Senator Taniguchi introduced representatives of the Council of State Governments West who were seated in the gallery: Edgar Ruiz, executive director; and Jacqueline Tinetti, policy committees and programs coordinator.

Senator Kidani recognized and honored outstanding and distinguished principals, vice principals, and assistant principals, and presented the following remarks:

"The Hawaii Elementary and Middle School Administrators Association honors school leaders for education excellence. These educators are those tasked with the immense responsibility of cultivating safe, collaborative, and enthusiastic environments where students and staff can thrive. Their efforts are responsible for supporting teachers as they inspire young minds and impress upon them not only the knowledge necessary to become successful but important values and life skills as well. These principals are inspiring leaders in education and invaluable resources providing the foundation for staff and students to achieve success. Introducing the 2018 Hawaii National Distinguished Principal of the year is the senator from District 11."

Senator Taniguchi rose to present the following remarks:

"At this time, we'd like to congratulate the 2018 National Distinguished Principal of the year, Linell Dilwith. Unfortunately, she is unable to join us here today, but I wanted to personally thank her for navigating the construction of the Stevenson science learning center a few years ago. This has made a big difference at the school. Could we offer our heartfelt congratulations to her for her tremendous leadership and contributions to Robert Louis Stevenson Middle School and to education as a whole by giving her a round of applause?"

Senator Kidani rose to present the following remarks:

"Up next, we have Mrs. Corinne Yogi joining us on the floor with her granddaughter Kamryn. Corinne is our 2018 Central District Hawaii National Distinguished Principal of the year. Principal Yogi has been an educator at Kipapa Elementary for over 24 years, with 8 years serving as principal. She has demonstrated her dedication to Hawai'i's youth by establishing a culture of 'ohana within Kipapa Elementary School, where students, families, and communities are welcomed and provided a foundation for children to thrive. In 2018, she received the Masayuki Tokioka Excellence in School Leadership Award, and has seen tremendous success developing and establishing a new science, technology, engineering, and math studies program as well as after-school enrichment opportunities to improve student achievement and encourage better study habits. We commend Principal Yogi for extraordinary contributions to the education industry and for the profound impact her work has had upon the students of Kipapa Elementary. Thank you very much, Principal Yogi (and Kamryn)! I now yield the floor to the senator from 'Ewa Beach."

Senator Fevella rose to present the following remarks:

"Today, I'm recognizing Debra Hatada as the honoree of the 2018 National Distinguished Principal of the Year. Debra is the principal of Ka'imiloa Elementary School in 'Ewa Beach. Debra is an outstanding principal with great vision and a lot of heart. She believes in learning through the eyes of her students and wants the children to be their own teachers. Debra always puts the needs of her students and staff first. I want to congratulate Debra Hatada. At this time, I would like to ask Deb to stand and be recognized for her great accomplishments. Thank you, Deb. At this time, I would like to turn this floor back over to the senator from Kāne'ohe."

Senator Keohokalole rose to present the following remarks:

"Colleagues, the National Distinguished Principals Program recognizes elementary- and middle-level principals who set high standards for instruction, student achievement, character, and climate for students, families, and the staff in their learning communities. Today, I am privileged to introduce Kāne'ohe Elementary School principal Derek Minakami. Derek is one of six principals across Hawai'i to receive the National Distinguished Principal award for 2018. Among other things, in 1999, Derek became the first public school National Board Certified teacher in science, with an emphasis on adolescence and young adulthood. In 2001, he was named Hawaii Teacher of the Year at Kailua High School, where he taught physics, conceptual physics, advanced physics, Iron Man physics (I just made that one up. I don't know; these are extremely complicated classes—I'm really impressed.), and youth leadership. And, on a personal note, we had a discussion this weekend, Principal Minakami and I, about some of the innovative approaches that he's taken regarding place-based learning and outdoor learning for our students in our schools. You folks all know: Schools really require strong leadership.

He's taken chances and provided the opportunity for his faculty and staff to innovate. I'm so grateful and proud to have him as a principal in our district, so can we please have a round of applause again for Kāne'ohe Elementary School principal Derek Minakami? Mr. President, at this time, I would like to turn the floor over to our senator from District 3-Kona."

Senator Kanuha rose to present the following remarks:

"As you know, administrators play a key role in fostering an environment conducive to everyone's success.

"From the big things like preparing us to succeed in school, encouraging us to follow our passions and talents, to the little things like making sure we have a way to get home. Most importantly, they shape the institutions that mold us into contributing members of society. They are dynamic, diligent, and influential while at the same time nurturing and compassionate. They carry an important responsibility of blending together ideas from different cultural backgrounds and national standards to create an encouraging, welcoming learning environment.

"Most of us can probably recall a school administrator who positively impacted our learning and our lives. Therefore, it's with great pleasure that I have the honor to present this certificate to a remarkable administrator from the Big Island: Noreen Kunitomo.

"Noreen was awarded the 2018 Hawaii National Distinguished Principal of the year for Hawai'i island on behalf of her service at Honaunau Elementary School in South Kona.

"The Hawai'i State Senate extends a warm mahalo to Noreen for her commitment in encouraging our youth to learn and excel both inside the classroom and beyond it, so, again, colleagues, can you please extend a warm welcome and congratulations to Noreen.

"Now, I would like to turn the floor over to the senator from Hāna."

Senator English rose to present the following remarks:

"Colleagues, today I have the great honor of introducing our next honoree. She's not here today, but her name is Robyn Honda. Last April, Robyn was honored as the 2018 Maui District principal of the year. Robyn served as the principal of Makawao Elementary School from 2010 to 2018 and retired at the end of the school year last May. I know her presence and leadership is missed at Makawao Elementary School, and she is greatly beloved there. Although she is not here today, colleagues, please join me in honoring an outstanding educator and community leader from Upcountry Maui, former principal Robyn Honda. Mr. President, I now yield the floor to the senator from Mililani."

Senator Kidani rose to present the following remarks:

"Joining us on the floor, last but not least, is Ms. Sherry Gonsalves as well as her husband, Dana. Ms. Gonsalves is a principal at Kilauea Elementary School on Kaua'i. Originally from Tennessee, Principal Gonsalves has made Kaua'i her home for the last 15 years, making great contributions to her community through her work as an educator. She received her bachelor of science degree in special education from Bethel College in McKenzie, Tennessee, and her master of education in educational leadership from Trevecca Nazarene University in Nashville. Principal Gonsalves taught special needs students for nine years, sharing with them her passion and enthusiasm for learning. As an administrator on Kaua'i for over a decade, Principal Gonsalves has supported students and teachers, striving to create a nurturing environment in which students can reach their full potential. As principal of Kilauea Elementary School, Principal Gonsalves has prioritized student development interpersonally and academically. She has also encouraged engagement between the school and parents, working to create as much support as possible for students at school, home, and within the community. Her diligent leadership has established Kilauea Elementary School as a strong foundation from which her students can learn and grow as they matriculate to middle school. On your behalf, Mr. President, and colleagues, please join me in welcoming Principal Sherry Gonsalves to the Hawai'i State Senate. Thank you so much.

"Up next, we would like to recognize the 2019 State Assistant Principal of the Year. Will the senator from Waipahu please introduce our next awardee?"

Senator Nishihara rose to present the following remarks:

"Although Meryl Matsumura is unable to be here today, I want to recognize and congratulate her for being selected from a pool of applicants from each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Office of Overseas Schools, and the U.S. Department of Defense Education Activity. The Assistant Principal of the Year recognizes outstanding middle- and high-school assistant principals who have succeeded in providing high-quality learning opportunities for students as well as demonstrating exemplary contributions to the profession. Meryl Matsumura's fine leadership and professional skills allowed her to serve the state in several capacities that developed Waipahu as a community with a civil vitality and capacity to help build a thriving, diverse, and sustainable economy within a safe and nurturing social environment. Meryl Matsumura has dedicated her leadership, patience, and efforts to public and private service in the state, performing admirably and effectively to her role as a leader and assistant principal who helped children feel safe and guided them to the best education possible. She's also active and supports numerous organizations to improve the quality of life for Waipahu students, residents, businesses, employees, and visitors. So I'd like to congratulate Meryl Matsumura, the 2019 State Assistant Principal of the Year, and hope we can just applaud her as well. And now I'd like to turn the floor over to the senator from District 21, Senator Shimabukuro."

Senator Shimabukuro rose to present the following remarks:

"Unfortunately, it looks like Vice Principal Cecile LaMar cannot be here today, but I wanted to just acknowledge that she's a prime example of an educator pursuing her path with passion and commitment. Ms. LaMar hails from northern California but traveled to the University of Hawai'i to obtain a BA in sociology. She then undertook intensive graduate work in public administration while achieving her master's in special education. Ms. LaMar put her special ed training to the test at Highlands Intermediate from 2002 to 2009, and she then undertook the vice principal training at Waikele Elementary, and, soon after, in 2010, she became the VP for the last nine years at Makaha Elementary, helping to lead a team of over 100 staff and faculty to nurture a population of 525 students. It's through her challenges and successes for almost 10 years that we now recognize and congratulate her as the 2018 Hawaii Outstanding Vice Principal of the year. She remains a tremendous asset for Makaha Elementary and for the entire state in building a promising road to a brighter educational path for many of our keiki, so let's give a round of applause to VP Cecile LaMar."
