. States should and must have the right to manage their resources and not allow the federal government to come in and make unilateral decisions. So I think our Governor and the Attorney General’s position, as articulated by the good Senator from Hawai‘i Kai, is wholly consistent with this concept.

“Passing this resolution does something much more insidious when it comes to judicial proceedings, as the previous speaker stated. And that is simply, we are not part of the judicial branch of government, and not meant to override errant decisions by our State Supreme Court. And that is the way it should be. We are separate but equal branches of government. They interpret the law, but we make it. And if we have to remake a law to address the best interests of the people who elected us, so be it. They are not elected. We are. One of the most important things we do regarding the state budget is controlling assets. Therefore the control of the land should be vested by law in the Legislature, not in the judicial branch of government. So, I’m urging my colleagues to vote ‘no’ on this bill for the simple reason that in doing so we’re protecting state rights and the rights of the Legislature, to deem what is appropriate in managing the assets of this state. And quite frankly, with their history, I don’t trust the State Supreme Court. I think we can do a better job. So let’s do so by voting ‘no’ on these resolutions. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senator Hooser rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“I’ll keep my remarks brief. I’d like to, first of all, just echo and support the remarks—the very thoughtful and eloquent remarks—given by the Chairman of the Water, Land, Agriculture, and Hawaiian Affairs Committee. I’m in full support of that. And just to simply say this is the right thing to do and the right time to do it. Thank you.”

Senator Galuteria rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“Madam President and colleagues, I had hoped that my first time to speak to you on the floor would have been about another matter, but I find it right and certainly appropriate that I appeal to you in strong support of these resolutions and for all, what I consider to be, the right reasons. Obviously the word ‘pono’ is tossed out in various ways and various manners in this day and age and ‘pono for the Hawaiian people.’ But as a freshman senator, I’d like to appeal to you in another way, and that is to respect the various branches of government.

“The argument towards reconciliation of the Hawaiian question will always come into play. The Hawaiian community must indeed organize. But in this particular case, I feel as if the executive branch is not fully respecting the wishes of the other branches of government. So in that regard, I simply ask for you to look at it as a means by which the Legislature, our branch of government, strongly supports the resolution that is before us—urging the Governor to withdraw her appeal—simply because the judiciary has already said what they need to say and I certainly feel as if we should adhere to their decision.

“The concept of home rule is very important. The concept of keeping our decisions within the State of Hawai‘i is very important because of what it will do for the future generations, it will mean that if we don’t get the right decision, we’ll just go elsewhere to find that right decision to execute what we need to execute. So in that regard, let me close by asking the body to please support this measure, support the resolutions and support the following bill. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senator Hee rose in rebuttal and said:

“I would like to offer a few remarks to clarify these resos. Evidently there are some on the floor who believe the state cannot sell ceded lands. And that is not true.

“The Hawai‘i Supreme Court decision related to the 5(f) lands only. Members, there’s a bill that was moved out of the Committee on Water, Land, Agriculture and Hawaiian Affairs earlier this week that proposes to sell 5(a) ceded lands located on Sand Island. So, any misunderstanding of the state’s rights to sell ceded lands is inaccurate. The right to sell 5(f) lands, the crown and government lands which were taken—1.8 million acres in 1893—is at question. Those are the ceded lands upon which the Hawai‘i Supreme Court made its ruling, not the 5(a) lands. The state has every right, even though the Governor has said in the media she has no intention to sell ceded lands.

“So, I hope that as we move forward in this discussion, that certain members get their facts accurate with the disposition of ceded lands because we’re just beginning the debate on this journey through the session, which frankly I look forward to. Thank you.”

Senator Slom rose in rebuttal and said:

“I notice that several of the speakers tried to mix metaphors and tried to mix in these resolutions with the bill coming up next and with other bills and other issues.

“I don’t think that there’s any confusion. I think everybody knows what we’re talking about here, and what we’re talking about is whether or not the state has the right to sell or transfer these lands, including the ceded lands. I don’t think there’s any confusion with OHA because they spent several thousands of dollars of state money, taxpayer money, for this ad today for rallies and everything else against these resolutions.

“There’s no confusion because the other states understand what is at stake. And what is at stake is: there is an attack on states’ rights. Every one of us in this room took an oath to uphold the United States Constitution and the Constitution of Hawai‘i. For twenty-two consecutive years now, the executive branch has taken the position that the state has the ability to do these things. Only now are we questioning what can be done, and only now do we look at the State Supreme Court, which again has taken a congressional resolution and tried to raise it into the force of law which it cannot do. And if we talk about respect, then in fact, we should not have selective respect. We should respect all branches of government.

“So I urge my colleagues to consider what these resolutions do apart from the next bill and other bills in this session. Thank you, Madam President.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the report of the Committee was adopted and S.C.R. No. 40, entitled: "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION URGING THE GOVERNOR AND THE ATTORNEY GENERAL TO WITHDRAW THE APPEAL TO THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT OF THE HAWAII STATE SUPREME COURT DECISION, OFFICE OF HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS V. HOUSING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION OF HAWAII, 117 HAWAII 174 (2008)," was adopted with Senators Hemmings and Slom voting "No".

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 178 (S.R. No. 25, S.D. 1):

Senator Sakamoto moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 178 and S.R. No. 25, S.D. 1 be adopted, seconded by Senator Slom.

S.B. No. 777, S.D. 1:

Senator Ige moved that S.B. No. 777, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Green.

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Seems we have a 'brave new world,' and this bill essentially mandates anybody receiving public assistance in their efforts—oftentimes laudable efforts by charitable and educational institutions—have to have comprehensive sexual education. Our society has experienced a revolution in sexuality in many ways. We saw a great demonstration this weekend on the issue and it obviously has risen to be one of the issues of the day as it was about ten years ago when the people voted on it.

"Nevertheless we've heard from people who testified in favor of this bill and similar bills like it in years gone by, that sex education was going to be the wonderful new thing that would save our society from the ills of sexual exploitation, uninformed decision-making, children having sex out of wedlock and sexually transmitted diseases. Sexual education was going to solve the problem, and old-fashioned virtues like abstinence, modesty and chastity were just that—old-fashioned. We were going to be a much more enlightened society. Well, the great thing we have in this journey through life is that we can look back on and see what these values have wrought us.

"I would submit to you that our hormones haven't changed much from my generation to the present generation, but the terms of engagement in human sexuality have changed tremendously. Under the enlightenment of organizations like the ACLU and other ones listed as testifiers in favor of this bill, it's open season. If it feels good, go for it. Get educated. Teach the children how to put on condoms and have a good time. And those organizations like the Roman Catholic Church and the Department of Health and others who testified in opposition to this bill realized that we should have the freedom to teach modesty, abstinence and values that will not allow for consequences that we don't want.

“Isn’t it ironic, Madam President and colleagues, that since we’ve become so enlightened, that out-of-wedlock births have exploded since the days of my youth, when they were about 6 percent; they’re about 37 percent now. Those people who are highly dependent on government support as a result, it’s up to 67 percent. Isn’t it ironic, since we’re so enlightened now with all this education that the number of abortions have become over a million a year? Isn’t it ironic that since we’re teaching everybody how to be so enlightened and sexually responsible, that sexually transmitted diseases have exploded amongst young people? It is simply not working.

“This bill forces organizations, which may be receiving assistance of some sort from government, to teach a broad curriculum under the guise of communication—when really it’s just ramming down values that could be contrary to their personal beliefs. I don’t think that’s healthy for us. And I got the proof, because the performance in these areas for our society is truly sad. And I would suggest that when we pass bills like this, we take a look at the consequences. The consequences regarding open season on human sexuality is dire, especially for females who oftentimes have to have the burden of the unwanted child, the sexually transmitted disease, or all the problems that come along with it.

“So I’m voting ‘no,’ Madam President and colleagues, and I hope that you will reconsider your vote on it. Thank you.”

Senator Green rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“A couple points I’d like to make in, in fact, very strong support. In a generation gone by, if someone didn’t practice safe sex they got chlamydia or gonorrhea, maybe ended up infertile. Now, if they don’t get proper education, they get HIV and they’re dead. They might have time to have their baby and then their baby’s an orphan. So things have changed very greatly.

“I also think that it’s a fallacy to suggest that people who are going to provide sex ed are not going to also encourage abstinence, aren’t going to also encourage good morals. My parents encouraged both of those things, and they also told me to be smart about things so I wouldn’t, God forbid, get HIV or give it to a girlfriend. So I think we should be very smart and protect our children. Thank you, Senate President.”

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

“My reservations relate to the issue of there’s some providers that may specialize in dealing with issues of respect or issues of conflict resolution, communication between male and female; others may specialize in the disease part of it, others may specialize in abstinence. I believe when the bill says a provider needs to be all things for everyone, it takes away from the ability for some providers to specialize in one unique part that they may feel very passionately and strongly about. Thank you.”

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

“It’s nice that one or two of us may have some experience contrary to my words, but the facts are that our country is in dire straits with sexuality, with unwanted pregnancies, with sexually transmitted diseases. By the way, the terrible scourge of HIV/AIDS came after everybody became so enlightened with sexual education—after the sexual revolution of the sixties. It seems that being educated didn’t help much in curbing that disease. So, the bottom line is that results speak louder than any of our words on the floor of this Senate.

“I’d like to also comment on the words from the good Senator from Moanalua district. In doing this, we are oftentimes taking the rights away from people who believe very strongly in values that made the family in this country great. We are taking away their right to teach abstinence without having to open up Pandora’s Box for all the other options that these other organizations are advocating. And those options include, as I mentioned earlier, some things that I’d rather have the family take care of amongst their own values. So this really preempts the values of organizations and the values of individual families who may be sending their children to public schools and other organizations. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“I’m constantly amazed at some of the arguments that are made for providing factually accurate information about one’s sexuality. Clearly, there are a lot of folks in our country, young people and older, that don’t understand, don’t know very much about their body, have never had anybody that they could talk to, to really understand how to prevent a pregnancy or how to make sure that if they are engaging in sex, that it’s safe.

“The statistics that were previously cited simply do not tell the story. The reason you have sexually transmitted diseases, the reason that you have unwanted pregnancies is because there has been a lack of factual information provided to our young people. I cannot believe that I’m standing on the Senate floor trying to understand why people would not want good, solid information and accurate information. The era of the abstinence-only has been an abysmal failure. It has not provided information that people could use to make good judgments and good actions.

“Madam President, this measure has been put forward by the Legislative Women’s Caucus in both the House and the Senate because we want to make sure that there aren’t unwanted pregnancies. We want to make sure that diseases are not transmitted. And the only way to do this is to make sure that our young people who may not be able to get the information from their parents, who may not be able to get the information from another adult, and given to them accurately, have the access to that information. I think it’s so critical as we go forward to make sure that all of us have the opportunity to make informed decisions, and particularly in this particular area. So, I ask all of my colleagues to stand with me and support this measure.”

Senator Ige rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

“I did want to note: there are two things. One of the problems that the Department is faced with is the fragmentation of the funding sources which provides funds that can only be provided into very targeted areas. And it really does increase the burden on the schools and the principals to try and cobble up a collection of providers who can provide a comprehensive curriculum. And that’s one of the reasons for pursuing this bill—to ensure that any provider would cover all of the subject matters.

“Second, I did want to note for the record that parents can choose to opt out of any portion—the entire program or any portion of the program—that they feel objectionable about. Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 777, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO COMPREHENSIVE SEXUALITY HEALTH EDUCATION,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Ayes with Reservations, 1 (Sakamoto). Noes, 3 (Gabbard, Hemmings, Slom). Excused, 1 (English).

S.B. No. 62, S.D. 1:

Senator Takamine moved that S.B. No. 62, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“We’ve had this bill several years in a row now, and basically it attacks the Independent Medical Exam process—the IME.

“The committee report talks about the fact that people distrust the process, people are unhappy, there are disgruntled workers, and so forth. That probably is true, but nonetheless this is a process which we have within our workers’ comp process to make sure that the injuries complained of are, in fact, accurate and in some cases, they’ve been found to be even more serious than complained of. The bottom line is that the employer pays for the entire process, and to try to have legislation that says, ‘Well, the employer will still pay for it, but we need to have mutual consent by the employer or the employee.’ The employer has created the job, has created the worksite, has provided all of the benefits, the compensation, and I don’t think it is unreasonable to require that if an IME is sought and the employer must pay for it, that in fact, the results are part of the record. There are, of course, other legal options open to people that still don’t agree with this process. But I find it very difficult—in the committee report—to allege that the physicians may be biased towards employers simply because the employers have paid for this process and have done so for many decades. That’s a lack of understanding of physicians and others and also employers, and I don’t think by passing this bill we’re going to get all of the employees to sing ‘Kumbaya’ with their employers. In any event, it will simply increase the cost and affect possible jobs.

“So, I would urge my colleagues, if they’re concerned about true workers’ compensation and help for injured workers, that we look deeper into Hawai‘i’s workers’ compensation law but not into putting further burdens on employers. Thank you.”

Senator Takamine rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“I believe the previous speaker did raise a number of good points with respect to this bill, Madam President. You know, as he indicated, the bill has come before the State Legislature previously and, in fact, was passed by both the House and Senate and was vetoed, and the veto was not overridden.

“It is a measure that attempts to address a specific concern within the workers’ compensation system where there might be imbalance in terms of economic or financial capacity and ability to build a case. In the hearings last year and this year, there were many instances cited of ‘how’ because the insurance company, who’s usually in the shoes of the employer, is in a much stronger economic position that they have been able to generate multiple IME’s that are used to support their position. The employee does not have the same sort of bargaining situation with respect to financial capability.

“In light of the many instances that were cited, that provided the basis for moving forward, this bill creates a mechanism to strike a better balance. It provides that where there isn’t agreement between the parties that a preselected panel decide. The Department of Labor and its director, presumably a third party—an impartial third party, would determine what doctor would do the IME and then become part of the case.

“But I think that is only the beginning point of this measure because I think there were some good points raised by the previous speaker that when you look at the total situation we need to take into account not only the economic strengths of the party and the purpose for this measure, but also look at the history of workers’ compensation and where we are today. In the past four years, workers’ compensation rates in our state have gone down by 60 percent. Let me say that again: have gone down by 60 percent. Beginning in January of ‘06, the rates decreased by 18 percent. In January ‘07, the rates decreased by another 12 percent. In January of ‘08, it decreased again by another 19 percent. And beginning January 1 of this year, there will be a further decrease of 11.6 percent in the workers’ compensation rates that are assessed against the employers.

“There needs to be some fairness, and that’s the bottom line. I think when you look at the financial circumstances of the parties, this measure has the potential to provide greater fairness and light of the rates and history there, I would submit that it is warranted. For these reasons I will be supporting the bill. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senator Slom rose in rebuttal and said:

“I thank the Labor Chairman for that additional information, and I certainly do acknowledge that some of the rates have come down. I would remind my colleagues that those rates are on average. They do not apply to all businesses and particularly hard-hit have been smaller businesses which make up 98 percent of our business community.

“In addition to that, Hawai‘i had the reputation as the highest costing workers’ compensation rates in the nation, and so the fact that the rates have come down is a good sign but we’re still among the top five in the nation.

“I have a difficult time, though, in justifying a comparison between rates and the IME process, and the good Senator brought up the fact that the process in this bill would require the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations to serve as an independent go-between. I would remind my colleagues that the Department of Labor testified in opposition to this bill, said that it was not needed, and that they really did not want to participate in this process. Thank you.”

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“I appreciate the hard work of the Chair and others to continue to improve our workers’ compensation system, and certainly the IME issues have been a big issue for many, many years. And as a small businessperson, we want our injured employees back, we want safe workers, and I’m glad to hear that, obviously, safety and improved process has reduced the rates. In this particular case, my reservations are that it is a balancing system and until... Well, I hope that the parties can work together to get at least a better agreement between the small businesses and those representing the injured workers so we have a better system, not just continue to fight in a different way. Thank you very much.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 62, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WORKERS’ COMPENSATION,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Ayes with Reservations, 1 (Sakamoto). Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom). Excused, 1 (English).

S.B. No. 695, S.D. 1:

Senator Takamine moved that S.B. No. 695, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Again, we are very familiar with this bill. It’s been back for many years, and basically what it requires is an employer to continue paying for an alleged illness or injury after a dispute has arisen. I do credit the Labor chairman; at least this year, he addressed one of the major problems over the years, and that was that the employer would continue paying, and then if it were later found that the claim was not valid, there was no way for the employer to get back any of the funds that had been expended. Well, the bill partially addresses that and says that the employer 'may' recover, from the health care provider or from the insurer. There is not a mechanism to make sure that there will be a recovery. It does not say that the employer 'shall' recover, does not allow any recovery from the employee who has been the recipient of these ill-gotten gains. So, again, I think if we're talking about fairness, this is not a fair bill. It is not fair to businesses, and particularly small businesses, and I urge consideration and a 'no' vote. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Takamine rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"I think fairness is key to any law that we pass, and a couple of points were mentioned. In terms of making the employer whole, should there have been an overpayment of medicals, there are provisions in the bill that would provide for reimbursement. In addition to that, for a person who has had an industrial injury, particularly if it's, medium to more serious, it's not only the medical benefits, but it's additional permanent impairment that might come into play, and at times, temporary partial disability, as well as total disability benefits. Any additional benefits that the employee may be entitled to are possible offsets should there be an issue of overpayment, by the employer. There are some safeguards in the measure to address the employer's concerns.

"During these tough economic times, isn't this when we want to help out the business community and the employers in whatever way possible? There's some merit in that. But these economic times place the greatest burdens on the workers and the working families as well. If the only breadwinner is disabled because of industrial injury, it's essentially the same as if he lost his job. The income that would have been generated for putting food on the table, for shelter, and for taking care of his family, has been impacted. To have a measure that says, not that he can collect forever, not that he can be treated forever, but before it is cut off, provide an opportunity for the Department to review everything and then make a judgment. If he was entitled to continue treatment which would best ensure the maximum recovery, then provide that opportunity. And if there was an error and too much was provided, then there is some recourse. Thank you, Madam President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 695, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WORKERS' COMPENSATION," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom). Excused, 1 (English).

S.B. No. 823, S.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Takamine, seconded by Senator Taniguchi and carried, S.B. No. 823, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO FAMILY LEAVE," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, none. Excused, 2 (English, Hemmings).

REFERRAL OF SENATE RESOLUTION

The President made the following committee assignment of a resolution that was offered on Friday, February 13, 2009:

S.R. No.	Referred to:
S.R. No. 26	Committee on Water, Land, Agriculture and Hawaiian Affairs

At this time, Senator Hemmings rose on a point of personal privilege and stated:

“Colleagues, I would be remiss if I did not stand on this Senate floor and follow up on the procurement audit of the Department of Education which we all received.

“The findings are quite alarming, but what is more distressing is the continued denial on the part of those involved in administering one of our most important functions—educating our young people—that something is wrong, sorely wrong, with the Department of Education. You know, we receive audits and reports on national rankings all the time and denial, denial, denial—‘There’s something wrong with the audit. There’s something wrong with the ranking organizations.’

“This is just an audit of one particular area—procurement. Part 1 of the findings includes, ‘a lack of leadership and controls has permitted a culture of indifference towards procurement. Unconcern for procurement rules has resulted in numerous instances of noncompliance.’ Part 2 of the findings: ‘The lack of emphasis has fueled inappropriate procurement practices in the Office of School Facilities. The outsourcing of program and construction management services has led to waste, abuse and improper consultant relationships.’ I might add, just to paraphrase the audit, for instance, for the whole school classroom renovation program of 2006, $160 million was appropriated for 96 schools. The Department had four management contracts. They were outsourced at the cost of $21 million. How much longer are we, as legislators, going to allow our children’s education to be ruined by the squandering of money by the Department of Education? The facts are undeniable, but yet many in this Legislature continue to be in denial.

“We need to have a comprehensive audit of the Department of Education. This is just the tip of the iceberg. Senator Slom and I once again offered a resolution to have the Department of Education audited so that we can come to grips with the facts, so that we can make our children’s future and give them the education they deserve much better, rather than just continue to say, ‘We don’t have a problem; give us more money and we’ll fix it,’ which was actually the testimony I heard once. Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Sakamoto rose on point of personal privilege and said:

“We all are not happy with things that go wrong, whether it’s the Department of Education or other parts of government, and as your Chair of Education and Housing Committee, we’ll look into each of the points brought up in these audits and try to determine what might be done and then share what steps we should take as members, as well as a community. Thank you very much.”

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“I have several concerns with it, not the least of which is the validation of registration, names and materials. We give people deadlines for everything that we do publicly. The deadline for registration of voting has not been an unfair one. I doubt that having same-day voting is going to increase voter interest or voter participation, but it will increase the cost, and there’s no finances to go with this bill. So, I think from that standpoint, it’s problematic. Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 654, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO VOTING,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“We’ve had this measure before us, and in fact there is another bill that we’ll be voting on soon. This bill severely restricts any business that sells or assigns its business in that it must retain all of its employees. Currently the way the bill is drafted, it only applies to those businesses with 50 or more employees, but as we’ve seen in legislative history a bill such as this, when it is passed, is usually amended or modified shortly thereafter to apply to all businesses. This would make it extremely difficult for a business to put itself up for sale or to get additional information and investment if, in fact, management’s hands were tied and were forced to retain all employees. Thank you.”

Senators Sakamoto, Nishihara and Ige requested their votes be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

We've seen in the past that records have been lost, communication has been faulty, and the people that have had a clear track and trend of violence have been let loose and they've created other crime. So, this is a much needed measure. Thank you."

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"This bill also is a bill that has mandatory retention of employees, thus tying the hands of the business and making it difficult for investment or for sale. Thank you."

Senator Takamine rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Basically, this measure is an attempt to strike a balance between when an employer comes into the state, and especially when it's a larger employer because this would apply to employers of 50 employees or more. Rather than a termination and the disruption in lives and additional unemployment, this provides for a transition period of 90 days, when an employer would be required to retain the employees at that establishment.

"Under this measure, there are exceptions to the employee retention requirement which would provide flexibility to the employer. If the workforce requirements of the new employer are not the same and require fewer employees, then that employer will have flexibility to reduce the number of employees. In addition, Madam President, on page 3 of the bill, there are provisions that allow two exceptions to this requirement: (1) during the 90 day period, if there are employees who are not qualified or who are not good employees, where a written performance evaluation of that employee can be done, and if that employee's performance is not satisfactory, and (2) where the employee's performance is not satisfactory, where a warning is given, and that allows the employee to make improvements, under those circumstances, the employer does have flexibility. As indicated earlier, this measure would only apply to employers with 50 or more employees. Therefore in the State of Hawai'i, where we have over 35,000 employers, this bill would apply to about 5 percent of that number, and being the larger employers, probably those with the greater capacity. Thank you, Madam President."

Senators Sakamoto, Nishihara, and Ige requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Kim then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 2) to S.B. No. 698, S.D. 2:

SECTION 1. Senate Bill No. 698, S.D. 2, is amended by adding a new section 2 to the bill that amends section 251-5, Hawaii Revised Statutes, to read as follows:

"SECTION 2. Section 251-5, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended to read as follows:

“[H]§251-5[H] Remittances. All remittances of surcharge taxes imposed under this chapter shall be made by cash, bank draft, cashier’s check, money order, or certificate of deposit to the office of the taxation district to which the return was transmitted. The department shall deposit the moneys into the state treasury to the credit of the state highway fund[-]; provided that, beginning July 1, 2009, ___ per cent of the collection each month from the rental motor vehicle and tour vehicle surcharge tax under section 251-2 shall be deposited into the state general fund.””

SECTION 2. Senate Bill No. 698, S.D. 2, is amended by renumbering sections 2 and 3 as sections 3 and 4, respectively.

Senator Kim moved that Floor Amendment No. 2 be adopted, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Kim rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

“All we’re doing is clarifying that part of this blank percentage of the surcharge taxes will be deposited into the general fund. It’s on page 2 of the bill.”

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 2 was put by the Chair and carried.

Senator Kim then moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 698 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Tsutsui and carried.

By unanimous consent, S.B. No. 698, S.D. 3, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE RENTAL MOTOR VEHICLE AND TOUR VEHICLE SURCHARGE TAX,” was placed on the calendar for Third Reading on Thursday, March 12, 2009.

At 9:25 a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 9:29 a.m.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 734 (S.B. No. 1346, S.D. 1):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 734 be adopted and S.B. No. 1346, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Kim then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 3) to S.B. No. 1346, S.D. 1:

SECTION 1. Senate Bill No. 1346, S.D.1, Section 8, is amended by amending section 237-31, Hawaii Revised Statutes, to add a new subsection (5), to clarify that any remaining sums from all general excise tax revenues realized by the State shall be deposited to the credit of the general fund.

Senator Kim moved that Floor Amendment No. 3 be adopted, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Kim rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

“Similarly to the last bill, this measure just makes—clarifies—in a new section 5 that all remaining sums will be deposited into the general fund.”

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 3 was put by the Chair and carried.

Senator Kim then moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 734 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Tsutsui and carried.

By unanimous consent, S.B. No. 1346, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TAXATION,” was placed on the calendar for Third Reading on Thursday, March 12, 2009.

RECOMMITTALS

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 768 (S.B. No. 973, S.D. 1):

On motion by Senator Sakamoto, seconded by Senator Slom and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 768 and S.B. No. 973, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TAX ADMINISTRATION,” was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary and Government Operations.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 807 (S.B. No. 800, S.D. 2):

On motion by Senator Sakamoto, seconded by Senator Slom and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 807 and S.B. No. 800, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT MAKING AN APPROPRIATION FOR THE STATE COMMISSION ON FATHERHOOD,” was recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

THIRD READING

Senator Hemmings rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

“Madam President, we undertook some reform of this process when we redefined the rules and the operating rules of the State Senate. And I want to point out to the Majority party and some who may share my concerns, a change in the rules that has clouded transparency, certainly created more work for our staff and therefore impeded efficiency, and in some ways you could say impugns the honesty of this process. And I make reference to Rule 25, Section 23.

“Previously, as stated in the 2008 Rules, the report—the committee report—shall also include the identity of persons or groups who submitted testimony on legislation for and against, and comments. This was a good rule because we could read the committee report, Madam President, and see exactly what was going on. We can’t do that anymore because the new rule pretty much says—make a reference and do a brief summary. I would give you one particular example: a committee report says that there were comments on a certain bill that we’re going to be voting on today, and the comments, one of the comments—because I’ve got the testimony here—was strong in opposition to the bill, but we would never know it reading the committee report. In the interests of transparency, efficiency, and honesty, I hope the Majority party reconsiders this rule and puts back into play more accurate and honest committee reporting principles that we can make more informed, accurate and transparent decisions. Thank you for your consideration, Madam President.”

S.B. No. 474, S.D. 1:

Senator Taniguchi moved that S.B. No. 474, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Bunda.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“The description of the measure is to clarify the gubernatorial appointment process, but what the measure actually does is to reduce powers the executive branch has in terms of appointments, interim appointments, when the Senate is not in session. Moreover, I think the passage of this amendment would make it even more difficult to get good people to serve because they would have a difficult time knowing what their term would be. Thank you.”

On motion by Senator Taniguchi, seconded by Senator Takamine and carried, S.B. No. 474, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE V, SECTION 6, OF THE HAWAII CONSTITUTION, TO CLARIFY THE GUBERNATORIAL APPOINTMENT PROCESS,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom). Excused, 1 (Takamine).

S.B. No. 1672, S.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Baker and carried, S.B. No. 1672, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HISTORIC STRUCTURES," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Takamine).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 683 (S.B. No. 1669, S.D. 2):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 683 be adopted and S.B. No. 1669, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"I could summarize my testimony by just referring to the recent audit we have received regarding the procurement processes at the DOE, as they speak volumes about the malfeasance, maybe criminal behavior, of some people in the Department of Education who have taken a great deal of money and squandered it through mismanagement. Case in point, the audit pointed at on one particular occasion, $160 million—in spite of the numbers that we throw around these days, $160 million is still real money—$20 million was spent contracting out the management of the spending of that money. We're always crying and lamenting that we don't have enough money to do the things that need to be done like teaching children how to read and write so they won't be ranked 47th in the nation, but we can use $20 million to contract God knows who to spend what should have been $160 million but ends up being $140 million. That audit clearly shows that the resources that the Department of Education spends on the operating side—we know it is $2.4 billion—are not being spent wisely and efficiently; therefore, it does not make sense to give them more responsibility and authority, over those funds. So I would urge my colleagues to take a close look at this and rather than just placing the audits we get on the shelf and shrugging our shoulders and standing up and saying that we're doing all this for the keiki. We might really want to start doing it for them by not continuing to enable, or underwrite, the failures and malfeasance of the Department of Education. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Madam President and colleagues, I think our Auditor does her best to point out flaws and to point out good things in measures. The point raised about the $20 million in the Auditor's report related to management overseeing management is not a correct statement. In working with the department, the consultants also did the design work, and I think that was overlooked in trying to claim people were just watching people doing something. We need to get to the bottom of each issue, including that particular one, and I'm not in any way saying everything's perfect. I believe, as I've stated before on this floor, we will look at each particular item that was brought up by the Auditor and attempt to resolve the issues so we can improve things. In spite of the audit, I believe this measure is a good measure. Our schools do need work. We need to get the backlog down to a point where projects are not on a waiting list for three, four, five, six, however many years. Thank you very much. I urge my colleagues to vote in support of the measure."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"All of us want, and have voted for, the refurbishing of our schools' repair and maintenance. But the point that the Minority Leader brought up about the audit, which has been brought up time and time again for the last ten years, is that the Department of Education has not done what it was supposed to do then, is not doing what it's supposed to do now, and we're relying on them to do things and adopt policies that in fact they have not done.

"A prudent position would be to have the Department of Education adopt those policies first, for them to then bring it to the Legislature, for us to then say, 'Okay, you've done what's supposed to be done. We believe that you have the capability and the abilities to do it.' And then we will authorize the money. We're putting the cart before the horse, and I think this is further exasperating the problem and from the public standpoint, they see all the money that we give to the DOE but they don't see the results, both in learning and in construction. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 683 was adopted and S.B. No. 1669, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 689 (S.B. No. 1679, S.D. 2):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 689 be adopted and S.B. No. 1679, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"There's been a great deal of interest over the years in the budget reserve fund or the so-called rainy day fund. What this bill does is to make specific grant allocations. There was a lot of publicity and a lot of discussion prior to and at the beginning of the legislative session about our monetary problems and how we couldn't afford grants-in-aid, and now what we're doing is raiding this fund to make specific grants-in-aid. It's not surprising that all of the supportive testimony came from those individuals and organizations who would be the beneficiary of these grants-in-aid. I think this is a misuse of the fund. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 689 was adopted and S.B. No. 1679, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE EMERGENCY AND BUDGET RESERVE FUND," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 692 (S.B. No. 1665, S.D. 2):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 692 be adopted and S.B. No. 1665, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"We had a lively discussion in committee about the use of federal Reed Act funds for training. The bill I know has been amended so that that doesn't appear to be a concern. However, I think that we can have good people argue and disagree. We want the stated purpose of the bill; the question is whether or not we can legally use the Reed Act funding. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 692 was adopted and S.B. No. 1665, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HIGHER EDUCATION," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Ayes with Reservations, 1 (Slom). Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 714 (S.B. No. 1680, S.D. 2):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 714 be adopted and S.B. No. 1680, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Fukunaga rose to request comments in support of the measure be inserted into the Journal. The Chair so ordered.<sup>1</sup>

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Thank you, Madam President. You’ll be seeing quite a bit of me today for all of those new bills that propose new special funds. I continue to remain opposed to the creation of new special funds, as well as the raiding of the funds. This bill has been a long work in progress. It has a number of notable features, but for me the addition of the special fund is a deal breaker, and I’ll be voting ‘no.’ Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 714 was adopted and S.B. No. 1680, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TECHNOLOGY,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 739 (S.B. No. 1671, S.D. 1):

On motion by Senator Baker, seconded by Senator Ige and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 739 was adopted and S.B. No. 1671, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO FOSSIL FUELS,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 810 (S.B. No. 1664, S.D. 2):

On motion by Senator Kim, seconded by Senator Tsutsui and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 810 was adopted and S.B. No. 1664, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EMPLOYMENT SECURITY,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 845 (S.B. No. 1673, S.D. 2):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 845 be adopted and S.B. No. 1673, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“I would like to think, with all the best intentions, that this bill is designed to assist the long-standing problems of Hawai‘i Health Systems Corporation’s terrible financial troubles which are not a new occurrence. And I have to, in speaking on this bill, acknowledge that the whole medical profession is in dire condition and it’s absolutely true that reimbursements from government—Medicaid, Medicare, especially—and our local insurance companies are low while expenses are high. It’s been astutely pointed out that our aging population adds to the cost of long-term health care and all of those things that we did not have to pay for quite as extensively years ago are adding on to the system.

“But there is something that sets apart Hawai‘i Health Systems Corporation and makes it especially troublesome. And I don’t think there’s a comparison between the hardships of the private sector medical profession and the problems with HHSC. Maui Memorial, Hilo, Kona—many of these hospitals are self-mandated monopolies that the government has protected through the certificate of need process. But what is pretty difficult to understand is—and excuse the metaphor—diagnosing this problem. This legislature has been in denial for too many years because the real problem with HHSC can be found in their testimony. Their testimony clearly points out that they have a 17 percent added cost, which is, of course, 17 percent of a budget pushes you from viability to fiscal problems. That 17 percent is the cost they pay for civil service, and I don’t even know if it’s fair to call civil service ‘service’ anymore because the salaries, the fringe benefits, the increased benefits and lack of productivity of some, not all, some—and I might add a minority of alleged civil servants—is what contributes to the 17 percent additional cost that Hawai‘i Health Systems has to suffer under. This does not only imperil the economic well being of the state because we have to subsidize this on a yearly basis—and this is not new as we’ve said—but also imperils the health and safety of the good people of Maui and others who are caught in a monopoly of one hospital.

“There have been comparisons: well, you know, we need to protect Maui, and it’s a small hospital, and there’s no economies of scale. I’ve heard every excuse in the book now for the years on why we have to maintain this system. But the evidence is overwhelming. People of O‘ahu, including the needy and the elderly receive fairly good service by the private sector hospitals. ‘But we’re a big, big city so that makes sense.’ No, it doesn’t make sense because the people of Kaua‘i have a hospital that’s not a monopoly hospital of the state and they have nowhere near half the problems that Maui Memorial has.

“So if we’re really sincere in solving the problems of Hawai‘i Health Systems, we’ll get rid of the CON process and expand the marketplace of choice for everybody. It’s amazing that through the genius of consumer spending and choices, services expand and get better, not worse. Because as is done in O‘ahu, hospitals and services in any sector of economy find their niche and certainly there’s a role for Maui Memorial, for instance, or Kona, or Hilo, or any other state monopoly hospital to play in that mix. But they are not going to be competitive nor are they going to be fiscally responsible with the unjustified 17 percent additional cost to pay for the civil service contracts through collective bargaining. They have not, in the past, contracted out to the private sector those services that could be done for less money, and we’ve heard the example of laundry service at Maui Memorial that could be done nearly one-half the cost if it was contracted out. By the way, it would also expand the Maui economy. So until we come to grips with the honesty and the reality of this problem, we’re going to continue to have a financial abyss with Hawai‘i Health Systems Corporation. And this bill is only going to extend the problem, not solve it. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senator Ige rose in support of the measure and stated:

“Everyone in the state of Hawai‘i knows that the Hawai‘i Health Systems Corporation provides critical health care safety net services to our communities across the state. Many of their services have been abandoned by private-sector facilities. The state facilities are the only ones that provide many of these critical emergency and other services for many across our communities. You know, it is no secret that hospitals, both public and private, are operating at a loss. Audited records of even the nonprofits and private institutions in this community show a deficit of more than $100 million. The whole nature of health care, especially in critical care facilities, has been changed by the reimbursement process.

“S.B. No. 1673 is our effort to create a comprehensive measure that insures that these critical emergency services can be maintained for our communities. More importantly, it looks to restructure the Health Systems Corporation to insure its future sustainability. There are several components in this measure that we believe is critical to the success of the corporation. First and foremost, it creates a process to determine critical services that must be provided in each and every facility, in many instances, because there is no one else stepping forward to provide these services. More importantly, it does create a process to engage the community in any conversation that would determine what expanded services or nonessential services can be reduced.

“Second, it really does take a look at the fiscal sustainability of the system. The previous speaker had mentioned that the government is the poorest reimbursing for many of the critical services, and many of the losses sustained in these facilities are because of government reimbursements that do not meet their costs. So we’ve taken an approach to increase reimbursements for these facilities, much like the federal government has in looking at reimbursements for what they term ‘critical access hospitals’ across the nation.

“Third is the labor flexibility. Many of the issues that these facilities face are very, very different than the state workers in other facilities. For one, they’re all 24 x 7 facilities. Second is really they do provide, virtually each and every service that they provide is critical to the health and welfare of the communities. So, we’ve created a process that would ensure that HHSC has the ability to negotiate specific terms and conditions that would apply to state employees that work in these facilities to recognize that they are different.

“And fourth, we’ve created a structure and a process that would allow any specific region or facility to seek a different, more independent status in efforts to attract external capital into the system. We recognize that the state cannot continue to fund all the needs of the system and we’re creating a process that would encourage other external parties to make investments in our communities.

“Madam President, I would like to thank all of those members, especially those Senators from the neighbor islands, who have spent countless hours trying to understand the issues that the corporation faces and tried to create a comprehensive measure that we believe would move the system forward, and I would encourage all of my colleagues to support it. Thank you.”

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

“I want to qualify my remarks. I certainly recognize the sincere efforts of the good Chairman of the committee of this subject matter. Our differences are not based on what we want to do, but how we want to do it. In starting my detailed rebuttal, I would like to first say that we’ve had 20 years to solve this problem, and this bill, which is a continuation with some fine tuning of the status quo, is not going to solve the problem. It’s just going to extend it. I have to go on record saying that the good people of O’ahu have a safety net, and to imply that Maui Memorial has some sort of franchise of the state hospitals on safety nets is an insult to the entire profession. The medical care industry is, especially with regards to the Hippocratic Oath for doctors, one of the few industries where oftentimes the bottom line is not the first objective. However, there is a safety net here on O’ahu and they don’t have a state monopoly hospital here. So, the state hospitals are not providing anything that is going to save those in dire need, and holding them hostage as a justification for the fiscal loss and the physical risk of patients is patently unfair.

“The previous speaker did talk about labor flexibility, and it’s a worthy subject. Unless we allow labor contracts to be amended and/or contract services to the private sector, we cannot afford to continue supporting these contracts with the labor unions. To say that these contracts are special, because these workers work 24-7 and different shifts, is once again very misleading. I don’t think Queen’s Hospital closes their door, and labor goes home at 4:30. But I’ll tell you what Queen’s

Hospital and all the private sector hospitals that serve the populace of Hawai‘i so well do: they don’t give their laborers 14 paid holidays a year. On the average, private sector gets 8 to 10. They don’t give them, the minute they sign up for work, 21 paid vacation days a year; they’re lucky if they start with 10 and over the years they earn more. They don’t give them lifetime health care at great expense. And in doing my research on this subject, public workers are no longer servants. They make more than their counterparts in the private sector, especially in the blue collar and bureaucratic level of employment. Once again, colleagues, in spite of the compassionate words about safety nets and all the other things we’ve heard in rationalization down through the years on this, the facts are that public monopoly hospitals have a 17 percent labor cost that the private sector doesn’t have. Once again, I do want to recognize the Chairman, the Health Committee and his intent on this, and also want to say that if we come to honest grips with this, we can solve these problems. They are not insurmountable. We’ve created them, and we can create a solution. Madam President, I’m very optimistic about that, but this bill isn’t it. Thank you.”

Senator Hooser rose in support of the measure and stated:

“Madam Speaker, even though we have a long day, I couldn’t just sit here and listen to the ill-informed remarks of the previous speaker. It’s clear to me that either the information is coming from a very poor source, or is not being read, or for whatever reason he doesn’t seem to have a clue about the reality about neighbor island hospitals. Like many of my colleagues here, I fly frequently back and forth from the neighbor islands, from Kaua‘i, from Maui, from the Big Island, and on virtually every single flight that I fly on, there are people flying to Honolulu for treatment: for diabetes treatment, for cancer treatment, for heart treatment, for the treatment of all kinds of ills. And I think unless you actually live in a rural community and actually deal with health care issues, either yourself personally or with family members, with the limitations that rural communities such as Maui, the Big Island, Kaua‘i have, you cannot truly understand the challenges and limitations of those systems. To have only one hospital in an entire county, or on Kaua‘i, to have only one on the west side of Kaua‘i, where it’s 30 to 40 minutes to get to a doctor otherwise, is just unconscionable for us not to think about keeping this hospital system strong.

“As the Chair of the Health Committee mentioned, virtually every medical system provider in the state, if not in the nation, is struggling financially. We need to remember these are state hospitals. Fundamentally we have an obligation to provide services and to put all of the blame, if you would, for the financial problems of these hospitals on the back of nurses and janitors and public workers, I think, is totally uncalled for. If the facts of the matter are true that they have greater benefits, but it’s also very true that nurses in the private sector get paid far more than the nurses in the public sector, then we should be thankful that we have them all. It’s a trade-off; public sector employees choose the benefits over the salary. We have a system in place. We need to keep it in place. We need to keep it strong. And I urge my colleagues to vote in support. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“I was waiting for a rebuttal to the rebuttal from the good Senator from Kaua‘i but I didn’t hear that. I heard things that in fact were not said. I think he summed it up best when he said we have a system and we’ve got to protect the system. I think that’s a lot different from saying that we’ve got to protect those in need of health care services. We should be looking for the best way to do that and obviously this system is not it.

“When we talk about neighbor islands, we must remember what happened on the island of Maui, where there was private investment suggested of approximately $350 million to provide not only an alternative, but a second major hospital, for the Valley Isle. And who were the people who fought against it? Those in this system. Those being subsidized by the taxpayers of this state. Had that private project gone through, it would have been a magnet to attract additional private investment to the neighbor islands and to rural areas where these services definitely are needed. But to put the system above everything else and say, 'Okay, it's failed for 20 years, but we'll, doggone it, we'll make sure it fails for another 20 years. We'll just keep pumping money into it,' is not taking care of the people. It is not taking care of our fiduciary duty. And it's just not right. Thank you."

Senator Baker rose in support of the measure and stated:

"It's unfortunate that conservative philosophy seems to be the overriding consideration when looking at health care. It's unfortunate because it neglects the facts that the hospitals that we're speaking about—the acute cares, Kona, Hilo, Maui, the critical access hospitals on the Big Island, Kaua'i, and our long-term care facilities on those islands as well as O'ahu—provide quality, excellent health care. When the system was set up, it didn't have the endowment that Queen's has. It didn't have the working capital that any other system starting out would have had. So we handicapped the system from the very beginning. But it didn't stop the doctors and the nurses and the administrators from doing the very best they could to make sure that the people they served, not the system, were top of mind, front and center, and were the ones that they went to work for every day and tried to make sure that they provided the best care that they could. Every one of the hospitals in Hawai'i Health Systems Corporation is a nationally accredited, JCAHO accredited facility. So let's not disparage the hospitals or the people that work there. Yes, there are some systemic issues that we need to address and that why it's surprising that the very vehicle that is going to allow us to move the discussions forward and actually make some changes is being vilified on the floor of the Senate. We have a doctor shortage. We have medical shortages that are not the hospital's making, that are not the workers' making—medical shortages occurring across the country, in the world, and in this state. You know, it's nice to look fondly back with rose-colored glasses on what might have been. But the fact of the matter, if you're going to look specifically at the 'private hospital on Maui' before the consideration or reconsideration of whether that CON might have gone forward, the financing for that proposed hospital dried up. The proposing entity, Triad, was bought out by another entity and there was no more money to put into it. So, let's not go backwards and say, 'Well, if we'd have done this or if we'd have done that, everything would have been rosy.' If the CON dropped dead today, it would not add any more money to any system anywhere. We have private hospitals in this state facing great difficulties that have absolutely nothing to do with Certificate of Need or anything else. We're all in a very difficult financial situation, and I don't think there's any pot of money that's going to come into the state to bail anybody out. We have to solve this issue on our own, and I think we can if we all work together.

"But let me make just one other point about how some of these deficits that our hospitals face have come up. We've talked a little bit about reimbursements, and that's clearly part of the problem. But if you just look at Maui Memorial, the bulk of their deficit comes from uncompensated care, from services that the private entity that was going to come into Maui didn't want to provide—mental health, other chronic care services—but primarily it's about the wait list. It's those acute care beds that are put into long-term care service because there's no place else that will take Medicaid patients or Medicare patients or uninsured patients because if they did, if Hale Makua or some of the other facilities in the community were to take them, they would lose so much money that they would be facing financial ruin. These are the kind of services that HHSC hospitals have to address because they're a public system, it is part of the safety net along with FQHC's, the community health centers that provide needed health care services without regard to the ability to pay. They must provide these services to the patients. They can't throw them out on the streets. And they cannot discharge them just because they don't need acute care services any longer. The wait list situation is costing the HHSC hospitals at least $5 million in debt a month. That's a lot to have taken out of your bottom line when the costs of pharmaceuticals are going up, and they have to pay doctors a premium to provide call 24-7, when the costs of technology are going up, and everybody wants the best, the newest, and the most expensive care. We should provide that, and I think we can. We will continue to provide quality care in our Hawai'i Health Systems Corporation hospitals, but we must make some systemic changes. And, Madam President, the bill before us is an attempt to move that conversation along to give us all of the tools, or at least the framework for the tools, that will be necessary to make a difference for these hospitals. It's not about the system. It's about the patients that rely on them for care. Thank you."

Senator Green rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Very intelligent comments have been made both for and against the bill. There are system-wide changes that have to be made. In this bill, there are some actually very radical changes. As this bill goes forward, I'm sure we'll refine some of the language, but people should realize that the three acute care hospitals—Maui, Kona and Hilo—do represent the toughest nut to crack. They have the largest losses, the largest number of acute care patients with bad reimbursements to handle. This bill enables them to do some of the things that have been mentioned over a long period of time, which is to semi-privatize, form LLCs or 501(c)(3)s, so there is really significant language in this bill to address that problem, so this bill is not ignoring the fact that there's going to have to be outside investment. What this bill does endeavor to do is to strengthen the parts of the system that we are going to remain committed to, especially the critical access hospitals, the safety net pieces that are community health centers, to increase reimbursements partially with the help of the private sector, HMSA and other insurers—very important pieces of the bill. There are labor concessions. They will be further spelled out, I'm sure, as this session goes through. We are addressing very important parts of the complex problem with several other bills as well, so nothing is being neglected as far as this debate goes.

"I would caution, as I wrap this comment up, I would caution my colleagues that this change—and this is going to be a very systemic change if S.B. No. 1673 becomes law—I would caution them that the changes and to see the full impact is probably going to take, from my perspective, 21 to 24 months to see some of the very significant savings that will be a must given the economic state of the health care system and the privatized changes that are proposed and being recommended in the course of this bill. So please be patient, but rest assured that you'll see language in this bill that does make fundamental changes in the health care system in Hawai'i. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Ige rose in rebuttal and said:

"I did want to note for the record that the previous governor, who happened to be Democratic, had negotiated the vacation and sick leave down to 10 days for vacation and 10 days for sick leave for all new employees of the state on a going-forward basis. The current governor, who happens to be Republican, in her first set of contracts, restored the vacation to the 21 days for vacation and sick leave, and I don't know why but that is clearly a big part of the problem. Thank you."

"This bill would convey a great many land parcels to the Office of Hawaiian Affairs. There are a number of questions and blank amounts within the bill so we're not sure what the costs will be. But more importantly, I think, last year there was an effort by the Senate to have a complete audit of the Office of Hawaiian Affairs. I think more than ever this and similar bills show that that need is required. Thank you."

Senator Baker rose with reservations and stated:

"It's my understanding that federal law would preempt us and these items are already outlawed. Could the Chair of the Judiciary Committee address that, please?"

Senator Taniguchi rose to provide the following clarification:

"Actually, I'm not clear about that, Madam President. We could do further research, but yeah, I'm not clear on that. I think it's not, because otherwise we would not have this bill."

Senator Kokubun rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Madam President, let me start first by saying I really appreciate all the hard work that the subject matter committees have put into this report, but I'm very, very concerned that in this move, and particularly in light of our declining economy, that we not suffer revenue losses at this time. And I think that this bill presents a potential revenue loss that could, in fact, grow to be a major loss in the future. I know now that real estate sales are declining so perhaps at this point in time we can overlook the declining revenues. But my understanding is that by allowing this change to happen, the Bureau of Conveyances, in fact, will be losing an estimated $500,000 to $1 million, at least that's according to testimony from 36 Bureau employees that submitted testimony. In looking at the testimony from DLNR, the Administration is attempting to say that the losses would in fact be much less given our declining economy. This is an issue where the Bureau of Conveyances needs to be more efficient with respect to time share units and how the change of title is managed, but I do not want to just throw the baby out with the bathwater. We still have some time to look at other ways to address this issue by making them more efficient, providing them with more computerization, but not necessarily with the lack of, or by reducing, the amount of money that's being charged for each of these transactions. For that reason, I'm voting against the measure. Thank you."

Senator Tokuda rose in support of the measure and stated:

"I respect the comments made by the previous speaker in terms of the revenue loss, and I hope I can address some of those concerns in my statement. As a result of our joint House and Senate Investigative Committee on the Bureau of Conveyances, we did identify a number of recommendations that would result in a more secure and more efficient operation. Two options that were identified were removing time shares from Land Court and automating the system by instituting electronic filing. It has long been viewed by the industry that through modernization we would be able to help decrease the 15-month backlog that still exists in Land Court's recordations and increase efficiencies and output. Recognizing that both ideas will result in significant changes to the Bureau and their staff, this bill offers gradual but significant changes to the system. By removing time shares from Land Court, you will be removing tens of thousands of recordings per year. At an estimated $11 per document in labor cost, you will now be freeing up these individuals to focus on reducing the backlog and handling incoming recordations. While very valid concerns have been raised that removing time shares from Land Court will reduce in a loss of revenue to the special fund—it's estimated that approximately $336,000 annually would be lost by this—this bill empowers the Bureau to charge a $5 transaction fee for every recording to assist in this transition from Land Court to the regular system and for their overall automation efforts. Based upon initial projections on the number of recordings for the coming year, it is expected that this fee would generate $1.25 million which would help to cover the existing shortfalls that exist as a result of overall reduction of Bureau transactions, assist with the upgrading of equipment, software and staff training. At the end of the day, it is my hope that we'll be able to provide the Bureau with the tools and the support that they need to become a more efficient and secure operation. I will say this: that since the conclusion of our investigation, I have seen many significant improvements made at the Bureau and the staff and management are to be commended for their hard work, their team efforts, and their willingness to change, and I look forward to working with them in the future. I would also point out that some of the estimates brought up previously were between the range of $500,000 to $1 million. This, I think, did not take into account the fact that mortgage recordings would still exist even if you moved these documents from Land Court to the regular system, and that's $25 per mortgage recordings so those funds would not be lost to the special fund. Thank you."

Senator Kokubun rose in rebuttal and said:

"Again, my opposition to this bill is really drawing on testimony from staff from the Bureau of Conveyances. With respect to this registration backlog, the input that we're getting from the employees at the Bureau is that time shares were always a part of the daily recordings and really had no impact on any of the backlog at the Bureau. The point though is that we need to move the bureau to a computerized system, and there's a very valid reason we need to ensure that that happens. Now, please understand that I met on last year with the administrator for the Bureau of Conveyances on this bill and she intended to submit amendments to the legislation whereby the system would remain revenue neutral, which was my concern. We waited and waited but never got the amendments. So this year there is this bill surfacing again. I'm not sure if it was developed through the administration or not, but this is not a revenue-neutral bill, and we will, in fact, experience some loss in revenues. Therefore, I would like to err on the side of caution and ask that we examine this bill more closely with respect to the impact on future revenues. Thank you."

Senator Baker rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Just to note: this was a measure developed by our colleague who had considerable insights into the workings of the Bureau. During the testimony, while some of the employees did raise the issue of revenue loss, the bill adds a fee that would allow them to continue to do their modernization and continue to do their push to electronic documents, which is clearly the way that we need to be moving. In addition, there was every indication that morale is improved in the department, in the Bureau, in the area of them getting the resources that they need, and getting the training that they need, and clearly the Land Court was never designed to have the kind of multiple transactions that time share represents. Even the folks that testified with concerns for revenue acknowledged that. It's clearly, particularly as timeshare has morphed and has moved from having a land title to other kinds of ways of calculating and utilizing those units, it really doesn't belong to clog up the system as it has been doing with Land Court. So I acknowledge the concerns the Vice President raised, and I believe as this measure goes forward we can continue to look at, to make sure that it is in fact revenue neutral as it has been presented to us. Thank you."

Senator Gabbard rose to request comments in support of the measure be inserted into the Journal.

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Gabbard's remarks read as follows:

"Just to note: this was a measure developed by our colleague who had considerable insights into the workings of the Bureau. Senator Hee moved that S.B. No. 1199, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tokuda.

Senator Taniguchi requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Madam President, we often do things that have long-range implications and set precedents that may not necessarily be in the best interests of the people of Hawai'i. I've had a wonderful occasion to spend time on Moloka'i in some very remote areas, and the beauty of that island is overwhelming. When I was a young boy in 1966, I first slept on the sands of Hale Alono to wake up in the morning and paddle a canoe back across the Ka'iwi Channel to O'ahu. For the record, we didn't make it; it was storm warnings that year, and we barely got our canoe back in one piece. Paddlers from O'ahu would oftentimes—because resources were so limited on Moloka'i—fish for our dinner the night before the race, and the boys of Huinelo, whose Hawaiian ancestry goes deep into the sands of Waikiki, were joined by the rest of us in enjoying that wonderful part of Hawai'i.

"In recent years, I've heard it told that when the very prestigious Moloka'i to O'ahu canoe race goes to Moloka'i, there's some very, very aggressive, and some would say mean-spirited, people there, that basically say, 'Stay out. This is our island. You can't fish.' Is that really the kind of society we want to build? Does any particular group own any particular resource? And how do you divide that resource up?"

"Madam President and colleagues, I'm at the age now where I look at the big picture and I will tell you—and I certainly sympathize with perspectives on this—that growth is a problem. And it does take away from the quality of our life in many instances, especially those of us who enjoy the abundant blessings of nature these islands have. But can any of us afford to say, 'We don't want growth, but if we did we'd want it only under our terms, so everybody keep out'? That's what this bill is saying. If we can say it on Moloka'i, can we say it in other places? Can we go to the beautiful beaches of the leeward coast, or the offshore waters of Laupahoehoe, or Miloli'i and have a group of people say, 'Sorry, this is ours. We can't share it'? I don't even think the majority of the good people of Moloka'i would share in this mentality.

"I would urge my colleagues to really think twice about having this bill go the distance in this Legislature. It is setting a bad precedent that will further divide our people in providing an excuse and a foundation for militancy and the other problems that go along with it. So I urge my colleagues to vote 'no.'"

Senator Espero requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Hee rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Members and colleagues, this bill is intended with long-range implications. It is intended with an eye on the big picture. It is written because growth is a problem and quality of life is disappearing. It is written because what once was the abundant blessings of nature are becoming scarce. And it is about taking control of your resources. And frankly, I gave thought to amending the bill for populations under 10,000, which would then have included Lāna'i and Ni'ihau.

"This isn't my bill, and this isn't a bill for Hawaiians. This is a bill for local people: Hawaiians and others. This is a bill because of, as Gordon Gekko would say, 'Greed is good.' This is what happens when greedy people rape the oceans so that their reefs no longer have fish, so they go to somebody else's reef to take their fish. It's called maha'oe in Hawaiian, and it's because of the lack of kuleana, responsibility, respect for others. So if you go to Tamashiro Market today, you see lines of uhu, the caretakers of the reef. Lines and lines of uhu, red and blue, and I remember when I was a kid we never ate uhu because the fish doesn't taste good. But you buy uhu today because no more fish. So you take the uhu home, you take your mayonnaise jar, you slop in the mayonnaise, then you put in the tomato, then you put in the onion, then you put in the ginger. What is the uhu? The uhu is a starch in the meal. It's not like kūmū. You don't put mayonnaise in the kūmū. You don't put tomato. You don't put onion. You don't put ginger. You put little bit soy sauce. But no more kūmū. What happened? Gordon must've come first. He took the kūmū. No problem. Let's go to the Penguin Banks. Let's go get their kūmū. That's what this bill is about. This is about kuleana.

"There are those on this floor who I have brought fish from Moloka'i. They want to eat kole. No problem. There are those on this floor who have enjoyed the fish of Moloka'i. That was then, and this is now. It's my kuleana now. No more kole from Moloka'i at Clayton's parties. No more. Not because no more kole, but because that's not my kole. That kole belongs to ma na'e. That kole belongs to Lāna'i. That kole belongs to Ni'ihau. And when I take their kole, that's not my kuleana. That's maha'oe in Hawaiian. Not nīle; maha'oe. And if the bill, the author of the bill, had included islands under 10,000, I would feel the same way.

"This bill is symbolic of the long-range implications of what greed has done to this fair state with the abundance of fish. The sustainable islands are the islands under 10,000; not this island, not this island, not Maui, and pretty soon not Kaua'i. And it is not sustainable simply because the resources have been raped. Moloka'i may not have a good healthcare center, but if you're hungry, the abundance of ke Akua will take care of you because of the fish in the ocean and the deer in the mountain. It's not complicated. So yes, this is a clash between capitalism and culture. Market and subsistence. And at the end of the day, it's not about being Hawaiian, it's about kuleana. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator English rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Yes, I'm the author this bill, and I can tell you that what we're trying to do is return local control of the resources because those areas that still have resources are the remote areas: Hana, Lāna'i, Moloka'i, Ni'ihau, areas like this. And Moloka'i has a good track record of maintaining their subsistence and their subsistence is fishing, which is why this bill was put forward for Moloka'i. First of all, they asked for it. Secondly, I think that they have shown their ability to do it. The Mo'omomi Preserve is the first example that we created many years ago, and that has worked for Moloka'i and now if we expand it to the rest of the island, it allows them to control that resource. And you know we have to realize that our one-size-fits-all policy has not worked. The departments have recognized that. We're looking at the 'aha systems, we're looking at returning local control of the fisheries. So, I ask that we support this measure, we move it forward, not only for Moloka'i but for all of us in Hawai'i. Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

"I agree with many of the well-researched and articulate points made from the good Senator from the Windward side. And I do know that Mr. Gekko is not a lizard; he's a character in a movie. But nevertheless, the comments about greed are ill-founded because greed is found in all strata of life, not just in capitalism. If we were honest with ourselves, we would look at what the real problem is, and I tried to address it two years ago in my opening day speech: that we're exceeding the carrying capacity of these islands. I guess everybody deserves to eat good fish. But the problem is not the greed of one group versus another; the problem is that there is just too much demand and not enough resources. Once again, this bill serves to divide us in not trying to address the larger problem, collectively, together. Basically it's saying, 'We've got ours. The rest of you eat uhu.'

"And I do have to comment on sustainability because I happen to know very well that there are 7,000 people plus on the island of Moloka'i and unfortunately, many good ventures to bring sustainability there through meaningful jobs and sharing of resources for the benefit of all have been turned away at the shores. Moloka'i has yielded, in my opinion, decision-making to their future, collectively, to the most vociferous and oftentimes law-breaking rebels. Moloka'i is not sustainable. The facts are, if you look at the social services, the entitlements and all the alleged rights that go along with them, then Moloka'i is extremely dependent on the rest of the state for subsistence, for social service programs, and fiscal assistance in every manner, shape and form. There is a much higher percentage of dependency on those programs, so if we were talking about self-sufficiency and sustainability, we should certainly consider those facts. It's very easy to stand up and try to elicit the emotions that are conjured up by this controversial subject, but our job is not to make decisions based upon emotions only, but to make it on facts. And this bill is symptomatic of a much, much, much larger problem, and I would suggest, as I said in my original remarks that this is only going to sow the seeds of further divisiveness and problems down the road. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Hee rose again in support of the measure and stated:

"It's so interesting because he's absolutely right. Moloka'i has per capita, perhaps as high as other sections of O'ahu, the highest in government subsidies. So because it's true, why would you take their fish? If it's true. Why would anybody want to go take anybody else's fish? You know, the previous speaker's right. He's correct when he said, 'We got ours. Go get your own.' That's absolutely correct, and the reason Moloka'i got theirs is because O'ahu is not there. O'ahu has nothing. If you're going to spear fish in Waikīki, you better go on the first two days of every other year or you're not going get fish. That's a fact. Because all the time, the decades and decades and tons and tons of sand stolen from Hale Alono to re-sand Waikīki, and every summer the waves took the sand out and plugged up all the holes. That's why no more fish. That's not rocket science. That's called capitalism. It's called greed. So why would you then go, since you know no more over there, because they get? It's exactly what the previous speaker said, and that's why this bill is before us. It is because they have and we no more. It's called kuleana. You take care, you respect others, and you don't maha'oe. Thank you."

"While certainly we want to have as many medical procedures as possible in this year of trying to have good health, we remain the only state in the Union with a mandatory prepaid health care act. Premiums have been rising, double digit each year. They fall hardest on small businesses and so any additional mandatory coverage in cost will fall, you know, unevenly on them, so I'm opposed to this. Thank you."

Senator Galuteria rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Colleagues, the original intent of this measure began with an individual who had been hoarding animals in an inhumane manner for several years, confining cats, kittens and other animals in small carriers and traps and shopping carts and cages, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, never letting them out. This bill was introduced to address gaps in the law, because according to reports, the response of the Humane Society, to which complaints about this individual's treatment of animals were directed, was in effect, they were unable to take action on the confinement of the cats because there is no law on the books. And secondly, that they do not believe the existing statute allows them to confiscate the abused animals. So, with that thought in mind, I ask that the measure be adopted. Mahalo."

Senators Tokuda, English, and Sakamoto requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Sakamoto moved that S.B. No. 1626, S.D. 1 be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means, seconded by Senator Slom.

Senator Kim rose in support of the recommitment and stated:

“Madam President, in an effort to keep everything on the table during these unique times that we are in, we moved this matter forward always with the intention that if it was going to jeopardize the rail project that we would recommit this bill. Having receiving Senator Inouye’s letter—and I believe we did email it to every Senator—stating his concerns, we are recommitting this.

“I just want to thank the Ways and Means Committee for allowing the opportunity for us to continue to keep all the measures on the table. But at this time, I certainly support the recommitment. Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1626, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TAXATION,” was recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

THIRD READING

S.B. No. 21, S.D. 1:

Senator Taniguchi moved that S.B. No. 21, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“We had a discussion and a public hearing on this bill, and it was brought out that there are more than 1,000 pages in the original bill and to my knowledge no one in the Congress has ever read the bill. I understand that one person here in the state of Hawai‘i has read most, if not all, of the bill to date, and that is the Governor’s chief policy advisor. I also understand that there are 66 pages of requirements, restrictions, prohibitions to the state as to what the state can do with this money. Everybody thinks that this is a pot of gold that’s coming from Washington, and this bill proposes to exempt the state from certain portions of the procurement law and other laws in order to facilitate what the federal demands under the ARRA are. I believe that these exemptions are not in the best interests of the state. I believe further that we are not going to get the amounts of money that have been called for. I believe even further that, in fact, if we do get the amounts of money that some of the unintended consequences, as well as the intended consequences, are going to be negative to the people of Hawai‘i. Thank you”

Senator Kokubun rose in support of the measure and stated:

“Madam President, I think there are more people than just one person in the entire state who has read the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009. I know that in Senator Inouye’s office there are several people who have read this federal law and know it quite well. I would also like to point out that, in fact, the essence of this measure—S.B. No. 21—was requested by the Lingle administration to be used as a vehicle in the event that they needed to be able to process the federal stimulus package monies quickly, which is why they have included the issues about procurement, etc. I think we don’t totally agree with all the provisions of SB21, but we needed a legislative vehicle to accommodate what the administration was perceiving as necessary in order to spend the money allocated from the Federal government. So I would respectfully ask my colleagues to support S.B. No. 21 at this point in time, that measure. Thank you.”

Senator Hemmings rose in support of the measure and stated:

“It’s with hesitation I do so. This bill is taking money from the most unprecedented move in national history, or possibly even world history. I don’t think any government in the history of humankind has made a larger expenditure for money they do not have. This is taking money from future taxpayers, close to $780 billion, a number that, quite frankly, is hard to comprehend. So you ask why would I speak in favor of it? We’re sitting out here in the Pacific. No matter what we do, we’re going to have to pay it back. It’s our debt. So, we might as well attempt to try to share in some of the benefits that may accrue from it. What’s going on in Washington is absolutely profound when you think about it in relationship to federalism, when you think about it in relationship to controlling our destiny, when you think about it in terms of fiscal responsibility. What the Obama Administration has done is redefined the role of our government in the economy, and it isn’t pretty. There is a reason why America, under the free market system, rose to be the preeminent economy of the world; and that’s because we have freedom. Yes, there is a price to pay for a certain amount of government services but the balance of power always rested with the consumers. They were the beneficiaries and regulators of a free economy. We made the choices, and eventually if something didn't work, we got rid of it; not just throw more money at it.

"This bill also challenges federalism. The Founding Fathers were very explicit and if you read, as I've said before, Madison's Federalist Paper No. 45, you will see that the powers delegated to the national government were few. Not so any more. Huge amounts of money are being spent, allegedly on our behalf, and being squandered. I'll give you one example: Jimmy Carter started the Federal Department of Education and it's been downhill ever since in spite of the fact that the last I checked the Education Department at the federal government level was spending $60 billion a year.

"But how does the common man speak on what is happening in Washington? How do they speak about the Reinvestment Act? By the way, it's cleverly named, as so many things out of Washington are. Well, you know one of the great barometers of the economy is the stock market, and I can guarantee you, Madam President and colleagues, that the stock market does not invest in the past. The stock market invests in the future. It looks at what's happening with the economy and investors' retirement funds, people's pensions, union funds, individual investors, and they say, 'Yes, we want to invest. Things look good.' But since the election of this President, in its unprecedented march to a Keynesian socialist state, the stock market has spoken extremely loud and clear: it has fallen. And I know there'll be some that will say, 'Well, we have to look back to the past and blame others.' But the market doesn't do that, Madam President. It looks to the future and makes its investments accordingly.

"I'm voting in favor of this legislation because, as I said, it is money we're going to have to pay back or our children or our grandchildren are going to have to pay back. But to borrow $780 million and then to pass a budget addition for the fiscal year of '09 for another $410 billion, in two months the national debt will have increased to $1.2 trillion. Right now, our national debt is approximately $11 trillion; comes about the about $37,000 for each of the 305 million people in our population. For a family of four, maybe your family, you owe the federal government about $144,000. This is further exacerbated by the fact that this is not going to stimulate the economy. This is a government stimulated bill. It's going to invest in more dependency. Rather than empowering jobs to be created, it's going to subsidize dependency. Rather than empower the marketplace to expand opportunities as we know tax cuts have done by verified fact, it continues to invest in government programs that subsidize and enable dependency. It's rather ironic that I have to feel compelled to vote in favor of this bill after sharing what I think will be the dire consequences of it. But the reality is we should get some benefit from the terrible price we're going to have to pay to fund what is ironically called the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Slom rose in rebuttal and said:

"Just a very brief rebuttal. First of all, I want to thank my colleague for reminding us that this was an administration-supported bill because I know how the Majority rushes to support administration bills and administrative procedures. But I would also like to remind everyone that one of the processes that is taken out in this bill. And by the way, this bill was a gut and paste. It started out as a very innocuous bill having to do with language revolving around the definition of 'jurors' in the State, so we came full cycle to a completely different bill. But in the process of procurement right now, if someone files a protest to the bid process, the project itself is held up until that process is fully investigated and we find out that we're not doing something illegal or that we're not wasting money or that the prospective contractor is unable to fulfill the terms of that bid. In this bill here, one of the exemptions is if a protest is filed, too bad. It doesn't matter because the project will then go ahead. There is no process for reviewing of projects. It will be built, the money will be expended, and so we have a great deal of possibility of wasted money—possibly fraudulent money—and we're not doing our due diligence in looking at bills like this. Thank you."

Senator Kokubun rose in rebuttal and said:

"I want to emphasize to the good Senator from Hawaii Kai the fact that this truly is a work in progress, and to reiterate that this was a last minute measure that was requested by the Lingle administration. I agree with him that there are concerns in the bill, particularly with respect to procurement. There are also issues with respect to civil service that are going to be 'shortcutted', if you want to call it that. So, I agree that we do need to continue to take a look at this but again would remind all of us that the bill was developed to accommodate what the Lingle administration is perceiving as an issue with respect to how these monies can be spent. Thank you very much."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 21, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO GOVERNMENT," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 605 (S.B. No. 1152):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 605 be adopted and S.B. No. 1152 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Slom rose in support with reservations and stated:

"I have supported for the last several years the legislation that seeks to protect important agricultural lands, and I still do. However, I'm a little concerned about this bill for a number of reasons. First of all, it does establish a 100-year moratorium on lands in just two specific senatorial districts on the island of O'ahu. One hundred years is an awful long time. Things may change; times may change, the legislature certainly will change, and many of the people in these areas may change. So, I'm just wondering, I call into question just how prudent it is for the 100 year term. I don't think that really it is going to guarantee that we protect important agricultural lands. We will still strive to do that, so I will support it with reservations. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 605 was adopted and S.B. No. 1152, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO AGRICULTURAL LANDS," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Ayes with Reservations, 1 (Slom). Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 611 (S.B. No. 163):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 611 be adopted and S.B. No. 163 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Slom rose in support of the measure and stated:

"I rise in support but I would like to note that a number of years ago, we had very spirited discussion about putting the DOE in a business-like mode, and we're going to hire these people to help them do it, business and fiscal officers and all that. I haven't heard any response or any success that we had in this endeavor. I think it's still important to put the DOE in a business-like fashion, and that's why the best thing that we can do is to implement the requirements set forth by the Auditor. Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure and stated:

“Currently they have a chief financial officer, Mr. Brese, who’s in place, and they have fifteen complex area business managers; so in lieu of district managers, they have complex area business managers to support the fifteen complex areas.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 611 was adopted and S.B. No. 163, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 616 (S.B. No. 1308, S.D. 1):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 616 be adopted and S.B. No. 1308, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“There’s no irony in the fact—well, there’s tremendous amount of irony, excuse me, for me speaking—that just several years ago this Legislature and some of the proponents of this bill told us how wonderful the Teacher Standards Board was and that we had to reorganize it, and we had to make sure the Governor couldn’t appoint some independent thinkers to it, that the foxes would be in charge of the henhouse, and that everything would be hunky-dory. And now, we’re changing it again.

“As much as the Teacher Standards Board has been a victim of conflicts of interest and problems, I don’t believe the DOE is that much better. And until we come to grips with a comprehensive reform of the Department of Education in all aspects of it, such as teacher licensure, we’re going to continue to shuffle the chairs on the proverbial deck of the Titanic. And this is simply what we’re doing again; actually very similar to what we’re doing with the Hawai’i Health Systems Corporation—no dramatic systemic reform, just piecemeal changes like this. I thought we solved this problem two years ago but evidently we didn’t. So I urge my colleagues to vote ‘no,’ go back to the drawing boards, and give the people of Hawai’i education reform rather than sustaining the status quo. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senators Kidani, Tokuda, Tsutsui, Ihara, Ige, English, and Nishihara requested their votes be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 616 was adopted and S.B. No. 1308, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Ayes with Reservations, 7 (English, Ige, Ihara, Kidani, Nishihara, Tokuda, Tsutsui). Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 618 (S.B. No. 241, S.D. 2):

Senator English moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 618 be adopted and S.B. No. 241, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Gabbard.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“You know, for the last couple years in the name of alternative energy, we have passed bills mandating certain actions and being very narrow in their scope. They all have one thing in common: they add to the cost of housing, they detract from choices of individuals. This bill mandates the use of cool roofs for all new residential buildings. My understanding is it deletes the exemption for requirements for photovoltaic systems, and I think that while it may have benefits in certain segments of the construction industry, it’s going to have unintended consequences in others. Thank you.”

Senator Gabbard rose in support of the measure and stated:

“Colleagues, this bill would mandate all new residential and commercial construction in our state to have these cool roofs beginning in 2011. And, as you might know, cool roofs refer to special roofing material that reflects the sunlight and carries the EPA’s Energy Star label. There are exemptions, though, in the bill for the portion of the roofs that are covered by solar energy systems, buildings equipped with on-site photovoltaic systems sufficient to cover its daytime energy usage, and also for buildings without heating or cooling systems. So, I urge my colleagues to please support this bill. Mahalo.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 618 was adopted and S.B. No. 241, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ENERGY,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 620 (S.B. No. 604, S.D. 2):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 620 be adopted and S.B. No. 604, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“We have debated this bill, or forms of this bill, for many years and up until this point, there was always an exemption provided for those private and religious hospitals. We did not interfere with them. This bill does, and mandates that they provide information even though it is against their best wishes to do so. Thank you.”

Senator Baker rose in support of the measure and stated:

“Madam President, colleagues, sex assault is a life-threatening event and one that leaves victims not with just physical injury, but often with long-time, long-term emotional scars—might be depression, anxiety, intense fear—and according to the most recent Crime in Hawai’i report, there were 377 forcible rapes reported to law enforcement in Hawai’i in 2007. While the overall crime rate was down, the rate of forcible rape increased by 3.9 percent, certainly not a statistic any of us can be very proud of.

“The lingering health concerns are simply exacerbated by the trauma of a sex assault, and victims need to have access to good information and the assistance that EC provides. They shouldn’t be forced to have to seek out another facility and deal with all of that while trying to be concerned about the reality of their own reproductive health concerns following an assault. No woman should have to face an unwanted pregnancy in the aftermath of rape. I would note before somebody brings it up that EC is a safe, effective means of preventing pregnancy after a sex assault. It is not an abortion pill. It does not cause an abortion. EC is a higher dose of contraceptive similar to the commonly used birth control pill. Providing EC to sex assault is the best practice in emergency medical care, as recognized by both the American Medical Association and the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology. And I would note, with regard to the issue raised by the Minority floor leader with regard to a religious exemption, the bishop in cyclical in the United States uses EC as acceptable standard of care for persons who have been convicted of sex assault. I would also note that the hospital most normally considered or being concerned with a religious exemption is really not a religious hospital anymore. The only aspect of that hospital that remains religious is the debt. It is not run by the Sisters anymore, and although the bishop in Hawai’i has expressed some concerns, the overriding Roman Catholic doctrine in this country acknowledges EC, allows EC, and it is practiced in many, many Catholic hospitals in the state. We should not be putting victims of sex assault through another trauma of trying to find the best medical care simply because there might be a doctor or so in a hospital who doesn't want to acknowledge the standard of care for dealing with sex assault. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Sakamoto requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Ayes, 23. Ayes with Reservations, 1 (Sakamoto). Noes, 2 (Gabbard, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 621 (S.B. No. 1183, S.D. 2):

On motion by Senator Taniguchi, seconded by Senator Takamine and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 621 was adopted and S.B. No. 1183, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO DISCRIMINATORY PRACTICES," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 622 (S.B. No. 449, S.D. 2):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 622 be adopted and S.B. No. 449, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"I must say that in committee, because of very, very limited testimony, I supported the bill. I was under the impression, as I'm sure were many of my colleagues, that this bill has to do with the release of confidential patient information. After I did receive late testimony and did do additional research on this subject, I found out that the bill, first of all, narrows the scope of the prohibition to apply only to pharmacies licensed in Hawai'i and excludes mail order or internet pharmacies. It applies the prohibition to medical doctors licensed to practice only in this state and not others. The data that is collected from health care providers is collected on a voluntary basis and it includes a collection of both brand name and generic prescriptions. No identifiable patient data is disclosed. The prescription data that is collected is used first of all to comply with federally-mandated safety reporting requirements; secondly, to educate physicians about technical development and adverse reactions to the drugs that they provide; thirdly, to inform physicians about any changes due to label changes or any drug recalls and to facilitate the delivery of product samples to appropriate physicians. The practice of the voluntary collecting of information insures compliance with FDA regulations, and it actually decreases the overall marketing cost for pharmaceuticals. So, in conclusion, HIPAA requirements absolutely protect patient-identifiable data to be released to the general public and only the identified prescription data is allowed to be used. So, I would urge a 'no' vote on this bill."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 622 was adopted and S.B. No. 449, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PATIENT PRESCRIPTION INFORMATION," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 623 (S.B. No. 1621, S.D.2):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 623 be adopted and S.B. No. 1621, S.D.2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"We've talked about this bill before. This bill is the hallmark of the end of hope, the secret ballot, and freedom of choice as we know it in the world. Frankly, I'm really confused as to why so many of my colleagues who talk a good story about increasing the right to vote and availability of choice and all of that are so supportive of this symbolic unionization bill which removes the ability for workers to vote in a secret ballot and instead allows a union organizer to walk into any business of any size, any type, at any time and hand out in the face of other workers and the employer cards asked to be signed if you want to join the union. And if more than 50 percent of the signatures are recorded, then voila! We don't need an election, we don't need any secrecy, we don't need any privacy, and we don't need any choice. We then have unionization. The targets for this bill will be small businesses and agricultural workers, no doubt about it. It will increase the cost, but more importantly it will take away choices from individual workers, something that we've always talked about—the sanctity of the vote, the sanctity of the secret ballot. But in this case, in this one area of unionization, then it's okay to deprive workers of that ability. In addition, what this bill does is to supersede or suspend certain civil and criminal rights that employers and employees would have against unauthorized use of force or unauthorized use of trespass against employers and private individuals. It is the only law that I can think of that, in a wholesale fashion, not only wipes out the right of secret ballot but also creates a super special type of legal representation for unions. It is also ironic that while union membership—private union membership, not to be confused with government union membership—has declined in all states except two, those states being New York and Hawai'i. We have no problem in organizing our workers here. They have been organized, and yet some people feel that we've got to go that extra step and deny people the right to vote. I notice that some of my colleagues have already left the floor. It will be interesting to see if they come back in time for the vote. But I think this is a terrible thing to do, and I think people should stand up and be counted and explain why it is so important to take away the right to vote. Thank you."

Senator Takamine rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Madam President, firstly, we need to understand what is before us. Maybe establishing a framework is good because what this bill does is to amend chapter 377, which is referred to as the 'Hawai'i Employment Relations Act' and also referred to as the 'Little Wagner Act'. As the Senate President is well aware, the National Labor Relations Act is the federal law and there is a preemption provision included. What we are talking about is Hawaii Revised Statutes, chapter 377. The essence of chapter 377 in Section 4 of this measure identifies understanding the purpose of this chapter. Section 4 also sets forth the 'rights of employees' and provides that 'employees shall have the right of self-organization and the right to form, join, or assist labor organizations, to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and to engage in lawful, concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection.' The rights of employees establishes the foundation for why this chapter is in the Hawai'i Revised Statutes. However, it also reflects a broader basis for support and that is our Constitution which again underscores those very rights, which as a result of the 1978 Constitutional Convention, established Article XIII. Article XIII is entitled, 'Organization; Collective Bargaining.' Under section 1 of Article XIII there is a section entitled, 'private employees.' Our Constitution states that 'persons in private employment shall have the right to organize for the purpose of collective bargaining.’ As the President is well aware, Section 2 deals with the similar right in the public sector; and so, by putting this before the people of Hawai‘i, given our history, the people have established and embedded these principles within our state Constitution.

“As I stated earlier, Madam President, the federal law does provide for preemption and therefore the National Labor Relations Act impacts on the vast majority of all workers throughout our country. Where the national act does not provide coverage, the states are allowed to provide lawful provisions that govern the similar rights to collective bargaining in those jurisdictions. Based on a review by the Legislative Reference Bureau, we know that the workforce in our state is about 625,000 to 630,000, and from that same review almost 80 percent of those would be governed by the National Labor Relations Act. What that means is that chapter 377 would have no impact on these workers. And that amounts to about 491,750 workers. In addition, collective bargaining in the public sector, which again is not affected by chapter 377, or about 90,350 workers—it’s about 15 percent of that workforce. So, we have between what is NLRB jurisdiction and the public sector, both of which are not part of this bill, approximately 95 percent of the workforce is covered. Therefore, the remaining 5 percent are under the provisions of chapter 377, as well as the Federal Railway Act and also provisions of federal employee laws. So I think it’s safe to say that less than 5 percent of the employees in the state of Hawai‘i workforce would be impacted by this provision.

“However, as the previous speaker has indicated, to some degree, this has taken on symbolic significance. And again, this is sort of a parallel to what is referred to as the ‘Employee Free Choice Act’, which is now being considered by the United States Congress. I think maybe it’s important to start there and to understand why there is a need for a bill like this. As Madam President may be aware, you know the Congress has, at least in the House of Representatives, acted on this, and they’ve had their findings put forth in the 110th Congress, 1st Session Report 110-23. To go to the very heart of the purpose for the provision itself, Congressional Session Report explains the basis for the provisions encompassed in this bill before us. Page 8 of the report states, ‘for more than 70 years, workers’ freedom to organize and collectively bargain has depended upon the effectiveness of the National Labor Relations Act. Today, the National Labor Relations Act is ineffective and American workers’ freedom to organize and collectively bargain is in peril everyday as a result. The numbers are staggering: every 23 minutes a worker is fired or otherwise discriminated against because of his or her union activity.’ In stepping back and looking at the big picture, the Congressional Report goes on to state, ‘In 1969, a little over 6,000 workers received back pay because of illegal employer actions. That number has risen by 500 percent although the percentage of the private sector workforce that is unionized has declined over the same time period, from nearly 30 percent to 7.4 percent.’ So, while the previous speaker did refer to the experience in the states of New York and Hawai‘i, and yes, I believe we are second to New York in unionized workers, we have not escaped this decline in terms of the impact of how the National Labor Relations Act has deteriorated.

“I think if we were to begin looking at that, Madam President, it really focuses in on the election process, and I think it’s very important because that is the essence of this bill. The impact on workers and what it does, and understanding that, I believe, is of critical importance. Because this is a parallel to the Employee Free Choice Act, let me cite basically that the federal law would provide for cross-check recognition and the process of elections, which were discussed in our public hearings. In those hearings, there were three primary factors that were referenced which tend to illustrate the basis for this and distinguish the difference between elections such as ours to elect officials in the state, and the NLRB elections. This was brought out in testimony from Dr. Gordon Lafer. In Dr. Lafer’s testimony, he talks about three factors. The first factor is access to voter lists; the second factor is economic coercion of voters; and the final factor is free speech and equal access to media. Now in our own elections we know that when we decide to run, access to the voter lists—by the very people who make the decision—is critical. In a nutshell, in the NLRB elections, the employer has that list from the get-go. Whereas the union, until certain procedural proceedings occur, may not even be able to get that list. In fact, if they do get that list, it may not even be complete. It’s interesting because the point made in the testimony was that if we imagine this system being applied to senatorial elections—that is, NLRB elections to senatorial elections—where one candidate had the voter rolls two years before election day, while his or her opponent was restricted to a partial list and only got it a month before the vote, none of us would call this a free and fair election.

“Point number two, Madam President is economic coercion. Again in the testimony, Dr. Lafer points out that in elections it is illegal for a private corporation to tell its employees how they should vote or to suggest that if one party wins, business will suffer and workers will be laid off. Supervisors or managers can’t say anything to those they oversee that amounts to endorsing one side or the other. But, in NLRB elections, this kind of intimidation is completely legal. Standard employer behavior involves having mass meetings where upper management attacks the idea of unionization, and then having supervisors telling each of their subordinates personally that they should vote against the union. In this way the NLRB elections maximize exactly the kind of behavior that is banned in regular elections.

“The third factor, Madam President, is free speech and equal access. Free speech is the cornerstone of American democracy, yet when you talk about NLRB elections, the most basic standard of freedom is ignored. Management is allowed to plaster the workplace with anti-union leaflets, posters and banners while maintaining a ban on pro-union employees doing likewise. Anti-union managers are free to campaign against unionization all day long, any place in the workplace, while pro-union workers are banned from talking about unionization except on break time. The most extreme restriction on free speech is employers forcing workers to attend mass anti-union meetings. Not only is the union given no equal time, but pro-union employees can be forced to attend with the condition that they do not open their mouths. Madam President, this tends to begin shining the light on why this bill is before us and why an additional option, in addition to an election process, is being proposed.

“Those are the basic representations that are being made, but what is the actual impact and what is the actual impact of that in Hawai‘i? For that, Madam President, we took a look at the election results, specifically NLRB election results in our state for the past 12 years. What did we find? Basically if you were to compare the most recent 6 years to the 6-year period before that, we find that the total number of elections have declined. They’ve gone from an average of 30 a year to 18 a year. In addition, the number of wins by unions has gone down also, from an average of 15 per year down to 10 per year; or about a 33 percent drop. Of course, this is NLRB results, which is outside the jurisdiction of this bill. This bill deals with the Hawai‘i Labor Relations Board and Chapter 377, and what is the experience there? If we were to look at the same 12-year period, and if we the 6-year period prior to that, we see that there were a total of 6 elections: 3 won by the unions, 3 won by the employer. If we were to look at the most recent 6-year period, there were only 2 elections held before the Hawai‘i Labor Relations Board, and in both of those instances the union lost.

“So, what do we gather from this, Madam President? I would submit to you that I think this is a vehicle for restoring the balance. If we were to look at the actual rights that are trying to be addressed here, this measure provides tools to restore that balance. However, I’m not so sure this discussion or debate should be reduced to whether we are ‘for’ unions or ‘against’ unions or whether unions are good or not so good. I think maybe if we focus on the impact on working families, focus on the quality of their lives, focus on their struggle to make ends meet, maybe that’s a more meaningful context to discuss this measure in. With respect to that, I would like to refer back to the purpose of the Employee Free Choice Act, which is stated on page 3 again of the Congressional Report 110-23. The Report states, ‘the Employee Free Choice Act of 2007 seeks to strengthen and expand the American middle class by restoring workers’ freedom to organize and collectively bargain under the National Labor Relations Act. The bill reforms the NLRA to provide for union certification through simple majority sign-up procedures: first contract mediation and binding arbitration and tougher penalties for violations of workers’ rights during organizing and first contract drives.’ Now, in talking about that, if we were to look at other observations the Congressional Report, I believe it tells us something about rebuilding the middle class and how to do it from the perspective of working families. I would also note that the same congressional report also states that the link between the Employee Free Choice Act and new hope—new hope—for a more vibrant American middle class is evident in the numbers. By every measure, workers who join together to bargain for better wages, benefits and working conditions, do indeed receive better wages, benefits and working conditions. This union difference is confirmed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Unionized workers median weekly earnings are 30 percent higher than non-union workers. The Congressional Report also notes, 88 percent of unionized workers have employer-provided health insurance, while only 49 percent of non-union workers do; 68 percent of unionized workers have guaranteed pension under a defined benefits plan, while only 14 percent of workers who are not unionized do; and 62 percent of unionized workers have the protection of short-term disability benefits, while only 35 percent of non-unionized workers do. It’s interesting in the Congressional Report, Madam President, because it goes beyond sort of the union and non-union distinction and talks about how, on a broader level, the dynamics help to improve the overall economic environment. The Report states, ‘strong unions set industry-wide standards that benefit workers across an industry regardless of their union or non-union status. Moreover the threat of unionization often leads employers to attempt to match or approach union pay and benefit scales in order to discourage unionization.’

“Now, a second point that is made in the Congressional Report is with respect to the impact on the general workforce. The Report states, ‘unions as the only organizations explicitly representing workers, have been instrumental in building and preserving nationwide and statewide systems of social insurance and workers’ protections, such as workers’ compensation and unemployment insurance, occupational, safety and health standards, and wage and hours laws, such as the minimum wage, the 40-hour workweek and overtime premium pay. All Americans reap the benefits of these laws and programs regardless of their union or nonunion status.’ It’s interesting because in the studies that were done, they even talk about greater competitiveness and productivity and citing the report it further says, ‘more robust unions not only stem the middle class squeeze, but contribute to a high road competitiveness, a more broadly shared prosperity that benefits workers’ families, as well as consumers and shareholders.’ It goes on to state, ‘A number of studies show how unionization and productivity often go hand-in-hand. For example, greater fairness on the job and wages that reflect the company’s success lead to more motivated employees. Unions foster greater commitment and information sharing between employees and management. A 1984 study found that approximately 20 percent of the union productivity effect resulted from lower turnover in unionized firms.’ The Congressional Report further states, ‘Lower turnover means lower training costs, and the experience of more seasoned workers translates into higher productivity and quality.’

“Madam President, I think that when we consider all of this, again we need to apply it to our state and what the situation is here. The Department of Labor and Industrial Relations does keep records regarding pay levels of various members of the workforce and the average pay by industry. When you look at agricultural workers, which would be the primary component of the workforce that is impacted by this bill, the average annual wage is $29,567. When you take into account all workers in the workforce, not only unionized workers, even non-union, but all of the workers in the workforce, the average is $39,465. So, agriculture workers are making a little less than 75 percent of what all workers are making right now.

“In conclusion, Madam President, basically this is a bill that I realize has taken on symbolic significance. When we really look at what the bill does, it impacts less than 5 percent of the employees in our state. The measure tries to provide for an additional option, not to take away the right to vote, but to provide for an additional option of card check in determining whether a group of employees wants union representation. And, if anything, I think the overarching goal here is those economic improvements in the lives of families, in the lives of people. If we’re looking at trying to turn the economy around here as President Obama is doing at the national level, I believe that this will be part of rebuilding the middle class. If I can just take one final quote from the Congressional Report, it says that ‘the Employee Free Choice Act restores needed balance to a process that has become increasingly dysfunctional. As we have seen, denying workers the right to form a union has important consequences for the economy and the political process. Workers’ freedom to form unions is and should be considered a fundamental human right. All Americans lose, in fact democracy itself is weakened, if the right to unionize is formally recognized, but undermined in practice. Strengthening free choice in the workplace lays the basis for ensuring a more prosperous economy and a healthier society.’ Because of the foregoing considerations, I will be supporting this measure. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senator Slom rose in rebuttal and said:

“Let me say that I enjoyed the educational and entertaining historical perspective given by the Senate Labor Chairman. When I was a kid I really enjoyed magicians, and of course the basis of magic is sleight of hand. And I think that that presentation took away from what I was arguing for and what we should be concentrating on, and that is the right to vote and the secret ballot. And nowhere in that discussion really was there anything that should dissuade anyone who has a belief in the inherent right of voting and secret ballot.

“There’re so many things to talk about here. It is true that unions have lost votes here in Hawai‘i. Many other people have lost votes as well. But now, because they have lost votes in a secret ballot, in a freedom-of-choice situation, the proponents of this kind of legislation, nationally and in Hawai‘i, seek to obviate and eliminate the voter process. I heard the Labor Chairman say that now they have an alternative. Well, they don’t have an alternative. If the card-check legislation is passed, those employees covered under our Hawai‘i Revised Statutes will not have a choice. They can’t say, ‘Well, I’d rather vote for it or not vote for it.' They will not be able to vote, and that is pure and simple. Now, I didn't bring up any discussion as to union versus non-union. And I know that a number of legislators in this body periodically march hand-in-hand, arm-in-arm with unions who are striking or informationally picketing employers in this town, and that's fine. That's their right. That's their decision. But don't tell me that it's not fair for unions. The only issue I would raise is not whether or not to have unions. The issue should be compulsion: whether you get to force somebody to pay union dues, to listen to union political statements, and to abide by what the union says when the individual worker doesn't want to do that. It would be the same thing as forcing people who start business to forcibly join and pay dues to the Chamber of Commerce of Hawai'i or Small Business Hawai'i or NFIB or another organization. The issue there is force and compulsion and lack of choice, and I find it beyond irony that this bill has been subtitled as the 'Free Choice Act,' because exactly what we're doing is taking away that choice and a fundamental right, and the best part is you all know that. You can dress it up, you can put makeup on it, you can walk it to town but it's still at the end of the day, the same thing: we are taking the right to vote and privacy away from one group of people.

"Senate Labor Committee Chairman said only 5 percent of the labor force would be affected by this. Well, it's not true; 5 percent additional, other than those that are already unionized. And if we use his figures of 650,000 in the workforce, then we're talking about another 32 to 35,000 workers who would be subject to this. But the bottom line is this: if all of those allegations that he made and all of his complaints with the NLRB are correct, first of all, we don't need and shouldn't have employers. We should outlaw employers and let the unions run the economy in the state. Let's see, what did they do? We used to have a sugar economy; we don't any more. We used to have a pineapple industry; we don't any more. We can look at other examples that we don't have any more. And if we pass this kind of legislation, instead of job creation we will have job destruction. But if these allegations were true, or even if some of them were true, about the employers and what they do or what they don't do, that more than ever cries out for a silent and secret ballot so that employees can say, 'Yes, this employer is a jerk and I want to be unionized and I will vote for the union.' But as the good Senator has shown in the most recent elections, they haven't taken that position; they've taken the opposite position. And so because these unions have been unable to gain not only the trust but also the support of many workers, they want to take away that ability. It's wrong, Madam President. It's wrong and we should not support this. Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"I think the issue for me is it's a contrast between the big unions and small business, and in Hawai'i many of our jobs—most of our jobs—are small businesses. And there's a fear that this issue will harm them. And I'm sure that the good Chair, the Labor Chair, can say who's in and who's out, who's maybe, who's the goal, but the real problem if we were to pass this legislation and it were to become law is that it casts another shadow. It's casting a chill over small business. So I ask my colleagues to respect workers, respect unions, but also allow our small businesses to thrive in the sunshine versus in chilling shadows."

Senator Slom rose in support of the measure and stated:

“I rise in support of this measure, but I have some comments and that is we’ve had a very successful geothermal energy operation for more than 15 years now, and I think that if we want to have more geothermal and more alternative, that we should remove some of the taxes and the disincentives for this kind of opportunity. Thank you.”

Senator Kokubun rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“There are three issues with this bill that I have a hard time agreeing with. First, it’s directed at the county with the largest land mass in the state. Obviously, that’s the Big Island. The proven resource is there, and the developer is doing a very admirable job in terms of generating electricity. In fact, Puna Geothermal Venture, the actual company doing the development, has received an increase in the permitted amount of megawatts that they’re going to be allowed to produce, doubling from 30 megawatts to 60 megawatts. But the issue I have with the bill is the identification of the county with the largest land mass in the state being the subject of this measure. It reminds me of the bill regarding the large capacity ferry. This is not general law. This is really a very specific issue, and when the Supreme Court rules—hopefully they will be ruling soon—on the appeal that’s before them on the general law issue, then I think the same issues will apply here, with this bill as well.

“The second primary focus of my concern is the fact that none of the land use issues were taken into account with this bill. As many of you know, we just passed S.B. No. 50 earlier in the session, which was developed to balance the current land use issues with the desire to promote alternative energy biofuel development, particularly as it related to the Big Island. But the way the leases of State land for biofuel development were executed previously and what required S.B. No. 50 was that it was done without any clear addressing of the land use laws that underlie those areas the Administration wants to promote, particularly DBEDT. The same thing would follow through in this situation as well. HRS 205-5.1, the geothermal resource subzone section, speaks specifically to land uses connected to geothermal development, yet I see none of that addressed in the bill today. We need to examine that section of the law to be sure that there’s no conflict with respect to the land use provisions in this bill, as well as the promotion of alternative energy.

“The other point to be made here is that geothermal resource subzones have been established by law. Although I know that this bill was primarily geared for the existing project down in Kapoho along the East rift of Kilauea, geothermal resource subzones have also been designated on the southwest rift of Mauna Loa, reaching into Ka’ū and on Hualālai, which is the dormant volcano just mauka of Kailua-Kona. So the potential to maximize use as stipulated in this bill would affect all of these communities. I think there needs to be some kind of acknowledgment in this bill that those communities will be informed about what is being proposed here and that they should have a chance to weigh in.

“Final point with respect to this bill, although it’s not specifically addressed in this bill, is the underlying issue of cultural concerns with respect to the development of the resource. Now, there have been several metaphors utilized to promote the development of geothermal energy, but what we need to recognize is the fact that the resource is held in high regard by our host culture. The deity Pele is regarded as a very important god in the pantheon of native Hawaiian spiritual practices. I don’t want to speak to that directly with any sort of authority. Being a resident of the Big Island for more than 35 years, I know how concerned people are about proper respect and the need to address those kinds of concerns before these kinds of bills are pushed forward. So, for those reasons, colleagues, I ask you to vote in opposition to this measure. Thank you.”

Senator Takamine requested that his vote be cast “no,” and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Hemmings rose in support of the measure and stated:

“This and similar legislation encouraging the diversity of energy marketplace is long overdue. It’s indeed regrettable that Hawai’i, the state with the most potential for fuel independence, fossil fuel independence, is a state with the most dependency.

“On the Big Island it’s especially sad, and I’m sure the good Senator from Kona will correct me if I’m wrong but I believe that the peak demand megawatt use on the Big Island is around 300 plus megawatts. In previous studies done back in the 80’s, it was established that the Big Island, through geothermal, could establish three times that amount in energy, thus making the Big Island totally energy independent. In fact, Governor John Waihe’e who first proposed this, included in the study the possibly having a cable take energy to Maui. In the ensuing years, bureaucracy, ill-conceived opposition, sometimes opposition yielding good public policy to the most vociferous and ill-informed protest group ruled the day. And we have 30 megawatts of geothermal energy while at the same time one of the state’s wealthiest private corporations that Gordon Gekko would know a lot about—Hawaiian Electric—has reaped in over $2 billion in the last 15 years, burning—you guessed it—fossil fuel. It just doesn’t add up. They put in 50 megawatts of increased energy capacity at their Ke-āhole, Kona area just in recent times.

“Now I can appreciate that the good Senator from the Big Island has to consider the opinion of some of his constituents, but I hope he, being a state Senator, would consider the welfare of all his constituents, not the vociferous minority. You know, we write legislation all the time and no one bats an eyelash that counties with populations over 500,000 shall do this, that, and the other thing. That’s all right. The reason why the Big Island is specified in this bill, by gearing it to the county with the largest land mass, is simple: it’s where the geothermal energy is. If we were enlightened, we would have had—excuse me on words—geothermal energy prolific on the Big Island. And we could do something profound in the world of energy; not only could we be energy independent from the ills of fossil fuel—and we know what they are—but we could also be the first state to revolutionize from the industrial revolution to the technical revolution. Having our ground transportation go to electric cars where we’re virtually using American innovation could once again put us at the cutting edge of transportation technologies rather than on the verge of bankruptcy as the big three are. Regarding Pele: Pele, Pele, Pele. My gosh; I don’t think she’s protested, to tell you the truth. That cultural sensitivity was a card played way back when Puna Geothermal first went online, and I haven’t seen any protest. I think Puna Geothermal has proved that despite the barriers put in front of them, they have proved beneficial and good source of electricity for the Big Island, rather than unbelievably fossil-fuel, diesel-burning generators from the 1950’s or even World War II along the Hamakua Coast, which Hawaiian Electric gets 190 percent above the national average cost to pay for. So geothermal is a proven asset to the energy market. I might add that our good Polynesian friends from New Zealand also utilize this technology much to their pride. I would suggest that we have to have the leadership necessary to break down the taboos and ill-conceived opposition of the past, and become enlightened leaders that encourage our energy independence by promoting the diversity of opportunities we have available to us, rather than relying on the time-proven falsehoods of past opposition that has kept Hawai’i tied to disastrous fossil fuels. I encourage my colleagues to vote in favor of this legislation and do everything they can to expedite energy diversity opportunities for all the islands. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senator Gabbard rose in support of the measure and stated:

“As a state, we pay more than $6 to $7 billion dollars a year to light up our houses and to gas our cars and to fuel our planes, and we need to keep our energy dollars here in Hawai’i instead of sending our hard-earned money overseas to foreign countries who don’t like us very much. And as we strive to overcome Hawai’i’s addiction to foreign oil, we need to maximize our use of the renewable energy available to us. Hawai’i is one of the few states, as you know, that has ready access to an abundance of geothermal energy. Back in the 90’s, you all recall the controversy when the first geothermal wells were drilled. One of the main problems back then is that there wasn’t the buy-in from the local community. Many Hawaiians saw tapping into geothermal energy as violating Madame Pele. Times have changed. There are some in the Hawaiian community who see geothermal energy as Madame Pele sharing her bounty with the people of Hawai’i to help make us energy self-sufficient. So I ask my colleagues to join me in support of this bill. Mahalo.”

Senator English rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“You know, as this bill moved throughout committees I voted with reservations on it, and my objections have been that the Hawaiian community has not been consulted on this. Some other speakers on this floor today have referred back to that debate and, I would say, maybe misinterpreted what happened there. But nonetheless, this is embodiment of a Hawaiian deity. And until the Pele practitioners, the lineage holders—and those people exist—are consulted on this, we would tend to repeat what happened in the past. So, I think that after a series of reservations vote, I'm going to be voting 'no' because I haven't seen that consultation, I don't think that the Hawaiian community has been properly acknowledged in this, and I don't want us to end up where we were in the past on it. So based on that, I urge my colleagues to vote 'no.' Thank you."

Senator Kokubun rose in rebuttal and said:

"With respect to the good Senator from Kapolei mentioning that we are exporting a number of our dollars for energy, I would just bring to his attention that Puna Geothermal Venture is a subsidiary of Ormat, an Israeli company, so the majority of profits from that company also leave this state. I would also like to address the concerns raised by the Senator with the buff-and-blue alumni uniform. With all due respect, he is very ill-informed with respect to his statements today. It wasn't Governor Waihe'e, it was Governor Ariyoshi who really pushed that project, and the fact that the number of megawatts of power being produced today do go a long way to address the needs of the Big Island. Don't get me wrong. This is not to say we shouldn't initiate more geothermal development. I just know that in the past, the way the project has proceeded has been ill-conceived because it has run into so much opposition. And so I think to put a bill like this together without any sort of community input or at least doing some outreach is a mistake, and therefore I'm very opposed to this measure. Again, the idea is not to dissuade the production of energy on the Big Island. In fact, as all of you know, the Big Island leads the state in terms of alternative energy production. In fact, it's the Big Island that actually raises the renewable portfolio standards for the entire state because of all the alternative energy that's developed on the Big Island, and we take great pride in that. But we want to do it in a way that the people and the community benefit, agree, and in fact celebrate the development of alternative energy on the Big Island. And again I would just point out the fact that earlier today we passed S.B. No. 50, which would address the noncompliance related to alternative energy development. The fact that the actions taken by DLNR to approve biofuel development run into direct conflict with the existing land use laws, and therefore necessitated the development of that bill. I sense the same issues being raised in this bill as well, which forms the basis for my strong opposition. Thank you."

Senator Green rose in support of the measure and stated:

"I do have a great deal of respect for my colleagues from the Big Island, and I no doubt can imagine lots of tweaks and consultation will be necessary along the way to make that bill good enough to become law. But as to consultation, I made 22,000 phone calls over the past year—22,000 personally—and no shortage of people brought up just their dismay that their energy prices are so high. So bills like this, I think, fuel not just debate but possible improvements on the system. I don't know ultimately where all the geothermal sources will emanate from on the Big Island and in the future in the state of Hawai'i, but I do know this: if we don't start passing bills like this, we'll never really reach energy self-sufficiency. So we're going to have to be aggressive, but there has been an incredible amount of consultation with the people of Big Island. Thank you."

Senator Espero rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Colleagues, we must remember that it was just very recently when the price of gasoline was over $4 a gallon and the cost of a barrel of oil was predicted to hit $200 a barrel. This episode within our country the last year created many hardships and had significant negative impacts within our state, within our families. This measure could be the vehicle to move this discussion and debate along. It does have a defective date, so it will certainly be a bill which we will see again if the House feels that it should be passed on. But of course, we all know between wind, solar, wave and geothermal, we should be able to be 100 percent sustainable in terms of our energy independence. And this is certainly a measure—because I am not aware of any other geothermal bills—that can move this discussion forward. We need to engage all stakeholders, especially the Hawaiian community, and I believe this bill will allow that to happen. Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

"As a matter of fact, I'm not ill-informed on the issues I stand to speak up on. I spend quite a lot of time studying them, ruminating on them. But I made a mistake. It was Ariyoshi's administration that commissioned the tremendous study and a lot of money to be spent. I was thinking that the other great initiative that was lost to minority dissenters was the space launch site that could have been an industry that would have rivaled the tourist industry had we had the courage to overcome the shrill voices of the complaining minority, which leads me to my point of rebuttal.

"Too often in this state, we yield decision making to the most vociferous, and quite frankly, ill-conceived and sometimes obnoxious minority. The Founding Fathers wrote very clearly and they built a lot of protections in their original meetings in building the Constitution to protect us from the tyranny of the majority. But if you look back over the last generation of leadership of this state, we've oftentimes yielded the best interests of the future of the state to very loud minorities, and this is an issue that I think illustrates that. But I want to tell you and give you an example that I'm sure the representative from the Garden Isle will be afforded the opportunity to rise on my statements, but in decision making matters like this, we could have had a space launch site but we didn't have the courage to do it. Hilo could have been the gateway to the stars. On the exact opposite of the island chain, of the major chain, on the island of Kaua'i was proposed the SDI's initiation at Barking Sands. Same opposition arose on Kaua'i, but because it was a military site, those decisions were yielded and Barking Sands went in. As far as the record shows and as far as I can see, for the island of Kaua'i it's been an asset to the people of Kaua'i. We did not yield that opportunity to the shrill minority. And that is something I hope that we remember in making decisions of this nature in many areas. Who do we really represent? And whose future should we be voting for? I realize the political pressure we're all under to keep different constituencies happy, but I would suggest that the constituency we really should keep happy are the people of this state, who have the greater vested interest in progressing forward. I would suggest that energy independence—especially for the island with the most potential for it—is in everyone's best interests despite the opposition of a minority. So, I'm hoping when we come across bills like this, we don't yield our responsibility to vote for what's best for the most to the minority opposition. Thank you, Madam Chair."

Senator Hooser rose in support of the measure with reservations and stated:

"When I first came in today, in first reviewing this bill, I voted for it straight-up, I believe all the way through the committee process. And my intention prior to the last speaker's comments was to vote in support without reservations, but after listening to the total lack of respect and lack of cultural sensitivity and the lack of historical perspective and the lack of feeling and understanding toward those who are closest to these issues, who have lived through these issues—after listening to all that, Madam President, I am close to voting in opposition. But out of respect for the Chair and respect for the issue of energy independence, I will be voting with reservations. And for the record, it's been stated over and over again by the previous speaker how we consistently yield to the shrill, unreasonable, loud and obnoxious voices of the minority. I would say to you, Madam President, that this body has proof, dealing with our Minority across the aisle here, that we do not yield to the shrill, loud and unreasonable voices of the minority. Thank you."

Senators Taniguchi, Chun Oakland, Baker, Fukunaga, Ige, Tokuda, Ihara, Nishihara, and Kidani requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Slom rose on a point of personal privilege said:

"Let me just say that from this Minority standpoint, we are neither obnoxious nor shrill, and that we do have good things to say. But it is absolutely true—you totally ignore us and ignore the people in some of your votes. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 669 was adopted and S.B. No. 287, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ENERGY," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Ayes with Reservations, 10 (Baker, Chun Oakland, Fukunaga, Hooser, Ige, Ihara, Kidani, Nishihara, Taniguchi, Tokuda). Noes, 5 (English, Galuteria, Kokubun, Takamine, Tsutsui).

On motion by Senator Kim, seconded by Senator Tsutsui and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 671 was adopted and S.B. No. 44, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE HAWAII HEALTH SYSTEMS CORPORATION," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 673 (S.B. No. 63, S.D. 2):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 673 be adopted and S.B. No. 63, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Again, this is another bill that we've had around for quite some time. It requires an employer to pay worker's comp temporary total disability benefits even when the benefits are being discussed or being protested and so it is an additional cost on business, but more than that, it's an unfair expenditure. Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"When workers get injured, most employers want them back to work as soon as they're able. Sometimes they're not fully able and employers many times try to accommodate them by providing temporary or partial work. One challenge with this measure is that it says, 'The payment of benefits shall be terminated only upon the order of director or if the employee's treating physician determines that the employee is able to resume work and the employer has made a bone fide offer of suitable work within the employee's medical restrictions. The order shall be only issued after the director has reviewed the case file and position papers submitted by the employee and the employer.' As we know, case files and position papers take a while. People get injured at work and unfortunately there are too many people who want to stay off work until the benefits expire which is not the goal; the goal is to get people proper medical attention but also back to work as soon as possible. Part of this measure provides that some employees can get 100 percent of their weekly wage. When working, you get your weekly wage; when not working, you get 100 percent of your weekly wage. Where is the incentive to go back to work? Madam President and colleagues, I believe this will not help get employees back to work. This will be an open door for those who choose to ride the system, and I'm not saying that for all employees, but there are some that do. We don't want to open the door for those that wish to simply prolong a leave of work. Thank you very much."

Senator Takamine rose in support of the measure and stated:

"I appreciate the comments made by the previous two speakers, but need to make a correction. With respect to getting the employee back to work as soon as possible, that is the goal for both employer and employee. Should there be any overpayment, lines 18-22 on page 4 of the bill provides for a credit, and therefore, the employer would be kept whole. With respect to paying 100 percent, I'm not sure that is accurate. If you look at lines 21-22 on page 7 of the bill, in situations where there is a strong basis for making payment and there was improper termination, then there is a penalty of 70 percent of the average weekly wage. I don't believe there is any reference to 100 percent payment. Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose in rebuttal and said:

"Continuing on where the Chairman left off: 'Or if the employee's average weekly wages are less than the maximum weekly wage rates prescribed in the subsection(a), at the rate of one hundred percent of the employee's average weekly wage.' Perhaps the Chairman can look at it in the future because if that's not the goal then perhaps I'm misreading it. That's where I got that specific comment from. Thank you very much."

Senators Ihara and Ige requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 673 was adopted and S.B. No. 63, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WORKERS' COMPENSATION," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 685 (S.B. No. 553, S.D. 2):

Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 685 be adopted and S.B. No. 553, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Gabbard rose to request comments in support of the measure be inserted into the Journal.

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Gabbard's remarks read as follows:

"Madame President, I rise in support of SB 553 SD 2. Energy efficiency is the lowest hanging fruit in our quest to kick our addiction to oil. We can implement energy efficiency measures quickly and get immediate results. This bill requires state agencies to replace older light bulbs with compact fluorescent light bulbs and light-emitting diodes in state buildings, starting next year. CFLs and LEDs are at least three times as efficient as conventional incandescent light bulbs. The state needs to lead in energy conservation by setting an example for others to follow. I urge you to join me in supporting this bill. Mahalo."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 685 was adopted and S.B. No. 553, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ENERGY-EFFICIENT LIGHTING," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Gabbard's remarks read as follows:

"Madame President, I rise in support of S.B. No. 559, S.D. 2. This bill would require the Department of Accounting and General Services to establish a recycling program in all the buildings within its jurisdiction by 2011. This would include recyclable paper products, electronic devices, plastics, and furniture. The state should be leading by example when it comes to recycling and this bill sets us on the right course. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this bill. Mahalo."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"I'm going to rise in opposition to this bill and most of the bills following for special purpose revenue bonds. And the reason I do so—we have discussed special purpose revenue bonds for the last couple years. We have had an increasing number of them authorized, but very few that have actually been utilized. In fact, my information is as of June 30th of this year, we have outstanding but unissued nearly $550 million in previously authorized special purpose revenue bonds. We also have a number of firms that have cropped up that many of us have not heard of before and in trying to do informational checks find that they're very good at public relations, but in terms of a track record or actually doing things, they seem to be wanting. Now, I know the argument always is that the state does not have liability for the issuance of these bonds because we're not standing behind them. We really have not had that tested because we haven't had one of the SPRBs actually default and then see what happens in terms of creditors. But we do know that they get special tax breaks because of the state; we do know that the state has to go out and get special personnel that administer these special purpose revenue bonds. And as I've said, we've had a lot of claims over the years, particularly as we've expanded the scope from education and health care into energy and into other fields as well. Basically I would not have disagreement with many of these proposals if we could see some results. But as I say, we're long on public relations and short on results, and particularly in these difficult economic times and difficult market conditions, I think we should be more prudent and wait for some direct results. So, I will be voting 'no' on this and most of the other bills, probably with the exception of the Honolulu sea water bills because we've seen some progress in that area. Thank you."

Senator Bunda requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 695 was adopted and S.B. Senator Kim moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 720 be adopted and S.B. No. 1611, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"And yes, yes, yes, I know this started out as an administration bill, but it's not anymore. What it is, however, is a bill that will increase our taxes, our fees, the rates that we pay.

And one of the reasons that was given as justification for this bill is because the highway fund was raided over the years of more than $140 million. That part is true. The fact that the highway fund is very low and past the point of automatic refurbishing is also true. But to ask the taxpayers to pony up even higher gasoline taxes—while we pay the highest taxes combined in the nation and when the federal government is looking to raise its taxes even more—when we ask our residents to pay even higher motor vehicle registration fees just at the state level, in addition to county fees and so forth, when we ask them to pay additional fees and costs when they're not getting the operating improvements that they've paid for for the last decades, I find there's a disconnect here. Part of the bill discussed the fact that the tax increases would not go into effect until 2011 and/or until we had a certain measure of economic revitalization and stabilization. The question should always be in taxation fairness and whether or not the taxes and/or the fees are justified. And at this time and in this manner, I don't see that they are justified and that we can't talk about putting even further burdens on our taxpayers. And we can't talk about refilling the highway special fund and hoping that it will continue to have increased revenues because we cannot, as a legislature, bind future legislatures. And as we've seen in the past and as we're seeing today, any fund, any special fund, when it gets up to a certain level, the executive branch has sought raids and so has the legislative branch. While I certainly think that we need highway improvements at both the state and the counties level, we're not getting it from this bill. All we're getting is more cost for the taxpayers and consumers. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure with reservations and stated:

"I'm very frustrated. As we drive on H-1 Freeway (our primary freeway into urban Honolulu), there are potholes. There are parts of the freeway that have been patched several times and we see an obvious need to do something about it. It's pathetic that we should ask for a lot of money to build a lot more roads or widen roads when we cannot take care of our main artery on this island. And I'm not speaking for other islands—they probably have the same issue there—but I believe we need more emphasis on keeping high quality on the highly traveled lanes before we embark on more lanes and end up with more poor quality miles of pavement."

Senator Kokubun rose in support of the measure with reservations and stated:

"I want to first commend the Chair of the Transportation Committee because I think this is something that he has viewed as an important piece in coming up with some means by which we can repair our highway system. And, as the good Senator from Moanalua had mentioned, the needs are definitely statewide. If you take a look at my county with the largest land mass, you will see that there are lots of highways that certainly need attention.

"My concern with this bill is the fact that it is based on whether or not we are going to have economic growth for two consecutive quarters. It doesn't address what happens if there's a drop in economic growth in the next quarter. So there's just not any kind of certainty, in my opinion, with this bill, particularly with respect to raising fees and taxes. If we do want to consider increasing the highway fund, then I think it would be incumbent upon us to act and to be upfront with people about what were going to do and why we need to do it. But with this bill, it's almost like a facade saying that we will have this increase to the highway fund to do all these improvements, but it may come now, it may come later, it may never come. I think it's something that is not as certain as we'd like to provide for our constituencies. That is the basis for my reservations. Thank you."

Senators Tsutsui, Ige, Nishihara, Ihara, and Kim requested their votes be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

Senator English rose in support of the measure and stated:

“You know, Madam President, this measure is set up as a simple ‘if-then’ statement: if the economy improves, then the increases in the fees go into effect. Frankly, I didn’t like it that way but that was how the Administration would go for this. And to tell you the truth, as this moves forward I don’t know if that provision will stand because we’ve already separated out the increase on the rental cars and that has a date certain. That was amended today to move the monies to the general fund; I hope we don’t do that because it’s needed in the highway fund. But the point of it is very simple: if you want better highways, then we have to pay for it. And the mechanism to pay for it is in the bill, and the projects that it’ll pay for it are there as well. So it’s rather simple; it’s ‘if’ the economy improves, ‘then’ this goes into—the taxing part—goes into effect. But—and the anticipation is within two to three years—but the beginnings of this goes into effect immediately, so the department starts planning for it, they start doing all the planning and design, et cetera, et cetera. It is an out-of-the-box thinking, an out-of-the-box concept because well, quite frankly, we have not been able to deal with the roads for many years. Partially because we took the money many years ago—you know, we did a typical Reagan-style theory, which was ‘strangle it.’ So we strangled the department so they couldn’t do it. This is trying to give them the resources to do it, and I urge my colleagues to continue supporting this measure. Thank you.”

Senator Taniguchi requested his vote be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 720 was adopted and S.B. No. 1611, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HIGHWAYS,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Ige moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 725 be adopted and S.B. No. 243 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Green.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Again, this bill would seek to put more restrictions and cost on small business retailers. Our need really is to get the state out of the redemption business and profiteering from redemption and having total curbside recycling at the county level. Thank you.”

Senator Gabbard rose in support of the measure and stated:

“Colleagues, this bill makes it easier and more convenient for people to do the right thing by recycling their bottles and cans, and makes the big box stores basically a one-stop shop where when aunty and uncle are inside shopping, junior can be out feeding the cans and the bottles into the reverse vending machines. So, it makes sense to require our big box retailers that are over 75,000 feet, such as Wal-Mart, K-Mart, Target, Sam’s Club, Costco to have these redemption centers on their property. They sell thousands of beverages every day and they should be willing to step up to the plate for the protection of our environment. So I urge my colleagues to support this bill. Mahalo.”

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 729 be adopted and S.B. No. 931, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“I don’t know where the ACLU has been this Session. I guess I have to be the poster boy to stand up for the increased incursion by state departments in coming into your home, coming into your place of business to forcibly take samples of your bodily fluids. I think that there should be a specific public purpose first without this carte blanche expansion of powers. Thank you.”

Senator Ihara requested his vote be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 729 was adopted and S.B. No. 931, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EPIDEMIOLOGIC INVESTIGATIONS,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Gabbard rose to request comments in support of the measure be inserted into the Journal.

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Gabbard’s remarks read as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in support of S.B. No. 701, S.D. 2. As you know, the people on the Waianae Coast are fed up with having all the landfills in their backyards and I don’t blame them. I introduced this bill because we don’t want to see any more landfills being built out there or expansions of existing private ones. This bill would not impact the City’s plans for the Waimanalo Gulch expansion.

“What I have been saying since I was Chair of Public Works at the Honolulu City Council back in 2003, is that we need to break our addiction to dumping our waste in the ground. I’m all for the City going forward with their plan to ship 100,000 tons of garbage off island. This is a project that I worked very hard to get off the ground when I was at the Council. It’s also encouraging that the City is moving forward with the 3rd boiler for H-Power and the curbside recycling plan. We have a bill on the calendar today, S.B. No. 393, which would allow the state to issue $35 million in special purpose revenue bonds for One Planet Pacific Energy to construct a 500-ton per day gasification facility to convert solid waste into synthetic gas, utilizing material solid waste from the construction and solid waste landfill located at PVT in Nanakuli. These are the kinds of creative things we should be doing to solve our solid waste problem. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this bill. Mahalo.”

Senator Gabbard rose to request comments in support of the measure be inserted into the Journal.

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Gabbard’s remarks read as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in support of S.B. No. 709 S.D. 2. Taro has been an intrinsic part of the Native Hawaiian culture, diet, and economy for centuries. I’ve been contacted by many taro farmers and we’ve heard in testimony that protecting taro from genetic contamination is of the utmost importance to them. This bill would prevent taro from being genetically engineered in Hawai’i and would allow this healthy, nourishing food to continue to be a model for agricultural sustainability for generations to come.

“I want to read a quote from a letter I received from one Big Island taro farmer, Jim Cain: ‘While moving forward, it is important to remember our connection to the past. That is why, in Waipi’o, the titles that garner the most respect are not Dr. or Professor, but begin with Auntie or Uncle or Tutu. Technology is seen as a tool not as a guiding principle. Science can be wonderful tool for advancement, but science without a conscience, without the guidance of the precautionary principle, can wreak havoc. There must be a balance. In other words, go easy. Be respectful.’

“With that, colleagues, I ask that you join me in supporting this bill. Mahalo.”

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“When we hand out the awards for stupid legislation this year this will be among the top contenders. Effective legislation—isn’t that what we’re getting paid to do? Shouldn’t we pass bills that are effective? Shouldn’t we pass bills that meet legal challenges? Shouldn’t we pass bills that are in reaction and reflective of public needs and all of that? Now we have to pass bills willy-nilly and then set up a commission to review what we've done to see if they're effective or not? I say, 'no,' Madam President. Thank you."

Senator Hooser rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Madam President, this merely sets up a process that allows a methodology for examining legislation and making recommendations so we could be more effective, more efficient, we can get rid of obsolete laws and make us better legislators in the future, and I urge my colleagues to vote in support. Thank you."

Senators Gabbard and English requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 775 (S.B. No. 1088, S.D. 2):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 775 be adopted and S.B. No. 1088, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"I think public access is extremely important to us, particularly when we're talking about beach and ocean access areas. This bill, by its reading, is overly broad and it creates, as it says in the bill, a new right which means it will create legal liabilities, not only to individuals but also perhaps to the state. I think we'd do better to hone our existing laws and make sure that they are part of the effective legislation we pass. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 775 was adopted and S.B. No. 1088, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PUBLIC ACCESS," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 776 (S.B. No. 619, S.D. 2):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 776 be adopted and S.B. No. 619, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"This is another proposal from the criminal lobby which is very strong in our state. They have a number of legislative pieces this year. Yes, why not let our convicted felons vote? Why shouldn't we have equal rights for everyone? Well, the fact of the matter is if you violate your civil contract, your social contract, you lose certain of those rights; and one of the rights is you lose your right to vote if you are convicted and sentenced. I believe that there are two states in the Union that now have toyed with and experimented with this idea of allowing prisoners to vote. I'm sure it would be very popular for those groups of individuals that support this right, but it is not a right. It's been a right taken away. Everybody knows this before you engage in these policies. You want to continue to vote, then don't commit crimes. Don't be convicted. Thank you."

Senator Espero rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Colleagues, this is a measure which I expected would generate a certain amount of controversy and discussion amongst ourselves and even the community, allowing prisoners the right to vote and as the good Senator mentioned we do have two states that allow it. But the right to vote is clearly defined in our U.S. Constitution, as well as our Hawai'i Constitution. And the question is: what policy do we want to set here? Of the 6,000+ incarcerated persons in our prison system today, 95 percent of those individuals will be released; most of them are incarcerated for 10 years or less. There is no harm to the state by passing this measure. There is no expense to the state by passing this measure. If we want to look at this in a more progressive way, this could be an opportunity for some inmates to take responsibility and to help readjust when they do get out of prison. It is part of a reentry plan where we're asking inmates who decide that they want to change their attitude to become involved and to be engaged. This measure, of course, is going to have probably a little problem in the House from what I'm hearing but I believe that this is a measure which we should pass because these citizens will one day be engaged with us, either as our neighbors, as our co-workers, possibly as your friends. I'm sure some of us know some people within our own families who have been incarcerated. They're not the scum of the scum. They're not a bunch of dirtbags, criminals, people we just lock up and throw away, and the heck with them. As I said, most of them will be out of prison one day and this is an opportunity for some of them who are in prison to think about what they have done, to think about the impact it has been on their families. We take away many of their freedoms when they are incarcerated; that is certain. We don't take away their right to religion. We don't take away their citizenship. We don't take their right to not engage or talk with their family members or others. So, I think this controversial measure should move forward and I hope you will consider it. Thank you."

Senators Hemmings, Slom, Nishihara, Green, Gabbard, Tsutsui, and Kim requested their votes be cast “no,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 776 was adopted and S.B. No. 619, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO VOTING,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 778 be adopted and S.B. No. 1125, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure with reservations and stated:

“The measure deals with the $250,000 limit for general contractors and a $50,000 limit for subcontractors. In Hawai‘i, many of our small companies are involved with construction, and for a subcontractor $50,000 might be $10,000 labor and $40,000 equipment. And not all of the small companies have started off with people who were in a big company; even union members have started their own companies. Some are family businesses and I fear that we’ll let the big boys take all the jobs and people who want to start up as small contractors, like a father-son company, would be inhibited by a measure like this. So as it goes forward, I’ve asked the Chairman to consider the small businesses and see perhaps if the thresholds can be higher.”

Senators Ihara and Nishihara requested their votes be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 778 was adopted and S.B. No. 1125, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PROCUREMENT,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 781 be adopted and S.B. No. 1624, S.D. 1 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Takamine.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

“You know, there was a time when we actually got money back as deserved when we had good sound economy, and that is in our Constitution; and then we started playing politics with that amount. First we were only going to get a dollar, then we weren’t going to get the money back; we’re going to use it as a tax credit. Now we’re coming full cycle and we’re going to give the Legislature the ability to change that so that we have a choice of either a use of the tax credit or to deposit it in the rainy day budget reserve fund. Gee, what do you think the Legislature would decide to do? They’ll put it in the reserve fund. And then what happens to the reserve fund? Then it gets raided by the same Legislature later on. The taxpayers get stiffed again. There was a reason for that provision and for all of us who are rightfully supportive of our economy improving in the next year or two, and all the good things that are going to come out of Washington, D.C.—all that money and everything else—we’ll start to see surpluses again. That money should go back to the taxpayers because all of that money, ARRA money, every dime comes from the taxpayers in the first place. And if the state is benefitting in terms of surpluses even after paying all its bills, it should go back to the taxpayers. Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 781 was adopted and S.B. No. 1624, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE HAWAII CONSTITUTION TO ALLOW THE LEGISLATURE TO EITHER FUND THE TAX CREDIT UNDER ARTICLE VII, SECTION 6 OF THE CONSTITUTION, OR DEPOSIT THE SAME AMOUNT INTO THE EMERGENCY AND BUDGET RESERVE FUND,” passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure and stated:

"There are many bills relating to education. This bill in particular tries to address teachers because we're losing many teachers, including many qualified teachers. I'd like to use this opportunity—I've passed out sheets that I call 'the cube,' and some people call it a 'matrix.' If you take the six different sides—administration, teachers, facilities, community, learning—you're all familiar with the Rubik's cube—you can fold it up into a cube, which shows the bills affecting teachers or students independently. You don't get the whole picture like a Rubik's cube. I believe in education we need to do all we can but the goal is to keep all the independent aspects part of a whole. Thank you very much."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 819 was adopted and S.B. No. 1249, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TEACHERS," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"I was opposed to this mandatory bill last year. Some of the corrections are being made this year in terms of applying only to single-family, new houses, but mandates are still bad. And I noticed that there was a lot of discussion in the committee about gas tankless water heaters and other alternative measures, and they are not included in here. It says that, you know, hopefully discussion will go along. Well, again, in light of effective legislation, I'm going to vote 'no' at this time. If it gets better, we'll vote 'yes' in the final version. Thank you."

Senator Gabbard rose to request comments in support of the measure be inserted into the Journal.

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Gabbard's remarks read as follows:

"Madame President, I rise in support of S.B. No. 390, S.D. 2. This bill simply clarifies the intentions of last year's landmark legislation which created the nation's first solar water mandate law. We've added language to clarify that existing homes will still qualify for the renewable energy technology income tax credit. We also make it clear that the Public Benefits Fee Administrator, instead of the Energy Resources Coordinator, will now be responsible for granting of variances and post-installation verification inspection. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation which encourages the use of renewable energy systems in our state. Mahalo."

EDH HOUSING SUMMARY

The following is a brief outline of the major initiatives of the Senate Committee on Education and Housing (EDH) to help those concerned with bills that have continued through Crossover.

AFFORDABLE HOUSING

The highest priority is to increase the number of affordable homes and rentals. Of high importance is to increase the funding to the Rental Housing Trust Fund (RHTF) and establish a Self-Help Housing Trust Fund through an increase in the conveyance tax on the sale of real estate over $1M. Four other priorities for increasing affordable homes and rentals are 1) Repairing and renovating existing public housing, 2) Using tax credits (Low Income Housing Tax Credit and Low Income Homeowner Mortgage Tax Credit), 3) Collecting on Share Appreciation Equity (SAE) when state-assisted affordable homes are sold or resold at profit, and 4) Expediting the counties' review and permitting process.

Bills: SB 440, 754, 773 (omnibus), 1118, 1268, 1277 (omnibus)

Hawaii Housing Finance and Development Corp (HHFDC)

The state agency most intimately facilitating the development of affordable housing is HHFDC. To assist HHFDC, EDH passed bills that would provide it more funding (in RHTF and by SAE), provide for 3rd party review on Transit Oriented Development (TOD), and establish a TOD Commission.

Bills: SB 442, 862, 863

DEVELOPMENT DISTRICTS / HAWAII COMMUNITY AND DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY (HCDA)

The creation of development districts is the most effective and sustainable method for redesigning Honolulu's urban core. Kakaako and TOD will allow more efficient use of land, facilities, and services. HCDA and a proposed TOD Commission should be provided the guidance and tools to facilitate development district planning and implement.

Bills: SB 645, 1350 also SB 442 (TOD)

PUBLIC HOUSING / HAWAII PUBLIC HOUSING AUTHORITY (HPHA)

HPHA has the unenviable job of administering state and federal public housing in Hawaii. In that, one of its most difficult concerns is dealing with the multiplicity of tenant issues and maintaining a safe and healthy environment for all residents. EDH passed a number of bills to this end: common expenses (SB 1160), Criminal Trespass (SB 1221), Alcohol Use (SB 535), and Smoking (SB 455).

ENERGY CONSERVATION AND OTHER

Sustainability certainly includes energy efficiency. EDH passed SB 241 (Cool Roofs). EDH also passed SB 205 to close a loophole that has allow owner-builders to avoid many of the requirements of contractors and benefit in previous lower building costs when selling property.

Bills: SB 205, 241

ORDER OF THE DAY

THIRD READING

MATTERS DEFERRED FROM TUESDAY, MARCH 10, 2009

S.B. No. 1678, S.D. 3:

Senator Kim moved that S.B. No. 1678, S.D. 3 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"We've discussed this bill for a number of years, we've implemented part of the so-called streamlining tax, the supporters of this tax say it is necessary to close a massive tax loophole. What it is, of course, is a new tax on those who use the internet and it increases the taxes on all taxpayers. The part of the justification also for this bill is that it will relieve some of the paper and regulatory burdens of main street businesses. I have yet to see how any of the reductions for businesses have taken place. And in fact we've got a bill coming up that will attempt to increase further the tax burden on small businesses in Hawai'i. So, it is a method of trying to fool the public into thinking that we're talking about equity and what we're really talking about is an additional tax burden as more and more people seek the internet for their commercial shopping. Thank you."

Senator Fukunaga rose in support of the measure and stated:

"I'd just like to offer a few comments to correct the remarks of the prior speaker. As all of you who have voted on this measure know, this is not a new tax. This is the state's use tax which previously, states like ours have been unable to collect when shoppers purchase goods from out-of-state, either through catalogs or over the internet. I have distributed for all members a copy of a response that we received from the Streamline Sales Tax Governing Board talking about the progress of other states that have implemented this project on a voluntary basis have achieved. And if you will take a close look at Mr. Peterson's response, he does indicate that of the 22 states that are participating in this project, they have been able to collect over $327 million from 1,166 retailers who are demonstrating that this project is viable. We now have a means of using software vendors to help us collect the use tax that is due on out-of-state sales, and for those reasons I would urge my colleagues to vote in support of this measure. At the very back of this handout, you will note that there is a chart showing that 22 states have adopted the streamline sales tax compliance adjustments, and I would note for members' attention that just last month the state of Wisconsin adopted its compliance legislation. This year, Hawai'i is one of 11 states that is debating and discussing compliance legislation, so I would urge my colleagues to vote in support of this measure. Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"I am always fascinated by the fact that legislators can stand up and with a straight face tell people how lucky they are that they can pay more taxes because 22 other states are. Unfortunately, it's just not true. This tax is regressive, and it hurts oftentimes the little person the most—the person who doesn't go to Ala Moana Center or get in a car, the person who's at home stuck behind the computer and orders something and has it delivered to their door for many reasons. But there's a more insidious consequence to this. We no longer live in a very isolated economy where the ebb and flow of the economy is found within the confines of our own country. We generally live in a world economy now, and if there's a strain on the American economy, that goes around the world. Corporations are run by people that are quite interested in meeting their payroll and paying salaries and not having to be forced to lay people off—as many corporations are now—and certainly a big overhead for them is taxes. So what they do in their wisdom, in a global economy, is they move their corporations to places that are more favorable to business. You might ask yourself why, especially you young people here today, why Hawai'i has only a one-industry economy—tourism. Why don't we have a flourishing tech industry here? We're trying to get it; when the tax cut will go away, so will it. Why don't we have space launch industry? Why don't we have more prolific industries employ our people? The answer's simple: why go to Hawai'i to do business when you're going to get taxed more? And that's what this bill does to American business. I would suggest for those 22 states including Hawai'i that want to do this that a lot of companies will say, 'Well, Hawai'i's in the compact, Illinois is in the compact, Wisconsin's in the compact, but we get most of our supplies from China and Hong Kong isn't in it. So, we'll just set up a distribution center in Hong Kong and we'll distribute from Hong Kong, and we don't have to worry about all of this tax penalties and punitive measures that we have to pay for in Hawai'i. And that's what will happen, and we'll further erode our tax base. It's just something I just don't understand because we have so much collective wisdom and prior experience with taxes. In 1992, Congress enacted the luxury tax. Do you remember it? I'll tell you what it was supposed to do. It was going to punish those terrible, terrible people who made a lot of money; you know those bad guys—the rich guys. Congress was going to have a luxury tax, and they were going to tax yachts. 'We'll show them. We'll tax their yachts, and we'll tax yacht manufacturers.' And guess what they had to do? They had to rescind the whole thing because the yacht people said, 'All right, see you later, United States.' They took the whole industry overseas, and the tax receipts for luxury tax left us. The streamline tax is going to be a huge encouragement for those companies that are already manufacturing products overseas, especially in Mexico and China, and distributing from the United States. They'll just set up their distributions points overseas. And I'll guarantee you Hong Kong and I'll guarantee you Mexico are not going to pay the streamline tax.

"So Madam President, it just doesn't make sense. It just violates every wisdom we have regarding taxes, and how to collect them, and fairness and it doesn't even address the issue. The previous speaker talked about how these states collected $132 million in additional revenue— what she said—but she failed to mention the spending side of the ledger where governments are squandering money while the poor can't afford to pay the taxes. So the bottom line is the bottom line, Madam President. This is not going to help the economy, it's not going to help the taxpayers, and ultimately it's going to fatten the coffers of government, but who knows where that money going to go.

"So I'd urge my colleagues to really think about these things before we just, on the ideological premise that we've got to be fair and tax everybody we can just doesn't make sense. So I would like my colleagues to kill this legislation, although I would suspect the vote today will not be that close. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Hooser rose in support of the measure and stated:

"I'll keep my remarks very, very brief. The opponents of this measure, Madam President, colleagues, consistently mischaracterize it as a tax increase. It's clearly not a tax increase. These are taxes that are due, legally due, and these are not more taxes. These are taxes due, and all we're doing simply is collecting the taxes that are legally due to the State of Hawai'i, leveling the playing field for businesses, and following what other states and the federal government are also putting into play. So I urge my colleagues to vote in support. Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in rebuttal and said:

"Thank you, Madam President. Just a very brief rebuttal since the two supporting Senators indicate that we are wrong and we need to be corrected. If these were taxes due, then the taxes in fact would be collected in these other states. There's a little matter of two legal decisions: the Bellas Hess decision and the Quill decision that prohibited a state from collecting if there was not a site, that is, if there was not an actual site within the state where the sale transposed and took place. And so what these groups are doing is to try to use this compact as leverage, and as they admit, the leverage is to get the current administration and the Congress to pass additional legislation to overturn these two legal decisions which prohibit the collection of taxation. So in fact, Madam President, it is a new tax, it is not legal, and even if this compact goes into effect—this so-called voluntary compact—it is still up to the administration and the Congress to pass additional legislation to overturn those legal decisions. Thank you."

Senator Hooser rose in rebuttal and said:

"We do have in this state something called a use tax, which requires people purchasing things from out-of-state to pay the tax. And so that is a legal tax; that's a tax that's in place and it's not being collected in many areas. Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

"Before I do so, I have to tell you how disappointed I am that (I actually combed my hair today and everything) I thought, 'Geez, we're going to be on Olelo again.' How curious it is that the day we raise taxes, there's no television. My gosh, the people are not going to get to see this debate, they're not going to get a chance to see the transparency of our proceedings and how wonderful you all are in raising their taxes.

"I am astounded that the previous speaker has now shifted the blame, after hearing the facts from the good Senator next to me because the pop-up opposition we see from your side of the aisle, Madam President, always alludes that we don't know what we're talking about; we're misinformed. I think that's been used several times in debates, but evidently the good Senator from Hawai'i Kai is well-informed. So the rebuttal is, from the Senator from Kaua'i, that you still have to pay it because you have to pay it if you're a resident here. Okay. Okay, I'll accept that. Then we don't have to pay this bill; just collect it from the residents. Do you really want to do that? Do you really want to further penalize our residents like this? Either way they have to pay, but go ahead and try to collect it.

"By the way, just so I'll be on the record about this and you may check my accuracy, most of the people in this state are paying their taxes, unlike some elected officials that are appointed to high positions in Washington, D.C. Either way the people lose in this bill, whether you have it collected in some state or you try to force them to pay it here for trying to save themselves a few bucks. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure and stated:

"I hope my colleagues across the aisle who are always talking about business will remember that in this measure, businesses here pay their taxes, whether it's 4 percent, 4.5 percent, or the half percent as businesses conduct transactions among businesses. Items that are bought via the Internet come in from places unknown, places that may or may not charge the appropriate tax—because some vendors do pay taxes. There's agreement among many vendors to charge the appropriate tax, but those that don't have an advantage over businesses here. I'm a big supporter of businesses here and I hope my colleagues will see that this also supports businesses in Hawai'i that are here and we hope will continue to grow and thrive here. Thank you very much."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1678, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TAXATION," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 3 (Green, Hemmings, Slom). Excused, 2 (Hee, Ihara).

S.B. No. 698, S.D. 3:

Senator Kim moved that S.B. No. 698, S.D. 3 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"This bill is yet another tax on Hawai'i's citizens and on small business, not on industry, the rental car industry. We currently are paying $3 per day for a rental car, and as I've pointed out on a number of times, at any given day nearly 35 percent and sometimes more of local residents are renting a car because of a car repair, because they're bringing in friends from the mainland, or because we are travelling to a neighbor island or neighbor islanders are coming here. So, I know a lot of people always like to say that the tourists are bearing the burden of our increased taxes. That is not the case here. We have a substantial number of people and also an industry. And, by the way, our tourist industry is flagging right now and we have a decline. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 698, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE RENTAL MOTOR VEHICLE AND TOUR VEHICLE SURCHARGE TAX," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom). Excused, 2 (Hee, Ihara).

S.B. No. 1346, S.D. 2:

Senator Tsutsui moved that S.B. No. 1346, S.D. 2 pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"I don't think you had to guess that I was going to stand up to speak against this bill. First of all, I want to acknowledge that leaving some figures blank in a number of these appropriation and tax bills is a wise thing to do, to see what is going to shake out with the economy. I recognize the wisdom of the Chair of the Ways and Means Committee on these initiatives. Nevertheless, if we raise the excise tax 1 percent, it takes over $600 million out of people's pockets. And with the true deception that often goes along with bills like this, where we're increasing taxes, something's given back—which is good. We have had a number of years in which your loyal opposition—the Minority party—introduced bills to eliminate the excise tax on food and over-the-counter drugs and adjust the rate for standard deductions, which is long overdue because our poor pay the most form of taxes, more than most any other state except Alabama. Nevertheless those deductions, according to testimony from the Department of Taxation, would pale in comparison to the total collections. This would be put into the state coffers out of the pockets of the poor working people. And why do I say poor working people? Because everybody knows that many of these people on the floor here fancy themselves as defenders of the poor. Well, the excise tax is the most regressive tax we have because the poor pay a disproportionate amount of their overall income in excise tax. It's just mathematical sense—this is a very, very regressive tax. It is further going to hurt the economy. It's going to take, even if it's 1 percent, $600 plus million dollars out of the business workers' hands, the job creators of Hawai'i, and give it to us. That could be a good investment because much of what government does is good and necessary.

"But with this bill, it might as well be taking the money out into the brisk tradewinds here in the rotunda and throwing it in the air because that's how cost effective the DOE is in educating our children. Don't take my word for it; look at the numbers. I won't go into them. But I've done it year in and year out, about the $2.4 billion DOE budget and enrollment decreasing to 179,000 students; how the statistical average comes out to over $12,000 per child; how the consuming parent worries about their child and wants them to get a good education in one of the most expensive states in the nation to live, where they work two jobs, sacrifice and send their kid to private school or they say, 'The DOE is such a problem; I'm sending my child to a chartered school.' Public school enrollment's going down with population going up, and charter school enrollment is going up. So we're going to give, with this bill, more money to the black abyss of the DOE, the organization who spends all the money and turns out the 47th ranked public education system in the nation according to recent polls; an organization who by two successive audits have been caught red-handed squandering taxpayers money. But that's all right. They spent $20 million getting some bids for what should have been money and oh, by the way, they did get some estimates and some plans in that money, too. Does anybody know that our schools are falling down? Yes, they do. But does anybody know that in the last 10 years we spent $1.5 billion on CIP money trying to fix them? Does anybody know that we've spent over $16 billion trying to educate our kids? I guess the public will forget, and they'll pay the tax and they'll be told, 'Geez, you're going to get a tax break on food.' But I'll guarantee you that government will always take more in this situation than they give. I just don't get it; you don't create wealth by subtracting from it. It is said, 'You cannot multiply wealth by dividing it.' And these taxes take from the producers, the workers and the poor and give it to government for limited or no results.

"So I'd urge my colleagues to look at the big picture and look at the public education system. I could, off the top of my head, give a half hour dissertation and quote the resolution I wrote to have the DOE audited so we can find out where the money is, but we can't even do that. Think about these things when you vote. You know it's really funny; a couple years ago, someone from the DOE had the audacity to say, in Ways and Means, something that was quite insulting. I was telling them that they weren't educating our children. I told them the system was broken. The reply I received was something to the effect of, 'Eh, it's not broke but give us more money and we'll fix it.' We've given them more money, year in and year out, and it's not fixed.

"Madam President, I urge my colleagues to not look at us as just ideological adversaries that stand up and vote 'no' against these bills, the two of us are standing here like in James Fennimore Cooper's book, The Last of the Mohicans. You think we're doing this for fun? You're laughing, I see Russell laughing. But you think we're doing this because it's fun? That we feel so righteous about it? No, we're doing it because we really want to see things change and get better. I imagine all of you people voted this last election for change and hope. But this is just business as usual. Throw more money at education and wait. Go to the powers that be in the HSTA, and we'll take care of you again, come back next year and they will. Hopefully, someday we will have the courage and the fortitude to change the formula and put respect and accountability back in our public education system for the sake of the young children that we see here today, those young, beautiful, clear voices singing that Hawaiian song who are students of a charter school. We know what works, but more importantly we know what doesn't work; and throwing more money at the DOE has not and will not work. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure and stated:

"We have no greater responsibility as legislators than to ensure that all of Hawai'i's keiki receive a quality education, an education that prepares them for excellent opportunities in the oncoming years. And on this floor we have some students who are excelling in their schools and we hope they continue to do so. Unfortunately, providing this quality education costs money and our schools are currently underfunded. A study conducted by an outside, independent consultant a few years back stated that Hawai'i's public schools would need an extra $278 million to be adequately funded. Instead, due to our declining economy, we again face decreasing funding to schools. If you need to go a hundred miles and you give 90 miles of gas, and then you ask teachers, students and others to push the rest of the way, we can't get there in the appropriate time. And I'm not going to make an excuse or rebut all of the arguments of the previous speaker; we've done that on this floor several times.

"And to most of us, as elected officials, raising taxes is a subject we'd rather not consider. In Hawai'i there are issues that have come up, whether it's fluoridation, gambling, total bans on fireworks—there are some tough issues. But yes, raising taxes is something that we need to consider, especially in this time, even with the criticism. The community understands or needs to understand that this bill will provide important tax relief to needy segments of Hawai'i's population and to move us closer to adequately funding our schools. Most of you have already heard about this proposal, and I want to make it clear that it provides tax relief to families making less than $100,000. The Tax Department wasn't able to give me the number of people that would be benefitted—the specific portion of our 1.3 million people who would benefit. But our poor, working poor, and middle class pay a disproportionate amount of their incomes in taxes on their necessities. We're one of the few states to tax groceries; abolishing the tax on groceries will save taxpayers $135 million dollars. And the numbers that I'm giving are from a Tax Department letter dated January 27, 2009, so I hope this will be included in the Journal as well. We're one of the few states to tax medical visits and procedures; removing the tax on medical services will save $126 million for the people paying that now. We're one of the few states where housing rental is taxed. And in one version of the bill, if we eliminated the first $800 from being taxed, that will be another $83 million kept in the pockets of our renters. In addition, Hawai'i's people also deserve a standard deduction that would be closer to the federal level. This measure proposes to double the standard deduction. That's another $37 million that wage earners would save. The total tax savings in this measure is approximately $380 million to the poor, working poor, and middle class to cope with these tough economic times.

"Now back to the funding of schools: that study placed the underfunding at approximately $2,000 per student. We've heard the arguments that enrollment has dropped while budgets have increased. That argument continually ignores the fact that budget increases have been caused by the transfer of functions and personnel from other departments and agencies to the DOE. That argument also compares private school costs to the DOE. Attention on private school tuition—some $15,000 a year, others as high as $20,000 a year—ignores the fact that 25 percent of the Department of Education budget is dedicated to the cost of educating students with special needs, and that's virtually nonexistent in private school budgets. Finally, nearly all of the increases in the past years are increases that businesses face as well. Labor benefit costs have gone up. That's a reality, whether it's the Department of Education or Macy's or any company. What funds finally reach schools as discretionary funding for computers, textbooks, supplies, training, extracurricular activities, reading specialists, and even librarians are clearly inadequate to provide the kind of support for our students that we can be confident will ensure delivery of an effective education and result in increased student achievement. And I point out that over 50 percent of Hawai'i's public school students are poor by federal standards or have special needs or have parents that don't speak English or English is not their first language. We don't want to continue to compare public and private education, our students and those students of other states. We should just truly want to meet whatever the cost is to provide students with quality education that offers learning opportunities to meet their wide needs so that each student, each student, can maximize his/her potential. Many of our parents and grandparents came to Hawai'i not speaking English and took jobs in the lowest rung of the working class. Public schools were the route out of low-wage jobs and poverty for their children. Many of us are here because of the access to public schools. None of us disputes the fact that private education can serve families well, but let us not, not ever, turn our backs on public education, our public schools, and our public school students and teachers. Public schools continue to be the only option for nearly all of our keiki regardless of whether they are rich, middle class, poor, blind, an immigrant, wheel-chair bound, suffer mental or emotional difficulties, live in Kahala, Kaunakakai, Waialua, Waimanalo, Na'aalehu or Ni'ihau.

"And yes, 1 percent, of the GE increase could potentially bring $600 million in revenue. That increase would be for those who spend more because they'd pay more. For those who can afford to pay more—a shopper who buys a $500 dress or a $200 pair of shoes or $150 shirt, say, on a third floor Ala Moana store would pay more. The person who shops at Goodwill, Saver's, Ross's won't pay as much overall tax on the items they buy. So while some of us do shop at the bargain stores, we don't have to, but people in our community who can't afford the luxury stores, they need help. Let's help them. And yes, we've travelled to the mainland where the tax at the register can be 9 percent. Do we think about the sales tax when we're travelling? The argument that tourists won't come doesn't hold water, and they will indeed be part of those that pay more. So let's go beyond the scare tactic of those who say we will drive visitors away. They'll pay more, but the bottom line is we need to do what we can for our keiki.

"And the bill has been amended. Not all of this will go to public schools but I hope a large portion, if this measure were to survive, would. In every survey, Hawai'i's citizenry has concluded that increased tax would be supported if funds went directly to schools, not to the overhead of the administration, not to the Board, but to the schools. People have said this over and over again, and we all realize that to undertake this will take courage by each and every one of us here so I ask you to support this measure, and I pray—and those of you know that I pray hard—that we can continue to support our schools because every day that we fail to provide an adequate education to our students, adequately funding our schools, is another day our keiki won't have the critical opportunities they deserve. We can and must do better because education is simply too important to be another item on the chopping block. Thank you very much."

The Chair having so ordered, the January 27, 2009 Memorandum from the Department of Taxation is identified as "ATTACHMENT A" to the Journal of this day.

Senator Chun Oakland rose in support of the measure and requested that Senator Sakamoto's comments be entered into the Journal as her own. (The Chair so ordered, by reference only).

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Well that was quite a dissertation we had, and I'm so happy that the Leaders For A Day are here so that at least some people can hear the debate that's going on, and they can make up in their own minds the legitimacy of some of the things that are said. We do have one person in the gallery. We've managed to scare everyone else away.

"I could spend the next hour and a half in rebutting these many, many claims that have just been made, but let's simplify it. We're not talking about our keiki. We're not talking about public schools versus private schools. We are talking about the government increasing the taxes yet again to the third highest taxed state in the nation, when we are all suffering, when all of your leaders, your parents are suffering. And I find it so disingenuous for the previous speaker to talk about reducing or eliminating the tax, the general excise tax on food and groceries, and on medical services, and on low-income people, because this has been the standard of the Republican Minority for 50 years in this state. Year after year after year, we've made speeches, we've introduced bills to do this. Hey, leaders; look around. Let's do the math. There are twenty-three members of the Majority party here, and two of us—as the good Minority leader said, 'the last of the Mohicans'. If our colleagues genuinely wanted to help the people of this state, if they genuinely believed in taking the burden off people that buy food and groceries, and medical services, and low income, they would have done it. They would have done it 50 years ago, 40 years ago, 30 years ago, 20 years ago, last year, or this year. They don't want to do it unless they first raise taxes and increase the burden on everyone. So let there be no mistake. This is first and foremost a tax increase: more tax and revenue away from individuals and in the coffers of government. The good speaker, the good Senator from Moanalua just a few minutes ago was criticizing me and my opposition to the so-called streamlining business and was supporting small business, but now just a few minutes later, his bill would hurt those very same small businesses in this state. And, by the way, for part of your education, Hawai'i does not have a sales tax; it has what is called the general excise gross income tax. A sales tax is the tax placed on the buyer of goods, and they can voluntarily choose to buy or not to buy. The general excise gross income tax of the state of Hawai'i, the only one of its kind in the nation, is a tax on the seller, on the businesses. But the good news is taxes and regulations are a cost of doing business and ultimately, ultimately, your parents, the taxpayers, and you as consumers will pay that tax to the extent that the business can pass it along. If the business can no longer pass along the cost of tax and regulation and government interference, then that business goes out of business. And that's what we're seeing every day in our community and across the nation.

"And the statement that I really enjoyed was that we in the Legislature really don't like raising taxes. Really? We raise taxes every year. We just went through—this is the third of three bills today to raise taxes. So for something we don't like to do, at least the Majority in here, we seem to do it with alacrity and regularly. We just got tax revenue figures last week and we're waiting now, unless Madam President already has the figures from the Tax Revenue Estimating Committee that are going to show that we are continuing to decline and having more and more difficulties. Tax revenues were down significantly. So, my colleagues' answer to a falling and failing economy, to a burden on all of its citizens, is raise more taxes. If that were genuinely a solution, then let's double the taxes or triple the taxes, and triple government spending and government debt. But there's been no indication that an increase in taxes, increase in spending, increase in debt helps us out of our economic concerns. But what, you say, is wrong with raising the tax if a portion will go to education for our keiki? The good Senator said that our responsibility is to guarantee quality education. If that is our responsibility as lawmakers, each and every one of us should be fired because we have failed. We have not increased the quality of education. It is wonderful that you young leaders are here today, and your Minority has always stressed the importance of individuals; individuals can overcome everything and anything. But the quality of education in the state of Hawai'i continues to fail. The Auditor's reports that we continue to bring up has indicated one of the reasons why—the Department of Education and the bureaucracy, the Board of Education. And yet my colleagues want to tax people more and take a portion of that money and give it these very same people. What's wrong with this picture? And do the math. If there's an estimated $380 million in tax savings, but there's an additional $500 million or more in tax increases—$600 million, thank you, it's because of your haircut you're able to do that math very quickly—then if you do the math we still have a net loss. And that would be on top of the streamlining tax, on top of the rental car tax, on top of fees and other taxes that we've already passed through on this Senate session. We have to look at things in totality. We have to do the math. And the speaker, the good Senator from Moanalua, doesn't like the fact that people bring up, time and time again, our public school enrollment is falling, declining, while the cost for public education in this state continues to increase without holding anybody accountable whether it's the Legislature or the DOE. While we continue to see falling test grades, we continue to argue, 'Oh, those tests aren't applicable to Hawai'i because we're special and the tests are flawed,' yet the other 49 states seem to use these methods quite well.

"So what is the answer here? If you think that government is the answer and bureaucracy is the answer and all we need is more money, more money, more money, without accountability, transparency or holding people responsible for results, then vote for increased taxes. But do so knowing that you are going to harm the very people that we say that we are concerned about and want to help in these difficult economic times, because only these people will wind up paying for these taxes. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Hooser rose in support of the measure and stated and said:

"I want to first and foremost echo the words of the Education Chair in support of public education. I, too, am glad that the student leaders are here so they can hear this debate, and I stand firm and proud of my continued support for public education. I think the student leaders here today are a testament not only to their drive, their ambition, their intelligence and hard work, but also to the teachers and principals in schools where they come from.

"You know, I need to point out this is not just about raising taxes, it's not just about schools; it's about our budget. I think that's something that's been missed in this debate. And while it's difficult to raise taxes, I vote today in support, in support of protecting people, in support of protecting the environment, in protecting the general health and welfare and the future of the people of the state of Hawai'i. You know, we face very tough times. With regard to our budget, we'll know how much tougher it's going to be this afternoon, whether you're talking about $650 million a year or $1.8 billion in a deficit. The truth is no one can appreciate the depth of the cuts, the depth of the financial situation that we're in right now, and what it will take to get us out of this dilemma. Over the next few weeks, we will have no choice but to deal with it. In my opinion, we cannot cut away a billion dollars from our state budget without causing irreparable harm, irreparable harm to people physically, irreparable harm to people's health, whether it's children without health care, whether it's adult day care, whether it's people that can't get their diabetes treatment, whether it's education, whether it's libraries that will close that are already staffed well-below what they need to be, whether it's schools that will close (and we're already talking about closing them), whether it's to our environment, our natural environment.

"Yesterday, I spent the day on Kaua'i where we have the Polihale State Park which is closed to the public. It's closed to the public because the state does not have the money to fix the road. Is that good for business? Is that good for people? I don't think so, and this is only the first of many parks that could be impacted if we do not take aggressive action to protect our budget. We're talking about invasive species, we're talking about parks, we're about environmental protections, we're talking about laying off people, we're talking about getting rid of tax credits for important sectors of our economy, all in an effort to cut our way out of our budget dilemma. And I'll say again, cutting our way out is not going to do it. It's going to simply set us back years and it has real, personal harm to people, real physical harm. We can and we will cut more to balance our budget. There's no question; regardless of the pain, we will cut more, and we are. We will and can eliminate tax credits in some areas and we're going to do this. We can raise the so-called easy taxes: the alcohol tax, the tobacco tax and others—the sin taxes. We're going to do this, I'm sure. We can cut jobs. The House has already proposed over 300 public sector jobs, and prior to this there are many other jobs that have already been cut through private non-profits' reductions of their services. We can spend the federal stimulus money, and yes, we will do this and this will help. But we can do all these things, Madam President, colleagues, and we will still be hundreds of millions of dollars short from balancing our budget.

“We have before us a plan, a plan that will help. It is not the end-all and it will not solve all of our budget woes but it will help. S.B. No. 1346, S.D. 2 is a tax reform measure and I agree with the Minority party, it is long overdue. I wasn't here 50 years ago. I wasn't here 40 years ago. I wasn't here 10 years ago. But I'm here now and I'm here in support, genuine support, of taking the tax off of food, off of medical services and supplies, off of rents and the host of other benefits to working class people in our state described by the sponsor of this measure. This will lower taxes, lower the cost to people earning less than $100,000 a year. Is it bad for business? Is it bad for people? Are cutting parks' budgets bad for business? Are closing state parks good for business? Cutting health care for children: is that good for business? Is having more mentally ill people on our streets and neighborhoods good for business? What about cutting tourism support, cutting our support for high tech, for the film industry, for biotechnology, for education at all levels—is that good for business? I don't think so, Madam President. None of this is good for business, but we must take the steps needed to balance the budget and minimize the damage to the people and to businesses. S.B. No. 1346 is at least a step in that direction—tax reform, decreasing the tax burden on middle-class working people, and raising it ever so slightly on those that earn more, as opposed to the Minority party's plan and the plan of the Governor. What kind of plan does the Minority party have? What kind of plan does the Governor have? We've been asking this question over and over again. I've seen no plan; only cuts and throwing rocks at what plans we put forth and smoke and mirrors. What happened when the budget first started declining? What was the plan? Well let's start cutting children's health care first, that's a good idea. Shall we cut business? No, no, no, let's not do that. Let's cut services for the mentally disabled. Let's cut adult day care. Let's cut education. Let's cut basic assistance to the very poorest people in our state—cut their meager earnings from $469 to $234 a month. That's how we balance the budget. ‘That's our plan,’ the Governor says, the Minority party says. I call it the Edward Scissorhands plan. And up to this point, the lion's share of the pain has gone to those who can least afford it, least defend themselves. Not only is the plan consistent of only cuts, it has not mentioned at all improving, streamlining consolidated services. Nothing whatsoever. Yes, I stand in support of S.B. No. 1346, S.D. 2 because I support public education, I support protecting the people, I support protecting the environment and the general welfare and future of the state of Hawai'i, and encourage my colleagues to do the same. Thank you, Madam President.”

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

“First of all, I stand to rebut; realizing that there's twenty-three of you and two of us, we do have to speak twice and so I'd like to acquire my second opportunity. Last I checked, the math around here is sometimes challenging and I want to set the record straight on some things.

“I stand with much gratitude to the previous speaker acknowledging that for years now we have been extremely cruel in taxing the poor. And we agree that our standard deductions and the excise tax on the hungry, the sick and the infirmed is especially regressive. But there are some things that just don't add up and I want to provide two examples for you young people; I'm sure you'll do the math as well as anybody. It was said earlier that the other states charge a retail tax, sometimes as high as 9 percent, and our excise tax right now on this island is only 4.5 percent, so yippee, we save money. Well, as the good Senator from Hawai'i Kai pointed out, the excise tax pyramids or is multiplied many times over by the time the product gets into the consumer's hands. Some people have extrapolated that if you took away the excise tax and had to replace it with a retail sales tax where you buy something and you pay the tax then and only then, that that tax would have to be 13 to 14 percent to make up for the amount of money. Don't be deceived. The excise tax is incredibly insidious, and it amounts to a retail tax of considerably more than most any other state has anywhere in the nation. It takes that much money out of the taxpayer's pocket.

“The second thing that is extremely misleading and I just marvel at the sheer audacity of people standing up on this floor and saying, ‘We're doing this for the little guy, we're going to cut taxes for the little guy and we're going to cut his food tax finally. The hungry won't pay the tax on food.’ It's absolute lunacy that you're going to put in the pocket of the poor man a little tax credit so he can eat without having to pay 4.5 percent, but you're going to take out of his other pocket 5.5 percent. The Senator did the math. The tax credits were added up by the proponent of this bill who spoke earlier and said that it comes out to approximately $380 million according to the Tax Department, but the tax increase is $600 million. What are you guys missing? Want to get the calculator out, Senator? Or is the poor guy going to say, ‘I'm poor. I'm not going to pay the 5.5 percent.’ Yes, he is going to pay it. And if you think it's shifting the tax burden, wrong again, wrong again. We heard an example about someone going to Ala Moana Center and buying a hoity-toity dress for $500 and paying more in taxes because they can afford it. Well anybody who knows anything about taxes knows that a percentage of a smaller income is a greater portion of that person's income than it is to the person with a larger income. So, you smack the little guy harder with a dramatic tax increase and then you have the audacity to tell them you're doing them a favor by not raising the taxes on his food or actually cutting it, when the truth is you're taxing the poor man more. There's no getting around it.

“But in the interests of constructive dialogue—this debate is going on across the country—I don't understand anybody who thinks they're going to improve the economy of the state of Hawai'i, or the nation, for that matter, by having government spend more money that they've taken from the workers and producers of this country. Because the workers and producers are going to say, ‘I'm not going to work that hard because the more I work, the more the money's taken, and oftentimes through government and given to the people who aren't working.’ I won't even go into the '90s welfare reform when people stood up and cried on this floor that we're cutting welfare and the poor people are going to be in the streets. You know what the poor people did, who were capable and able? They went to work.

“I want to offer you some suggestions here on how to cut the budget. Privatize. We know; we got proof of it. I'll give you one, right off the top of my head—check the numbers, by the way, to make sure I'm right. I heard the Department of Public Safety testify that when you send a prisoner in Hawai'i to a private prison in Arizona, it costs I think it was $58 a day. A prisoner housed in Hawai'i costs $130 a day. Do the math. Save a huge amount of money. Put him on an airplane, fly him to Arizona.

“The privatization of government services across the board could be incredibly beneficial. You would have people wanting to dump huge amounts of money in Hawai'i. They could lease Honokohau Harbor and make it bigger. Kawaihae. Hilo. We got the only yacht club in the nation, Hilo Yacht Club, that doesn't have a yacht because there's no harbor. Hilo Harbor could have floating dry docks. Ke'ehi Lagoon could be marina of the Pacific. No cost to the taxpayers. Give a developer, a marina developer, a good, long-term lease, they'll pour the money in the hole. They'll make it happen. They'll pay taxes. They'll create harbor space for us. It's called privatization.

"Private charity: I'll never forget in wake of Hurricane Katrina the people left dying because government didn't respond. Those who did respond, at no cost to the taxpayers and had help and relief in there within hours was the Salvation Army and the Red Cross. Privatize. We have a good Senator who's got the kindest, biggest heart in the world when it comes to helping the poor, but do you really think these government programs do a cost-effective job of it? Empower the private, charitable institutions of this country and of this state, and our needy will be taken care of on a regular basis.

"He had mentioned the park. They've got to close the park. The DLNR's been here year in and year out saying that we don't have enough money to maintain our parks and maintain our recreational facilities. So what is our good, good forward, innovative thinking director Ms. Thielen do? She goes to her people and says, 'I'm not going to give you a top-down plan. Tell me what we should do.' And they say, 'Fix the parks and we'll call it a Renaissance Renovation Plan, and then we'll allow the private sector to come in and manage the park and put in facilities for food and other commercial activity, and in that trade-off we'll get better parks and we'll be able to maintain them and everybody wins. We have more business. We have the tourist industry protected. We have our parks fixed and maintained. Everybody wins.' And you can certainly write into the contracts public access and all those things.

"I'll give you another example, Madam President. Years ago, the airport at Ka'anapali was closing. Hawaiian Airlines wanted a place to land their planes and they built an airport—the Kapalua Airport. And what did the state do? It bought it and turned an asset into a liability. You could privatize small airports.

"There are all types of opportunities out there. We are a wealthy state with wonderful, wonderful resources that we could partner with the private sector in developing so we wouldn't be spending the money. So the option really is the classic choice: do we raise taxes or do we cut spending? The unfortunate truth of the matter is when our private budgets are done for ourselves, we can't raise money. When budgets are done by private businesses, when they get to the point of insolvency, they go out of business or they lay people off. But what do we do? We just raise taxes rather than become innovative. This is not going to solve our economic problems if it did pass. It will exacerbate them; make it worse, discourage thrift, enterprise, hard work and reward a bloated bureaucracy that is failing our people. Thank you, Madam President."

Senator Sakamoto rose in rebuttal and said:

"The facts are the letter from the Tax Department with this whole package—at least prior to the amendment—with adjusted gross income, a single taxpayer saves $532. That's with the gain as well as the savings. Adjusted gross income $40,000, two persons, two children—$1,482 tax savings per year. Eighty thousand dollars adjusted gross income, two persons, two children—$518 per year savings. Then when you go to $120,000 adjusted gross income, two persons, two children—$276 tax increase. So, certainly the package is not just one pocket; it is a range of pocket. These numbers represent the Tax Department's calculation; not mine."

On motion by Senator Kim, seconded by Senator Tsutsui and carried, S.B. No. 1346, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TAXATION," passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 14. Noes, 5 (Fukunaga, Gabbard, Green, Hemmings, Slom). Excused, 6 (Bunda, English, Hee, Ihara, Kim, Kokubun).

At this time, Senator Slom rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Madam President, I am very concerned. I read in the Star-Bulletin today, 'Isles Score Near Top As Place of Joy' and they rated the five top happy places in the country and number one was Utah and number two was Hawai'i. And, Madam President, why I am concerned in the last month, I'm sure colleagues have read in the papers also that this combination, Utah-Hawai'i... We're the only two states in the nation that don't have gambling. We're the two states with the highest per capita of Samoan football players on our football teams. And we're the two states with the highest use of pornography consumption in the United States—Utah and Hawai'i. So, I think possibly we might look into doing a study as to why we're ranked number one and two in so many of these areas, whether it has something to do with the tourism bureaus or anything else, but I am quite concerned and I want to share that with you, Madam President and colleagues. Thank you."

"Your Committee on Judiciary and Government Operations heard from Judge Recktenwald and we are convinced that he will serve well in his capacity as an Associate Justice. Testimony received was overwhelmingly in support, including testimony from the Attorney General and the Prosecuting Attorney for the City and County of Honolulu. We also received information from the Hawai'i State Bar Association that Judge Recktenwald is qualified to serve as an Associate Justice. For these reasons, I am asking my colleagues to support the consent of Judge Mark Recktenwald as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Thank you."

Senator Slom rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"You know, you can read a lot of things or you can review committee reports about an individual, but it really doesn't tell you about that individual. We had people that came to testify in behalf of Mark Recktenwald that told us about his fairness, about his leadership, about his concern for his family and other people's families as well. We had people from the Public Defender's side of the bar come and talk about how fair he was and how respectful he was to every individual. You know, some of us who have watched Mark's career from the U.S. Attorney's Office to DCCA, right up the spectrum to the Intermediate Court of Appeals have not been surprised by his work ethic, by the accomplishments and by the dedication and loyalty of those that work with him or who have come in contact with him. In short, Mark Recktenwald is the real deal. He possesses all of the qualities that many of us would like to strive for and attain, but he's done it. And we're not surprised, Madam President, that he continues to move on and be recognized for all of those efforts. Our community, our state, and all of our people will be the better for having Mark Recktenwald on the State Supreme Court. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, none. Excused, 3 (English, Hee, Ihara).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 898 (S.C.R. No. 42):

On motion by Senator Sakamoto, seconded by Senator Slom and carried, the report of the Committee was adopted and S.C.R. No. 42, entitled: "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING CONGRESS TO DESIGNATE THE AREA IN HONOLULU BETWEEN KALIHI AND PUNAHOU STREETS, AND THE PALI LOOKOUT AND THE PACIFIC OCEAN AS A NATIONAL HERITAGE AREA," was adopted.

Senator Slom rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"I think yesterday was a very black day for the State of Hawai'i and the people of Hawai'i. First, we had the State Supreme Court ruling on the Hawai'i Superferry, followed by the Superferry's announcement that they're suspending operations.

"We have been intimately involved in this process for a number of years. This legislative branch spent a great deal of time in a special session trying to craft legislation after hearing from various voices throughout the community and throughout the state about what to do. And it was our belief that we had in fact accomplished that fact—legislation that would stand the muster of court challenges. I think that the decision yesterday—both decisions—the Court decision, and you know, Madam President, I have criticized our State Supreme Court on a number of occasions as being a dysfunctional court while anyone can reach a decision and we'll have to go by that decision now. I think rational minds and reasonable people would have reached an entirely different decision based on the intent not only of this legislature, but on the intent of the good and positive results for this community and this state.

"That decision yesterday didn't just affect one business. It didn't affect just one industry. It affected the entire State of Hawai'i. It affected many things: here we were just a few months ago during the Presidential campaigns talking about change, and yet as we find, we don't have change in Hawai'i. We resist change in Hawai'i. Before the Superferry idea came about, we had monopoly surface carriers and we had high rates. And we had very little choice or diversity for different individuals, residents and small businesses. When we talked about the Superferry and we debated it, it wasn't a question of whether, or if, or they might do something, like when we discuss special purpose revenue bonds. They put their money where their mouth was. They built the vessel. They came here. They started sailing. And through all kinds of challenges, they continued to sail and provide services for the community: the major beneficiaries, residents throughout the State of Hawai'i; secondarily, businesses, primarily small businesses. And particularly those on the neighbor islands who had an opportunity of not only expanding their businesses, but also of having a cheaper, more efficient, more productive way of getting their products or services to other islands.

"Now with this shut down and not knowing what's going to happen in the future, we're faced again with the obstacle of overcoming the image and the perception across the United States—as we approach our 50th anniversary of statehood—that Hawai'i, in fact, is not serious about doing business, does not just bring about challenges to business, but is the supporter of a hostile business environment. It's no surprise then, that when we look at ratings by different business organizations across the country we always rank in the bottom of that list, 48th or 49th or 50th out of the 50 states for having a business climate that is encouraging, that is open, that provides for alternatives and provides for change.

"Now we had a lot of discussion and debate and even dissent in this body, but the final result was 20 to 5 and we passed that legislation. I believe over in the House it was 39 out of 51. In any event, the Hawai'i Superferry in the nearly one year that it has been servicing the people of this state, has shown itself to be a good corporate neighbor, a good corporate leader. It has donated its services, its time, its efforts to many groups, many individuals, particularly youth groups. It has been involved in a number of activities that have allowed people for the first time to access their neighbor islands with their families, their belongings and their motor vehicle.

“What happens now if we don't have this continuing service? What is it that we have to offer people in terms of choices, in terms of reduction of cost, in terms of encouraging other people to come here to invest? I just talked to my colleague a few minutes ago and asked him if you were on the board of directors of the Superferry, or you were an investor, or you were in management, or you were an employee, what would be your decision at this time? What's the lure to stay in Hawai'i after Superferry has bent over backwards, bent over again, bent over again, bent over again, and still we have individuals and organizations in this state that are not concerned about the environment, they're not concerned about the whales, they're not concerned about the coral reefs, they're not even concerned about invasive species. They're concerned about power and their special interests. And I think it's a travesty of what we've allowed to happen.

“Madam President, I don't know if there's anything else that this Senate or this legislative body can do, but I do know that we had opportunities in the past to stand up again, not for an individual business and not for an individual industry, but for the idea that Hawai'i stands for change, that Hawai'i welcomes competition, that Hawai'i wants to make sure that those people that risk their time, their resources, are able to be compensated for that. And as we face continuing economic challenges, I think we're going to have more concerns for our small businesses and particularly those in agriculture who are here with us today because it affects them directly. And I say, Madam President, yesterday was a sad day. None of us know what the future is going to hold for this operation, but we do know that anybody looking at Hawai'i as a place to do business, as a place to invest, as a place to do something new, as a place to go up against the old boy network and the bureaucracy and the newly crowned special interest, are going to think twice or three times about doing it. And that, Madam President, is going to be a loss for all of us. Thank you.”

At this time, the Chair made the following announcements:

“Referrals and re-referrals are made in accordance with the Supplemental Order of the Day that will be distributed to your offices later this afternoon.

“Tomorrow's Senate Session will convene at 11:00 a.m. followed by the Statehood celebration joint session in the House Chamber at 12:00 noon.

“Tomorrow's deadline to file resolutions with the Clerk's office will be 6:00 p.m.”

JOINT SESSION

The Joint Session of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Twenty-Fifth Legislature of the State of Hawai'i, Regular Session of 2009, was called to order at 12:02 p.m. by the Honorable Calvin Say, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The Speaker addressed the Chamber, stating:

"I call upon Mr. Danny Kaleikini to open this special Joint Session by singing the National Anthem and Hawai'i Pono'i. Thereafter, Reverend Curt Kekuna of Kawaihāo Church, a member of the Statehood Commemoration Commission, will deliver the invocation. House and Senate members, and guests, please rise."

At this time, the members of the Legislature and their guests rose to sing the National Anthem and "Hawai'i Pono'i," led by Mr. Danny Kaleikini, Hawai'i's "Ambassador of Aloha" and one of the "50 Voices of Hawai'i".

The Divine Blessing was then invoked by Reverend Curt Kekuna of Kawaihāo Church, a member of the Statehood Commemoration Commission.

The Speaker then addressed the members of the Legislature and guests as follows:

"To all in the Chamber here today and to those offshore viewing these proceedings via the Internet...Aloha 'auinalā."

"It is a privilege for me to be here today to preside over these proceedings with Senate President, Colleen Hanabusa. As I look around this Chamber, I recognize a number of familiar faces from Hawai'i's rich past...visionary people, pioneers in the early Statehood days and years. It is moving to be in the presence of so much history in one room. It is nearly overwhelming, and I am humbled to be able to recognize and acknowledge such greatness today.

"On this day 50 years ago, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed the Hawai'i Admissions Act into law. This stroke of the pen set into motion a plebiscite, which took place on June 27, 1959, whereby Hawai'i voters overwhelmingly ratified the congressional vote for statehood.

"The pen used by President Eisenhower has been placed on the floor here along with other statehood artifacts from the State Archives.

"The road to statehood was not easy. There were those who opposed Hawai'i's admission to the union. Some opposition was political. Some opposition was based on economics. And some opposition had harsh racial overtones. However, the people we honor today persevered and overcame those obstacles.

"In order to fully appreciate what was done for us 50 years ago, one must ask, 'What does it mean to be a state?' Sure, it means being a star on the flag, and yes, it means being number 11 on an alphabetical list of 50.

"But more important, it means we in Hawai'i have a system of justice that is equal and fair. We have the right to face our accusers, and to be deemed 'innocent until proven guilty'.

"It means we are protected from foreign threats, by a military composed of the most dedicated volunteers in the world, who stand ready to fight...not for a dictator, a king or even a president, but for a principal and belief...for a constitution...for a Nation.

"Being a state also means we have the opportunity. We are a part of a Nation where you are your own person, no matter who your parents are or where they came from. History shows us that even if you are born in the poorest part of town, you can achieve.

"We, the people of Hawai'i, citizens of the United States of America, are truly blessed.

"Today is a tribute not only to those who worked to gain Hawai'i's statehood, it is also a tribute to all who have worked to develop our unique way of doing things and our identity as 'the Aloha State'.

"We have much to be proud of:

"Since 1959, Hawai'i has produced the first U.S. Senators of Chinese, Japanese, and Hawaiian ancestries. And we have been led by governors of Japanese, Hawaiian and Filipino ancestry.

"We have produced a Miss Universe; giants of trade, finance and industry; world renowned scientists, scholars, musicians, astronauts, philosophers, artists, athletes and culinary experts; an Army Chief of Staff, and yes...and yes...a President of the United States.

"Even more important to this fabric of Hawai'i as 'the Aloha State,' are the men and women, who may never be on television or on the radio or mentioned in the newspaper. It's the people, who work hard every day to make a living, and who don't give up when faced with life's difficulties. It's the people, who care and provide for their children, so each succeeding generation has a better quality of life. It's the people who keep Hawai'i moving forward, growing positively and striving.

"Put it simple, it's our people who make Hawai'i a great state."

The Speaker noted:

"At this time, I would now like to take this opportunity to introduce some of our special guests with us today:

"Governor Linda Lingle, co-host for the Statehood celebration;

"Lt. Governor James Aiona and Mrs. Vivian Aiona;

"Mr. Barry Fukunaga, Governor's Chief of Staff, and members of the Executive Cabinet, please rise to be recognized also.

"Chief Justice Ronald T.Y. Moon of the Hawai'i State Supreme Court and Associate Justices Paula Nakayama, Simeon Acoba, Jr. and James Duffy;

"Chief Judge Mark E. Recktenwald of the Hawai'i Intermediate Court of Appeals and Judges Daniel Foley, Alexa D.M. Fujise, Katherine Leonard, Craig Nakamura, and Corinne K.A. Watanabe;

"Major General Vern Miyagi, U.S. Pacific Command;

"Major General Stephen D. Tom, Deputy Commanding General, Mobilization and Reserve Affairs, U.S. Army Pacific;

"Brigadier General Jan-Marc Mouas, Director of Operations, Plans, Requirements and Programs, U.S. Pacific Air Forces;

"Captain Dave Hankins, Commodore Submarine Squadron ONE, U.S. Navy, U.S.S. Hawaii

"Honolulu Mayor Mufi Hanneman;

"Honolulu Council Chair Todd Apo;

"Big Island Mayor Billy Kenoi;

"Mr. Kippen de Alba Chu, and Mr. Lenny Klompus, Chair and Vice Chair of the 50th Anniversary Statehood Commission, and members of the State Commemorative Commission, will you all please rise to be recognized."

At this time, Senate President Colleen Hanabusa rose and introduced the following distinguished guests to the members of the Twenty-Fifth Legislature:

Mrs. William Quinn and son, Gregory Quinn;

The Honorable James Burns, Ms. Emme Tomimbang and Dr. Sheenagh Burns;

The Honorable George Ariyoshi and Mrs. Jean Ariyoshi;

The Honorable John Waihee and Mrs. Lynne Waihee; and

The Honorable Benjamin Cayetano and Mrs. Vicky Cayetano.

The President then addressed the Chamber as follows:

"Hawai'i owes a tremendous debt to the men and their families who dedicated themselves to leading our young state through its first four decades. Joining us today are the former governors of the State of Hawai'i and their representatives.

"Representing the State of Hawai'i's first governor, William Quinn, are his wife, Mrs. William Quinn, and their son, Gregory Quinn. Governor Quinn was first appointed as the Territorial Governor by President Eisenhower and then became the State of Hawai'i's first elected governor, serving in that capacity from 1959 through 1962.

"Representing Governor John Burns: his son, the Honorable James Burns, along with Ms. Emme Tomimbang, and his daughter, Dr. Sheenagh Burns. Largely credited with building and maintaining Hawai'i's Democratic Party through the Territorial years and early statehood, Governor Burns was the State's first elected Democratic governor and served from 1962 to 1974.

"The Honorable George Ariyoshi and Mrs. Jean Ariyoshi. As the State's first governor of Japanese American descent, Governor Ariyoshi served from 1974 to 1986 and is a visionary who, as governor, understood the need for planned development and managing our precious natural resources. This understanding led to the Hawai'i State Plan, which embodies the State's current and future priorities and laid the groundwork for the Legislature's focus on sustainability.

"The Honorable John Waihe'e and Mrs. Lynne Waihe'e. Serving as governor from 1986 to 1994, Governor Waihe'e, the State's first governor of Hawaiian ancestry, brought a heightened awareness of the plight of the Native Hawaiians. His compassion and personal understanding of Hawaiian issues has led to the enhanced funding for the Hawaiian Home Lands Trust and other important programs."

"And the Honorable Benjamin Cayetano and Mrs. Vicky Cayetano. Raised in modest surroundings, Governor Cayetano's no-nonsense and straight-talking style of governing served the State well during a period in which Hawai'i was facing tough economic times. The State's first governor of Filipino descent, Governor Cayetano served from 1994 to 2002.

"Governors, family members, thank you very much for joining us today."

At this time, the Speaker called upon certain House members to introduce very special guests, who were pioneering members of the 1959 Hawai'i House of Representatives:

Representative Della Au Belatti introduced Mr. Thomas P. Gill, Mrs. Lois Gill, and son, Mr. Eric Gill.

"I am privileged to stand before you today to recognize a man whose life is intertwined with the life of our state from its very inception—a son of Makiki whose penchant for sticking to his convictions with unflinching dedication has brought him to great heights as a leader of our state and our nation. That man is Thomas Ponce Gill.

"Following the career path of an individual like Mr. Gill is quite the roller coaster ride, because he is one of those rare public figures who pursued his political ideals without exception, leading to his fair share of considerable triumph and tribulation. Mr. Gill made a name for himself early on with his ability to argue intelligently and for his mastery of the timely phrase or sharp quip, whose sting, I believe, has been felt by some leaders in this room. This sharp wit, coupled with a strength of character and the courage of his convictions, propelled Mr. Gill to positions in Hawai'i's territorial government, then into the position of House Majority Floor Leader of Hawai'i's first State Legislature, and next to Hawai'i's last at-large seat in the United States House of Representatives.

"During his single term in Congress, Mr. Gill was appointed as the floor manager for the famed Civil Rights Bill. It was his task to move this bill through the House, as well as to write the opening section of Title VI. The Act passed in 1964, due in no small part to the efforts of Congressman Gill, marking one of the greatest milestones towards equal rights in our nation's history.

"Not one to shy away from unpopular ideas or from a political fight, Mr. Gill continued in his quest for equality, his dedication to protecting Hawai'i's natural environment, and his commitment to civil rights for all through victory and defeat, losing a bid for the U.S. Senate, winning the Lieutenant Governorship, and then narrowly losing to Governor Burns in the 1970 Democratic primary. Through the highs and the lows, Mr. Gill never compromised his integrity, and with the help of his lovely wife, Lois, who's with us today, he has instilled his deep sense of civic responsibility and leadership in his children, several of whom, including Eric Gill who is with us here today, have become prominent public figures themselves.

"And so it is with great respect and admiration that I now present to you a man who has been an integral part of Hawai'i's political landscape since before our birth as a state; a man whose steadfast commitment to the advancement of human rights alone would justify his attendance here today, but whose impact on Hawai'i and our nation has been so broad that it is fitting to introduce him not by the many titles he has borne over the past five decades, but by a few simple accolades. Ladies and gentlemen, it is my great pleasure to introduce a beloved husband and father, a staunch advocate of social and economic justice, a true citizen of Hawai'i: Mr. Thomas Ponce Gill."

Representative Mark M. Nakashima introduced Mr. Stanley I. Hara, Mrs. Diane Hara, and Judge Glenn Hara from the Big Island.

"Good afternoon, Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Madam President, Mr. Speaker, legislative colleagues, and members of the audience.

"Stanley I. Hara was one of numerous authors who helped to draft, edit, write, and publish the first chapter of the story of the State of Hawai'i. Mr. Hara, who represented my district on the Big Island, was elected to the territorial House in 1954. As a freshman to the Legislature, Mr. Hara was a Big Island Democrat who helped to transform the education system by passing legislation that made education available to all, including the disadvantaged. Before lawmakers restructured the educational system, the Territory of Hawai'i only required free education up until the 8th grade level, and high school students had to rent their books and pay other school fees.

"During the 1959 special session, and the 1960 budget session and special session, which essentially shaped the future of Hawai'i, Mr. Hara served as chairman of the Finance Committee. Concerns that year included reviewing the areas of economic development on the neighbor islands, transition and reorganization issues, and budget threats to health, safety, and welfare of Hawai'i's citizens. It was necessary for lawmakers that year to draft legislation which addressed the fiscal problems related to the transition from territory to state.

"Mr. Hara played an integral role in shaping the State of Hawai'i through urgent legislation and worked across party lines to create the foundation upon which Hawai'i's government and laws now lie. In 1968, Mr. Hara became a delegate to the Constitutional Convention, and then on January 14, 1969, he was appointed by Governor John A. Burns to fill the unexpired term of Senator Nelson K. Doi. As chair of the Senate Education Committee in 1971, Mr. Hara played an instrumental role in turning the two-year University of Hawai'i Hilo into the four-year University of Hawai'i at Hilo that it is today. The University of Hawai'i at Hilo recently honored Mr. Hara with a 2008 Distinguished Service Award.

"Please join me in recognizing Mr. Stanley I. Hara, his wife Diane Hara, and their son Judge Glenn Hara."

Representative Scott Y. Nishimoto introduced Mr. Walter M. Heen and Mrs. Norma Heen, and Mr. George "Scotty" Koga and Mrs. Ruth Koga from East Honolulu

"I'm honored to introduce two members of that historic class.

"The first is Mr. Walter Heen, a native son of Hawai'i, active political player, and dedicated public servant for almost 50 years. Mr. Heen was born in 1928 and raised on the island of O'ahu. A motivated and ambitious student, Mr. Heen obtained his bachelor's degree in economics from the University of Hawai'i and later earned his law degree from Georgetown University in 1955.

"Shortly after graduating law school, Mr. Heen was elected to the Territorial House of Representatives in 1959, where he served in the Hawai'i Legislature as a Representative until 1964. Mr. Heen began his political career during one of the most exciting and historic times in Hawai'i's history, and as a member of the Committees on Government Efficiency, Judiciary, Public Employment, and Housing, he not only witnessed, but also assisted in the restructuring and reorganizing of our young state's government.

"After serving in the House of Representatives, Mr. Heen continued his service to our state as a Senator from 1966 to 1968, and then on the Honolulu City Council from 1969 to 1972. Following his retirement from the Legislature, Mr. Heen began a distinguished judicial career as U.S. Attorney from 1978 to 1980, and as U.S. District Attorney Judge in 1981. He was then appointed to the State Intermediate Court of Appeals in 1982, where he served until 1994. In 1998 and 2000, he added to his accomplishments by being elected chairman of the Hawai'i Democratic Party. Finally, in 2006 he was elected to the Board of Trustees of the Office of Hawaiian Affairs.

"Mr. Heen is a man who dedicated almost 50 years of his life to public service in the administrative, legislative, and judicial branches of county, state, and federal government. Please join me in giving a warm welcome and mahalo to Mr. Walter Heen and his lovely wife Norma.

"Next, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of myself and you, I'd like to introduce Mr. George 'Scotty' Koga who, along with other members of the Territorial House, crowded the halls of 'Iolani Palace in 1959 to be one of the first citizens of Hawai'i to hear the exciting news that the U.S. House of Representatives voted to pass the Hawai'i Admissions Act.

"Mr. Koga was a member of the House of Representatives from 1959 to 1964. He served several notable positions, including chairman of the Committee on Government Efficiency and the vice chair of the Tourism Committee. During this time, he was also a member of the Committees on Harbors and Airports, Transportation, Economic Development, and Finance. After leaving the Legislature, he continued his political service as a member of the City Council from 1971 to 1978.

"Please join me, Mr. Speaker, in recognizing and honoring Representative George 'Scotty' Koga and his wife Ruth."

Representative Isaac W. Choy and Senator Brian Taniguchi introduced Mr. Katsugo Miho, Mrs. Laura Miho, and daughter, Ms. Mariko Miho.

Representative Choy rose and said:

"Mr. Speaker, to introduce our special guest, I would like to defer to a voice that hasn't been heard in this Chamber for quite a while. Mr. Speaker, may I defer to the senior Senator from Mānoa, Senator Brian Taniguchi?"

Senator Taniguchi rose to introduce the honoree as follows:

"I'd like to introduce, on behalf of Representative Choy, Katsugo Miho. Mr. Miho was a member of the famed 442nd Regimental Combat Unit. He served as a state judge. He was also the judge that presided over my first case as an attorney. I won't go into the details of that, but sufficient to say that it was an uncontested divorce and I didn't get my way, but it turned out very well. He's also served in the 1959 Legislature, and with him today are his wife and daughter Mariko."

Representative Barbara C. Marumoto introduced Mr. Frederick W. Rohlfling and Mrs. Patricia Rohlfling from Maui.

"I am privileged to introduce to you today Fred Rohlfling, who was first elected to the Legislature from the 17th District, which ran from Kaimuki to Makapu'u Point. To cover his accomplishments would take longer than the time allotted, but don't worry. Fred has been working on his memoirs and soon hopes to be in print, just like ex-Governor Ben. The book's tentative title is 'In Hawai'i Service: The Life and Times of Fred Rohlfling.'

"Fred was born in territorial days, so he's at least 50 years old. Raised in Mānoa and graduated from Punahou, Yale, and George Washington Law School. Then he came home to run for office and served 11 years in the House and 9 years in the Senate.

"Some of you here may remember that Fred surprised his colleagues when he was the only Republican to vote for the Maryland Land Law. It was a major Democratic Party plank and Fred was a Republican. He gave the only speech on the measure. With the help of the late Senator David McClung, Fred's "Lessees' Bill of Rights" that regulated residential leases was incorporated in the groundbreaking Land Reform Act of 1967.

"Always a visionary, Fred was out in the front with new issues such as the environment, mass transit for East O'ahu, and affordable housing. Fred did manage a legal practice, and he represented registered nurses for collective bargaining. So when the nurses went on strike, Fred was on the line with them.

"He also served in the U.S. Naval Reserve Intelligence Program for 36 years. He was also appointed by Presidents Ford and Reagan to the South Pacific Commission, so he's familiar with many of the Pacific Islands and their leaders. In 1978, Governor Coleman appointed him Attorney General in American Samoa.

"In '72 and '76, Fred ran for the 1st Congressional District against Matsunaga, and then against millionaire TV mogul Cec Heftel. He lost that latter one even though he had the active support of all the major unions.

"Fred and his wife Patty returned to Maui in '84. There he was pressed into service as Corporation Counsel by Mayor Hannibal Tavares. After that, Fred spent four years as a Magistrate Judge and has continued to serve on various state and county commissions ever since.

"Fred is the ultimate public servant, having worked in the federal, state, and county levels, in the executive, legislative, judicial branches, and the military. Patty also served in the Legislature, working for Fred—and I was there, too—and for former legislator Buddy Soares. Fred's eldest son, Fritz, is a lawyer in town. His other son, Karl, is a brewer on Maui. And Fred and Patty combined have six talented grandchildren. But to find out more, please read his book. Please recognize Fred Rohlfling and Patty Rohlfling."

At this time, the President called upon certain Senate members to introduce very special guests, who were pioneering members of the 1959 Hawai'i State Senate:

Senator Chun Oakland introduced Mr. George Ariyoshi and Mrs. Jean Ariyoshi.

"Colleagues and guests, I have the honor and distinct privilege to introduce one of Hawai'i's foremost pioneers and leaders, the Honorable George Ariyoshi.

"Governor Ariyoshi may be best remembered as one of Hawai'i's outstanding governors and the first Asian American Governor in our nation. George Ariyoshi began his more than 30 years of service to our state as a member of the Legislature. As Hawai'i approached statehood in 1959, he was serving in the State Senate. He dedicated 11 years to addressing the concerns of his Senate district, as well as issues confronting our growing territory and state. Even in those early days, Senator George Ariyoshi stood for causes that laid the foundation of our state's future strength: responsible economic policies, stability for our working men and women and their families, land reform and planned development, and effective business and international relations.

"It is my honor and my distinct pleasure to present to you a man of few words, great humility, a man of great vision and action, and a well-respected leader, Governor and Senator George Ariyoshi, and our beloved first lady, Jean Ariyoshi."

Senator Tsutsui and Representative Karamatsu introduced Mr. Nadao Yoshinaga and daughter, Susan Ward.

Senator Tsutsui rose and said:

"Madam President, colleagues and special guests, today I have the great honor to introduce to all of you Senator Nadao Yoshinaga, also widely known as just Najo. Senator Yoshinaga was elected to the House of Representatives of the Territory of Hawai'i in 1954. In 1959, he was elected into the Senate of the State of Hawai'i, where he served until he retired in 1974. Senator Yoshinaga was the Chairman of the very influential Senate Labor Committee and the Committee on Ways and Means. During his career, he was responsible for landmark legislation such as the Prepaid Health Care Act, the Art in Public Places Act that established the State Foundation on Culture and the Arts, and the creation of the Hawai'i State Commission on the Status of Women, among many others.

"And at this time, Madam President, I would like to yield the floor to my colleague, Representative Jon Riki Karamatsu to continue with our introduction."

Representative Karamatsu rose and said:

"Senator Nadao Yoshinaga, or as we like to call him, 'Senator Najo Yoshinaga,' has been a mentor to so many leaders in Hawai'i, including many of us here today. He has been my friend, advisor, and confidante ever since I met him when I was working for Senator Carol Fukunaga in 2002. It is a dream come true for me to have a mentor who is a member of the 1954 Democratic revolution and 442nd Regimental Combat Team. I am very appreciative of all the knowledge he has shared with me and many others.

"Senator Yoshinaga graduated from Maui High School and the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa, where he obtained his bachelor of arts degree. He volunteered for the United States Army and served in the 442nd Regimental Combat Team. After the war, Senator Yoshinaga decided to apply his GI benefits to study law at DePaul University, where he obtained his Juris Doctorate degree. He returned to work for the law firm of Bouslog & Symonds in Honolulu and then in Maui, which was known for its defense of the ILWU, or otherwise known as the International Longshore Warehouse Union.

"Senator Yoshinaga's proactive and progressive vision, strength of conviction, organizational and strategic brilliance helped to shape and inspire legislative, business, and community leaders long after his formal retirement. He continues to encourage, advise, and also inspire legislators and legislative staffs during his many visits to the Hawai'i State Capitol today. Thus, even today he's making an impact on Hawai'i through his many protégés.

"I'd like to leave you with a statement Senator Yoshinaga likes to say: 'Make Hawai'i the best place in the world.' Senator Najo Yoshinaga, thank you for all you have done to make Hawai'i the best place in the world. At this time: Senator Najo Yoshinaga and his daughter Susan Ward."

President Hanabusa addressed the Chamber, stating:

"The Commission is sponsoring a media program entitled, '50 Voices of Hawai'i,' which showcases a broad spectrum of people from our community. I now call upon Mr. Danny Kaleikini, one of the memorable voices, to introduce other participants of the '50 Voices of Hawai'i' program with us today."

Mr. Danny Kaleikini addressed the Chamber, saying:

"E Hawai'i aloha kakou āpau. Aloha. Aloha, the breath of life and love that we share with one another. Aloha kekahi i kekahi. The love for one another. But most important, Aloha ke akua. God is love.

"It is my honor to introduce the distinguished citizens who have been featured in the Commission's '50 Voices of Statehood.' And they have been airing statewide on Hawai'i television, radio stations since August of last year so that the young people and all the residents of Hawai'i with their unique perspectives on statehood. As a voice in the series myself, I can tell you that it has been very interesting to watch and listen to all the participants and to see how their memories compare with your own.

"And one of our 50 voices is no longer with us, but she lives on with her spirit, intellect and passion. Her name: Ah Quon McElrath. She was a key figure in Hawai'i's early labor movement and a tireless advocate for social justice and political change over the past seven decades. We are going to miss her, but I ask you to join me in a very brief moment of silence to honor Mrs. McElrath's commitment to Hawai'i and its people."

At this time, the members of the Legislature and their guests observed a brief moment of silence to honor the memory of Mrs. McElrath.

Afterwards, Mr. Kaleikini introduced and recognized the following members of the "50 Voices of Hawaii program":

At this time, the members of the Legislature and their guests were entertained by renowned singer Mr. Danny Couch.

The President rose and said:

"Thank you, Mr. Couch.

"It is an honor to introduce the current Governor of the State of Hawai'i, the Honorable Linda Lingle for her remarks."

At this time, the President presented to the members of the Twenty-Fifth Legislature and special guests the Honorable Linda Lingle, Governor of the State of Hawai'i.

The Governor addressed the Joint Session and guests as follows:

"Senate President Hanabusa, Speaker Say, Chief Justice Moon, Lt. Governor and Mrs. Aiona, current legislators, Mrs. Quinn and Gregory Quinn, Judge Jim Burns, Emme Tomimbang and Dr. Sheenagh Burns, Governor and Mrs. Ariyoshi, Governor and Mrs. Waihe'e, Governor and Mrs. Cayetano, Members of Hawai'i's first state legislature in 1959, '50 voices of Statehood' representatives, 50th Anniversary of Statehood Commissioners, and the people of Hawai'i.

"Good afternoon and aloha.

"I am honored to be joined by former governors, legislators and other special guests to recognize this historic day on which President Dwight David Eisenhower signed the Hawai'i Admission Act.

"President Eisenhower was an ardent supporter of Hawai'i's statehood. He would later say, 'Years of effort have finally expanded the boundaries of our beloved land far out into the Pacific to encircle the islands of Hawai'i.

"With the stroke of a pen, President Eisenhower changed the landscape of our nation.

"As our nation's 50th state, Hawai'i is the youngest member of the Union.

"Our relatively young age is reflected today in the presence of Hawai'i's only six governors or their representatives since statehood. And what a privilege it was for me to stand with the governors and their families to have my picture taken.

"Mahalo Mrs. Quinn, members of the Burns family and former governors, for joining the people of Hawai'i in commemorating this special day.

"The memories of Hawai'i statehood remain vivid for all of Hawai'i's people. And the history remains fresh, fresher still after today, in all of our minds.

“This is underscored by the unique ‘50 Voices of Statehood’ audio and video anthology created by the 50th Anniversary of Statehood Commission. Each segment is filled with distinctive memories and personal perspectives on 1959 and Hawai‘i’s road to statehood.

“I want to thank each of the ‘50 Voices’ who are with us today, as well as those who will be part of the series in the months ahead.

“I want to take a moment to mention Mrs. Ah Quon McElrath who was one of the 50 Voices of Statehood and also a dedicated and vocal member of the Statehood Commission. Although no longer with us, she remains in our hearts and minds. Her leadership and commitment to Hawai‘i and its people will never be forgotten.

“It is also important to recognize the individuals who labored over the period of decades to make statehood possible. These include Joseph Farrington—a territorial senator and delegate to United States Congress; Samuel Wilder King—a territorial governor and delegate to United States Congress; Governor William Quinn and Governor John Burns.

“Statehood was achieved through the dedication and perseverance of these great leaders, along with the people of Hawai‘i—who in 1959 voted 17 to one in support of statehood.

“They voted for basic rights and privileges of American citizenship.

“They voted to have a voice in Washington.

“And, as Governor Ariyoshi said so well in his 50 voices of Statehood piece, they voted for ‘control over our own destiny.’

“In honoring the 50th anniversary of statehood, we are recognizing these leaders as well as the working men and women who were passionate in their conviction about what Hawai‘i’s future should look like.

“What all residents shared then, and what we all share today, is a deep love of Hawai‘i. And this was also true for those who opposed statehood.

“Hawai‘i is truly a place like no other!

“Hawai‘i was and is in many ways a simple place with complex issues, and in many ways is defined by our contradictions.

“We are isolated geographically, yet we serve as a vital bridge between the mainland United States and Asia-Pacific region.

“As a state we are young, yet we are also home to an ancient and proud host culture.

“We are the most diverse state in the Union, yet a place where racial and ethnic lines are often blurred or deemed irrelevant.

“Hawai‘i is a place of breathtaking natural beauty, but also a world-class center of innovation and scientific discovery.

“There are moments when living here is like living in the paradise we see depicted on travel posters and in the movies.

“But, the Pacific Ocean’s great expanse does not shield us from the challenges of everyday life.

“It also doesn’t drown out the differing opinions that exist in our community.

“And, I am grateful for that.

“Our differences are our strength and they create the vibrant tapestry of our culture.

“Statehood brought self-determination and federal dollars to our shores.

“It conferred benefits of the most powerful and prosperous nation on Earth.

“And, most importantly, it allowed our citizens to enjoy the rights enshrined in the United States Constitution.

“Because of this, we can speak our minds freely.

“We can have vigorous debate, which is the lifeblood of our democratic system and has served our nation well for more than 200 years.

“We may not always agree, but we all have a voice, and are free to express our views.

“Hawai‘i’s road to statehood began decades before 1959. It was a journey beset by many false starts and failed attempts, as it faced a very hesitant United States Congress.

“But the people of Hawai‘i remained determined, hopeful and focused on their task at hand.

“They refused to give up and ultimately they convinced Congress of the many ways in which Hawai‘i was a worthy and beneficial addition to the United States.

“It is well known that Hawai‘i’s strategic importance was key to victory in the Pacific during World War II.

“But the more resounding story coming out of the war was the bravery and the sacrifice exemplified by our Nisei soldiers in the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the 100th Battalion and 500th Military Intelligence Service.

“These soldiers showed that being loyal to the American cause was in no way defined by ethnicity. It was determined instead, by a belief in the principles of freedom and democracy.

“Hawai‘i provided a model of tolerance ahead of its time.

“The diversity of Hawai‘i’s people was touched on often in statehood testimonies before members of the United States Congress, including in 1935, when Territorial Senator Joseph Farrington said these words:

‘To anyone who has lived in Hawai‘i, and has grown up with the boys and girls of other races, it is difficult to understand the suspicions in which they are held by some people...You come to judge people according to their character and not their race after you have lived with them a long time.’

“Since becoming a state, Hawai‘i has contributed to the nation in more unexpected ways.

“The forms of human expression unique to our islands, such as surfing, hula, our food, words, phrases and our music, have traveled well beyond our shores and ignited the world’s imagination.

“Who could have imagined 50 years ago the degree to which Hawaiian culture would resonate with people of other states and countries.

“We have also put our stamp on science.

“Today, we are the site of ground-breaking discoveries in variety of fields, including marine research, genetics research and astronomy.

“More recently, we have embarked on an ambitious plan to achieve a clean energy future, creating a model for other states and nations.

“When the United States House sent the bill to President Eisenhower granting Hawai‘i statehood, (on March 12, 1959), the effect 5,000 miles away was immediate.

“As our local newspapers reported on that day—and so many of our residents still vividly remember—civil defense horns wailed, church bells pealed, ships’ whistles tooted, and motorists leaned on their horns.

“That evening, there was dancing across the islands that would become America’s newest state and fireworks illuminated the sky over the Pacific.

“If people were joyful, it was because they had worked so hard to achieve this historic milestone. They had looked forward to seeing this day for decades.

“It was a day that marked new opportunities—socially, economically and politically.

“A headline in one of our local newspapers proclaimed that day, above pictures of diverse Hawai‘i residents, “First Class Citizens Now.” This headline reaffirmed that on that special day, that while we were a place like no other... and a people like no other... we were all now citizens.

“Now, on the 50th anniversary of statehood, Hawai‘i, the nation and the world face new challenges.

“Each new day brings more challenging economic news, but also a wealth of new opportunities for the future.

“In overcoming what is perhaps the biggest challenge Hawai‘i has faced since 1959, many of the same qualities shown in the struggle for statehood are needed today.

“We must encourage the participation and collaboration of the entire community.

“Our efforts must be characterized by determination and hard work.

“We must embrace flexibility, and have the wisdom to adopt a new plan or strategy when the previous plan falls short.

“Perhaps most importantly, we must have faith in the strength, resilience and pioneering spirit of Hawai‘i’s businesses, residents and leaders.

“As Hawai‘i’s current governor, I will tell you that leading this state has and continues to be the greatest privilege and most humbling experience of my life.

“I know the former governors here today feel the same; that it is an honor to lead Hawai‘i, which is a place like no other and home to people who are unique in all the world.

“Our collective history and experience in this House Chambers today offers an incredible reflection of who the people of Hawai‘i are, and what they are capable of achieving.

“Columnist Thomas Friedman, in the New York Times last month, pointed out that despite our nation’s troubles, the world still looks to America to lead the way out of our current crisis.

“In the Pacific region, it is up to us to provide that leadership and serve as an example to our neighbors.

“We did that when we achieved statehood, standing as a model of democracy to Asian and Pacific nations.

“We will do it again as a model of economic recovery and long-term prosperity.

“And, Hawai‘i will always be the model of a community whose diversity is its greatest strength, where people of different ethnic and cultural backgrounds work together and live side-by-side.

“All of us, one ‘ohana, we will ensure the next 50 years will be as rich and diverse as the first 50.

“I feel blessed, and I am proud to be a resident of the State of Hawai‘i and a citizen of the United States America.

“And, I am optimistic and I’m excited about what we can accomplish as we pull together in the months and years ahead.

“Thank you for the privilege you’ve given me. Mahalo.”

At this time, the members of the Legislature and their guests were entertained by Ms. Arshiel Calatrava, a Kalakaua Middle School student, who dedicated her performance to the late Don Ho.

The President then addressed the Chamber, saying:

“Mahalo, Arshiel.

“Our development of the Hawai‘i that we know today has been a process, and one that has not been without controversy. It is fitting, then, that we stop and reflect on those moments that marked the opportunity for great change, and not only celebrate our progress, but also ask ourselves if we have done the most that we can with what we have been provided.

“The first vital steps toward statehood not only provided Hawai‘i’s people with the full rights and benefits of citizens of the nation, but also promised a chance of drafting our own constitution, and to fully determine the direction our state would move in. Hawai‘i today is the Hawai‘i of our own making, just as the Hawai‘i of tomorrow will grow from the choices we make today.

To everyone here today, those who have contributed to our past as well as those helping guide our future, I would like to add my personal thanks for allowing us to reach the heights we have achieved, and to overcome the challenges we have faced together.

“What is great about Hawai‘i today, and what will be best about our Hawai‘i tomorrow, grows from our shared commitment not only to our people, to our environment, and let us not forget our precious host culture. Mahalo to you all for being here and sharing this commemoration. Mahalo to those who have spent endless hours and put so much effort into planning the commemoration.”

There being no further business, at 1:26 p.m., President Hanabusa declared the Joint Session adjourned.
