THE TWENTIETH LEGISLATURE
 STATE OF HAWAII
 REGULAR SESSION OF 1999
 JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

FIRST DAY

Wednesday, January 20, 1999

In accordance with the provisions of Section 10 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, the Senate of the Twentieth Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 1999, was called to order at 10:01 o'clock a.m., by the Honorable Lorraine R. Inouye, Temporary Chair of the Senate.

At this time, the members of the Senate and guests rose to sing the National Anthem and "Hawaii Pono'i" led by Ms. Nalani Choy, Ms. Lehua Kalima and Ms. Angela Morales of "Na Leo Pilimehana."

The Divine Blessing was then invoked by the Reverend Alan Urasaki of the Aiea Hongwanji Mission, who was escorted to the rostrum by Senators Buen, D. Ige and Sakamoto.

Nominations now being in order for a temporary clerk, Senator Levin nominated Paul T. Kawaguchi, seconded by Senator Tam.

Senator Kanno moved that the nominations be closed, seconded by Senator Tanaka and carried.

The Chair declared Paul T. Kawaguchi as Temporary Clerk of the Senate.

Senator Taniguchi then moved that a committee of three Senators be appointed by the Chair as a Committee on Credentials to examine the certificates of election of the newly elected members of the Senate and to submit a report of its findings to the Senate, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

The Chair thereupon appointed Senators Matsunaga, Levin and Anderson to serve on such committee.

At 10:09 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 10:12 o'clock a.m.

Senator Taniguchi moved that Special Committee Report No. 1 be adopted, seconded by Senator Kanno and carried.

The Committee on Credentials was thereupon discharged with thanks.

The Chair, at this time, appointed Senators Fukunaga, Ihara and Slom to escort Chief Justice Ronald T.Y. Moon of the Hawaii State Supreme Court to the rostrum to administer the oath of office to the newly elected members of the Senate.

The Senators escorted Chief Justice Moon to the rostrum and were thereupon discharged with thanks.

Chief Justice Moon administered the oath of office to the newly elected members of the Senate who were standing at their respective desks.

The Roll was then called by the Temporary Clerk showing all Senators present.

Nominations for officers of the Senate being next in order, Senator Ihara placed in nomination the name of Senator Norman Mizuguchi for President of the Senate, seconded by Senator Kawamoto.

Senator Hanabusa moved that the nominations be closed, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

The motion to close the nominations was then put by the Chair and carried unanimously and the Temporary Clerk was directed to cast a unanimous ballot for Senator Norman Mizuguchi as President of the Senate.

The ballot having been so cast, Senator Norman Mizuguchi was declared unanimously elected President of the Senate of the Twentieth Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 1999.

The Chair then appointed Senators Chun Oakland, Kawamoto, Nakata, Tam and Anderson to escort the President to the rostrum and the President addressed the members of the Senate and guests as follows:

"Governor Cayetano, Mrs. Cayetano, Lt. Governor Hirono, Mr. Leighton Oshima, Chief Justice Ronald Moon, Mayor Apana, Mayor Harris, Mayor Kusaka, Mayor Yamashiro, honored guests from here and abroad, members of the Senate, People of Hawaii:

"Welcome to the people's house and welcome to this convening of the Senate of the 1999 Session of the Twentieth State Legislature.

"I want to thank the members of the Senate for the honor you have bestowed upon me as your President. I will do my best to uphold your trust, and your vote of confidence.

"The convergence of the twilight of the twentieth century and the dawn of a new age give us a special place in the timeline of history. We have the unique honor to serve at this juncture of two centuries and two millennia. During this historical time, we have the opportunity and inspiration to increase our efforts: to do things better and to make things right.

"A model example of one who exemplifies opportunity and inspiration is Professor Ryuzo Yanagimachi. For 30 years, he has quietly conducted research in a cramped laboratory on the UH-Manoa campus. His style is to conduct 'collaborative research' -- to work with others as partners and guide them to make things better. Professor Yanagimachi and his researchers brought international acclaim to the University of Hawaii and the State of Hawaii with successful mouse scale experiments. He, like many others in Hawaii, worked quietly without complaining to bring about change in Hawaii. We all should embody Professor Yanagimachi's spirit that nothing is impossible to accomplish.

"Professor Yanagimachi, please stand to be recognized. (Professor Yanagimachi then rose to be recognized.)

"As we begin, we must listen to the people, they have a strong message for us. They want us to solve the problems that concern them the most. They want us to promote jobs and economic recovery, save small business, strengthen health care, improve public education, and make government serve the people.

"These are all matters of major importance, deserving our full attention. These are also matters which can be resolved only if we reason together as never before. This requires good faith by all parties involved in the legislative process. We need collaboration, cooperation, and the best efforts from everyone. And when there are conflicts, as there surely will be, we need civility and conciliation to be the rule, not discord and disunity.

"In this session, our most serious challenge is the economy.

"One proposal that emerged from the Senate's recent workshops to seek ways to stimulate the economy and create new jobs deserve our full support. Hawaii has a timely opportunity to establish a call-center industry, where we can serve as the 'electronic front-door' and the base for U.S. companies doing business in the vast Pacific-Asian markets or planning to enter these markets. The Internet will drive Hawaii's new economy and call centers would provide product and service information on behalf of U.S. companies.

"Hawaii has several advantages. To staff the call centers, Hawaii has a large number of adults who speak English as well as an Asian language, and we have the education resources to train more people in Asian languages. In addition, our time zone makes it convenient to communicate with Asia and the United States Mainland. Furthermore, Hawaii has an existing fiber optic cable system that connects Hawaii to the U.S. Mainland and the Pacific.

"If we make a breakthrough in the establishment of call centers, I believe it will open the way to other high technology opportunities. Call centers should be placed on a fast track. In moving ahead, we should also consider what kinds of incentives might be needed to induce companies to use Hawaii's facilities and workforce as their linkage to the Asian markets.

"Another resolve which emerged from the Senate's economic workshops is that we must persevere in seeing that local workers are hired for U.S. Department of Defense contracts performed in Hawaii. Our unemployment rate exceeds the national average, and therefore, under federal law, Department of Defense contractors with projects in Hawaii should be hiring local residents. However, Hawaii workers are not getting their fair share of jobs.

"The conclusion that we reached in our workshops is that we must clearly define Hawaii residents in our labor laws. This and other legislative proposals that will be introduced for your consideration would be the most promising approach to have federal contractors comply with federal law and open up more jobs for our local workers.

"In addition to trying to keep monies here at home through our work on the Department of Defense contracts, we have the opportunity to do the same with monies spent out-of-state for reinsurance. Therefore, we will aggressively work to attract the reinsurance industry to Hawaii for its jobs and its capital formation and retention.

"We can try to attract new businesses to locate here, and we can try to ensure that our workers get their fair share of defense jobs, but how can we help the existing small businesses that struggle to survive year after year? Small businesses are the bulwark of our economy, and they provide the most jobs.

"In a recent interview, former Governor Ariyoshi raised an important issue. Government might consider giving a tax break to a new business coming in, but he asked: 'What about the businesses that have been here struggling all the time?' He observed: 'If we can somehow take the businesses that are here and make them feel that they are, in fact, cared for, I think that would go a long ways toward bringing our economy back.'

"I agree. Those are my sentiments exactly.

"I propose to the Senate that we lessen the tax burden specifically on small businesses. The most direct and efficient way to accomplish this relief is through a program of tax incentives. We will consider how best to structure these tax incentives and how long they should continue, but we intend that they be substantial, in the magnitude of about $50 million. This proposal of tax incentives for existing small businesses does not preclude other approaches. We welcome all proposals to strengthen the small business sector of our economy. Let this be the session that we rally and respond to help small business.

"I now turn to what has been my foremost social concern for many of my years in the Legislature. That concern is long-term care.

"By now, the facts of this growing problem and looming tragedy are clear. Only the solutions are debatable. The escalating need for long-term care comes from the increase of an aging population with the mixed blessing of greater longevity versus longer illnesses. Many of us have experienced or know the harsh consequences when a person needs long term care.

"It is immensely expensive with the national average for institutional care now costing well over $40,000 a year and continuing to spiral. Government's response, shared by the federal government and the states, has been Medicaid. It pays for the vast majority of long-term care patients, but it is a huge drain on federal and state budgets, including our own.

"It was once thought that the answer was in the Family Hope program, which would provide comprehensive long-term care for all who need it. But it is doubtful that Family Hope or any similar, comprehensive program can be enacted today or in the near future.

"Rather than be mired at dead center and do nothing, I propose that we move ahead and do the best that we can.

"One alternative to Medicaid is long-term care insurance. Increasingly, there is a wider range of long-term care insurance policies being offered in a more competitive market. It is now feasible for more individuals to consider buying long-term care insurance to provide for themselves and to protect their family assets. But insurance is expensive, especially for older persons who buy policies for the first time. High cost has been the greatest barrier to long-term care insurance.

"Let us lower that barrier by making the purchase of private insurance more affordable. We can do that by offering tax credits to offset the cost of 50 percent of the annual premiums up to a specified limit. Thus a policy that might ordinarily cost $2,000 a year would then actually cost $1,000.

"We must keep faith with our senior citizens on this issue.

"On the opposite side of the spectrum, we need to create new opportunities for early childhood development and education. The evidence is convincing that the early childhood years are the most critical in determining how well a child will do in later years. The track record of programs like the Good Beginnings Alliance, Healthy Start and 0 to 3 exemplify the positive effects of early nurturing and learning.

"I propose two pilot projects to advance early childhood development and education. One project would be an early childhood development and education center on the Waianae Coast for native Hawaiian infants and young children up to age 4. This would be an excellent opportunity to expand the commitment of Princess Pauahi Bishop's wise and noble legacy, and that is why I will initiate discussion of this concept with Kamehameha Schools/Bishop Estate and other native Hawaiian organizations. I also see where valuable staff assistance can be contributed by students of the John A. Burns School of Medicine as part of their medical training.

"The second project would be carried out by the Department of Education at Linapuni School in Kalihi. Linapuni is currently an abbreviated elementary school from kindergarten to the second grade. The children there could be served just as well by Kalihi-waena and Fern elementary schools. Linapuni would then be converted to an early childhood development and education center for infants and children up to four years of age.

"With these two pilot projects, we would have a solid basis to determine the future course, content and range of early childhood education for the entire State.

"By far, the largest issue at hand in the area of education is compliance with the Felix consent decree. While the State is legally obligated to comply, we as Senators have a fiduciary responsibility to ensure that cost control measures are in place and that, ultimately, the money is being used for direct services to the children. This session I am requesting the co-chairs of the Ways and Means Committee and other appropriate committee chairs to review approaches that will improve accountability of the funds appropriated to the Felix issue.

"As I acknowledge the problems of the here and now, I also propose that we put in place a concept that I have supported since I chaired the House Education Committee 22 years ago -- the concept of school-by-school budget.

"School-by-school budgeting would formalize what teachers and principals already do in spending their supply and equipment monies and put the rest of their operating funds within their control and allow schools to truly operate as education centers, responsible for their resources as well as their outcome.

"School-by-school budgeting is the first step in reshaping the accountability of the educational institution, from teacher certification, to the responsibilities of school administration, to the accountability of the entire school.

"We as legislators are held accountable for funding the DOE, and school-by-school budgeting is the tool by which we can make informed decisions as to the appropriate level of funding and issues regarding school empowerment.

"With respect to the other important components of public education -- the University of Hawaii system -- we made the right decision in giving it as much autonomy as we possibly could while still preserving the university as a public institution. Yet, I believe we can still strengthen its governance, expand its visions, and elevate its national and international standing.

"We can do this by infusing the Board of Regents with additional vitality. I propose that we enlarge the Board of Regents by three additional members, with all three seats to be reserved for nonresidents of Hawaii. These nonresident regents are to be persons with renowned national and international reputations. The experience, knowledge and reputation that these new regents can bring will help advance the University of Hawaii onto the global stage of the twenty-first century.

"Finally, I would like to make a basic observation and proposal about government. I believe that all citizens should have the right to uninterrupted government services. The federal government shutdown a few years ago caused a nationwide outrage. In Hawaii, we have had our own share of government service disruptions.

"Over the years, we have come to realize that strikes by government workers are harmful to all parties. Beginning with the firefighters, a number of collective bargaining units have given up the right to strike in favor of binding arbitration.

"I propose that we now take the final steps to ensure the continuation of all government services. This would involve prohibiting strikes by public school teachers and the faculty of the University of Hawaii, and nonsupervisory blue-collar workers. For these units, it would mean using binding arbitration as the final means of settlement when agreements cannot be reached in collective bargaining negotiations.

"This fundamental change -- no strikes ever by all state and county workers -- would be in the best interests of government employees. Just as importantly, it would be in the best interests of the taxpayers public.

"Many other proposals will be on the Senate's agenda. I have mentioned only a few of them. Earlier during the pre-session, I said that the Senate will not be bogged down by issues which are divisive and sidetrack us from the important matters at hand. This does not mean that we should duck controversial issues, including the social policy recommendations of the Governor. There should always be room for discussion of even the most controversial issues. This is what a legislative forum is all about. But it does mean that we should not be forced to act on an issue where there is little chance that a consensus can be obtained. In short, if we cannot find common ground and reach timely agreement, we must move on.

"Sixty days separate us from today and a good ending to the session. We must use each day wisely and to the fullest. Working together, we can make this a very productive session, worthy of the people who sent us here to do their business.

"Mahalo and Aloha."

Senator Anderson, Minority Leader of the Senate, then responded as follows:

"Mr. President, Governor and Mrs. Cayetano, distinguished guests, colleagues, people of Hawaii, family and friends -- Aloha.

"This is the last legislature of the twentieth century. One hundred years ago, Hawaii was in a state of transition. It began as a monarchy, then we went on to become an independent republic, was annexed as a territory of the United States and finally became the 50th State of the United States. And as history tells us, the first legislature of this century faced, as we do today, the need to adjust -- to adjust to a changing world. I only pray that we will all succeed as well as they did.

"To make this happen and to turn things around will take strong leadership in order to help us prosper and grow -- leadership based on principles, not friendships. I applaud the Senate President for his statements ensuring the public that this legislative body will focus first on the economy so that we can then take care of all of our other issues.

"Last year I spoke of hope -- hope for true leadership, hope for true reform and, yes, hope for the people of Hawaii. I believed that we had reached a turning point in these hard years of economic drought. I thought that together we would find workable solutions. Unfortunately, I was wrong. We must all face the bleak fact that we are continuing to experience an economic drought. We are in even more trouble today than ever before. Sure, some of us are better off than we were last year, but those people are few and far between.

"Ladies and gentlemen, in this new millennium, I see a Hawaii that is an enviable place to live, work and raise our families. I see a sound, healthy economy where small businesses can thrive. I see our State less dependent on tourist dollars and relying more on diversified agriculture. I see our children learning in top-notch schools that are well maintained with books for all and teachers who are paid what they deserve. And yes, I do see hope for the citizens of our great State.

"My fellow colleagues, the people of Hawaii are counting on us, their elected officials, to make these positive changes and to provide them that hope and positive imagination for their future. Unfortunately, we have failed in the past to provide this leadership and to institute true reform. We cannot, and we must not fail again. I said it once and I'll say it again, we have to make tough decisions this legislative session -- decisions that are based on what is right, not what looks good on election day. We must plan, we must budget, and above all, we must think and act sensibly.

"We must put our fiscal house in order and comply with the statutes by filling the Office of the Legislative Analyst and funding it. This is the only way our legislative branch will really be able to implement performance-based management of the state budget. The departments will have to justify the budget they present us. The unfilled position was authorized by Act 347 in 1990 and it was never funded. We did come close last year, but the bill died in Ways and Means. We need to immediately begin the search for a qualified person to serve as the State's Legislative Analyst. This person should have the same type of excellent qualifications as the State Auditor, Marion Higa, and I'm sure that person would perform a similarly outstanding job.

"It seems that the administration and some legislators look for ways to spend money if the economic forecast looks good. For instance, why are we pouring more money into the airport when the tourism industry is reported to be declining? Why are we spending millions of dollars targeting the Asian tourism market whose economy is down, while we are spending far less on the Mainland markets whose economy is up. The reports that we get, we get an immediate response on those dollars spent there. I believe that we should be spending our money more efficiently.

"Bankruptcies -- personal and business -- are at an all time high. Just about every time we pick up a newspaper, we read of another small business that has failed. Successful small businesses stimulate our economy . . . we must support them. We should consider giving new types of businesses tax breaks for the first year in business for new businesses. And yes, as the President said, we should give the same tax breaks if we have similar based businesses here in Hawaii.

"Much of the high cost of doing business in Hawaii is due to high lease rent. Surplus state lands and unused agriculture lands should be made available to small businesses at reasonable rates. Long-term, low-cost leasing would enable small businesses to get much needed bank loans.

"Take for instance offering a 55-year lease on state land, no rent for the first five years (I'm sure that the banks could accept this). The counties would get property tax. The construction industry would be stimulated, then there would be jobs. Rent would then be paid to the State after the five years is up. Or how about a seven-year phase in -- zero the first year, a percentage the second year and so on until after seven years they pay the full amount.

"And speaking of lands, we must make good use of our thousands of acres of state lands. It has been 20 years since the Constitutional Convention mandated LESA. We must immediately move to identify and protect our valuable agricultural lands and designate marginal, conservation and other lands. Rather than going through a costly condemnation process to take someone's land, we have to utilize those state lands that are just lying idly. Lands taken out of agriculture shouldn't be just turned into tracts for big buildings or houses. We must actively encourage diversified agriculture and forestry, ecotourism and also cultural parks. Large cultural parks would provide open, green space and also multiple opportunities for entrepreneurs and small businesses. We can work with our ethnic chambers of commerce to accomplish this.

"Rather than just continue to give lip service, we must provide diversified agriculture farmers the help we have promised for well over twenty years. We should look at the leases on state lands that have been bid out and make sure that those lease holders who have complied with all of the provisions set forth in their lease should have the automatic option to re-lease these lands without again going through a costly and time consuming bidding process. This can and should be done for all state leases -- agricultural, commercial, residential, etc.

At a time when so many small businesses are forced to downsize, our state government is bloated, primarily because it covers functions it should not cover and does not adequately staff in the areas we are responsible for. We should take a close look at our hiring practices. We should look not so much at cutting the number of employees, but rather making sure that they are filling necessary positions in the various departments. Our departments run the spectrum from grossly over-staffed to pitifully understaffed. Take for instance, the CSEA (Child Support Enforcement Agency). It has the highest caseload per worker in the nation.

"Government should be more efficient and accountable, ladies and gentlemen. We must have rules and regulations but they should not have the force of law. That only stifles local growth and discourages new businesses from establishing in Hawaii. We must also encourage the privatization of those functions of government that can be performed more efficiently and effectively at less cost by the private sector.

"We can and should streamline our very own legislature. We could do this with a unicameral legislature -- one house consisting of fifty-one members will be both cost-effective and time-efficient. A unicameral legislature has worked for years in Nebraska and it can work here too. Departmental administrators and others will save time testifying in one committee in a single house, rather than wasting countless hours standing at the railing waiting to give the same testimony they gave a few weeks before in the opposite house. Government will be more open because decisions will no longer be made in the secrecy of conference committees. And of course, there will be far less duplication of bills. And if you don't really think that a fifty-one member unicameral legislature will save dollars, just envision for a moment, ladies and gentlemen, the entire second floor of this building completely EMPTY -- no Senators, no staff, no phones, no faxes, no people running around -- completely EMPTY. That's a whole lot of dollars saved!

"Ladies and gentlemen, we should concentrate not only on just dollars and cents, but more so on good common sense.

"And while we are on the subject of the legislature, during the last legislative session a multi-million dollar deal was perpetrated on the people of Hawaii -- a sweetheart deal to provide corporate welfare to a former island-based company. I'm speaking about the Waiahole Ditch. In order to make it legal, our legislature exempted chapter after chapter of Hawaii laws, laws that the legislature itself had enacted over the years. In one fell swoop, we brushed aside statutory laws that everyone else must abide by to give preference to one corporation. This should not -- must not -- ever be allowed to ever happen again. Hawaii Revised Statutes must apply to everyone and to every special interest equally. Never again should the legislative and executive branches of our government be allowed to erase whole chapters of the laws to benefit any entity at the expense of our citizens. Prohibiting exemptions to any chapter or section of the law without a two-thirds vote of both houses would make it very difficult to favor any one entity or special interest by exempting them from the law. At the same time, a two-thirds vote in both houses would allow for emergency legislation in extraordinary circumstances such as natural disasters, wars, floods, water shortages and so forth.

"What about education? Our children are being educated in failing schools. You've all read the front page headlines decrying the poor performance. We rank among the lowest in the nation in the areas of academic standards, assessments and school accountability. We need to hold our paid leaders in education accountable for test scores, poor performances and low expectations. Our education system is substandard at best and it is our children -- tomorrow's leaders -- that will suffer because of it. Without well-educated citizens, ladies and gentlemen, it is impossible to understand and react to the new realities of this world. We cannot compete educationally in the twenty-first century using a nineteenth century school system. We must strive for improvement and we mustn't be afraid to experiment -- to try something new. Our schools are in gross disrepair and we don't even have an adequate number of textbooks for our children. Many of the textbooks we do have in our schools are outdated and need to be replaced. We should make use of vouchers to give parents more choice in how and where they want their children to be educated. We should consider revamping the charter schools that are currently in operation that are too closely tied to the Department of Education. We should allow them greater independence so that they can perform the functions characteristic of true charter schools.

"Hopefully, we can all agree on decentralizing the Board of Education so that each district elects its own members. Board of Education members should not be appointed by the Governor, but I do strongly believe in an appointed superintendent. This would, of course, require a constitutional amendment. This superintendent should not be given a five year contract, but as long as he or she is doing the job that they are appointed for, it would be for the same length of time that the Governor is in office. This would prevent a new administration from being forced to honor the contract of a previous governor's cabinet member. As a member of the governor's cabinet, the school superintendent should not be accountable to the Board of Education, but to the Governor and to the people of Hawaii. And finally, we must encourage teachers -- good teachers -- to teach our children in our public schools by awarding them merit pay.

"Hindsight is twenty-twenty, as we all know. But ladies and gentlemen, I believe we should have paid more attention to the civil service reform ideas generated by James Takushi. These ideas would have added more flexibility to managing government employees. Not surprisingly, these suggestions were killed, possibly by the unions. I have said that teachers and others should be paid on merit, and to do so, we have to reform our collective bargaining laws. For too long we have allowed almost all government employees to be paid on an even scale. By this I mean that everyone gets the same percentage of pay regardless of his or her ability to work hard or just lean on a broom. There should be a mechanism in place to reward good workers and superior unionized employees. Unions are needed and necessary, but when it comes to bargaining for across the board, it should be for medical benefits, retirement benefits, etc. We should also seriously think about upper-level blue and white collar supervisors, as well as school principals, being unionized. After all, they are management.

"Hawaii is one of only two states which does not support some form of legalized gambling which could generate significant income for our State. I know you have all heard the stories that if you frequent Las Vegas on any given weekend, you feel like you're in Hawaii. Every dollar spent in Las Vegas by a local resident is a dollar lost for Hawaii's economy. Year after year, we debate the pros and cons of lotteries, off-shore casinos, horse racing and even bingo. Yet, we pass nothing. I have proposed in the past and will do so again, a non-binding referendum to give the people of this State the opportunity to voice their opinion for or against gambling once and for all. Then our legislators can follow the wishes of their constituents, not just the special interest groups who flock to the legislature every year to protest any type of legalized gambling or to try to have us pass it. An Attorney General opinion that was passed in 1936 (AG 63-11) established that non-binding referendums are legal and indeed we should consider this because we don't need a constitutional change. Again, I say let our people speak out on this particular issue!

"The past few years in our State have been hard and I will be the first to admit that it is not going to be easy to turn things around. We have to listen to all sides. Republicans have had innovative ideas for years, but most of our legislation, ladies and gentlemen, never receives a public hearing. And let me tell you -- You don't have to be a Democrat member to have a good idea. I agree with the President, it's time to end partisan bickering, put aside political differences and pull together for the good of the people of Hawaii. Does this mean unicameral, merit pay, taxes off food and drugs, changing our rules and regs, utilization of state lands, vouchers for education? You tell us. Because the only promise that Senator Slom and I have ever made is that we will work as hard as we possibly can for the people of Hawaii. We make no other promises.

"Mahalo and Thank you."

REFERRAL OF SENATE RESOLUTION

The President made the following committee assignment of a resolution that was offered on Thursday, January 21, 1999:

Senate Resolution Referred to:

No. 3 Committee on Transportation and Intergovernmental Affairs, then to the Committee on Ways and Means

Senator Slom rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Just a comment on the item that was in the paper yesterday regarding the Waiahole Ditch, which the Minority Leader did speak about on opening day, but just to reinforce this, particularly, for some of our new colleagues here.

"Last year I raised several questions about the purchase of that ditch. I asked for budgetary information which was not available at the time we were asked for money. I asked about the operations and the maintenance and the repair of the ditch, which was not discussed at the time that we were asked to fund $10 million. And everybody talked about how easy it was going to be. The deal was supposed to be consummated in July of last year, and now we're at the end of January of this year. The deal has still not been consummated because there is a difficulty and a dispute involving the land owner, Castle & Cooke, and Amfac/JMB. It involves lease; it involves easements; it involves water usage.

"I mention these points because we're going to be faced with a lot of legislation again this year. We're going to be asked for appropriations. We're going to be asked to vote on things. And I would only ask that my colleagues, again, use their discretion and ask for, and get answers before we appropriate any more of the people's money, and make sure that any of the projects that we term as investments are very sound and that all of the problems have been worked out before we give our stamp of approval.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

At 9:41 o'clock a.m., on motion by Senator Chun, seconded by Senator Slom and carried, the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair to meet in Joint Session with the House of Representatives, in accordance with House Concurrent Resolution No. 1, to receive the Governor's state of the state address.

JOINT SESSION

The Joint Session of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Twentieth Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 1999, was called to order at 10:02 o'clock a.m. by the Honorable Calvin Say, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

At this time, the Speaker welcomed and introduced the following distinguished guests to the members of the Twentieth Legislature:

The First Lady of the State of Hawaii, Mrs. Vicky Cayetano. She was presented a lei by Senator Kawamoto;

The Honorable Mazie Hirono, Lieutenant Governor of Hawaii, and Mr. Leighton Oshima. They were presented leis by Representative Brian Schatz and Senator Suzanne Chun Oakland;

The Honorable Ronald T.Y. Moon, Chief Justice, Hawaii State Supreme Court. He was presented a lei by Representative Sylvia Luke;

The Honorable Neil Abercrombie, United States House of Representatives;

The Honorable Patsy Mink, United States House of Representatives;

The Honorable John D. Waihee, former Governor of the State of Hawaii, and Mrs. Waihee;

Mrs. Jean Ariyoshi, wife of former Governor George Ariyoshi;

The Honorable Jeremy Harris, Mayor of the City and County of Honolulu, and Mrs. Harris;

The Honorable Stephen Yamashiro, Mayor of the County of Hawaii;

The Honorable Mufi Hanneman, Chair, Honolulu City Council;

The Honorable Patrick Kawano, Chair, Maui County Council;

Ms. Rowena Akana, Chair, Office of Hawaiian Affairs;

Trustee Clayton Hee, Office of Hawaiian Affairs;

Rear Admiral Joseph J. McClelland, Jr., Commander, 14th Coast Guard District; and Members of the Consular Corps.

The Speaker then appointed Senators Avery Chumbley, Les Ihara, Jr., Jonathan Chun and Whitney Anderson, on behalf of the Senate, and Representatives Marcus Oshiro, Ed Case, Nobu Yonamine and Barbara Marumoto, on behalf of the House of Representatives, to escort the Honorable Benjamin J. Cayetano, Governor of the State of Hawaii, to the rostrum.

Senator Carol Fukunaga and Representative Bertha Kawakami presented Governor Cayetano with maile and ilima leis.

The Speaker then presented to the members of the Twentieth Legislature and guests the Honorable Benjamin J. Cayetano, Governor of the State of Hawaii.

The Governor addressed the Joint Session as follows:

"Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Lt. Governor Hirono, Chief Justice Moon, Congressman Abercrombie, Congresswoman Mink, Mayor Harris, Mayor Yamashiro, members of the County Councils, members of OHA, distinguished guests, members from our military -- Aloha.

"We are truly blessed with the duty of leading our State into the next century. For this, I thank the people of Hawaii for giving me the privilege of serving the public for the past 25 years.

"I thank our First Lady, my wife Vicky, our children, our family, and all who made it possible for this Kalihi Boy to stand before you today as Hawaii's Governor.

"This morning it is a privilege to make my fifth report to you on the state of our State. We all know that the past four years have not been easy. When I took office in December, 1994, the state government found itself facing the biggest fiscal crisis in Hawaii's history.

"Since then, we've dealt with a projected revenue shortfall of about $612 million and turned it into a $154 million surplus. We've reduced government spending to pre-1995 levels.

"Today, the State is better off than it was in 1994. A few months ago, our State's bond rating was upgraded from A+ to AA. Last year, the conservative CATO Institute gave us a B+ for good fiscal management, and I must tell you that only two states got A's. So we did pretty good.

"In 1994, we pledged to make education our highest priority, and we kept our word. Through our accelerated $1 billion capital improvement program, we built a record 11 new schools and 900 new classrooms, as well as gyms, libraries and other educational facilities.

"We pledged to increase teachers' salaries and we did. And we accomplished something the Board of Education had been working hard to achieve for more than 25 years -- we got our teachers to agree to extend the school year by seven days.

"We gave our university the autonomy it needs to find greatness. We increased faculty salaries and negotiated a permanent home for UH-West Oahu in the hills of Kapolei.

"We passed a mandatory approval law to make the state government more time-sensitive to applications for permits and licenses. We reduced the number of business forms for new businesses to a single unified form.

"We have pursued and successfully attracted world-class high tech and telecommunications companies like Square USA, Uniden, ESS Technology and 'Avant!'

"We gave the tourist industry the biggest boost in our State's history -- a record $60 million for marketing, and we waived the landing fees to encourage more flights to Hawaii. We opened our world-class Hawaii Convention Center, and bookings today are estimated to bring in $1.6 billion of new direct spending.

"And while we have vigorously pursued economic development, we have been sure not to have done it at the expense of our beautiful environment -- as we demonstrated in our actions on Ka Iwi and the Hanalei River. And that will be the guide that we will follow in the future.

"Together -- and it has been a joint effort between the Executive and Legislative Branches -- we've done a lot over the past four years.

"The results of our efforts seem mixed. Job counts are down, but overall employment is up. Real estate sales are up. Some businesses continue to fail, but according to Dun & Bradstreet, new business starts are up by 15 percent over last year -- mainly in retailing, telecommunications, high tech, insurance and healthcare.

"Tax revenues have grown over the past ten months, confounding our economic experts who predicted they wouldn't, and who seem unable to tell us where the increased revenue is coming from.

"Clearly, Hawaii would be doing better if the Asian economy had recovered, but we cannot control Asia any more than we can control our weather. So let us focus on those matters over which we have some control.

"Like those who see the glass as being half-full, I believe that Hawaii's economy has bottomed out and we are beginning to see a modest recovery. But all of us here today all know that more needs to be done -- not just by the state, but by all of us together.

"And let me say to those that are critics in the business community -- we in the state government can help improve the business climate, we can make things easier, but in the end, business -- big and small -- must take responsibility for their own success or failure.

"In the next four years, my administration's focus will be in the following areas.

"First, we will continue our efforts to make the state more efficient and productive.

"Second, we will continue to make education our very highest priority, and maximize our resources to build a well-educated workforce with skills to compete in the twenty-first century.

"Third, we will continue our efforts to reduce our citizen's tax burden.

"Fourth, we will improve the business climate and pursue economic diversification to reduce our State's reliance on tourism.

"And, we will do so by building on our strengths -- our unique location, our diverse culture, our natural environment -- and most of all, our people, as our 'competitive business advantages.'

"The solutions we shape, the programs we propose, will be created within the framework of the values which make Hawaii a very special place.

"Economic prosperity is meaningless if it comes at the expense of Hawaii's precious environment, our culture, our quality of life -- our soul.

"Now let me share with you in greater detail what my administration will do over the next four years.

"First, we want to make the state government more efficient and productive.

"You know, I am very, very proud of our state employees, and this morning, I want to introduce someone who epitomizes the best of our state workforce. She worked for the State for 42 years before retiring a few weeks ago from my office. Not only was she an exemplary employee, but she never took one day of sick leave in all of those 42 years. Incredible! In fact, I am told that upon the birth of her son, she left early one Friday to give birth to her son, and was back in the office at work on Monday! I do not recommend that today to you ladies. (Laughter.)

"Ladies and gentlemen, I want you to meet an extraordinary public servant and an extraordinary worker, Florence Yamada! (Ms. Yamada rose to be recognized.)

"It's because of remarkable workers like Florence that some of our state departments have excelled in providing public service even in the face of budget cuts.

"For example, for the past three consecutive years, the federal government has ranked the Department of Human Services (much criticized in the media sometimes) first and second in the nation for efficiency and accuracy in the administration of the food stamp and welfare program.

"Last year, the federal government recognized the department for its innovative welfare-to-work programs -- which put more welfare recipients back in full- or part-time jobs per capita than any western state -- an extraordinary achievement, given our State's poor economy.

"There are many state workers like Florence Yamada. And, in every state department -- from the Department of Business to the Department of Defense to the Department of Land and Natural Resources to the Department of Labor -- there are success stories of innovation and efficiency. But these stories have come in spite of the current civil service system rather than because of it.

"The past four years have led me to conclude that Hawaii's 60-year-old Civil Service System is obsolete. With nearly 1,700 job classifications, the system is rigid, inflexible -- unable to make timely responses to public needs. The system stifles employees who are innovative, hardworking and who want to do a good job.

"For Hawaii to prosper in the New Millennium, state government must be more flexible and state employees must be empowered to make timely and responsible decisions.

"Therefore, it is absolutely critical that we develop and build a new Civil Service System which encourages innovation, rewards hard work, and is empowered to adapt to constant change.

"This morning, I am calling on you to join us in rebuilding our State's Civil Service System. To this end, I have asked my Director of Human Resources Development, a former colleague of yours in the Senate, former Senator Mike McCartney, to develop a plan to modernize the system -- to meet the needs and challenges of our global society.

"By the next legislative session -- one year from now -- we will present our proposed reforms for your consideration and approval.

"This is not about layoffs -- it's about change, it's about empowering state employees and trusting them to do what's right.

"As a start, and to show that we are serious, I will propose a bill which will repeal the current system by June 30, 2000. By clearing the deck, we will demonstrate to the public that we are earnest in our desire to reform Civil Service. By clearing the decks, we will be held accountable for assuring that Civil Service will be reborn in Hawaii.

"I propose no task force, no blue ribbon committee. But I assure you we will invite all stakeholders -- state workers, labor union leaders, business and the public -- to join us in this effort.

"The time -- one year -- may seem short, but for years now we have all known what has to be done. Now is the time we must do it!

"I want to talk a little bit about rules and regulations.

"Three years ago, you empowered a task force of small business people to reform the state rules and regulations. After two years of hard work, little changed. The result was not surprising, because reforming state rules and regulations is a complicated and difficult process. Most rules and regulations can be justified. But finding out which ones are obsolete or no longer needed can be best done by working with state employees -- many of whom themselves are frustrated by these very same rules and regulations.

"Our State has more than 20,000 pages of rules and regulations. Today, we have rules which are clearly obsolete. Rules covering mangers and livery stables. Rules covering a fund to deal with, get this, the bubonic plague. And even where justified, we have rules which are too long, too complicated, too difficult for the common person to understand. For example, there are 22 pages of rules covering frozen desserts alone!

"These rules, these obsolete, these unnecessary rules, these complicated rules make it difficult for state employees to do their jobs. And these rules can impose and extract a heavy cost to our business community and discourage investment in Hawaii.

"Therefore, as part of our campaign to reform civil service, we will make streamlining our rules and regulations a very high priority. To this end, I have asked Lt. Governor Hirono to head the equivalent of a rule-cutting SWAT team (she says SWAT stands for slice waste and tape) to reduce state rules and regulations by 40 percent over the next four years -- a very, very ambitious goal, but one that we feel that we at least must shoot for.

"And now I want to say something to you about the relationship between the Executive Branch and the Legislative Branch. We know that you want us to become more efficient and productive and more responsive, but the state government cannot become more efficient and productive if it is micromanaged by the Legislature. Just as it is with private business, state government must have the flexibility to respond in a timely and appropriate fashion to public demand for services.

"Let's take the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs because I think it is a good example of how a state government can turn things around. DCCA has become more innovative, more responsive and more self-supporting because it has greater flexibility. You gave them greater discretion over the setting of user fees, for example, and how they process licenses. And today, DCCA is 93 percent self-sufficient. I ask you to approve legislation, which I will submit, which will give the same discretion to all other state departments as well.

"Our health corporation is struggling because it is being micromanaged by the rules that were set in the law establishing its existence some years ago.

"If you want state government to improve -- as I know you do -- you must learn to trust and to let go!

"The recent Tobacco Settlement will allow our State to recover a portion of the enormous health care costs smoking and tobacco use have caused us. I commend Attorney General Margery Bronster and her office for the fine work they have done.

"Under the $1.13 billion settlement, payments are expected to begin in about the year 2000 for a period of approximately 25 years or so. But first, a final judgment must be obtained.

"In anticipation of the final judgment, I propose dividing the settlement equally between two trust funds: (1) a Tobacco Settlement Trust Fund to support anti-smoking initiatives, education and to expand children's health programs; and (2) a Rainy Day Trust Fund for use in future economic emergencies.

"The Tobacco Settlement Trust Fund will be used to educate the public in the hazards of smoking and it will be a symbol of our commitment to promoting good health for the people of Hawaii.

"The Rainy Day Fund will accomplish two goals. First, it will obviate the need for us to have a carryover balance each year for budgeting purposes, giving us greater flexibility with our revenue. But more important, it will be our legacy of fiscal prudence for generations to come.

"Nothing is more important to me than the education of our children. Over the past four years, we gave education our highest priority -- increasing teachers salaries, extending the school year, and building a record number of new schools, classrooms and other facilities.

"This year, in response to our desire to have our eighth graders computer literate before the end of four years, I added $20 million a year to our capital improvement budget to upgrade, where needed, the power capacity of all public schools to accommodate more computers and, where appropriate, to install air conditioning.

"Over the years, the State has focused mainly on providing greater funding for our public schools as a means of improving our public school system. But surveys -- national surveys -- reveal that the only states which have experienced significant increases in student achievement are those which hold their schools, their educators, their administrators accountable for performance.

"Contrary to the cries of our critics, Hawaii's public schools are not the worse in the nation. However, we are not the best either, and I take no comfort in the fact that we can be called average. Like you, I want our public schools to be the best that they can be. Therefore, while my administration will continue to support the funding requirements for public education, as we have done, we will look to developing ways to measure and improve student and teacher performance.

"Today, we start by joining President Clinton in getting schools to become more accountable. Hawaii is lucky -- truly lucky -- to have a nationally recognized scholar as our Superintendent -- a scholar recognized in school accountability and assessment. Ladies and Gentlemen, join me in welcoming Dr. Paul LeMahieu, our new School Superintendent. (Dr. LeMahieu rose to be recognized.)

"With Dr. LeMahieu's guidance, we propose a system of performance measures which is fair, simple and, we believe, based on common sense. We propose that each school set achievement goals which measure performance against its own past history, rather than against other schools.

"This would include performance indices such as student test scores, school attendance, student dropout rates, and parental involvement. Each school would set up goals to improve on its past performance, perhaps the average of the past three years. To motivate, to achieve parental involvement, we must urge parents to get involved in setting these goals for their children.

"Each year, every school would submit a final report to the Superintendent. Any school which did not achieve its goals would be evaluated by the Superintendent who, if appropriate, would make recommendations for improvement or changes in personnel.

"This is a simple, inexpensive and common sense way to determine how a school is progressing overall and how we can determine which schools need assistance.

"It can be implemented in the beginning of the next school year, I believe, but it should be seen as a complement to the more sophisticated, expensive performance measures now being developed.

"Simply throwing money at our schools will not improve them. We could provide a computer for every child and teach the child how to become computer literate. I remember when I was in school, I learned how to use the slide rule. Technically, I never learned how to think to solve those problems. If we don't teach our children how to think, how to solve problems -- then we would have failed.

"These skills, the skills of critical thinking, which are so important to today's global society, are taught best in an environment of academic freedom -- where schools can experiment, innovate, and try new ideas without fear of failure.

"To this end, I propose -- on a pilot basis -- that we establish 'Schools for the New Century.' These 'New Century Schools' will be given the following freedoms:

Freedom to negotiate their own collective bargaining contract or not to have collective bargaining at all;

Freedom from the constraints of our state procurement code;

Freedom to control and create their own curriculum;

Freedom to engage in true lump sum budgeting without interference from the Department of Education, the Superintendent, and the Board of Education; and Freedom to select their principals and their teachers without constraints from existing contracts.

"The schools would be administered by a principal answerable to a school committee comprised of faculty, parents and community leaders. But at the end of each school year, the schools would be audited by the Department of Education to measure performance.

"The two schools I have in mind to be the first are the Kapolei Middle School and the Kapolei High School. These schools present a rare opportunity to us. They have not yet been built but the money is there. Moreover, they are located in an area where parental and community interest in education is high. Tomorrow, I will submit legislation to achieve these new Schools for the New Century for your consideration.

"Now let me turn to something that we talked a lot about in the campaign and that we'd like to see happen, and this is reducing class size. This is something all of us would like to see happen. But the costs to do it in a meaningful way, on a meaningful scale, we all know is prohibited. However, there are less costly alternatives which will help our teachers in the classrooms.

"First, our teachers spend too much time disciplining unruly students. Therefore, I propose a review of the rules on school discipline. A review of Chapter 19 is long overdue. Recent United States Supreme Court decisions make it possible for us to give school administrators greater authority and flexibility in disciplining unruly students. Chapter 19 should be amended accordingly.

"Second, I propose that the DOE establish alternative schools to accommodate students who may be expelled from regular school. This is an area which could be privatized. Funding would come as the allotted state cost per student would follow the student to the alternative school.

"The many years of our Department of Education, of the Legislature, of the Executive Branch focusing on improving the school system through college prep curriculum has made technical education a stepchild in our public schools. And yet studies show less than half of our high school students go to college.

"To provide greater access to quality technical education, I propose that high school students be allowed to take technical courses at the community colleges -- and have those courses count toward their graduation.

"Some years ago, I was speaking to people who ran the auto mechanics program at Honolulu Community College. I was told that the equipment there, the course there, is state of the art; that their graduates could walk out of Honolulu Community College and work for General Motors or anyone else as auto mechanics. But I was also told that the auto mechanic programs in our high schools are obsolete; that many of the students that HCC gets, have to be taught all over, have to start from ground zero.

"My proposal would help resolve that problem, would help address the shortage of technical education in our schools because we simply do not have the resources to get technical education up to par with college prep.

"This would require greater cooperation and articulation between the Department of Education and the University of Hawaii. We, this administration, will take the lead in bringing the University of Hawaii and the Department of Education together to resolve this issue.

"Finally, we need to build a new millennium workforce. In this regard, I will propose legislation which will establish a millennium workforce training program focusing on the areas, the economic areas, in which we have a shot to become successful -- the areas of healthcare, biotechnology, high tech, telecommunications and environmental sciences, for example. These are economic niches which have great potential for us. But we cannot exploit these potentials without a skilled workforce.

"Let me turn now to the institution that's most critical to the economic development of this State -- the University of Hawaii.

"Last year, we gave the University of Hawaii autonomy -- the single most important tool for its growth and development and for its march to greatness. The UH is critical to Hawaii's economic development. Therefore, over the next four years, we will continue to support the University.

"Planning and building the education centers for Kona and Molokai will be given high priority. Planning for the new UH-West Oahu campus in Kapolei gives us the rare opportunity to design and build a 21st Century University from the ground up. We reaffirm our support for UH-West Oahu and we will work with the Board of Regents to speed up its development.

"We cannot ignore the fact that the University of Hawaii, besides being an educational institution, is also an economic entity. I will propose that the college of Astronomy, which I believe rightfully belongs at UH-Hilo, in fact begin to move there. We will work with the Board of Regents to move the support staff from the University's Institute for Astronomy to the research park at UH-Hilo in two years. This will provide the infrastructure for high technology developments on the Big Island and demonstrate that Hilo can become the world leader in land-based astronomy.

"Part of my vision for this State is Hawaii becoming the premier health care center of the Pacific and a better medical school is crucial to our vision for Hawaii. Therefore, I am taking this opportunity to reaffirm my support for the UH Medical School and we pledge to work with the UH Board of Regents and the President to enhance the quality of the medical school.

"By now you are well aware of the plans that we have to develop a high tech park in Kakaako. To stimulate development in high tech and biotechnology, we will invite the university to become a partner in the developing of that proposed high tech park.

"Through a consortium of state, business and university interests, we hope to achieve the benefits experienced by such coalitions in North Carolina's Research Triangle and Stanford's Industrial Park. And, Mr. President, we look forward to working with you and the Board of Regents to in fact make that park a reality.

"Finally, we will convene a meeting of the leaders of all of our universities -- public and private -- to discuss and develop a common strategy to market Hawaii as the Education Center of the Pacific.

"Education, American education in particular, is the best in the world. And that is the way it is seen throughout the rest of the world. Every year, hundreds of thousands of foreigners flock to our American universities for their education. We need to get a greater share of those students here in Hawaii. That will be good for our university, good for our economy and good for our State.

"Let me turn now to tax reform. Over the past four years, we've made the state government more efficient, we reset priorities and today state government is less of a burden on the overall economy. Last year, we approved Hawaii's biggest tax cut in state personal income taxes -- $750 million over four years. I might add that the CATO Institute states that it is the second biggest tax cut in the nation.

"We wish to keep this momentum going. Therefore, we will propose the following.

For business development:

- (1) A 50 percent reduction in corporate and franchise tax rates -- to tell the business world Hawaii's business climate has changed;
- (2) An exemption from general excise taxes for exported services -- to allow our professionals to compete on the global level;
- (3) A double deduction for employer costs for prepaid healthcare insurance -- to encourage business to hire full time workers and to give all of our businesses which have the full time workers a tax break;
- (4) A research and development income tax credit for selected new industries -- to attract new industries to diversify our economy;

- (5) A 5-year tax holiday for high tech companies and biotech companies, Mr. Speaker, which are located in the Kakaako High Tech Park; and finally
- (6) An extension of the hotel renovation tax credit, passed several years ago, now to include new construction to help our hotel industry.

For individuals, we propose the following:

- (1) A reduction in the state personal income tax that would be triggered -- a circuit breaker would be triggered -- if revenues reach a certain level; and
- (2) A long-term care tax deduction for individuals and family members to help our senior citizens and their loved ones deal with the high cost of long-term care.

"My friends, this is not a wish list. We have looked at these measures and we believe we can afford them and we need your support to make them a reality.

"Earlier, I talked about our decisions on Ka Iwi and Hanalei, and we stated then that we would not pursue economic development initiatives at the expense of Hawaii's pristine environment. Hawaii's beautiful environment is the magnet that draws people to our State. Therefore, I propose that we begin discussion on the following proposal -- that a small and modest portion of the transient accommodation tax be earmarked to preserve, protect and sustain Hawaii's natural resources and we expect to discuss this.

"Over the past four years, you have heard me talk about my vision for Hawaii's economic future. I have stated repeatedly that I believe Hawaii will become the premier education center of the Pacific -- where the people of the world can come to teach and learn at world-class educational institutions; that I believe Hawaii will become the healthcare center of the Pacific -- a place blending the healthcare knowledge of the East, the West and the Pacific; and that I believe Hawaii will become a center for commerce -- employing a network of state-of-the-art technology touching every corner of the globe.

"For the past three years, I have kept you abreast of the progress we have made in pursuing these initiatives. This morning, however, I would like to talk in the time remaining, I would like to talk about some of the new and exciting initiatives that are on the horizon.

"Today I am pleased to announce that in March, 2000 the Pacific Basin Economic Council -- made up of over 1,100 international business organizations -- will hold its annual International General Meeting at the Hawaii Convention Center.

"PBEC represents over 1,100 corporations in 20 economies throughout Asia, North America and South America. Big corporate names like Motorola, Toyota, Sony are members. These business organizations account for $4 trillion in global sales and employ more than 10 million people throughout the world.

"This is no small gathering -- it is a major international event in which world leaders in government and business routinely participate.

"Historically, countries throughout the Asia-Pacific vie each year for the right to host this prestigious meeting. Now, PBEC is considering giving Hawaii or making Hawaii the event's permanent home.

"This would not have been possible were it not for the hard work of some individuals, and one in particular who had a tremendous role in doing this -- and he's done it and he's worked hard at it because he loves Hawaii -- I'd like to introduce to you this morning. Ladies and Gentlemen, join me in thanking PBEC's Secretary General, Robert G. Lees, for bringing this important business meeting to Hawaii. (Mr. Lees rose to be recognized.)

"For Hawaii, this is a major breakthrough. It's a major breakthrough in changing our image and establishing our State as a true international gathering place for business. And it has made Hawaii a strong contender for the annual World Trade Organization meeting this year, and all of us awaited breathlessly for the decision as to where the WTO would be held.

"Let me now turn to something that the Legislature is very interested in, that the Senate is pushing, that the Senate President is pushing in particular, and this is the business of call centers. You have introduced legislation to establish Hawaii as a call center for the rest of the world. Let me say that last week, last week Thursday I think it was, I had the pleasure of participating in a press conference for another breakthrough. The Southco Company -- a billion dollar high tech hardware company -- established Hawaii's first call center at Kapolei.

"Southco's President and CEO Stephen Kelly told us that he was amazed to discover that Hawaii may have the best telecommunications system in the world. Let me tell you what Mr. Kelly told me. They came to Hawaii for the following reasons: our location -- our strategic location allows them to service clients on the mainland and in Asia the very, very same day; we are the most western American state, and as such, they are more comfortable in dealing with American laws in doing business; our University of Hawaii has been a hidden gem to these high tech companies -- they are impressed by the quality of our graduate students at the University of Hawaii and School of Computer Sciences; they are impressed by the quality of life here; they are impressed by the fact that Hawaii, the place as a state, ranks very low when it comes to the indices of crime.

"The biggest problem they had, he said to me, was not any discussion about the poor business climate in this State -- he never mentioned it one time -- the biggest problem he had was convincing his directors that Hawaii was not just a place for fun, games, and surf -- and he did that. And with this breakthrough I believe if we help Southco succeed, I believe, Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, that the Legislature's drive to make Hawaii a call center is going to become a reality.

"I might add, the City of Kapolei has really put Hawaii on the map with its top quality telecommunications environment. Its satellite capabilities will become even greater when a company called Loral Orion, an international satellite company, launches a new satellite later this year. The people from Loral tell us that they selected Kapolei because of its unique access to both Asian and U.S. satellites.

"We have advantages that most of us never knew about. These now are being brought to the floor and we must exploit these advantages to make our economy stronger.

"Last year, working with the Weinberg Foundation, working with the private hospitals, we announced the first statewide telemedicine network in the nation -- a network which links up all of our hospitals, public and private. Next week, history will be made in this State, because for the first time in world history, telemedicine will be used to perform eye surgery on a 16-year old girl on the Big Island.

"Dr. Jorge Camara at the St. Francis Medical Center in Honolulu will guide (they call it telementor) via telemedicine, a doctor at the North Hawaii Community Hospital on the Big Island, as she removes an eye tumor from her patient. I will be there personally to witness this most amazing event. It is a major step forward, once again, in our quest to become the premier health care center of the Pacific.

"Let me talk about the millennium -- something of course that we all want to celebrate. To usher in the new millennium, I will issue an executive order establishing The New Millennium Celebration Commission. This commission will begin planning a year-long celebration of the year 2000, starting with a December 31, 1999 New Year's Eve Concert in the Diamond Head crater. The concert -- featuring local musicians -- will be televised statewide. One TV station has donated this time and it will be shown not only in Hawaii but also on the mainland and in Japan.

"The Commission, and I would like to introduce the chair because I've asked him to serve as chair and I'm not sure that he knew how big it was going to be. Former Governor John Waihee will chair this Commission. (Former Governor John Waihee rose to be recognized.) This Commission will plan a series of events, including multicultural celebrations. But the one thing that really strikes me and excites me is that we will embark on a campaign to bring home -- to bring home -- every Hawaii resident who is outside the State . . . bring them home. It will be called 'Come Home Hawaii.'

"This celebration, of course, is designed to boost our tourist industry and we are targeting -- we are targeting -- an additional 500,000 visitors in the year 2000 -- a great way to showcase Hawaii in the first year of the New Century.

"Though I have focused today primarily on economic issues, we all know that there are many other important issues facing our State. The fact that I haven't discussed them today does not mean they are not important. Nor does it mean that we have abandoned them.

"Earlier in my remarks, I said that my administration would shape solutions according to the values we hold as a community.

"There are many pressing social issues, such as Native Hawaiian rights, death with dignity, domestic partnerships, child abuse, domestic violence and others that I have not discussed here today. But we will present proposals dealing with all of these areas to the Legislature in the coming days. While these social issues may draw controversy, we believe they are important and should be debated and discussed and considered.

"Let us follow the wisdom of our great Queen Liliuokalani, who said, 'Never cease to act for fear that you may fail.'

"Let me close now with these thoughts. Over the years, Hawaii's economy changed from sea trading, to big sugar and big pineapple, and over the past forty years, to a strong reliance on tourism. Throughout these changes, however, the spirit of aloha -- our host people's greatest gift to the rest of the world and to us non-Hawaiians -- has remained constant. It has endured because our forefathers -- in spite of their differences -- understood its central role to the unique greatness of Hawaii as a society. It has endured because they lived it, they strengthened it, they nurtured it and they passed it on, unchanged, from generation to generation.

"The spirit of aloha is the glue which holds us together. It is the heart and soul of the Hawaii we all love today and the Hawaii that we want to pass on to our children.

"Today, I ask you to join me in pledging that all of us here will work together to assure that the spirit of aloha will be strengthened, preserved and passed on to the children of the New Millennium.

"We owe this to our children -- as one day they too will owe it to theirs. In these times of frequent, rapid and sometimes unwanted change, that will be our greatest gift to them of all.

"Soon we will enter the twenty-first century. We have been blessed as the generation of leaders which will take Hawaii into the New Millennium. What we do over the next four years may set the direction for the next decade, perhaps longer.

"Knowing this -- I am awed by the enormity of the responsibility -- grateful for the privilege of leadership -- and excited by the possibilities of making positive and meaningful changes to build a better Hawaii.

"Members of the Legislature, I look forward to working with you!

"Thank you and aloha."

Senate President Norman Mizuguchi then rose and stated:

"Thank you very much Governor Cayetano, for sharing your message with members of the House of Representatives and Senate and the people of Hawaii.

"I'm sure I speak for the House when I say that the leadership of both the House and the Senate will give your proposals our full attention and consideration.

"We pledge to work collaboratively with you during this session. Our minds and doors are open to your ideas and proposals.

"In an age where change is the rule, we've heard your call for change -- and change we must.

"It is each of us, representatives of the people, along with our consciences, who will bring about this change. Achieving economic recovery and reclaiming the lost dreams of the less fortunate -- the displaced workers, the sick and the aged -- are our common goal.

"As Robert Frost wrote, 'We have promises to keep and miles to go before we sleep.'

"Governor, mahalo again for your insightful, bold and challenging state-of-the-state address.

"If there is no further business by the members of the Senate and the House of Representatives, I now declare this Joint Session adjourned."

At 10:57 o'clock a.m., President Mizuguchi declared the Joint Session adjourned.

FIFTH DAY

Tuesday, January 26, 1999

The Chief Justice addressed the Joint Session as follows:

"Before I begin, please allow me to introduce a special guest who is visiting the islands from the great State of Wisconsin. The Associate Justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, Associate Justice William Bablitch, is a good friend not only of mine, but also of several judges and justices on the Courts of Appeals. He is not only a good friend of ours, but he is also a good friend of Hawaii because recently he became a Hawaii taxpayer -- he purchased a home on the Big Island. On this particular trip, he did not intend to be here with us today, but when he arrived he was invited, and he kindly accepted our invitation. However, he had a problem. He only brought his sandals, and as a result, he purchased a new pair of shoes from one of our very fortunate local retailers. Let me introduce Associate Justice William A. Bablitch. (Justice Bablitch rose to be recognized.)

"Governor Cayetano, Lieutenant Governor Hirono, Speaker Say, President Mizuguchi, Legislators, members of the federal and state Judiciaries, other distinguished guests, family, and friends, it is my privilege to be here today to deliver my third State of the Judiciary Address.

"A couple of weeks ago, in her not too subtle way of telling me to keep my speech short, my mother told me about an ancient Korean tradition that a speaker must stand on one foot while addressing his audience. As soon as his second foot drops and touches the ground, he must stop speaking. Now, it sounds like a good tradition for short speeches, however, you may be horrified to learn that for two weeks I've been practicing and I can now stand on one foot for an hour, especially when I hold on to the lectern. (Laughter.) Nevertheless, today I will not implement this tradition and I promise to be relatively brief.

"What I want to do today is share with you how we're doing, talk about the changes we're making, reaffirm our commitment to working together, and finally, look to the future.

"How Are We Doing: First, how is Hawaii's Judiciary doing? To answer that question, we must remind ourselves that justice is about laws and procedures, but, above all, justice is about people. As you are aware, the Judiciary is involved in every aspect of people's lives, working towards helping them resolve their problems and disagreements.

"During the past year, our judges have continued to make thousands of decisions that have directly impacted peoples' liberty, property, and family relations. Of those thousands of decisions, only a handful have generated headlines in the media -- some of which were quite critical. I firmly believe, however, that we should not, and must not, measure the Judiciary's success by the amount or kind of media coverage our decisions generate. Nevertheless, I realize that, to a large extent, the media is the public's, and often your, only source of information about judicial decisions. As I have stated in the past, public scrutiny of judicial decisions is healthy, but it must not be allowed to cast a cloud over an entire judicial system that functions very well on a daily basis. And so I ask you to keep media criticism in perspective.

"In helping us answer the question 'How are we doing?' we also look to the attorneys, who appear in our courts, as well as the public, who use our courts, every day. We solicit the views of attorneys through written, confidential evaluation surveys.

And they tell us, consistently, that Hawaii's judges have keen legal ability, excellent judicial management skills, and valued personal attributes. Through our 'We Value Your Opinion' surveys, the public tells us that it is generally pleased with the service it receives. Additionally, others outside of our great State assure us that we can be proud of our Judiciary. Our Family Court, our alternative dispute resolution initiatives, and our Drug Court have been acclaimed nationally and serve as models for other judiciaries to emulate.

"I, therefore, say to you today, with confidence and pride, that the state of Hawaii's Judiciary is sound. But, there is always room for improvement. Throughout the United States, the perception is that judiciaries are too steeped in tradition and too slow to change. We must not find comfort with the status quo. Like you, and the members of the Executive Branch, we are stewards of the public trust, and, as such, we must continually search for ways to improve and better serve the public.

"Improvement Initiatives: This past year, we started, and in some cases completed, initiatives intended to address changing conditions and to better serve the public. Allow me to review just a few of those initiatives with you.

"Access to the Courts: As the grandson of Korean immigrants, I know first hand what it is like to be confronted by the realization that this country's most valued rights are not always available to everyone. After graduating from high school in 1958, I left for college in Iowa. Living in Iowa during that first year was a culturally shocking experience for me. At that time, the Korean War had been over for only a few years, and the war with Japan was still fresh in the minds of many of the students, teachers, and town folk. For the first time, I experienced the sting of discrimination -- not being allowed to join a fraternity because of its 'White' clause, not being served at a restaurant, and not being allowed access to a restroom at a service station. I therefore understand the feelings of frustration and despair when members of the public perceive our courts as being inaccessible. Indeed, access to our courts is about as fundamental a right as I can imagine. That is why Hawaii's Judiciary devotes so much energy to making it easier for people to access and understand our court system as well as work their way through it.

"In our district courts, for example, a significant number of individuals pursue claims without the benefit of counsel and rely on the many preprinted court forms that are available to assist them in processing their claims. These fill-in-the-blank or -box type forms can be quite labor-intensive and time-consuming to complete. Thus, in keeping with our goal of enhancing access to the courts, we converted our district court forms to electronic format. Forms are now available on computers at the public library, may be downloaded from the Internet, or purchased on diskettes at a nominal cost. Self-represented litigants as well as attorneys and their clients have benefited from this time- and money-saving modern technology. Of course, preprinted court forms are still available for those of us who are uncomfortable around computers.

"If you tuned in to the public access stations during the past few months, you may have seen our new district court videos on traffic and small claims proceedings. These videos give step-by-step explanations of various options and procedures in plain, everyday language. The videos have also been dubbed in Ilocano and Korean, and the English-language version is captioned for the deaf and hearing impaired. All three versions of the videos are available in public libraries throughout the State.

"Because our immigrant community and its legal needs continue to grow, we have also established a Multilingual Lawline. Our non-English speaking citizens can now hear recorded messages about juvenile proceedings, domestic violence, divorce, and other law-related topics in seven different languages. By avoiding legalese and providing information in user-friendly formats, court users can now better evaluate and make knowledgeable decisions regarding their circumstances.

"Equally important, however, is a court user's ability to effectively maneuver through court proceedings. Over the last year, we gave much thought as to how we could better assist court users in finding where they need to go and what they need to do once they get there. As a result, the Ho'okele Court Navigation Project was born. Ho'okele will consist of a Court Concierge Program at the entrance to the courthouse and Customer Service Centers in those courts where many litigants are not represented by attorneys.

"Juror Innovations: Just as we must make it easier for the public to understand and use the court system, so too must we fully utilize the talents of those who generously give of their time to serve as jurors. Each year, more than 63,000 Hawaii citizens are called for jury service. This past fiscal year, more than 7,500 individuals actually served as jurors. As you are probably aware, many of our citizens who are called for jury service would rather be somewhere else. The strength of our jury trial system, however, depends in large part on the willingness of our citizens to participate in it. The jury trial, as envisioned by our forefathers, provides an opportunity for our citizens to directly participate in the decision-making process by assisting our judges in resolving disputes. We are therefore committed to finding ways to make jury service both meaningful and relevant.

"In furtherance of those goals, we implemented a Jury Innovations Pilot Project to study the effects of various changes to the traditional jury trial procedure. Jurors who serve in the courts participating in the pilot project are, among other things: (1) advised at the beginning of the trial, rather than at the end, about what each party must prove in order to win; (2) allowed to take notes; (3) instructed about the law applicable to the case before, rather than after, the attorneys' closing arguments; and (4) allowed to submit questions that might be asked of witnesses. Jurors who have participated in the pilot project have told us these changes helped them to better concentrate on the information presented and helped keep their attention throughout the trial. We firmly believe that, by making the jury service process more meaningful and relevant to those called upon to serve, we can increase juror satisfaction and, in turn, elevate public trust and confidence in the justice system.

"Technology: No discussion about change would be complete without addressing technology. Plainly and simply, the Judiciary's obsolete technology slows us down. For example, we have difficulty keeping track of the massive amounts of paperwork and information that are processed in our courts because the eleven or so computer systems that the Judiciary relies on are antiquated, limited in their applications, don't 'talk' to each other, and are in need of major overhaul or replacement. All of these factors significantly impact our ability to manage our cases effectively and efficiently, track and collect fines and penalties owed to the State, as well as restitution owed to victims of crime, and so forth. We are also racing against time to ensure that our computer applications are Year-2000 compliant.

"But all is not lost. In visionary legislation, you established the Judiciary Computer System Special Fund in 1996 to enable the Judiciary to address its critical technological changes and needs. We are diligently working on a plan to implement a statewide automated integrated case management system, that, when fully implemented, will allow courts at all levels to manage information associated with individual cases, streamline work flow, organize data, ensure compliance with court orders, eliminate redundant data entry, generate reports, and handle repetitive tasks that presently require considerable manual effort. The Judiciary is also planning the design and installation of the necessary infrastructure to connect employees statewide on a common communications network.

"Court Improvement Process Initiative: We recognize, however, that technology is only part of the solution to helping us manage our cases and information more effectively and efficiently. Thus, in July, the Judiciary began a systematic, in-depth process to critically re-examine its structure, procedures, and scope of functions with an eye toward increasing efficiency, reducing duplication, producing cost savings, and generating revenue. We firmly believe that this self-examination process will enable us to address future needs more effectively.

"We acknowledged, from the outset of the Court Improvement Process Initiative, that the Judiciary does some things solely because we've always done them and that there are some things that we should be doing, but we aren't, simply because we never have. This initiative is providing a forum in which to determine whether the Judiciary has moved beyond its mission, whether its processes can be streamlined, and whether its services can be performed at less cost. The answers to these questions will necessarily involve change, and, whenever one talks about change, feelings of uncertainty and anxiety inevitably arise. Although we are aware that our Court Improvement Process Initiative has created, and will undoubtedly continue to create, some uncertainty and anxiety, we cannot, and must not, allow the fear of change to stand in the way of finding better avenues to service the people of Hawaii. We ask for everyone's patience, understanding, and support as we consider various options.

"The initiatives I've mentioned -- improving access to the courts, jury reform, technology projects, and our Court Improvement Process -- all have one common purpose, and, that is, to position the Judiciary to enter the 21st Century better prepared to meet the needs of the people of Hawaii.

"The Agents of Change: The Judiciary, however, cannot succeed in isolation. The external agents of change are too great. A struggling economy, changes in divorce and employment rates, variations in demographics and lifestyle patterns, and overcrowded prisons place significant demands on our state court system and transform the types of conflicts that arise. The number of cases of domestic violence, crimes against property, and child abuse signal personal and social stresses on and among Hawaii's people. And, business failings register the existence of the economic pressures on Hawaii's business and financial communities.

"We cannot, however, fight change. John F. Kennedy understood this when he said, 'The one unchangeable certainty is that nothing is certain or unchangeable.' Our challenge is to continue our collaborative efforts to find appropriate and workable solutions around these external agents of change. In both your standing and conference committee reports last session, you expressed gratitude for the cooperative working relationship between the Judiciary and the Legislature during the session. We appreciate your sentiments and pledge to continue that cooperative relationship this session.

"We look forward to continuing the partnerships we have formed with the Executive Branch. For example, we are working very closely with the Attorney General's Office to facilitate the collection of fines and restitution; our Drug Court could not succeed without the full cooperation of the Department of Public Safety and the Department of Health; our Family Courts have worked hand in hand with the Department of Human Services to improve adoption procedures; and sheriffs from the Department of Public Safety provide much needed security for judges, staff, and the public.

"We also look forward to continuing our collaborative efforts with the community at large. For example, earlier, I spoke about our most far-reaching effort to date -- the Court Improvement Process Initiative. The draft recommendations generated by this initiative were based, in part, on the more than 750 surveys we received from interested individuals outside the Judiciary. I also spoke about our Jury Innovations Project. The Jury Innovations Committee, which formulated the project, includes former jurors. The Committee's recommendations also reflect community input obtained through three public meetings, a live, call-in program on 'Olelo, and written comments from the public. And, finally, the Judicial Council, which acts as an advisory board to the Chief Justice on matters concerning the administration of justice, has representation from the labor, business, medical, and legal communities, as well as from this Legislature and the media. Recently, the Judicial Council assisted in identifying public trust and confidence issues facing the Judiciary and developed strategies to address those issues. These issues and strategies were forwarded to a national committee organized by the American Bar Association, in cooperation with the Conference of Chief Justices and Conference of State Court Administrators. The national committee will use the input received from all fifty states to create the agenda for a National Conference on Building Public Trust and Confidence in the Justice System to be held this coming May in Washington, D.C. As you can see, the community has responded enthusiastically to our call for input, and we are grateful for its assistance so we can do our jobs better.

"The Future: When I look to the future, I see a modern, efficient, fair, and accessible Judiciary. But, the Judiciary needs your help in making that vision a reality. Although a State of the Judiciary Address should not be confused with testimony at a budget hearing before the money committees, I would be remiss if I did not mention certain vital areas needing your assistance. First, because Hawaii's Drug Court is an innovative, multi-disciplinary means of addressing an urgent community concern, we will be asking you this session to solidify the Drug Court's future by converting the temporary staff to permanent status.

"Second, despite the progress I noted in the area of technology, much work remains if a modern integrated case management system is to become a reality. The Computer System Special Fund is scheduled to terminate on June 30, 2000. Because court automation is a long-term and continuing endeavor, and because its implementation is crucial to the Judiciary's goal of improving justice, access, and service to the public as well as increasing the efficiency, effectiveness, and productivity of the courts, the Judiciary will be seeking repeal of the sunset date on the fund.

"Third, the Ho'okele Court Navigation Project that I mentioned earlier cannot become a reality without your support. This customer-service oriented project requires staff in the entryways of the Oahu District and Circuit Courts to answer questions about court activities and to direct individuals to the appropriate sources of information. We will ask that you consider providing additional staff to implement the project.

"Fourth, I know you agree that no area creates more concern than domestic violence and child abuse in our State. We are therefore requesting funds for two additional Family Court judgeships to help stay abreast of these cases.

"And, finally, in order to attract and keep competent judges, we seek your support of the Judicial Salary Commission's recommendations to increase judicial compensation.

"Ladies and gentlemen -- our citizens look to our courts to protect their lives, liberties, property, communities, and democratic values. They expect the courts to administer the same justice whether the parties are rich or poor, well-known or obscure, powerful or powerless, victims or offenders. In that sense, we are not talking about the future at all. These are our responsibilities for today, as well as for tomorrow, and I pledge to continue to work with you to 'do justice.'

"I also pledge to stay in touch as we each work toward the 'big picture' of an integrated, pluralistic, and dynamic conflict resolution system. And, I pledge to communicate the progress that the Judiciary makes toward its goal of ensuring justice for all of our citizens.

"I Thank you again for the privilege, ladies and gentlemen, of speaking to you today. Thank you for your attention."

Speaker Say then rose and stated:

"Chief Justice Moon, thank you. Your words on the state of the Hawaii Judiciary offers comfort and hope for all of us. We are fully cognizant and appreciative of the role of the Judicial Branch as an equal partner, along with the Legislative and the Executive Branches, in the application of democracy and the protection of our constitutional rights.

"On behalf of Senate President Mizuguchi and the members of the Senate and on behalf of the members of the House of Representatives, I assure you that the Legislature stands ready to address the issues which you so eloquently raised. We look forward to working with the members of the Judiciary in resolving these issues.

"At this time, I declare this Joint Session of the Legislature to be adjourned."

At 10:40 o'clock a.m., the Speaker declared the Joint Session adjourned.

Senator Slom rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"We've all received the latest Legislative Auditor's report on the audit of the Child Protective Services system. There has been continuing problems and continuing controversy with this agency. I find that it is an embarrassment and it's outrageous what has been going on in the agency.

"We're all aware of the problems with the children. We spend a great deal of time and effort and resources talking about how important the keiki are to us. We have the keiki caucus, we provide legislation, we provide appropriations. But this agency, which is responsible for the care and nurturing of children and particularly those at greatest risk, has shown the greatest reluctance in the lack of leadership to provide changes and to do the things that are necessary.

"My good, close friend Mr. Gary Rodrigues and I share one item in common, and that is Mr. Rodrigues always says that it's not the fault of public employees, it is the fault of management in state government that creates the problems. And I totally concur with him. There is no better example than in Child Protective Services and in the management of the Department of Human Services, or lack of management. And I'm wondering just how long the Governor, who appoints that manager, and how long this Legislature that funds programs and expresses its care and concern for children is going to put up with this situation and an individual who is unable and unwilling to make the changes and do the things that are necessary to protect our children.

"So Mr. President, I would like to see action in this area and I would like to see the removal of the head of the Department of Human Services. Thank you."

Senator Chun Oakland also rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I share the concerns of the previous speaker. I do want you to know that the study that was done by the Auditor took place without the benefit of the omnibus bill that we had passed this past session. Since that time, there have been a number of changes -- improved communication between HPD, other police departments and the DHS. There are a number of points in the audit that are very much on point. The CPS roundtable, over the past few years, has worked to develop an omnibus bill that reflects the concerns raised in the auditor's report, which we did pass.

"So I believe that the Legislature has acted very well to address some of the Auditor's concerns as well as our concerns and the community's concerns and I do hope that we can continue this effort in the next session. Thank you."

President of the Senate
Twentieth State Legislature
Regular Session of 1999

Sirs:

Your Joint Legislative Committee on Long-Term Care, appointed pursuant to H.B. No. 147, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, adopted by the Regular Session of 1997, begs leave to report as follows:

PART I. BACKGROUNDIntroduction

The population of residents in Hawaii aged seventy and over is the fastest growing segment of the overall population. The population of disabled persons is also increasing gradually. As people age or become disabled, they need services to help them with the activities of daily living. These services are currently being provided by family members, professional organizations, and institutions and are sometimes entirely lacking. Ideally, a person should be able to age-in-place in a setting of the person's choosing, though this is not always possible. It is incumbent upon the Legislature to help Hawaii's elderly and disabled persons to cope with daily living and to live with dignity. The approach to helping Hawaii's elderly and disabled should be prompted by compassion and caring, although the problem is inextricably one of economics.

Hawaii's citizens are faced with an overwhelming financial burden of caring for their elderly and disabled citizens. The elderly and disabled population needing long-term care (LTC) will continue to grow as the population ages. Nursing home costs often exceed a family's ability to pay, threatening a family's financial self-sufficiency. The cost per year in 1996 in a nursing home averaged about $38,000. This cost is only an average and varies widely across the country. In Hawaii, the cost is substantially more. However, nursing home care is but one component of an array of LTC services options, including care at home and in community-based facilities.

Due to high institutional costs, it is likely that more home- and community-based services will become predominant. Services, such as personal care, chore, respite care, and day care are less costly than institutional care, but they are still expensive. For example, if one receives skilled nursing care in the home from a nurse three times a week for two hours per visit for a year, the cost is about $12,300. If one receives personal care in the home from a home health aide three times a week for two hours per visit for a year, the cost is about $8,400. These are national averages for 1996, with Hawaii being characteristically higher.

For those who will rely on home- and community-based care, there are social as well as financial costs. To accommodate the demands of caregiving that grow as dependency increases over the years, caregivers (usually the family) work reduced hours at their jobs; adjust or abandon career and personal goals; place their own health in jeopardy; expose themselves to increased debilitation from overwork as they age; and retire earlier than intended, resulting in lower pensions and retirement benefits. This problem is magnified when one considers the high cost of living in Hawaii and the necessity for people to hold two or more jobs. However, people in Hawaii seem to prefer home- and community-based care in spite of these sacrifices.

Current methods of financing LTC involve predominantly Medicaid, private insurance, and personal assets. Medicaid which is limited to financially qualified persons of low income, pays for institutional care (about eighty per cent of all nursing home residents are dependent on Medicaid) and some home- and community-based services. However, Medicaid funding from the federal government cannot be relied upon in the future. Private insurance is not widespread, and most people do not have sufficient personal assets. Medicare does not pay for long-term care.

Since increasing numbers of Hawaii's population will need LTC services, there is a compelling need to create an affordable method of financing those services. Unlike the past, federal and state moneys cannot be relied upon in the future. What Hawaii needs is another method of financing that is affordable and suitable for the majority of residents who do not qualify for Medicaid, do not currently have private LTC insurance, and do not have sufficient personal assets.

No state has a universal (covering all persons) LTC program, whether tax-based or insurance-based, as distinguished from Medicaid programs that cover LTC services as medical coverage for qualified persons. Hawaii would become the first state with a universal LTC program if the recommendations of the JLC are adopted.

Legislative Mandate

Act 339, Session Laws of Hawaii 1997, established the Joint Legislative Committee on Long-Term Care (JLC). The purpose of Act 339 was to "...create a joint legislative committee to develop a sound financial plan to address a problem of compelling state interest, the current and future long-term care needs of the people of Hawaii."

The JLC is composed of eight members: four members of the House of Representatives, of whom three are of the Democratic Party and one is of the Republican Party, all to be appointed by the Speaker of the House; and four members of the Senate, of whom three are of the Democratic Party and one is of the Republican Party, all to be appointed by the President of the Senate.

The members are: Senator Suzanne Chun Oakland and Representative Dennis Arakaki, Co-Chairs; Senators Les Ihara, Jr. (appointed in place of Senator Rosalyn Baker), Andrew Levin, and Sam Slom; and Representatives Marcus Oshiro, Paul Whalen, and Nobu Yonamine.

Approach of the JLC

The JLC held a series of eleven public meetings for input and discussion at the State Capitol on: September 5, 1997; September 29, 1997; October 16, 1997; October 27, 1997; November 13, 1997; January 8, 1998; June 1, 1998; June 30, 1998; August 3, 1998; October 2, 1998 (for status of proceedings); and October 20, 1998 and November 20, 1998 (to determine recommendations).

Information was provided by the Department of Human Services, Department of Health, the Executive Office on Aging, the Statewide Council on Developmental Disabilities, county agencies on aging and elderly affairs, life insurers, long-term care insurers, health insurers, health care associations, health care providers, advocacy organizations for the elderly and disabled, long-term care associations, nursing homes, adult residential care homes, business organizations, hospitals, hospices, the University of Hawaii, the Governor's Blue Ribbon Panel on Living and Dying with Dignity, and interested individuals.

Based on the input obtained from the meetings, the JLC issued a "Request for Proposals No. SH2-98 for Competitive Sealed Proposals to Provide a Plan to Finance Long-Term Care in Hawaii" on May 26, 1998, to obtain a preliminary actuarial analysis. A contract was awarded on June 29, 1998, to Dr. Lawrence H. Nitz, Associate Professor of Political Science at the University of Hawaii, who has a background in research and consultation on LTC.

Dr. Nitz presented his recommendations regarding the establishment of a state-sponsored public trust fund verbally at the August 3, 1998, meeting of the JLC. The recommendations were formulated into a proposed financing plan which became an alternative model for the JLC, as explained in Part IV of this report. The plan was presented in outline form to the public by Dr. Nitz on behalf of the JLC in a series of statewide public briefings on: August 13, 1998, at Maui Community College; August 17, 1998, at the State Capitol Auditorium; August 18, 1998, at Pearl City Elementary School; August 19, 1998, at the King Kamehameha Hotel, Kona; August 20, 1998, at the Hawaii Naniloa Hotel, Hilo; August 24, 1998, at Castle High School; and August 25, 1998, at the Kauai County Council Chambers.

The JLC was assisted in research and recording minutes of public meetings and notes on public briefings by the Senate Majority Office (Dennis Chu), House Majority Staff Office (Wes Lum), and Legislative Reference Bureau (Peter Pan). Research was performed to obtain requested information about LTC services and Medicaid programs in Hawaii and other states.

PART II. THE CURRENT STATE OF LONG-TERM CARE IN HAWAII

What is Long-Term Care?

The JLC formulated the following definition of LTC:

"Long-term care is the organization and delivery of a wide range of health and human services to people who are severely disabled or limited in their functional capacities for a relatively long and indefinite period of time. In medical terms, long-term care is chronic care: the aim is management, control of symptoms, and maintenance of function. Long-term care has a vast non-medical dimension, and many individuals requiring long-term care are not sick. They may have been injured, or were born with a developmental disability that limits their activities, but otherwise may be perfectly healthy."

The JLC supplemented this definition with a vision statement:

"Long-term care refers to a comprehensive range of personal, medical, mental health, and social services developed and coordinated to meet the physical, social, and emotional needs of people of all ages with disabilities. These comprehensive services should meet peoples' changing needs over an extended period of time. Long-term care services can be delivered in an institution, the community, or the home."

The definition used by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' is helpful in understanding the insurance perspective:

"Long-term care involves a wide variety of services for people with a prolonged physical illness, disability or cognitive disorder (such as Alzheimer's disease). Long-term care is not one service, but many different services aimed at helping people with chronic conditions compensate for limitations in their ability to function independently. Long-term care differs from traditional medical care as it is designed to assist a person to maintain his or her level of functioning, as opposed to care or services that are designed to rehabilitate or correct certain medical problems. Long-term care services may include, but are not limited to, help with daily activities at home, such as bathing and dressing, respite care, home health care, adult day care, and care in a nursing home."

Scope of Frailties Requiring LTC Services

Long-term care services typically are required when a person needs assistance with:

1. Mobility: difficulty getting in and out of bed, standing up and sitting down, walking, and moving from bed to chair or visa versa;
2. Bathing: using grab bars or lifts, having a person to help set up the bath and to wash, getting in and out of a tub or shower, and washing the body;
3. Toileting: safely getting to and from the toilet, getting undressed and dressed, cleaning up, and performing basic personal hygiene;
4. Continence: voluntarily controlling bladder and bowel function, caring for incontinence if it occurs, cleaning up after accidents, and someone to remind to go to the bathroom;
5. Dressing: putting on and taking off clothes, and managing buttons and zippers;
6. Eating: shopping for food, cooking and serving food, feeding oneself, grasping utensils, and cleaning face and hands; and
7. Daily Living: going to doctor appointments, shopping, yardwork, doing laundry, cleaning house, going to occasional restaurant meals, and going to library.

Levels of LTC Services: Categories

Community-Based Care - This category of care helps the elderly and disabled maintain independence and encourages continued involvement in their communities. Services include but are not limited to adult day care, adult day health care, nursing level care in specialized homes, foster care, and social and recreational programs at senior citizen centers.

In-Home Care - As capabilities diminish to semi-independence and the elderly or disabled person becomes more homebound and less able to participate fully in the community, LTC services then shift to the home setting. Home-based services seek to support, not supplant, the existing informal (family) support network. Services include homemaking, transportation, home visits from physicians, nurses, therapists, social workers, and attendants who provide medical and personal care, and home modification assistance.

Institutional Care - Usually referring to nursing homes, this level of care is for persons with significantly diminished capabilities that warrant placement in an institution providing medical supervision and nursing care around the clock. There are various levels of institutional care that are licensed for the level of care being provided and the number of patients, including skilled nursing facilities, intermediate care facilities, and adult residential care homes.

Assisted Living Facilities - This is a recent development in LTC. Assisted living facilities are a combination of housing, health care services, and personalized supportive services designed to respond to individual needs and to promote choice, responsibility, independence, privacy, dignity, and individuality. Assisted living facilities provide private living quarters but with communal dining and recreational/social activities, a hybrid of hotel, retirement home, and elderly apartment complex. Residents have their own apartment-like homes, where they are allowed to "age in place." There is usually on-call, on-premises nursing services, health monitoring, and medication administration assistance. Assisted living facilities cost less than nursing homes. In 1996 in Hawaii, estimated costs were in a range of $1,800 to $2,300 per month.

Financing of LTC

Medicaid Coverage - Medicaid is a need-based program of medical coverage, paid for by matching federal and state moneys that pays for medical expenses of a qualified recipient, including hospital, LTC facilities, adult care homes, and some home- and community-based care. Eligibility for Medicaid is determined by federal requirements using a percentage of income formula specific to the type of care.

Medicare Coverage - Medicare is a Social Security program for persons sixty-five years of age and older, or younger for a qualifying disability. There are two parts to Medicare coverages, Part A and Part B.

Part A, for hospital insurance, is mandatory. This covers hospitalization for up to ninety days with a deductible to be paid by the patient for each hospital stay of $736; skilled nursing facility for up to twenty days (total coverage) and an additional eighty days (co-pay required); part-time home health care, intermittent skilled care, home health aide services, durable medical equipment and supplies, and occupational and physical therapy; and hospice care for up to two ninety-day periods, and one thirty-day period and one extension period of indefinite duration if necessary.

Part B, for medical insurance, is voluntary. This covers doctor services and many other medical services, outpatient hospital care, ambulance services, and X-rays, with eighty percent of approved costs being covered after an annual deductible of $100.

It is important to understand that Medicare does not pay for LTC, whether Part A or Part B. It is a health insurance program that individuals pay for as part of Social Security to provide medical and hospital care when individuals are over age sixty-five.

Private Insurance - Insurance policies vary widely in coverages. Some policies cover only stays in nursing homes. Others cover only care in a person's own home. Still others cover both nursing home and home care. In addition, many policies also cover services provided in adult day care centers or other community facilities. Costs of a policy vary widely, depending on the coverages, age of the insured, and underwriting standards.

PART III. PLANS AND OPTIONS CONSIDERED BY THE JLC

Social Insurance

The "Hawaii Family Hope Financing Plan" (Family Hope) is a form of social insurance with mandatory participation by anyone with income above a specified threshold, with automatic coverage for non-working spouses. Family Hope was proposed in House Bill No. 31, Regular Session of 1993, as an outgrowth of two earlier reports submitted to the Legislature by the Executive Office on Aging: one entitled, "Financing Long-Term Care" (January, 1991), and the other on the findings and recommendations of The Long-Term Care Financing Advisory Board (February, 1992). The Advisory Board was created pursuant to Act 133, Session Laws of Hawaii 1991, "to advise the Executive Office on Aging on the establishment of a comprehensive long-term care financing program for Hawaii residents", including the "feasibility of creating a public fund to be administered by a public body."

As proposed in H.B. No. 31, Family Hope would have required a graduated "contribution tax" on income to be paid by "every unmarried resident individual and every married resident individual who does not make a single return jointly with the individual's resident spouse". A "Hawaii Long-Term Care Trust Fund System" would have been established to "...administer a comprehensive long-term care financing program funded by annual mandatory contribution taxes and other sources..." Payments would have been made for covered long-term care services not covered by medical or other insurance, such as: primary institutional LTC benefits (nursing homes), primary noninstitutional LTC benefits (home- and community-based care), and associated noninstitutional LTC benefits (homemaker services, companion services, home meal delivery, and chore services).

As proposed to the JLC by Melvin Sakurai, Ph.D, Family Hope consultant to the Executive Office on Aging, the Family Hope plan was modified to include a mandatory stand-alone "back end" program covering nursing home care financed by mandatory taxes. Benefits would begin after one year of care, with private insurance covering the first year, and a two-part mandatory-voluntary comprehensive program, covering home- and community-based care, which splits benefits into two parts, one covered by the mandatory tax and the other by voluntary LTC private insurance (coverages for each part were not specified).

Both options require the imposition of a dedicated tax. The stand-alone back end program entices private insurers to fill the gap for the first year. The first part of the two-part program is to allow voluntary LTC private insurance to build awareness and public acceptance for the second part, a mandatory tax. Viability of the two-part program could be enhanced by encouraging large employer groups to offer LTC insurance policies to their employees.

Private LTC Insurance

Private insurance to cover LTC is of recent origin in the nation. The first policies were issued in Hawaii in the late 1980's. Only now has there been sufficient actuarial data to "price" such policies, i.e., to determine the claims costs and policy premiums.

Long-term care insurance was authorized in Hawaii in 1989. As defined by section 431:10A-521, HRS:

"Long-term care insurance" means any insurance policy or rider advertised, marketed, offered, or designed to provide coverage for not less than twelve consecutive months for each covered person on an expense incurred, indemnity, prepaid or other basis, for one or more necessary or medically necessary diagnostic, preventive, therapeutic, rehabilitative, maintenance, or personal care services, provided in a setting other than an acute care unit of a hospital. The term includes group and individual annuities and life insurance policies or riders that provide directly or that supplement long-term care insurance. The term also includes a policy or rider that provides for payment of benefits based upon cognitive impairment or loss of functional capacity. Long-term care insurance may be issued by insurers, fraternal benefit societies, nonprofit health, hospital, and medical service corporations, prepaid health plans, health maintenance organizations, or any similar organization. Long-term care insurance shall not include any insurance policy offered primarily to provide basic medicare supplement coverage, basic hospital expense coverage, basic medical-surgical expense coverage, hospital confinement indemnity coverage, major medical expense coverage, disability income or related asset-protection coverage, accident only coverage, specified disease or specified accident coverage, or limited benefit health coverage."

As of September, 1997, there were fifty mainland-based insurers underwriting LTC policies in Hawaii, according to the Insurance Division. There were no Hawaii-based insurers underwriting LTC policies, other than those acting as agents for mainland insurers. The Hawaii Medical Service Association (HMSA), as a mutual benefit society, has offered LTC policies since 1991. Coverages vary widely from policy to policy, ranging from home health care to nursing home care, including acute hospital care and combinations and variations of coverages.

The JLC considered proposals for universal private LTC insurance in Hawaii, so that everyone would be covered by a policy. The JLC concluded that an LTC insurance policy should have the following features:

1. Funding by a "flat" age-graded advanced-funded guaranteed renewable premium. Age-graded premiums vary according to the insured's age at the time of purchase. The premium should be locked in for the life of the policy. Advance-funding provides for the collection of more money than actually needed to cover current risk in order to build up reserves to cover future liabilities;

2. "Anti-lapse" protection, so that the policy is not canceled when the insured does not make a premium payment (common occurrence with the elderly who may forget to make a premium payment);
3. Full institutional and community-based LTC benefits;
4. Inflation-adjusted benefit payouts;
5. Reduced paid-up non-forfeiture benefit to provide a reduced level of benefits after a policy lapses;
6. A "take all comers" requirement, so that no one is disqualified from purchasing a policy; and
7. Strong regulatory controls, modeled after the National Association of Insurance Commissioners Model Code.

The JLC considered the following proposals to make private LTC insurance universal:

1. State-funded subsidy to encourage the voluntary individual purchase of qualified private LTC insurance policies, such as purchase vouchers (Since this proposal is not currently feasible due to the State's economy, the JLC did not seriously consider it, but it is a viable possibility after a universal LTC system is implemented);
2. Income tax credits; and
3. Mandatory employer sponsored group LTC insurance benefits, modeled after mandatory prepaid health insurance.

The Insurance Division was unable to provide data on the current number of persons insured under a private LTC insurance policy or on the loss ratios for LTC insurance policies in Hawaii. The JLC was concerned that very few people in Hawaii (or anywhere in the nation) purchase LTC insurance, because the matter does not become a concern until one reaches the age of fifty; the premiums are expensive; and LTC insurance is generally not appropriate for lower-income persons (who could probably rely upon Medicaid).

Expanded Home/Community-Based Services

Expanding home- and community-based services is not a financing strategy, but is an approach to alleviating the necessity for expensive institutional care and reducing LTC costs to manageable levels. Proponents of this approach maintain that providing LTC in the home or in a community setting will keep a person sufficiently healthy to avoid a nursing home, and will satisfy most LTC needs, even for those who are bedridden; therefore institutional care should be reserved for those with the most serious conditions needing the most care. Moreover, the culture in Hawaii prefers at-home care for the elderly and disabled.

The counter argument is that nursing home care can be unavoidable, depending on the severity of a medical condition which is independent of whether or not home- and community-based care is provided.

Strategies for increasing home- and community-based care include providing:

1. More services involving intervention/outreach, prevention/screening, and informational programs;

2. Single point of entry and managed care to channel people away from institutional settings; and
3. Alternative congregate care settings, such as assisted living facilities or adult residential care homes.

While the expansion of home- and community-based services could lower LTC costs to the individual and enhance the quality of life for persons needing LTC, the net total LTC spending for the State as a whole would increase for the following reasons:

1. According to the federal General Accounting Office ("Long-Term Care: Current Issues and Future Directions", 1995): "...while home- and community-based programs were less costly on a per person basis, they generally raised total long-term care costs. Limited reductions in institutional use were more than offset by increased demand for home- and community-based care ...";
2. The frail elderly, whether as a result of their medical condition or as a result of prolonged home- and community-based care, may become so debilitated so as to need institutional care in a nursing home;
3. Early intervention and screening programs would likely identify more persons needing institutional care by uncovering previous unserved needs, thereby prompting delivery of appropriate institutional services earlier and for longer periods; and
4. Payment for non-institutional care is inherently more susceptible to abuse and fraud, although this could be deterred by quality assurance programs and fiscal accounting monitoring.

The State's Department of Human Service believes that Hawaii's unique culture and values postpone costly nursing home care.

German Health Insurance System

Germany provides LTC to its citizens as part of its universal government-sponsored health insurance system. In 1994, the German Parliament established mandatory LTC insurance to provide benefits to persons with physical, mental illness, or other mental incapacity who regularly need help in daily living for at least six months. There are benefits for nursing home care and community-based care. Financing is through a tax on employers and employees of 1.7 percent of income up to $48,000 of income. To compensate employers for the tax, one paid vacation day was given up by employees. The self-employed pay 3.4 percent; an employer tax to cover pensioners is paid by the pension system; and the unemployed have their tax paid for by the unemployment system. The system has generated such a large pool of money that the tax is being adjusted downward.

Administration is through the large number of non-profit, quasi-public insurance companies which administer the national health insurance.

Benefits include: (1) reimbursement for community-based services; (2) cash payments to family caregivers; and (3) payments to nursing homes. Levels of disability are predetermined and schedule of payments for services is established.

Germany has experienced the following benefits in its LTC insurance system:

1. Significant savings in welfare budgets;
2. Greater sense of financial security for middle-class families;

3. Significant increase in family caregiving, with eighty percent electing to have cash paid to a family caregiver;
4. Significant decrease in nursing home admissions;
5. Expansion of private, innovative community-based services due to financial incentives; and
6. More responsiveness to consumers from home care agencies, due to increased competition.

The Kaigo Hoken System of Japan

The Kaigo Hoken System is Japan's government-based plan of providing LTC services for the Twenty-first Century. The plan covers citizens age forty and over. Citizens pay a monthly premium to the local government which acts as an insurer. Coverage is for community-based care and institutional care through a system of reimbursements and co-payment requirements of ten percent. The plan is a departure from Japan's current and traditional tax supported free medical service system. The start date is the year 2000, with mandatory participation for all citizens age forty and over.

Costs for reimbursements for community-based care are calculated to be $1,000 per month for the first level of care up to $2,143 per month for the fifth level of care. Monthly costs for institution-based care are calculated to be $2,071 for intermediate care facilities; $2,285 for skilled nursing facilities; and $3,071 for sub-acute geriatric hospitals. These figures are calculated at seventy-five percent of actual costs and do not include the ten percent co-payments.

Part A and Part B Approach

The JLC considered a two-part approach to financing LTC in Hawaii, modeled after Medicare with mandatory (Part A) and optional (Part B) plans. Under this proposal, the mandatory part would cover institutional or nursing home care supported by a dedicated tax revenue source. The optional Part B portion would cover home- and community-based care.

Private LTC insurance policies vary in their coverage of their home- and community-based benefits; however, most cover "front-end" or lower-level disability assistance, and do not provide enough community-based care; lack anti-lapse provisions (policy terminates for failure to pay the premium); and do not effectively adjust for inflation in paying benefits.

The Part B optional plan considered by the JLC would be a plan publicly sponsored or administered by the private insurance sector, mutual benefit societies, or health maintenance organizations. The plan would provide coverage for two or three years of home- and community-based care with a benefits package to be delineated in an actuarial design that accounts for costs and degrees of impairment. The plan would be offered to all interested persons, with facilitation of purchase through health insurance companies, employers, and labor unions. Policies would contain anti-lapse provisions.

State-Created Private Insurance Company

Concerned that LTC insurance companies could reap financial windfalls at the expense of policyholders in selling policies to employers under an employer mandated scheme, the JLC also explored the possibility of requiring the Hawaii Employers' Mutual Insurance Company (HEMIC) to sell LTC, or creating an entity as a subsidiary of HEMIC to underwrite and market LTC insurance policies to the general public and to government workers. HEMIC was created by Act 261, Session Laws of Hawaii 1996, to sell workers' compensation insurance and employers' liability insurance to companies which could not obtain coverage through insurance companies. These companies were known as assigned risks and were relegated to the residual market. In effect, HEMIC became an independent insurer for assigned risks. HEMIC has been successful in its underwriting and financial operations.

The JLC is aware that HEMIC is restricted by statute to workers' compensation and employers' liability insurance. However, there are significant advantages to using HEMIC, rather than establishing a public trust fund, including most significantly:

1. Avoiding the financial requirements and solvency risks inherent with a public trust fund;
2. Taking advantage of the existing administrative infrastructure of HEMIC to avoid administrative expenses;
3. Providing a ready market for selling policies through employers; and
4. Providing competition to LTC insurance companies.

This approach provides possibilities of lower premiums.

PART IV. STRUCTURING AN LTC PLAN

Preliminary Actuarial Analysis

Pursuant to a request for proposals (RFP) prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau, a contract was awarded to Dr. Nitz, who in turn hired John Wilkins, a qualified actuary in LTC insurance and actuarial consultant to the California Public Employees Retirement System (CALPERS), to advise on establishing a public trust fund. After consultation with Mr. Wilkins, Dr. Nitz reported the following:

1. The preliminary analysis took into account current and pending models of LTC in California, Florida, and Ohio. Based on discussions with the JLC members, the CALPERS model was the focus because it is a voluntary program for public employees;
2. Based on Hawaii's difficult economic circumstances, it is more reasonable to implement a totally voluntary, front-end program that provides a three to four year program of home- and community-based services that includes assisted living facilities and adult residential care homes as valid community service options. In order to control costs, CALPERS requested bids nationwide from professional third-party administrators to administer the desired package of LTC benefits. Hawaii should do the same and not restrict itself to in-state insurers to achieve similar cost control;
3. Because Hawaii's program is intended to be entirely voluntarily, privately financed, requiring no new taxes, as inexpensive as possible, and covering as many people as possible, the actual number of people covered may be fewer than many expect. Employer programs may reach twenty percent participation at most, but typically do not exceed five to ten percent participation. In order to attain ten percent enrollment, it is necessary to offer low premiums and aggressively market the product. Large groups such as public employee unions, private employee unions, large businesses, and trade association groups, should be targeted for Hawaii's program enrollment. Even if only a small number of members from each group decide to sign up, the gross number of these individuals in the aggregate may form a large enough critical mass to make the program workable and affordable; and
4. Consideration should be given to a state-subsidized program by means of vouchers, tax credits, and direct payments to encourage enrollment.

Mr. Wilkins' findings were submitted to the JLC in the form of a report entitled, "Actuarial Issues for the Proposed Long-Term Care Program of Hawaii", for the development of a state-sponsored LTC program.

Alternatives for a Proposed Plan

The JLC developed alternative proposals for a model LTC plan that would preserve personal assets, promote individual peace of mind, relieve family economic pressure, avoid possible reliance upon Medicaid, and stimulate the economy by nurturing the LTC industry in Hawaii. The first alternative is to create a state-sponsored plan by establishing a public trust fund. The fund would be governed by a board of trustees and operate as an underwriter of LTC policies or as a marketing mechanism. The fund would underwrite or market LTC insurance policies, or both, to government and non-government employees and would be financed by premiums or by taxes.

As a premium-based underwriter, the fund would operate in a manner similar to a private insurance company by collecting premiums, accumulating reserves, processing and paying claims either directly or through a third-party administrator, and paying administrative costs. This operation is similar to CALPERS. Enrollment in the plan would be voluntary. The plan would target large groups, including employer organizations, labor unions, retiree groups, and trade associations. The board of trustees would hire a private sector third-party administrator to administer the fund, preferably a large mainland company with proven experience in administering LTC programs. In turn, the administrator would hire an independent actuary to construct the specifications for the program and would also hire private sector care coordinators (case managers) to administer the benefits.

As a marketer, the fund would select a private LTC insurer to underwrite the policy to be sold through the fund. This operation is similar to the Hawaii Public Employees Health Fund (HPEHF) in providing prepaid health insurance to public employees.

A second alternative is to add LTC insurance to HEMIC or create an entity as a subsidiary of HEMIC, as discussed above. This alternative would be financed through premiums from policyholders, who could be government and non-government employees.

A third alternative is for the State to facilitate the purchase of private LTC insurance policies. This can be accomplished through tax incentives. An income tax deduction for employers is an employee benefit that employers may find desirable. The JLC believes that any loss in revenue to the State would not be appreciable and would be more than off-set by the benefits of having large numbers of people insured for LTC. The State would need to increase public awareness about the necessity of planning ahead and purchasing LTC insurance at a young age; mandate the offering of LTC policies through large groups such as state and county governments, private employers, labor organizations, and professional, trade, and occupational associations; and provide income tax deductions for the purchase of LTC policies. The income tax deductions would apply to employees and self-employed as allowed under Internal Revenue Code section 213(d)(1)(C), (d)(1)(D), (d)(7), and (d)(10) for the amount of premium paid for LTC policies; and to employers, organizations, and associations for the amount of premiums paid in whole or in part for LTC policies purchased by their employees or members.

This alternative has other significant advantages:

1. The State would not become an underwriter or compete with private LTC insurers;
2. Inherent liabilities and solvency concerns of a public trust fund would be avoided;

3. Creating more bureaucracy with its attendant costs to administer a public trust fund would not be necessary; and
4. New private LTC insurance products have been developed and are ready to be mass marketed pending regulatory approval.

PART V. CONCLUSIONS

Findings

1. In the current economy, it is not realistic to propose a universal coverage, mandatory LTC financing package that covers home- and community-based care as well as nursing home care. Additional taxes may cause a burden which the majority of people may not be able to afford.

2. Most payments for home- and community-based LTC services are made by the patients or their families. Paying for these costs through an insurance program would minimize expenditures by patients and their families. The costs of these services can be controlled by LTC insurance underwriting principles. In effect, the risk and burden of payment is shifted to an insurer in return for a payment of a premium. Therefore, it may be useful for the State to promote this form of voluntary insurance by helping to define the most typical package of benefits that individuals would want to cover, assessing the genuine likelihood of needing specific services, and establishing regulatory conditions that would guarantee that benefit payments would be available once premiums had been paid, should the insured person become disabled and need the help promised by the policy.

3. The typical LTC insurance policy is deficient in one or more of the following ways:

- Offering excessive coverage for "front-end" or low-level disability assistance;
- No appreciable coverage for community-based care;
- No anti-lapse protection;
- No adjustment for inflation in paying benefits, resulting in inadequate payments to providers and diminished services; and
- Inadequate regulatory scheme regarding insurance reserves.

4. Consumer groups, notably retiree organizations and labor groups, are interested in LTC insurance coverage that falls within a range that their members feel are affordable. A number of employee organizations have put serious thought and effort into finding such insurance packages, often with only limited success -- the packages were often too expensive, or failed to provide protection in the long run.

5. A state-sponsored public trust fund is financially imprudent at this time due to the State's economic condition. The State should be cautious about taking on added financial exposure. The JLC received numerous questions about the state-sponsored public trust fund and financing plan proposed by Dr. Nitz, first unveiled at a JLC meeting on August 3, 1998, which was before the JLC was aware of HMSA's plan to offer an LTC policy that may meet or closely meet the JLTC criteria and specifications. More questions were raised at the public briefings.

The general public reaction to Dr. Nitz's proposed plan at the public briefings was in support for the plan and commendation for the JLC's efforts, but with recurrent reservations about the affordability of premiums, possible disqualification for some pre-existing conditions, and being too little and too late for senior citizens of the present. It was explained that a non-mandatory, premium-based financing system cannot have comparable benefits to a universal, mandatory, tax-based system. A tax-based system is able to spread the risk more evenly over a larger population and can accumulate larger reserves over a period of time. However, a mandatory tax is not feasible at the present.

6. HMSA is preparing to offer, subject to regulatory approval, an insurance policy for LTC that is reportedly very similar to the JLC proposal. Furthermore, HMSA reportedly is using the same administrator on the mainland (the best in the country, according to Dr. Nitz) that the JLC would have recommended the State to use, thereby making that administrator unavailable to the State. The JLC was informed that HMSA plans to begin marketing its LTC policy in December, 1998, or January, 1999.

A readily available mass market for HMSA's LTC policy would be the HPEHF, but it is as yet uncertain whether the HPEHF will select HMSA or any other LTC carrier.

7. There are three alternatives for a proposed plan:

- Relying upon private sector LTC insurers to market policies, which could be facilitated by requiring employers to offer a LTC policy to their employees and by enacting tax incentives for employers and employees, and others who purchase a LTC policy; or
- Developing a state-sponsored plan by establishing a public trust fund to underwrite or market LTC policies; or
- Using a state-created entity such as the Hawaii Employers' Mutual Insurance Company to underwrite and to market LTC policies.

Although the first alternative can be implemented immediately because the private insurance market is far ahead of the State in providing for LTC services, the second and third alternatives could serve to cover government as well as non-government employees and would provide a more equitable and efficient manner of providing universal LTC.

8. The need for nursing home care remains unmitigated in spite of home- and community-based care. Most people at some time in their aging will face the prospect of entering a nursing home. The attendant cost of nursing home care is prohibitive for most people. This causes a great deal of worry and anxiety for elders and their families, not just those over fifty years old. A universal LTC program would be incomplete if it did not accommodate nursing home care.

Recommendations

1. The JLC believes that the proposal to increase the availability of private LTC insurance policies has significant potential.

This proposal however, has drawbacks -- notably that the State loses much control over structuring coverages and underwriting standards for a universal LTC program. Accordingly, the JLC recommends that legislation be introduced in the 1999 legislative session to:

- Amend existing long-term care insurance statutes to provide for desirable minimum underwriting requirements consistent with a universal, cost-effective, and voluntary LTC insurance program;
- Require large groups, such as employers and associations, to offer LTC insurance coverage to employees and members at no cost to the employer or association; and
- Provide tax incentives for employers to offer LTC insurance to employees and for employees and self-employed to purchase LTC insurance.

2. The JLC cannot, at this time, make a recommendation as to an appropriate, adequate, and affordable universal LTC financing plan since there has not been a comprehensive actuarial LTC study. Accordingly, the JLC recommends that the Office of the Governor commission immediately a comprehensive actuarial study of the entire population of the State. The actuarial study should analyze the three JLC alternatives, recommend an alternative, and address whether the plan under the recommended alternative should:

- Be voluntary or mandatory;
- Be administered through private insurance, a state fund, or a state entity as a subsidiary of HEMIC;
- Cover public and private employees, retirees, and other members of the general public;
- Be premium or tax-based funding; and
- Include types of care, such as home- and community-based care, adult residential care homes, assisted living facilities, nursing home care, hospice care, and respite care. (Due to the State's poor economy at this time, the JLC recommends that the State consider including nursing home care as a mandated benefit in any LTC plan, perhaps in three to four years.)

The JLC recommends that the Governor expend the $150,000 budget appropriation to the Hawaii Public Employees Health Fund for fiscal year 1998-1999 (BUF 142, Seq. 95) for an actuarial study on LTC and any available funds under the jurisdiction of the Insurance Division to conduct a comprehensive actuarial LTC study. If the Governor does not expend these funds, the JLC recommends that an appropriation of $300,000 be made to the legislature for this purpose.

3. The Insurance Commissioner recommends, and the JLC concurs:

- That an appropriation be made to enable the Commissioner to hire or contract with a qualified LTC actuary and to hire more staff to adequately review LTC insurance filings; and
- That all LTC insurers, including HMSA, be placed under the Hawaii Life and Disability Insurance Guarantee Association for purposes of offering some form of protection to consumers in case of insolvency.

JLC Co-Chairs Senator Suzanne Chun Oakland and Representative Dennis Arakaki, and other members of the JLC will jointly sponsor the introduction of two bills incorporating these ideas for consideration by the 1999 legislative session.

MISC. COMM. NO. 10

Honolulu, Hawaii

Honorable Calvin K. Y. Say
Speaker, House of Representatives
Twentieth State Legislature
Regular Session of 1999
State of Hawaii

Honorable Norman Mizuguchi
President of the Senate
Twentieth State Legislature
Regular Session of 1999

Sirs:

Your Joint Legislative Committee on Long-Term Care Financing, created pursuant to Act 339, Session Laws of Hawaii, 1997, and having been directed to report to the Legislature by H.C.R. No. 225, H.D. 1, S.D. 1 (1998) entitled:

"HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING A STUDY TO ASSESS STRATEGIES FOR ORGANIZING THE VARIOUS FORMS OF RESIDENTIAL CARE PROVIDERS," begs leave to report as follows:

PART I. BACKGROUNDIntroduction

Hawaii's citizens are faced with an overwhelming financial burden of caring for their elderly and disabled residents. The elderly and disabled population needing long-term care (LTC) will continue to grow as the population ages. The cost of nursing home care is currently the highest of all types of long-term care and is continuing to escalate. Consequently, long-term residential care has become a realistic and cost-effective alternative.

Unfortunately, the organization and regulation of residential care facilities in Hawaii are fragmented. This tends to reduce cost-effectiveness and hamper operational effectiveness of the delivery of residential care services. There is a lack of overall direction and guidance at the state level regarding the delivery of long-term care to Hawaii's residents. Specifically, there is no vision of how residential care facilities and services may be used to alleviate the burden of long-term care in the State. This is reflected in the fragmented structure of regulation for a plethora of residential care category types in both the Hawaii Revised Statutes and the Hawaii Administrative Rules.

There is, therefore, a compelling need to clearly define how residential care facilities and their services can be used. To facilitate this vision, there is a corollary need to re-examine how these facilities are organized for regulatory purposes. Based on a more rational, consolidated, and equitable reorganization of the residential care system, practical operational improvements can then be made to benefit consumers of the system.

Legislative Mandate

Your Joint Legislative Committee (JLC) was created by Act 339, 1997. The JLC members were: Senator Suzanne Chun Oakland and Representative Dennis Arakaki, Co-Chairs; former Senator Roslyn Baker, Senators Andrew Levin, and Sam Slom; and Representatives Marcus Oshiro, Paul Whalen, and Noboru Yonamine.

H.C.R. No. 225, H.D. 1, S.D. 1 (1998), directed the JLC to create a Subcommittee to study long-term care residential facilities in Hawaii. H.C.R. No. 225 also directed the Subcommittee to confer with the Healthcare Association of Hawaii, the American Association of Retired Persons, the Departments of Human Services and Health, the Home Care Association of Hawaii, the Hawaii Long-Term Care Association, the State Planning Council on Developmental Disabilities, the Hawaii Nurses Association, the United Home Care Providers of Hawaii, and the Executive Office on Aging. The Subcommittee members are: Co-Chairs Senator Chun Oakland and Representative Arakaki; Violy Bernadino, Ruth Dias, Maria Etrata, Nancy McGulkin, Kookie Moon-Ng, Bob Ogawa, Roy Pilien, Rose Ann Poyzer, Marilyn Seely, Pat Snyder, Stephan Torak, Joan White, and Helen Yoshimi.

H.C.R. No. 225 also directed the Legislative Reference Bureau to provide research information to the JLC and to assist in drafting the final report.

Approach of the JLC's Subcommittee

The Subcommittee met as a whole on July 22, August 10, August 24, September 8, September 21, October 5, October 19, November 16, and November 24, 1998. In addition, the Subcommittee also met in four separate working subgroups numerous times over the course of the legislative interim.

The Subcommittee conferred with all of the organizations as directed by H.C.R. 225, either through direct membership on the Subcommittee or through participation as additional resource persons invited to attend Subcommittee meetings. These participants included: Espe Cadavona, Yvonne de Luna, Annie Fernandez, Cullen Hayashida, Richard Hioki, Bryan Kagihara, Lita Posis, Angel Ramos, Mildred Ramsey, Kevin Sypniewski, Garrett Toguchi, and Will Young. In addition, information and input were obtained from representatives of the following organizations: Alliance of Residential Care Administrators, Big Island Adult Residential Care Homes, and United Home of Group Operators.

The Subcommittee Co-Chairs were aware that another resolution, namely H.C.R. No. 139 (1998), requested holding a Governor's Conference on the Future Role of the Residential Care Home Industry. Accordingly, the Co-Chairs decided not to mount a duplicative and parallel effort but, instead, build on the work of the Conference. The Co-Chairs believe that this approach is more logical and efficient while appropriately addressing the issues raised in H.C.R. No. 225. Consequently, the Subcommittee examined the three main recommendations that emerged from the Governor's Conference. These recommendations were to:

- (1) Use a uniform assessment tool across facility types;
- (2) Implement a single entry point concept and process for all non-institutional residential care facilities in Hawaii; and
- (3) Improve the regulatory environment to reduce fragmentation in the residential care home industry by consolidating and simplifying organizational categories of facilities, increasing uniformity of regulations across facility types, and promoting parity of provider reimbursement for similar services regardless of facility type.

The Subcommittee directed its attention to an extensive examination of these three issues and makes the following findings.

PART II. SUBSTANTIVE ISSUES

Guiding Principles: The Subcommittee adopted the following guiding principles in dealing with the three issues named above:

- Achieve and maintain high standards of services for clients.
- Make residential care a consumer-friendly system.
- Streamline and improve by simplifying access to the system.
- Reduce fragmentation and overlap in services.
- Increase uniformity of regulation and reimbursement across facility types.
- Promote reimbursement parity: pay providers on the basis of cost of services and not facility type or site of service delivery.

1. Uniform Assessment Tool

The Problem: The Subcommittee recognized that not all long-term care residents have the same needs or require the same level of care. The current system is fragmented. Different types of residential care service providers offer different, similar, and sometimes overlapping services. To comply with different state laws and funding source mandates, agencies and service providers are forced to use separate assessment tools for their residents. In other words, residents are often assessed more than once by more than one agency or service provider in order to receive the appropriate services and as their needs change over time. Moreover, data elements that are not standardized may not be easily shared between agencies or providers.

This inefficient redundancy and lack of uniformity can be at least partially alleviated if patient assessment can be done more uniformly. Data that are collected must be standardized so that they can be shared without modification by agencies and providers. Agencies and providers need to agree on a minimum data set and to standardize all data elements in a common assessment tool. Supplementing this approach, a re-organization of categories or types of service providers (see "3. Regulatory Environment" below) should also help to reduce differences and enhance uniform collection of data.

The Subcommittee met as a whole and in a working subgroup on this subject and noted that the Minimum Data Set (MDS) is already federally required as the assessment tool for skilled nursing facility- (SNF) and intermediate care facility-level (ICF) residents. Because of its comprehensive nature, the MDS contains information for service planning. In Hawaii, Department of Human Services Forms 1147 and 1150 are intended for use as financial eligibility determination tools and as indicators for service planning and placements. The Subcommittee also discussed and ruled out several other systems, including a proprietary client-tracking software system used by the Executive Office on Aging, which were all found to be inappropriate for the purpose.

Finding: After much discussion and the efforts of a working subgroup, the Subcommittee finds that:

- The use of a uniform assessment tool or tools conforms with and acts to further the goals as enumerated in the guiding principles stated previously.
- A uniform assessment tool that contains standardized data collected from clients of residential care facilities in Hawaii will help to reduce system fragmentation, increase efficiency and effectiveness of the system, enhance quality of care for residents, and help to make the system more consumer-friendly.

Recommendations: The Subcommittee recommends that:

- A much scaled-down 6-page version of the Medicaid waiver program's social and health assessment forms, fashioned by the working subgroup, should be used as an assessment tool in all residential care settings above the adult residential care home level. However, the name of this assessment tool should not be in any way associated with, or be reminiscent of, the MDS tool.
- The 1-page form currently being used by the Department of Health termed the "Level of Care Evaluation" should be updated to assure placement of only non-nursing facility level clients, and should be used for all adult residential care homes (ARCH).
- The data elements in the scaled-down tool and the 1-page ARCH tool should be standardized to reduce the need to obtain identical data later on, and to allow different providers to access and share standard information. The data elements should be consistent with the 2-page information and referral screening form, administered at the time of entry, termed the "Coordinated Screening Form (SEPC)," that is recommended for use in the single entry point process (see 2. "Single Entry Point" below). Only one modification needs to be made to the 2-page form by adding the item "attending physician."
- The two tools are meant to elicit basic data that can be shared but does not preclude any agency or provider from obtaining any additional information, as required.

2. Single Entry Point: Concept and Implementation

The Problem: Individuals who potentially require residential long-term care generally do not know how to get care. Many know they need help but cannot articulate their needs in terms of the services that are available in the community. Many do not know what services are available. If they do, they may not know whether they are eligible to receive care, where to get it, and who to ask about it. Hawaii's citizens cannot be expected to be familiar with the confusing jargon, departmental and agency jurisdictional distinctions, or the intricacies and idiosyncrasies of funding requirements that affect their eligibility for services. These intricacies sometimes confuse even those in the industry. What is needed is a simple, uniform, and highly professional way to allow anyone who needs care to easily and quickly access the care appropriate to that person's individual circumstances.

Discussion over the past several years has refined the concept of a single entry point (SEP) for long-term care in general. However, the scope of the Subcommittee's work is limited to residential care. Nevertheless, the concept remains the same. An SEP is meant to serve as a simple and uniform, yet sophisticated and comprehensive information and referral system to allow people easy access into the system. An SEP is similar to a one-stop triage system. An individual is given an initial screening to determine the person's needs so that a quick and accurate referral can be made to the appropriate agency or service provider.

The Subcommittee met as a whole and in a working subgroup on the SEP concept and clarified that the uniform, universal "assessment" done at the time of entry into the system via the SEP is actually an initial information and referral "screening" to determine an appropriate referral. After entry, the accepting agency or service provider uses a uniform universal assessment tool (see "1. Uniform Assessment Tool" above) to develop an appropriate individual service plan. Depending on requirements agencies or providers are mandated to comply with, or on client's individual needs, the agency or service provider may refine a service plan by using further specialized assessments or interviews.

The Subcommittee examined the SEP model proposed by the coordinating committee created by Act 301, Session Laws of Hawaii, 1996, that mandated the Department of Human Services to design and develop a single entry point system for long-term care. That SEP model proposed using the four county area agencies on aging as part of the Executive Office on Aging's Aging Network. It also proposed to contract with ASK-2000 to enhance and update relevant long-term care data including service providers and types of services by provider.

Findings: After much discussion and the efforts of a working subgroup, the Subcommittee finds that:

- The institution of a single entry point conforms with and acts to further the goals as enumerated in the guiding principles stated previously.
- An SEP process for clients requiring long-term residential care should be simple, quick, professional, uniform, consumer-friendly, and accurate.
- The SEP system should provide an information and referral screening function for potential clients of long-term residential care.
- The SEP system should serve the non-elderly (those under 60 years of age), the elderly, and disabled persons of all ages.
- The SEP process should include the conduct of a uniform initial screening for all potential clients at the time of entry (see 1. "Uniform Assessment Tool", above, regarding the "Coordinated Screening Form (SEPC)").
- The SEP system should be implemented by exploiting existing resources to reduce duplication of effort. This should be done by:
 - Financially augmenting the intake and assessment services for persons aged 60 and older that are already being performed by the Executive Office on Aging (EOA).
 - Contracting with ASK-2000, an information and referral organization, to provide initial information and referral screening for the non-elderly under age 60.
- The SEP should not be expanded into a comprehensive client-tracking system which, by its nature, focuses on data after a client is already in the system.
- An SEP system needs to educate the public and help especially those with long-term care needs to become aware of the entire range of long-term care options.

Recommendations: The Subcommittee recommends that:

- The single entry point system should provide simple, quick, uniform, and consumer-friendly access to the system through professional and accurate information and referral screening for potential clients of long-term residential care services.
- The State should establish a single entry point system by funding the Executive Office on Aging (EOA) to augment its Aging Network to perform information and referral initial screening for all persons aged 60 and older. As part of its funded task, the EOA is to expand its screening and referral program to coordinate similar services to be provided by ASK-2000, or other providers as appropriate, for clients under age 60. Development of this system should begin in July, 1999.
- The State should provide similar information and referral initial screening for all persons under age 60 by funding the EOA to subcontract with ASK-2000, a proven local information and referral organization, or other providers, as appropriate. Development of this part of the system should begin in July, 1999.
- Funding for the entire EOA-operated SEP system should include one-time start-up as well as annual operating costs.

3. Regulatory Environment: Overall Vision and Consolidation

The Problem: The elderly and disabled populations in Hawaii are rapidly growing even as the State's resources to meet the long-term needs of these individuals are dwindling. Institutional nursing home care is the costliest. Yet, many people do not need to be institutionalized but can make use of less expensive alternatives such as residential care services. However, several obstacles prevent maximal use of these residential options. First, most people are not aware of the full range of care options. Second, it is difficult to access the system. A single entry point system and the use of universal assessment tools in the previous two sections help to address these two problems. Third, the fragmented structure of residential care in Hawaii and its sheer complexity hamper the efficient and effective delivery of residential care services.

There is no overall unifying framework for the various types of residential care facility types. The following facility types are currently defined, regulated, and authorized under different statutes, a situation that creates confusion even for those in the industry and that gives rise to disparities in provider reimbursement for similar services:

1. Types I and II Adult Residential Care Homes (ARCH):
 - Defined in §321-15.1 Hawaii Revised Statutes.
 - Regulated by Department of Health in §321-15.6, HRS.
 - Rate of payment authorized by Department of Human Services in : §346-53, HRS.
 - (Same as Type I ARCH.)
2. Developmental Disabilities Domiciliary Homes:
 - Not specifically defined in HRS.
 - Regulated by Department of Health in §321-15.9, HRS.
 - Rate of payment authorized by Department of Health in §321-15.9, HRS, but based on payments authorized by Department of Human Services in §346-53, HRS.
3. Adult Foster Homes (for developmentally disabled):
 - Defined in §321-11.2, HRS.
 - Regulated by Department of Health in §321-11.2, HRS.
 - Rate of payment authorized by Department of Health in §321-11.2, HRS, but based on payments authorized by the Department of Human Services in §346-53, HRS.
4. Adult Foster Homes(for elderly):
 - Not specifically defined, regulated, or authorized in HRS but operate as "adult waiver foster homes" under Department of Human Services rules under broad HRS authorization for "duties generally" in §346-14, HRS.
5. ICF-MR Homes:
 - Not specifically regulated in HRS except that in §333F-2(c)(9), HRS, the Department of Health is required to provide "community residential alternatives for persons with developmental disabilities or mental retardation, including group homes and homes meeting ICF/MR standards."
6. Maluhia Waitlist Project:
 - Authorized by Act 165, Session Laws of Hawaii, 1994 (but will sunset on 6/30/99 pursuant to Act 341, SLH 1997).
7. Extended Care ARCHs (Types I and II):
 - Defined and regulated by Department of Health in §323D-2, HRS.
 - Further defined as "expanded adult residential care home" in §321-15.1, HRS.
 - Regulated as "expanded adult residential care home" in §321-15.61 and §321-15.62, HRS.
 - Rate of payment authorized by Department of Human Services in §346-53 and §346-53.4, HRS.

H.C.R. No. 225 inappropriately cited several "facility types." First, the Subcommittee specifically excluded special treatment facilities from the scope of its report because of the short-term nature of services provided in this type of facility. Second, "respite home" is not a facility category type and has no authorization in the statutes although "respite care" can be provided in existing facility types. Third,

"supportive living is a concept and not a facility type nor a specific package of services. Finally, "assisted living facilities" are only defined in the statutes but are not specifically authorized or regulated. However, as of the date of this report, rules are currently being proposed for adoption to regulate assisted living facilities and have reached the public hearing stage.

The Subcommittee met as a whole and in a working subgroup to examine ways to streamline and consolidate the structure of the residential care industry in Hawaii. Input was sought and received from the industry. Discussion focused on consolidating the various facility types to improve efficiency and to promote parity of reimbursement for the type of services provided regardless of the facility type in which the services are provided.

Findings: After much discussion and the efforts of a working subgroup, the Subcommittee finds that:

- Re-organizing the structure of the residential long-term care industry in Hawaii to streamline and consolidate facility types to provide more uniform regulation and to promote parity of reimbursement, conforms with and acts to further the goals as enumerated in the guiding principles stated previously.
- Consolidation and streamlining acts to improve efficiency and effectiveness of service delivery, improve access to the system, encourage maintenance of high standards of service quality by facilitating system monitoring, and promotes parity of reimbursement for services provided regardless of facility type.

Recommendations: The Subcommittee recommends that:

- Long-term residential care facility types in Hawaii should be statutorily re-organized by consolidating facility types to the extent practical and should be regulated in a more streamlined and uniform manner. The statutes should clearly state the intent to consolidate and to provide a unified framework for all long-term residential care in the State.
- All residential care facilities should be placed in three categories:
 - (1) Basic residential care facilities
 - Adult residential care facilities, Type I and Type II.
 - Developmental disabilities domiciliary homes.
 - Adult foster homes for the developmentally disabled.
 - (2) Expanded (ICF/SNF-level) residential care facilities:
 - Expanded adult residential care homes (re-named from "extended care adult residential homes"), Type I and Type II.
 - "Adult foster waiver homes" (informally referred to in the past as "adult foster homes for the elderly").
 - Developmental disabilities domiciliary homes (ICF/SNF-level).
 - Adult foster homes for the developmentally disabled (ICF/SNF-level).
 - (3) Specialized residential care facilities:
 - ICF-MR homes.
- After an appropriate transition period, all residential care facilities for adults must be licensed, to be required by statute.
- After an appropriate transition period, all care providers providing care in residential care facilities for adults in the State must be licensed, to be required by statute.

- The Department of Health should be the single department responsible for all statutory licensing. However, additional staffing must be provided to accommodate the increased workload.
- Statutes that authorize and regulate these facilities should:
 - Impose uniform requirements for all facility types within each of the three residential care categories.
 - Use uniform terminology and definitions across all three residential care categories.
 - Establish specific requirements for each specific facility type within a residential care category, if necessary, to comply with federal and other requirements, while maintaining quality of care for residents.
 - Mandate the Department of Health to adopt rules to implement the re-organization.
 - Include a provision to respect the resident's right of self-determination about choosing where to live.
 - Include a provision to respect the provider's right to not accept a potential resident based on the provider's belief that the provider is not qualified to provide the required adequate and appropriate care.
- The State, through its departments, including, but not limited to the Departments of Labor and Industrial Relations, Human Services, and Health, should work with private sector residential care organizations to educate and train all residential care providers to improve the quality of residential care in the State.
- Parity of reimbursement for residential care should be promoted. Reimbursement for residential care services should be rational and tied to the type of service provided to the resident, regardless of facility type or residential care category.
 - To provide the foundation upon which to base parity of reimbursement, the Department of Human Services, with the assistance of the Department of Health and the residential care industry, should first comprehensively review and categorize all residential care services that are provided in the State and determine existing reimbursement rates for these services.
- To encourage aging in place, subject to the resident's right to self-determination and the provider's right of choice to not accept a potential resident, if a provider lacks the ability to meet the resident's needs, the provider should obtain training to upgrade the provider's skills to meet licensing and training requirements.

Your Joint Legislative Committee has reviewed and approved the report of the subcommittee, as presented above. Accordingly, the JLC recommends that legislation be introduced in the 1999 legislative session to implement the recommendations outlined in the three sections above. Co-Chairs Senator Suzanne Chun Oakland and Representative Dennis Arakaki, and other members of the JLC will jointly sponsor the necessary legislation.

With the filing of this report, the business of the Subcommittee created to study long-term care residential facilities in Hawaii is completed.

Senator Anderson rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I stand on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, after 20 years of being in this Legislature, I called my third press conference today. It was a great party and I must say that Robbie Dingeman from the Advertiser did show. I think the rest of the news media might have been busy. Also, I think with the economic problems that we're having they have cut back on having any of the press around, regardless if it's the printed press or if it's the television people. But if they talk about a two-party system, they're full of it.

"We came up with what I believe was a fair package of what the people wanted. I sent out a survey and got over 700 surveys back. And I think that the response that we got was part of what we are looking at, Mr. President. And now the six major points of the Minority package -- drug testing, streamlining of government, regulatory reforms, education -- are things that the people are interested in. And if the press was not interested, that's tough, because the people are.

"And I would like my colleagues to know, Mr. President, that after 20 years I don't call press conferences for the hell of it . . . never have. And they've always used the excuse that they're busy. So I think the economy has hurt them and I really feel sorry for them.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President, and I think the Minority Leader may have something to say on that. Thank you."

Senator Slom then rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I would just like to add that oftentimes we get calls from our constituents and they say, 'How come no one is talking about that? How come no one says anything about that? How come nobody introduces any bills like that?' And we do, and the media seem to be very selective in terms of what they cover.

"Also, this year people are saying, 'Well, gee, there's no reason for a minority package because the Governor has already said everything that you've been saying for 15, 20 years now.' The Senate President has so very clearly indicated his staunch support for small business and economic reform, and so has the Speaker of the House. So why should there be a package from the Minority? Well let me tell you -- because we have been at it for a long time. We're very happy that you have adopted many of our proposals. But you know what? We're the ones that put our names and our reputations, personally, in advocating these measures. We're the ones that really believe in them. We're the ones that go to the mat to make sure that they get enacted.

"And this year, since it's not a legislative election year, a number of individuals are finding it harder to get specific positions from their legislators. Surveys that are published do not list the names of many of our colleagues nor their positions, as well. So I think this year, more than ever, it's important to have not necessarily a loyal opposition because, Mr. President, we don't want to be opposed. We want to work collaboratively. We want to work cooperatively with you. We stand ready to do that. But what we want to make sure is that there is real intent to enacting the legislation as the kind Minority Leader has said that the public wants, that the public has talked about. We've heard a lot of lip service about change. We want to make sure that there is implementation.

"So we stand ready, once again, to do this, and we hope that the media will continue to help get the word out that, in fact, there are people that are absolutely committed to making these changes.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Anderson rose again and said:

"A short point, Mr. President, if I may.

"Also, since the Minority Leader mentioned the state of the state address and we've got all of these lovely baskets of agricultural products, there wasn't one point made on ag. We have bills for ag. Agriculture is probably the third largest income group that we have. We depend on them.

"So those are the kinds of things that I believe that the media and everybody else should be looking at. How do we help this economy? What group do we back? Who deserves to be helped? Those are the kinds of things, Mr. President, that we're looking at. I'm also putting in bills for gambling, with a referendum.

"You know, if the media is not interested in what we're doing, then they should find somebody else to come down and do their job here.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Slom also rose on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Yesterday, I had the pleasure and the honor of being on the beautiful Valley Isle, participating in the 49th Annual Conference and Convention of the Associated Builders and Contractors Association.

"This was a convention that brought more than 1,800 delegates, small business owners, contractors and their families to the State. It had been planned nearly five-and-a-half years ago. It is still going on, on the Valley Isle. It brought a great deal of people. They were very enthusiastic about coming to Hawaii, and particularly to Maui. They also are spending a great deal and helping our economy.

"And I think the only thing that was really sad, Mr. President, was that there were demonstrations by several hundred union members, many of whom flew over from the Island of Oahu, just to protest and picket these merit shop independent small business contractors. And I think it's incumbent upon us, when we're talking every day about spending more money for the visitor industry, when we have organizations in this State that have signs that say 'No Aloha,' 'Go home, you're not welcomed here,' I think that this has much more of a profound impact on our industry than any amount of money that we could spend.

"So I would suggest that the leaders of these organizations and those of my colleagues who talk to them quite frequently, try to tell them that it is much more important that we present a welcome to all people that come to our State. We welcome what they bring to us and also the message and the invitations that they take back to others.

"So again, thank you, Mr. President."

At 11:46 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:47 o'clock a.m.

MISC. COMM. NO. 13

Honolulu, Hawaii

RE: H.C.R. No. 120

Honorable Calvin K.Y. Say
Speaker, House of Representatives
Twentieth State Legislature
Regular Session of 1999
State of Hawaii

Honorable Norman Mizuguchi
President of the Senate
Twentieth State Legislature
Regular Session of 1999

Sirs:

Your Joint Legislative Committee on Early Childhood Education and Care, appointed pursuant to H.C.R. No. 120, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, adopted by the Regular Session of 1998, begs leave to report as follows:

PART I. BACKGROUNDA. Introduction

Recent research has demonstrated that the early years of a child are most crucial in the child's cognitive, emotional, social, and physical development. This neuroscience research in early brain development, as well as studies in early child development, affirm not only the tremendous opportunities for preventive work with children and families, but also the predictable, costly consequences of not doing so.

Health care professionals agree that quality early childhood education and care is fundamental to the positive growth and development of children into adults, and urge development of policy decisions that recognize the critical importance of the early years and provide support for families so that every young child has a healthy start in life. In developing these policies and strategies for early childhood education and care, the Legislature was urged to recognize that policy decisions must:

- (1) Create learning opportunities to assure that parents are supported in meeting the important task as the first teachers of the next generation;
- (2) Seek to reduce stress in family life and assure that all infants and toddlers are raised in a safe, nurturing, and caring environment;

- (3) Assure that culturally appropriate family support services are available for all young children at risk for abuse;
- (4) Assure that the needs of young children with disabilities and other special needs are met;
- (5) Address the needs of pregnant and parenting teens to assure the best outcomes for themselves and their babies;
- (6) Commit Hawaii to developing universal quality preschool services for young children within the next decade; and
- (7) Commit Hawaii to assuring quality care for all its keiki.

B. Legislative Mandate

In response to these and related concerns, the Legislature adopted Act 77, Session Laws of Hawaii 1997, which recognized a public and private partnership between the State's Interdepartmental Council and the Good Beginnings Alliance to enhance, develop, and coordinate quality early childhood education and care services. In 1998, the Legislature established a Joint Legislative Committee on Early Childhood Education and Care (JLC) composed of eleven members: six members from the House of Representatives, with at least one member each from the Committees on Human Services and Housing, Health, Education, Labor and Employment, and Finance, and one member from the minority party, all to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; and five members from the Senate, with at least one member each from the Committees on: Human Resources, Health and the Environment, Education, and Ways and Means, and one member from the minority party, all to be appointed by the President of the Senate.

The members are Representative Dennis A. Arakaki and Senator Suzanne Chun Oakland, Co-Chairs, Representatives Ezra Kanofo, Alex Santiago, David Stegmaier, Nobu Yonamine, and Barbara Marumoto, and Senators David Ige (appointed in place of Senator Brian Kanno), Marshall Ige, Andrew Levin, and Sam Slom.

C. Approach of the JLC

The JLC held a series of four public meetings for input and discussion at the State Capitol on November 6, December 1, 17, and 30, 1998.

Information was provided by the Office of the Governor, the Department of Education (DOE), the Department of Health (DOH), the Department of Human Services (DHS), the University of Hawai'i, the City and County of Honolulu, Good Beginnings Alliance, the Childcare Business Coalition, Children's Hope International/Asian Media, Family Support Centers, the Hawaii Association for the Education of Young Children (HAEYC), the Hawaii Head Start State Collaboration Project, Hawaii Kids Watch, INPEACE, Kahoolauloa Community Center, MothersCare for Tomorrow's Children, People Attentive to Children (PATCH), Prevent Child Abuse Hawaii, Queen Liliu'okalani Children's Center (QLCC), Seagull Schools, and a number of individuals.

Presentations to the JLC included additional information on the importance of developmental, cognitive, and social growth in the early years, and the need to design an integrated comprehensive, family-centered delivery system to meet the needs of the whole child.

The Committee received an overview of current programs in support of early childhood education and care, including the Office of the Governor's focus on children and families; the DOE's Primary School Adjustment Project (PSAP), special education for pre-schoolers, Families for REAL (Resources for Early Access to Learning), Sequenced Transition to Education in the Public Schools (STEPS), Goals 2000 Grants, and Kindergartners are Most Precious (KAMP); the Childhood Lead Poisoning Surveillance Project, the Children's Trust Fund, and Child Death Review under DOH's Children and Youth Services

Section, Maternal and Child Health Branch (MCHB), as well as programs under the DOH Psychosocial Support Services Section, the Preschool Development Screening Program, the Family Planning Services Section, the Perinatal Support Services Section, and the Hawaii Early Intervention Coordinating Council; as well as the current level of subsidies for childcare to low income families by DHS.

The Good Beginnings Alliance reported on its activities and priorities for the future. Hawaii Head Start discussed its efforts in collaboration with the State; and presentations were made by Family Support Centers, the Childcare Business Coalition, MothersCare for Tomorrow's Children, and the Hawaii Association for the Education of Young Children (HAEYC).

In its meetings, the JLC focussed discussion on the first four of the ten actions of H.C.R. No. 120, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, to:

- (1) Support the Good Beginnings Alliance in the implementation of its duties as delineated in the Good Beginnings Early Childhood Education and Care Master Plan;
- (2) Recommend reallocation of public funds for early childhood education and care;
- (3) Encourage maintaining current levels of funding for early childhood programs and support services; and
- (4) Encourage integrated and responsive policy and program plans that focus on the period before birth through the first five years of life in which all state agencies serving children and families shall consider.

In addition, the JLC held preliminary discussions of action (9), regarding a result-based accountability system using benchmarks and indicators to set goals to focus and coordinate efforts across agencies, between higher and lower levels of government, and between public and private groups at all levels of government; to track outcomes to provide for informed policy decisions impacting programs and resource allocation; and to evaluate programs and policies to determine which programs and policies are effective and to shed light on reasons for the successes or failures.

PART II. RECOMMENDED 1999 LEGISLATION

As a result of its meetings, the JLC recommends legislation for consideration during the 1999 legislative session in support of the first four actions, listed above. The Omnibus Early Childhood Education and Care bill will:

- (1) Establish a revolving loan fund that makes micro-loans of up to $25,000 to start or expand family child care homes or centers;
- (2) Expand the number of childcare subsidies to increase the number of children in licensed child care programs;
- (3) Expand and continue the Accreditation-Mentor Project for Early Childhood program;
- (4) Support the Good Beginnings Alliance as it supports the county and statewide efforts to coordinate programs and outcomes in the early childhood arena;
- (5) Expand the Families for Real project beyond the three current schools;
- (6) Expand the Keiki Play Mornings program;
- (7) Continue to fund programs for pregnant and parenting teens; and

- (8) Provide funding for Childcare Development Associate Training credentials.

In support of the teen pregnancy and parenting programs, the JLC also recommends a concurrent resolution regarding Board of Education policies and support for parenting classes for teens.

Your Joint Legislative Committee on Early Childhood Education and Care, through its members and supporting agencies, will actively support the above proposed legislation as a vital components to the further development of quality programs for Hawaii's children and their parents.

PART IV. REMAINING WORK

The JLC will continue to meet with regards to the first four actions of H.C.R. No. 120, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, listed on the previous page of this committee report, and will develop strategies and priorities to address the remaining six, including more detailed work on number nine, to:

- (5) Support the development of a data collection system to track outcomes and program effectiveness;
- (6) Support the State's interdepartmental efforts to implement Title XXI to assure health care coverage for all children in the State;
- (7) Encourage expanding incrementally the capacity of intensive home visitation services through Healthy Start, or other appropriate programs, to meet apparent needs;
- (8) Support the development of a comprehensive, community support system which will:
- (A) Allow for local decision-making and embrace collaborative approaches to community engagement and oversight;
 - (B) Place a strong focus on achieving results; and
 - (C) Facilitate the creation of flexible financing systems and strategies that link funding to results;
- (9) Adopt a result-based accountability system using benchmarks and indicators to:
- (A) Set goals to focus and coordinate efforts across agencies, between higher and lower levels of government, and between public and private groups at all levels of government;
 - (B) Track outcomes to provide for informed policy decisions impacting programs and resource allocation; and
 - (C) Evaluate programs and policies to determine which programs and policies are effective, and to shed light on reasons for the successes or failures;
- and
- (10) Develop a plan of action to implement its recommendations.

Pursuant to H.C.R. No. 120, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, your Joint Legislative Committee on Early Childhood Education and Care will submit a final report no later than twenty days prior to the convening of the Regular Session of 2000.

Senator Slom rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Some of us may have heard or seen a report that just came out yesterday on management, rating all 50 states, produced by Syracuse University, the Maxwell School of Citizenship & Public Affairs, in conjunction with Governing magazine. In the report card for Hawaii, the overall grade was C-. And some of the things that the survey showed, in relation to our State, I think we need to take to heart because we're always talking in this body about more money. And obviously, our problem is much more deeply seeded than money. It is a question of leadership and a question of management. And that's what this government performance project survey revealed.

"For an overall financial management grade of C-, the report said, 'Largely as a result of its free-spending history and its current problems, Hawaii has one of the highest debt loads in the country, compared with personal income. The current $1 billion capital budget will bring debt still higher. Not surprisingly, there is no "rainy day" fund though the Administration is proposing one.'

"Under capital management the grade was a little better -- B-, under human resources -- C-; the area of managing for results -- C-. And the report said, 'Hawaii and all its agencies develop strategic plans. However, the statewide plan tends to have goals about as contentious as motherhood and pineapple pie. There are no specific measures in the state plan and it doesn't dovetail with the budget.'

"And finally, Mr. President, in the performance project they gave the category of information technology, which we're always talking about and bragging about, a grade of F -- the lowest in the nation.

"Now, people have different responses to these grades, as other people see us, but I think it's time that we pay attention to what we are not doing and correct those things and, again, look at the area of leadership and management, rather than just trying to throw money at some of our problems, or blaming the Asian economy for the failures that we've made.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

At 11:50 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:52 o'clock a.m.

TWELFTH DAY

Friday, February 5, 1999

The Senate of the Twentieth Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 1999, convened at 11:35 o'clock a.m. with the President in the Chair.

The Divine Blessing was invoked by the Reverend Randy Roche, The Newman Center Holy Spirit Church, after which the Roll was called showing all Senators present with the exception of Senators Iwase and Sakamoto who were excused.

The President announced that he had read and approved the Journal of the Eleventh Day.

Senator D. Ige introduced the following individuals from the University of Hawaii who have contributed to the explosive growth of biotechnology research critical in stimulating Hawaii's growth in the biotechnology industry: Dr. John I. Stiles, Associate Plant Molecular Physiologist, Department of Plant Molecular Physiology, College of Tropical Agriculture and Human Resources; Dr. Ryuzo Yanagimachi, Professor of Anatomy and Reproductive Biology, Department of Anatomy and Reproductive Biology, John A. Burns School of Medicine; Dr. Gregory M.L. Patterson, Researcher, Department of Chemistry; and Dr. Richard E. Moore, Professor, Department of Chemistry.

Senator Taniguchi then introduced Paul Tagliabue, Commissioner of the National Football League. Accompanying Mr. Tagliabue were Bill McConnell, Roger Godell and Joe Brown from the NFL; Kurt Gouveia, a proud "son of Hawaii" and starting linebacker for the San Diego Chargers; and Mufi Hannemann, Honolulu City Council Chair.

The Chair then said:

"Because we have so many young children, scouts, from Kalihi, and Kalihi is a community that has produced some of Hawaii's finest football players, I'd like to ask Senator Lorraine Inouye and Senator Brian Taniguchi to escort our commissioner of the NFL, Paul Tagliabue, to the rostrum so that he may make a short speech to our Senators and to the audience. (Senators Inouye and Taniguchi then escorted Mr. Tagliabue to the rostrum.)

"Members of the Senate, people in the audience, it's my pleasure to introduce the Commissioner of the National Football League, Mr. Paul Tagliabue."

Mr. Tagliabue addressed the members of the Senate and guests as follows:

"Mr. President, members of the Senate, and honored guests, I'll just share a couple of thoughts with you about the partnership between the National Football League and the State of Hawaii.

"First of all, it's a pleasure for me and a privilege to be with your other honored guests here today. It underscores, for me, what a diverse state you have, and what a vibrant state you have here. It's a privilege for me to be with the other guests who are in industries that are so critical not only to your future, but to our future as a nation.

"The other thing I would like to say is that partnership is always pleasant to celebrate, and we feel we have a wonderful partnership between the National Football League and the people of Hawaii, relative to the Pro Bowl. But even better than partnership is the opportunity to celebrate a successful partnership, and I think that, as Senator Taniguchi mentioned, what we have here is a twentieth anniversary celebration of a very successful partnership. And for that, we thank you very much for your part in making this so successful.

"The third thing I'd like to say is directed to the young people in the gallery. We are on the eve of the twenty-first century, and this successful partnership, which has concluded the last two decades of the twentieth century, is a partnership that we look forward to sharing with the next generation of Hawaii's leaders who are here in the gallery. And we would expect that for many, many years to come we can continue in partnership with Hawaii.

"We know that our business is sports and athletics and that in a larger picture that's only a small piece of what society has to accomplish, but we hope that with our small piece we can continue to contribute to the vibrancy of your own economy and enable your own economy to provide the type of quality of life that we all wish for our children and are proud to be able to contribute to.

"So, look to the future for the young people and a congratulations and thank you to those of you here in the Senate and especially to Mufi and the others who have been so actively engaged with us. Thank you very much and we look forward to continuing this partnership well into the twenty-first century.

"Good morning."

The Chair responded:

"Thank you very much, Mr. Commissioner, and we hope that the relationship between Hawaii and the NFL will last for another 20 years and beyond."

At 11:51 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:59 o'clock a.m.

"Last night, the Senate Judiciary Committee held a public hearing that lasted more than 7-1/2 hours. First of all, I want to congratulate the co-chairs and committee members for a well conducted hearing. However, I think I should point out that it was a little unfortunate that we do what we do so many times here in the Legislature, and that is, we hold hearings at the convenience of the legislators and not at the convenience of the taxpayers and the public. There was a large crowd that came specifically to testify last night, and many of them were physically locked out of the door (the reason being given that they exceeded the fire rules), but we've had people stand before; we've had people sit in the aisles. And I think it's incumbent upon us that if we expect and anticipate a large crowd, that we might think very seriously about relocating the hearing to a separate location.

"Having said that, though, I would like to say that the questions that my colleagues asked and the issues that were brought up were both reassuring and troubling. Troubling, in that I think many of us who have been very concerned about the fundamental problems involving the integrity of our voting process were not reassured by the head of the Office of Election's inspections, and we certainly were not reassured by the comments by the Deputy Attorney Generals who said that even though the people of this State have a right to access the ballot which is given to them by the law, that they can't have that right until the Office of Elections goes ahead and develops rules. While the individual that's been involved in that has been involved for 18 years and there are still no rules. And I don't think that's any reason to deny people the rights that we have worked so hard to grant them.

"So, I think that much more has to be done, Mr. President. I think that the public still is very concerned, and they don't believe that we have done as much as we can do. But the Senate has taken the lead in this matter and I'm sure that we're going to continue and make some solid progress. But we have to, absolutely, restore the public's confidence in the voting process.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Chumbley also rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, I think that I can speak on your behalf and all the majority members that we do agree with the previous speaker that we must restore public confidence to our voting process. I do want to clarify a couple of points that were made for the members and for those in our gallery today.

"The Judiciary Committee is one of inclusiveness. We invited every single Senator to participate in our hearing, and at certain times we had up to 16 Senators there. We are inclusive in that we gave everyone an opportunity to testify, Mr. President. We stayed until approximately 1:35 this morning and every single person who wanted to provide comments to the committee, regardless if in writing or orally, was given that opportunity.

"In addition, as legislators we are not above the laws, and even though our building does have fire codes which limit occupancy, we try to accommodate everyone. And in an attempt to do so, we installed TVs with monitors that had direct access to the proceedings of the hearing in two locations -- one in Conference Room 225 and one directly outside in the hall, Mr. President. So I would say that your Committee did everything possible to accommodate all those who wanted to testify and all those who wanted to just watch.

"I would like to thank all the members of the Judiciary Committee and the members of the Senate who stayed until the very end. Everyone was given a chance to participate and that's the way democracy works.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson, also rising on a point of personal privilege, then stated:

"A point of personal privilege, Mr. President.

"I didn't plan on saying anything, but since we were saying that we gave everybody a chance to do anything, seven hours sitting on a very hard seat for the people that were going to testify, I don't think was fair and equitable. I don't think it's fair and equitable that we locked people out because we were going to go above the fire code. We have an auditorium. The seats there are very comfortable. If you're going to spend seven hours sitting down to testify to wait, at least you have a chance to be a lot more comfortable, as we are when we have our seating.

"Another thing, we shouldn't have said that we weren't going to have room in 211. We could have had the auditorium. It was free, to the best of my knowledge. We knew ahead of time that there was going to be a large group because the newspapers, the radio and television, all the media, have been concerned about what's happening in the voting. And I think we all anticipated a large crowd. So I don't know if we really were as open as we're trying to make everyone think we were. I think we have a problem when we don't try to accommodate the people that paid for this building, that we make them feel a lot more comfortable in the secured building that they paid for, and we owe them that much.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Iwase then rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I'm rising on a point of personal privilege -- on a different subject matter, Mr. President, perhaps not as serious, but no less important.

"Mr. President, I'm sure some of my colleagues here in the Senate know that I'm a great fan of the Beatles. So, this morning, much to my surprise and enjoyment, I opened the front page of the sports section and saw what I thought was a Beatle in a dancing position. And on closer inspection, as Senators do (we learn to inspect things closely), I noted that it wasn't a Beatle, but it was our own Ben Villaflor. And we will be honoring Benjamin Villaflor, Ben Villaflor, in our own way, but I thought it was very appropriate, and I was very proud that the Advertiser saw fit to write a full-page article about the former junior lightweight champion.

"By the way, for those of us who don't know the Beatles, like the young Senator, co-chair of the Ways and Means Committee, the Senator from Makiki, and not the follicly challenged Senator from Ka'u, the Beatles were a singing group. And I'd like to read from the Advertiser because it has some really nice words about our Ben Villaflor.

'He will be among the 22 newest inductees, former champions, Olympians . . . honored in ceremonies at the Sheraton Waikiki tonight.

'But few will have come as far as the 46-year-old Villaflor. His was a journey from Zamboanga to Hawaii If it wasn't for boxing, Villaflor, now the Hawaii Senate's sergeant-at-arms, said, "I'd still be working on a rubber plantation from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m."

As Senate Sergeant-at-arms, I don't know what the difference is in working on a rubber plantation from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m., but it's different. (Laughter.) No snakes in the trees. (More laughter.) It goes on:

'These days, two decades removed from the ring and a father of three, two of them college graduates, and that's a credit to Ben 'it is hard to tell that Villaflor was once a feared puncher.' And then he gets descriptive and personal about our Ben. 'Only his flattened nose . . .' (Laughter.) I don't know, Ben, about Beatles with a flattened nose. 'Only his flattened nose and a few scars hint at the violent profession he once dominated. Certainly his modesty prevents him from bringing it up unless he is asked about it.

'In that, Villaflor was a rarity in his line of work, someone who was as personable as he was punishing, sensitive as he was strong. So much so that his rival, Shibata, was moved to say that Villaflor was the fighter he most admired.'

"Mr. President, if I may borrow from the line of another British song writer about a different subject, of course, but I think the title of the song is appropriate for him tonight, Rod Stewart's line 'Tonight's the night, it's going to be all right.' I'd like to ask the Senate to join me in congratulating Ben Villaflor, Mr. President." (Mr. Villaflor received a standing ovation and a resounding round of applause from the Senators and staff members.)

At 11:57 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:59 o'clock a.m.

ADJOURNMENT

At 12:00 o'clock noon, on motion by Senator Chun, seconded by Senator Slom and carried, the Senate adjourned until 11:30 o'clock a.m., Wednesday, February 10, 1999.

FIFTEENTH DAY

Wednesday, February 10, 1999

The Senate of the Twentieth Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 1999, convened at 11:33 o'clock a.m. with the President in the Chair.

The Divine Blessing was invoked by Sarah Benson, a student at St. Andrew's Priory, after which the Roll was called showing all Senators present with the exception of Senator Matsunaga who was excused.

The President announced that he had read and approved the Journal of the Fourteenth Day.

The following introductions were made to the members of the Senate:

Senator Slom introduced the following Junior Achievement Hawaii Business Hall of Fame inductees: Lily K. Yao, Vice Chairman of First Hawaiian Bank; Dr. Edison H. Miyawaki, founder of Nuuanu Hale and Liliha Healthcare Center, who was accompanied by his wife, Sallie; and Sidney S. Kosasa, President of the ABC Stores, who was accompanied by Neil Ishida, Human Resource Director of the ABC Stores. Accompanying the group was Pam Huch Kekumano, President, Junior Achievement - Hawaii.

Senator Kawamoto then introduced Admiral Joseph W. Prueher, Commander in Chief of the U.S. Pacific Command, in recognition of his distinguished military career and his service to the United States and the State of Hawaii as he prepares for his retirement from the U.S. Navy. Accompanying Admiral Prueher was his wife, Suzanne.

The Chair then stated:

"Because the military is such an important part of our lives here in Hawaii, I would like to ask Admiral Prueher to make some short comments as he leaves Hawaii into retirement. So may I ask Senators Kawamoto and Bunda to escort Admiral Prueher to the rostrum so he may make some brief remarks to the members of the Senate."

Admiral Prueher addressed the members of the Senate as follows:

"I appreciate this opportunity, and very much the certificate and the recognition to the work that my people have done as all of us ride on the shoulders of others. It's a pleasure to be in this beautiful chambers -- the first time for me -- and to be in front of a Senate body with the prospect, I hope, of not getting grilled too hard on the subject matter at hand. I thank you very much.

"Suzanne and I have enjoyed our time here in Hawaii a tremendous amount. It's a pleasure to be in this State, I think, largely because of the great participation in promoting the freedom of the United States that Hawaii gave during World War II and the State has given subsequently in the proximity to a number of threats in the region throughout the past years. The patriotism and the dedication of Hawaii to her veterans is something that is just a pleasure for me to behold.

"I think as we go forward in a time of protracted peace, which does not come for free, I think of it in terms of tending a garden -- a garden can look pretty good, but it takes a lot of work to keep it that way.

"We must keep in mind the young soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines -- the men and women -- many of whom live in Hawaii. They are different from other people that go around. They are alike in many ways, but they are different in the sense that they have signed up and they have volunteered to spend out their lives in support of democracy so that the rest of us can have the lives that we are able to lead. So I ask you to keep that in mind.

"I thank you very much, again, for the recognition, for the back and forth that we have with the military and Hawaii. It really works very well. We have an excellent dialogue. We don't always agree on everything, but I think we reach balanced decisions because of the people like you and the Senators that are here.

"And again, as Suzanne and I depart, we can't think of a better place than Hawaii with the warm breezes and the warm waters, which are only topped by the warm friendships that we have here. Thank you very much."

At 11:52 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:58 o'clock a.m.

RE-REFERRAL OF SENATE BILL

The Chair re-referred the following Senate bill that was introduced:

Senate Bill Referred to:

No. 290, S.D. 1 Committee on Government Operations and Housing, then to the Committee on Ways and Means

Senator Sakamoto rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"I rise on a point of personal privilege, Mr. President.

"This afternoon, between 1:30 and 2:30, the Small Business Legislative Caucus will announce with the press and, hopefully, with members that there are six different strategic areas that we hope to work together on for this session. The six areas which we all are familiar with are: general excise tax pyramiding, workers' compensation as it regards to stress for personnel actions, corporate income tax reduction, privatization, tort reform, and re-inventing government. There are bills that we've identified, some of the bills at least, that deal with these areas.

"I'm hopeful that most, if not all of us, can agree with the direction that the Small Business Caucus has proposed, and that the bills that we've numbered which may not be inclusive of all the bills addressing those areas, but certainly are bills that do address those areas.

"I hope that all of you will be prepared to review them, if you haven't already, and then have an opportunity to sign in support of these six areas. That will be between 1:30 and 2:30 in the auditorium. If you are unable to make that, one of us will ask you for your support and, hopefully, we can work together on these issues, Mr. President.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson also rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I'd like to point out, Mr. President, that the Governor this morning had some remarks that he made against the Senate. I believe that regardless of how he feels, I think that whenever these resolutions that we have are beneficial for the people, it's unfair that the Governor should be taking advantage of a situation and saying things against the Senate and criticizing the Body as a whole and individual Senators.

"He did say that this was partisan and it's beginning to look that way, and I agree with him. We have two Senators here who happen to be Republicans, but I believe the partisanship isn't there. It's the people against government. That's where the partisanship is coming in, ladies and gentlemen. And I would hope that people would start to realize that the old days are gone. The partisanship and parties are no longer the issue here. It's how the people feel about government and the disrespect and the distrust.

"Thank you very much."

MATTER DEFERRED FROM EARLIER ON THE CALENDAR

ADVISE AND CONSENT

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 62 (Gov. Msg. No. 131):

Senator Chumbley moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 62 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Matsunaga and carried.

Senator Chumbley then moved that the Senate consent to the nomination of REYNALDO D. GRAULTY as Judge of the 17th Division, Circuit Court of the First Circuit, for a term of ten years, in accordance with the provisions of Article VI, Section 3, of the Hawaii State Constitution, seconded by Senator Matsunaga.

Senator Matsunaga rose in support of the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the nominee.

"Mr. President, Reynaldo Graulty is an individual that is more than qualified for the position of Circuit Court Judge. He has 17 years of legal experience in private practice and he has served 8 years in the Hawaii State Legislature -- first as a State Representative and subsequently as a State Senator. In addition, Mr. Graulty was appointed as State Insurance Commissioner in 1997.

"Mr. President, his community activities include serving on the board of directors for the Legal Aid Society of Hawaii. He is also a member of the Juvenile Justice State Advisory Council. At his confirmation hearing, Mr. Graulty was duly questioned by the Judiciary Committee members, perhaps in the same manner that he used to question nominees when he was the Judiciary chair.

"Mr. President, Mr. Graulty's knowledge of the law and views on pressing community issues such as tort reform and auto insurance were impressive and thoughtful. During the hearing, the committee heard several members of the legal community, as well as organizations and private citizens, come forward to voice their overwhelming support for Mr. Graulty. To quote some of the testimony that was reiterated several times, 'Reynaldo Graulty is a fair-minded, intelligent, compassionate and hard-working individual. Mr. Graulty possesses the legal knowledge and ability, professional experience, judicial temperament and diligence needed to be qualified as a Judge in the First Circuit Court.'

"Mr. President, as you can see, this appointment comes with great community support and is well deserved. I am confident that Mr. Grauly's commitment to excellence will enhance and protect the quality of life for all of us in our community.

"And, Mr. President, on a personal note, I'd like to share what Mr. Grauly has meant to me as a Senator. He has taught me how to strive to become a good Judiciary chair. He has taught me how to help keep the committee working together, while respecting deeply held beliefs that may differ. And, Mr. President, he has taught me how to hold true to my principles and convictions with integrity.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Kanno also rose in support of the nominee and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the nominee.

"I have the highest respect for Mr. Grauly's integrity and his contributions to our State. I urge my colleagues to vote 'aye.'

"Thank you."

Senator Kawamoto, rising in support of the nominee, then added:

"Mr. President, I'm rising in support of the nominee.

"Mr. President, I've known the nominee over many years. His integrity and his family are above reproach. His community sensitivity will make him a good judge. His involvement with veterans' affairs has been outstanding, especially with those veterans that became citizens as they fought in WW II and with General MacArthur and they're here in Hawaii as United States citizens, and understands their plight. Therefore, I urge my colleagues to vote 'aye' on this nominee.

"Thank you."

Senator Chumbley also rose to support the nominee and stated:

"Mr. President and colleagues, I rise in support of the nomination.

"Mr. President and colleagues, as a freshman Senator in 1994, I had the great opportunity to be placed next door to Senator Grauly. And I can tell you that one thing I learned from him was to work hard. This individual was in his office many, many late hours. We used to sit down together and talk about the challenges and the issues that we faced. And I've never met an individual that has shown so much integrity and so much hard work. As a mentor, he showed me that this is the way to succeed, and that hard work is something all of us can contribute for the betterment of this State.

"We have questioned him about many difficult issues, including judicial restraint. And I believe that this individual has the will, and the integrity, to separate his responsibility from a legislator who made laws, to a judge, now, who can interpret the laws.

"I'm very happy and very pleased to support him for a Circuit Court Judge.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition.

"There is no question that the candidate is above reproach. He is honest, hard working, knowledgeable, and experienced in many areas. I've known the candidate from the time he was in the State House, the time he was in the State Senate, and after he lost his re-election bid when the Governor appointed him to the position of Insurance Commissioner.

"It's my understanding, however, that people know the candidate primarily as a politician, because he does not have courtroom experience. It's also my understanding that a list of six individuals were sent to the Governor for choosing -- four of those individuals were District Court practicing judges, one was a private attorney with a great deal of courtroom experience, and the final was the candidate. The Governor, known primarily not as an attorney or for his courtroom experience, but known as a politician, selected another politician.

"The question is, Is the candidate the best qualified individual at this time? And I would suggest that the answer to that, with all of his qualifications, is no.

"What message is it that we are sending to experienced District Court Judges who work their way through their experience to the Circuit Court level? What experience and what message are we sending to the electorate in the district that chose someone else the last time that the candidate ran for public office, since we do not elect our attorneys or the attorney general in this State? What message do we send to the public who already have many concerns about our Judiciary and its make-up? They're not that concerned about judges not being able to live on $90,000 a year. They're more concerned about who the judges are; where they come from; who selects them; and the fact that they seem to be overwhelmingly political appointees in one particular party.

"And finally, Mr. President, what message is it that we send to the public who have a perception that, in our State, anything involving the government, the overriding consideration is who you know, rather than what you know.

"We have a duty, and it's not a pleasant duty, to stand up and oppose anyone for any reason, particularly, someone who is qualified. But we have a duty to put this State back in order and to restore the public's trust. We see how they feel about the election process, and those of us who go outside of this chamber and outside of this building know how they feel about the judges and about the Judiciary and its positions. I think that if we really want to send a message, we have to send a message that we need the very best qualified, and we have to stop making political appointments. We have to send a message that the real concern has got to be merit, accountability, responsibility and genuine judicial reform.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 1 (Slom). Excused, 1 (M. Ige).

At this time, Senator Matsunaga introduced Judge Grauly to the members of the Senate. Accompanying him was his wife, Gigi, other family members, friends, and colleagues.

ORDER OF THE DAY

STANDING COMMITTEE REPORTS

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 86 (S.C.R. No. 31, S.D. 1):

Senator Chumbley moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 86 and S.C.R. No. 31, S.D. 1, be adopted, seconded by Senator Matsunaga.

Senator Hanabusa rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of these resolutions.

"These resolutions represent what the people of this State want from their Legislators. They will evidence, first, the leadership -- the ability of the President of this body to respond to the cry of the people and to bring together a bi-partisan resolution. Second, these resolutions evidence my colleagues' unflinching conviction to restore the public trust -- putting the public good above their own; setting aside their personal concerns. In particular, Senators from the Wahiawa, Kahaluu and Downtown districts are very noteworthy. They had very close races, and I am in awe of them. Third, these resolutions show the ability of this Senate to act as one to craft a solution under the auspices of our co-chairs of the Judiciary Committee.

"Finally, I would be remiss if I did not say that not only should the people's faith and trust be restored, but this freshman Senator's, as well, for we have shown that we are an issue-driven body, here to serve the people of this State.

"My colleagues, I ask that you continue your support of these resolutions. Let us pass these resolutions to show the people that this body is ready to take on the people's business, to put them above all, no matter how difficult, no matter who criticizes us, and no matter the personal cost.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Iwase rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'm rising to speak in support of the resolutions.

"Mr. President, the Attorney General's opinion which is cited in the committee report accompanying the resolution, both resolutions -- concurrent and resolution -- states that only the Supreme Court can order a re-count in contested elections. I believe that is a correct statement of the law. It is also clear, under the law, that only the Supreme Court can invalidate an election, or decide which candidate was elected when there has been a challenge to that election.

"I think it is also clear that the Legislature cannot order a re-count of an election and I think it would be difficult for us to be in a position, given the inherent conflict that we are all elected officials, to order re-counts of an election. It is the province of the Supreme Court.

"However, this resolution appears to be a prudent compromise, given all that has occurred. And given the controversy, it would be appropriate and prudent for the Chief Election Officer to comply with this resolution, particularly, if it is passed by both Houses of the Legislature. It may become more problematic if just the Senate enacts that resolution; it does not have the force and effect of law.

"The question that remains is, and that's the reason I rise to speak, Mr. President, What do we do hereafter? The Legislature is a policy-making body. We are not an adjudicatory body. We enact laws, including laws governing the election. If reforms are needed, then we must act. The focus must not be on just this election, but others to follow.

"The concurrent resolution points out problems that occurred with this election -- fiscal constraints, lack of staff, the technology was not updated. And so we must ask, How much more money is needed to upgrade the system, to hire staff, and to educate the public on the new election system? Who should conduct the election? In the 1995 Special Session, Act 27, I believe, we, the Legislature, temporarily moved jurisdiction of the conduct of elections away from the Lt. Governor to a Chief Election Officer with the intent that there be accountability, and that the elections be conducted efficiently, and that the public have faith and confidence in the election process.

"Should we re-visit this question, given what has transpired, so that we can assure accountability in the conduct of an election? And let me point out that in that act we left sole responsibility for conducting an election with one individual -- not a committee, not a commission -- because we felt that one individual, leaving it with one individual would insure accountability. Questions are now raised. Are there deficiencies in the laws regulating challenges to election results so that the Supreme Court cannot have jurisdiction? If so, what are they, and what corrective action should be taken?

"Now, Mr. President, with respect to the first question -- the money for the election in purchasing equipment and training staff and educating the public -- that's for the money committees. Hopefully, that will be closely reviewed.

"Second, with respect to the other questions, I believe they can be and should be revisited by the Judiciary Committee, perhaps commencing tomorrow when hearings are conducted on S.B. 1462, which seeks to make permanent the Office of the Election. If we are to restore voter confidence in the elections, then it is not sufficient that we pass just a resolution, because questions will remain. And if results show that others were elected who are not sitting here, we cannot change that election result, will that engender voter confidence? Suppose a race where an individual won by 80 percent of the votes, it is determined that he lost . . . a whole lot of questions will arise.

"Therefore, I think what we should do is to dispassionately review this election and determine, dispassionately, if grievous errors or fraud was committed; enact responsible reforms which address any findings of substantial error or fraud; and seriously revisit the question of who should conduct this election, any election conducted in the State of Hawaii -- the Chief Elections Officer, the Lt. Governor, a commission -- because, again, just four years ago -- just four years ago -- we made a change. We made a change with the intent to improve the election process. We made the change to insure voter confidence in the election process. And in 1999 we are confronted with the question, a controversy as to whether or not an election was conducted appropriately with sufficient staff, voter confidence was engendered or deteriorated? And hopefully, those questions will be revisited because this resolution alone is not enough.

"Thank you."

Senator Chumbley rose to support the resolutions as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the two resolutions.

"Mr. President and colleagues, I wholeheartedly agree with the previous speaker that the action taken on these resolutions today, in and of itself, by itself, is not enough to restore voter confidence; that we must go much further than just the adoption of these resolutions.

"In 1995, as a member of this body, I voted in support of Act 27 to move the Office of Elections out of the oversight of the Lt. Governor's Office, and I think that was the right direction. And I believe that was a correct vote that this body made. And in addition, I agree with the previous speaker that we must go further.

"Mr. President and colleagues, tomorrow on the Judiciary's agenda, in Room 229 starting at nine o'clock, there's a whole series of bills that not only deal with the oversight of the Office of Elections but deal with the issue of, Should we have a manual re-count when there's an election determined within a certain percentage? And should we have a commission that has direct responsibility over the Chief Elections Officer? Constitutionally and statutorily, the Chief Elections Officer is directly empowered. And I think that we need to restore that confidence that we have always had in our Elections Officer in this State.

"I want to say also, Mr. President and colleagues, that we need to applaud and acknowledge the countless hours the volunteers and the election observers put into this effort. They have committed themselves to do voluntary work throughout our State and it is not the integrity or the honesty that is in question of those individuals. It is the mechanical aspects and the malfunctions of the machines under the OMR technology that is in question. Those individuals have contributed to democracy in our society and those individuals should be recognized for the honesty and integrity that they have committed to the process.

"Mr. President and colleagues, I believe all of us in the Senate are committed to restoring voter confidence, and I want to move forward with the OMR technology because it is the technology of the future. Let's not step back to the punch system. Let's continue with OMR, but let's create an oversight and let's create a process that all voters in this State can believe in and that everyone can be assured that their vote does count.

"I urge all of my colleagues to support these resolutions.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'm in favor of the resolutions, however, normally when I speak I don't like to read something and because I don't want to try to go over the same avenues of the rest of the Senators, I'd like to just point out that in adopting these resolutions we should also be equal opportunity critics.

"Let's recognize that the elections division is not alone in encountering problems with new technology and that there is enough blame to go around for everybody. When it comes to high technology and computer systems, our government landscape is littered with problems. Our own Legislature system has failed and we have not been able to correct that, so we're going to limp through this coming session.

"Also, let's look at the Governor, who significantly reduced the appropriation for the elections division and the Legislature who followed suit; the Legislature, who repealed that section of the election laws that applies to the existing problems we now face and who failed in 1997 and 1998 the elections division bill that would have restored that section of law, the bill that was reintroduced this session and we should pass that particular legislation this year. The elections division is accused of not promulgating the required rules and regs and we should follow up on that.

"The most basic right, Mr. President, of the citizens is the right to vote. We were penny-wise and pound-foolish to try and hold an election with a cheap part of a system that we could not afford to do it right and it was our fault, not the Elections Office. (I have a hard time when I have to read something, Mr. President. I would rather talk from the heart, but I was told by different people that they have a hard time following me at times.) (Laughter.)

"Mr. Yoshina was faced with an emergency situation caused by the administration denying him significant personnel to conduct an election in the old and investigation should have been included, but we failed. We failed, not the department, Mr. President. And I would like to say that the Advertiser on January 16 has the Governor saying, 'The State law is silent on what happened, and a recount determined would not change anything.' Yet, on the same day, Mr. Welsh said that the company officials knew of the Waianae Precinct problem, but the State law prohibited them from doing anything. If there was such a problem and we knew it, they should have come to us and asked us to correct it. I think the citizens deserve that.

"I sit in committees day after day where there's problems. We all know it, and we continually deny to put bills forward that are going to correct these problems. We continually make laws that you could drive a Mack truck through. We have to change that procedure. We don't make laws for every attorney to say, this person has to have their day in court. We should be making the laws for the people, making them very stringent. The courts could say this is the problem, and then if there is a flaw within the law or if there's a loophole, that very wise attorney would find it. But to make a law so bad that it really doesn't apply to the needs of the constituency and for the reasons that we are here, is absolutely wrong.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

The motion was then put by the Chair and carried, the report of the Committee was adopted and S.C.R. No. 31, S.D. 1, entitled: "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION URGING A FULL, COMPLETE, AND DULY SUPERVISED AUDIT OF THE 1998 GENERAL ELECTION RESULTS," was adopted.

SUPERVISED AUDIT OF THE 1998 GENERAL ELECTION RESULTS," was adopted.

Senator Kawamoto, for the Committee on Transportation and Intergovernmental Affairs, requested a waiver of the 72-hour Notice of a Public Hearing, pursuant to Senate Rule 20, on S.B. No. 1359, and the Chair granted the waiver.

Senator Taniguchi, for the Committee on Commerce and Consumer Protection, requested a waiver of the 72-hour Notice of a Public Hearing on S.B. No. 1452, and the Chair granted the waiver.

Senator Anderson rose on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, I'd like to give out some information on a survey that I sent out right after the first of the year. I had this done and I think it's pertinent to what we're doing today because the constituents that I represent are a good cross-section and I believe that they represent the same concerns that your constituents have.

"In this, I asked for different items for education, such as district management of schools, appointment of the head of DOE, charter schools, vouchers, tax credits, streamlining government by making a unicameral system, gambling with a referendum -- an advisory referendum, not a binding referendum. We had lottery, shipboard gambling, bingo, horse racing. We also had mandatory drug testing for public employees, including elected officials. We also had down here to allow voters to propose and approve laws on legislation through initiative referendum and recall. We had domestic partnership benefits, unrelated partners of same sex, related partners of any sex, and also capital punishment, Mr. President.

"What's relevant in this is they paid to mail this back to me. In all the surveys I've ever done, this one got the most attention and I received 864, I believe, was returned. Out of this, the other morning we had on an editorial that people were against capital punishment. On that particular item, we had 605 in support, 233 opposed, and no opinion on 36. And the reason why that one was more than the normal that we got back was because we counted only those ballots that we got back. But some of the people wrote down 'this ballot is also for my wife,' or 'this ballot is for so and so.' So it's above the number of ballots that we got back.

"On the lottery, shipboard gambling, bingo, horse racing, it came out where we had 456 supporting the lottery; 387 supporting shipboard gambling; 401 supporting bingo; and 212 for horse racing. On the other side, the opposing was 353 on the lottery; 402 on shipboard gambling; 382 on bingo; and 486 on horse racing.

"Now, they did have 'no opinion.' But in reality, what they wrote down here is some people said, 'I don't want gambling, but I want to vote.' Others said, 'I just want to vote.' They didn't have any numbers written down.

"If you were to look at putting down percentages, it would run around 78 percent in favor of an advisory referendum. I've always believed that it's right for us to allow our constituents input, but if we're not going to hear bills, then we won't know and we won't have dialogue; we won't have anything. The people who come here, normally, are either for or against any issue -- they're special interest. This one represents the people who probably won't be able to come down to our Legislature, but they took the time and they placed their own money on this, and I think that's fair. As I said, it's the best survey I've ever gotten back.

"When you can have the people say capital punishment, for instance, is opposing anything that the editorial said. But we won't have a hearing on capital punishment and when we do, we get all the churches down here who are opposed to it. And then you say, 'Well, the reason we're going to kill this is because it's overwhelming.' Well, naturally, it's overwhelming. I don't think the churches want anybody to be put to death, and I don't think any of us do. It says, for a specific type of crime.

"Years ago, we had a mock legislature down here of young people, and you know what they said about the Legislature? May I, Mr. President? (Chair: "Please proceed.") They said we had no guts because we would not implement any type of legislation such as castration for rape in the first degree that other states have. And I've had it in there for years. But you know why we won't have a hearing? Because it's controversial. Well, why are we here? Are we here only to amend particular pieces of legislation for special interest groups? Are we only here to put in the bills that people want or the departments feel that is great. I don't mind controversy. I think it's fair and I think it's fair that we have dialogue between one another. That's what life is all about.

The real people out there think we're a bunch of clowns, that we don't even care how they feel. And that's factual. And that's why on opening day I said, even for things that we say we believe in, we really don't even fund it.

"Thank you very much for listening to me, Mr. President and my fellow colleagues."

RE-REFERRAL OF SENATE BILLS

Senate Bill	Referred to:
No. 635	Jointly to the Committee on Labor and Environment and the Committee on Judiciary
No. 677	Jointly to the Committee on Labor and Environment and the Committee on Transportation and Intergovernmental Affairs
No. 1230	Jointly to the Committee on Health and Human Services and the Committee on Judiciary
No. 1623	Committee on Ways and Means

Senator Kawamoto, for the Committee on Transportation and Intergovernmental Affairs, requested a waiver pursuant to Senate Rule 20 for S.B. No. 17, and the Chair granted the waiver.

Senator Iwase rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I'm rising on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, I'd like to express some comments about an article which appeared in this morning's newspaper, Section B, written by Mr. Kresnak who's no longer with us. But it's titled a 'Major tax overhaul not likely,' and in it, it quotes the Senate as saying that major tax initiatives are not likely to pass in the Senate and that the Senate's priorities would be 'to determine which state services are essential and to underwrite retroactive pay raises to government employees.'

"Mr. President, I can agree with the sentiments expressed with respect to which state services are essential, and matters relating to retroactive pay, relating to down-sizing government, because it is important when we talked about, in the beginning of this session, the economy and the actions which must be taken by the Legislature to send a message to those who would come to Hawaii that this is a business-friendly state, that we will undertake reforms, that we recognize problems. Reducing government expenditures is one. But I think it is also very important that we undertake tax reform if we are to send a message that this State is willing to undertake major reforms to improve the business climate and to improve the State's image.

"And while there may be issues relating to the House bill -- the sales tax, eliminating the personal income tax, which by the way, I think, would result in double digit sales tax cost to the public -- I think that we have to initiate and look at proposals. There is Senate bill 502 which relates to the value added tax. It is one which phases in tax reform but it does seek an end goal of eliminating the GET. Eliminating the GET would eliminate the pyramiding issue and it phases this whole process out to the year 2002 and allows the Department of Taxation direct input in drafting the bill, in looking at whether it's necessary.

"But I hope that as we move along (this is a single referral bill) that the Senate would not be foreclosed from looking at major tax reforms, particularly the GET, with the hope and the goal of eliminating the GET and also with the hope and the goal of establishing a fair tax system in a service industry oriented economy, in contrast to a manufacturing industry oriented economy. We are no longer a manufacturing economy. We are a service economy, and our tax base must reflect that.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Anderson rose on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I've been out for a couple of days, Mr. President, but I did receive the Governor's report dated Friday, February 19, on a news release that the Governor pursues high-tech and that they will be going to Silicon Valley. And accompanying the Governor is Senator David Ige, Representative Marcus Oshiro who is the Vice Speaker of the House, Representative David Morihara who's chair of the House Committee on Higher Education, and Representative Hermina Morita who's chair of the House Committee on Energy and Environmental Protection.

"Mr. President, what I want to know is whatever happened to the post-election rhetoric of the Governor and the Senate about all working together for the common good. If I remember correctly the word used was 'collaboration.'

"The Governor's Friday news release lists the members of the delegation that he will lead to Silicon Valley, but guess what? Not one elected Republican is to be included -- not Senator Sam Slom who's not only the Minority Floor Leader but he's also a member of both of those committees, and not Representative Pendleton who's the House Minority Floor Leader, nor Representative Fox who happens to have the expertise in economic development. I would like to quote, Mr. President, from our former Senator Mary George. And in this regard, I quote:

'For a very long time Republican ideas have been put forward in this Legislature, some of them very good ideas, indeed. They have usually been unnoticed; a few have received modest committee hearings; an occasional proposal reaches the floor and is advanced to decent burial in the other chamber. Some few even became laws. A large number of them, in good Hawaiian tradition, were "hanai" by a Democrat parent and enfolded in a Democrat bill, promoted into law with its birth parentage forgotten.

'Mr. President, esteemed colleagues, the Minority is far more than what you see before you. Sometimes we speak for all the people who didn't vote for you in your districts; for all the people who disagree with you on any one of a great number of issues; for all the people who think they might have a better idea and feel they haven't gotten your attention.'

End of quote, Mr. President.

"Mr. President, regardless of what everybody feels or thinks, the people who voted for the few Minorities that are here, and I do say myself and Senator Slom, happen to be the highest ranking Republicans voted into office. We may not have the governorship, the mayorship or whatever (excuse me, I'm talking state), but we are the highest elected. And with 20 years and of 60-something years of age, 67, I'm also the oldest and the highest ranking because I'm the Minority Leader. And you seem to forget that, and so does the news media at times, and others. But we care about what's going on around here. And if you're going to have the Governor send down information like this, I believe that Senator Slom -- not just because he's the Senate Minority Floor Leader but because he sits on both of those committees -- is very well acquainted with higher education and economic development because he's involved in business. He should have been invited. And I think it's a shame that he wasn't.

"Far too often, Mr. President, we are not only forgotten, but we are blamed for objective partisanship. We are all here together and what we have to do is forget about partisanship. There's too few leaving this business world today to the people who don't understand what's going on. And I told you, the only partisanship that we have is people against government.

"I read your Majority package. It sounds good. It tells people we're going to do this and we're going to do that. You don't do a damn thing, primarily because you listen to others -- department heads and those people who have special interests. And most of us elected here have special interests. I don't give a damn what you say. You have special interests and you're concerned with those interests, and you put them first above the needs and what's happening to the people out there.

"Thank you very much for listening to me this morning. Thank you, Mr. President. I'm glad to be back."

The Chair responded:

"Thank you and welcome back."

At 11:51 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Senator Slom rose on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I notice, by news accounts, that our Governor has distinguished himself at the recently concluded National Governors' Conference, distinguished himself in threatening that if the states do not get the vaunted settlement from the tobacco money -- approximately $206 billion, of which $1 billion is supposed to come to the Hawaii over 25 years -- that he and other governors might be compelled to file suit against the federal government.

"You know, Mr. President, I think that the population is growing weary. They hear all our speeches. They hear us talk about how we're concerned about young people, how we're concerned about everybody else. But when all is said and done, what we're doing is fighting over money. And we're fighting over which group of lawyers is going to get most of the money.

"The idea is not where the money is going to go but whether it's going to go to the federal government or to the state government, whether it's going to go to this attorney or that attorney. And I think we've lost sight of the fact of what this settlement was supposed to be for. We're even talking here about taking the primary share of the proceeds -- when and if we get any of that money -- to have a rainy day fund, and then as an after-thought, to be used for youth education programs and non-smoking programs.

"We've got to get our priorities right. We've got to start thinking about what is the right thing to do, rather than who's going to get the money, and who's going to get the credit.

"So I think that this is the message -- rather than talking about how we're going to sue people further, because so far the only people that I think have benefited from this largesse have been the attorneys in the first place, I think it's something that all of us should bear in mind.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Levin, for the Committee on Ways and Means, requested a waiver pursuant to Senate Rule 20 for S.B. Nos. 600, 612, 926 and 1106, and the Chair granted the waiver.

ORDER OF THE DAY

THIRD READING

S.B. No. 680, S.D. 1:

Senator Kawamoto moved that S.B. No. 680, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Chumbley.

Senator Kawamoto rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"Mr. President, after hearing the outcry of this past New Year's, your Committees on Transportation and Intergovernmental Affairs, and Judiciary worked together to craft a bill that answered many of the concerns of many Senators that had interest in the fireworks bill. We established a bill, from the safety and health and enforcement view, of a total ban for the State. We also established a procedure where the counties, with positive actions and ordinances, can elect to opt out from this total ban. Also, in the total ban we have provided opportunity for religious and cultural purposes.

"This bill is a good bill. It provides us a platform in which to take this bill over to the House. So I urge all my colleagues to vote 'aye' on this bill."

Senator Iwase rose to speak on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I'm rising to speak in support of the bill with reservations.

"Mr. President, celebrating New Year's Eve with fireworks is a custom and tradition interwoven in our islands' history. It is part of our islands' culture. The historian Arthur M. Schlesinger wrote that, 'History is to the nation as memory is to the individual. As an individual deprived of memory becomes disoriented and lost, not knowing where he has been or where he is going, so a nation denied a conception of its past will be disabled in dealing with its present and its future.'

"The previous speaker mentioned cultural exemptions. I'm glad that is in the bill. But what is our culture? We have defined it in our laws. Section 9-1, Hawaii Revised Statutes, defines culture to include 'customs, traditions, mores, and history of all of the various ethnic groups of Hawaii' -- all of us as a people. And it is perhaps true that fireworks was brought to us by one of our immigrant groups, but in this melting pot called Hawaii, that is true with so many things that make this place different and unique. And in these differences are the history of our people, and we must preserve those things which are unique to us as a society. We have pidgin English because the various ethnic groups needed to communicate with each other. We have mixed-plate lunches because the various ethnic groups shared with each other. And we have 'aloha' for each other because the Hawaiians taught us how to live together in this crowded and diverse island community.

"Are fireworks on New Year's Eve part of our tradition and custom? I think so. And that is why in a recent poll it showed that our community is evenly divided on whether or not to ban fireworks. I doubt that such a deep division of the house would have occurred in any other state in this Union.

"Mr. President, I believe the people expect us to find the right balance between an outright ban of fireworks versus unrestricted and unrestrained use of fireworks. And in this regard, I believe that the suggestions offered in the February 20, 1999 article in the Star-Bulletin by Mr. Blaine Fergerstrom which calls for stricter controls, but not a prohibition, are excellent. And I hope that the Senate pursues his suggestions without starting from the position that we ought to ban fireworks.

"I also hope -- and that is why it's so important to remember -- I also hope that we remember that the present is a bridge between our past and our future. Those of us who live in the present have a special responsibility to preserve and protect our culture for future generations. Our traditions, customs, and history will remind us who we are, who we are as a people, and it will therefore give us the strength and the security as a people to make decisions consistent with the values in our island community.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Tam spoke on the measure with reservations and stated:

"Good morning, Mr. President and fellow colleagues. I speak in favor of this bill with reservations.

"First of all, I want to thank the Transportation and Intergovernmental Affairs Committee and the Judiciary Committee for dealing with this emotional issue, and also a health and safety issue.

"I have spoken to many of the Chinese in the community. As you well know, I get quite involved, and in my dialogue with them they have signed petitions. These petitions, so far, within a two-weeks' span, number over 250 signatures. Please keep in mind that many of these Chinese are of multi-culture. In Hawaii, we are a multi-culture state. Fireworks is part of our culture. Let me mention in terms of what the petition states, 'We, the residents of the State of Hawaii want a legal mandate to burn fireworks for cultural and religious purposes.' Before proceeding on, let me also thank the respective colleagues of mine in the respective committees for inserting within the bill that fireworks can be burned for cultural and religious purposes. Unfortunately, we had some things we have to further discuss on this, and I acknowledge that the bill, as it goes through the legislative process, will be amended.

"The petition further states that this mandate shall include the following:

- (1) The mandate in regard to the use of fireworks must be consistent in all counties of the State of Hawaii.

Let me explain as to why. Basically, when you have four counties, each respective county has its own county council and its own respective mayor. Imagine in terms of the confusion from one island to the next when we're supposed to be joining hands in unison, statewide. As an example, I, myself, am involved in the Chinese community with a society called 'Ket On Society,' which is a very religious, mason society. We have associations not only on this island, but also in the County of Maui. I happen to be the vice president of the society. It's going to be confusing for me whereby the culture and religious practices for the use of fireworks are at different times and different dates, respectively, because the county is not understanding the logistics on the use of fireworks. And furthermore, for our young ones, imagine the confusion in their culture and heritage across the State of Hawaii.

- (2) A committee consisting of cultural and religious representatives shall technically determine the events, dates, time, and amounts of use of fireworks.

The question is, Why should we determine it here on this floor or in the Legislature when basically we should ask for those who have knowledge of the culture and religious practices on the use of fireworks? Currently, our state law states in the use of fireworks, and in regard to the Chinese use of fireworks on Chinese New Year, it's permissible to use fireworks from nine p.m. on Chinese New Year's Day to one o'clock in the morning of the next day. That is wrong, erroneous. Whoever came up with that idea in the statute, didn't know enough about the culture. The Chinese community culture uses fireworks for Chinese New Year's Day, before the first meal in the morning to welcome the new year. And also, when the family gathers for the family dinner, they will burn fireworks again, just before having the family dinner. And that's it. So, we're talking about maybe a two-hour span in the morning and a two-hour span in the early evening. We're not talking about in terms of, say six to seven hours, basically. That is ridiculous. That's a misuse of fireworks. Thirdly, this petition states that:

- (3) Aerial fireworks are excluded in the use of cultural and religious practices.

Once again, when this bill moves on, I hope that amendments will be made whereby we can correct our misunderstandings in the proper use of fireworks.

"I'd like to emphasize that legislation must be practical and enforceable, and as the bill right now, it has some flaws. But I'm not faulting anyone here because we are all in a learning stage and culture has been around for so many years, so many different practices. Once again, we are a multi-cultural state. People get confused. And sometimes we get confused here in terms of the right way of using fireworks.

"I wish to also state that we need more enforcement. I was told of an example. I ran into a wholesaler of fireworks and it was just after last Christmas. I ran into him at Kmart at Waikēle. He was putting up his display and he said to me, 'Rod, I'm confused.' I said, 'What's wrong?' I told the Honolulu Police Department that illegal containers of aerial fireworks were coming to Hawaii and it's going to be docked at the docks in Honolulu, Hawaii. And he said they did nothing -- nothing at all. That's amazing.

"When you think about it, we create legislation but it's not enforceable or it's not desired to be enforced. I had the opportunity to talk to the Director of Public Safety in January, and I asked him, 'What if we have a joint law enforcement of fireworks, whereby his department along with the counties' law enforcement (the police departments) would go to the docks, open up the containers, and those who have proper permits, those fireworks would be given to those vendors?' And he said, 'That's fine.' Currently, nothing is done as such. One begins to wonder what type of enforcement do we have? Why do we create these laws for? It seems like only paper, basically. So legislation doesn't have teeth in it at this time.

"Let me also inform you that, which is very confusing, I had an opportunity to talk to a captain of the fire department and it was right after the hearing that we had here in the Senate, a public hearing in the auditorium. And the captain, whom I happen to know, said, 'This is our own testimony of the fire department, and the police department is giving their own testimony, but the mayor refuses to commit himself.' Mayor Jeremy Harris refuses to commit himself. I said, 'Why?' And basically the captain said, 'Well, he's afraid, politically.' He doesn't know what avenue to take. When you think about it, this legislation gives authority to the counties, which don't have any direction, so it's very questionable.

"I thank you very much."

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations:

"Mr. President, I also rise in support with reservations.

"Fireworks and New Year's have been a family tradition for many years. It is a custom that has flourished for generations. It is an opportunity for families to get together, eat ethnic food and talk story. It is a time to share memories of the past, and hope for the year to come. There are only a few family traditions that we, as a Hawaii 'ohana,' can cherish. For some families, New Year's Eve celebrations are the only time, outside of funerals and weddings, that whole families, clans and even neighborhoods gather and break bread together. It is a tradition worth saving.

"There are three things we can do to bring sanity and safety to the traditional New Year's festivities: (1) Pass legislation to enforce the ban on illegal use of aerials and stop fire hazards; (2) At public hearings, citizens voiced their concerns about the health and safety hazards of smoke created this year. Part of that we could curtail by banning smoke cloud toy smoke devices, which are defined as 'small, plastic, or paper items that contain no more than 100 grams of pyrotechnic composition that upon ignition produces a white or colored smoke as the primary effect'; (3) Curtail home-made bombs and the dangerous one-upsmanship games, like those at Campbell High School this year, by banning items such as large sparklers from which these devices are made.

"So let's deal with sensible restrictions here; let's not punt to the counties.

"Many of us remember the fun and safe times, with good times, small sparklers waving, small pops in the driveways throughout the evening, and as midnight draws near, a long string of fireworks, firecrackers, hanging from a ladder or a pole, with family, friends . . . ready to hug, ready to kiss, ready to shake hands to bring in the New Year. So let's preserve that. That's a family tradition worth saving, and it is good."

Senator Slom rose in support of the measure with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to support the measure with reservations.

"I would also like to support most of the comments made by my colleagues from Mililani and Moanalua. I would point out, however, that we are always asked in government to do everything and this is a prime example of why we should have statewide referendum in our community to allow people to decide for themselves, because government can't do everything and can't have one-size fits all.

"I have a couple of problems or questions with the bill itself. The bill internally defines fireworks and two special types of fireworks and then proceeds to apply numerous prohibitions only to fireworks, so this could reasonably raise the question of interpretation to mean that the prohibition only is going to apply to fireworks but not the two special types that are mentioned in the bill. So the bill needs additional work.

"I just wish that I would have had half as many calls protesting the problems of bureaucracy and taxation and regulation in the community as I had to ban fireworks, ban lawnmowers, ban small power tools. These are the things that people as interested in, but I think we should realize in listening to the words of the 'Reverend' Sakamoto this morning that perhaps, before the sun goes down, we should be able to try to resolve with our neighbors and with our friends some of our own problems.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Matsunaga then rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, first I'd like to commend the TIA chair for his hard work over the years in bringing this issue to the floor. Second, I think this measure balances and considers the deeply held religious and cultural beliefs of our community. I am hopeful that our strengthened ban on aerials will indeed fly. I'm afraid that if we imposed a total ban without the religious and cultural exceptions, I think it would simply explode in our faces.

"Mr. President, doctors always advise us that too much of anything isn't a good thing, and to those members of our community who have respiratory problems, I think too much fireworks can be health-threatening and even deadly. I think those who have respiratory problems don't want to spoil the fun for those who want to participate, they just want to be able to breathe. And so, I want to urge my colleagues to support this reasonable ban. Thank you."

Senator Anderson rose in support of the bill with reservations:

"Mr. President, I, too, am going to support the bill with reservations.

"Even though I sit on committees, I'm still confused. On the bill itself, it more or less states that New Year's, Chinese New Year's, Fourth of July, but it doesn't say if we're really going to ban any of those dates. It does say 'cultural and religious.' While I happen to be Catholic, I have cousins and nephews and nieces who are Chinese, including my own grandchildren. How do I, then, if I wanted to get a permit, go in and say that I'm going to qualify under a religious or cultural. I have many friends who were born and raised here. They have no culture, no religious background, but they believe in Chinese New Year's. They believe in New Year's Eve. I just don't know, if we're going to write a bill, how we're going to get around to make sure that these people can be included, rather than just the culture and the religious background. If we're going to make it, this bill has got a lot to be addressed, yet, to make it clarified.

"Also, if we're going to worry about what's being imported, I said we should have made sure that we taxed it as high as possible so that those people who are bringing in container loads, which threw out the 'mom and pop' type of businesses that we used to buy our fireworks from, it would stop them from bringing in container loads after container loads, just so they can dump it on the consumers. We don't even address that.

"So, there's a lot of things, Mr. President, that I believe that we could look at. I do believe that we've got to do something, but if we're going to do it, let's not play games. Let's really do it, and do it right.

"Thank you very much."

Senator Chun then rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I stand in favor of the bill.

"Mr. President, the common problem in all of these fireworks is the enforcement. I agree with the statements that have been made by fellow colleagues in terms of the need to control and the need to regulate, but enforcement is the main thing in terms of how to do that.

"I support this bill primarily because it begins now the process of putting in the hands of the agency that's going to enforce any kind of regulation or ban of fireworks into the counties. The primary enforcement of any kind of bill that we're going to be passing is going to be in the hands of the police department. Either it will be the HPD, KPD, MPD, or Hawaii Police Department. They need to be on board if they really want to enforce something, they need to be in the process of how they're going to enforce, and where they're going to enforce, and what kind of enforcement or system that they're going to be using. Without their input in terms of that, no matter what we do here in this body, we're still going to have the same problem. That's why I support this bill, because it puts the responsibility and the guidance of how to control fireworks in the hands of those who are going to be enforcing it, and that is the counties.

"It is time that we stop distrusting the counties in terms of regulating its own affairs and the welfare of its own people, and start working with them as to how to realize how to improve the State.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Kanno then rose and said:

"Mr. President, I will be voting 'aye, with reservations.'"

The Chair so ordered.

Senators Taniguchi, Fukunaga, D. Ige, Nakata and Matsuura then requested their votes be cast "Aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

"Mr. President, I heard this morning on the radio that the Governor is upset with the Legislature as a whole, I guess, because we did nothing on his civil service bill. I do remember that Representative Okamura in the House stated that maybe, if it was collective bargaining. I just wanted to remind everybody that I do have a bill in on collective bargaining. If you would like to look at it, we could probably do something that would make the Governor happy.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President." (Laughter.)

S.B. No. 206:

Senator Nakata moved that S.B. No. 206, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator M. Ige.

Senator Sakamoto rose to oppose the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I'm compelled to rise in opposition to this measure.

"Under current law, an employer who fails to pay an employee's wages on time or in full is liable to the employee for those wages, and a penalty up to the amount of back wages plus 6 percent interest. The current law protects the employee and allows discretion necessary to insure fairness to employers. This bill would eliminate that discretion and require that the penalty be in the amount of the back wages regardless of circumstances.

"Mr. President, the Senate's Majority package clearly states our commitment to try and help businesses in Hawaii. This bill does exactly the opposite. It eliminates the fairness to the employer and in no way increases protection for the employee.

"Our economy is suffering. Our businesses have asked us to help them rebuild our economic foundation through tax relief and elimination of unnecessary regulations. So I look forward to supporting those kinds of measures on this floor, but, at the very least, we should not be adding to the burden of business.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Nakata rose in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I'm speaking for the bill.

"The situation being addressed is one where the employer has not paid wages in a timely fashion and has gotten into a serious dispute. The settlement could be made between the parties, but this is a measure to protect the employee, to encourage the employer to pay in a timely fashion. It is only when it gets into a litigious kind of situation where the intent of this bill would come into play.

"Thank you."

The motion was then put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 206, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WAGES AND COMPENSATION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Anderson rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, I would like to know, since I guess most of us get our walking assignments everyday. I had some meetings this morning and I got to the Capitol and I went into the meetings that I was told were going on -- at 9:00 I had Ways and Means; we also had a joint Ways and Means; 9:15 was Judiciary. I went into the meeting room. There were the people that were invited, I guess, who were there for the different programs or bills that we had there, so they were waiting. None of the Senators were there. I then asked what happened, and someone said they're downstairs. I looked on our billboard. There were no joint meetings that I knew of. So being very nice, I went back to my own office because I had other things to do.

"I think that if we're going to have meetings and we're not notified, we can't go to the meetings. That's number one. Number two (and that's for information) I think it's very impolite when we ask people or let them know that we're going to have bills and they're there to testify, and then we don't even have the chairman come in, and the people are waiting. I think that this is a very discourteous way of handling the public.

"They most certainly call me if there is no quorum. Now, there's 23 to 2, and if I'm going to be sitting on your committee and you can call me if you don't have a quorum, that's because you need me. You sure as hell don't bother with me if you don't need me. And that's fact. But I think it's discourteous when the public is there -- they've gone out of their way -- or the departments are there and they're supposed to be running our State, and they don't even know why we're not there.

"We're getting down to the point now, ladies and gentlemen, where we're going to be needing one another. I would hope to heck if you want Whitney Anderson to attend your meetings and you only need me for a quorum, that's fine. But if you don't need me, at least let me know if there's a joint hearing somewhere.

"Yesterday, I read in the newspaper that we're having Ways and Means at six o'clock. I didn't have it on my agenda. My staff didn't know about it. But I did have it for today. But at six o'clock yesterday we found out Ways and Means was going to be at seven. I said, 'The hell with it. I've got other things to do.' Believe it or not, there's a life away from this building. People have to make a living away from this building.

"So I just wanted to say this more for information for everybody, Mr. President. Mahalo."

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

S.B. No. 143, S.D. 1:

Senator Kanno moved that S.B. No. 143, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Iwase requested a ruling from the Chair as follows:

"Mr. President, ruling on a conflict -- an attorney in the law firm of which I'm of counsel is representing Hawaiian Electric on a case."

The Chair ruled that Senator Iwase was not in conflict.

Senator Iwase then said:

"Thank you, Mr. President. Then may I speak on this bill?"

The Chair responded: "Please proceed."

"Mr. President, I'll be voting for this bill with reservations and I would like to state the reason for that reservation. It is on page 3 of the bill which would allow the Public Utilities Commission . . . what this would do is, the act would overrule applications before the Public Utilities Commission which have been acted upon prior to the effective date of this act. I have concerns about whether or not the Legislature can intrude into what's basically a quasi-judicial process and overrule the actions of a commission where there has been and there is an appeal process that is set out. So I have some concerns about that.

"But I will be voting for the bill with reservations. I do support the other portions of the bill.

"Thank you."

Senator Buen also rose on a conflict ruling as follows:

"Mr. President, I would like to know if I have a potential conflict to vote on S.B. No. 143 and S.B. No. 384."

The Chair responded:

"What is your potential conflict?"

Senator Buen replied:

"I'm an employee of Maui Electric Company."

The Chair responded:

"No conflict. You may vote on those two bills."

Senator Buen then rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, at this time I would like to explain why I am opposed to these two measures. In fact, the mandatory undergrounding without consideration of cost and other factors is not a good public policy approach to the issue of overhead versus underground electric lines. And these bills will result in higher electric rates and therefore will have a significant negative effect on customers, many of whom may be unable to afford the increase. The impact would be even greater for customers on the neighbor islands where costs are spread among fewer customers.

"The State Department of Health's policy on EMF states that the existing research data on possible adverse health effects, including cancer, are inconclusive and not adequate to establish or quantify a health risk.

"Over the past few years the Legislature has taken steps to provide a balanced approach to considering the underground issue. It's noted that in recognition of the high cost of undergrounding, the Legislature exempted the Hawaii Housing Authority from subdivision requirements regarding mandatory undergrounding.

"I will be voting 'no' on these two measures. Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against the bill.

"I have a number of concerns and problems with the bill like my colleague, our last speaker. The fact that we take away the decision-making from the PUC in this matter, if we're going to do that, then we might as well abolish the PUC because we don't need any decision-making.

"We are at a risk here in terms of additional cost in eliminating any cost-benefit analysis which should be done prudently for any measure of this kind. As has been testified, there is a great deal of debate still remaining on the impact, if any, of electro-magnetic fields. And more importantly to me, is that this bill has a retroactive feature that applies to any applications prior to the effective date unless the system has been completed.

"So for these and other reasons, I'll be voting 'no.'

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Chun then rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against the bill.

"Mr. President, this bill proposes to require the placement of underground lines of 46 kilovolts or greater if they are to be placed in residential zoned areas or areas near private schools, public schools or licensed child care centers.

"Mr. President, looking through the record, this bill was opposed by the Public Utilities Commission and the Consumer Advocate. In addition, Mr. President, looking at it from Kauai's point of view, currently we do have lines which would be subject to this law. Based upon future projections on the power needs of the Island of Kauai, we are looking at putting at least two lines that would be affected by this law, which could be going down through residential areas or school zones. The potential cost of this to the island is somewhere in the area of $20 million. Twenty million dollars, Mr. President and my fellow colleagues, spread over 29,000 rate payers for the Island of Kauai will have a huge impact for our island. We cannot afford that.

"While I appreciate the intent of this bill and the hard work by the co-chairs of CPN in trying to work out a good, solid solution to meet the needs of the population of Oahu, I do note that Oahu has more than triple or even quadruple the number of rate payers of the Island of Kauai. And that's why they can afford this and that's why I will support the intent as far as the needs of the Island of Oahu and also the protection of its citizens. But when we come down to the nuts and bolts of it, when the Island of Kauai is struggling to make ends meet, struggling to have employment, struggling to make sure that our businesses remain in place to spur our economy, to put this extra burden is something that we cannot bear for this island.

"I regretfully, very regretfully, will have to vote against this bill, especially in light of the hard work that was done by the co-chairs.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Chumbley rose in support of the measure with reservations and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the measure with reservations and ask that my written comments be ordered into the Journal."

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Chumbley's remarks read as follows:

"I rise in support of S.B. No. 143, S.D. 1, with reservations, as proposed in this measure.

"The Public Utilities Commission shall mandate the undergrounding of 46 KV electric transmission lines in residentially-zoned areas, or within 300 feet of a school or licensed child care facility.

"Mr. President, I can agree with a policy that states the public's health and safety is best served by placing these electric transmission lines underground. However, due to the high costs that this would impose on the electricity users in my Maui and Kauai districts, and the vagueness in the writing of the restrictions imposed in the measure, I continue to have reservations and ask that the co-chairs of the Consumer Protection Committee address these concerns as the bill moves forward for discussion.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hanabusa rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this measure.

"Mr. President, I hear very loud and clear the concerns of my colleagues here this evening. However, one of the things that we must remember is that this bill does not mandate the undergrounding of lines. It simply gives the Public Utilities Commission, as well as the public utilities, an option. It says that if you are going to construct not all lines, but lines that we would term to be sub-transmission or transmission lines of 46 kilovolts or more, then these lines cannot be constructed within 300 feet of a residential area, a school or a child-care facility. Its application is limited.

"I have heard the concerns raised about rates and what that would affect. What we must all understand is how the public utilities derive their rates. First of all, the cost of these lines are not something that's immediately passed on to the ratepayers. It is over the duration of the bond. For example, those who are familiar with the Waiuu CIP 138 KV lines, the construction cost of undergrounding versus overhead lines was a differential of between 70 to 80 million dollars.

"What actually results in terms of the potential rate effect on the normal household is that it would be $1.47 differential in the beginning, down to zero at the end of the 30-year period.

The average rate would be 74 cents per month. That is the effect of undergrounding the huge 138 KV lines.

"While I empathize with my fellow colleagues from the neighbor islands, I ask that you not make the same mistakes that we have made on Oahu. As you want to move forward and you want tourism, believe me, what they do not want to see is the mass of lines that we have in Pearl City and Aiea. What you do not want to hear is for the Public Utilities Commission to make statements such as 'What's another line for Pearl City and Aiea? They've got them all already.' Or to have them say that there's no vistas in the Ewa plains.

"My colleagues, I ask that you consider this bill. It is about time that we really start to put the money where our mouths are. In other words, we want tourism; we want to sell the islands; we want to sell its beauty; then don't mar it with lines.

"Thank you."

Senator D. Ige then said:

"Mr. President, I just would like to note my support with reservations."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Bunda added:

"With reservations also, Mr. President."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Sakamoto then said:

"Reservations as well."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Anderson rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I'll be voting 'no' on this particular measure and I'd like to speak against it only because in the past, when we bought our home in Kailua, we paid for all of the assessments that the developer had.

"What this bill says, more or less if I read it right, is if you have a group that decides that in a particular school zone they're going to do something, all of the underground they're going to spread it across all of the taxpayers or consumers in that area. I don't think that, that's fair that I should pay for underground wiring or anything that's going to affect another part of the state, or another part of the city. I think that the people should be made aware that we could be paying for something because a group decides that it's best.

"And as far as tourism, probably the most used tourist industry area is down by the Arizona. There's all kinds of wiring. They've been using it for years. I've never heard of any tourist that said, 'This is ugly. It's deplorable. We shouldn't have it.' As a young person growing up in Waikiki, we've always had overhead wiring. I don't remember any tourist saying that they objected to that.

"So for those reasons, I don't want to pay for somebody else that decides that they're good environmentalists or that they would like to have something done and it may not even be in their district. They just think that this is what they want to see. So I will be voting 'no.'

"Thank you."

The motion was then put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 143, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO UTILITY TRANSMISSION LINES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 5 (Anderson, Buen, Chun, Slom, Tanaka).

S.B. No. 384, S.D. 1:

Senator Kanno moved that S.B. No. 384, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Iwase rose on a conflict ruling as follows:

"Mr. President, the same request for a ruling of conflict on this bill."

The Chair responded: "No conflict. You may vote."

Senator Iwase then said:

"Thank you, Mr. President. May I speak on this bill?"

The Chair replied: "Please proceed."

"Mr. President, I'm rising to speak in opposition to this bill.

"Mr. President, unlike the previous bill which arguably has public merit because we're talking about residentially zoned areas and areas near schools, my great concern is that this bill says that the public utilities shall not authorize the placement of these 46 KV lines in an area 'viewed by tourists.' The term is undefined. I assume that anytime a tourist gets on any roadway or walks along any walkway in the State of Hawaii, that is an area viewed by tourists. In short, this bill would prohibit the KV lines -- in its broadest interpretation, of course -- prohibits construction or installation of overhead KV lines anywhere in the State of Hawaii which may be walked upon or viewed by any tourist in the State of Hawaii.

"And mind you, the cost of these KV lines will not be borne by these tourists who are viewing the KV lines from any place in the State of Hawaii, but by the local residents who live in these areas and who need the electricity. And so for those reasons, Mr. President, I think at some point we have to balance the interest. The need to underground, and the arguments about EMF, and health, and the environment, and the view plains on the one hand, and the cost to the consumer on the other, I believe that in this case the balance tips against this proposal, and I'll be voting 'no.'

"Thank you."

Senator Chun also rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I'll be rising to speak against this measure also.

"Similarly to the other bill we just voted on, and fortunately Kauai has been held to have many vistas like the ewa plains, this bill would have a severe impact, much greater than the bill that we had, because of Kauai's many, many vistas throughout the island, and of course, because we have the visitors going there and looking at these vistas.

"I struggle with this bill, personally, because I really support the intent of preserving the vistas, preserving the view plains for not only our visitors but also for our residents because that's what is so important. That's what makes Hawaii, Hawaii. And I've has always been, in everything I've been doing, wanting to work to preserve those. However, there are better ways to preserve vistas. I agree with the Honorable Senators, my colleagues over here who stood in support of the previous bill that we need to preserve vistas and that we need to really look at and learn from the lessons of Oahu and don't repeat them. I agree totally with those, but there are better ways to do that, rather than with the stick to force people to go ahead and do something at the end of a gun. There are better ways.

"In fact, we are having discussions. I personally had discussions with the utility companies from my island about working in cooperation that whenever the county or the state decides to have roadway projects in which we will always be digging and trenching for sewers for water to work in concert in cooperation with them to underground the lines at that time. That would be of very little cost and impact to rate payers and very little or no cost, again, to the taxpayers because that work will be done.

"The problems of the past were that they lacked that kind of cooperation. I agree that we need to learn from the mistakes of the past, but there are other ways to learn other than be at the point of a gun. You can learn from experience. You can learn from cooperation. And that's why I feel that this bill does not really foster those kinds of attitudes and that kind of spirit.

"Finally, I vote on this bill very regretfully again because recognizing the hard work of the co-chairmen of CPN. I think the bottom line, as I asked them in discussing this bill, is if they can look out for the interest of the islands. I know I'm just one vote over here. I know I just look at one perspective, the perspective of my island which I love dearly and I care about. And I know that if I vote 'no' on this bill, I lose all kinds of chances later on to participate on this bill if a conference is called. And I very seriously consider that in making my decision. But I make my decision to vote 'no' because I will trust my colleagues. I will trust my colleagues that they will be concerned just as much as I am concerned about the people of my island. I trust their judgment and I will put my hand along with the hands of the other voters in this honorable body that their concerns will be met and that we will do the right thing.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Buen rose on a conflict ruling and said:

"Mr. President, like the previous bill, do I have a potential conflict?"

The Chair replied: "No, you may vote."

"Thank you. I will be opposing this measure also for the same reasons that I have stated. Thank you."

Senators D. Ige and Bunda then requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Sakamoto rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition.

"I think if all of us look a hundred years into the future, there will not be these lines that we don't like. And I agree these lines don't look good. There may be a potential health hazard. The cards are dealt on both sides on that issue. But today we passed the other bill. There is no need for this bill today. Today, the people out there are suffering. Seventy-four cents, $1.19, $2.19, a loaf of bread -- for some people they do not have that loaf of bread a week, let alone a month. We cannot pass this type of bill that is so wide open that we don't know the rate impact, even.

"There are projects that were mentioned -- $40 million, a dollar and so many cents a month, but that's one project. This is potential disaster. All of the highway projects that your districts are looking at, Mr. Transportation Chair, all of these projects will be shelved. Why? Because they all have to be redesigned.

"This is a ridiculous bill. W/R is not good enough. Please cast my vote as 'no.'"

The motion was then put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 384, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PUBLIC UTILITIES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 16. Noes, 9 (Anderson, Buen, Chumbley, Chun, Iwase, Matsuura, Sakamoto, Slom, Tanaka).

Senator Fukunaga, for the Committee on Ways and Means, requested a waiver pursuant to Senate Rule 20 for S.B. Nos. 153, 456, 860, 1126, 1138, 1462 and 1496, and the Chair granted the waiver.

At 6:48 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 6:51 o'clock p.m.

Senator Slom rose on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"In the last 48 hours two of our colleagues were criticized and chastised for their personal religious beliefs. I'm very concerned about this, Mr. President. There is hypocrisy here. We start off every session, every session, by praying to a deity. We tell people that we want to be guided by a power greater than ourselves. We ask for divine guidance and we ask for people to stand up, to be committed, to be passionate about something. And then some group comes along and criticizes two of my colleagues -- one for having a symbol of personal faith and belief on his door, the other for simply inviting individuals to pray.

"Who is this group? What is this group -- this group called the Hawaii Citizens for the Separation of State and Church? They started sending all of us daily faxes back in January and they said they're to be informative and enlightening. One of them says, 'Warning to Hawaii Government. Beware of the Catholic Church.' One of them says, 'The Bible says "Jesus will torture and kill every non-Christian on earth."' One of them says, 'Satan is among you,' and on and on and on.

"Who are these people? And why are they complaining? And who are we, not to stand with our colleagues who have a stated belief in something other than big government and bureaucracy, when we ask the Attorney General of this State to utilize that office's resources and the taxpayers' money to investigate whether two of our colleagues can express their own personal religious and First Amendment Constitutional beliefs? What message are we sending to the children? What message are we sending to the public? We've got to stand for something.

"I think that this organization stands for the separation of commitment, the separation of those who stand for something, the separation of a mind and heart and spirit from body. And Mr. President, if I'm forced to make a decision and to stand, I will stand and err on the side of my colleagues and those that have a belief in someone greater than ourselves.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Chun rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"I stand on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, I agree with the statements made today regarding the criticism of my two colleagues on their religious beliefs. I grew up here in Hawaii and chose to stay here in Hawaii because of what Hawaii is. And Hawaii is aloha. It's reflected not only in our statutes but reflected in our way of life. Aloha means that we care about each other, that we're concerned about each other, and that we respect each other's viewpoints whether we agree with them or not. That's what aloha really is about. That's what we try to live. That's what we try to be. That's the way in our laws we hope to reflect that spirit of aloha.

"What I saw over the past couple of days, and in the letters referenced just recently, doesn't show that. It shows an attitude of intolerance, an attitude that there is no way but their way. It does not adequately reflect aloha as we know it. And that's what saddens me. But I also respect their right, their right, Mr. President, to disagree with my two colleagues in terms of their expression of their own personal beliefs. I respect that.

"I want to end with this quote from the Supreme Court Justice in the case of Allegheny County vs Greater Pittsburgh, 'Rather than requiring government to avoid any action that acknowledges or aids religion, the establishment clause permits government some latitude in recognizing and accommodating the central role religion plays in our society. Any approach less sensitive to our heritage would border on latent hostility toward religion, as it would require government, in all its multi-faceted roles, to acknowledge only the secular, to the exclusion and so to the detriment of religion.' Those are adequate words that zealously but accurately reflect the dynamics of the Constitution. We should make no laws to respect any religion, but we should make laws so no laws would hinder the expression of that religion.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Anderson rose on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I agree with my two colleagues, but I'm standing up for another reason. I think every one of my colleagues here have a right to believe in what they want to. But personally, Mr. President, when we first started this year, I heard all the rhetoric about what we've heard from the community about the economy being down and they needed help. Well, I had asked if we were going to move any of the other bills, other than the tax reform bills that we did today. I asked if we were going to do anything with shipboard gambling or any other type or form of gambling, and if we could get a 72-hour waiver. We could have done that just as easily as we've done other waivers. And I thought maybe we would have some kind of movement because everybody gave everybody a little bit of 'BS' about what we were going to do with this economy.

"We had a referendum that was last used, I keep telling everybody, in 1939. We're not here for your individual cares. We're here because the community was going to have input, and that's what the referendum did. And it was only an advisory. You don't want to listen to what the referendum did after it was on the ballot, that's your business. But it would let you know what your constituents thought.

"I don't mind if you don't believe in what everybody else believes in, that the community has a right and a voice and they should be heard. And we could have had a waiver. We could have had the bills heard earlier. We promised people. We haven't done a damn thing, really, to move this economy. I've never been so sick about all the bills that we do. Amend this and pass that, and the departments care. But we haven't done anything for the economy, and people are suffering.

"When we were trying to do a tax credit today . . . you know, have priorities. The most regressive tax was on food and drug. We had Senator Matsuura's bill today and we held it. And I have reservations about holding it. We had other bills. But that is the most regressive tax. I don't care if you're very rich or very poor. You buy food; you buy pills for your headaches and you buy rheumatism pills and whatever. And you deserve to pass that for the people. And after one year, if in fact we feel that we're losing too much money, we know how much money we're going to have to put back. One year they said, 'Well, you know, we just passed the credit for personal income. The highest we've ever done.' Three years, that's going to take. Three years! Tax credits, end of the year -- who cares about what you're going to get at the end of the year? -- $100, $200 on a tax credit. You need money everyday when you're spending it.

"Every one of us have children, grandchildren, cousins, nieces, nephews, whatever. It's very hard for the young people to live. There's another life away from this building. You owe your constituents. You didn't come here for your personal ideas and cares. You came here to reflect what your community wanted.

"I have a lot of concerns of my own. But when it comes down to the public and what we owe them, believe me, my colleagues, we're not doing our job. I'm embarrassed of what we're doing. And if you're not, then I don't think you belong. It's a very sickening deal to see us sit here and we smile and we say we're going to do this and we're going to do that, year after year.

"I made a speech the other night to the Republicans, Mr. President, and I said that the problem with most of the people that get elected, we sit out there and we tread water and we wait for somebody to throw us a life-preserver or pick us up by a boat. There's some of us who are willing to swim ashore. And I used that as Republicans. But there's a whole bunch of us and we better damn well learn to swim ashore because all we've been doing for 20 years, that I know of, is treading water. We haven't done our jobs.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

S.B. No. 44, S.D. 1:

Senator Fukunaga moved that S.B. No. 44, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Fukunaga rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, as part of the package submitted by your Majority, we are proposing by this legislation to address the export and import of services, specifically, taxation of these services.

"As the world's economy becomes a truly global marketplace, we need to insure that Hawaii will maintain a foothold and build an even greater niche in that marketplace. Hawaii businesses are currently at a competitive disadvantage as the price of services exported out of state includes the general excise tax. Hawaii businesses that perform services in-state for out-of-state consumers are likewise at a disadvantage since an out-of-state provider of that same service would be able to offer it without the impact of the general excise tax. Senate bill 44 would remove these disadvantages by exempting exported services from the general excise tax and by importing the use tax on services imported into the State for re-sale or consumption.

"We believe that this is an important step in helping Hawaii businesses truly do what they have been asking us to do, which is to relieve them of the pressures and burdens which stifle them in the area of global competitiveness.

"For these reasons, Mr. President, we urge all of our colleagues to vote in support of this measure. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 44, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TAXATION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

S.B. No. 638, S.D. 1:

Senator Fukunaga moved that S.B. No. 638, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Levin rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, my remarks are directed in favor of this bill along with some of the other bills that we have in our tax package.

"As long as I can remember, economists and others have reminded government officials that 'government does not create jobs, the private sector creates jobs.' And this is certainly true in a sense, but it is also true that with Hawaii's economy in the doldrums, we are being told and we have come to believe that government must act to unleash the entrepreneurial spirit of the people, if our economy is to begin rolling again. More specifically, we have heard from the stakeholders and from the economists; and from the apparent lesson that's been taught in Mainland states; and we have come to believe that if we can reduce taxes and allow the private sector to be free of inappropriate regulations, our economy will turn around. Hawaii will prosper, businesses will flourish, and employment will increase. And, hopefully, our friends and neighbors will no longer have to emigrate to find employment.

"Today we embark, or actually we continue, down that path. We took a giant step a year ago, when we listened to the private sector and passed laws which were meant to reduce business regulation and which also put in place the largest tax cut in Hawaii's history. Today, we ask our colleagues to take another giant step along that same path. Last year it was the income tax that was reduced, a cut which is estimated to lower the tax burden on our constituents by well over $100 million a year. Now, in response to the business community, we are proposing another significant tax cut, one which would reduce government revenue by an estimated $150 million per year when fully phased in. This is what the private sector has asked for. We believe it is the right thing to do. And it is a position that the Senate takes with pride.

"But please make no mistake. There is risk involved. We all have heard that there is no free lunch. Well, there is no free tax cut either. In fact, when we look back at today, we may recognize this day as being the easy part. In a couple of weeks, we will be submitting for your consideration a budget -- a balanced budget which will take into account the revenue reductions that we vote on today. That is going to be painful, because reduced revenue means reduced services. Many of our constituents have needs that may be impossible to meet under our new economic regime. But we think that this is a risk that we need to take. The Senate Majority has pledged to get the economy rolling again, and to the extent that government can influence that outcome, we must do our part. If our tax package today is fairly evaluated, we believe it will be recognized as an effort to improve the business climate in Hawaii by reducing the cost of doing business and, as a valuable consequence, reducing the cost of living for all our people. That is our best hope for turning our economy around.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"I want to congratulate the Ways and Means Committee and thank my colleagues for putting this bill on a fast track. It has come, unfortunately, years late, but there still is time to improve our business climate to heed the wishes and the warnings of the small business community which is the backbone of our State. And I would suggest that we pass this and urge our colleagues in the House to pass the bill speedily so that we can send it to the Governor.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Iwase also rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I'm rising to speak in support of the bill.

"Mr. President, I concur with the co-chair, the previous speaker, about steps that we've taken to deal with the tax issue. I believe it was the philosopher Lao-tse who once said that 'A journey of a thousand miles begins under one's feet,' and we've taken two steps over the past two years. Pyramiding is certainly one of those issues which had to be addressed this session and I'm glad we're beginning to address the issue.

"I hope, also, that we take a third step. These steps have been hesitant, but I hope we take them. The third step is to eliminate the GET. It is an all pervasive, all invasive tax which I believe can be eliminated and replaced with a different system of taxation. Until we do that, we will continue to deal with the issues of pyramiding and all of the other problems created by GET. There are bills before this legislative body that deal with the elimination of GET in a phased-in, responsible, reasonable fashion. And I hope we take those up next year.

"Thank you."

Together they total 1,473 units of affordable rental housing. Projects assisted by the rental housing trust fund, provide low interest, flexible term loans for low income housing on Oahu, Maui, Kauai, and Hawaii.

The purpose of sections 4 and 5 of this Act is to authorize general obligation bonds and to appropriate money to the rental housing trust fund to encourage the development and availability of low income rental housing throughout the State of Hawaii.

"PART I."

2. By adding a new Part II, consisting of Sections 2, 3, and 4, to read as follows:

SECTION 2. The legislature finds that the real estate commission collects annual fees from condominium owners associations for deposit to the condominium management education fund. In recent years, the number of training and workshop opportunities provided for condominium management has been limited. Therefore, excess funds are at-risk of being deposited into the general fund. In an effort to keep government operations from growing too large, condominium associations need representation on the real estate commission rather than the establishment of a condominium commission.

Funds from the education fund are currently being used for staffing the commission for non-education fund purposes, contrary to legislative intent. The legislature further finds that it should be the condominium associations that make decisions regarding the appropriate use of the fund. Therefore, the purpose of this part is to add two additional seats to the commission who represent the interests of condominium governance organizations and prohibit the use of education funds for purposes other than the condominium education fund.

SECTION 3. Section 467-3, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended to read as follows:

"§467-3 Commission, appointments, qualifications, tenure. There shall be appointed a commission to be known as the real estate commission, [to consist] consisting of [nine] eleven members, at least four of whom shall be licensed real estate brokers who have been engaged in business as licensed real estate brokers or salespersons for three years immediately preceding their appointments, each of whom shall be a citizen of the United States and shall have resided in the State for at least three years preceding appointment, and one of whom shall be designated by the appointing power as chairperson. Four members shall be residents of the city and county of Honolulu, one shall be a resident of the county of Hawaii, one shall be a resident of the county of Maui, and one shall be a resident of the county of Kauai and [two] four members shall be public members. At least two of the eleven members shall be apartment owners of units in condominium property regimes who represent the interests of condominium governance organizations.

Appointments shall be made for a term of four years, commencing from the date of expiration of the last preceding term and shall be made to expire on June 30. Appointments shall be made so that at least one appointment shall be required each year.

Any vacancy shall be filled by appointment for the unexpired term."

SECTION 4. Section 514A-133, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (b) to read as follows:

"(b) [The] In order to carry out the responsibilities under this part, the commission and the director of commerce and consumer affairs may use moneys in the condominium management education fund to employ necessary personnel not subject to chapters 76 and 77 for additional staff support, hired exclusively to carry out responsibilities under this part, to provide office space, and to purchase equipment, furniture, and supplies [required by the commission to carry out its responsibilities under this part]. S.B. No. 1180:

Senator Fukunaga moved that S.B. No. 1180, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Fukunaga then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 4) to S.B. No. 1180:

SECTION 1. Senate Bill No. 1180, is amended as follows:

1. By adding a new section 1 to read as follows:

"SECTION 1. The legislature finds that the taxation of nonresidents established in Act 281, Session Laws of Hawaii 1997 (Act 281), has proved to result in anomalies and difficulties for both the taxpayer and the department of taxation. Section 235-4.3 Hawaii Revised Statutes (HRS), formally Act 281 should be repealed and a new methodology should be enacted.

The legislature also finds that section 235-61, Hawaii Revised Statutes, requires employers to deduct and withhold from wages paid to an employee an amount of income tax, and pay that withheld amount over to the department of taxation on a periodic basis. Subsection (e) allows the department, by rule, to exempt any employer from the requirement.

The legislature also finds that nonresidents are generally not subject to the income tax law and the department of taxation has adopted section 18-235-61-04, Hawaii Administrative Rules, that exempts wages paid to nonresident employees from the withholding requirements. Section 18-235-61-04 also qualifies employees as nonresidents, for the purposes of withholding taxes, as those employees who are temporarily performing services in the State for not more than sixty days during the calendar year.

The legislature further finds that members of the construction industry have testified in previous hearings on the matter that this rule is being abused to avoid the withholding of income tax that is legally due to the State. According to industry representatives, some employees attempt to qualify as nonresidents by leaving the State on the fifty-ninth day only to return a few days later to restart another sixty-day period.

In addition to the resulting loss of revenues to the State, the legislature believes that this abuse unfairly penalizes residents of the State, and that treating residents and nonresidents similarly regarding withholding is fair and equitable. If there is no income tax liability, nonresidents may file for a return claiming a refund, as residents do.

The purpose of this Act is to enact a new method of taxing the income of nonresidents and to repeal the ability of the department of taxation to exempt nonresident employees from withholding and to require all employees' wages to be subject to withholding regardless of residency."

2. By renumbering sections 1, 2, and 3 of the bill as sections 2, 3, and 4 of the bill respectively.

3. By adding a new section 5 to read as follows:

"SECTION 5. Section 235-61, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (e) to read as follows:

"(e) The department, by rule, may require the deduction and withholding of tax from any remuneration or compensation paid for or attributable to services that are not subject to the general excise tax imposed by chapter 237, whether or not such withholding is provided for hereinabove. Every person so required to deduct and withhold tax, or from whom tax is required to be deducted and withheld, shall be subject to sections 235-61 to 235-67, and every person so required to deduct and withhold tax shall be deemed an employer for the purposes of this chapter.

The department[, by rule,] may not exempt any employer from the requirement of deduction and withholding of taxes[, even though the requirement is imposed by this section, if and to the extent that the department finds the requirement unduly onerous or impracticable of enforcement]."

3. By renumbering sections 4 and 5 of the bill as sections 6 and 7 of the bill.

4. By renumbering and amending section 6 of the bill to section 8 of the bill to read as follows:

"SECTION 8. This Act shall take effect upon its approval and sections 2, 3, 4, and 6 of this Act shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1998; provided that section 5 of this Act shall take effect on September 1, 1999, and shall be repealed on September 1, 2002; provided that section 235-61(e), Hawaii Revised Statutes, shall be reenacted in the form in which read on the day before the effective date of this Act."

Senator Fukunaga moved that the amendment be adopted, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Fukunaga rose and said:

"Mr. President, Floor Amendment No. 4 contains the provisions of S.B. No. 659, also relating to taxation of nonresidents, a bill which has previously been acted upon by the Senate Ways and Means Committee."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 4 was put by the Chair and carried.

Senator Levin moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 744 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Fukunaga and carried.

Senator Levin moved that S.B. No. 131, S.D.2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

Senator Levin then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 15) to S.B. No. 131, S.D.2:

Senate Bill No. 131, S.D. 2, is amended as follows:

1. By amending page 1, lines 11-16 to read:

"The purpose of this part and parts II, III, and IV of this Act are to increase the number of long-term care insurance policies in effect in Hawaii and to conform Hawaii's long-term care insurance statutes to the Model Long Term Care Act of 1998.

This part and parts II, III, and IV of this Act also enact the Long-Term Care Insurance Model Act of 1998, of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners."

2. By amending page 58 , lines 9-11 to read:

5. By amending page 80, lines 12-17 to read:

If the provisions of this part or parts I, II, and III of this Act, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of these parts which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of these parts are severable."

6. By adding a new part V consisting of Sections 12, 13, and 14 to read as follows:

"PART V

SECTION 12. The legislature finds that the long term care ombudsman program is a federally mandated program which is funded through the Older Americans Act of 1965. The program is charged with the responsibility of serving as an advocate for 6,780 residents living in 46 licensed nursing facilities and 542 adult residential care homes; especially those who may be unable or afraid to speak for themselves. Situated within the executive office on aging, this statewide program requires the ombudsman to visit all facilities. The program is currently staffed by two full-time program specialists.

The program's primary function is to respond, investigate and assist in resolving complaints and requests for information or assistance. Outreach to residents in these facilities and homes is an essential component of the program since the residents served are usually frail and dependent with physical, mental, or emotional needs. Often, their dependency on others for care presents the potential for reluctance in speaking out when they are the recipients of inappropriate care. Outreach to these residents is particularly crucial in order to assure them that they do have external supports should they need them.

It was recently pointed out at the Governor's Conference on Adult Residential Care Homes that the long term care options in Hawaii are expanding. There is an increase in assisted living and expanded care facilities. While there is much supervision and family involvement in nursing homes, in a care home the only supervision is from the care home operator. Current regulations require the department of health to notify the care home operator one month in advance before surveying the home for renewal of its license. Presently the long term care ombudsman is the only one allowed to enter a care home without an appointment.

Some of these homes are now receiving special waivers to accept residents at a higher acuity level who are also less likely to be able to speak for themselves. In order to assure proper services for these elderly residents, the long term care ombudsman program's jurisdiction will increase.

As the State's elderly population continues to grow, the two full-time staff members of the program will be unable to provide the necessary outreach services. Forty-six states have developed a successful volunteer component to their long term care ombudsman programs. The American Association of Retired Persons has developed a training manual specifically for the long term care ombudsman program which many states have used as a starting point. According to the Legal Counsel for the Elderly's 1995 Report, "the presence and work of the volunteers make a major contribution towards the enhancement of the quality of life for residents of long term care facilities."

The purpose of this part is to appropriate funds to establish a long term care volunteer ombudsman program to ensure that quality outreach services are provided to the increasing number of elderly people residing in long term care facilities in the State.

SECTION 13. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $90,721, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, to establish a long term care volunteer ombudsman program, to include but not be limited to a volunteer coordinator, clerk stenographer, ground and air travel, training, and miscellaneous volunteer reimbursements.

SECTION 14. The sum appropriated shall be expended by the department of health for the purposes of this part."

7. By adding a new part VI consisting of Sections 15, 16, and 17 to read as follows:

"PART VI

SECTION 15. The legislature finds that long-term care is a critical issue of particular importance to Hawaii, where there is a shortage of nursing home beds, and where home and community-based programs are fragmented and non-existent in some areas. To address these growing concerns, the State needs to examine alternative ways to administer long-term care, which will minimize the need for new long-term care beds and control ever-increasing costs, while providing a more favorable environment for Hawaii's elderly.

The legislature further finds that one viable option is the non-institutional means of providing long-term care. Establishing such a long-term care demonstration project will offer Medicaid recipients the opportunity for home and community-based services, and address the need to decrease the burden on the State, hospitals, nursing facilities, and the elderly and their families.

The legislature believes that the State's MedQuest program has demonstrated that savings can be accomplished in an acute care Medicaid program by using managed care companies to deliver high quality care. A comparable model for long-term care would be based on an integration of home and community-based services and long-term nursing facility care and acute care systems, respect for the dignity of the elderly, integration of financing and delivery of services, consumer involvement in planning and monitoring, and improvements in the quality of care.

The 1998 legislature appropriated $40,000 to begin the development of a managed long-term care demonstration project, with matching funds of $40,000 to be provided by the federal government. Much remains to be done on this vital project.

The purpose of this part is to continue the design and implementation of a managed long-term care demonstration project.

SECTION 16. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, to establish a long-term care managed care waiver; provided that the funds shall be used to:

- (1) Review and update current information gathered to date on state Medicaid managed care programs for the provision of long-term care services; and
- (2) Develop a planning document for the design and implementation of a Medicaid managed long-term care demonstration project, to include:
 - (A) Identification of preliminary resource needs;
 - (B) Development of a workplan for the design and implementation of a Medicaid managed long-term care demonstration project; and
 - (C) Development of a list of changes to current infrastructure that may be necessary to accommodate a Medicaid managed long-term care demonstration project.

SECTION 17. The sum appropriated shall be expended by the department of human services for the purposes of this part."

8. By redesignating sections 12 and 13 as sections 18 and 19, respectively, and by designating these sections as part VII.

9. By amending new section 19 to read:

"SECTION 19. This Act shall take effect on July 1, 1999."

Senator Levin moved that the amendment be adopted, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

Senator Levin then stated:

"Mr. President, Floor Amendment No. 15 incorporates the language from S.B. No. 128. It would adopt a long-term care ombudsman program. It also would continue the implementation of a managed long-term care demonstration project."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 15 was put by the Chair and carried.

By unanimous consent, S.B. No. 131, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO LONG-TERM CARE," was placed on the calendar for Third Reading on Thursday, March 11, 1999.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 767 (S.B. No. 646, S.D. 1):

No. 1420, relating to the Kapolei Sports Complex. Both bills have been discussed and acted upon by the Senate Ways and Means Committee."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 14 was put by the Chair and carried.

By unanimous consent, S.B. No. 646, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO GOVERNMENT," was placed on the calendar for Third Reading on Thursday, March 11, 1999.

S.B. No. 654:

Senator Levin moved that S.B. No. 654, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

Senator Levin then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 16) to S.B. No. 654:

Senate Bill No. 654 is amended as follows:

1. By designating sections 1, 2, 3, and 4 as "Part I".
2. By adding a new Part II consisting of sections 5, 6, and 7 to read as follows:

"PART II

SECTION 5. The Hawaii state legislature has demonstrated its commitment to the principle of public access to the legislative process by creating programs such as the public access room, legislative broadcast project, and the legislative website. Hawaii is considered to be one of the country's models in the development of public access programs, as evidenced by complimentary commentaries in the national and local media.

To maintain its commitment to public access, the legislature believes that the current level of service to the public from the public access room should be maintained. Public requests for services of the public access room have increased dramatically since its beginning in 1990. In fiscal year 1997-1998 alone, the public access room received over five thousand eight hundred calls for legislative and other information, serviced about four thousand people who visited the public access room or made requests for service in person, and conducted public access workshops for over two hundred fifty residents. To meet this increased demand, additional space, equipment, and furniture are needed to accommodate citizens' needs for legislative access and related services. The legislature finds that the current space allotted for the public access room is insufficient to meet the rise in demand for its services and, at the same time, maintain its high quality.

The purpose of this part is to make an appropriation to provide for the costs of relocating the public access room, and for electronic equipment and furniture purchases.

SECTION 6. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, to provide for moving and equipment costs for the public access room.

SECTION 7. The sum appropriated by this part shall be expended by the legislative reference bureau for the purposes of this part."

3. By adding a new Part III consisting of sections 8 and 9 to read as follows:

"PART III

SECTION 8. In recognition that the legislature needs its own separate fiscal policy office to provide legislators with the information needed to develop sound economic and fiscal policies for the State, the office of the legislative analyst was established in Act 347, Session Laws of Hawaii 1990.

Other states have established nonpartisan, highly specialized legislative fiscal analysis offices, in addition to the professional staffs of each chamber's money committees, to review executive branch proposals and to appraise the performance of the executive branch in administering legislative enactments.

Since the legislature meets for only four months of the year, it has come to rely heavily on the use of session-only staff or employees on loan from the executive branch. Hawaii is the only state in the nation utilizing staff on temporary loan from executive agencies to support the work of its money committees.

As a result, the legislature has been at a disadvantage in fulfilling its trust to the people of the State to ensure that approved appropriations are executed in compliance with legislative policy. The legislature can provide effective legislative oversight only if it has its own capacity to review and analyze the budget, state economic conditions, and overall tax structure and attendant policies.

The purpose of this part is to require the legislative analyst to review all performance-based budgets submitted to the legislature as provided by law.

SECTION 9. Section 21F-7, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (a) to read as follows:

"(a) The purpose of the office of the legislative analyst shall be:

- (1) To provide the legislature with research and analysis of current and projected state revenues and expenditures;
- (2) To provide the legislature with a report analyzing the governor's proposed levels of revenue and expenditures for biennial budgets submitted under chapter 37 as well as other supplemental budget submissions to the legislature by the governor;
- (3) To provide an analysis of the impact of the governor's proposed revenue and expenditure plans for the next biennium;
- (4) To conduct research matters of economic and fiscal policy and to report to the legislature on the result of the research;
- (5) To provide economic reports and studies on the state of the State's economy, including trends and forecasts for consideration by the legislature;
- (6) To conduct budget and tax studies and provide general fiscal and budgetary information;
- (7) To review and make recommendations on the operation of state programs in order to appraise the implementation of state laws regarding the expenditure of funds and to recommend means of improving their efficiency; [and]
- (8) To recommend to the legislature changes in the mix of revenue sources for programs, in the percentage of state expenditures devoted to major programs, and in the role of the legislature in overseeing state government expenditures and revenue projections[.]; and

- (9) To review all performance-based budgets submitted to the legislature as provided by law."

4. By adding a new part IV consisting of sections 10, 11, 12, and 13 to read as follows:

"PART IV

SECTION 10. Section 23G-3, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (11) to read as follows:

"(11) Perform the function of statute revision and publication and sale of session laws, supplements, and replacement volumes; and"

SECTION 11. Section 23G-18, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended to read as follows:

Senator Levin moved that the amendment be adopted, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

Senator Fukunaga then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 10) to S.B. No. 175, S.D.2:

Senate Bill No. 175, S.D. 2, is amended as follows:

1. By adding Parts XI to XX, consisting of Sections 38 to 74 to read as follows.

"PART XI

SECTION 38. The legislature finds that child abuse and neglect are a root cause of many serious social problems, including emotional and mental health problems, alcohol and drug abuse and addiction, delinquency, and crime. Child abuse continues to escalate with fifteen thousand reports and over five thousand cases investigated annually in Hawaii. The most severe cases continue to be among the youngest, most vulnerable children.

During the interim of the regular session of 1998, child protection legislative roundtable discussions were convened to suggest statutory, guideline, rule, regulation, and other changes to improve Hawaii's child protective system. Legislators, the departments of human services, health, and the attorney general, the judiciary, private nonprofit child and family serving agencies, and concerned individuals communicated and collaborated with one another, on behalf of abused and neglected children and their families, to develop formal and informal mechanisms for working together.

As a coordinated response to prevent and treat child abuse, the roundtable cohesively suggested the following areas be strengthened:

- (1) A medical case management system for the medical oversight of children in the child protective services system;
- (2) Standards for guardians ad litem charged to protect the best interests of the child;
- (3) Mandated training for foster parents of licensed foster homes;
- (4) Protective custody of a child without court order; and
- (5) Required reporting of child abuse and neglect.

The purpose of this part is to improve Hawaii's child protection system.

SECTION 39. Chapter 587, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by adding a new section to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:

"§587- Medical and health case management. (a) There is established a medical and health case management system in the department of human services for the purpose of managing medical and health needs of children in the foster care system.

(b) The medical and health case management system shall:

- (1) Establish a system of services providing timely medical and health information to key providers of care to foster children and identify a health care manager for consistent follow-up to ensure that medical and health needs are met;
- (2) Maintain a system of continuity of care for the medical and health needs of children in the foster care system;

- (3) Maximize existing resources in the provision of medical and health services to foster children; and
 (4) Research the enhancement of federal reimbursement for care coordination services provided to foster children from birth to age twenty."

SECTION 40. Section 346-17, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended to read as follows:

"§346-17 Child placing organizations, child caring institutions, and foster boarding homes; authority over and investigation of. No child placing organization shall engage in the investigation, placement, and supervision of minor children in foster care unless it meets with the standards of conditions, management, and competence as set by the department [of human services].

No child caring institution shall be allowed to receive minor children for care and maintenance unless it meets with the standards of conditions, management, and competence to care for and train children as set by the department.

No foster boarding home shall receive for care and maintenance any child unless it meets with the standards of conditions, management, and competence as set by the department[.] and the foster boarding home applicants successfully complete foster parent training.

The department shall [make] adopt rules relating to:

- (1) [standards] Standards for the organization and administration of child placing organizations[.];
- (2) [standards] Standards of conditions, management, and competence for the care and training of minor children in child caring institutions[.] and foster boarding homes; and
- (3) [standards] Standards of conditions and competence of operation of foster boarding homes as may be necessary to protect the welfare of children.

All rules of the department shall have the force and effect of law, and any violation thereof of or of this section shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $200.

As a condition for a certificate of approval, any organization, institution, or home shall meet the standards to assure the reputable and responsible character of its operators and employees by complying with the requirements of a criminal history record check under section 346-19.6.

Upon approval of any such organization, institution, or home, the department or its authorized agents shall issue a certificate of approval [which] that shall continue in force for one year or for two years if the organization, institution, or home meets the criteria established by the department, unless sooner revoked for cause. The certificate shall be renewed by the department or its authorized agents, after annual or biennial investigation, if the investigation discloses that the organization, institution, or home continues to meet with the standards set by the department. The certificate of approval shall be a permit to operate the child placing organization, child caring institution, or foster boarding home, and no person or organization shall operate or maintain such organization, institution, or home without the certificate.

Any child placing organization, child caring institution, or foster boarding home shall be subject to investigation at any time and in such manner, place, and form as may be prescribed by the department or its authorized agents."

SECTION 41. Section 350-2, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended to read as follows:

"§350-2 Action on reporting. (a) Upon receiving a report concerning child abuse or neglect, the department shall proceed pursuant to chapter 587 and the department's rules.

(b) The department shall inform the appropriate police department or office of the prosecuting attorney of all reports received by the department concerning a case of child abuse or neglect, including reports received under section 350-1.1; provided that the name of a reporter, who requested that the reporter's name be confidential, shall be released to a police department or an office of the prosecuting attorney pursuant only to court order.

[(b)] (c) The department shall inform the appropriate police department or office of the prosecuting attorney of the relevant information concerning a case of child abuse or neglect when [such] the information is required by the police department or the office of the prosecuting attorney for the investigation or prosecution of that case; provided that the name of a reporter, who requested that the reporter's name be confidential, shall only be released to a police department or an office of the prosecuting attorney pursuant to court order.

[(c)] (d) The department shall maintain a central registry of reported child abuse or neglect cases and shall promptly expunge the reports in cases if:

- (1) The department has found the reports to be unsubstantiated; or
- (2) The petition arising from the report has been dismissed by order of the family court after an adjudicatory hearing on the merits pursuant to chapter 587.

For purposes of expungement under paragraph (1), a report is unsubstantiated only when the department has found the allegations to be frivolous or to have been made in bad faith.

However, the department may retain records and information of alleged child abuse and neglect with respect to the child that is the subject of the alleged abuse.

The department shall adopt rules as may be necessary in carrying out this section."

SECTION 42. Section 587-22, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (a) to read as follows:

"(a) A police officer shall assume protective custody of a child without a court order and without the consent of the child's family, regardless of whether the child's family is absent, if in the discretion of [such] the police officer, the child is in [such] a circumstance or condition that [the]:

- (1) The child's continuing in the custody or care of the child's family presents a situation of imminent harm to the child[.]; or
- (2) There is evidence that a parent or guardian of a child has subjected a child to harm or threatened harm and that parent or guardian is likely to flee the jurisdiction of the court with the child."

SECTION 43. Section 587-34, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended as follows:

"§587-34 Guardian ad litem; court appointed counsel.

(a) The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for the child to serve throughout the pendency of the child protective proceedings under this chapter. The court may appoint additional counsel for the child pursuant to subsection (c) or independent counsel for any other party if [the]:

- (1) The party is an indigent[, counsel];
- (2) Counsel is necessary to protect the party's interests adequately[, and the]; and
- (3) The interests are not represented adequately by another party who is represented by counsel.

(b) A guardian ad litem shall:

- (1) Be allowed access to the child by the caretakers of the child whether caretakers are individuals, authorized agencies, or health care providers;
- (2) Have the authority to inspect and receive copies of any records, notes, and electronic recordings concerning the child that are relevant to the proceedings filed under this chapter without the consent of the child or individuals and authorized agencies who have control of the child; and
- (3) Be given notice of all hearings and proceedings, civil or criminal, including[,] but not limited to[,] grand juries, involving the child and shall protect the best interests of the child [therein], unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(c) A guardian ad litem appointed pursuant to subsection (a) shall report to the court and all parties in writing at six month intervals, or as is otherwise ordered by the court, regarding [such] the guardian ad litem's activities on behalf of the child and recommendations concerning the manner in which the court should proceed in the best interests of the child; provided that [such] the guardian ad litem shall make face to face contact with the child in the child's family or foster home at least once every three months. A guardian ad litem shall inform the court of the child's perceived interests if they differ from those being advocated by the child's guardian ad litem. If the child and the child's guardian ad litem are not in agreement, the court shall evaluate the necessity for appointing special counsel for the child to serve as the child's legal advocate concerning [such] issues and during [such] proceedings [as] that the court deems to be in the best interests of the child.

(d) [When] If the court determines, after [such] any hearing [as] that the court deems [to be] appropriate, that a party is incapable of comprehending the legal significance of the issues or the nature of the child protective proceedings, the court may appoint a guardian ad litem to represent the interests of that party; provided that a guardian ad litem appointed pursuant to this section shall investigate and report to the court in writing at six month intervals, or as is otherwise ordered by the court, regarding the current status of the party's disability, including[,] but not limited to[,] a recommendation as to available treatment, if any, for the disability and a recommendation concerning the manner in which the court should proceed in order to best protect the interests of the party in conjunction with the court's determination as to the best interests of the child.

(e) A guardian ad litem or counsel appointed pursuant to this section for the child or other party may be paid [for] by the court, unless the party for whom counsel is appointed has an independent estate sufficient to pay [such] the costs. The court may order the appropriate parties to pay or reimburse the costs and fees of the guardian ad litem and other counsel appointed for the child.

(f) No guardian ad litem shall be appointed to represent any child unless the guardian ad litem has successfully completed guardian ad litem training or has equivalent experience as determined by the senior family court judge.

The judiciary shall issue orders or rules relating to standards of training and practice for the representation of minor children by a guardian ad litem.

All orders or rules of the judiciary shall have the force and effect of law, and any violation of the orders or rules of or this section shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $200."

SECTION 44. Section 587-72, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (c) to read as follows:

"(c) Upon each review hearing, the court shall consider fully all relevant prior and current information pertaining to the safe family home guidelines, as set forth in section 587-25, including but not limited to[,] the report submitted pursuant to section 587-40, and:

- (1) Determine whether the child's family is presently willing and able to provide the child with a safe family home without the assistance of a service plan and, if so, the court shall terminate jurisdiction;
- (2) Determine whether the child's family is presently willing and able to provide the child with a safe family home with the assistance of a service plan and, if so, the court shall return the child or continue the placement of the child in the child's family home under the family supervision of the appropriate authorized agency;
- (3) If the child's family home is determined, pursuant to subsection (c)(2), not to be safe, even with the assistance of a service plan, order that the child remain or be placed under the foster custody of the appropriate authorized agency; if the child has been residing without the family home for a period of twelve months or if there has been a [court ordered] court-ordered service plan for a period of one year, the court [may] shall set the case for a show cause hearing at which the child's family shall have the burden of presenting evidence to the court regarding the reasons and considerations [as] that the family has to offer as to why the case should not be set for a permanent plan hearing. Upon a show cause hearing that the court deems to be appropriate, the court shall consider the criteria set forth in section 587-73(a)(1), (2), and (4)[,] or section 587-73(e), and:

- (A) Set the case for a permanent plan hearing and order that the authorized agency submit a report pursuant to section 587-40; or
- (B) Proceed pursuant to this section;
- (4) Determine whether the parties have complied with, performed, and completed every term and condition of the service plan that was previously court ordered;
- (5) Order revisions to the existing service plan, after satisfying section 587-71(h), [as] that the court, upon a hearing that the court deems to be appropriate, determines to be in the best interests of the child; provided that a copy of the revised service plan shall be incorporated as part of the order;
- (6) Enter further orders [as] that the court deems to be in the best interests of the child; and
- (7) Determine whether aggravated circumstances are present and, if so, the court shall set the case for a show cause hearing at which the child's family shall have the burden of presenting evidence to the court regarding the reasons and considerations as to why the case should not be set for a permanent plan hearing."

SECTION 45. If any provision of this Part, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of the Act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this Part are severable.

SECTION 46. The penalty established in section 6 of this Part shall not apply to any violation under section 587-34 that occurs before the effective date of this Act.

PART XII

SECTION 47. The legislature finds that recent neuroscience research demonstrates that the early years of a child are most crucial in a child's cognitive, emotional, social, and physical development, and affirmed that there are tremendous opportunities for preventive work with children and families as well as the predictable, costly consequences of not doing so. The legislature further finds that quality early childhood education and child care which supports all aspects of early development by parents and care givers in a variety of settings, including child care centers, family child care, and in the homes of families and friends, is crucial to ensuring that every young child has a good beginning and does not lose the potential with which the child was born.

The legislature adopted House Concurrent Resolution No. 38, 1998, which endorsed six desired child outcomes as state policy, and encouraged private and public agencies serving children to utilize these outcomes as a basis for policy and program development. This common set of outcomes focuses action and accountability toward achieving positive results by improving the quality of life of children and youth, and establishing indicators to measure progress in achieving these outcomes. These six child outcomes are:

- (1) Every child will thrive physically--to be healthy from birth with ongoing access to good health care, and have a safe home, school, and community environment;
- (2) Every child will form positive relationships--to have the attention of at least one caring adult and supportive friendship with peers;
- (3) Every child will be prepared for and succeed in school--to have developmentally nurturing care and early education opportunities, meet age appropriate knowledge and competencies, and graduate from high school;

- (4) Every child will be culturally aware and appreciative of diversity;
- (5) Every child and youth will choose responsible behaviors--to exhibit respect for oneself, others of every age, and society by refraining from drug use and from sexual and illegal activity; and
- (6) Every youth will develop marketable skills enabling a successful transition into adulthood.

The legislature finds that as public and private agencies address the third outcome, many facets of the early childhood system are affected. These fall into the areas of health, education, and social services that overlap to support the family and the child.

The legislature further finds that additional funding in selected programs targeting key populations, strategically linked together at the local level, can significantly enhance the State's capacity to achieve these outcomes, as well as leverage additional federal and private dollars.

The purpose of this part is to:

- (1) Address a variety of these facets to improve the affordability, accessibility, and quality of early childhood services; and
- (2) Provide coordination to the early childhood system.

PART XIII

SECTION 48. The legislature finds that one way to improve Hawaii's performance on the first, second, and third outcomes is to increase the supply and quality of child care. One indicator of increased supply and quality of care is an increase in the number of providers receiving licenses or accreditation. One strategy to increase licensing and accreditation is to help providers overcome the financial obstacles to starting or expanding their child care business.

The purpose of this part is to establish a child care facilities revolving loan fund to provide start-up or expansion capital to family child care homes and centers that are licensed or are seeking a license.

SECTION 49. Chapter 346, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by adding a new section to part VIII to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:

"§346- Child care facilities grant fund. (a) There is established a grant fund to be known as the child care facilities grant fund to be administered by the department. The purpose of the fund shall be to make grants, each not to exceed $25,000, as start-up capital or as expansion capital for family child care homes or centers that are appropriately licensed or will become appropriately licensed.

(b) All moneys appropriated by the legislature for purposes of subsection (a) shall be deposited into the fund."

SECTION 50. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, to be paid into the child care facilities revolving loan fund established under section 3 of this Act.

SECTION 51. The sum appropriated shall be expended by the department of human services for the purposes of this Act.

PART XIV

SECTION 52. The legislature finds that one way to improve Hawaii's performance on the third outcome is to increase the ability of working parents to place their children in quality care. Many working parents need financial assistance to pay for the full cost of quality early childhood education and care.

The purpose of this part is to increase the number of child care subsidies.

SECTION 53. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, and the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2000-2001, to increase the number of child care subsidies, pay administrative expenses, and to provide parent workshops to recipients of child care subsidies in each county, as follows:

	FY 1999-2000	FY 2000-2001
City and County of Honolulu	$	$
County of Maui
County of Hawaii
County of Kauai

provided that:

- (1) Each county may allocate up to fifteen per cent of the sum appropriated for administrative expenses incurred in the disbursement of child care subsidies;
- (2) Subsidies shall be granted to families with incomes up to eighty-five per cent of the state median income;
- (3) The amount of each subsidy shall be based on family income on an inverse sliding scale, including a parent co-payment; and
- (4) Receipt of a subsidy shall be contingent on applicant families to attend a parent workshop.

SECTION 54. The sums appropriated shall be expended by the appropriate counties for the purposes of this Act.

PART XV

SECTION 55. The legislature finds that one way to make progress towards the outcome that every child will be prepared for and succeed in school is to increase the number of accredited child care programs. An accredited program is acknowledged to be one that places emphasis on the quality of interactions between teachers and children, and the developmental appropriateness of the curriculum. Health and safety, staffing, staff qualifications, physical environment, and administration are all reviewed during the accreditation.

The legislature further finds that the accreditation mentoring of early childhood programs provides support for those interested in seeking accreditation, and develops mentoring and leadership skills among early childhood professionals.

The purpose of this part is to expand the accreditation-mentor project for early childhood programs.

SECTION 56. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, and the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2000-2001, to expand and continue the accreditation-mentor project for early childhood programs, as follows:

	FY 1999-2000	FY 2000-2001
City and County of Honolulu	$	$
County of Maui
County of Kauai
County of Hawaii

SECTION 57. The sums appropriated shall be expended by the appropriate counties for the purposes of this Act.

PART XVI

SECTION 58. The legislature finds that public and private resources are needed to achieve the child outcomes adopted as state policy in House Concurrent Resolution No. 38, 1998. Act 77, Session Laws of Hawaii 1997, acknowledged a performance partnership among government, the business community, the philanthropic sector, providers of quality care, and parents, known as the good beginnings alliance.

The good beginnings alliance has been incorporated as a non-profit entity that works through four good beginnings county councils and an interdepartmental council. The good beginnings alliance partners work to implement strategies in good beginnings county plans and in the state early childhood master plan that support progress towards the child outcomes and key indicators and benchmarks of those outcomes.

In order to continue the development and coordination of quality early childhood education and care services, the legislature finds that this public-private partnership requires public funding to match the private funding acquired to date.

The purpose of this part is to continue coordination and implementation of the good beginnings alliance initiative.

SECTION 59. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, and the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2000-2001, for the coordination and implementation of the good beginnings alliance initiative, established under Act 77, Session Laws of Hawaii 1997; provided that funds shall be matched by private sources for the purpose for which these sums are appropriated.

SECTION 60. The sums appropriated shall be expended by the department of human services for the purposes of this Act.

PART XVII

SECTION 61. The legislature finds that support for a child's healthy and educational development is critical when the child is very young. The best place to start is with the empowerment of parents in their roles as parents and teachers in the home.

Families for REAL (resources for early access to learning) is a school-based family education program of courses and activities for all families and their children between the ages of birth and five years. The program is based on Minnesota's family education model which has proven to have a positive effect on parenting and the well-being of children. It recognizes that families provide their children's first and most important learning environments, and that parents are their children's first and most significant teachers. Participation by families is voluntary and services are offered free.

Parents and their children attend age and developmentally appropriate classes once a week for nine weeks. They share and learn critical parenting and teaching skills, network with each other, learn about community resources, and become aware of what they can do to nurture healthy children and to help children to learn.

In addition to the program's regular courses, special interest classes are offered on such topics as stress management, building strong families, child development, sibling rivalry, esteem, and language development.

The legislature further finds that in school year 1997-1998, three sites, Pearl City Highlands, Kapunahala, and Wailuku Elementary, provided direct services to 4,077 individuals. The long-range plan is to have a total of fourteen sites, one site per area served by each of the eleven community schools for adults plus one site each on the islands of Molokai and Lanai, and Kona, Hawaii.

The legislature further finds that this is a cost-effective program based on the fact that the average cost-per-person served is $108. The legislature also finds that the program attracts families from all socioeconomic backgrounds, that forty to fifty per cent of the participant families are identified as families at-risk, and that all the families have much to learn from and with each other.

The purpose of this part is to appropriate funds to expand families for REAL.

SECTION 62. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, for the expansion of families for REAL to Kapalama, King Kamualihi, Pearl Ridge, and Waiakea elementary schools, and the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2000-2001, for the expansion of families for REAL to four additional school sites.

SECTION 63. The sums appropriated shall be expended by the department of education for the purposes of this Act.

PART XVIII

SECTION 64. The legislature finds that in order for every child to thrive physically and be prepared for and succeed in school, there needs to be more opportunity for families with at-risk children to receive infant and child monitoring, screening, and additional community referrals to meet their needs before entering public education programs.

One such opportunity is the keiki/family interactive mobile units that provide an easily accessible early education and intervention service to families with children from birth to five years of age. The program supports the parent as a child's first teacher and brings age appropriate activities to neighborhood parks or other accessible sites, facilitating bonding, communication skills, normal growth and development, and cognitive stimulation. Parent education activities are included as well.

The program provides a non-threatening, culturally relevant, learning environment for at-risk children from birth to five years of age and their parents through which screening and appropriate community referrals can be made for health, nutrition, education, parenting skills, and psychological needs.

Although these units were contracted to provide direct service to four hundred individuals during 1997-1998, by the completion of the year, a total of 1,147 (358 adults and 789 children) were served, demonstrating the need for the program. Presently, the keiki/family interactive mobile units are offering services to select areas of need across the State focusing on homeless, isolated, or rural families as a priority. Those locations are as follows:

- (1) Island of Kauai: Koloa;
- (2) Island of Oahu: Wahiawa, Makiki, Loliana Transitional Housing, Maililand Transitional Housing, and Weinberg Transitional Housing Waimanalo;
- (3) Island of Lanai: Lanai City;
- (4) Island of Maui: Harbor Lights Housing, Malama Recovery Center, and Lahaina;
- (5) Island of Hawaii: Hilo Emergency Shelter, and Kawaihae Transitional Housing.

The legislature further finds that an increase in funding will provide additional families the opportunity to participate in the keiki/family interactive mobile unit services at the following sites:

- (1) Island of Kauai: Kapaa;
- (2) Island of Oahu: Kalihi/Palama/Liliha, Institute for Human Services, North Shore, Makaha, Kailua, and Waianae;
- (3) Island of Maui: Wailuku;
- (4) Island of Molokai: One site;
- (5) Island of Hawaii: Paho, Hilo, and Kona.

The legislature further finds that the increase in service delivery would also provide additional resources for developmental screening of children as well as community referrals to identify and meet the needs of at-risk children before entering the department of education. Through these added funds, collaboration with agencies such as the good beginnings alliance could be increased.

The purpose of this part is to increase the capacity of the keiki/family interactive mobile units.

SECTION 65. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, and the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2000-2001, to increase the capacity of the keiki/family interactive mobile units.

SECTION 66. The sums appropriated shall be expended by the department of health for the purposes of this Act.

PART XIX

SECTION 67. The legislature finds that earning a high school degree is one of the key factors which can assist teen parents and their families to become self-sufficient, create opportunities for themselves and their children, and maximize their life potential. The support needed to assist teen parents to complete high school is cost effective in the long run -- for every teen who is able to become self-sufficient, over $20,000 annually in welfare benefits are saved.

The legislature further finds that access to child care is a systemic barrier that prevents many teen mothers and some teen fathers who have not completed high school from going to school. In Hawaii, teen pregnancy affects approximately 1,850 teens age twelve through eighteen each year, of which over approximately 1,150 result in live births. It is estimated that up to four hundred parenting students who have not finished high school may need assistance with child care.

The purpose of this part is to provide child care for parenting teens so they may complete high school and pursue vocational training.

SECTION 68. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, and the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2000-2001, for child care for parenting teens.

SECTION 69. The sums appropriated shall be expended by the department of education for the purposes of this Act.

PART XX

SECTION 70. There is a national effort for child care providers both in family-care settings and center-based settings to be minimally qualified to work with children from birth through age five. Caregivers must demonstrate their ability to nurture children's physical, social, emotional, and intellectual growth in a child development framework. The proof of their competence is the child development associate credential.

The legislature finds that approximately one hundred individuals are estimated to need financial assistance in obtaining their child development associate credential. Current cost for the application packet and assessment for credentialing is $350 per person. This is a minimal cost as there may be other requirements that must be met, depending on the applicant's readiness, training, and experience.

The purpose of this part is to subsidize the cost of obtaining a child development associate credential.

SECTION 71. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, and the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2000-2001, to provide financial assistance in attaining a child development associate credential.

SECTION 72. The sums appropriated shall be expended by the department of human services for the purposes of the Act.

SECTION 73. If any provision of this Act, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of the Act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this Act are severable.

SECTION 74. Statutory material to be repealed is bracketed. New statutory material is underscored."

2. By redesignating Section 38 as Section 75.

Senator Fukunaga moved that the amendment be adopted, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Fukunaga then said:

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 10 was put by the Chair and carried.

SECTION 1. Senate Bill No. 392, S.D. 1, is amended by deleting its contents in their entirety and replacing them with the following language:

"SECTION 1. The legislature finds that private development of harbor facilities on state lands should be encouraged to save taxpayers the burden of funding costly construction of improvement. The legislature further finds that private development would more likely result in project being completed on time.

The purpose of this Act is to allow the harbors division to enter into cost-reimbursement contracts with marine operators or tenants for public improvements of harbor facilities.

SECTION 2. Chapter 266, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by adding a new section to part I to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:

"§266- Private financing of harbor improvements. (a) Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, the department of transportation may enter into a cost-reimbursement contract with a maritime operator or tenant for any public improvement to or construction of a state harbor, commercial harbor, roadstead, or other waterfront improvement belonging to or controlled by the State, if the director of transportation determines that a cost-reimbursement contract promotes the best interest of the State by a finding that:

- (1) Private development is likely to be less costly than any other type of contract;
- (2) Private development provides needed public improvements in a significant timely basis; or
- (3) Public financing for public improvements is not available on a timely basis.

(b) A cost-reimbursement contract under subsection (a) may be financed by an offset from the marine operator's or tenant's future rental or tariff payments to the State; provided that the terms of the contract shall ensure that the State benefits financially from the arrangement and that public use of the facility is maintained. Projects financed by the cost-reimbursement method shall not in any way obligate the State for repayment by a legislative appropriation.

(c) A cost-reimbursement contract under subsection (a) shall be subject to the applicable requirements of chapters 103 and 103D and subject to the approval of the administrator of the state procurement office, established under section 103D-204(a); provided that all related transactions shall be subject to state audit.

S.B. No. 425, S.D.2:

Senator Fukunaga moved that S.B. No. 425, S.D.2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Fukunaga then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 11) to S.B. No. 425, S.D.2:

SECTION 1. Senate Bill No. 425, S.D. 2, is amended as follows:

1. By amending section 1 to read:

"SECTION 1. The legislature finds that as the State struggles with a prolonged fiscal crisis never before experienced in its history, government must utilize all the resources at its disposal to ensure that governmental services continue to be provided. To this end, the legislature believes that fees charged by state agencies must be closely scrutinized to ascertain whether the fee imposed accurately reflects the cost of providing the services. The proper aligning of fees charged by state agencies with moneys expended to provide them will have the resultant benefit of freeing up state resources for other areas in need of revenue. In addition, the legislature finds that towing companies should be able to collect fees for the cost of clean-up.

The purpose of this Act is to increase fees charged by state agencies to more accurately reflect the cost of providing governmental services, and to allow towing companies to collect fees for the cost of clean-up."

2. By deleting sections 2 and 3.

3. By renumbering sections 4, 5, and 6 of the bill to sections 2, 3, and 4 of the bill.

Fees shall be set in accordance with the recommendations of the advisory council, and may be collected from students regularly enrolled; provided that:

- (1) Adults registered with the department of labor and industrial relations and unemployed shall be granted free enrollment in such courses as will tend to assist these persons in securing employment;
- (2) Adults certified by the department of human services as indigent may be enrolled on a nonfee basis in classes that will tend to assist these persons in becoming self-sustaining;
- (3) Discharged veterans who are entitled to federal educational assistance shall be enrolled upon authorization of the Department of Veterans Affairs and fees shall be charged against federal funds in accordance with Department of Veterans Affairs contract regulations; and
- (4) Administrative and supervisory costs, costs of instruction, and all other necessary expenses not covered by fees and other authorized charges shall be paid for out of funds appropriated for this purpose."

The notice shall state:

- (1) The maximum towing charges and fees allowed by law;
- (2) The telephone number of the county finance department that arranged for or authorized the tow; and
- (3) That if the vehicle is not recovered within thirty days after the mailing of the notice, the vehicle shall be deemed abandoned and will be sold or disposed of as junk.

When the vehicle is recovered after the tow by the registered owner or lien holder, the party recovering the vehicle shall pay the tow and storage charges which shall not exceed the charges as provided by section 290-11(b) or the rates agreed upon with the respective counties, whichever is lower, except that tow operators may charge additional reasonable amounts for [excavating] recovering vehicles from off-road locations[,] and up to $25 for road clean-up if, pursuant to an agreement with the respective counties, the towing company is required to clean and clear the roadway and, in cases of spills or leaks, provide, apply, and remove absorbent material; provided that if the notice required by this section was not sent within twenty days after the tow, neither the registered owner nor the lien holder shall be required to pay the tow and storage charges. No notice shall be sent to a legal or registered owner or any person with any unrecorded interest in the vehicle whose name or address cannot be determined. A person who has been charged in excess of the charges permitted under this section may sue for damages sustained, and, if the judgment is for the plaintiff, the court shall award the plaintiff a sum not to exceed the amount of these damages and reasonable attorney's fees together with the cost of the suit."

SECTION 7. Act 138, Session Laws of Hawaii 1998, is amended by amending section 3 to read as follows:

SECTION 9. Recent studies have found that quality early child care and education services have a dramatic long-term effect on a child's ability to succeed in school, achieve economically, and avoid the criminal justice system. Early child care also benefits the current work force as well, by affecting economic initiatives, productivity of workers, and the success of state welfare-to-work initiatives. The legislature finds that it is important to create new opportunities for early childhood development and education.

The legislature further finds that these centers are particularly important in low income neighborhoods, serving as a safe and nurturing place where parents can meet to talk, volunteer their services, hold regular meetings about school activities and curriculum, as well as attend classes themselves.

The purpose of this Part is to appropriate funds to develop an early childhood development and education center for infants and children up to four years of age in the Kalihi area of Honolulu. In developing this center, the department of education shall draw on the partnerships already developed between Farrington high school, the University of Hawai'i college of education, VISTA tutors, partners from the community, private businesses, organizations, foundations, and parents.

SECTION 10. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $ _____, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, to develop an early childhood education center for infants and children up to four years of age in the Kalihi area of Honolulu.

SECTION 1. Senate Bill No. 1046, S.D. 2, is amended by deleting its contents in their entirety and replacing them with the following language:

"SECTION 1. For several decades, the civil service system has admirably met its mandate to support Hawaii state government's mission to serve the people of Hawaii. Within the past few years, however, with the advancement of digital technology, public needs have changed at a constant and ever-increasing rate. Our current civil service system, which was created at a time when digital technology was at best, mostly theory, has outlived its usefulness. Therefore, for state government to continue to meet the public's needs, the civil service system will have to be modernized to provide flexible, timely, responsive, and people centered personnel support.

To create an opportunity that encourages all stakeholders to work collaboratively to co-create this modernized civil service, it is proposed that a "fresh-start" provision be established for civil service laws. Such a "fresh-start" concept would not only serve to "clear-the-deck" but would also capture the public's attention and thus provide the drive to seriously engage in the process of co-creating a new statutory framework by all stakeholders.

SECTION 2. The director of human resources development is charged with the responsibility to establish partnerships with all stakeholders, labor and management included, and begin to design and effectuate a process to modernize the civil service system.

The director of the department of human resources development shall identify and work collaboratively with the various stakeholders governed by the provisions of chapters 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, and 82, Hawaii Revised Statutes, in order to draft replacement legislation if deemed necessary. The stakeholders shall include, but not be limited to, the exclusive representatives whose members are covered by these chapters, the conference of personnel directors, the personnel director of the judiciary, and members of the house of representatives and the state senate as designated by the speaker of the house of representatives and the president of the senate, respectively.

It is envisioned that discussions may include but not be limited to, such other issues as negotiability of health benefits, creation of a new classification system, total compensation package which includes pay and benefits, recruitment above the first step of the pay range, autonomy of personnel administration systems, and the civil service commission and public employees compensation appeals board.

The director, with the consensus of the stakeholders shall establish a process for developing as broad-based a series of recommendations as can be agreed upon by the stakeholders in the process.

The director shall submit monthly progress reports to the legislature. The director and the stakeholders shall submit draft model civil service legislation to a joint house and senate labor committee meeting on November 15, 1999. The stakeholders shall continue to meet after the joint meeting and make any revisions to the proposed legislation based on feedback from the joint committee. The director, with the stakeholders concurring, shall present revised legislation for the modernization of civil service legislation for consideration by the legislature by January 15, 2000.

SECTION 3. Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, the legislature shall adopt legislation to be effective June 29, 2000, to define the employment of persons in the civil service system. Such legislation shall be governed by the merit principle.

SECTION 4. Effective June 30, 2000, chapters 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, and 82, Hawaii Revised Statutes, are repealed; provided that the legislature has adopted replacement legislation for them in accordance with section 3 of this Act.

SECTION 5. This Act shall take effect upon its approval."

Senator Levin moved that the amendment be adopted, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

Senator Levin then said:

"Mr. President, this bill was acted upon by the Ways and Means Committee and an incorrect draft was decked. This is the correct language."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 5 was put by the Chair and carried.

By unanimous consent, S.B. No. 1046, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE CIVIL SERVICE SYSTEM FOR PUBLIC OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES," was placed on the calendar for Third Reading on Thursday, March 11, 1999.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 862 (S.B. No. 1024, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 862 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Levin and carried.

Senator Chumbley moved that S.B. No. 1024, S.D.2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Matsunaga.

Senator Fukunaga then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 17) to S.B. No. 1024, S.D.2:

Senate Bill No. 1024, S.D. 2, is amended as follows:

1. By designating Section 1 through Section 12 as "Part I".
2. By amending Section 11 to read:

"SECTION 11. This part does not affect rights and duties that matured, penalties that were incurred, and proceedings that were begun, before its effective date. Rules adopted pursuant to the chapters being amended shall remain in effect until the rules are amended, repealed, or replaced."

3. By amending Section 12 to read:

"SECTION 12. All acts passed by the legislature during the Regular Session of 1999, whether enacted before or after the effective date of this part, shall be amended to conform to this part; unless such acts specifically provide that this part is to be amended."

4. By adding a new Part II consisting of Sections 13 and 14 to read as follows:

"PART II.

SECTION 13. The department of health is moving toward adoption of a risk-based environmental management strategy, which is based upon risk assessment to human health and the environment, rather than upon rigid technical standards.

Under the Comprehensive Emergency Response, Compensation and Liability Act of 1980 (CERCLA) and the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 (OPA 90), the department of health has responsibility as a "natural resources trustee." To fulfill this responsibility, the department must have the ability to evaluate the impact of chemical releases and oil spills on the complex ecosystems of Hawaii. This expertise requires an individual who is trained and experienced in the field of ecological risk assessment.

In addition, as a trustee, the department is required to conduct damage assessments and negotiate penalties with those responsible for chemical releases and oil spills that harm the environment.

To do this effectively, the department must have expertise in-house to support the claims made by the State. It is difficult for the department to make its case and negotiate successfully without a credible expert in the area of natural biology and ecological risk assessment. This is a very specialized field of study and the expertise will support all the programs of the environmental health administration.

SECTION 14. Chapter 128D, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by adding a new section to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:

"§128D- Ecological risk assessor. The department may establish a permanent exempt position for an ecological risk assessor for the purpose of assessing ecological risks and damages. The position shall be appointed by the director without regard to chapters 76 and 77. The funds for this position shall come from the environmental response revolving fund established in section 128D-2."

5. By adding a new Part III consisting of Sections 15, 16, and 17 to read as follows:

"PART III.

SECTION 15. The legislature affirms that it is in the public interest that actions which may have a significant impact on the environment be subjected to a formal system of review to ensure that the environmental concerns of the proposed actions are given equal weight to economic and technical considerations. The legislature finds that under existing law, certain proposed actions which may have significant environmental effects are not subject to the provisions for environmental review, and that such review would provide substantive benefits to the public through judicious evaluations of social and environmental effects, to the private applicant through the identification of appropriate mitigation strategies to minimize adverse environmental effects, and to government through the identification of appropriate planning principles and regulatory actions.

The purpose of this part is to extend the environmental review provisions of chapter 343, Hawaii Revised Statutes, to encompass the proposed use of land subject to discretionary approval by a state or county agency except for those land uses that have minimal or no significant effects.

SECTION 16. Sections 343-5, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (a) to read as follows:

"(a) Except as otherwise provided, an environmental assessment shall be required for actions which:

- (1) Propose the use of state or county lands or the use of state or county funds, other than funds to be used for feasibility or planning studies for possible future programs or projects which the agency has not approved, adopted, or funded, or funds to be used for the acquisition of unimproved real property; provided that the agency shall consider environmental factors and available alternatives in its feasibility or planning studies;
- (2) Propose any use within any land classified as conservation district by the state land use commission under chapter 205;
- (3) Propose any use within the shoreline area as defined in section 205A-41;
- (4) Propose any use within any historic site as designated in the National Register or Hawaii Register as provided for in the Historic Preservation Act of 1966, Public Law 89-665, or chapter 6E;
- (5) Propose any use within the Waikiki area of Oahu, the boundaries of which are delineated in the land use ordinance as amended, establishing the "Waikiki Special District";
- (6) Propose any amendments to existing county general plans where such amendment would result in designations other than agriculture, conservation, or preservation, except actions proposing any new county general plan or amendments to any existing county general plan initiated by a county;
- (7) Propose any reclassification of any land classified as conservation district by the state land use commission under chapter 205; [and
- [(8)] Propose the construction of new, or the expansion or modification of existing helicopter facilities within the State which by way of their activities may affect any land classified as conservation district by the state land use commission under chapter 205; the shoreline area as defined in section 205A-41; or, any historic site as designated in the National Register or Hawaii Register as provided for in the Historic Preservation Act of 1966, Public Law 89-665, or chapter 6E; or, until the statewide historic places inventory is completed, any historic site found by a field reconnaissance of the area affected by the helicopter facility and which is under consideration for placement on the National Register or the Hawaii Register of Historic Places[.]; and
- (9) Propose any use of land when the use is subject to discretionary approval by a state or county agency, except those land uses that have minimal or no significant effects as provided in section 343-6(a)(7).

SECTION 17. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $40,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 1999-2000, to carry out the purposes of this part, including the hiring of necessary staff. The sum appropriated shall be expended by the department of health."

6. By redesignating Sections 13 and 14 as Sections 18 and 19, and by designating these sections as Part IV.

7. By amending the new Section 19 to read as follows:

"SECTION 19. This Act shall take effect upon its approval; provided that Sections 15, 16, and 17 shall take effect on July 1, 1999."

Senator Fukunaga moved that the amendment be adopted, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Fukunaga rose and stated:

"Mr. President, Floor Amendment No. 17 would incorporate the provisions of S.B. No. 516 and S.B. No. 1023, both of which had been acted upon by the Senate Ways and Means Committee. They deal with an ecological risk assessor as well as discretionary approvals by state or county agencies."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 17 was put by the Chair and carried.

By unanimous consent, S.B. No. 1024, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ENVIRONMENT," was placed on the calendar for Third Reading on Thursday, March 11, 1999.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 584 (S.B. No. 1231, S.D. 2):

Senator Nakata moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 584 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

Senator Nakata moved that S.B. No. 1231, S.D.2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Nakata then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 18) to S.B. No. 1231, S.D.2:

SECTION 1. Senate Bill No. 1231, S.D. 2, is amended as follows:

1. By amending page 3, lines 5-7 to read:

"signs.] Smoking is prohibited in all enclosed areas of private workplaces and state-owned or state-controlled workplaces including state-owned or leased vehicles, except that an employer may make provisions for employees to smoke in a designated area of the workplace as long as the nonsmoking employees are not directly impacted. For employees subject to collective bargaining, any provision to allow smoking in a designated area of the workplace shall be a negotiable item."

2. By deleting subsection (c) on page 3, lines 17-19.

Senator Nakata moved that the amendment be adopted, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Nakata then said:

"Mr. President, S.B. No. 1231, S.D. 2, prohibits smoking in workplaces in areas that are confined by four walls and a roof. This amendment would make exceptions that an employer may make provisions for employees to smoke in a designated area of the workplace as long as the non-smoking employees are not directly impacted. And for employees subject to collective bargaining, any provision to allow smoking in a designated area of the workplace shall be a negotiable item."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 18 was put by the Chair and carried.

By unanimous consent, S.B. No. 1231, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO SMOKING IN THE WORKPLACE," was placed on the calendar for Third Reading on Thursday, March 11, 1999.

At 11:23 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:34 o'clock a.m.

S.B. No. 498, S.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Kanno, seconded by Senator Taniguchi and carried, S.B. No. 498, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PRESCRIPTIVE AUTHORITY FOR ADVANCED PRACTICE REGISTERED NURSES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 569 (S.B. No. 1429, S.D. 1):

On motion by Senator Kanno, seconded by Senator Taniguchi and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 569 was adopted and S.B. No. 1429, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WASTEWATER TREATMENT FACILITIES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

S.B. No. 1404, S.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Nakata, seconded by Senator M. Ige and carried, S.B. No. 1404, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WASTEWATER REUSE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

S.B. No. 1090:

Senator Inouye moved that S.B. No. 1090, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Buen.

Senator Bunda rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to this measure.

"Mr. President, I believe that the intent of the bill is to target the illegal sale of under-sized lobsters and lobsters with eggs in our local markets. However, the language in this measure states that DLNR may specify in the rules that any marine life taken from the waters of the Northwestern Hawaiian Islands is subject to the same state regulations that apply to the main Hawaiian Islands.

"Mr. President, I have a difficult time with this bill because it would give pretty much a carte blanche authority to the Department of Land and Natural Resources in issuing licenses and doing rules for any marine life. If DLNR had intended this bill to be just for lobsters, then the section title of this bill should not have been amended and the language should have been more species specific.

"However, with this language of 'any marine life,' it appears that DLNR is looking for more latitude and could use the amended language in ways to be economically detrimental to our local fishermen and our local seafood businesses.

"Mr. President, we already have laws in place on both the federal and state levels to effectively manage our valuable Hawaiian fisheries. However, given the free reign that we are going to give to DLNR to do rules on 'any marine life' adds more bureaucracy -- and again, Mr. President, could impose unjustifiable restrictions on an already struggling fisheries business. We have enough competition from foreign fisheries as it is already.

"Mr. President, I urge all my colleagues to vote 'no' on this measure."

Senator Inouye, rising in support of the measure, then stated:

"Mr. President, I'm in support of S.B. No. 1090.

"Senate bill 1090 proposes to allow DLNR to specify that marine life taken from the Northwest Hawaiian Islands may not be regarded as important animals and may be subject to the same state regulations that apply in the main Hawaiian Islands. In the past, DLNR has used this license to allow the sale of Northwest Hawaii animals in the state, but recent changes in the federal management plan for lobsters in North Hawaii have resulted in undersized and lobsters with eggs appearing in the local markets. The department believes that the sale of these lobsters should not be allowed in the state.

"In addition, recent data indicated that the Northwest Hawaii and the main Hawaiian Island lobsters are the same population stock, and this suggests that the same regulations should apply to both groups. This bill, Mr. President, would clearly authorize the department to state that local sales of undersized and lobsters with eggs would no longer be allowed under this license.

"I urge my colleagues to support S.B. No. 1090 and strongly urge its passage.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Slom then said:

"Mr. President, a point of clarification.

"May I ask the chair of Economic Development about that issue? Is this bill limited strictly to lobsters or does it, in fact, apply to any marine life? Thank you."

Senator Inouye responded:

"Mr. President and to my colleague, I think it particularly is strictly to lobsters."

Senator Iwase then inquired:

"Just to follow up on that, where in the bill does it say that it is limited strictly to lobsters?"

At 11:39 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:43 o'clock a.m.

Senator Inouye then said:

"Mr. President, in light of the concerns raised, the Committee on Economic Development has received H.B. No. 1180 which regards the same title, and the chair at this time would recommend that we recommit S.B. No. 1090."

The Chair so ordered.

By unanimous consent, S.B. No. 1090, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE LICENSE FOR IMPORTED MARINE LIFE," was recommitted to the Committee on Economic Development.

S.B. No. 1134, S.D. 1:

Senator Kanno moved that S.B. No. 1134, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against the bill.

"As a senior citizen, and one more mature than many of my colleagues, I take umbrage in the thrust of the bill that senior citizens are not able to read contracts or to understand reverse mortgages, which have become popular on the Mainland. It is true that in some cases there have been abuses or deceptive practices, but that has not been the case in Hawaii. This bill is a bill that seeks to address a problem which does not exist and has not existed, and it requires counseling of individuals, primarily seniors, and many of us are capable of reading, and it provides penalty provisions for financial institutions.

"I think that we should have as much choice as possible. And because, as I said, there has been no evidence of any problems here, I think that this bill is not necessary, so I'm going to vote 'no.'

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1134, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO REVERSE MORTGAGES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Anderson, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 583 (S.B. No. 368, S.D. 1):

Senator Nakata moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 583 be adopted and S.B. No. 368, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator M. Ige.

Senator Iwase rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, please cast an 'aye' vote with reservations for me on this bill. I believe it runs afoul of Article 3, Section 14, of the Constitution -- one subject. The title and the purpose of the bill do not appear to be in sync.

"Thank you."

Senator Chun rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"Mr. President, the County of Kauai has one of the few medical incinerators located within the State of Hawaii. This medical incinerator has been operating, to my knowledge, satisfactorily for many years.

"This bill would, in essence, at the end of the term of its current permit, require it to shut down, which would further limit the number of licensed medical incinerators within the State of Hawaii. That could have a devastating impact for the citizens of the County of Kauai and also for the State of Hawaii. If we would have to shut down and cannot burn the medical waste safely within the State of Hawaii, within the County of Kauai, the patients -- you and I -- would have to pay for those costs. The only other way we can get rid of those efficiently is either probably shipping them off to another island or shipping them off to the Mainland. That would add extraordinary costs and it's costs that we cannot bear.

"I trust, though I think the intent of the bill is good, that it is to insure that the safety of all people living close to medical incinerators is protected. I believe in the intent of the bill. I also believe that one of the intents of the bill is to have medical incinerators that are currently licensed to upgrade their facilities to meet even more stringent EPA requirements. I believe, Mr. President, that will happen and I believe that will happen regardless of whether or not we take action on this bill or not. But for purposes of protecting the interests and making the interests known of my constituents, I would have to favor this bill, but also with reservations.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"I think that, first of all, in listening to the discussion about this bill, the technology was not even properly addressed in terms of medical waste. Secondly, the firms that have been adequately permitted by the Department of Health and other agencies, I think, should be allowed to operate in that manner.

"My colleague from the Garden Island expressed concerns in terms of limiting the use of these medical waste facilities. And during the conversations in committee, there were a lot of statements made about the position of the federal environmental agency, and the statements later turned out to be false in that the Environmental Protection Agency, the EPA, does not in fact have any limitations in terms of distance or nearness to facilities at the present time.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Nakata rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"I have been in conversation with my colleague from Kauai and understand his concerns, and we will be talking to our House counterpart to address the issue.

"And as far as the 500 foot limit, this was recommended to us by the Department of Health.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto, rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor with reservations.

"I'm in full accord of the intent, which is to address the potential hazards to the residents from emissions that may affect them, but the need for medical health facilities have not been addressed. What and how much waste are we talking about? Is it economically feasible and environmentally safe to build these facilities here? Or would it be more economical to ship the waste outside of Hawaii or outside of Kauai, or outside of wherever? Now, our Governor and most of us kind of agree that we want Hawaii to be a place for a health state, a medical technological center. How can we be that if we cannot address our medical waste?

"This bill does not allow, as the Kauai Senator said, hospitals and other facilities to deal with their own waste. Many times it's safer and far more economical to dispose of the waste at the source and not risk handling, transportation, refrigeration and many other potential problems. I think this bill needs a lot more thought, Mr. President.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson rose and said:

"Would you have the Clerk record a W/R for me, please. I want to go over some things."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Bunda added:

"A W/R for me, Mr. President."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 583 was adopted and S.B. No. 368, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY OCCUPANCY," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, 1 (Slom). Excused, 2 (Levin, Taniguchi).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 585 (S.B. No. 211, S.D. 1):

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Buen and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 585 was adopted and S.B. No. 211, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE EMPLOYEES' RETIREMENT SYSTEM," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Levin).

At 11:51 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:52 o'clock a.m.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 586 (S.B. No. 813, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 586 be adopted and S.B. No. 813, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom, rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"I rise to speak in support of the bill with reservations.

"My reservations have to do with our expanded use of special purpose revenue bonds, and we'll have a number of other bills coming up a little bit later. I raised this issue last year. There is a question whether or not the state is going to have any liability whatsoever, since we're putting our name and facilitating the issuance of these bonds.

"Secondly, we seem to be broadening the original purpose and use for health and welfare of these bonds.

"And thirdly, I guess the question should be whether or not there is going to be any limit to the issuance of special revenue bonds.

"So I raise those questions and probably will address them specifically in other bills.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Fukunaga then responded:

"Mr. President, I'd like to respond to the remarks of the prior speaker. I'm speaking in support of the measure.

"I do want to assure the good Senator from the Hawaii Kai area that these bills provide the authorizations for special purpose revenue bonds to be issued and the Department of Budget and Finance fully and very carefully screens every specific authorization.

"The bonds themselves are only procured if there is a market for them. So in this instance, we have a utility bond which is being sought. We have never seen any of these special purpose utility bonds, which the Legislature has authorized, run into any kinds of problems. So I do want to assure the good Senator that every effort is made to carefully check the companies and the markets for these issuances and we are providing the authorizations therefore.

"For all of the above reasons, we would urge our colleagues to vote in support. Thank you."

Senator Slom then rose and said:

"Mr. President, I want to thank my colleague from Makiki, Tantalus, Ala Moana, all points mauka, makai, and so forth.

"I would just like to inquire, however, that in speaking with the Department of Budget and others, if any of these bonds that are actually issued, if there is a default, is the State totally and completely immunized from any liability? That really is the basis of my question. Thank you."

Senator Anderson requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 586 was adopted and S.B. No. 813, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE ISSUANCE OF SPECIAL PURPOSE REVENUE BONDS TO ASSIST THE GAS UTILITY IN SERVING THE GENERAL PUBLIC," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

At 11:55 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:56 o'clock a.m.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 590 (S.B. No. 1130, S.D. 1):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 590 be adopted and S.B. No. 1130, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose in support of the measure with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to support the bill, with reservations.

"Basically, my questions are, What the cost of this bill is going to mean? Who's going to pay the cost, whether it's going to be the HMOs or whether it's going to be passed along to patients? And also, questions of staff. And really, the bottom line is the necessity for this bill, but I will support it with reservations.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson then said:

"Aye, with reservations, also."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 590 was adopted and S.B. No. 1130, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HEALTH MAINTENANCE ORGANIZATIONS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 591 (S.B. No. 1144, S.D. 1):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 591 be adopted and S.B. No. 1144, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to the bill.

"The bill proposes to take a portion of the franchise tax and we're not sure just exactly how much and how we're going to do that. More importantly, though, is where the money is going to go, what it's going to be used for, and what do the taxpayers and the customers of the financial institutions get? So I'm voting 'no' against this bill.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 591 was adopted and S.B. No. 1144, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Anderson, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 592 (S.B. No. 1145, S.D. 2):

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Levin and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 592 was adopted and S.B. No. 1145, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND CONSUMER AFFAIRS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 594 (S.B. No. 1282, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 594 be adopted and S.B. No. 1282, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Anderson requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 594 was adopted and S.B. No. 1282, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO INVESTMENTS OF THE EMPLOYEES' RETIREMENT SYSTEM," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 596 (S.B. No. 1290, S.D. 1):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 596 be adopted and S.B. No. 1290, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom, rising in support with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"For a long time, those of us in the private sector were urging the State to make good on its promise under the prepaid health care act and take care of employees. And for a long time we've watched as by subterfuge certain departments, such as the Department of Health, have used the ruse of having part-time, casual, temporary, emergency hires so that they would not in fact have to pay medical insurance for them.

"This bill is a good bill in that it will offer all part-time, temporary, seasonal and casual employees the opportunity to get health insurance on their own, and they will pay for that. And that, I think, is a very good idea.

"I would just caution, and my reservations are two fold, that we don't come back here next year or the year after and then say that all of the same employees -- casual, part-time, and so forth -- will be paid by the State, and/or that any monies that casual, part-time employees have previously paid will be subject to reimbursement by the State. That's my only caveat.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Anderson, also rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I also have some reservations, pretty much with what the Minority Floor Leader said, but also we do have many, many temporary employees. Some of them, I guess, have been here for 12-14 years. I would rather see a bill that says that we're going to make them permanent and that from that day on we would pay for all of their medical and any other benefits that they receive.

"What we have done for a number of years is play games. Consequently, if I remember correctly, last year or the year before, the State said they didn't know how many employees they had. And that was one of the reasons -- some are temporary, some are casual. We really don't know how we're putting them all in there. And this bill is trying to help them out and I believe in it.

"Thank you very much."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 596 was adopted and S.B. No. 1290, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HEALTH BENEFITS FOR PART-TIME, TEMPORARY, AND SEASONAL OR CASUAL EMPLOYEES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 598 (S.B. No. 1544, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 598 be adopted and S.B. No. 1544, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Anderson rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'll be going 'no' on this particular measure.

"The only reason is that we've, again, made a lot of problems in the past. We've allowed people to, I guess, have an easy out at 25 years of service with no age at all as part of the reason that they're getting out of government. Now, you can come into government at age 20 or 21 and retire after 25 years. We're trying very hard to help the economy by getting jobs for people. Those people would be young enough and most certainly would not want to retire, really, at age 45 or 46. And then they would go out into the community and take the very jobs that we're trying to create. Or, we would find out, like the teachers, that we made a big mistake and we really need those people back, and then we would hire them back again.

"If we were to write this bill, when it goes over, it would be that we would have to add an age factor of 55, 60, or whatever, and the 25 years added on to that. In private enterprise, my own spouse had to wait 41 years with Hawaiian Airlines because she didn't have the age to get out earlier. So she had to wait until age 62 with 41 years of service. Now, I don't think we have to go that high, but we most certainly should at least hang on to a 55 years or up with 25 years of service.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 598 was adopted and S.B. No. 1544, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE EMPLOYEES' RETIREMENT SYSTEM," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Anderson).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 601 (S.B. No. 809, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 601 be adopted and S.B. No. 809, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"I think it's a good bill and it's a good idea to allow sole proprietor owners with valid commercial registration for a catamaran to transfer, but why don't we do that for other commercial vessels? I think we should expand that instead of limit it just to one or two catamaran vessels.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Anderson then said:

"I have the same reservations."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 601 was adopted and S.B. No. 809, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO BOATING," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 602 (S.B. No. 976, S.D. 1):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 602 be adopted and S.B. No. 976, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Kawamoto rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'd like to rise in favor of this bill.

"Mr. President, there is a construction industry amounting to $350 million to $400 million coming down our pike every year, and yet we don't have an opportunity for research, an opportunity to provide a level playing field for the construction industry, and we have other agencies that do research for less amounts of money. Therefore, I request that my colleagues vote 'aye' on this bill."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to this bill.

"Mr. President, I agree with my colleague that the construction industry, of course, is very vital and very important. It's the foundation of our economy, and right now it is suffering. However, as testimony indicated, to set up a branch within the State Department of Business and Economic Development -- first of all, they oppose the bill; they don't want to do it. I learned a long time ago, if you ask somebody to do something and they don't want to do it, they're not going to do a very good job.

"Secondly, I think that we do have a lot of research and data from private institutions and public institutions in the state.

Thirdly, I think the construction industry, the construction unions can tell us all about the statistics. It's not a question of research gathering. It's not a question of hiring more staff. It's a question of getting more jobs and turning this economy around and improving the business climate. So therefore, I'm opposed to this addition of bureaucracy within the state.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 602 was adopted and S.B. No. 976, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE DEPARTMENT OF BUSINESS, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT, AND TOURISM," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 611 (S.B. No. 1185, S.D. 2):

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Levin and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 611 was adopted and S.B. No. 1185, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE STATE AQUARIUM," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 615 (S.B. No. 1005, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 615 be adopted and S.B. No. 1005, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support with reservations.

"I support the intent of the measure to get subcontractors paid in a timely fashion. However, I do not believe the measure recognizes the operational realities of the construction industry. For example, if a contractor issues payments to three of his subs one day late, per the bill, he'll probably be incurring all three fines and be prohibited from bidding for three years. That's not right.

"Additionally, the measure does not recognize that the fine may greatly exceed what the sub is owed and that there may be a legitimate reason for the late payment. So here are a couple of suggestions to help make the bill better -- maybe adding discretion to the fines up to a certain established amount, or the balance owed the subcontractor, whichever is less. And secondly, possibly calculating the number of offenses by counting one or more times . . . let me clarify. If you have one disbursement, but you have several untimely payments on the same disbursement, that should be one violation, as opposed to three.

"I believe we can support this measure, but it does need more work and we need to take care of good contractors and not let incidents of some bad generals get everybody in trouble.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Tam rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'm in support of this bill.

"My only message is that this bill was supported by the administration so that they could set us apart from being in between the general contractor and a subcontractor.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom then said:

"Mr. President, reservations, please."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Chun then said:

"Mr. President, I speak in favor of the measure with reservations. I support the comments made by the Honorable Senator from Moanalua and Salt Lake."

Senator Iwase then requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 615 was adopted and S.B. No. 1005, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PUBLIC CONTRACTS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

At this time, Senator Anderson rose on a point of information as follows:

"Mr. President, I stand on a point of information.

"Information, I guess, more for others. I thought I was way off, but when we pulled those bills this morning for amendments, this was part of the amendment. And because we're not in your room, it's hard. We have the bills. Because originally we were going to hear them, and now they are part of another bill. So that's why I was reading that. It came up the way my staff put it, and it's my fault, but that's why it's so confusing for us. We didn't go into your little caucus for 23.

"I apologize for my ignorance, but I also don't apologize for my staff doing a good job. Thank you."

The Chair added:

"And you are lobbying for more staff next year? I get that."

At 12:11 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:16 o'clock p.m.

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 621 be adopted and S.B. No. 802, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I stand in opposition to this bill.

"Again, trying to be entirely consistent over the last three years, any bill that is going to establish a special fund, I'm going to oppose, because I believe what the Tax Foundation of Hawaii has advised us, what our Legislative Auditor has advised us -- we should not be creating more special funds. It makes it extremely difficult to account for the money and to be accountable to the taxpayers.

"So for that reason and that reason only, I oppose the bill. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 621 was adopted and S.B. No. 802, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE COMMISSION ON PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 622 be adopted and S.B. No. 835, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, again, I rise in opposition.

"I oppose the bill again because it establishes a special fund. Thank you."

Senator Iwase then asked that his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 622 was adopted and S.B. No. 835, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, 2 (Anderson, Slom). Excused, 1 (M. Ige).

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 628 be adopted and S.B. No. 1235, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"I don't think we need yet another task force. I think we've heard testimony for years. We have people, native Hawaiians and other people, that are practicing alternative medicine. What we need to do is to get the government out of the way and allow for the more widespread use of alternative medicines -- not another task force.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 628 was adopted and S.B. No. 1235, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CONSUMER PROTECTION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 631 be adopted and S.B. No. 605, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in support with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support with reservations.

"I understand your committee finds that this bill is necessary because of a possible growing problem in Hawaii, but first, a crime is a crime whether it is done out of prejudice toward another person or not. A crime that is hate or bias motivated doesn't carry any more weight than the same crime that was committed by someone without this bias. Penalties should be imposed on the criminal action no matter why it was done, but because it was done. And if we want to create stiffer penalties, then it should be stiff all the way around.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom, also rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I support the bill with reservations and I support the comments made by my colleague from Moanalua.

"I think it's time, first of all, that we enforce the laws that we have and that we provide actual punishment for actual crimes. I am concerned about the broad nature and the vagueness within this bill, although the intent is a good one.

"Thank you."

Senator Chun then requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 631 was adopted and S.B. No. 605, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CIVIL RIGHTS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

No. 901, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE JUDICIARY COMPUTER SYSTEM SPECIAL FUND," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Anderson).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 635 (S.B. No. 902, S.D. 1):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 635 be adopted and S.B. No. 902, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to the bill.

"A fee is a tax, is a tax, is a tax. We have a lot of bills that are proposing new fees or increased fees. I don't like the idea of a storage fee of $5 in this bill because the $5 will then become $10 and $15 and $20, and I think storage is a part of the operations of any agency.

"I vote 'no.'"

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 635 was adopted and S.B. No. 902, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO RECORDS MANAGEMENT SERVICES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 1 (Slom). Excused, 1 (M. Ige).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 641 (S.B. No. 1638, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 641 be adopted and S.B. No. 1638, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support with reservations.

"The problem I have with this bill is it seems to put the emphasis on salaries for administrators and officers and also encourages, I would say, more people to leave the classroom and become administrators. I think that's one of the problems we have with our educational system. We've got too many administrators and not enough teachers. I think we should take care of the teachers first and put our emphasis and our focus there.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson rose and said:

"Would you add reservations for me also. Thank you."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 641 was adopted and S.B. No. 1638, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATIONAL OFFICERS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (M. Ige).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 642 (S.B. No. 531, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 642 be adopted and S.B. No. 531, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Matsuura rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I stand in support with reservations.

"As one familiar with agriculture, I'd like to emphasize that in a time when we are trying to be more efficient and save money, I'd like to re-emphasize that the use of herbicides is the most efficient way for roadside management of vegetation.

"Thank you."

Senator Chun also rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"Mr. President, this bill proposes to establish a roadside vegetation committee composed of representatives of the Department of Transportation, the counties, and different experts in the field of bio-diversity and landscape architecture. Mr. President, I agree with the intent of the bill which is to use the best method to control vegetation on roadsides and highways.

"However, Mr. President, I really feel that, that kind of decision should be made by the people, the people most responsible for that, and that is the agencies from which the jurisdictions of the roadside fall, because they are the ones that have to weigh all the aspects of everything dealing with the maintenance of roadsides. They have to deal with the issue of personnel needed. They have to deal with the issue of the equipment needed. They have to deal with the issue of the environment. In essence, Mr. President, they have the responsibility of maintaining the public trust for their jurisdictions. And Mr. President, I believe that the more we dilute that public trust by putting layers and layers of bureaucracy on them, the less we have accountability.

"So, Mr. President, while I do agree with the intent of that -- to require those people making those decisions to consider those factors -- I believe establishing another bureaucracy, another commission, another group to oversee that, is just another bureaucracy which is not needed in our government.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in favor of this bill.

"Mr. President, as we went through the hearing on this bill, the Department of Transportation indicated that they would lead this committee and they are also working on programs to, again, minimize the use of herbicides to establish roadside maintenance.

"We realize in Hilo and in Kaneohe and Kailua there is difficulty in controlling the weeds, but we're still working. We originally had a suspense date, but we took that out.

"I urge my colleagues to vote 'aye' on this bill. Thank you."

Senator Iwase, rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, coming from a district that has a lot of freeways and weeds, I'd like to rise in support of the bill with reservations for the reasons expressed by the Senators from Hilo and South Kauai.

"Thank you."

Senator Inouye, rising in support of the measure, then stated:

"Mr. President, I speak in support of the bill.

"As referenced earlier, this bill allows for the transportation highways to minimize roadside spraying and the use of herbicides and I strongly urge my colleagues to support the bill.

"Years ago, the County of Hawaii had introduced and initiated action to curb herbicide spraying. It's been working well and we hope that it continues throughout our State, as well, on behalf of our children and those that walk along the roadsides.

"This bill also initiates actions to study it further and hopefully that will succeed in eliminating herbicide spraying on our highways in the State.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Anderson rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'm going to vote 'no.' Originally, I was going to vote with reservations, but I wanted to be consistent with how I've been over the years.

"I used to sell the chemicals for roadside herbicide use. Today, the chemical companies have got to go along with all kinds of rules and restrictions on what that chemical can do. They are scrutinized by everybody. They are biodegradable, OSHA approved. They are approved by everybody and his brother. It's not like the old days where you had chemicals that were going down into the drinking water, just draining down. It's needed today to make sure that it's a lot more cost effective to spray the weeds to make sure that our roadsides look better.

"So, for those reasons I will be voting 'no' on this measure and also I don't think we need a task force for it. Thank you."

Senator Slom then said:

"Reservations, please, Mr. President."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 642 was adopted and S.B. No. 531, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ROADSIDE HERBICIDE USE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24; Noes, 1 (Anderson).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 643 (S.B. No. 568, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 643 be adopted and S.B. No. 568, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the bill with reservations.

"I think we all support and are concerned about preservation of native Hawaiian burial sites and artifacts. But I am concerned about putting this within the DLNR and also creating a new specialty called Burial Specialist. The State has supported the Bishop Museum, financially and otherwise, for many years, has called on the Bishop Museum with trained anthropologists to do this job and provide this service for many departments of state. And now we note that the Bishop Museum is laying off people and having a difficult time, and this is truly one of the treasures within our State.

"So I see two things here -- we're neglecting something that we have supported for many years and we're creating additional employment and additional bureaucracy within DLNR.

"So, for those reasons, I have reservations. Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Anderson then said:

"W/R for the same reasons."

Senator Sakamoto then added:

"W/R in support of Bishop Museum."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 643 was adopted and S.B. No. 568, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HISTORIC PRESERVATION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Levin and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 645 was adopted and S.B. No. 1080, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PLANNING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 654 (S.B. No. 1128, S.D. 2):

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Levin and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 654 was adopted and S.B. No. 1128, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO INSURANCE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 655 (S.B. No. 716):

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Levin and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 655 was adopted and S.B. No. 716, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE NATURAL ENERGY LABORATORY," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (M. Ige).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 656 (S.B. No. 942, S.D. 1):

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Levin and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 656 was adopted and S.B. No. 942, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HUNTING," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 657 (S.B. No. 869, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 657 be adopted and S.B. No. 869, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Bunda, rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak with reservations on this measure.

"Mr. President, I support the intent of this bill to increase counselors at the schools and we all need to support programs that fully addresses the needs of 'at-risk' students. However, in this instance we need to be sure that we are making the situation better, not worse! According to the language of the bill, the Department of Education shall set appropriate counselor to student ratios and adjust the staffing of counselors at schools with a disproportionate number of 'at-risk' students. Mr. President, how do we define appropriate? And how do we define disproportionate? Mr. President, how can we expect such ambiguous instructions to result in a specific outcome?"

"The Committee report acknowledges the very real possibility of two unintended consequences of this bill:

1. That this bill may force the redistribution of existing school counselor positions between school districts unless funds are appropriated to create more positions; and
2. That schools would be tempted to retain their counselors by simply designating more students as 'at-risk.'

"I agree with both of these unintended consequences. However, the amendment that was added to the bill to avert these consequences requires schools to use the CSAP basis for designating 'at-risk' students. Presently, Mr. President, schools do use this approach to designate 'at-risk' students. The truth of the matter is that this approval is still a numbers game, so this bill is really not a solution to the problem.

"Mr. President, are we prepared to fund more counselor positions for the management of 'at-risk' students? If not, it would make more sense for us to direct the department to make more strategic decisions on the funding and placement of its counselors.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Slom then said:

"Mr. President, based on the powerful logic of the Senator from Wahiawa, please put me down with reservations."

Senator Iwase rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, for the reasons expressed by the Senator from Wahiawa/North Shore, I'd like to cast an 'aye' vote with reservations.

"I do want to emphasize a point that he is making. We have a very, very fine program in the Wahiawa/North Shore area for alternative education students -- an outstanding program, probably something which could not be replicated elsewhere. They have a good, strong, innovative staff, and I would hate to see that program, which has existed for so very long and has helped so very many students, get caught up with unintended consequences because the reality of it all is that the kids are going to get hurt.

"So I hope these issues are addressed and taken to heart by the chair of the Education Committee as we move forward, and not allow kids to fall through the cracks because of unintended consequences.

"Thank you."

Senator D. Ige then stated:

"Mr. President, I'd like to insure all the members of the Senate that we will be looking at all of those issues as this measure proceeds forward."

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I'll be rising to vote 'aye,' with reservations.

"Again, since 1996 we have advocated alternative means of education and adult education was one of them. And I've always requested that adult ed have a counselor. They graduate 500 students a year. Therefore, Mr. President, I'd like to urge the chairman of the Education Committee to take that forward in conference.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson then said:

Senator Anderson rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I'm going 'no' on this particular measure.

"I've stated before that the superintendent should really be appointed by the Governor. What happens is the governor has a four-year term. The board of education has, at this time, jurisdiction over the superintendent, and they have a five-year contract. That means that if we get a new governor, that governor will have to have that superintendent supposedly for an extra year, and they may not agree with that person. Also, the superintendent sits on the cabinet for the governor, and it makes it rather difficult.

"I don't think that anyone should get a 5-year contract in the first place, but I believe that if he or she does a good job, appointed by the governor, they would be there for four years and that's a contract within itself. And if the governor runs for re-election and makes it, that might be another four years, so that's eight years. I think that, that's fair and equitable, but just for this particular bill, I'm opposed to it and I will be going 'no.'"

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 666 was adopted and S.B. No. 1276, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION," having been read

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 676 be adopted and S.B. No. 223, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose in support with reservations on the measure and said:

"Mr. President I speak in support of the bill with reservations. My reservations are that we do not have a cost figure as to how much this is going to cost for the dogs. And anything that can be done to increase the safety of public service, public safety officers, and to reduce liability costs will be welcomed. But I think we are derelict when we pass bills and we don't have specific cost estimates so we know what the program is going to cost taxpayers.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson, also rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"I have some reservations only because I received some information saying that the department already has canines and they weren't sure if this would, in any way, be a conflict on the programs that they have, the money that they get. And they were a little worried about this bill and what it would do since they already have established a canine corps. And I'm not sure if the chairman looked into it, but that's the notice that I got from some of the concerned people.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 676 was adopted and S.B. No. 223, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO A CANINE CORPS IN THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose in support with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"We all support the crime victim compensation fund and the ideas. I'm just concerned why we're taking out the 30 percent limitation on operation costs and salaries. I think that, first of all, 30 percent already is a sizeable amount, but to withdraw that limit and not have any limitation on administrative expenses provides us with the opportunity to spend more for staffing than we do for the victims themselves.

"Thank you."

Senator Chun then requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 678 was adopted and S.B. No. 1159, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CRIME VICTIM COMPENSATION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"I oppose the bill because we're establishing the USF as a special and separate fund outside of the treasury. Therefore, it's going to be more difficult for accountability and responsibility.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 685 was adopted and S.B. No. 1279, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE UNIVERSAL

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"Mr. President, this bill is for the safety of our young people. I urge all my colleagues to vote 'aye' on this bill."

Senator Buen rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to support this bill for the safety of children and to save their lives in requiring children under 12 to wear helmets while operating a wheeled apparatus on public property.

"Children account for one-third of all bicycle fatalities and one-third of the bicycle related traumatic brain injuries.

"I was asked to introduce this bill, Mr. President, by one of my constituents on the Island of Lanai. Their daughter was nine years old when she was riding her bicycle and collided with a cement truck. She had a helmet on which saved her life and today this child is a freshman in high school. She's doing well academically and is on the varsity softball and tennis teams, and she's just doing really well.

"Over the last year-and-a-half, Lanai has had four serious accidents involving bicycles. All four bike riders, three children and one adult, were not wearing a helmet. Of the three children, one of them is in a wheelchair with brain damage. This child was riding her bicycle in the park and ran into a fire hydrant, hit her head on the fire hydrant, and today she is in a wheelchair and has brain damage. Another had surgery to reconstruct his face, and the last had a nasty bump on his head but was very lucky. The adult had died of massive head injuries.

"Please give the children a fighting chance and give them a chance to live, as this child on Lanai has and is doing well.

"I ask my colleagues to vote on this bill for the sake of the children. Thank you."

Senator Chun rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill.

"Mr. President, I applaud the courage of the Senator from the Fourth District to present a bill like this. There has been in the past many efforts to put in bills to require minors to wear helmets whenever they're riding bicycles or other wheeled apparatus on public roads. For one reason or another, those bills have failed. There are a number of reasons why people don't like these bills.

"One is, they say it's another step to try to require licenses for motorcycles for adults. Mr. President, that is not the case over here. These are minors we're talking about. Minors are important to our society and I think we need to put bills out forward to affirmatively protect their interests.

"Secondly, they talk about questions regarding the cost of a bicycle helmet to protect the life of the child. Mr. President, looking around the stores over here and being the father of two young children who would fall into the protection of this bill also, the cost is minor compared to the cost of the life of a child.

"Finally, Mr. President, there might be comments in terms that this bill might be too broad and might do too many things. For example, it does propose to require riding with helmets on any kind of public property where there are no vehicles or trucks around. But, Mr. President, I think we should not lose focus upon the intent of this bill, and that is to protect the lives of children. And if there are any details that need to be worked out, we can work them out, but we should never lose sight of that.

"Thank you, Mr. President. I will be voting in favor of this bill."

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I will be voting in favor of this bill also, with reservations.

"I think some of the reservations include the fact that we continually have government intervening in the individual responsibility in the case of parents for their children, and I, too, am a parent of two very young children. I'm very concerned about this, but I am concerned about the broad nature of the wheeled apparatus that we're talking about.

"I'm also concerned that, originally, this bill, when it was first introduced, would criminalize parents -- was going to fine them. And anyone who is a parent, particularly of a young child, knows that it's very difficult, as careful and conscientious and safety conscious as you are, to watch them and be careful of them every moment of the day.

"When we talk about public property, as the good Senator just mentioned, we're not talking about just being on the roadways but we're talking about sidewalks fronting our homes, because that is public property as well.

"We also have a problem in that a number of people would like to see this bill or this kind of law extended to 18 because, in fact, if we're talking about a minor, we can raise the age past 12.

"Also, we're seeing within our community, particularly on Oahu, the wholesale removal of school apparatus because of injuries that have taken place or injuries that might take place. And I guess I just wonder, Mr. President, how many of us have survived over the years if we take away all of the responsibility for individuals and entrust it to government. I think that we're doing a disservice.

"So, I will support the bill. I am concerned about children, but I also have this cautionary note that maybe we are looking in too broad an area.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto, also rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support with reservations.

"So I wholeheartedly agree with the safety factor and I think the stories that the Senator from Maui shared about injuries go a long way if children can hear those stories and their parents can hear them. But when I was a youngster, I rode my bicycle on the public streets to learn. And I think many parents in communities that we all live in, let their children ride in front of their house, ride in the park, and I don't think passing this bill will change that.

"I think passing this bill with a broad picture of where helmets are required will turn our community to disrespect the law and parents will tell their kids just ride and be careful. I think we ought to look at restricting where we restrict, as opposed to the broadness of this bill. Perhaps restrictions on streets with speed limits over 35 miles an hour might be a way to start the process.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson also rose to speak on the measure with reservations:

"Mr. President, I also have several reservations but I'll be voting for the bill.

"I'm just wondering if we make a law like this and it says that you shall wear a helmet if you're on public streets and you shall be subject to a $50 fine, those people that cannot afford that, we are already taking care of because of the safety net that we have. Can they then go down and say, my child has as much rights as others, so the government should pay for this because you made that particular law.

"The other thing that bothers me is, right now it says a helmet. My grandchildren ride skates, they ride bicycles, etc. They do have to have, as far as their parents are concerned, elbow guards, knee guards. If we do this, all of a sudden you're going to have parents coming in like every other bill that we have. This should be amended to include. So it will start including all these other things.

"That's one of the things that bothers me -- government starts making a bill and taking over the responsibility of what the family should be doing and should be concerned in. So, I do have those reservations and I do thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 690 was adopted and S.B. No. 1430, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO JUVENILE SAFETY," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 692 (S.B. No. 779, S.D. 2):

Senator Kanno moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 692 be adopted and S.B. No. 779, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senators Matsuura, Chun, Buen and Slom then requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 692 was adopted and S.B. No. 779, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO DENTAL HYGIENISTS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 698 (S.B. No. 931, S.D. 1):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 698 be adopted and S.B. No. 931, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"Last year I opposed the wiretap bill. I think this is a better bill this time but I would still caution members and colleagues that this is an awfully broad brush bill. It allows for a great deal of surveillance. We're worried about or seem to be worried about privacy, and yet we have given over a great deal to the federal authorities here, so I think a cautionary note is in order."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 698 was adopted and S.B. No. 931, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WIRETAPPING AND ELECTRONIC SURVEILLANCE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Nakata).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 701 (S.B. No. 1256, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 701 be adopted and S.B. No. 1256, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose in support of the measure with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"I think we're all very sensitive and sympathetic to the problems of Maui County and employees, but we have been there and done that. We have spent a great deal of money on these ferry experiments and the simple fact is that the private sector will not do it because they cannot make money and cannot justify it. And the only time we do this is when we get federal or state subsidies and when the subsidies run out the service runs out as well.

"We really have to look for a coordinated transportation system and better employment and a better business climate for our state. I think that really is the answer rather than trying to subsidize pilot projects for spot interisland ferries.

"Thank you."

Senator Kawamoto, rising in support of the measure, then stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in favor of this bill.

"Mr. President, this bill provides the opportunity to get federal funding, as the previous speaker has said, up to about $4 million. This is really a kind of revenue enhancement bill. We spend about $400,000 and we get $4 million. It provides us the capability of giving Molokai unemployment concerns a better chance.

"Thank you."

Senator Buen rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to support this bill.

"The ferry provides a vital employment between the islands of Molokai and Maui. The shutdown of the ferry on October 1, 1996 literally cut Molokai residents off from an opportunity to be self-sufficient and contributing members of the community. In the past four years, the economy of this island has continued to decline and many people relied upon the ferry to reach jobs on Maui's westside. Without the ferry, they have been forced to give up their jobs and their independent way of life.

"I ask my colleagues to please support this bill. We're looking at monies from the Federal Transit Administration funding from the federal government in the amount of $4 million. And I just spoke with the people from the Department of Transportation and I think they've got more funding.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 701 was adopted and S.B. No. 1256, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO AN INTERISLAND FERRY SYSTEM," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 705 be adopted and S.B. No. 1496, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose in support of the bill with reservations:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the bill with reservations.

"I have a number of questions about this bill. There was a similar bill that was introduced last year for a company called Pacific Controls Inc. to develop a plasma waste conversion facility. And then this year, the bill, although it still used last year's company, is now going to help a company or an operation called Heed, Inc. A check of the Bureau of Registration records reveal that there was no company called Heed, Inc. until the company filed papers and documents for registration on February 24 of this year. So I have difficulties with it although I do support the idea of the facility and the economic stimulation for Molokai.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 705 was adopted and S.B. No. 1496, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO SPECIAL PURPOSE REVENUE BONDS FOR MEDICAL WASTE FACILITY PROJECT DEVELOPMENT," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

S.B. No. 365, S.D. 1:

Senator Kanno moved that S.B. No. 365, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I will support the bill with reservations.

"As the discussion took place in the committee, there were a number of problems with the definitions and the usage of laser pointers and how this is actually going to be enforced. So I support the intent of the bill, particularly the sections on harassment, but I do have reservations. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 365, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CONSUMER PROTECTION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Kanno moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 712 be adopted and S.B. No. 822, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Sakamoto, rising to speak in support with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support with reservations.

"I have two major concerns. First, HMSA says this bill will cost Hawaii employers an additional $21 million. They also presented a proposal that would provide these services at no additional cost. The proposal is reasonable and should be considered.

"My second concern regards the religious organizations that opposed this measure. They have all reviewed the S.D. 2, and while the amendment allows churches whose charities receive no public funds to opt out, it will not allow Catholic Charities, Parochial Schools, or Brigham Young University this same right. Along with Hawaii Family Forum, they all believe the religious exemption is too narrow.

"Both of these concerns are major and should be addressed.

"Thank you."

At this time, Senators Chun, Bunda, Matsuura, D. Ige, Iwase, Sakamoto and Buen requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 712 was adopted and S.B. No. 822, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HEALTH INSURANCE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 19. Noes, none. Excused, 6 (Anderson, Bunda, Chun Oakland, M. Ige, Iwase, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 719 (S.B. No. 744, S.D. 1):

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Levin and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 719 was adopted and S.B. No. 744, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TAXATION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 19. Noes, none. Excused, 6 (Anderson, Bunda, Chun Oakland, M. Ige, Iwase, Slom).

S.B. No. 59, S.D. 1:

Senator Tam moved that S.B. No. 59, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Matsuura.

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support with reservations.

"My concerns with this measure are the same as those stated for S.B. No. 1005 regarding prompt payment.

"Additionally, this measure limits the general contractor's retention to 5 percent of the contract. This would be fine if the subcontractors, like the general contractors, were all required to be bonded.

"However, most subs are not bonded and this measure increases the financial risks to generals. Retention was established as a fair and equitable means to minimize these risks without requiring the subcontractors to be bonded. It also provides the necessary leverage that when we need the subs to come back to correct or complete a job, that will be done. So, if this bill were to go forward, will the Legislature guarantee that if payments are made without retention, then any performance problem encountered by the general will be born by this legislature?

"The 10 percent standard in the industry has been there for many years, and even then, generals are many times forced to pay out of pocket to complete the job.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Tam rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I wish to speak in favor of this bill.

"Mr. President and fellow colleagues, my remarks are the same like I previously stated. I'd like to add, also, that there's nothing in this bill that does not allow the subcontractor from being bonded. So, if the general contractors want to require the subcontractors to be bonded, it can be done. And also, the State only withholds 2 percent, not 5 percent.

"Thank you."

Senator Buen rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I speak in favor of this bill.

"The present law does not have any teeth to it and there's no enforcement procedures. While the comptroller develops the rules and regulations, Chapter 91 does apply. And if there is a dispute between the general and the sub, then this bill would not apply.

"Thank you."

Senator Chun, rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this bill with reservations.

"I agree with the statements made by the Honorable Senator from the Sixteenth District. I agree that there are many ways to handle this issue and that we need to have continuing discussions on what to do with that. But I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"Thank you."

At this time, Senators Slom, Hanabusa, Iwase and Matsuura requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 740 be adopted and S.B. No. 1518, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Tam rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President and fellow colleagues, I stand to speak in favor of S.B. No. 1518, which is entitled: Relating to Government Operations.

"I have here a diagram displaying the essence of this bill. (Senator Tam's diagram is identified as ATTACHMENT "A" to the Journal of this day.) Sometimes displaying diagrams is a lot easier than by words. Let me display this in terms of what's entitled here. In the whole essence of government operations this year was government productivity and efficiency for the twenty-first century.

"The Government Operations and Housing Committee is at the forefront in fulfilling the Senate's number one goal -- improving Hawaii's economy -- by first structuring government in an orderly manner. Specifically, the committee will legislate overall state directional plans for state departments and agencies to implement. As the old saying goes -- organize one's own house before re-organizing another's house. Hawaii's citizens want us to do so.

"This bill promises to be the cornerstone of government efficiency and productivity where all state departments and agencies shall develop short and long term goals, objectives and policies specifically setting forth how each goal can and will be accomplished, and action plans with a timetable for implementing objectives and policies in one, two, and five year plans. Thus, we, the Legislature, will be able to develop future functional public service state budgets. Hawaii's taxpayers will truly be able to measure the accountability of government services.

"State government is at a crossroads. Goals and objectives will embrace the talents of employees, whereby employees morale will be positive and enthusiastic. Thus, resulting in increased productivity and efficiency. I think this is very important. If I may, many of you know that my background is in personnel, and once you have high morale, then you have more productivity and efficiency.

"Senate bill 1518 is the umbrella to other Senate legislative bills to be voted upon today. The components of the umbrella are:

1. Budget (Accountability)

- a. S.B. No. 450, S.D. 1, Relating to State Government. This bill transforms the State's accounting system and budgeting system to a performance-based budgeting system.
- b. S.B. No. 1466, S.D. 1, Relating to State Risk Management. This bill allocates the cost of self insurance in an effort to place responsibility on each agency and in this manner, inspire them to be more conscious of insurance settlement costs.

- c. S.B. No. 4, S.D. 1, Relating to Government Administration. This bill calls for a statewide audit with oversight by the state auditor. The auditor evaluates the efficiencies of government in its operations and spending.

2. Structure and Process (Redesign Government)

- a. S.B. No. 105, S.D. 1, Relating to Reform of State Government. This bill specifically is the creation of a joint legislative task force to solicit input on and study the branch of state government, and make recommendations to the governor on restructuring state government and reducing government bureaucracy, consolidating agencies, and streamlining procedures for the efficient functioning of state government.

3. Employee Resources (Career Enhancement)

- a. S.B. No. 1518, Relating to Government Operations. This bill mandates state departments and agencies to develop goals and objectives.
- b. S.B. No. 105, S.D. 1, Relating to Reform of State Government. More specifically, it communicates with employees on their comments on morale, productivity, and efficiency. Quite often, in government or the private sector, we talk amongst ourselves in upper management but we never talk to the employees. The employees are a source of ideas and knowledge.

4. Public Accessibility (Public Response)

- *a. S.B. No. 450, S.D. 1, Relating to State Government. More specifically, it mandates government agencies to develop government service handbooks for the public. You'd be amazed in terms of how many times the public doesn't know what kinds of services that we provide for them. A simple booklet can be given to the public, whereby many of these problems of frustration can be avoided. It's only common sense.
- b. S.B. No. 646, S.D. 1, Relating to Government. This bill specifically reduces the cost of copying government records from fifty cents per page to not less than six cents per page. We in government should not be willing to make money off of people. We are supposed to provide a service. We are not profit oriented. In the past, unfortunately, we have done wrong.
- c. S.B. No. 797, S.D. 2, Relating to Public Procurement. This bill requires the chief procurement officer to electronically post the name of each contractor awarded a contract for goods, services or construction under the procurement code; the amount and type of contract; and the goods, services, or construction procured under the contract. This information is public information and it should be provided to the public, not hidden for special interest.

"Mr. President and fellow colleagues, on behalf of the members of the Government Operations and Housing Committee and myself, I thank you for being supportive in creating the Senate's legislation of 'Government Productivity & Efficiency For The 21st Century.' May I also personally thank my members of the committee for their productive involvement and accomplishments.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 740 was adopted and S.B. No. 1518, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (D. Ige).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 741 (S.B. No. 1556, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 741 be adopted and S.B. No. 1556, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"Mr. President, this bill provides the Hawaii state contractors and subcontractors a general excise tax exemption on federal or military contracts. I'd like to add that this was part of the military construction project package and this is really a revenue enhancement bill if you look at it very closely. We may not receive the GET tax, but we'll see more of the income tax coming to the State from state contractors and subcontractors.

"So, I urge all my colleagues to vote 'aye' on this bill. Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I'd like to speak in support with reservations.

"I applaud the TIA chair's efforts to support the Hawaii construction industry and the workers of this State. And yes, he has spent considerable time and effort in trying to create consensus within the federal and state entities that award public contracts and to assure input from both the construction industry and trade unions.

"I support the intent of this measure, however, I have serious concerns about the definition of a 'state contractor' in this measure and in the preference bill, S.B. No. 1438. The definition requires that 100 percent of the employees be state residents and that 85 percent of the company ownership, directors, members of the board and officers also be Hawaii residents.

"I am afraid this definition will eliminate some of the companies and employees we specifically wish to help."

Senator Chumbley rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the measure with reservations.

"Mr. President, I, too, want to applaud the efforts of the chairman of the committee for addressing this very, very important issue. But I am concerned that the percentage set forth for the owner and employee requirements are problematic and will result in unintended consequences. And for those reasons I do have reservations."

Senator D. Ige then said:

"I would just like to note my support with reservations also."

Senator Chun added:

"Support with reservations, Mr. President."

Senator Matsunaga then stated:

"Please record my 'aye' vote with reservations."

Senator Inouye rose and said:

"Mr. President, I support the bill with reservations. Thank you."

Senator Buen added:

"I support the bill with reservations."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 741 was adopted and S.B. No. 1556, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO GENERAL EXCISE TAX," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 746 (S.B. No. 538, S.D. 2):

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 748 (S.B. No. 797, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 748 be adopted and S.B. No. 797, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Anderson rose and said:

"With reservations. Thank you, Mr. President."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Chun rose in support of the measure with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I stand in support of this measure with reservations.

"This bill would put a numerical limit on the number of non-bid contracts that a person or an organization is able to receive within a one-year period. I agree with the intent of the bill and that is to really take a serious look into non-bid contracts to see whether it's being awarded on a fair and equitable basis.

"Unfortunately, I have a little bit of concern about putting numerical limits or any kind of set objectives because where there is a will, there is a way. I favor that there are other ways that we can handle this situation, but I think the intent of the bill is good and the bill needs to proceed on for further discussion.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom, also rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I, too, rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"Although my reservations are of a different nature, my reservations are the fact that it is the Governor that can escape the provisions of the law by allowing for non-bid contracts. And I think that's been part of the problem that we've had all along.

"Thank you."

Senator Tam rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I speak in favor of this bill.

"In essence, this bill is all about eliminating favoritism to have a rotating system where every architect who is qualified to do a job for the State of Hawaii gets their turn to do a job.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 748 was adopted and S.B. No. 797, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PUBLIC PROCUREMENT," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Iwase).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 751 (S.B. No. 1163, S.D. 1):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 751 be adopted and S.B. No. 1163, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to support the bill with reservations.

"We keep hearing about the problem of over-crowding in our prisons and yet we see people that have been released that continue to do damage in our community. The bill allows for more pre-release but I don't think that it tightens up the requirements and responsibilities of the Director of Public Safety.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson then requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 751 was adopted and S.B. No. 1163, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE RELEASE OF PRE-TRIAL INMATES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 753 be adopted and S.B. No. 1284, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Anderson, rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I have reservations on this.

"Primarily, I believe that if we were to give the figures that we had in WAM, which I understand were appropriate figures -- they were right -- maybe then, instead of the way the bill now reads, it would help us to move forward and really help the economy, rather than say that at this particular time we can't support this; we have to go at less dollars than we should. We owe this money and we should go ahead and pay it.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 753 was adopted and S.B. No. 1284, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT MAKING APPROPRIATIONS FOR

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 755 be adopted and S.B. No. 1470, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"I'm opposing the bill because the bill will raise salaries and compensation in a broad spectrum of executive positions in this state government. And I think that at this time when we're supposed to be watching the budget, watching expenses, cutting down, when we see what's happening in the private sector, we cannot justify these raises, especially across the board and without regard to individual productivity and responsibility.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 755 was adopted and S.B. No. 1470, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO STATE OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES EXCLUDED FROM COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AND MAKING APPROPRIATIONS AND OTHER ADJUSTMENTS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"I'm all in favor of computer technology and more computers and so forth. I think it is bad policy to finance the purchase of computers or any other technology with general obligation bonds. These are long term. They should be for CIP. Computers are short term. The technology changes almost daily and it's poor practice, poor fiscal responsibility to do that.

"Thank you."

Senator Iwase then said:

"Mr. President, W/R for the reason expressed by the previous speaker.

"Thank you."

Senator D. Ige, rising in support of the measure, then stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, this legislation is modeled after efforts in Massachusetts dealing with issuance of short-term bonds -- five and ten-year bonds -- for procurement of computer technology. Clearly, 20-year bonds may be questionable as to whether we want to use that, but other states have used five and ten-year bonds to accelerate deployment of information technology.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'll be going 'no' also, because we were told that we could not use these bonds for other purposes that I thought was very pertinent for the state to move forward on.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 765 was adopted and S.B. No. 536, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO COMPUTER AND COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"The bill authorizes the Board of Education to determine the readiness standards for kindergarten and first grade attendance. We have been complaining about our educational system for so long now and yet what we have done is put the state more and more in control of standards and performance and they've not done a satisfactory job.

"We are separating out more and more the responsibility of parents, not only in helping to determine the readiness of their own children, but also in the governance and education of their children. So, I cannot support this bill.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson also rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'll be going 'no' primarily because of what the Minority Floor Leader said. But also, I don't believe that it should be up to the Board of Education. I haven't gone along with the Board for many years now. I thought we should have de-centralized them anyway, and put them into the districts.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Iwase then asked that his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 774 was adopted and S.B. No. 1272, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO SCHOOL ATTENDANCE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Buen rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to oppose this bill.

"Senate bill 953, S.D. 2, appears focused on developing environmental policies to mitigate the negative impacts of tourism. However, the language of Section 3 is broadly worded to encompass environmental policies of all areas including industry. In developing such policy, it is critical that costs and benefits be taken into account so that environmental protection is achieved without placing undue costs on Hawaii's business and industries. This point is not made clear in Section 3 of the bill.

"Thank you."

At this time, Senators Anderson, Chun, Iwase and Bunda requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 779 was adopted and S.B. No. 953, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO NATURAL AND CULTURAL RESOURCES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition.

"Again, here is yet another special fund that's being created outside the general fund."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 780 was adopted and S.B. No. 1082, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE BUREAU OF CONVEYANCES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 786 (S.B. No. 1438, S.D. 1):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 786 be adopted and S.B. No. 1438, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Kawamoto rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"Mr. President, this is a military construction bill. This is the TIA and the GOH and LRE flagship bill for military construction. In this bill we define state residents. In this bill we define state contractors, subcontractors. In this bill we provide the opportunity for state contractors to have a 15 percent preference.

"Mr. President, the public law calls for a state resident, which we had not defined in the past years, therefore the Senior Senator from this state has indicated to us that, that was one of our problems why we didn't get the military contracts. The 15 percent preference gives our local contractors or subcontractors the opportunity to bid for state public works jobs on a level playing field.

"I cite one example. Out in God's country in Waipahu we tried to get some sidewalks. Finally we got some, $3 million worth. Who's building them -- a Mainland contractor because of the fact that he could beat our 7 percent preference bill at this time.

"Therefore, Mr. President, as a revenue enhancement bill, I urge all my colleagues to vote 'aye' on this bill. Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto, rising to speak in support with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support with reservations.

"I support the committee's intention to provide a preference for Hawaii contractors and I have the same concerns regarding the definition of a 'state contractor' that I spoke of previously -- requiring that 100 percent of the employees be state residents and that 85 percent of the company ownership, directors, members and officers be Hawaii residents -- will eliminate companies and employees that many of us think of as Hawaii companies.

"I am also concerned that this measure will have the opposite effect. Instead of increasing the preference for some Hawaii companies who do not meet the parameters of the above definition, they essentially will have no preference and will be forced to compete on par level with Mainland firms."

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to the bill.

"I have problems with the definition as has been indicated by the Senator from Moanalua. Also, I find it demeaning that we talk about having a 15 percent preference for local contractors, in effect, saying that local contractors can't compete. We certainly should have a figure that levels the playing field but it is not and cannot be justified as 15 percent.

"If you set a figure, you're going to really eliminate the opportunities for local contractors. You're going to eliminate a lot of work actually being done. And if you had that kind of preference, you'd be doing a disservice to the taxpayers of this state because they would be assured of paying the highest price as possible, and to the families of the contractors because the cost of living would continue to go up and they would have to see that reflected in the cost of everything that they purchase.

"So, for these and other reasons, it's a bad measure and I oppose it. Thank you."

Senator Chun rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in favor of the bill with reservations.

"Mr. President, I have the same concerns as have been spoken before. This bill, even though the intent is good, and I think I support it because of the intent, I believe the restrictions are way too narrow to help companies. In fact, I believe that if we really were to look at these restrictions, it would hurt a lot of companies that are from Hawaii. For example, what happens if a company is held by four brothers and sisters, one of whom now lives on the Mainland, but all the employees are 100 percent Hawaii residents? Because of that one narrow interpretation that 85 percent of the stock has to be owned by state residents, that company is out. If that company cannot compete and that company does not have any preference not only in this bill but in another tax bill, they will no longer be able to do business in Hawaii. What will be the impact of all 100 workers who are state residents?

"I think the preference needs to be there. The definition needs to be clarified to help local residents and I think we're open for further negotiations and discussions on this matter.

"Thank you."

Senator Tam rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I speak in favor of this bill.

"Mr. President and fellow colleagues, as this bill moves on, yes, changes will be made. There's nothing absolute in this legislative session. Nothing ever is as I have experienced in the past 16 years. But it's good for dialogue and we must keep this measure alive for three reasons: (1) It provides jobs for Hawaii's residents; (2) It keeps the revenues in Hawaii; (3) It stimulates the economy.

"Thank you."

Senator D. Ige then rose and said:

"Mr. President, I would just like to note my reservations on this measure."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 786 was adopted and S.B. No. 1438, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO GOVERNMENT PROCUREMENT," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Chumbley, Slom).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 788 (S.B. No. 513, S.D. 2):

Senator Kanno moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 788 be adopted and S.B. No. 513, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to the bill.

"Child care and the lack of child care is a real problem in Hawaii and we know that we have a high preponderance of those living in townhouses and condominiums. And there were attempts to try to make this bill friendly and usable for all people concerned, but the fact of the matter is, people that move into townhouses or condominiums, for the large part, most do so because they want a certain kind of living, a style of living, and they don't want to have certain kinds of activities. And they've been very clear about this.

"In addition to that, however, there was a great deal of discussion about the potential liability that could be caused by having child care facilities in these types of buildings. Secondly, the issue of ADA compliance if, in fact, a developmentally challenged child were taken into child care. And while a lot of people have said don't worry about it or it's going to be taken care of, I think it is a major concern for those people who live in townhouses and condominiums.

"There have been, as I mentioned, a number of attempts to make the bill a better bill. Right now the bill limits the use of child care facilities to the first four floors of a condominium structure, but that still does not mitigate the problems of noise, liability and other things that the residents are concerned about. And it is a fact that within the laws of these townhouses and condos, which everyone must abide by prior to purchasing and taking up residence, there are adequate procedures and provisions for changing or making exceptions in an individual case rather than a broad blanket approach. So I oppose the bill.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto also rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"As was previously spoken, the provision tried to . . . I guess the makers or proponents attempted to make the bill better by limiting it to the first four floors.

"Mr. President, we opened session with regard to Solomon, and in the case for those of you who remember the story, it was about a baby. In that story, two people claim to want that baby, and it's either splitting the baby, which means nobody has a live baby, or one side gets the baby. Now in this case, I have compassion for children and certainly we need care facilities. But there are some issues where we cannot split. And I don't believe that the compromise that's in place will solve what we want.

"And I agree with the previous speaker in that people move into condos for certain reasons. And I believe that if a condo wants to adopt or allow for child care, I think provisions can be made in that regard, but we shouldn't as the state mandate homeowners to give up their rights. Some of them moved in for specific rights of privacy and quiet. And I think we need to do this in another way, providing child care in another way other than splitting the baby in this case.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson then stated:

"Mr. President, they swayed me. I'm going 'no.'"

Senator Tam requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"The person, I think, in all of state government, probably in all of government in Hawaii, that has the most integrity and is respected the most is our Legislative Auditor. I don't understand now why we would require the auditor to contract with an independent auditing firm to conduct an annual audit. It seems redundant. It seems costly. And it seems like it's not going to do the job. Everybody is satisfied with the work that the Legislative Auditor does, except that we don't implement anything she says. So, I think until we start implementing and start following this, we don't need a bill like this. So I'm voting 'no.'

"Thank you."

Senator Iwase requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 798 was adopted and S.B. No. 4, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO GOVERNMENT ADMINISTRATION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"I don't really understand what we're doing here. We're going to establish a staff in Washington D.C. and we're going to have another part of the state agency trying to maximize our federal revenue share. The people that we're going to hire and pay for in Washington, D.C., I don't think that they're going to be roaming the streets or the banks of the Potomac. That means we're probably going to have to give them an office and give them a staff and give them computers and give them other kinds of things. We're already maximizing our federal dollars.

"To me, this looks like there may be some previous office holders or present office holders that are looking for new careers in Washington and I, for one, don't want to support them, Mr. President. I'm voting 'no.'"

Senator Anderson requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Slom opposed the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"I know that at one point the amount went from $1 to $5 and people say, 'Gee, it's only $3,' except that we've got $3 for highway beautification. We heard somebody from the City and County of Honolulu come in and say, 'Oh good, now they're going to hire 17 more people and use the funds for that.' We have other measures still alive in the House that seek an ad valorem increase. We have other measures that want to increase the fuel tax, want to increase the weight tax, want to add additional taxes. There's too many taxes and too many fees, and a fee is a tax, is a tax.

"I vote no."

Senator Chun rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this bill.

"Mr. President, one of the big pushers for this bill came from my Island of Kauai in regards to the problem that they've been having with the disposal of junk vehicles that are located on government roads, both state and county. As everybody knows, that has been a very big problem with us because it costs us a lot more than any other county to remove those vehicles from public roadways.

"I commend the sponsor of this bill, the Honorable Senator from Waipahu, in trying to craft a very good compromise in terms of meeting the needs of my island and my constituents along with the needs of the other islands and the City and County of Honolulu. I believe that this is a good bill and a good beginning to see what we can do to make sure that all of our funds and fees are used in a very wise manner to make sure that the visual impact of driving on our roads is preserved.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"Mr. President, your committee worked hard on this bill. We looked at it, the need, again, for the beautification of our islands for the residents and visitors alike. We understood about the increase in fees being a problem for the U-drive motor vehicles. We exempted them from this bill to avoid any taxes to the business.

"I urge my colleagues to vote 'aye' on this bill."

"Mr. President, I rise to support the bill with reservations.

"I do support the bill and support the transfer, but I'm still concerned. Over the last couple of years, we've had testimony and we've had people from the public that questioned some of the things that were done as far as the administration and Hawaii Public Broadcasting and access to meetings and so forth, and I don't think that many of these problems have been adequately resolved. And so, more than just a transfer of assets and control, I think that we should continue to press for a resolution of these problems.

"Thank you."

Senator Ihara requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

"Mr. President, just a ruling on a conflict. My sister-in-law is a judge."

The Chair ruled:

"No conflict. You may vote."

Senator Slom rose to speak in support with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"I opposed the salary increase for the past two years for judges. I support the salary increase this year with the understanding that, first and foremost, the state is going to adhere to its obligations to contracts for public workers already negotiated to, but not funded. And number two, I do find the 18 percent retroactive increase very difficult, plus the additions in the future. But we've been assured by the Chief Justice and others that with more money we'll get better judicial results, and after the past week, I'm certainly looking forward to that, Mr. President.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'd like to speak in favor.

"As you well know, for a number of years now I've been opposed to any salary increase for judges. So this year I started talking to some attorneys and judges, etc., and they reminded me that most of my arguments when I talk about collective bargaining and I didn't want to see increases across the board, etc., they reminded me that they do not have a union. They reminded me that they cannot go ahead and strike. They do not have a constituency. They also told me that if you say you don't want to give us a salary raise, does that mean if you folks agree with us when we come out with an opinion in court, then you'd give us the salary increase? If we disagree, then we don't get the salary increase.

"And after listening, I'm relatively stubborn but he made good sense and the different people that I talked to. I told him that I'd certainly look at it, so I'm afraid I'm going to have to eat some of my words. So I will be supporting the pay raises. I may not be in full support of 18 percent, but I do believe that they should get a pay raise and I believe that maybe then we will move forward to help the economic change around in this community which we're not looking at.

"Thank you so very much, Mr. President."

Senator Tam rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in favor of this bill with reservations.

"Mr. President and fellow colleagues, it's been my stand to always take care of the line people rather than think of ourselves, as management. I'm quite concerned, in terms of two years ago or so when the Chief Justice came before us and he said that he would be willing to fire people, some of his clerks, in order to receive a raise. I truly believe that our line people work harder than us and we need to respect them.

"Thank you."

Senator Chumbley rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, as this measure came out of the Judiciary Committee and then moved on to the Ways and Means Committee, we did adopt some of the recommendations of the Judicial Salary Review Commission by including a 9 percent wage increase in the first fiscal year of the biennium and a 9 percent increase in the second year. There is no retroactivity application which was part of the Judicial Salary Review Commission which came out of the Judiciary Committee. And in fact, when this bill went to the Ways and Means Committee, the dollar values and the percentages had been zeroed out. So, at this point, just for clarification, there is no set 18 percent increase in this.

"And, Mr. President, I think the most important thing here is that we need to attract judges that are the most competent, the brightest, and we need to pay our judges a fair salary. So with that, I ask all my colleagues to support this measure."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 817 was adopted and S.B. No. 1345, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION IN THE JUDICIARY," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Chumbley, rising in support, then said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure and have some written comments I'd like to have inserted into the Journal."

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Chumbley's remarks read as follows:

"Mr. President and honorable colleagues, I rise to speak in favor of S.B. No. 176 -- Relating to Child Abuse. This measure creates two new criminal felony offenses -- child abuse in the first and second degrees -- in order to address the rising number of reported child abuse cases. This measure provides tougher penalties of up to 20 years imprisonment for those individuals convicted of felony child abuse.

"Over the years, living in Hawaii has become synonymous with 'living in paradise.' However, in recent months, grisly facts of our children being maimed and murdered by those closest to them have shattered this image. Our community has been deeply shaken by a rash of child abuse incidents, resulting in the severe physical trauma and even deaths of some of our youngsters.

"An act of child abuse is already a crime under current law, but the system provides far too many obstacles to overcome to get a conviction. The law provides that unless a child-abuse case warrants a charge of attempted murder, the State may seek only an assault conviction. Assault convictions carry a maximum prison term of only five to ten years, depending on the severity of the case.

"Under this measure, S.B. No. 176, a person would be convicted of child abuse in the first degree if the person 'intentionally, knowingly, or recklessly' causes serious bodily injury to a child 12 or younger. A charge of child abuse in the second degree would result if the person 'intentionally, knowingly, or recklessly' causes substantial bodily injury to a child 12 or younger. (FYI -- Child Abuse in the First Degree = Class A felony; Child Abuse in the Second Degree = Class B felony.)

"Often times, it is difficult for the State to prove 'intentional or knowing' conduct in child abuse cases because jurors have a hard time believing that any parent could intentionally or knowingly cause harm to a loved one, especially a child. By including the 'reckless' state of mind, we hope that the State will be able to obtain more convictions, once it can show that a reasonable person should have known that the actions could cause serious injury.

"Mr. President and honorable colleagues, in these troubling times, we -- the Legislature -- must take a firm stance against child abuse and re-affirm our commitment to protecting our children."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 829 was adopted and S.B. No. 176, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CHILDREN," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

"Mr. President, former Philadelphia Mayor Frank Rizzo once stated that 'The streets are safe in Philadelphia. It's only the people that make them unsafe.'

"Mr. President, I think we here are all concerned about keeping our streets safe, and I know some people may question why a dangerous animal should be likened to a gun or a knife. I'd like to give you and my colleagues at least four reasons why an animal is like a gun.

- (1) Both suffer from accidental discharges;
- (2) Dogs tend to bank fleas and those with guns tend to flee from banks (okay, they get better; they get better (laughter));
- (3) A dog is man's best friend, and at John Gotti's friend's wedding, the gun was the friend's best man; and finally, Mr. President, the fourth and final reason,
- (4) A heated gun indicates that it has been fired, and a dog in heat indicates that it's about to be fired. (More laughter.)

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Slom then remarked:

"Mr. President, please note that the preceding commentary did not include anything about felines." (Laughter.)

"Mr. President, I rise in support with reservations.

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill with reservations.

"We're trying to make a number of the provisions for awarding prizes unfair and deceptive. Mr. President, conflict potential -- I have my McDonald's card here and right now they're giving away a house. And I don't think that we should ban out of hand the possibility of giving away prizes, including real estate. The whole idea is fraud and deception and that's where the emphasis should be, rather than telling private entities what they can and cannot give away.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 849 was adopted and S.B. No. 236, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO UNFAIR AND DECEPTIVE PRACTICES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

S.B. No. 914:

Senator Chumbley moved that S.B. No. 914, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Matsunaga.

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to the bill.

"I'm sorry, Mr. President, this is a dumb bill based on a dumb Supreme Court ruling. A blank ballot should be a blank ballot. An over-voted ballot should again be a blank ballot. It should not be counted. And particularly when we're talking about the constitutional convention, we have denied the people the right to hold and have a constitutional convention. We have not looked at this state government, not made material changes since 1978.

"We are the only state in the Union that does not have the benefit of one of the following: initiative, referendum, recall at a statewide level, or term limits. The public has asked for many of these things. We've introduced bills that call for unicameral legislature and re-examining and re-inventing government, and without con-con we don't have the chance of doing that because we're reluctant to change here in the Legislature.

"So, to count blank ballots as 'noes' and to count over-voted ballots as 'noes' is a disservice to the public and to the voters.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition.

"So, as with the previous speaker, yes, to allow a blank vote to be counted is ridiculous! A blank vote is a blank vote! How can we count a blank vote, a vote, when it is blank? (Much laughter.) Thank you for your patience, Mr. President.

"Is it constitutionally right to tell the voters that if they don't vote, it is a 'no' vote? By the same rationale, how can spoiled or invalid ballots be counted as votes, when in fact those votes are invalid? The Supreme Court apparently ruled to let the blank votes be counted, based on a discussion of several convention delegates 20 years ago.

"Today, we can either say that, that blank vote counts based on that discussion by several people back then, expounding on this issue, or we can say no -- a blank vote is neither a 'yes' vote or a 'no' vote and should not count."

Senator Anderson also rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, being that the prior two speakers were very shy about how they felt, I'm going to be voting 'no.' The reason being, when I go to vote and my wife is with me or one of my children, if they're not sure how they really want to vote on a particular issue, they say 'I'm not sure about this, I'll leave it blank and leave it to the others.' I think that's fair. It means they don't want it counted. In my humble opinion, I think that's fair.

"I don't know why the courts would say a blank vote should be counted or an over-vote should be counted. And I agree with the two previous speakers, but I don't know if I would express myself like they did. I know they're shy, but I don't think I would have done that. (Laughter.)

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Chumbley, rising in support of the measure, then stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this bill.

"Mr. President and colleagues, this is a smart bill as a result of a smart decision by the Supreme Court. I think that some of my colleagues are missing the point.

"If you recall, when you went to the ballot box this year you were told to mark your spot. If you don't mark your spot, that's clearly a blank vote. This is an issue of ballots cast, not votes cast. When you went into the ballot booth, you got a ballot. You had an obligation to vote 'yes' or 'no.' If you didn't mark your spot, that's a blank vote, you cast your vote when you took that ballot, Mr. President.

"In 1968, during Con-Con, this issue was debated. In 1978, during Con-Con, it was again debated. And all of the law and the legislative history show that it was the intention of our predecessors who were involved in Con-Con to use ballots cast, not votes cast. They chose that if there was going to be a Constitutional Convention, it was so important that everyone had an obligation to vote based on the ballot cast, not just simply on marking your spot.

"So, with that said, Mr. President, I urge all my colleagues to mark your spot."

Senator Anderson rose in rebuttal and said:

"A short rebuttal, if I may.

"Number one, I don't think the previous speaker is correct. I don't believe we did that in the 1968 Convention or '78 Con-Con. But also, I don't believe that anybody should mandate someone. That's why they call it 'freedom of choice.' You don't mandate somebody and say, 'You have to go ahead and walk in and vote for this and you have to mark a spot.' That's why I hate bills that say you shall do something.

"It's very, very hard to tell people you have to vote a certain way. It's bad enough that we tell them you have to go ahead and do this. Pretty soon we'll be saying, 'You have to get up at seven o'clock in the morning.'

"It's a shame that government is beginning to take over our lives. I know that we laugh and have a good time, but it's a shame that a lot of people really believe in this -- government has that right to tell us what to do. And there's more people that will tell you they don't want to do certain things when they vote in the ballot box. They may want to disregard the whole thing when they go in -- I think this is a bunch and throw it down. Why should it be counted if they don't want to vote?"

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Matsunaga rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of this measure.

"As the League of Women Voters of Hawaii so eloquently testified at our hearing, that something as important as the Constitutional Convention, with its potential for decisions of such far-reaching consequences, should not be convened without the solid support of the State's citizens.

"The vote requirement for the passage of a constitutional amendment is twofold: (1) that the affirmative votes be more than the negative votes, and (2) that the affirmative votes be at least 50 percent of all the ballots cast in the election. This assures that no amendment is adopted by a minority of the voters due to the failure of many of the voters to cast votes on the amendment.

"Mr. President, we believe and the Supreme Court agrees with us that the vote requirement for the convening of a Constitutional Convention should meet the same standards as that for the ratification of amendments to the Constitution.

"I urge all my colleagues to vote 'aye.'"

Senator Sakamoto then said:

"Mr. President, a little rebuttal to those remarks.

"So I respect the co-chairs of the Committee and their remarks. I think the citizens of our State, many of them have become disenfranchised, disillusioned with our process due to the legalism and things that don't make sense.

"And I understand there may have been a '68 and '78 discussion on the issue, but today the people out there are concerned about vote counts and their vote, counting. And I believe invalid ballots and people choosing not to vote, they would express that they had not voted and they did not intend that to be a 'no' or a 'yes' vote. So I believe we should change and really get the people back, involved with the process and let people choose to leave a spot unmarked and let that not be cast in either direction."

Senator Slom also rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, just another brief rebuttal.

"Utilizing the League of Women Voters -- while it is a fine organization and does many fine things on occasion, it has a membership of about 2,000, statewide. It has been wrong on a number of occasions, particularly as it pertains to the Constitutional Convention. It was very wrong in the wild and inaccurate figures that were released in terms of the cost of the last Constitutional Convention of 1978 and the estimated cost of a convention in 1998 or presently. It also fought as an organization to deny the voters of the City and County of Honolulu the right to vote on charter amendments.

"So, for these reasons, I think we certainly could consider what they have to say, but I would rather consider, as the previous speaker mentioned, the call from the public to have more participation and more choices. And by enacting a bill like this, what we're doing is restricting their choices and restricting their voices.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 914, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO VOTE COUNT," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 19. Noes, 5 (Anderson, Chun, Kawamoto, Sakamoto, Slom). Excused, 1 (Matsuura).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 868 (S.B. No. 1320, S.D. 2):

Senator Chumbley moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 868 be adopted and S.B. No. 1320, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Matsunaga.

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to support the bill with reservations.

"This is a much better bill than S.B. No. 1313, which was an abominable bill that just granted immunity to the State for any errors related to the Y2K problems for, I believe, the original term is eleven and a half years. And this bill would grant immunity to December 31, 2003 to any entities that use commercially reasonable efforts at trying to solve the Y2K problems.

"We don't know at this point whether we are over-stating or under-stating what the problems of Y2K will be. We do know that we hear conflicting reports from our state government that they are 50 percent, 70 percent, 80 percent in compliance and have all their equipment. But at some point, people have to take responsibility for what they do, and I certainly can understand a limitation for a one-year period or a two-year period, but even with this bill now, we're still talking about a four-year period of limitation and a broad based and vague description of what measures have to be taken.

"So I will support the bill, but with reservations."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 868 was adopted and S.B. No. 1320, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO YEAR 2000 ERRORS BY COMPUTER-BASED SYSTEMS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

S.B. No. 1462, S.D. 1:

Senator Chumbley moved that S.B. No. 1462, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to this bill.

"The recount that we're having right now, I think is a function of the Office of Elections. The rump evaluation of the Director of the Office of Elections who has been involved with elections in this State for 18 years but still has not promulgated any rules to allow the citizens of this State their rights under the law to examine ballots, the stonewalling efforts by his department, and the lack of oversight and responsibility by this office leaves us no better than where we were before when the process of elections was under the Lt. Governor's Office and people were concerned because the Lt. Governor, as we all know, always runs and is elected Governor in the State of Hawaii. At least there is oversight in that office. At least there is responsibility in that office. At least we can go up to the fifth floor and visit that office, and there's never been, to my knowledge, any stonewalling in trying to deny the people their rights.

"So, I don't know whether it's a better system or not, but I'm not happy with this system we have, and I'm not happy with the evaluation process, so called, of the appointment panel. So I'm voting 'no' on the bill.

"Thank you."

Senator Anderson then requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

S.B. No. 1469:

Senator Chumbley moved that S.B. No. 1469, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

Senator Iwase rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I'm rising to speak in opposition to the bill.

"Mr. President, the other day on television I saw our co-chair, the Senator from East Maui, name, actually, a new non-alcoholic drink. He referred to this bill as the 'crim-de-crim' because what this bill does would be to criminalize what we de-criminalized two years ago, which is traffic violations, and for the reason, supposedly, that we need money. We're going to raise money.

"In the process, I think we forgot why we de-criminalized these activities a few years ago, in fact just a couple of years ago. And there has not been articulated any reason why we should go back to where we were -- back to the future, so to speak.

"I also would like to point out -- and this is the committee report from the Judiciary and Ways and Means Committees -- testimony in opposition to the measure submitted by the Judiciary, the Public Defender, the Prosecuting Attorney of the City and County of Honolulu, the Prosecuting Attorney of the County of Maui, and the Honolulu Police Department. Everyone testified against the bill. There was no testimony in support of the bill.

"I just don't know why the bill is here, and I certainly hope that we are not going to re-crim-de-crim. (Laughter.) Well, we're going to do what were going to do in this bill, just to make money. So I'm going to vote 'no.'

"Thank you."

Senator Chun rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I stand in support of the bill.

"Mr. President, the intent of this bill is noteworthy and that is to pursue wholeheartedly the unpaid fines and penalties that is due the general fund.

"I think what is an unintentional result of this bill, and that's why I must go with reservations on this bill, an unintended result of this bill is that it places the burden of collecting these unpaid fines, which go to the general fund, on to the counties. As it is right now, the Attorney General has the responsibility, which is paid by general funds, to collect those unpaid fines and penalties for the benefit of the State. This bill now would transfer that responsibility from the Attorney General and the state general fund to the counties, to their prosecutors.

"The county prosecutors, however, are caught in an interesting bind because now they're using county funds to collect state monies for the state general fund. And I think this is an unintended result in that we're using county personnel to collect state funds. And I think we need to look at that issue as this bill progresses.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Anderson then requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1469, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE ADJUDICATION OF TRAFFIC INFRACTIONS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 19. Noes, 5 (Hanabusa, Iwase, Sakamoto, Slom, Tanaka). Excused, 1 (Matsuura).

S.B. No. 1485, S.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Chumbley, seconded by Senator Matsunaga and carried, S.B. No. 1485, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO MINORS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Matsuura).

S.B. No. 616, S.D. 1:

Senator Chumbley moved that S.B. No. 616, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Matsunaga.

Senator Chumbley, rising in support of the measure, then stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

"I just wanted to note for the members' attention that this bill did pass by committee report on second reading and unfortunately the attached committee report today has identified the Senate bill as 616 without the S.D. 1. So the measure that we are voting on today, Mr. President, is the S.D. 1, and I am in support of that measure."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 616, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PROSTITUTION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Matsuura).

S.B. No. 1119, S.D. 1:

Senator Chumbley moved that S.B. No. 1119, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Matsunaga.

Senator Chumbley then said:

"Mr. President, I have some written comments to insert on this measure."

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Chumbley's remarks read as follows:

"Mr. President and honorable colleagues, I rise to speak in support of S.B. No. 1119, S.D. 1 -- Relating to Homicide. This measure seeks to: (1) amend the offense of murder in the first degree by making any intentional or knowing killing, murder in the first degree; (2) change the offense of murder in the second degree from intentionally or knowingly causing the death of another to the reckless killing of another under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to human life; and (3) provide that the defense of extreme mental or emotional disturbance will be an affirmative defense.

"Although murder occurs in Hawaii at less than half the national rate, it is the most serious criminal offense and warrants Hawaii's most severe sanction. Life without parole should be applied to those individuals who commit the ultimate heinous crime of taking the life of another person, regardless of the victim's status or occupation.

"During the hearing on this measure, we learned that once a murder defendant claims to have been under the influence of extreme mental and emotional distress, the State is required to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant does not suffer from such a disturbance to obtain a conviction. After considerable debate and much deliberation, we chose to adopt the provision that makes the defense of extreme mental and emotional disturbance an affirmative defense, so that the defendant will have the burden of proving this at trial.

"On March 5, 1999, the Prosecutor of the City and County of Honolulu wrote an editorial criticizing the Legislature for its failure to adopt the recommendations of the law enforcement coalition on this issue.

"I agree with the Prosecutor (Peter Carlisle) that this issue has repeatedly come before the Legislature. However, I disagree with the Prosecutor's statement that there is 'renewed interest' in this issue only after the public's outcry with the court's decision in the Kimberly Pada case.

"What the Prosecutor fails to recognize is that by making the defense of extreme mental and emotional disturbance an affirmative defense, the Legislature goes against well-established legal principles. A defendant in a criminal case is 'innocent until proven guilty,' and this concept is the foundation of our criminal justice system. Making such a drastic change to the criminal justice system is not a step that the Legislature should take lightly or without careful consideration.

"What the Prosecutor also fails to recognize is that the Legislature was not created to serve only the law enforcement coalition. The Legislature was created to set public policy, standards by which our people and our communities can live in safety and without fear. We have the grave responsibility of considering all viewpoints -- those of the law enforcement coalition and the public defender's -- when enacting our laws. We have the responsibility of striking a balance between the rights of the victim, the rights of the defendant, and the needs of our community."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1119, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HOMICIDE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Matsuura).

S.B. No. 1120, S.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Chumbley, seconded by Senator Matsunaga and carried, S.B. No. 1120, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO REPEAT OFFENDERS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Matsuura).

S.B. No. 1151, S.D. 1:

Senator Chumbley moved that S.B. No. 1151, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Matsunaga.

Senator Chun then inquired:

"Mr. President, may I ask a question of the committee co-chairs for Judiciary?"

The President replied: "Please proceed."

"Mr. President, I would like to inquire whether or not the intent of this bill is to cover private associations and organizations as the public accommodations subject to this law? For example, I am aware that there is a considerable amount of controversy on the Mainland regarding whether or not certain private organizations such as the Boy Scouts are public accommodations within this type of law. The federal circuit courts are split, Mr. President, and I wanted to know whether the intent of this bill is now to put Hawaii on the side that organizations, as opposed to places, are covered by this type of public accommodations law."

At 3:34 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 3:36 o'clock p.m.

The Chair made the following observation:

"There was a question to the co-chair of the Judiciary Committee, Senator Chumbley."

Senator Chumbley responded:

"Mr. President and colleagues, having conferred with my co-chair and reviewing the testimony, it was the intention of the Judiciary Committee that these instances cover places, and not organizations. And we understand that, that is consistent with some of the case law that's being debated across the country right now.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to this measure.

"My concerns center around the fact that this bill seeks to require society to recognize and approve homosexuality. Why should one's choice of bisexuality or homosexuality rise to the level of existing protected civil rights? Race, sex, color, religion -- should this bill pass?

"Senate Bill 1151 also protects religious beliefs, so which would take precedence? Sexual orientation or religious beliefs?

"On November 3, 1998, a majority of the people voted that traditional marriage should be kept as the community standard. This shows that the majority of the public strongly opposes the attempts to redefine the basic standards of our society. Seventy percent of the people asked that their values be maintained."

Senator Anderson rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I'm rising with some reservations. I will vote for the bill.

"I brought it up in committee and I'd like to know why we have to add sexual orientation as a protected status for law prohibiting discrimination? It was my understanding when we wanted the con-con that we didn't want to do anything with that constitution. It was going to take away people's rights, their protection. It was a good constitution.

"All of a sudden the other day in committee, we had to pass this bill because the Constitution is so broad. It doesn't take care of everyone. I'm a little confused when one time, we, as a majority, can't have a con-con because we're going to be taking rights away from people, and then we have to turn around and have a bill because the Constitution is so bloody broad that it's not protecting everybody. That's why I had such a hard time with different groups including Hawaiians, including the same-sex marriage people, everybody that wanted protection, the environmentalists.

"If they were so afraid of the public, I told them, then run your own people. Make sure that you're going to be taken care of, your group in the Constitution. But they didn't want to do that. They gave out erroneous types of costs, $15 million. When I took the book in, I showed them that in 1978 it was $2.6 million, I think it was, and we returned $600,000. It was a strong Constitution. Leave it alone.

"So for those reasons, I have reservations. I don't really think in my own mind that we need this bill. But that's going to be up to the other side now, and I would hope that it would reflect all of the reservations we have. It has nothing to do with individuals or groups or anything else. If they're so set that a constitution was needed to protect them, then we don't need this bill.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Iwase then inquired:

"Mr. President, if I may pose a question to one of the co-chairs of the Judiciary Committee to follow up on the question posed by the Senator from East Maui who answered the question of the Senator from South Kauai. You said that it was meant to apply to places and not . . . what did you say in response to the question?"

Senator Chumbley replied:

"Mr. President, not to organizations."

"Okay. I'm looking at the Section, page 2, 'Discriminatory practices prohibition. Unfair discriminatory practices which deny, or attempt to deny, a person the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, and accommodations of a place of public accommodation' Is there a definition of public accommodation in Chapter 489 that would be consistent with what you said?"

At 3:41 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 3:49 o'clock p.m.

Senator Iwase said:

"I would yield to the co-chair of the Judiciary Committee."

Senator Chumbley responded:

"Mr. President, in response to the inquiry from the colleague of mine, Chapter 489, Discrimination in Public Accommodations, Section 489-2 definitions does define place of public accommodations to mean 'a business accommodation, refreshment, entertainment, recreation or a transportation facility of any kind whose goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations are extended, offered, sold or otherwise made available to the general public as customers, clients or visitors.'

"Mr. President, it is not the intention to extend this proposal to organizations such as the Girl Scouts or Boy Scouts. And it is our understanding and our belief that it would not apply to those organizations."

Senator Iwase then rose and said:

"The reason for my question was, having spoken to the Senator from South Kauai, there are cases on the Continental United States which have defined accommodations to require the discriminatory practice law to open up organizations like the Boy Scouts. And clearly, that is another issue to be debated, but certainly and whether or not one believes in that or not should be debated in a separate type of bill and it should not be slipped in under this kind of bill.

"I'm voting for it under the assumption that we're talking about things like housing and eating at a restaurant, and not whether or not you can join the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Boys Club, Girls Club, Boys and Girls Club, and on, and baseball, football, and on and on. And I'm assuming that it doesn't apply and will not apply to require or compel such organizations to fall under this law.

"Thank you."

Senator Chun, rising to speak with reservations, then said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak on the bill with reservations.

"Mr. President, I have two concerns regarding this bill. The first was answered by the co-chairs of the Judiciary Committee. The second, though however, involves the fact that this bill would attempt to try to bypass or to second-guess what the decision of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and the United States Supreme Court might be.

"The committee report clearly indicates that in a decision by Alaska, which has a very similar bill to what we have over here in Hawaii, a question came up in that court concerning the issue that the Senator from Moanalua and Salt Lake raised, and that is the conflict between a freedom of religion, freedom of expression and association versus another protected class. And in that situation, the Alaska Court clearly held that the state law requiring housing, even though it violated their own personal religious beliefs, was unconstitutional. That case is now on appeal before the Ninth Circuit and I've been told that even if the Ninth Circuit decides to uphold the Alaskan Court, that would be appealed to the Supreme Court.

"In light of the on-going dispute between weighing those two interests, those two constitutional interests, it might be a bit premature for us to adopt a law weighing on one side or the other, or it might be construed that we weigh on one side or the other. So on that concern, I think we should be very, very cautious when we enter into these kinds of law.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Matsunaga rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

"Mr. President we've spoken about, perhaps, the unintended effects of this measure, but I'd like to keep this body's focus on why this law is needed. Currently, state law does not prohibit owners and operators of public accommodations such as restaurants, movie houses and public buses from denying services because of a person's sexual orientation. This means that individuals can be denied services or access to public accommodations for no other reason than that they are gay or a lesbian.

"Mr. President, there is no legitimate basis for discrimination in housing or public accommodations on the basis of sexual orientation. This bill would make it unlawful under state law for landlords, restaurants, movie theaters, buses, and other real estate providers to discriminate against persons because of their sexual orientation.

"Mr. President, all persons should be afforded an equal opportunity to obtain and enjoy entry and living accommodations without discriminatory harassment because of their sexual orientation. This change in Hawaii's law is long overdue.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against the bill.

"We're talking about intentions here and everybody has good intentions, but unfortunately the legal landscape is littered with good intentions, and lawsuits are made because people can find other intentions from legislation. And as has been talked about, this bill really lends itself for litigation.

"We're not talking really about discrimination here as much as we're talking about extending or creating or expanding civil rights for yet another group of individuals. And what we're saying, in effect, is that if any person involved in public accommodations or housing or recreation or any of these other classes that were discussed, for any reason denies someone access, we're now creating a legal cause of action and allowing that person to say, 'The only reason you denied me access was because of my sexual orientation.'

"I think it's a bad precedent. I think it's a bad law, and I urge my colleagues to vote against it."

Senator Matsuura rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"As you know, I am in the flower industry and many of my friends and clients are gay. In discussion with them, even during the campaign, this issue did come up many times about their sexual orientation, about traditional marriage.

"Basically, on this bill, I oppose it because, Is there a problem of discrimination within our state? And the answer is no. There is no discrimination. I don't see it, yet this will create a road block. Like the Senator from Hawaii Kai says, this could create situations where they can use this law to sue, even though you may not be, because as many of us know, you cannot tell if you are homosexual or not -- it's a lifestyle.

"So on top of that, I stand in opposition to this bill. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1151, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CIVIL RIGHTS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 15. Noes, 9 (Anderson, Buen, Bunda, M. Ige, Kawamoto, Matsuura, Sakamoto, Slom, Tanaka). Excused, 1 (D. Ige).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 652 (S.B. No. 528, S.D. 2):

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Levin and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 652 was adopted and S.B. No. 528, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HEALTH INSURANCE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (D. Ige).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 730 (S.B. No. 856, S.D. 2):

On motion by Senator Fukunaga, seconded by Senator Levin and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 730 was adopted and S.B. No. 856, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO LONG-TERM RESIDENTIAL CARE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (D. Ige).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 778 (S.B. No. 656, S.D. 2):

Senator Fukunaga moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 778 be adopted and S.B. No. 656, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"We're calling on the formation of a citizens' advisory council for the Public Utilities Commission. We've already cited the need for reforms in the PUC. We have new people that are coming into the PUC. But yet we continue to have bills that diminish the powers and responsibilities of the PUC. If we're going to have a Public Utilities Commission, then we have to hold them accountable and responsible for what they do. And by adding another level, another layer of bureaucracy, we're not doing that. So I think that this is unnecessary, costly and redundant.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 778 was adopted and S.B. No. 656, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 1 (Slom). Excused, 1 (D. Ige).

MATTER DEFERRED FROM EARLIER ON THE CALENDAR

S.B. No. 584, S.D. 1:

Senator Chumbley moved that S.B. No. 584, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

Senator Chumbley then said:

"Mr. President, I have some written comments to insert on this measure."

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Chumbley's remarks read as follows:

"The purpose of S.B. No. 584, S.D. 1, is to require enhanced sentences for repeat violent offenders who are convicted of murder, of a class A violent felony, or of a felony sex assault. We heard a number of similar bills together, and we have used this bill as the vehicle for all enhanced sentencing for violent offenders and sex offenders.

"Why should we mandate enhanced sentencing? We heard testimony that, especially with sex offenses, violent felons who have demonstrated a pattern of repeat offenses will get out and offend again. We want to protect the people of Hawaii from violent felons who have shown themselves to be incorrigible predators. The purpose of an extended sentence is not to make an offender spend 20 years instead of 5 in prison. The purpose is to get at the offender who has demonstrated a predatory and violent nature, the offender who will be serving time for most of the next 20 years for a succession of offenses, but getting out for a year or two between sentences and committing additional violent felonies. This sort of violent predator should be kept in prison, not given the opportunity to commit additional offenses before being put away again.

"We are recommending enhanced sentences that, for the most part, simply make mandatory the extended term sentence that a judge would have the discretion to give under current law. The measure does not substantially increase sentences beyond what is possible under the current law -- in most cases, it simply ensures that extended term sentencing will be used for those who commit serious, violent felonies for the third or fourth time. We believe the measure as amended successfully balances fiscal concerns with the need to protect the people of this State from dangerous and predatory criminals."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 584, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HABITUAL VIOLENT OFFENDERS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (D. Ige).

The Chair then remarked:

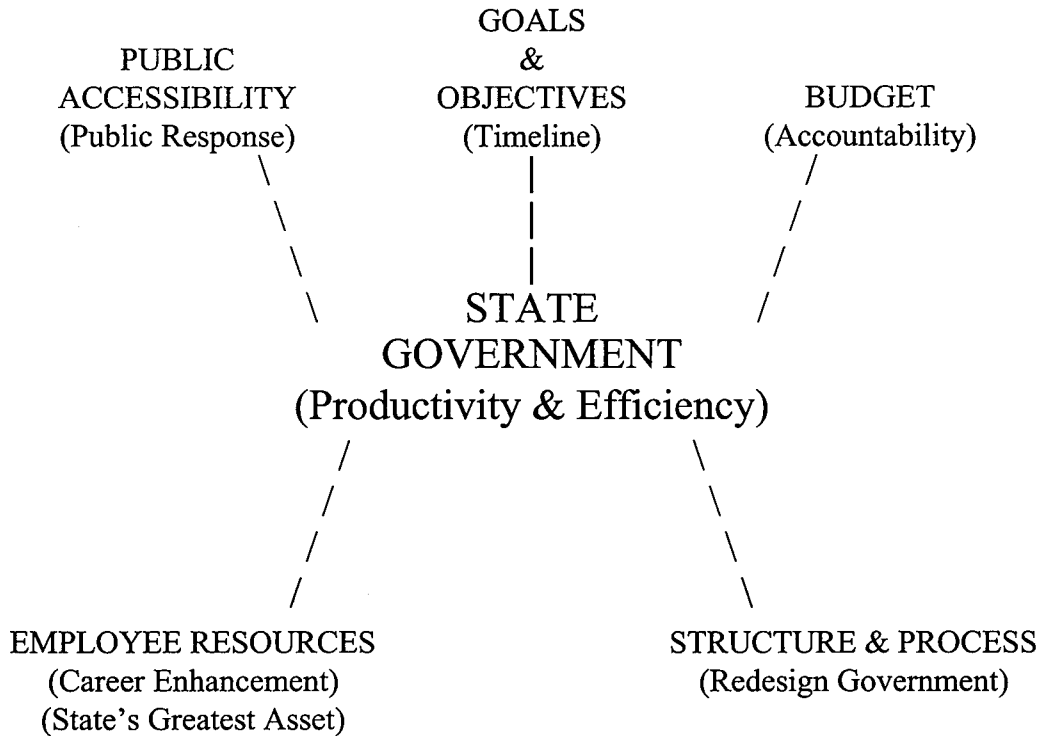

"The Chair would like to thank all the members of the Senate. This has been a very long day. I appreciate all of your remarks and the debate that went on for all of our Senate bills that are moving to the House."

ORDER OF THE DAY

S.B. No. 1586, S.D. 2:

Senator Fukunaga moved that S.B. No. 1586, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose in support of the measure with reservations and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support with reservations on this bill.

"While we have amended several things here and put several good pieces together, my problem with this bill, when I was discussing this in the Education Committee with the Superintendent of Education, I feel that the Attorney General's Office should be providing the legal assistance and we shouldn't have to go out and hire still more attorneys. So, with those reservations I will support the bill, Mr. President.

"Thank you."

Senator M. Ige rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against the measure.

"Mr. President, we worked hard on this hiring of attorneys by the Attorney General as one of your co-chairs two years ago in Government Operations. And working with the Attorney General, working with her to look at the types of attorneys she can hire on the Mainland, we made that window very, very small; very, very specific; very, very detailed. And now, to come across a bill like this where we allow the Board of Education to basically hire carte blanche -- any attorney for any purpose -- I think, is going far beyond what we originally intended.

"I thought, from looking at this measure, that it was going to be for our cases against Felix types of issues in the schools. And going back to the community, one of our biggest concerns for teachers was basically the cases that we are losing in the Felix area. And as a result, we came out with this bill which we supported wholeheartedly, but with that one clause allowing the board to now hire an outside attorney for any reason, I think, is going into a very dangerous area. We're setting a very bad precedent. I think it deserves fuller discussion and debate.

"For those reasons, Mr. President, I'm voting 'no. Thank you."

Senator Anderson rose to speak with reservations on the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I'll be going 'aye' with reservations.

"The main reason is, I concur with the other two. Also, the Board of Education, if they're going to be able to set salaries, hire an attorney, my understanding is that they will be able to help the principals. I've been listening rather closely lately, and the teachers are not getting support from the principals. So, if the Board of Education is in charge of that attorney, because they're going to be responsible to them since they're setting the salaries, then who are they going to go ahead and defend? The principals? The teachers, if the teachers are right? Who are they going to be accountable for? That's part of my problem.

"And then if you remember the other day, Mr. President, I had a bill on my stack that was here. It was about the athletic programs that we have. This bill says on page 5, line 14: 'The term also includes coaches' salaries, athletic health care trainers' salaries, athletic equipment and supplies.' We have been saying that we want athletic programs at the schools, but we don't put any money into those programs. So, once they're mandated and they keep taking money from the same pot, what has happened is the programs have to get smaller because we're saying you have to have an athletic program. If we're going to say that we're going to fund them, it would be different. But we open new schools; we tell them you have to have a program and we don't give them the money. The pot is getting smaller. The programs are getting smaller. And I don't think the coaches are very happy with the way that the schools are being run with the athletic programs that they now have.

"So, I have reservations and I hope that we will look at that when the bill comes around again.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator D. Ige rose to support the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, in the hearing before the Education Committee, it became very clear to us that teachers and administrators at the school level, on the front line, dealing with the Felix issue on a day to day basis, really felt that they were not supported, especially in terms of getting legal advice. They testified on many, many occasions of sitting in IEP meetings and having the attorney representing the children there and really not having any access to any attorneys to discuss options and the parameters upon which the Department is obligated to provide services to these children. And this bill is in direct response to that.

"The intent of the committee was really to clearly focus access to advice of attorneys, explicitly for dealing with issues involving children with disabilities. And the bill emphatically states that. I'm not quite certain where the Senator from Kaneohe gets language that they can hire attorneys to deal with other issues. And clearly, if this language isn't specific to dealing with children with disabilities, the committee is committed to re-focus the language to insure that we deal with this problem.

"The other thing that I did want to note is, in the testimony of the Attorney General, they basically said that they have only two attorneys assigned full-time to deal with issues involving children with disabilities, and they are overwhelmed and unable to meet the requirements of the public school system. So it is very clear that, in terms of just getting advice as to what is legally required, they really have no advice.

"So on those bases, I urge all my colleagues to vote in support."

At 12:09 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:11 o'clock p.m.

Senator Kawamoto rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak for the bill.

"Mr. President, in the discussion we had in Ways and Means, many of them indicated that we've been losing about 80 to 100 percent of the cases that go before the courts. And the working people are not confident in their ability to protect their individual rights.

"So I urge all my colleagues to vote 'aye' on this bill."

Senator Slom rose again and said:

"Mr. President, I rise again to speak about what I spoke about the first time, and that is the Attorney General's responsibility in this and other areas. The last time I saw numbers, the Attorney General has more than 150 deputies in this state. So, for the Attorney General to say that there's only two that are assigned for this most important issue -- the Felix/Cayetano issue -- where we have a time certain deadline, where we do have teachers and others on the front lines, for the Attorney General not to make this a priority and to spend her time on other efforts, and for the Attorney General to demonstrate that she can go out and hire other attorneys from here and from the Mainland, shows me that there is poor management and a lack of responsibility and accountability in the Attorney General's Office.

"And that's where we should be focusing our attention. Absolutely we should take care of our teachers and those on the front lines. But let's hold those responsible that we're paying for and who have the direct responsibility to do this. I think it's shameless and outrageous for the Attorney General to say she can only spare two attorneys for this most noteworthy project.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Anderson rose in rebuttal as follows:

"Mr. President, just one short rebuttal.

"In my humble opinion, I don't ever remember anybody that has an attorney that they're going to have put to them and say you're going to be responsible to this group, that that's the only issue that they're going to look at. They're going to say:

'That's our attorney. Could you please give us advice on this. How about that?' It's not just going to be for this one issue, and that's why it's a complicated mess and I think that the Attorney General should be responsible for it.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 102, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HEALTH," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Tanaka).

S.B. No. 1180, S.D. 1:

Senator Fukunaga moved that S.B. No. 1180, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to the bill.

"While there are some parts of the bill that I think are very positive and very necessary, the overall thrust of this bill is not. I think there are constitutional problems with the bill. The Tax Department testified in opposition to the bill. A number of private companies, including Aloha Airlines, Price Waterhouse Coopers, testified in strong opposition saying that this bill would require additional paper work and expenses and would be a financial nightmare. A number of financial institutions also expressed similar concerns.

"And I think Lowell Kalapa of the Tax Foundation of Hawaii summed it up. He said, 'A proposal such as this, fuels the perception that Hawaii is a difficult place to do business. Unfortunately, this is the kind of thinking that has given Hawaii its reputation as a lousy place to do business.'

"For these reasons, I'm forced to vote 'no' on the bill and urge my colleagues to do so too. Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"Mr. President, further research indicated that the concerns that the companies would not like to have this rule indicated that their concerns were about $100 to $200. And I contend that the people that are misusing this rule are getting away with thousands of dollars. Therefore, if we're concerned about revenue enhancement, this bill would be an ideal thing. It's a revenue enhancement bill to get what's owed to the State.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1180, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE INCOME TAXATION OF NONRESIDENTS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

"Mr. President, support with reservations."

The Chair so ordered.

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Tanaka).

S.B. No. 392, S.D. 2:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Tanaka).

S.B. No. 1036, S.D. 3:

Senator Fukunaga moved that S.B. No. 1036, S.D. 3, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Slom rose to speak against the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to the bill.

"Ninety-eight percent of the bill is a good bill except for that 2 percent. That 2 percent creates yet another special fund. I am opposed and continue to be opposed to special funds with the lack of responsibility and accountability. I vote 'no.'

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1036, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose again in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"Again, the bill has many fine features to it but it also has some features that I don't care for, including the fact that it is going to provide for the hiring of 22 new positions including three attorneys. I find this contrary to what we're supposed to be doing in terms of reducing the size and cost of government, and it's also contrary to the Senate Majority package which calls for reductions in the number of employees.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 175, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT MAKING AN APPROPRIATION FOR THE PROTECTION OF CHILDREN AND FAMILIES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

S.B. No. 425, S.D. 3:

Senator Fukunaga moved that S.B. No. 425, S.D. 3, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Levin.

Senator Iwase rose to speak against the bill and stated:

"Mr. President, I'm rising to speak in opposition to the bill.

"Mr. President, this bill reduces by 50 percent the funding for the adult education program. Presently, it's about $2.5 million funding. This bill would jeopardize the adult education program by reducing that amount. I think it's important to understand, when we look at the effect of adult ed, that adult ed provides programs in two areas. First, special interests funded by fees. These are basically the recreational and cultural types of classes -- ikebana, dancing, etc. This represents about 25 percent of the student population in adult ed, or about 12,500 students. Last year, the fees collected was $400,000 from this special interest program -- $400,000, keep that figure in mind.

"The second area of programs that adult ed provides is adult basic education, GED, or the so-called academic areas -- 75 percent of the student population, about 63,000 students. The effect of this bill reduces funding by 50 percent . . . and keep in mind that we've also asked the Department of Education for a 10 percent reduction of funding for their programs. This is a statement I received from the Department of Education, the Adult Ed Section. The effects of this . . . and remember also, the GED programs, the adult education programs, are really programs for those who are unemployed, and those who are poor, and adults needing GED to participate in apprenticeship programs (this is the academic section). This is what the DOE said: 'With respect to the 50 percent reduction of general funds, in the academic program -- total enrollment 63,000, they probably have to reduce the total enrollment to 28,000 students. It would jeopardize approximately $1.3 million in federal funds by not meeting the maintenance of effort requirement. We must maintain a level of funding for these adult programs.'

"It would require from the special interest tuition funded programs an increase average from $37 per student to about $137 per student. In short, Mr. President, we would be asking 25 percent of the program to fund the 75 percent of programs which would be reduced by 50 percent, and either the tuition cost would be so outrageous that they can't pay it, and if they can't pay it they would not go to the programs and the special interest programs would die. This would have a tremendous impact on adult ed, tremendous impact on the unemployed, the poor, and the adults needing the GED and citizenship programs.

"And for those reasons, Mr. President, I'll be voting 'no.' Thank you."

Senator Slom also rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to the bill.

"The Section 1, purpose clause, says 'The legislature finds that as the State struggles with a prolonged fiscal crisis never before experienced in its history, government must utilize all the resources at its disposal to insure that governmental services continue to be provided.'

"First of all, we are not in a prolonged fiscal crisis; we are in a prolonged political crisis. And we don't know how to prioritize, and I've said this many times before. We don't know how to keep the good services. We don't know how to separate the costly services and the inefficient services from the others.

"So what's the solution that's proposed in this bill? The bill is to raise fees, to cut certain services. We're raising the fees and yet the amounts are left blank. We are all told and we learned a long time ago not to sign a blank check and yet that's what we're asked to do with this bill.

"I ask my colleagues to reconsider and to vote 'no' on this bill. Thank you."

Senator Kawamoto rose to support the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak for the bill.

"Mr. President, I rise to speak for the bill in the hope that I can be on the conference team on this bill. (Laughter.)

"There are important transportation items in here that we need to take care of. The other half of the bill calls for 50 percent of the adult ed program to be self-sufficient. This is where we have concerns. The fact that in the adult ed program that's in the Waipahu area which covers from Pearl City all the way to Waianae, the concern is that the people cannot pay for some of the services provided by adult ed, and they would probably not have the services and it may reflect on the other half, which is the ability to have a high school education and degree from adult ed. Currently, we have about 500 graduates from adult ed per year.

"So therefore, Mr. President, I vote 'aye,' again, with the hope to be on the conference team. Thank you."

Senator Chun rose in support of the measure with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"Mr. President, the intent of this bill is good, which is to basically charge fees where we should be charging fees to collect the true cost of certain services. I believe that I'm voting on this bill with reservations because I think it goes too far, especially in the area of adult education. I don't believe it was the intent of the committee or the drafters of this bill to impact federal aid on adult education classes such as GED, English as a second language, and citizenship programs -- programs for which we receive federal funds and programs for which we are required to maintain a certain level of general funding.

"I believe, though, as this bill progresses that those issues can be addressed. I don't think anybody intended to stop adult education. I don't think anybody intended to stop the receipt of federal funds. And I think the intent is good and we should keep that in mind when we vote for this bill.

"Thank you."

Senator Fukunaga added her remarks on the bill as follows:

"At this juncture, I would certainly echo the prior speaker's remarks. This bill is a vehicle bill for us to have further discussions with the House as we go forward, and certainly the comments made by all the prior members are well taken.

"Thank you."

Senator Tam rose to speak in favor of the measure with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I speak in favor of the bill with reservations.

"I'd like to adopt the words of my colleague from Kauai as my very own. Thank you."

The Chair so ordered.

S.B. No. 1024, S.D. 3:

Senator Chumbley moved that S.B. No. 1024, S.D. 3, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Matsunaga.

Senator Chun rose to support the measure with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I stand in support of the bill with reservations.

"Mr. President, this bill basically proposes to make all discretionary permits subject to the Environmental Impact Statement under 343, and I don't have a big problem with that. What I question is the proposal within the portion of the bill which would exempt those land uses at minimal or no significant effects. I think that is a good idea. What I do have questions about is that it makes those exemptions subject to the State Office of Environmental Center's approval.

"I believe, Mr. President, that the best way to determine whether or not a development within any certain county should be determined by the people most closely affected by that project and that is the people from those counties, not on a statewide basis. I think that on a statewide basis it gets diluted as to the intent and the concerns of the population who are more directly affected.

"So, Mr. President, while I agree with the intent of the bill to have projects subject to a little more closer review, I disagree with the mechanism in which they would want to have that review done. So I vote for this bill with reservations, Mr. President."

Senator Iwase then requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1024, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ENVIRONMENT," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Tanaka).

S.B. No. 1231, S.D. 3:

Senator Nakata moved that S.B. No. 1231, S.D. 3, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"Even though the floor amendment took care of the union loophole preference which was in the original measure, this bill still is an additional burden on small businesses with two or more employees requiring them to do more paperwork, more reporting, and also to try to set aside space.

"I am not a smoker. I have in my business a non-smoking office and I think that should be left to the businesses and their employees to decide.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto also rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I guess I rise to speak in opposition as well.

"First, I do not smoke. I do not want my children to smoke. And I would discourage everyone from ever smoking, but I do respect the right of an individual to make a choice.

"We have balanced this by enacting legislation to protect non-smokers. We have created smoke-free areas in all buildings where the public has access and provided smoke-free zones in business offices. However, this measure goes too far. It regulates all private businesses with two or more workers, regardless of accommodations provided to segregate smokers. It would even prohibit smoking in the workplace occupied exclusively by smokers.

"This bill goes beyond protecting non-smokers' rights and ignores the rights of individuals to choose.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Chun Oakland then rose to support the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of this measure.

"Senate Bill 1231 would increase protection against involuntary exposure to environmental tobacco smoke, also known as ETS, at the workplace and extends these protections to a significantly greater number of employees than are presently covered. The bill excludes dining areas of restaurants, bars, meeting or banquet rooms in hotels when used for private functions, convention center facilities when used for private functions, or to guest rooms of a hotel.

"This issue has a long history in the State Legislature. Since 1992, increasing protection against workplace smoking has been on the department's agenda, the Department of Health. The existing state statute passed in 1987 is obsolete. Unfortunately, we have been unsuccessful in bringing the statute up to current standards. Because of such inaction, the Governor issued an executive memorandum, 97-14, prohibiting smoking in state buildings under the executive branches' control. Presently, the Judiciary is considering a similar policy. The City and County of Honolulu, in June of 1997, enacted Ordinance 97-20 eliminating smoking in all enclosed workplaces having two or more employees. Clearly, it is time for the Legislature to create a uniform standard to protect employees across the State.

"ETS is the third leading preventable cause of death in the United States today, behind active smoking and alcohol. The Environmental Protection Agency classified ETS as a Class A carcinogen. This category is reserved for the most dangerous cancer causing substances such as radon, asbestos and benzene. Nationally, 53,000 deaths annually are attributed to ETS exposure.

"In Hawaii, tobacco takes a heavy toll killing over 1,300 residents and continues to cost us an estimated $328 million, annually. All major causes of death among elderly are associated with smoking or ETS, namely cancer, heart disease and strokes. And each of these diseases are generally associated with months and years of disabling pain and suffering. The long-term care needs of these people are great.

"In 1995, a study by Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston reported that smoking by pregnant women was linked to the death of 5,600 babies, 115,000 miscarriages, 53,000 low birth weight babies and 22,000 babies who needed intensive care at birth each year in the United States. In addition, smoking by pregnant women and exposure to second-hand smoke represents a major cause of illness, hospitalization and death of infants and children. Another 3,700 children die each year by the age of one month from complications caused by tobacco smoke during the mother's pregnancy, mainly because they are too tiny to survive. Attributed smoking by pregnant women are 1,900 cases of SIDS or sudden infant death syndrome, annually.

"The work site presents a highly dense environment that exposes people to ETS four times greater than the typical household. People spend more than one-third of their adult life at the work site, and I think in Hawaii probably more like two-thirds. In previous years, prior to the enactment of the Honolulu City and County ordinance, over 30 percent of the smoking and tobacco use complaints received by the Department of Health were from employees at private workplaces. These employees had voiced their concerns that they are not afforded adequate protection against ETS.

"This bill increases protection against exposure to ETS at the workplace and extends those protections to a greater number of employees in our State.

"Thank you."

Senator Iwase rose to oppose the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'm rising to speak in . . . I'm going to vote 'no' on the bill. And the reason for it, Mr. President, after hearing this debate, I really came out here kind of W/R, but after hearing the debate and looking again at the bill . . .

"Mr. President, all the statements made by the previous speaker regarding the health impact of tobacco are true. They're real and must be addressed. But I think that when the government addresses these issues, they also have to take into account that we have a Constitution, and I think really one of the purposes of the Constitution is to restrain government. We put government together so there can be some order in our society but that people can also run free.

"The present law, I think, attempted to strike a good balance between protecting public health on the one hand, and allowing employers and businesses to operate when it limited its scope to state and county agencies in defining employer, and private corporations, firms or associations which receive state funds. Even if you took out 'which receives state funds' as a requirement, at least one could argue it limited itself to large organizations which required government action.

"This amendment would apply to anyone that employs two or more people. And with the down-sizing, with the economy, we have a lot of small businesses. I'm assuming we have a lot of businesses with, say, two or more people, maybe two people. And what this bill would do is to force an employer, if he had two people, to have a 50 percent reduction in workforce so that someone can smoke. And I don't think that's appropriate.

"I think that, hopefully, there will be discussions between the employer and employee in a small company like that so that all three people can be accommodated, but to bring out a law like this at this point in time, applying it to a company or organization or private entity or a solo practice with two or more people, I think is going a bit too far. And we now have an unbalanced system, and I don't think it's going to be something we ought to be pursuing.

"Thank you."

Senator M. Ige rose to speak against the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I, too, rise in opposition, very briefly.

"I, too, do not smoke cigarettes. I don't encourage others from smoking cigarettes, but I just feel that during this time of poor economy, we should be working with the private sector as opposed to mandating them as this bill does.

"Thank you."

Senator Chun Oakland rose in response as follows:

"Mr. President, in response to the Senator from Mililani/Waipahu/Crestview's comments, the bill actually allows for the employer to make that accommodation. It does not mandate them to accommodate the smokers, but they are allowed to do that.

"Thank you."

Senator Iwase then rose and said:

"Mr. President, I thank the previous speaker for her comments. That is true -- it says that it doesn't have to provide a smoke place. But in the scenario proposed or opposed by the Senator from Moanalua, where you have three people all of whom smoke, if one of them wants to smoke, you've got to go find a place so that they can smoke. Send them outside, I guess. They can't build another add-on to an office in a small building, but you'd have to go and create or find a designated area someplace -- separate, I assume, from where the people are working.

"And again, understand whom we are affecting -- the small companies that are overburdened today when the present law provides, I think, a good balance. It dealt with the big companies, or medium-sized companies, or more than two people, and perhaps those companies -- I'm making a big assumption -- but perhaps those companies have some financial wherewithal to provide these designated areas, whereas a company with two or less employees probably cannot. And you're going to have, like I said, you're really asking them to have a 50 percent reduction in workforce for 10 minutes at a time so that someone can go outside and smoke. And I don't think that's something we should be doing.

"Thank you."

Senator Bunda requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 1231, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO SMOKING IN THE WORKPLACE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 18. Noes, 6 (Anderson, Buen, M. Ige, Iwase, Sakamoto, Slom). Excused, 1 (Tanaka).

S.B. No. 792, S.D. 3:

By unanimous consent, S.B. No. 792, S.D. 3, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO REGULATORY PROCESSES," was recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Senator Anderson rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, I'm sure all of our colleagues saw the headlines yesterday about the Governor -- 'Cayetano: It's time for a change.' And the bold banners that he had there, I couldn't agree more, but it's taken him a long time to get around to realizing that we have to do something. He served for eight years as lieutenant governor and four years as governor. Prior to that, he spent his life in either the House or the Senate. And every time we mentioned any kinds of change or reforms, he was opposed to it. He had his own way of doing things. And I don't think that we're not to blame, either, because the second branch of government is us. And I think we're just as guilty for failing to take the bold and decisive action that we should have to avoid the crisis that we're now in.

"The tocsin is ringing and we ignored the warning about our peril. It is not too late, even now, to save this session from sinking into the sea of ignominious and fatal failure.

"You know, what we have done in this legislative branch is decided that we're not going to take action. We sit around and we discuss what should be done. We know what should be done and we do nothing. I have here that the Democrats have dilly-dallied for the last decade and our people are paying a high price for what has proved to be deadly delay.

"At this half-way point, we have hundreds, hundreds of bills, my colleagues. We can make corrections. We can do the things that we promised. It's not too late. We've played games like we did today by making amendments, changing our rules. And why did we do that? Because we made rules that said we're going to have a majority or we're going to have at least a group of us in any one committee before we can vote. And even when we have the numbers, let's defer this; we'll do it a little later. But we did that, so I just don't blame the Ways and Means Committee. I blame each one of the chairmen who has held bills back, delayed them, and then when they're pushed through in Ways and Means, they blame the staff because the staff couldn't go ahead and do their job properly. And when we're delayed to get on this floor because the printshop couldn't get everything out, you blame the printshop. But let's look within. Let's blame who is really at fault. It's us! We're the ones at fault.

"I don't go to certain meetings because I think it's a shame that they sit there and pass everything. They don't look at it and say, hey, this really is a good bill, but it's going to cost too much money; we can't afford it.

"The Governor talks about civil service reform. I said we should have had collective bargaining, whereby, if the unions are going to do something, they can take care of retirement and medical, but we can no longer afford the across-the-board raises for everybody. And then what happens? We passed this bill this morning on education and it doesn't do anything because of those attorneys and everybody else. As I said earlier, the principals are not backing the teachers, so how can you go ahead and expect the teachers to say, 'You're absolutely right, Whitney. Merit pay is what we should have,' because they don't trust the system. The system isn't working the way it should. People who are working hard are not going to be able to get the merit pay that they should. And people who are laying on the brooms and sitting on their butts are not going to be able to do anything but collect because of the hard work that others are doing.

"I really feel that it's a shame that we haven't moved on a lot of issues that we should have. The Governor says here that he had a surplus, but he also has expenses. Well, that may be true.

He says that the taxes, now, that he gave, the income tax is the reason that we are low in collections. That's not true. I haven't even received my taxes back yet.

"We're not passing the tax that is the most hard on everybody -- it's regressive -- and that's the 4 percent on food and drugs. I've said it over and over. We don't pass that. And in one year's time we'll be able to tell everybody I think we have to raise your taxes or we might be able to say, let's remove it from other things because I think it will stimulate this economy.

"And I apologize for not being able to read because reading isn't what really makes us do the job that we should. It's voting, knowing what we're voting on, pushing to make sure that we make the changes that we promised everybody. So, I do thank you for listening again.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

At 12:47 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:50 o'clock p.m.

ADJOURNMENT

At 12:51 o'clock p.m., on motion by Senator Chun, seconded by Senator Slom and carried, the Senate adjourned until 11:30 o'clock a.m., Friday, March 12, 1999.

Senator Anderson rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I stand on a point of personal privilege.

"At 5:30 this morning, I was reading the newspaper and my eye caught the editorial. I don't know if all of my colleagues had a chance to read it.

"Evidently, they believe that we should be making some changes. The thing that really struck me is that the Speaker of the House, Representative Calvin Say, talked to the Chamber of Commerce and he said it's hard to make changes because the legislature or government is like a huge ship. It takes a while to turn. That only happens if you have somebody at the helm who's strong enough. And let me tell you, we have been for 40 years on the same course and we don't have anybody at the helm that's willing to make changes.

"In fact, I read in the Pacific Business News and what we're looking at is they're already talking about the year 2002 on who the hell's gonna be governor, and who's not going to be governor. We just got over that, and they're talking about who's going to be the next governor.

"Well let me tell you, since Governor Burns, I've served with Governor Ariyoshi, who did one heck of a good job. He was probably a lot more prudent and a lot more conservative than I would have ever been. He left us almost a half-a-billion dollars, but with every facility that needed repairs, roads that needed maintenance. And then we had the next governor, Governor John Waihee -- good local boy, a cousin. We spent every dime we had and we left all of the buildings and the roads still in disrepair. Now we have a new governor and he's going to build more. And every department, when they cut the budget, they do away with the maintenance.

"If the people, the editors, can see that we need to turn that boat, we need somebody at the helm that's going to really turn that rudder a little bit. I don't see why we can't -- because we're the crew. And what do we do if somebody says we need this bill? -- maybe later, not now, things will be better. That's why I said the other day when I talked to the Republicans, I said they have been treading water. They don't know how to swim to shore because that boat is sinking.

"But I think that this editorial should be read by everybody, because as a crew, we're not doing our job, my fellow colleagues. We're failing. And the public sees it and everybody on the higher echelon is worrying about the year 2002. I'm worrying about tomorrow.

"And I did say we have lots of bills. We're half-way through. There are broad titles. There are amendments to make. There are changes we can do. We don't have to let this course go straight ahead like we've been doing. And I believe that the editors are absolutely correct. We need to get that to be changed a little bit.

"Thank you very much for listening to me."

At this time, Senator Ihara, on behalf of the Senate, extended happy birthday wishes to Senator Chumbley.

Senator Anderson rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, I'd like to say that yesterday morning (since I am an early riser) at about 5:30 I saw the newspaper and it said, 'Bid to oust leaders falls short in Senate,' and a picture of our colleague, Senator Hanabusa. It more or less said that some people were upset and they called them 'dissidents.' Being upset that I was, I looked up the word 'dissident' in my encyclopedia dictionary, and it said, 'More likely it would come from a citizen who is upset with a one-party state.' And I think we have that. Then I looked it up in the Webster's dictionary and that said, 'one who disagrees.' I don't think that's a bad thing to say -- that we disagree.

"What bothered me again is that on KCCN, Mr. Bob Jones stated that the overthrow was to get rid of the President of the Senate. And that's far from the truth, Mr. President. I signed that particular bill or letter that went around, and it wasn't with any animosity against anyone.

"I've been saying for years that I think that we're doing a poor job. We get a lot of openness that we're having here. I remember years back when I was in the House, we wanted to get away from the back door or closed meetings, and we wanted a sunshine law. We invited the community in. Not one person would say a bloody word. And as soon as the community left, they said 'I don't like the bill.' So the chairman was stuck with holding it and taking the flack for that.

"In 1992 I had a bill enabling legislation for a lottery for the counties because the Mayor at that time was looking at mass transit that we couldn't afford. Also, he was going to allow a half percent, or we were going to allow a half percent on the gross income. Well, the bill died and I decided to run for mayor. I could have run for the House and probably won -- I'm not sure.

"When I got appointed by the Governor for the Senate, I found out that a lot of this openness came to the Senate. We now vote in public, which sounds great to the public, but it's only those people that come here either from the departments or a particular group of special interest -- whatever special interest they might have -- that is really concerned. And what do we do? We need a quorum in which to pass a bill. And the reason we did this, my understanding is that the chairman used to have too much power. So now we have this voting in public. We used to circulate a bill like this, even if two people were in that committee. The staff could go ahead and write up a bill and we had, the same as we do now, where we can vote for, with reservations, or against. I think that's fair. I don't see that it's taken away any power from any chairman because even when we have a quorum, we defer. And that's bad.

"We talked about the Majority party wanting to help the economy. Well, we haven't passed anything to help the economy and that's why I think the freshmen, they're not young people, they're people who made promises to their constituents that we'd move forward -- and we haven't. And I think that's what they were looking at.

"We have, or I have, stood on this floor many times as you may have remembered. I said we have a referendum that was never used since 1939. I've put in all kinds of bills for gambling and so did other people. It's not your right to say that you don't want it, or your mother, or your grandmother, or you, personally, because of your church. You represent the people. And a referendum allows them to vote and it's only an advisory referendum, but it would certainly help the economy.

"Then I read, 'Union, no cuts, no way for TV.' And that's on Baywatch. And that upset me yesterday. I think they should be able to come up to a good compromise because the economy is down. And if you remember, years ago the unions were very proud. They said, 'We have the highest paid plantation workers in the world.' Today, my colleagues, we have the highest paid unemployed workers in the world, and we're in trouble.

"We sit here and we sort of smile and pass things, and it never really happens. I read the paper. 'Hawaiians are getting everything. Why should we pay for their tuition up at the University?' I said those who can pay should pay. There's a safety net for those who could not afford it, but if they pass everything, the Hawaiians should have first preference to go to the University.

"Yesterday, we got another report on Hawaiian Homes. They're still not getting the payments on their water -- haven't for years. The Department of Land and Natural Resources and Hawaiian Homes aren't at fault. OHA -- we wrote them under the same bills that the federal government did. Only those of 50 percent or more can be taken care of. So those people who write to the newspapers and say those Hawaiians have so much, they forget it's a very small group that we can help. And even those are not getting it because the ceded lands are not really getting any revenue. They're all in court. Hawaiian Homes has very little money. They can't do the infrastructure.

"And everybody sits here and they say we've got to make changes. This morning in Ways and Means, we had this bill that we just passed, 'A Bill for an Act Making an Emergency Appropriation for Child and Adolescent Mental Health Division.' Every year -- emergency funds for the Department of Health -- millions and millions of dollars. They're poorly administrated. And that's what the report said. It didn't say not to give them; that they couldn't get the money; or that we shouldn't take care of these people. It talks about the administration and what's not happening. Year after year we get a report. That's our auditor. We talked about it. We passed bills. Then we do nothing -- absolutely nothing -- just like we've done with Hawaiian Homes, because I get these every year and have since 1978.

"That's the frustrating part, Mr. President. I want you to know that as far as I'm concerned, with everything that I've read about dissidents and the openness that we have here -- we have, I guess, the internet that's open to the public -- but they don't tell you that when you go in that closed door in the back there and you have all the fights in the world about how you like a bill or hate it. It doesn't come out on this floor; very little discussion is out on this floor. Senator Slom and I don't mind. That's why I don't mind signing a bill. I don't have to vote in public. I'll certainly go ahead and express myself on this floor.

"I think that we're doing a disservice, and I would hope that each one of you, if you believe in what you said on opening day that you want to help the economy, you want to move forward. We have all kinds of bills. I'm not saying to pass Whitney Anderson's bills or Senator Slom's bills, or that particular person's bills. I'm saying there are broad titles; there are good bills that we can use. And if you're dissatisfied with a particular measure, there is a referendum that you can use. It's only an advisory referendum. Put it in a particular bill; move it along. Don't worry about your next election because that's what's happening. As soon as you get elected, you worry about the next.

"Thank you for listening, Mr. President."
