"We shouldn't even be having this long a debate and we shouldn't even be talking about a close vote for someone who is so eminently qualified and who is so strongly supported throughout this State. As has been mentioned, it is also, I think, a realization that this Governor has broken with many outmoded traditions in absolutely searching out and appointing the best possible individuals for various jobs regardless of any political affiliation.

"I know that many of my colleagues sitting in this room right now a year ago were stunned when the Governor picked Mr. Duffy to the State Supreme Court. And she did so without equivocation because she felt he was the most qualified. That same Governor who made that decision that everyone liked here has made the same decision with Mr. Hong. Is he experienced? No question. Is he qualified? No question.

"By the way, the last speaker, just to correct her – I know she's young so she probably doesn't remember – when she made the statement that we always have relied on the Hawaii State Bar Association, unfortunately, that's not true. Twelve years ago the Hawaii State Bar Association made a recommendation of non-approval of a judicial candidate. The Senate at that time decided that she in fact was qualified. They took into consideration many other factors. She was confirmed by this Senate and two years ago she was re-appointed for another 10 years, demonstrating the wisdom of the overwhelming amount of evidence and personal commitment in testimony.

"Much has been said about the people that came on their own dime from Hilo to come and testify in behalf of Ted Hong. He had to have been humbled. It was quite a sight. As the Judiciary Chairman said, there were all kinds of people there that for all kinds of reasons one might assume would have been in opposition to Mr. Hong if it were based on politics or past decisions or maybe even a political grudge, but they all testified in support. The individuals and the attorneys and members of Hawaiian groups that came, again, on their own time, on their own money to testify in support of this man, have got to be given more emphasis and more support than a few people's concerns and questions and fears.

"I thought the only thing we had to fear was fear itself. I think some of my colleagues have fear of change, and fear of improvement, and fear of doing things differently, including not picking the same people and not looking at political party, because all I've heard are concerns. And while concerns are reasonable and everyone had an ample opportunity to speak, those concerns do not rise to the level of disqualifying someone who epitomizes community service and a search for justice.

"Is this man disrespectful? No! Is he rude? No! Is he non-accessible? No! Are there people that do not like decisions that he made previously? Yes! And as was said previously by the Minority Floor Leader, many of us in this room, if it were on a basis of a lovefest or doing something that everyone approved of, would be hard-pressed to be here. But that's not what it's about.

"Just like a good judge is not a meek judge, just like a good judge is not determined by the amount of salary or compensation he or she gets, we want someone that understands justice. We want someone that understands different positions in life. We want someone that has different experience, but we also want someone that the people, the people, have urged us to accept overwhelmingly. It seems that sometimes we take these people for granted. They're smart enough to vote for us or give us money, but they're not smart enough to make other decisions including choices of schools or choices of judges.

"The people in the third circuit need a judge. There's no question about that. There's a horrendous back-load of cases. And there is no doubt that they have come forward in strong numbers very passionately and very emotionally – they want this man, Ted Hong, as their judge. And why should they not? He has every qualification that everyone would want and expect.

"And of all the concerns that have been raised . . . and by the way, during that whole nine hours there was nothing new that was brought up. There was nothing new that had not been written about, including the man whose airfare was paid for to come over here to testify against Mr. Hong. He had been very prominently displayed in the paper and his views are important and they should be taken into consideration. And free speech is very important as well, and that's what was demonstrated the other day. But to say, because a couple of shrill voices do not like Mr. Hong because of decisions, because of past political involvement, or because of something else that he doesn't know about, we don't know about, that are grounds enough to disqualify him.

"One more distinction, a year ago we debated the confirmation of two of the Governor's hearings and what a stark contrast. We had hearings that were held that were not open; they were not detailed. We heard about vague charges, vague rumors, e-mails, telephone calls, and all of that. This time, it all hung out. Everybody had an ample opportunity, more than an ample opportunity, to communicate what their concerns were. And I say again, those concerns do not rise to impeach the quality, experience, ability, or judgement of Ted Hong.

"Someone earlier brought up the fact that he apologized during the hearing. You know, it's really amazing, if somebody doesn't apologize, they say you're too arrogant and you haven't done it. Then somebody apologizes and they say well, he apologized too much and he may apologize later on as a judge. Let's remember what he apologized for. The nominee said, 'if, unknown to me, I was rude to anyone, I hurt anyone, someone took something that I said in a different manner from me, then I apologize to them because that was not my intention.' That's the kind of person that we want – someone who is humble and yet who can be strong.

"That, Mr. President, is who we have in Ted Hong. He is the best. He is the brightest. He is dedicated. The people want him in their area. He will be an excellent judge. And we must confirm him today.

"Thank you very much."

Senator Hooser rose in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the nomination. I just have some brief comments, Mr. President.

"Up until a short time ago, just a few days ago actually, I was reluctantly supportive of the nomination. I say reluctantly because prior nominations or prior appointments we've had have been relatively smooth sailing, relatively peaceful, relatively uncontroversial. And I can sense a rising tide of contention. I could sense that there was a problem with this nomination, but at that point, even though I sensed the problem, I was reluctantly supportive.

"In thinking about the position that we're talking about here, it's a judge – it's control over people's lives; it's a ten year appointment – and I don't think that I want to be reluctantly supportive or vote with reservations. I want to be clearly and unquestionably supportive for me to make that decision. But I was basically reluctantly supportive, and then came the Hawaii State Bar Association decision and my decision point shifted dramatically.

"And then I watched the hearing, and my hats are off also to the Judiciary Chairwoman and the members. Like most of us here today, I watched almost the entire meeting on television in my office along with my staff. It's clear, it's really clear that lots of people love and respect Ted Hong. There's no question about that, and my hats are off to his friends and family for coming out and supporting him. But just like when we make our decisions on legislative issues, it's not how many people show up in support. That's an important aspect of the testimony but that's not what we base our decision on normally, completely. It's not a popularity contest when we're making decisions, and the people have selected us, voted for us, and given us the power of advise and consent because they want us to make those decisions.

"Again, this is a ten-year appointment. The successful nomination controls people's lives. There's important decisions. And when the Hawaii State Bar Association, the Hawaii State Bar Association, which was founded in 1899, and in November of 1989 the Hawaii Supreme Court conferred upon the Hawaii State Bar Association the power and responsibility to aid the court in regulating, maintaining, and improving the legal profession. The mission of the Hawaii State Bar Association is to unite and inspire Hawaii's lawyers, to promote justice, serve the public, and improve the legal profession. I take great stock in the opinions and the decisions made by the Hawaii State Bar Association. This is a group of attorneys who are selected to serve in these positions of leadership. These are not casual positions. These are not people who are untrained in the legal profession. These are not people who are not familiar with the judicial process. These are people of exceptionally high caliber; are people that serve in this profession on a regular basis. I'm not an attorney, but I have great respect for the training and for the positions which the people in the Hawaii State Bar Association hold.

"Regardless of how many e-mails came in and regardless of what was said or discussed, I can imagine 13 people in a room or 13 people having a discussion and coming to these conclusions. And even I don't know . . . I know one member casually, but I don't know the other 12 people, but I can imagine with their training and with the type of people they must be, the men and women, that they don't take these decisions lightly. They recognize the gravity of their decisions; they recognize the importance; they recognize the impact of saying that someone is unqualified to serve as a judge. That cannot be an easy decision to make, just as it's not an easy decision for me to stand here today and speak in opposition to the nomination. But to have seven members – leaders in the Hawaii State Bar Association – state clearly that the nominee is unqualified to serve as a judge is just too much for me to get past, to come back around, to be able to support the nomination.

“So, I am unable to cross the bridge and discount the conclusions of the Hawaii State Bar Association, and so I will be unable to support the nomination.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Ihara rose to speak in opposition to the nominee and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to Gov. Msg. No. 152.

“Mr. President, I understand that by my not consenting to this nomination, I am probably causing much hurt and disappointment for the nominee, his family, friends and supporters . . . and I apologize for that. But I am honor bound to fulfill my constitutional duty to pass judgment on this nomination.

“From media reports, I had expected some controversy on this nomination, so I contacted people wanting to speak with me on the nomination. I sought out documents on negative claims to eliminate or to consider their validity – and sent copies of these documents to the nominee himself. As the Judiciary Chair mentioned, I had sought out and was able to have the Judicial Selection Commission chair and vice chair attend the hearing to explain their process, and I was determined to get clear on as many of the facts as possible.

“I found many people unwilling to comment in public because of what they termed a ‘fear of retaliation.’ That’s not my term; that’s their term. I said to nearly every person that I wanted ‘on the record’ comments because I did not want to use confidential comments as the basis of my decision. I was only partially successful, and I have in the end decided to consider confidential information to the extent that I believe in their veracity.

“Given all the information available to me, including confidential sources – primary of which is the existence of 28 negative comments submitted to the Bar Association – I have decided not to consent to the nomination to Ted Hong for third circuit court judge.

“I have heard the forceful complaints and admonitions against the Bar’s evaluation process of the nominee. I agree that there should be a better method to ensure that no fraud is perpetrated by Bar members, because I’m not certain that Bar staff does this kind of a review when they look at the comments and redact identifying information. With steps to check for possible fraud, I believe that confidentiality of the identity of those submitting comments outweighs the need for board members to know the identity of their colleagues, all of whom are members of their own association.

“Given the Bar’s current process of evaluating judicial nominees, I do concede the possibility of an organized effort to submit inauthentic negative comments, maybe even from a single large Honolulu law firm as has been noted by an attorney in Hilo, a supporter of the nominee. In light of these concerns about the process, it is the board’s responsibility to decide how much weight to give to these comments, these negative comments, and then make their own judgment on how to rate the nominee.

“The Bar president said in testimony that the board did seriously consider the comments and, after deliberation and casting secret ballots, they did determine that the nominee’s rating was ‘not qualified.’

“I do not believe the Bar’s evaluation process has fatal flaws. It probably could be improved . . . and I believe their evaluation provides important information that deserves consideration by Senators in our own decision-making process.

“The Hawaii State Bar Association is the professional group for attorneys and they alone elect their board of directors. Their board decides the procedures for evaluating judicial nominees, including the process of redacting the identities of attorneys who submit comments, and the board knew full well that the nominee was reviewed and deemed qualified by the State Judicial Selection Commission to serve as a circuit court judge. The board also understood the impact their evaluation might have on the nominee’s confirmation, as was seen today. I accept that the board of the Hawaii Bar did their best to provide an honest evaluation of the nominee’s qualifications.

“After all the harsh words said against the Bar’s procedures, after all of that is said and done, there still remains on the table 28 negative comments from individual and separate attorneys of the bar. Apparently, these attorneys believed that their concerns were of such significance that they believed the nominee was not qualified to serve as a judge.

“In addition to the 28 attorneys who submitted confidential negative comments, there were more than a dozen non-attorneys that I would consider credible – this is after discounting persons not in a position to have first-hand comments and those who made comments purely on what could be political motives. After further discounting people who might have insincere motives, it appears to me that there are a few dozen people who might have a real basis for believing, erroneously or not, that the nominee should not be a judge.

“It also appears that most of the negative concerns relate to the nominee’s judicial temperance. The nominee has acknowledged that he has ‘crossed the line’ in dealing with people in his professional career, but does not believe that this is a pattern. He has also acknowledged not being aware of offending others in the past, but would apologize to these persons if they informed him of such offenses. At the hearing we discussed this ‘blind spot,’ the size of which I do not know; it is perhaps not even known to the nominee.

“This inability of being aware when other people – from the other person’s point of view – when they feel wronged, offended, or mistreated, it raises the question about whether the nominee can eliminate his ‘blind spot’ while serving as a judge.

“I can’t really know for certain if the nominee has a pattern of offensive behavior in certain types of circumstances, including those intense adversarial situations. It does appear that there have been incidents in the nominee’s past involving people who apparently felt wronged and they are unwilling to forgive the nominee. I can only make a judgment based on what I know, which to me includes a few dozen persons in the community who believe the nominee is not qualified to serve as a judge.

“And if there is a pattern of, for example, disrespecting adversaries, can the nominee stop this pattern by personal commitment or perhaps by becoming a neutral judge rather than a zealous advocate that he is known to be? On this I am not certain either, but I believe that a judge should epitomize, embody, and foster the community value of respect among combatants in the legal arena. I believe that winning, ambition, and pride should not be of greater value than respecting other human beings, whether an adversary or not.

“In the larger scheme of things, which might be hard to see at this moment, I believe that what’s at stake here is our community value of respect, not simply whether a certain person should become a judge.

“Mr. President, I intend no disrespect to the nominee when I cast my ‘no’ vote for his confirmation. I honor Mr. Ted Hong, his family, and his supporters – and I wish him the best no matter what the outcome of this vote is.

“I wanted to . . . I jotted down some notes after I heard some of the other speakers and I wanted to quote a couple pieces from testimony and give my comment. This is a gentleman from Hilo and he says, ‘I support the confirmation of Ted Hong. I also believe Mr. Hong has common sense. This is an essential quality that a judge must have. I understand that there has been opposition because of Mr. Hong’s temper. I attended law school and studied with Mr. Hong and I have seen his temper. However, I believe Mr. Hong, if appointed, is the type of person to recognize that he has a temper and he will be able to control it.’ And if the nominee is confirmed, we’re all going to count on it.

“I have the American Bar Association guidelines on judicial temperament. This is a quality that one does not gain if the nominee becomes a judge. Judicial temperament is a quality that the nominee must already possess before becoming a judge. It says here, candidates should possess a judicial temperament which includes compassion – I won’t read the whole list but I’ll just pick some of the . . . I won’t read the big words – humility, open-mindedness, patience, tact, understanding. ‘Judicial temperament is universally regarded as a valid and important criterion in the evaluation of a candidate. There are several indicia of judicial temperament which, while premised upon subjective judgement, are sufficiently understood by lawyers and non-lawyers alike to afford workable guidelines for the evaluator.’ It also mentions a few qualities like even-tempered, yet firm, forbearance under provocation. And ‘factors which indicate a lack of judicial temperament are also identifiable and understandable.’ I’m still quoting, ‘Judicial temperament thus implies and absence of arrogance, impatience, pomposity (that’s the biggest word I’ll use), arbitrariness or tyranny. Its absence can be fairly ascertained.’

“This is an e-mail I got from someone who is close to the nominee. I won’t say who. It says, ‘with respect to questions about Ted’s blind spot, he acknowledged that he needed to work on his sensitivity regarding others’ perceptions of him. Since perception is that particular person’s reality, I am afraid to say that sensitivity to others is not something taught or even encouraged in law school’ (they should; that was my comment; continuing) ‘or in litigation practice, but it certainly is something we can all learn,’ end quote. I believe one should learn this sensitivity to others before becoming a judge.

“I want to also note a few corrections for the record, and it’s my version of the corrections. One is that the secret ballot that was used and proposed by the Bar Association president was agreed to by all the members present. No one objected to that. The Bar Association has never rated a judicial nominee not qualified. A dozen years ago, it wasn’t a rating. It was support or not support a nominee. It was not, is a person qualified or not. It happens that the following year the Bar changed its system to, instead of support or not support, to evaluate the qualifications of the nominee whether it was highly qualified, qualified, or not qualified.

“I also want to note that no Bar in the land, not even the American Bar Association, informs the nominees of the identities of persons submitting comments. What is revealed, oftentimes, is the identity of the commenter to the persons making the recommendation, but not to the nominee, him or herself. The 56 responses – 28 for, 28 against – were not votes. The Big Island Bar voted. They sent out an e-mail and said e-mail us back – vote qualified, highly qualified, or not qualified.

The State Bar did not do that. The State Bar was soliciting comments from persons who would be in a position to comment on the qualification of the nominee, and they were to submit comments. So, you don’t just respond and get everyone to respond and say yes, yes, yes or no, no, no. You respond with comments.

“As I mentioned earlier, 28 of those attorneys, members of the Bar believe that their comments, their concerns were sufficiently great enough to believe that their colleague was not qualified to serve on the bench.

“I had asked the Bar president at the hearing to indicate among the 28 comments, the negative comments, whether they referred to what the nominee has said or done that raised their concerns, or was it how and the way the nominee had conducted himself. This is a question some testifiers and some people have said . . . people were concerned and were opposed because of what he said and they disagreed with what he said and were therefore, I guess the theory goes, wanted to I guess disapprove to the point of not having him be a judge. But the Bar president, in the hearing, said that the responses had a common theme. He said the common theme of the concerns was judicial temperament. He said, I think four or five mentioned arrogance. But the theme was his manner of behavior.

“So basically, that is kind of the summary of my struggle. It’s been a struggle, and it hasn’t been easy, and it hurts to do this. But we are bound by the Constitution to cast a vote one way or the other.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Baker rises in opposition to the nomination as follows:

“Mr. President, I, too, rise in opposition to the confirmation of this nomination.

“This has not been an easy conclusion for me to reach, nor, as the good Senator before me has indicated, has it been an easy conclusion for many of my colleagues, I suspect. There are people whose opinions that I value and respect on both sides of this confirmation. I’ve met twice with the nominee. I’ve read much of the testimony. I’ve heard from people from Maui, from the Big Island, from Oahu. I’ve heard concerns and I’ve heard support.

“Although now the Hawaii State Bar Association’s recommendation is being dismissed as the product of a flawed process, we’ve always taken their recommendation to heart. And so the fact that this nominee was deemed unqualified to serve troubles me and give me great pause.

“Mr. President, this is not a matter on which I can vote with reservations, knowing that any flaws can be fixed in Conference. This is the nomination for a Circuit Court judge for a 10-year term, and I simply cannot dismiss nor resolve the reservations that remain about the qualities of this nominee. Therefore, Mr. President, when the vote comes, I will be voting ‘no.’”

Senator Trimble rose to support the nomination and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in support Ted Hong.

“I want to share with you how I reached my conclusion to support. I do respect the Senator from Kaimuki. This may be the first time that I rose to disagree with the conclusion that he reached.

"The first thing, or one of the things that we are talking about today is the ability to wear another hat. If I look back at myself, I don't think you could have asked one friend that knew me five years ago whether they thought that I would be standing here today. People rise to the situation. When they are given a different set of responsibilities, they act differently. So, I believe that Ted Hong can be an impartial, sensitive, caring judge.

"The second thing that we've spent a great deal of time talking about is the Hawaii Bar Association Committee. After I read their decision in the newspaper, I started calling attorneys. Most of the attorneys that I know worked for previous administrations. I talked at length to three people. All three of them said the Ted Hong had a great mind, a great understanding of the law. Two of them were very troubled at the Hawaii Bar Association's process. But all three of them said to me that it was my . . . suggested to me not only did they believe in his capabilities, but if I also believed in Ted Hong, that I will be doing the right thing by ignoring the Hawaii Bar Association. And that is what I'm choosing to do.

"The third thing is – and I don't know what you do when a potential appointee comes to your office – I don't talk about the law. We talked about economic development. We talked about vehicular ferries. What impressed me about Ted Hong was his ability to listen and to respond in a manner that showed he understood exactly what we were talking about. When I look for a judge, I want somebody that has experienced life. I want somebody that knows something beyond the law, in the community that he's living in.

"The last thing that impressed me about this person was his desire to do the very best that he could. This is what I look for when I consider somebody for the bench.

"For these four reasons, I am supporting Ted Hong. Thank you."

Senator Whalen rose to speak in support and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the confirmation.

"First of all, I had no idea that the good Senator from Kauai gave such great deference to my opinion, at least on legal matters, quoting from his speech. Obviously, levity didn't go very well there, but oh well. If you remember what he said, you'll get the joke.

"Getting back to something that our colleague, the Chair of the Judiciary, mentioned, Justice Padgett certainly had a wonderful reputation as a very clear thinker. I think he has the record as being the most productive justice we've ever had on the bench. He did the work of two or three justices in authoring the opinions and turning out the work. The Judiciary Chair is very kind in her description. I'll be a little more blunt. To call him gruff would be the very smallest comment you could make . . . very astute mind, very intelligent, every attorney had the greatest respect for him. But especially as a new attorney – he was there right when I got licensed – the last thing you want to do is have him judge the moot court or go before him and have to argue something. That was a horror because the man said exactly what was on his mind. He didn't sugarcoat it. But in no way at all did it reflect on his ability as a judge. He didn't go out there to hurt your feelings or to be cruel to you. But if you said something stupid, he'd call you on it and point it out to you and whoever else was listening that you did something dumb, because he didn't have time to fool around.

"Getting back to this issue of whether or not we confirm Mr. Hong. Basically, all of the argument that I've heard so far up to this point is that the State Bar found him unqualified and based basically on the lack of judicial temperament. I'd just like to emphasize again for my colleagues here that the Big Island Bar, which knows him best of all on a personal first-hand level, overwhelmingly approved him as being qualified. So there's a little bit of interest there in the fact that the State Bar could come back with a negative and the people who know him best, the same attorneys who they're supposedly listening to, say that, overwhelmingly, he is qualified to do the job.

"And also, for the record, if we were using the State Bar's method of determining whether or not he'd be qualified, you have two Big Island Senators who have no qualms about supporting him. So, based on their analysis, he'd have the recommendation.

"Getting back to the issue, though, I've done a fair share of litigation in my time in a courtroom. The very last thing my client wants me to do is walk into a courtroom and say, now, we're going to try our best, but if they've got some good points, I'm just going to lay down and let them win that point. As an advocate for somebody, a client – whether it's the mayor of a county, a client that you're paying for, or both of us with the same experience as being deputy prosecutors, representing the state but whatever crimes were committed against the victim – you go in there with the goal on your mind of making sure justice is done but representing your client with every ounce of ability and zealotry that you have within you. And at times, you do tick off the other side, but as the Chair of Judiciary said, as long as you can leave the courtroom and leave that behind and talk to your opponent on the other side, have a relationship in terms of being friendly, you've done your job. You've done it very well.

"All the testimony that I've read and the e-mails that I've received from back home on the Big Island says that Ted Hong is just that type of person. He stepped on some toes because he takes his job very seriously and does his best to represent his client to his absolute best ability. And as a judge, is that what you want? Certainly not. And that's not . . . to make the comparison that as a litigator being very sided and advocating for your cause with everything within you, almost to the point where people think you're blind to something else, there's no way a reflection on someone's ability to be objective when they need to be if there are different roles that they play. In fact, Mr. Hong, I think, exemplifies in his own career this very attribute that we've been discussing. As an attorney, as a deputy prosecutor he did that. When he was corporate counsel he played that role. As the negotiator for the Governor, he's done that role very well. He has had to play different roles at different times and he's done a very good job at each and every one of them. I think that proves that he can very easily slide into the role as a judge and as being experienced and unbiased and give someone a fair hearing.

"Just one more point. Someone keeps mentioning . . . I keep hearing the constitution, our constitutional duty and our constitutional responsibility to cast votes, etc. I want to remind everyone that we are the ones, in essence, who are the judge right now. We are the ones who are going to cast a vote. We have a responsibility to do it, but our responsibility is to make the best decision on all the information in front of us.

"The testimony in opposition to Mr. Hong relies primarily, almost exclusively – except for some anonymous e-mails that have been referred to around here – about the State Bar's disapproval of him or unqualified finding. That is there only to assist us, Mr. President. It's not there to decide for us, otherwise we should just send this function right here over to the State Bar and let them do it. When I hear people say, 'I could have supported him' or 'I wasn't really sure, but when I saw the State Bar, that's what we have to do because they know him best,' no, no, it's our decision. It's our call. We make the decision based on all the information that's in front of us, and all the information that I have seen says he's very experienced, very knowledgeable, very decisive. He's a hard worker and will do what he needs to do to get the job done, and if the job is being a judge and ruling in that manner, then that is what he will do and that's what we should rely on. The fact that some people aren't happy with him, that's life.

"I will leave on just one note. I saved this until the end because I didn't want to offend anybody, but I've been in court a lot, like some of the attorneys around here, and there are judges that have been confirmed by this Senate who I, in my experience, didn't feel they should be there – very explosive, very unfamiliar with the law, didn't want to take the time to get knowledgeable with it, and they were confirmed. I'm not saying that the Senate blew it, or whatever else, but obviously, the State Bar gave them the thumbs up. And in personal practice on repeated appearances in front some of these judges, they did not belong on the bench. Does that mean that we made a mistake? Does it mean the State Bar made a mistake? Who can really say? The think is, you just can't take the State Bar Association's recommendation and run with it and say this is why I did it. Because if you do that, you're sticking your head in the sand and you're not fulfilling your constitutional duty to weigh all the factors and make the decision based on all the information in front of us.

"Not to be repetitive, which I am, but I just want to remind you that if that is your standard, the attorneys that know him most of all, the Big Island Bar, overwhelmingly said he is absolutely qualified to do this job.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator English rose to speak in support of the nominee as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the nomination.

"Mr. President, colleagues, during our hearing I asked Mr. Hong one question, and the question was this: How will you embody wisdom and compassion from the bench? It may seem like an esoteric question, but it's really a fundamental one because that's what we're dealing with. We're dealing with how someone will take all of the facts, all of the information, process that and then come to something that has compassion, embodies wisdom, and something that will equal justice.

"The question was merely rhetorical at the end of that hearing, because throughout the entire hearing, what I observed – and I observed this very keenly – was all sorts of things coming forward and ideas, all sorts of accusations and praise, and I observed how Mr. Hong absorbed this and processed this. And I saw him thinking, and I saw him considering and weighing and hearing some of the things, and being enlightened to some things that he may not have known.

"You know, members, I believe that life is a series of transitions and it's how we handle those transitions that demarcate those times for us.

"This reminds me of my own appointment to the Maui County Council, a very contentious, to say the least, process in Maui. So contentious, in fact, that the Charter was changed after my appointment to the Maui County Council. So I know how Mr. Ted Hong feels when accusations come forward, half-truths, innuendo, outright attacks and lies. I always remember the chance that those members of the Maui County Council that voted for me at that time, the chance that they gave me, because I believe they saw the potential to grow and the potential to change. These are the same qualities I see in Mr. Hong – his ability to grow and to transition into a fine judge for the third circuit.

"I also received some other calls. I'm sure all of us have . . . calls and e-mails. In fact, we've been bombarded by them, but one particular call, members, from someone out of the loop, out of the circuit, an average citizen, not a political figure or anything like this, someone called and said, 'you know, I was on the opposing end of a case that Mr. Hong represented to the county, at the time, on the Big Island, and I lost a substantial sum of money in this particular interaction. But I can tell you,' and these are the words that she used, 'I can tell you that he is an honorable man, that even though I did not prevail in this case, I can tell you that he is honorable.' That stuck with me, because if she had won the case and called and said well, yes, we won and he was honorable, I would say alright. But to have lost a case and say that the opposing counsel was honorable, which means that she left the courtroom, I'm sure, upset, I'm sure, devastated, but at the same time, being able to come away with her own dignity and self-respect and respecting the opposing side because of the respect that the opposing counsel showed her, that is seminal for me.

"I started weighing all of the information that we had before us and my own conclusion was that he is well qualified to be a judge, because the things that we talked about and the things that came up were a part of his job as a litigator. And being a litigator, well, you have to be somewhat of a bulldog. You have to be someone that goes out and stands for their client and goes for their case. This is a new set of circumstances. It's a whole new idea, a whole new concept for him, and I see the potential to grow into this.

"Now, the final point, members, that struck me was the consideration that the nominee has and, I believe, a commitment he has to the Hawaiian community. Because, too often when we have Native Hawaiians coming before the judicial system, they are underrepresented. We have very special types of cases, a lot of it around land access, gathering, cultural practices. You know, today – earlier – we had chants in praise of the Aikau family presented, and these are very special, composed especially for this family to be presented here, this practice being protected by our constitution. And I'm so pleased and honored to see that today. Well, I also see that Mr. Hong has an understanding, a deeper understanding, of this particular issue. And I can tell you that Hilo has a large, large population of Native Hawaiians that will be before him, and I can see that he will have the compassion and the wisdom to treat them fairly, as he will treat everyone else, but to understand the basic dilemma that the Hawaiians are in, to understand the deep-seeded issues that we as a people have.

"And so, with these elements combined, members, I've come to my conclusion that I can support him without any reservation. I can support his nomination, and I ask you to consider that. Put everything aside – the issues of the Bar . . . let me just comment on that. You know, the Bar Association is sort of like elections to public office, members. If the members of the Bar chose not to participate, like the voting public chooses not to participate in an election, they have to live with the consequences. If the public doesn't vote and someone gets elected that they don't like, really, it's their fault. If the members of the Bar choose not to vote and the Bar comes out with a negative recommendation based on the people that voted, it's the members of the Bar's fault.

"I'm not faulting the Bar. In fact, I'm pointing out the fact that the Bar did its job by presenting its findings. The failure lies with the attorneys that did not participate, and therefore they acquiesced and they said yes, we'll agree to whatever you guys come up with – sort of like our elections.

“So, let us use our own judgement. Let us all think this through carefully. It's still not too late to change your vote, and when that roll call is made, consider wisdom and compassion.

“Thank you, members.”

Senator Chun Oakland rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Mr. President, it is with a heavy heart that I rise in opposition to Mr. Hong's nomination.

“This will be a first for me. My colleagues know that I have never voted in opposition to any nominee for confirmation. In my years serving in the Senate, I diligently listened to public testimony. I accept input from the public outside of the hearing process and have the privilege of meeting with the nominees for each judicial position. I give people the benefit of the doubt and expect that they are committed individuals wanting to fulfill the important duties that they are confirmed to do by Hawaii's State Senate. I have no doubt that Mr. Hong wants to fulfill that commitment.

“In this case, there has been a significant number of people who have come forward to express concerns about the nominee and have expressed judicial temperament as a major and consistent concern. For anyone to come forward against a judicial nominee is rare. But to have the number of people from the Bar and lay people express serious concern and consistently question Mr. Hong's judicial temperament is very disconcerting to me.

“There were concerns raised with the Hawaii State Bar Association's process determining a judicial nominee's qualification as highly qualified, qualified, and unqualified. The new process that is being criticized by some was implemented beginning in March 2003. This was the same process used in determining the qualifications of all past judicial nominees the Senate has confirmed last year and this year. When I asked one of the testifiers, the attorney general of this state, would there be the same criticisms of the process if the outcome for Mr. Hong by the Hawaii State Bar Association was positive rather than negative? He honestly indicated that there probably would have been no concern for the process.

“I did ask the person who served as the Hawaii State Bar Association's legislative liaison for 10 years, prior to the new system being implemented, what the typical response rate was for HSBA members for judicial nominees, what they have been during those years that he served. He indicated that in the past, the response rate ranged anywhere from a dozen responses to over 100 in two cases. During this same conversation, he indicated that the response rate for this nominee was unusually high.

“In the hearing, I asked the current Hawaii State Bar Association president what the response rate under the new system has been for the numerous judicial nominees we have already confirmed. He indicated that probably 10 to 20 people normally would respond with an overwhelming majority of them being in support. In this case, 56 responses were received, of which half raised serious concerns. And to my understanding, after being asked the question, Mr. Lee indicated that documentation was attached to those concerning e-mails.

“What was not discussed on this Floor was the questionable process of the Hawaii County Bar's East Hawaii survey. As a result of the County Bar's process being viewed by members of the County Bar as concerning, Senate colleagues have been receiving phone calls from Hawaii County Bar members who informed them that they had responded in favor of the nominee for fear that if they did not indicate favor of this nominee, that they would have to appear in front of one of only two judges in East Hawaii for the next 10 years and were concerned about being treated fairly before this nominee, should he be confirmed. Other Hawaii County Bar members indicated to Senate colleagues that they did not participate in the County Bar vote based on that same concern. This pattern of fear of retaliation is of great concern to me. I suspect that is why HSBA's response rate showed a higher number of people opposed, because that process assured greater confidentiality.

“I appreciate Ted, his family, and friends who care very much for him and support him very much, and I thank all of you for having the patience to go through this very arduous public process. Many of the supporters are my friends, and I'm sorry if I've disappointed any of you. My vote in opposition for the confirmation of Mr. Hong for this judgeship reflects the people who were not at the hearing whose lives and livelihood may have been damaged or whose good character, maybe unbeknownst to Mr. Hong, was unfairly disparaged and acknowledges the concerns that were expressed as being just the tip of the iceberg of a larger problem. I cannot turn my back on them.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Espero rose to speak in opposition to the nomination and said:

“Mr. President, I regretfully rise in opposition to this nomination.

“The decision to vote against the nominee was not an easy one for me. I have found Mr. Hong to be an outstanding father, husband, and son – a very hard worker involved in his community and who has many friends and supporters. I met with him twice and carefully watched the Judiciary Committee hearing and I spoke with many people about the nomination, including many of the Senators in here today. There was a tremendous amount of information made available to us.

“At first, I was angry at him for his position on UH West Oahu. But after speaking with him, I realized that was not a reason to be against his nomination. Although I did not support his action, I was satisfied with his explanation. His response to me, however, regarding other appointments caught my attention.

“In my humble opinion. There is a major conflict of interest in his dual role as UH regent and chief negotiator for the State of Hawaii. How can one person serve two masters and be loyal to both when they are likely to have a conflict in goals? I asked, was this reason to reject the nomination? I tried to keep an open mind.

“Then, Mr. President, the Hawaii State Bar Association gave the nominee an unqualified rating. Hypothetically, I equated this to the NAACP not supporting a national holiday for Dr. Martin Luther King or the University of Hawaii not supporting an outstanding UH athlete as an all-American selection. For me, the Hawaii State Bar's rating was a huge terrible blow to the nominee.

“Yes, I acknowledge the sample was small, but we're talking about attorneys who had an opportunity to voice their opinion and only a few did. I liken this to a political election with a poor turnout, but we still live and stand by their results. Of the respondents to the State Bar's request, 50 percent had negative comments or concerns. What I feel is this may just be the tip of the iceberg.

“The process will be reviewed and scrutinized closely because of this nomination, but I believe today we must accept this, as this is what is before us. I do not enjoy voting against this nomination, but as a State Senator, I know I was open-minded, fair, and honest with my decision and vote. I do regret, Mr. President, any pain and disappointment my vote will cause to the nominee and his family.

“In closing, the Chair of the Judiciary Committee, in acknowledging a fellow attorney, stated that he was standing up for what he believed was right. Those of us in opposition today are also standing up for what we believe is right.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Slom rose again in support and stated:

“I’ve said before, and I say it again today, that this is probably the best thing that the Senate does when we have full and open discussion, when we have people in the gallery, when we have people that can watch this. They will be the final judges. They will be the arbiters of the things that we’ve said and our own motivations.

“But a couple of final points, I heard one of the opponents say that we should not give credence to someone just because the overwhelming amount of support was positive. Then I heard another one of the opponents say we should give a greater credence to a small number of people. Well, maybe the balance lies somewhere in between. For me, it’s never been the numbers themselves, it’s been the quality of the arguments, the information, and the individuals that have come forward.

“And I don’t think anybody can deny that the individuals that have come forward, as we started this two hours ago with the Chairwoman of Judiciary, they come from a wide and diverse background. They have nothing to gain politically or judiciously by their support. And as has been testified to, they have opposed or been opposed by the nominee in the past. But somehow they were able to put that below them and to look at the nominee himself and his qualifications. And they had no problem coming to support for Ted Hong, none whatsoever.

“Somehow, the last couple of hours has become a referendum on the Hawaii State Bar Association, and that’s unfortunate, because this is about Ted Hong. This is about the people of the Big Island. This is about choices of individuals. This is about real facts versus vague facts, things that might happen, personal fears of individuals, and other things that are not on the table.

“The last speaker did acknowledge that there certainly was a small percentage of people that took part in the Hawaii State Bar Association. I’m wondering how many people really know how small that was. There’s approximately 4,500 attorneys that are forced members of the Hawaii State Bar Association, and the original number, as the Minority Leader had said before, was that there were actually 53 votes. All of a sudden, three more votes came forward to make it 56. Well, that’s nice. That’s 56 out of 4,500. And we get into the same argument – Is the glass half empty or half full? The opponents would like you to concentrate entirely on the 50 percent, the 28 people that gave opinions, and disregard the 50 percent, the other 28, that gave supportive opinions. If we’re going to fair, if we’re going to be balanced, 50 percent and 50 percent is equal. But that’s not what we’ve done today.

“In addition to that, it hasn’t been brought out that the president of the Bar Association is himself a candidate for a judicial appointment. Now, whether that has anything to do with it or not, I don’t know. But I do know this, it’s not the Bar Association or the procedure, it is the qualifications, the eminent qualifications of Ted Hong. And I have heard nothing here today, I heard nothing in the nine hours the other day that disputes his experience, his honesty, and his integrity. And woe be it to the 25 of us if we had our past records as eviscerated, and every decision that we’ve ever made, and every statement that we’ve ever said, and something that may have been overheard by someone or misinterpreted by someone else, if all of that were laid out. And that’s exactly what happened. And still, after all that, Ted Hong is standing, and he’s standing and willing to serve.

“And while the Hawaii State Bar Association gave the 4,500 attorneys an opportunity to give their opinions, the Hawaii Island Bar Association asked for a vote and that vote was overwhelming in support of the nominee. And you know, that’s what we do here and that’s what we do in Committees. Oftentimes, people give their opinions, or their concerns, or they vote with reservations. There’s a big difference when you have to vote yes or no. And yes, it does have implications for 10 years. But if we do not confirm this nomination and nominee today, we are disrespecting the people of the Big Island who have told us very clearly what they believe, what they want, what they know far better than most of us.

“And one other comment, Mr. President, I’ve heard this before in other hearings and other debates when someone says, how can someone do this job and that job and all of this? How can they do all those things and have one master? Those of us that fancy ourselves as entrepreneurs have people all around us telling us what we can’t do because they are lesser individuals in terms of their desire to do things. And what they say is, basically, I can’t do it and I know how smart and strong I am, so if I can’t do it, how can somebody else do it? That’s the mark of a leader – that man, that woman that can do the things that we can’t do, and can do them well in different arenas. And Ted Hong is one of those individuals.

“Some of my colleagues, who often in debates when we’re talking about money or we’re talking about material things, say let’s put a human face on it, on a dollar amount or a tax or a regulation. Well, you know what? We don’t have to do that today because we have a human face, a very human face in Ted Hong. I am privileged to know him and I am proud to vote strongly in his support today.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Kim rose to speak in opposition to the nominee as follows:

“Mr. President, I also rise regretfully in opposition to the nomination.

“First, Mr. President, may I ask that the remarks of the good Senator from Moanalua be entered into the Journal as my own and also that of the Senator from Nuuanu. (The Chair so ordered.) For her to take a position, a very tough position, for me it is very serious and adds to my concern. When someone of her caliber rises in opposition – she is very respectful, always very sympathetic, always erring on the side of caution – I think that says a lot about her vote.

“Mr. President, I cannot stand here to say today that I know the nominee or his family, because I don’t personally know them. And yet, as part of my responsibility, I today have to cast a vote in favor or not for that individual. Certainly, as my colleagues have stated, it is not an easy decision for us to stand here to judge. Certainly, if I was to be up for a nominee for the court, my judicial temperament would be in question, and I trust that I would probably not get the confirmation as well.

“We are who we are. We make decisions, and we are often judged by our decisions everyday, all of us here on this Floor. And, I believe that my positions and my temperament, and I’m sure just as our nominee’s temperament, believe that we need to do what we have to do and yet we have to accept the judgement that comes because of our actions.

“Mr. President, when I met with the nominee he asked that I keep an open mind until his confirmation hearing. And I was very straightforward with him, as I try to be in all situations, and I did express to him that I expected that he would get a cross section of support from friends, from supporters, from people out there. That is the norm for the confirmation process – we will seek out those who will come to support us and certainly people do not like to speak out against anyone. I don’t believe, in the confirmation process, that people, especially local people, like to speak out. And so, I did express that it would be the opposition that I would be paying close attention to because if people take the time, take the risk of coming forward to speak out against someone and not fear retribution, to me that is very, very telling.

“And we see that, Mr. President, not just in the confirmation process, but all kinds of processes that we go through here in the Senate. So, Mr. President, I cannot discount the position of the Hawaii State Bar just as some of my colleagues have also stated. I know many are crying that it was a flawed process. But I’m concerned that no one prior to this cried foul. No one cried foul when they had only 12 attorneys respond in the past to a nominee. As my colleagues have stated, this is the same process used earlier during this Session and used last Session.

“And we have taken their positions to heart. But Mr. President, we cannot have it both ways. You cannot accept the Bar’s position only when it suits you. And I do not respect the statements from attorneys who refused to participate, for whatever reason refused to participate in the process, just as the Senator from Hana pointed out, and then complain now about the process. They are all knowledgeable individuals and they all know the importance of the judicial review by the Bar.

“The short of it is, Mr. President, several of Mr. Hong’s peers voted not qualified, and I am not about to second-guess the reasons for their vote. But I suspect that no matter how thorough or unthorough, no matter how secret or not secret, that they did vote their conscience. I’m sure that they did not just rely on 28/28 e-mails. They did rely on the interview, probably relied on any knowledge they may have from other people, other attorneys, and they did know the importance that their position would have on this Body.

“And no, this is not the only reason. I’m not punting to the Hawaii State Bar. We have to take everything into consideration, Mr. President, all that has come before us. And as it was said earlier, it is not easy to do, but I believe that I need to err on the side of caution, and because of that, Mr. President, I will be erring not to support the nomination.

“Thank you.”

Senator Tsutsui rose in opposition to the nominee and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to Gov. Msg. No. 152.

“Mr. President, I think we’ve heard most of the arguments, but I, too, am concerned that of the 56 members of the Hawaii State Bar Association, half of them found the nominee to be unqualified. I’m also concerned that the HSBA board voted against the nominee 7 to 5.

“Mr. President, this, in addition to the many other pieces of testimony that we had opposing this nominee, has played heavily into my decision today. And while some may say that the HSBA’s process for declaring a nominee qualified or not qualified should be changed or modified, I challenge the timing of this concern. Over the past year-and-a-half, we have confirmed, without any concerns, 14 judges guided in part by this recommendation.

“Mr. President, I believe that when we confirm anyone to the bench, we should do so with no reservations, with no hesitation, and with no concern. Today, Mr. President, I have some reservation. I have some hesitation. And I definitely have some concern. Therefore, I will be voting ‘no’ on Gov. Msg. No. 152.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, failed to carry on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 12. Noes, 13 (Baker, Chun Oakland, Espero, Fukunaga, Hooser, Ige, Ihara, Inouye, Kanno, Kawamoto, Kim, Sakamoto, Tsutsui).

ATTACHMENT A

Senator Ihara's objections read as follows:

"Pursuant to my remarks on the Senate Floor on March 12, please include in the Senate Journal for that day my objections to JHW's SSCR 2873 on GM 152 (Ted Hong). I object specifically to the underlined findings on pages 3 and 4, because the committee majority did not agree or discuss including any of these findings in the committee report (without my vote, there would have been no majority).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 2873

Honolulu, Hawaii

March 11, 2004

RE: Gov. Msg. No. 152

Honorable Robert Bunda
President of the Senate
Twenty-Second State Legislature
Regular Session of 2004
State of Hawaii

Sir:

Your Committee on Judiciary and Hawaiian Affairs, to which was referred Governor's Message No. 152, submitting for study and consideration the nomination of:

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE THIRD CIRCUIT, STATE OF HAWAII, TED H.S. HONG

G.M. No. 152 TED H.S. HONG, for a term of Ten Years, begs leave to report as follows:

Upon review of the resume, application for judicial office, letter of the nominee dated February 17, 2004, and testimony, your Committee finds that Ted H.S. Hong received a BA and a JD degree from the University of Hawaii at Manoa. Currently, he is the Chief Negotiator for the State of Hawaii and an interim Board of Regent for the University of Hawaii. He was a solo practitioner, Grand Jury Counsel for the Third Circuit Court, Corporation Counsel for the County of Hawaii, Deputy Corporation Counsel for the City and County of Honolulu, associate attorney at Roehrig, Roehrig, Wilson, Hara, deSilva, and Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for the City and County of Honolulu.

The nominee is a member of the Hawaii State Bar Association (HSBA) and American Bar Association (ABA).

Your Committee has received testimony in support of the nominee from the Attorney General, Department of Defense, Department of Human Resources Development, Office of Human Resources of the Judiciary, University of Hawaii Professional Assembly, Mayor of the County of Hawaii, Moanalua High School, Hawaii County Bar Association, the County of Hawaii Mayor's Office, Hawaii County Police Department, Honolulu Prosecuting Attorney, UH Hilo Student Association, Big Island Candies, Inc., Hawaiian Floral Express, Hawaii Island Portuguese Chamber of Commerce, Hawaii Tire Company, International Association of Bridge, Structural, Ornamental and Reinforcing Iron Workers, Kamuela Kayak Corporation, Kope Kope Espresso Cafe, Mauna Kea Anaina Hou, Pacific Transfer, Pinnacle Investment Group, Rotary Club of Hilo, Rotary Club of Hilo Bay, State of Hawaii Organization of Police Officers, Hawaii Fire Fighters Association, Korean American Bar Association of Hawaii, Society for Human Resource Management, Communications Pacific, Hilo Reporters, Dolan, Silva & Associates, CPAs, Inc., Stryker, Weiner & Yokota, Victor V. Vierra and Associates, Hawaii Orchid Growers Association, ninety-eight attorneys, and two hundred ninety-two individuals. Your Committee has received testimony in opposition of the nominee from one attorney and twenty individuals. Your Committee has received comments regarding the nominee from the Chair of the Hawaii County Council, Hawaii County Corporation Counsel, two attorneys, and four individuals.

The Board of Directors of the HSBA found the nominee to be unqualified to serve as a circuit court judge. As part of the HSBA Board's procedures for taking a position on judicial appointments, the candidate is asked to submit a resume, respond to a questionnaire, and appear before the Board to answer questions. The HSBA Board utilizes a modified version of the ABA Guidelines for Reviewing Qualifications of Candidates for State Judicial Office. These Guidelines include the following criteria for judicial positions: integrity, legal knowledge and ability, professional experience, judicial temperament, diligence, financial responsibility, public service, collegiality, and writing ability.

Your Committee notes that there are issues regarding the judicial candidate's evaluation process performed by the HSBA. Specifically, your Committee expressed concerns about the short time frame in which the evaluation process takes place. Thus, if concerns are raised regarding a nominee, the HSBA does not have enough time to investigate a candidate any further. As a practice, your Committee postpones confirmation hearings as much as possible to accommodate the HSBA's initial evaluation process to enable the HSBA adequate time to prepare an evaluation. If there is a situation where a further investigation is warranted, the HSBA may be unable to address any of the issues and must evaluate a nominee based on the information immediately available.

Your Committee is concerned about the HSBA's methodology in evaluating a judicial candidate. Specifically, issues were raised regarding the necessity for total anonymity of comments submitted for the evaluation process and the anonymous ballot voting used for this nominee's HSBA judicial evaluation. While your Committee appreciates the HSBA's efforts in evaluating this nominee, this nominee's evaluation brings to light the apparent flaws and inequitable nature of the HSBA's evaluation processes.

In response to the concerns raised with the HSBA's judicial evaluation process, your Committee heard testimony from the Judicial Selection Commission (Commission) regarding their evaluation process. The Commission is authorized under the Constitution of the State of Hawaii to nominate no less than four and no more than six potential candidates from a pool of applicants for the Governor to choose from. The Commission is bound by the amount of information they are allowed to disseminate to this legislative body and the public. However, only the names of qualified candidates are submitted to the Governor for consideration.

Moreover, your Committee finds that the nominee was screened by the Judicial Selection Commission after an exhaustive process of finding qualified candidates. Additionally, in the HSBA screening process, only fifty-six of the four thousand three hundred bar members in Hawaii sent in comments about the nominee, which your Committee finds to be too small a minority of that organization to provide a true representation of the nominee's qualifications.

Your Committee has reviewed all of the testimony submitted, heard testimony from those who were present, and provided each person testifying with the amount of time needed to articulate their position. The testimony was overwhelmingly in support for the nominee; however, testimony was presented in opposition to the nominee. The main concern raised to this Committee was the nominee's judicial temperament.

From the testimony of the HSBA and others familiar with the judicial evaluation process, the term "judicial temperament" is subjective. The Commission testified that judicial temperament is one of the qualifications evaluated to determine if a candidate is qualified or unqualified. The Commission uses the ABA Guidelines to define "judicial temperament" for their evaluation process. Under this definition, "judicial temperament" is a nominee who possesses "a judicial temperament which includes common sense, compassion, decisiveness, firmness, humanity, open-mindedness, patience, tact and understanding."

Your Committee notes the concerns regarding the nominee's judicial temperament. However, in evaluating the criticism of this nominee, it appears that the nominee's direct nature and zealous advocacy on behalf of his clients are confused with the definition of judicial temperament. Your Committee believes that the criticisms articulated were not traits that would impede his ability to perform in an effective and fair manner as a judge, with the proper judicial demeanor.

Your Committee also considered the number of Big Island testifiers that were present in support of the nominee from attorneys, individual residents, students and faculty from the University of Hawaii at Hilo, and the Hawaii Community College. The University of Hawaii Regents were also present to support and clarify some misconceptions regarding the issues surrounding this nominee.

From all of the testimony, questions and answers, and a review of the personal history, résumé, and statements submitted by the nominee, your Committee finds the nominee to have the necessary qualifications to be appointed to the position of circuit court judge.

As affirmed by the record of votes of the members of your Committee on Judiciary and Hawaiian Affairs that is attached to this report, your Committee, after full consideration of the background, experience, and qualifications of the nominee, has found the nominee to be qualified for the position to which nominated and recommends that the Senate consent to the nomination."

Senate
Resolution Referred to:

No. 23 Committee on Transportation, Military

RE-REFERRAL OF HOUSE BILLS

The Chair re-referred the following House bills that were received:

House Bill Referred to:

No. 2662, H.D. 1 Jointly to the Committee on Transportation, Military Affairs, and Government Operations and the Committee on Economic Development, then to the Committee on Ways and Means

No. 2873, H.D. 2 Jointly to the Committee on Health, the Committee on Commerce, Consumer Protection and Housing and the Committee on Labor, then to the Committee on Ways and Means

Senator Baker, Chair of the Committee on Health, requested a waiver of the notice requirement pursuant to Senate Rule 21 for H.B. No. 2814.

Senator Baker noted:

“Mr. President, this bill requires the Department of Health to track Kalaupapa Settlement patient and non-patient costs separately whenever possible, and to submit an annual report to the Legislature to report initiatives and improvements. Your Committee previously held a public hearing on the Senate companion, S.B. No. 3114.”

The Chair then granted the waiver.

Senator Hemmings rose to speak on a point of personal privilege as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

“I would like to say for the record that I think there have been times in the last several years that this Senate has done itself great justice and credit by dropping the partisanship that normally involves itself in debate and doing things based on our conscience and our good judgement.

“Certainly one of the best debates I’ve ever heard in my lifetime in the Senate was several years ago when we all spoke from our hearts on the physician assisted suicide debate. It had no partisanship in it. It was good people standing up and speaking their conscience. Even though we availed politics in last week’s debate regarding Ted Hong, I think this Senate did itself justice by openly and honestly debating the issue without the partisanship and the problems that go along with it.

“Last year, under Majority Party Leadership, this Senate joined with your Minority in amending Act 221. It was clear to the Leadership of this Senate that Act 221 had, in the interpretation of certain clauses of it, the opportunity for massive abuse. Unfortunately, when the bill went to Conference from the Senate, the House Majority Party chose to oppose the changes. At that time, I pointed out that there may have been ulterior motives, such as the e-mail I held up for everybody to look at and go on record with, that one of the beneficiaries was asking everybody at one of the house-packed fundraisers that they needed a hundred dollars so that they should go to show their support for saying no changes to Act 221. It’s right here in the e-mail.

“Subsequently in the news, we have found out that organizations, some of which with close ties to the House

Majority and other Majority interests, such as Royal State Insurance Company headed by, among other people, former union director Gary Rodrigues who's now been convicted of fraud in his own union, was beneficiary to these tax credits. The long and short of it is, we're now finding out that what this Senate said and stood for last year was exactly correct. But what is really sad, really sad, is that last year the tax director said that the open door on these tax credits could cause up to $50 million worth of ill-conceived tax credits being given out. And that's proven to be true, and we had to take that money off our books and we had to cut funding to human service programs. We had to cut funding to many numerous programs, which we debated in Special Session, because the House of Representatives' Majority Party failed to act on amendments to Act 221.

Respectfully submitted,

Clerk of the Senate

Approved:

President of the Senate

"My message is today, let's not let this partisanship and special interest thwart this from happening again. Hopefully, this Senate can lead the way in having Act 221 amended so we can stop the hemorrhaging of taxpayer's money to ill-conceived plans to exploit Act 221.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Sakamoto rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, point of personal privilege.

"I respect the concerns raised by our colleague from Lanikai. But it's unfortunate that our House colleagues cannot defend themselves, cannot address some of the concerns raised. So I would ask that he address some of those questions posed to them, or perhaps suggest amendments that would perhaps correct the issue. I think the opportunity for the House to address the issues in their Body and we in our Body would be more appropriate than trying to address House issues in this Body, Mr. President.

"Thank you."

Senator Chun Oakland, Chair of the Committee on Human Services, requested a waiver of the notice requirement pursuant to Senate Rule 21 for H.B. No. 2458.

Senator Chun Oakland noted:

"Mr. President, this bill relates to child welfare services and recognizes the local custom of caregiving outside the family home as an alternative to foster custody."

The Chair then granted the waiver.

"Mr. President, on behalf of three of the nominees who are sitting up here in the audience, I just wanted to stand up and speak on their behalf in support. This is Gov. Msg. Nos. 157, 158, 159, and 160. These are the confirmation of Hawaii Paroling Authority nominees Dane Oda, Ed Slavish, and Albert Tufono. They all came before our Judiciary Committee and they were all tremendous nominees. They have shown compassion, intelligence, hard work ethic, and, above all, integrity. They should all serve Hawaii well.

"So Mr. President, I encourage all of my colleagues to advise and consent here on these judicial nominees. Thank you."

"Mr. President, I'd also like to encourage yourself and my colleagues to vote in favor of all of the nominees we have before you for the Judiciary Committee. But I would like to also speak specifically on Gov. Msg. No. 157, Mr. Dane Oda;

Gov. Msg. No. 158, Edward Slavish; and Gov. Msg. Nos. 159 and 160, which is Albert Tufono.

"Mr. President, the reason I feel compelled to say a few words about these gentlemen is because they've been on the job for the past eight months with the paroling authority. Mr. President, their statistics are that they've already heard 733 minimum sentencing hearings; 1,450 parole or parole violation hearings; 108 reductions in minimum sentencing, and in addition have made 82 recommendations for pardons.

"Mr. President, two of the gentlemen are part-timers only, and only Mr. Tufono is a fulltimer. I see Tommy Johnson up there and I guess he would not be pleased if I didn't try to plug the fact that they want to be fulltimers and they're all saying they are more than willing to serve. The amount of work that they've gotten done is just amazing and I believe that they should have our support, even if Mr. Tufono went to Iolani. I told him I would not hold it against him. (Laughter.) He went to Iolani, but that's okay, Mr. President.

"So, with that, Mr. President, I hope that you, along with my colleagues, join in advising and consenting to these nominees. Thank you."

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"First of all, I think that the bill is going to be very difficult to enforce. Secondly, I think that of all the subject matter that we have and the issues before us, that this area really is of lesser importance. Thirdly, I'm concerned that the bill, even though it's been amended, will only apply within the boundaries of the downtown Honolulu area, thus exempting Waikiki and other areas.

"But I guess, more importantly, I'm concerned where it says about defecating in public places, because I'm afraid that the Legislature has been guilty of defecating on the State Constitution for many years now, and I don't want to find us in contempt. So, I'll be voting against it.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 1828, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PUBLIC ORDER," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 18. Noes, 1 (Slom). Excused, 6 (Aduja, Ige, Kim, Menor, Sakamoto, Trimble).

H.B. No. 2024, H.D. 1:

Senator Hanabusa moved that H.B. No. 2024, H.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, again I rise in opposition to this bill.

"Let me make it perfectly clear – I am absolutely opposed to violence and threats of violence from one person to another, and particularly with the use of a firearm or any other weapon. But I am also unalterably in support of the second amendment, and I find this bill yet another method of chipping away at law-abiding individuals who have firearms ownership.

"The problem here is that the bill seeks to address a problem which, by my reading, is already covered by existing federal statute. But in addition to that, it seeks to address a situation where there's a temporary restraining order issued in the case of spousal abuse. I think we can all agree on that. We can all support that. But the bill goes further. The bill is broad and vague and applies to any, any TRO for any purpose and bars the transfer of any firearms to any law-abiding person who may be outside of the ring of even the alleged TRO.

"Those of us that are aware of TROs can talk about their impact on spousal abuse or on violence, but we also know that individuals get TROs against other people for a variety of reasons, and oftentimes they stay in effect for a matter of years, thus denying a person not only their constitutional rights, but also the right of private property.

"So, while I support the intent of the bill to make sure that anyone that is involved in a violent situation gets the highest punishment and penalty, I think that we have other means of doing that and I don't believe that this bill passes that muster.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 2024, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TRANSFER OF OWNERSHIP OF FIREARMS AND AMMUNITION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 17. Noes, 3 (Hogue, Slom, Whalen). Excused, 5 (Aduja, Ige, Kim, Sakamoto, Trimble).

H.B. No. 2298, H.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Hanabusa, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried, H.B. No. 2298, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO DISQUALIFICATION OF JUDGES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, none. Excused, 5 (Aduja, Ige, Kim, Sakamoto, Trimble).

H.B. No. 2299, H.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Hanabusa, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried, H.B. No. 2299, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO APPELLATE COURT COSTS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, none. Excused, 5 (Aduja, Ige, Kim, Sakamoto, Trimble).

H.B. No. 2863, H.D. 1, S.D. 1:

Senator Tsutsui moved that H.B. No. 2863, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Espero.

At 11:53 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:04 o'clock p.m.

Senator Hanabusa rose on a point of clarification as follows:

"Mr. President, this is more of a point of clarification, if I may.

"There has been a question raised about the committee report, in particular the third paragraph. Just so that there's no confusion, Mr. President and members, what that paragraph is referring to is the fact that the Tourism Committee heard a proposed S.D. 1, which was posted and made available to the public prior to the hearing.

"Thank you very much."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 2863, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE HAWAII TOURISM AUTHORITY," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, none. Excused, 4 (Aduja, Kim, Trimble, Whalen).

President of the Senate

THIRTY-EIGHTH DAYMonday, March 29, 2004

The Senate of the Twenty-Second Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 2004, convened at 11:50 o'clock a.m. with the President in the Chair.

The Divine Blessing was invoked by Pastor Cal Takara, Kaimuki Christian Church, after which the Roll was called showing all Senators present.

The President announced that he had read and approved the Journal of the Thirty-Seventh Day.

Senator Kawamoto introduced General Eric Shinseki, retired Chief of Staff of the United States Army, and commended him on his outstanding military service. Accompanying General Shinseki was his wife Patti.

At this time, the President invited General Shinseki to the podium to address the members of the Senate.

General Shinseki addressed the members of the Senate as follows:

"President Bunda, thank you very much for this rare privilege. I know that not everyone who visits this Chamber has the opportunity to stand at this microphone. Senator Kawamoto, thanks for the retribution and my greetings to my Kauai Senator here, Senator Hooser, and all the other members of this Body.

"I would like to thank you for this great recognition, great honor, and I will tell you also that I was a pretty normal and average kid who grew up and prowled the wilds of the island of Kauai, a product of our public school system there and a product of a good strong family as well as teachers who not just educated us but made learning important at a very early age. That stayed with me through 38 years as a soldier. They made learning a lifelong experience and I've never forgotten that.

"As a Chief, I oversaw the recruitment of young Americans who joined our force. Some of you may not know this, but we recruit anywhere from 174,000 to 180,000 young Americans into the Army each year. And as a result, we also put those numbers back into our communities. I would offer to you that while they are with us, not only do they grow in their skills as soldiers, but education is an important aspect of what they learn from us. This responsibility of self-development is not in the system. They have a role to play here with the experiences they have with us operationally, and I hope you have seen the merits of it. What you get back are very capable youngsters who stand on their feet, have an idea about what's important in their future lives, and come back as contributing members of your communities and go to work and add value to your communities.

"And so, after 38 years of serving as a soldier, and I know that this recognition today pretty much focuses on my last four as Chief of the Service, I would offer to you that the great honor in my life was the opportunity to spend every day of those 38 years as a soldier with some very great Americans and following in the footsteps of other great Americans from this State who served in years past in some terrible conflicts that we continue to recognize today.

"There are youngsters who continue to deploy. The 25th is on its way. I know they have a brigade I think they sent off to Afghanistan. They have a brigade on the ground in Iraq. You can be very proud of these youngsters. They're following sort of the same traffic pattern that I followed 38½ years ago when I arrived to the 25th and six months later found myself deployed to Vietnam. I know what their families are going through.

"Your support, as the members of this Body, to those families, to those soldiers, to those commanders who have this tremendous responsibility is not missed. And those of us who have spent this much time in uniform, we've lived in all the alternatives to Hawaii. We've been to all the other places that don't quite match up, so coming home to Hawaii is always something special. And I think sometimes we miss just how good this State is and how much opportunity there is.

"And if there is any encouragement for you, it's to give every youngster the same opportunity I had all those many years ago as a kid prowling the wilds of Wailua and Lehu, Kauai, as a graduate of the public school system, and that is to give them the same opportunity.

"Thank you very much for the honor here today."

At 12:09 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:28 o'clock p.m.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3067 (Jud. Com. No. 3):

Senator Hanabusa moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3067 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

Senator Hanabusa then moved that the Senate consent to the nomination of SIMONE C. POLAK to the Office of Judge, District Court of the Second Circuit, for a term of six years, in accordance with the provisions of Article VI, Section 3, of the Hawaii State Constitution, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa rose in support of the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of Jud. Com. No. 3, the confirmation to the District Court of the Second Circuit, Simone Polak.

"Mr. President, Ms. Polak comes before us very well qualified for this position. Her education begins with a Bachelor of Arts in criminal justice from the John Jay College of Criminal Justice at the City University of New York. Her law degree is from the McGeorge School of Law at the University of the Pacific in California. Ms. Polak has 15 years of experience with the prosecutor's office. She presently sits as one of the lead lawyers in the appellate division. She has been a senior trial attorney. She specialized in violent crimes and has even done the much difficult area of child sexual assault, and in addition to family court, supervisor within the prosecutor's office. She has served at the United States Air Force Reserve and also as an EMS technician in New York. She has, as part of her resume, been a lecturer of various topics, primarily in the area of law.

"Mr. President, as we have done will all of our other judiciary nominees, we had input from the Hawaii State Bar Association. Ms. Polak, like Mr. Hong, received a 'not qualified' rating. The vote of Ms. Polak was 10 to 2, and the rationale given was that her absence of substantive civil litigation and/or family court (domestic relations) experience outweighed her experience working with the office of the prosecuting attorney of the County of Maui. And they recognized, the Hawaii State Bar Association recognized, that she served that with distinction.

“Mr. President, members, my sentiments about the Hawaii State Bar Association and what they have done in terms of this rating system is very well known. And I would have to say that what they did with Ms. Polak also confirms my sentiment.

“The requirements under the constitution for a district court judge is five years of experience – nothing else. It doesn’t say if you’re going to go to the family court, Mr. President, you have to be five years in the family court. It doesn’t have any of those requirements. And she must be, of course, in good standing. Those are really the requirements that we need.

“The constitution also says that when we select anyone for the judiciary, the process that the people of this state have come up with is the judicial selection committee. Mr. President, the people of this state, when they enacted that constitutional amendment, wanted it known that lawyers shall not control the selection of judges because you cannot have a majority of the nine members of the judicial selection committee being members of my profession, and that’s because I believe the people wanted to make a statement when they said that.

“Dale Lee, the president of the bar association, came forward and basically told us that he did not want the process of the bar association to be at issue. He just wanted to come forward and explain why they arrived at their decision. He said that it was a very unique situation, because for some reason, they felt that the demand of the Maui family court were such that they needed someone who had family court experience. But they even qualified it even further than that, Mr. President. It wasn’t family court experience; it was domestic relations experience, which to us lawyers mean you have to practice divorce law, because Ms. Polak definitely has family court experience because that is exactly where child abuse cases go. So, to say that she had no family court experience, I don’t know where the bar association came off saying that.

“In an unprecedented move, the judiciary actually submitted testimony. This is the first time that they have done it. And the reason why was because of the action taken by the Hawaii State Bar Association. They made it very clear that they were not there to criticize the Hawaii State Bar Association, but you could tell they were clearly perplexed by what had happened. They explained to us what the Chief Justice does. He gets the six names from the judicial selection committee, then he basically interviews everyone. He asks judges. He asks community members. He asks everyone that he believes to be relevant in the determination as to who he will select. And he interviewed each and every one of the six candidates. Then the Chief Justice made his selection. He judged each and every one on basically 15 different criteria, and he felt that Ms. Polak was the most qualified. And he selected her and he sent her name to us.

“They came forward, the judiciary did, to remind us again that the process of the selection of judges, of making that list of six, is of the judicial selection committee, and he, the Chief Justice, is confident in that process and believes that they would not have sent to him a name that was not qualified. And in his interview and based upon his years of experience, he found her to be qualified.

“An interesting person who came forward to testify on behalf of Ms. Polak was Judge McNish, retired family court judge of Maui. He came forward and he said he wanted to have input and to basically give us some guidance as to what he felt are the necessary criteria for a great family court judge. He said, in order of priority, instead of saying that it doesn’t really matter, he said in order of priority, the first thing is a desire to sit in the family court. The second is to be able to face highly charged emotional disputes. And I call your attention to the fact that Ms. Polak did child abuse cases. That would qualify anyone to be able to meet this criteria. The third is the willingness to work hard and to put in extra hours. The fourth is intelligence, and the fifth is the knowledge of substantive law.

“Judge McNish went on to say that when he was first appointed as a judge, he had no family court experience. In fact, Judge Romanchak, who was the judge who the implications were that people in Maui, the practitioners in Maui, may be feeling as they did about Ms. Polak because they love this judge and they could probably not find anyone to fulfill his position. Judge McNish said he had no family court experience when he was first appointed to the bench. They also said Victoria Marks, for example, Michael Broderick, they had no family court experience.

“An interesting gentleman, another retired judge, who came with her was Judge Baxa, Artemio Baxa. He basically held the Committee sort of captured in his, I guess, litany of compliments of Ms. Polak. He had such an interesting story, having supervised her before going to the bench, and after he retired, going back to the prosecutor’s office and having the opportunity to work with her again. He said she has a very independent mind and he believed that she had the kind of integrity that will be necessary to fulfill this job. He could not stop saying enough things about her.

“Mr. President, members, we are faced again with the bar association. Let us not forget, the bar association, by its own rules, says that a candidate can be not qualified only if it failed to meet one of the three criteria – integrity, judicial temperament, and professional competence. Mr. Lee said there is no question about Ms. Polak’s integrity, no question about her judicial temperament. The only question was in their range of something called professional competence. But even that, all that they could say was they were uncomfortable that she had no family court experience.

“Mr. President, there is nothing in the bar. There is nothing in the Rules. There is nothing that says you need family court experience. And in fact, we have confirmed, by the same structure, Mr. Broderick last year with no family court experience. Based upon that, based upon the overwhelming testimony that your Committee received in favor of Ms. Polak, I ask that you and my colleagues join me in confirming Ms. Polak to the district court of the second circuit.

“Thank you very much.”

Senator Hogue rose to speak in favor of the nominee and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in favor of Jud. Com. No. 3, confirmation to the District Court of the Second Circuit, nominee Simone C. Polak.

“I wanted to echo some of the comments offered by the Judiciary Chair about Ms. Polak – her intelligence, her independents, her hard work ethic, and also what I found to be very impressive, and this was an area that came into question, her ability to multi-task. One of the questions, apparently, that was put forward by some members of the bar association was that she had part-time work, outside part-time work, and I think it was very obvious that she did all of her jobs extremely well. This should be a great qualification for her in this tremendous job. She’s thorough; she’s patient; and she should make a very great judge.

"Experience became the issue, and I think it was Attorney General Mark Bennett who made a very good case for the fact that think of the message that is being sent here by the Hawaii State Bar Association. The message is that if you work for the county prosecutor's office, you can't be a judge. That's the message that they are sending, and that is an absurd message. I think that we have seen from the qualified judges who have gone and worked here in the State of Hawaii, that you can come out of the prosecutor's office, you can come out of the public defender's office, you can come out of many aspects of the legal community and do a great job as a judge.

"So really, the thing that is in question here is the credibility of the Hawaii State Bar Association. What we have learned through the nomination process of Ted Hong and Simone Polak is that the way that they handle their process really begs a number of questions. With Ted Hong, was it political? With Simone Polak, is it territorial? Is there something else going on in Maui with divorce court lawyers that we don't know about? But we can't get those questions answered, and that is very, very problematic. These people hide behind anonymity, confidentiality, and they don't come forward. It's a very, very, very troubling process.

"So, I urge you to send a message to them to get their house in order. It appears that Simone Polak has her house in order and is very qualified to be a great judge on the Valley Isle.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator English rose to speak in support of the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"Mr. President, members, I ask that you help confirm Ms. Polak to the second circuit for one single reason – we need judges, and we need good judges in Maui County. Our county, as you know, is made up of islands and very remote areas, and so you have to understand the difference – the different norms and the different types of acceptability in different areas. And I think that this nominee understands, for instance, the lifestyle on Moloka'i and the difference that it has on the case as opposed to a juxtapose against a case from the urban area of Kihei or Lahaina.

"The second circuit covers these areas and I know that she will do a good job in adjudicating cases that come before her for the Island of Maui, the Island of Moloka'i, and the Island of Lana'i. I ask that you support her nomination today – that we also understand that the Hawaii State Bar Association is just one of many bits of information that we would receive in order to make our decisions. Ultimately, the decision rests with the 25 of us here, and we should never forget that – that we are the ones that make that choice.

"The bar association, actually, I think that this whole process that we've been through with them serves as a very good reminder to all of us that we do not cede our votes to anyone. We do not give our votes to the bar association, and we do not say that, well, because the bar association said unqualified, I have to vote 'no.' No, the vote belongs to you as an elected Senator and you take that into consideration, but vote your conscience.

"So, I ask you to please support this nominee. Thank you."

Senator Hooser rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the nomination.

"Mr. President, as was the case in the most recent judicial nomination requiring the consent of this Body, I find myself unable to support the nominee. Once again, the primary reason is that the nominee was determined by the Hawaii State Bar Association in a decisive vote of 10 to 2 to be not qualified.

"I do not question the credibility, the integrity, or the honesty of the Hawaii State Bar Association. I do question the process, and I think that's a subject we need to take up outside of this Session between the bar association and the judicial selection commission to figure out a better way to do this, because I'm not comfortable with the process either but I do respect and honor the integrity of the bar.

"The negative determination greatly influences my decision and there's a principal reason that with some reluctance I intend to vote 'no.' I say with reluctance, Mr. President, because I am confident that the nominee is competent in the work that she does, is of good character, and has conducted herself in a professional manner in the legal work she has undertaken. However, the position of family court judge is one that deeply affects the lives of many people, and this is a position, again, which I cannot feel comfortable on voting with reservations. There should be no reservations. And yet the bar association, essentially a jury of her peers, empowered by the Hawaii Supreme Court with the power and responsibility to aid the court, has gone even further than expressing reservations. They have determined in their own wisdom through a process approved by their organization that the nominee is not qualified.

"The bar association has stated, 'in absence of substantive civil litigation and/or family court experience.' And while you have heard today that with her unquestionable fairness, temperament, and ability to learn she may grow into her responsibilities, the president of the bar association points out that the Maui family court is a court where there is no luxury for on-the-job training.

"I have no doubt that this nominee is an able attorney and a good person. Perhaps if I were a resident of Maui and had personal and professional relationships with those who know her best and would work with her, I might very well come to a different conclusion. And perhaps if I were myself an attorney who had worked with the nominee, I might give the bar association's determination less weight in my own decision making. However, out of the last 12 judicial nominations, only one nominee, until this nomination, was found by the Hawaii bar to be not qualified. And my decision now, as it was then, is to withhold consent.

"Mr. President, I trust the recommendation of the Hawaii State Bar Association. I have doubts about the nomination for this sensitive and important judicial appointment, and I wish to have no doubts when fulfilling my own important responsibility in this process. Therefore, Mr. President, in good conscience and with no malice, I am unable to support the nomination.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of Jud. Com. No. 3.

"This appointment is to the district family court in the second circuit of Maui, and the nominee is Simone Polak, who for the past 15 years has been a deputy prosecuting attorney in our county. By all accounts she has provided exemplary service in that capacity. I received numerous e-mails from her current and former colleagues and supervisors. I've heard from former family and circuit court judges on Maui who greatly respect her and her ability in support of her nomination.

"After reviewing her resume, I was taken aback that the Hawaii State Bar Association gave her an unqualified rating based on her lack of experience in domestic relations. Mr. President and colleagues, while she has no private civil litigation experience, she has years of exemplary criminal litigation experience, much of it dealing with adult and child abuse and sex assault cases, exactly the kind of cases that are part and parcel of the family court caseload.

"The testimony indicated that Ms. Polak is a very able researcher and legal student and would have no difficulty mastering the substantive areas where she has not practiced. Even the ABA standards indicate, quote, 'a candidate should not normally be expected to possess expertise in any particular substantive field,' close quote. The ABA guidelines go on further to state, quote, 'the important consideration is the depth and breadth of the professional experience and the competence with which it has been performed, rather than the candidate's particular type of professional experience,' close quote.

"Mr. President and colleagues, in my view, the Hawaii State Bar Association overreached on this one. They set standards above the recommendation of the ABA, and beyond what had been previously published as their own criteria, and beyond what the judicial selection commission uses as well.

"For anyone who votes for Ms. Polak and voted against Mr. Hong, as the newspapers will probably try to foment, and others may say that it was just politics that dictated those votes, to that I say rubbish. The concern for Mr. Hong's nomination had to do with judicial temperament as well as concerns raised by private individuals and others in the community. I submitted then and submit now that judicial temperament is a quality that one has and is not something that can be acquired with experience. Judicial temperament goes to the heart of one's ability to be fair, impartial, and treat parties with respect. It was indeed a factor in my vote, but not the sole factor. Had I wanted to do the political thing, Mr. President, I would have voted for confirmation. But when all the factors were weighed, I could not.

"Mr. President, I believe that as Senators, we have to weigh each set of factors when it comes before us. I do not and will not cast aspersions on the reasoning or motivation of any of my colleagues who may disagree with the conclusions that I reach, and I expect the same consideration.

"With regard to Simone's qualifications, her family court absent civil experience in that area, let me note as our Judiciary Chair did, that there are many fine jurists currently serving and recently retired who would not have met the HSBA standard. Retired Judges Marie Milks, Dan Kochi, Judge McNish of Maui are just a few examples, and there are many others – distinguished jurists all.

"While the Judiciary Chair has quoted from some of Judge McNish's testimony, I'd like to have it all inserted into the Journal, but I'd like to read just a portion: 'The substantive law can be learned,' he said. 'The first four qualities cannot.' And those four qualities that he mentioned were desire to sit on the family court, comportment in the face of highly charged emotional disputes, willingness to work hard and put in extra hours, and intelligence. Then Judge McNish goes on to state, 'every judge, regardless of experience or knowledge of the substantive law, will have a steep learning curve in route to becoming an exemplary judge. Because she has the first four qualities in abundance, I believe Ms. Polak will succeed on that learning curve. I hope she is given the opportunity to do so.' So do I, Mr. President.

"I would also like to have included in the record, although I'm not going to read them, several additional comments that I received from some of Simone's colleagues, people who know her best. All of these individuals believe that Simone has the background, litigation experience, ability to continue to learn the law, temperament, and capacity to be an exemplary judge. On that, I also concur – plus, we need more women on the bench.

"Mr. President, I ask all of my colleagues to join me in voting to confirm Simone Polak to the district court, second circuit, County of Maui.

"Thank you very much."

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Baker's insertion of Judge McNish's testimony reads as follows:

"As a former family court judge in the Second Circuit, I strongly support the nomination of Ms. Polak. I understand a question has arisen regarding her substantive knowledge of family law. While knowledge of the substantive law is indeed an asset for a new family court judge, it is the least important of five significant qualities. In order of importance, I would list those five qualities as follows:

1. A desire to sit in family court
2. Comportment in the face of highly charged emotional disputes
3. Willingness to work hard and put in extra hours
4. Intelligence
5. Knowledge of the substantive law

"Of these five, the first three are the most important. In fact, because of the broad jurisdiction, it would be difficult for anyone to have knowledge of all areas of family law. Criminal, juvenile, domestic relations, child protection, adoption, mental health commitment and other areas of the law are all included within its scope.

"Personally I believe that Ms. Polak does have knowledge of some of the substantive family law from prosecuting domestic violence cases and child abuse cases – the latter involving her in the workings of the Children's Justice Center.

"The substantive law can be learned, the first four qualities cannot. Every judge, regardless of experience or knowledge of the substantive law will have a steep learning curve in route to becoming an exemplary judge. Because she has the first four qualities in abundance, I believe Ms. Polak will succeed on that learning curve. I hope she is given the opportunity to do so.

"Thank you for the opportunity to provide testimony. I plan to be present at the hearing to further address the committee and answer questions.

Respectfully,

/s/ Douglas S. McNish
Douglas S. McNish"

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Baker's insertions of comments received from Ms. Polak's colleagues read as follows:

Subject: Judicial Nominee Simone C. Polak

Please support the confirmation of judicial nominee Simone C. Polak for the District Court of the Second Circuit, Maui. For fifteen years I have worked closely with Ms. Polak at the Department of the Prosecuting Attorney. I am presently the Director of the Victim/Witness Assistance Division. Prior to becoming a director, I worked with Ms. Polak on several cases involving violent crimes primarily adult and child sex assault cases. Every work day, I have contacts with Ms. Polak. In all my contacts with her, I have known her to be truthful personally and professionally. She displays a moral conscience that guides her steadily in doing the 'right thing' and to give consideration to others' needs. She treats people equally and/or the same with dignity and respect no matter what background or socioeconomic status they are from. She is open to others opinions though they may be different from hers.

Ms. Polak is one that the deputy prosecutors in the office approach for legal advice. Because of her well rounded work and life experiences and her non-judgmental ability to listen to facts, other staff members seek her counsel in various topics and situations. Ms. Polak's legal experience will help her to be a good judge. I truly believe that it is the amalgamation of her experiences including that in the medical, military and private sector that will help her to be an excellent judge.

It is my great pleasure to provide this information as I believe Ms. Polak would make an excellent judge given the opportunity. Thank you very much for your kind consideration."

Subject: Please confirm Simone Polak's judicial appointment

I am writing to you asking for your support of Simone Polak's judicial appointment. I have worked with Ms. Polak for the last five years in the Maui County Department of the Prosecuting Attorney in my capacity as a Victim/Witness Counselor.

As a prosecutor in the Appellate Division, Ms. Polak consistently demonstrates her vast knowledge of the law in debates with her colleagues and preparing legal briefs. She is who the other prosecutors go to when they need legal questions answered. In addition to thoroughly knowing the law, Ms. Polak displays integrity and moral courage. She is someone who can apply the law fairly and judiciously to real life situations. Her compassion for crime victims is particularly remarkable.

I have every confidence that Ms. Polak's intelligence, experience in fairly analyzing legal issues, and fair temperament will make her an excellent, highly regarded member of the judiciary. Please confirm the judicial appointment of Simone Polak to the Maui Family Court. Thank you for your thoughtful consideration."

Subject: Simone Polak, Judicial Nominee

Dear Senator,

Please accept this recommendation on behalf of Simone Polak for the post of Family Court Judge for the Second Circuit. I would like to begin by expressing my great dismay towards the position taken by the Hawaii State Bar Association. The Bar appears to be throwing words out with out any regard on the weight they might have. To categorize Ms. Polak as being 'unqualified' because she hasn't practiced in other areas of the law is absurd. By creating a standard where any judge must have practiced as a litigate every area of law they may encounter on the bench is ridiculous. The Bar is labeling all career Prosecutors (and all career Public Defenders) as unqualified. By their label, they will determine every attorney who has not done criminal prosecution, defense, child custody and divorce as 'unqualified.' To please the Bar, an attorney is apparently expected to move from job to job. Of course, then they risk being labeled as 'flighty' and 'without any firm foundation.'

A potential nominee may be more rounded if they have experience in all different areas of the law, but a potential nominee could be just as qualified if they have taken the time to dedicate themselves to a particular area of the law. I implore you to stand against this arbitrary labeling process. What really matters when considering whether someone should sit on the bench is not learned in books or by writing a memo in a divorce case. What we need to see in a judge is wisdom, integrity and honor. A judge must treat all people with dignity and respect, while not shying away from tough decisions. That is the kind of person we need to have serving our community as a judge.

That said, Simone Polak is such a person. I have worked with her for nearly eleven years, and I have always turned to her for her advice on issues. She and I have not always agreed, but I always have respected her opinion. When a tough issue arises in our office, it is not uncommon to here someone say, 'I need to talk to Simone about this.' Whenever she takes a position on a matter, she will always carefully analyze the facts and the law, and clearly explain how she came to her conclusion. This is they kind of person you want serving as a judge - she's sharp, so you do not have to worry about her being able to learn what she hasn't been exposed to as a prosecutor.

Sincerely,
J.W. Hupp
Deputy Prosecuting Attorney County of Maui"

Senator Sakamoto rose in opposition to the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition.

"Mr. President, I hope that the Hawaii State Bar Association will continue to improve the process in their adding input to this nomination process. I believe they are well aware of the various parts of the process as has been stated. I believe their members are well aware of their colleagues and people in their profession, and certainly, each nominee is unique.

"Each time we vote, we should consider what is best for the people, not necessarily what is best for the nominee. We're voting for the people. Based on concerns raised, will the people who deserve a fair trial, an impartial trial, based on concerns raised, will this nominee be able to immediately sit and afford people a fair and impartial trial or proceeding? That has been called into question, therefore, I'm not able to vote in the affirmative on this nominee, Mr. President.

"Thank you."

Senator Kim rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, may I have the remarks of the good Senator from Kauai entered as my own."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Tsutsui rose in support and said:

“Mr. President, I’d like to have the words of the good Senator from South and West Maui inserted into the Journal as though they were my own.”

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in favor of the nominee and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the nominee.

“Mr. President, after reading the committee report, with the consideration of the Chairman of Ways and Means Committee, a very lucid committee report clearly shows that this nominee is eminently qualified scholastically, as a human being, and as a hard working individual to serve on the bench. Unfortunately, this nominee’s only problem is that her nomination came to this Body in the wake of Ted Hong’s advice and consent debate on this Floor. But I must emphasize, that was a very healthy debate and it wasn’t a partisan debate because people on both sides of the aisle argued both sides of the issue.

“What I find problematic in speaking for this nominee is the fact that it seems that some would acquiesce their vote to the opinion of a handful of leaders in the state bar association. I would suggest that that is, just as I said, acquiescence of their responsibility to a third party. I’m hoping that we will, in this nomination, make decisions based upon the merits of the individual as we see it and consider the overwhelming testimony from most everybody for the qualifications of this nominee, with the exception of the Hawaii State Bar Association.

“So the question has to be asked – and we’ll never get an answer – why on this nomination has the Hawaii State Bar Association chosen to determine not qualified? They say in their testimony because of lack of experience in other family court matters. Those proponents that stood on the Floor today echoed what it said so well in the committee report, and said by testifiers, that many of them, many sitting judges who are renowned for their expertise in this area, they themselves had no experience in this area.

“So I would suggest there’s one lesson that we’ve learned in the last two debates concerning judicial nominees, and that is that possibly this Senate, no matter what side of the debate we’ve been on, is rendering a decision for most of us that the bar association leadership is not qualified to serve. And therefore, I will submit that their recommendations to these last two nominations should be ignored and we should vote in favor of the nominations.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Slom rose to speak in support as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of the judicial nominee, Ms. Simone Polak.

“I met with Ms. Polak. I found her intelligent, personable, engaging, experienced, and refreshing. And for those of us that had been lobbied last year and the year before about the problems of family court in general and family court on Maui in particular, we know that something’s not right and that we need individuals that are independent, that are able to do the job, rather than part of any ‘old boy’ or ‘old girl’ network. Simone Polak doesn’t fit that description.

“I think some people took offense to the fact that she actually has worked for a living, that she’s worked, as was said earlier, multitasking. She served her country in the United States Air Force Reserve. She drove cars for Hertz at the airport. Mr. President, I may have to disclose conflict of interest – I’m a Hertz gold card member and maybe she drove my car. (Laughter.) She has shown an ability to be where the people are, and what a great talent and experience that is for family court in particular.

“She is open. One other thing that she did that probably was a mistake, during her soccer career she admitted to having her leg broken in four places and then even put on her resume ‘but I didn’t sue.’ Now, how can the Hawaii State Bar Association embrace somebody like that? But the people can . . . the people of Maui can.

“She’s going to be confirmed and she’s going to be a great judge, and I think she has a great future in many other areas. However, Mr. President, I’m going to call for a Roll Call vote today, again, because I detect some hypocrisy on this Senate Floor. Now, I give full credit to the Senator from Moanalua and the good Senator from Kauai. They’re sticking to their guns. They will follow blindly the discredited Hawaii State Bar Association. But several other of my colleagues who turned down Mr. Hong also alluded to how much weight they put on the bar association. So I would certainly expect them to be consistent today and vote against this nominee because the bar association said so.

“No, it’s not an indictment of the bar association, but obviously something is wrong. The Minority Floor Leader alluded to maybe there’s another possibility of why they came up with this negative proposal this time. I’ll state it clearly – my personal belief is they’re trying to cover their okole for what they did to Ted Hong.

“So, those of my colleagues that voted against Mr. Hong because of the importance of the Hawaii State Bar Association, I know they will want to do it again. And then after this is over, we should sincerely look at criteria and statements made when good people come forward and volunteer to serve our community and are subject to some of these statements and some of the antics that we’ve seen in the last couple of weeks.

“So, I wholeheartedly endorse Ms. Polak and urge my colleagues to support her too. Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hooser rose again and said:

“Mr. President, just a brief remark, if I could, in rebuttal.

“I’d like the record to reflect that I follow no one blindly, and I take great offense to the self-righteous, pompous comments given by the Senator from Hawaii Kai.

“Thank you.”

Senator Inouye rose in support of the nominee and said:

“Mr. President, I speak in support of the nominee, and I’d like the words of my colleague from South and West Maui entered into the record as if it were my own. Thank you, Mr. President.”

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Ige rose to speak in support with reservations and said:

“Mr. President, I would just like to note my support with reservations, and I would like to echo the remarks of the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee. The Hawaii State Bar Association is one input of many that we take, in looking at judicial nominees. I find that in looking at all of the information that I have before me, that I can support the nominee with reservations.

“Thank you.”

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in support of the nominee and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of the nominee and not because of the bar association, not because of anything else. I owe my life to an E-5 who was my crew chief on an airplane. She was an E-5 and that’s part of my reason why I support her.

“Thank you.” (Laughter.)

The motion was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, 3 (Hooser, Kim, Sakamoto).

At this time, Senator Hanabusa introduced Judge Polak to the members of the Senate.

At 1:05 o’clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 1:10 o’clock p.m.

- | | |
|------------------|-----------------------------|
| House Bill | Referred to: |
| No. 2759, H.D. 1 | Committee on Ways and Means |

Senator Kawamoto rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, it is with deep sadness that I've seen the degradation of Senate courtesy and the unspoken rule of treating fellow Senators with respect and honor for their position.

"In this morning's talk show, a Senator used my name in vain to prove his point. As for me, after this Session, my skin is thick like an elephant with all the things that go on. But what bothers me the most is that this Senator used a bill that was a bad bill . . . not a bad bill, a bad example of a bill. It's not a bad bill. It's a good bill. Anyway, that bill was not a good example for where veto power of the chair was used. The veto power was not taken at that time. In fact, he was part of the discussion when the bill was recommitted in the House after rejecting the House request.

"All I ask is that the Senator, if he wants to use my name in vain, at least do the research as he's done on other things to prove his point. Because, the veto power was not used on that bill that he announced on the radio today.

"Thank you very much."

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Whalen).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3097 (Gov. Msg. No. 245):

Senator Kawamoto moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3097 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Espero and carried.

Senator Kawamoto then moved that the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of MARIE H. WEITE to the State Highway Safety Council, term to expire June 30, 2007, seconded by Senator Espero.

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in support of the nominee as follows:

“Mr. President, I’d like to speak on Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3097.

“Mr. President, your TMG Committee also held a hearing on Gov. Msg. No. 245, nominating Marie Weite to the State Highway Safety Council for a term to expire 6/30/07.

“Marie Weite serves as a bodily injury unit leader and litigation senior adjuster in the areas of automobile, homeowner’s and general liability insurance for First Insurance Company of Hawaii Ltd. Prior to her current position with First Insurance Company, she worked as an adjuster for Island Insurance Companies Ltd. for over 20 years. Ms. Weite is also a certified child safety consultant and has participated as an instructor in many child-passenger safety educational events.

“Your Committee finds this nominee highly qualified and would be a valuable addition to the State Highway Safety Council. I urge my colleagues to advise and consent on this nominee.

“Thank you.”

THIRD READING

H.B. No. 1800, H.D. 1, S.D. 1:

Senator Taniguchi moved that H.B. No. 1800, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Taniguchi rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this measure.

“Mr. President, H.B. No. 1800 is the 2004 supplemental budget for the executive branch of government.

“Before I give some short remarks about the bill itself, I would like to acknowledge a few people who were instrumental in putting this measure together.

“First would be my hardworking staff, the Ways and Means staff, some of whom have joined us in the gallery today. With your permission, Mr. President, I’d like to ask them to rise to be recognized. (The members of the Ways and Means staff rose to be recognized.) Of this group, Mr. President, I’d like to especially acknowledge my Committee Clerk, Mr. Rod Tanonaka, who’s done an outstanding job.

“Next, I would also like to acknowledge my colleagues on the Ways And Means Committee. I would like to especially thank them for their patience and their open debates, and most of all, their faith in me as their Chair.

“I would also like to thank you, Mr. President, and the rest of the Senate Leadership for providing guidance and leadership to us in all our deliberations thus far.

“Finally, Mr. President, I’d like to acknowledge the support of my family – my wife Jan, and my two kids. They’ve always been supportive of me and been able to push me out the door when sometimes I wanted to stay in bed. It’s been especially hard for us. We’ve been taking care of my mother-in-law who suffers from dementia. So, it’s been especially hard on us, but they’ve come through real well for me.

“Mr. President, my true desire would have been to address this measure with very little fanfare. While it is an extremely important bill, and it really is the centerpiece of our financial plan, I believe the bill speaks for itself.

“As far as appropriations go, this measure does what we have consistently done over the years – we have provided much needed resources to very crucial government programs.

“We have again demonstrated our support for public education. We shored up our programs in health, human services and public safety. We even found a way to grant the HHSC, the Hawaii Hospital Systems Corporation, their full subsidy request.

“We also took the time to trim government spending very carefully, paring back some of the Governor’s $120 million requests for new spending, and we also reduced the size of government in the process.

“Moreover, these adjustments paved the way to provide the funds for collective bargaining agreements recently concluded. They have strengthened our battle against ice, and we’ll be able to get more resources to our schools – all of these things the Governor has not been able to do in her financial plan.

“Mr. President, as we head into Conference, I must advise this Body that, as always, this bill is a work in progress. We must be mindful that the HSTA and UPW are still out their trying to hammer out their contracts. Although we are moving efficiently, our vote on the budget today does not close the door on them.

“On that note, I ask my colleagues to remain patient and support me, as well as our counterparts in the House, as we enter the final weeks of this Session.

“With that, I ask my fellow members to support this bill. Thank you.”

Senator Hemmings rose in support of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this bill.

“Mr. President, I know the good Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee is going to be elated that I’m going to be joining them on the Conference Committee. (Laughter.) I, too, would like to thank his staff. They’ve done such wonderful work and when they do come into the Committee and aid us with our deliberations they are very well informed. An amazing group of people, they work behind closed doors, more or less the illuminati of the legislative process and they do an excellent job. I do have faith in our Committee Chairman. I know he’s going to adhere to his principles and do what he and his colleagues in the Majority Party think are appropriate.

“In addressing this budget and speaking to it, I do want to refer to the committee report on a couple of issues that are pertinent to this in comparison to the executive budget. Your Loyal Minority, Mr. President, has constantly stood up and recognized that vacant positions are problematic, and we’re very pleased that the Majority, under the leadership of the Chairman of Ways and Means, are addressing these issues. But we also note that the vacant position funding has been used for well over 30 years to fund other programs necessary to run the state. We’re very pleased that vacant positions are being eliminated, but we do want to remind the Majority Party that that funding oftentimes is used to pay salaries and overtime of public employees, and by unilaterally eliminating those vacant position fundings from the budget process and not replacing money that’s used to pay employees, we’re imperiling the jobs and the future of some departments and their programs. And that, to us, seems problematic.

“We do recognize that the good Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee did put back into the budget, funding for our health service programs and our state hospitals throughout the state. Then we come in the committee report to the very sticky issue of collective bargaining, and the committee report and Majority Party seems to take issue with the settlement of UHPA. The committee report laments that it is a six-year plan funding. I might, for the record, remind my Majority Party colleagues that the six-year plan quite frankly is a good plan. It does address increases in UHPA pay incrementally, and in the years projected where the state will be lean on money, the pay increases reflect that by not being as extensive. It also allows for 25 percent of the pay increase to be paid by the University of Hawaii directly, thus the $124 million over the six years comes out to a little over $20 million a year that has to come out of the state coffers.

“There’s another principle involved here because the committee report goes on and compares UHPA pay raises to the recently arbitrated pay raises for HGEA. I think it’s incredibly important for the Majority Party to recognize something that seems readily apparent to us, and that is we do have to set priorities. Compensation of university professors and the work they do and the amount of preparation they have to do to become doctorate or master degree holders and the amount of work they do in their day-to-day work with the University of Hawaii cannot be compared to many of the other bargaining units. The bottom line is they’re all different and they all should be treated differently in the collective bargaining process. I think the Governor recognizes that the University of Hawaii professors deserved a pay raise and she gave it to them.

“There’s another thing that is extremely salient where this committee report and the Majority Party, who’s supporting it, seem to contradict themselves. The collective bargaining for the UH professors was done with the right to strike. The collective bargaining for the HGEA, at one point, did not become bargaining anymore because it went to binding arbitration. The committee report is a little misleading. It says fiscal impact of the decision will cost the State of Hawaii $33 million in general funds for fiscal year 2004-2005. Well, that’s for about a half a year it’s going to cost $33 million. What the committee report doesn’t say is that it’s going to cost $54 million a year for every year thereafter, far surpassing what is being spent in the university area, which it tried to compare itself to.

“This committee report says this Governor is implying the administration may not be bargaining in good faith. Well, I’ll tell you what I don’t think is good faith. This administration cannot bargain in good faith when they’re sent to binding arbitration where they no longer bargain and the third party oftentimes not from the State of Hawaii makes an arbitration decision. What’s not good faith is the Majority Party members who several years ago eliminated binding arbitration and voted to put the right to strike back into the collective bargaining process. What’s not good faith is 23 Majority Party members last year did a 180 degrees on their prior vote to have good faith bargaining reinstated by having the right to strike rather than arbitration. I do recall when the Governor vetoed that bill and it was overridden on this Floor, Mr. President, the Majority Party was very defensive about that issue when your loyal opposition said that these arbitration decisions are going to result in dramatic increases in state spending and sometimes we will not be able to move forward. And what we have done is we’ve really taken the arbitration out of it and we’ve acquiesced our control over the bargaining process to a third party arbitrator, often as has happened.

“And so, Mr. President, we do have fundamental ideological differences in this budget. I will be voting ‘yes.’ I do believe in the process, and I do believe that over the long haul, hopefully we can find some common ground to do what’s best for the people that are paying these bills.

“As the argument goes on, we would also like to demonstrate to the public some of the facts concerning the compensation of public employees in relationship to their counterparts in the private sector, including their benefits. So Mr. President, as the good Senator from Manoa did say, this is a work in progress, and we will continue to progress.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Kokubun rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I stand in support of H.B. No. 1800, H.D. 1, S.D. 1.

"First, I'm very pleased, Mr. President, to acknowledge the fact that the good Senator from Waimanalo has seen fit to change his vote, in a matter of days, to support this budget now as he opposed it in Committee and has evidently seen the light in terms of why he will support this budget to a greater degree.

"Mr. President, on behalf of the members of the Ways and Means Committee, I want to personally thank the Chair for his evenhandedness and calm demeanor. That truly set the right atmosphere for all our deliberations in Ways and Means. I think that was the appropriate atmosphere to have, in terms of us dealing with sometimes what can be some very cold issues, just dealing with lots of money. But, you know, his sense of humor always brought a very human element to our deliberations on the Committee. I think no one can argue with the fact that his being fair – a very, very fair Chairperson – in terms of looking at all the factors that go into making decisions is really indisputable. I really take my hat off to him and for imparting his knowledge to all of us on the Committee.

"Also, I of course want to thank the members of the Ways and Means staff. They did an excellent job as has been acknowledged all around. More than anything, I think, just getting to know them as people and the kind of warm personalities that they have, also adds to our deliberations on the budget, because I know that even in terms of developing the committee report, they have their jobs to do. They have budget analysts, for instance, that have to take a very hard look at what's being proposed. But I think they also have compassion and they demonstrate that, I think, in how they help the Committee.

"So, Mr. President, I stand in support and I also want to again personally thank the Chair. Thank you."

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"First, I, too, would like to hand out the accolades to the Chairman and Vice Chairman, fellow committee members, and the staff. I think everyone did do a good job in terms of having and fostering open debate.

"But for the Vice Chairman's edification, some of us see the same light that we saw in Committee and follow that same light. So that's why I'm standing in opposition today.

"I think part of the problem is that there is certainly a difference of opinion between the executive budget as presented and certainly the House version and our Senate version. And I think that the Senate version that we're voting on today does differ significantly in a number of key areas from what the executive proposed. I think that the executive had a financial blueprint and I think we are varying from that blueprint and trying to make things up as we go along.

"I accept the idea that this is a work in process and I regret that I won't be able to join you every night to hear the call of 'agree/disagree, agree/disagree.' But the Minority Leader will be able to carry the water for us on that and bring back the light to us.

"I know, for example that the administration had asked that various positions be funded by the general fund rather than general obligation bonds, and the Senate did not concur with that. It is a common fiscal practice that you don't take care of operating expenditures and things like salaries with long-term bonds, but that is the Senate position here.

"The administration also asked for additional general fund money for certain primary care services. And again, the Senate in its budget version disagrees. Instead, we are going to take up two other bills – one that will raid the emergency reserve fund and another that will raid the rainy day fund or the, I'm sorry, the special funds – so that two things here – one, the budget does not give a full total and accurate picture of the state's expenditures and fiscal plan; and two, again we are in the process of raiding funds. In terms of closing down those funds, some of us certainly agree to that. We agree with that the auditor had said years ago. We're not doing that. We like to fatten up the funds and then raid them and keep them going, allowing the people to think that in fact they are special and that those funds are going to be used for the purposes in which they're taxed or have fees attached – both of which are not the case.

"In addition to that, the issue of vacant positions, Mr. President and colleagues, I remind you, it was not the Majority Party, it was the Minority that kept talking about abolition of vacant positions for years and seemed to fall on deaf ears until there was a change in administration and now there is a rush to remove vacant positions starting with those that are six months or longer. We were talking about the ones that were several years in length and where monies had been diverted for purposes other than those positions or those functions. So, certainly we have to take a broader look at this in the future.

"In addition to that, if we look overall at the version that is before us today and the executive's plan, we see that there is not a great amount of difference. It's probably about 1-1½ percent in overall dollars, but there is a significant difference, as I say, as to where the positions are. For example, the Lt. Governor's Office denied positions. We know about the transfer of functions out of DAGS to the auditor and so forth. And also, on the funding, not only general fund versus general obligation bonds, but also funding in this budget document versus outside.

"So, I certainly will keep an open mind and see what comes out of the Conference Committee, but at this time, with these figures and this philosophy, I must vote 'no.'

"Thank you, Mr. President.

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, I think there are many, many things in this budget to commend it, not only the hard work of the Ways and Means Committee, the staff, and the tireless hours that the Chair and Vice Chair put in. Having sat in those seats, I understand what they've gone through, and I think they've done an excellent job. I think we have a solid financial plan, and there are many wonderful things in this budget to commend.

"I'd also like to thank the Chair and Vice Chair for the courtesies extended to me and my colleague and often Co-Chair, the Chair of Human Services. Since neither of us sit on Ways and Means they've sought our advice and input on many of the measures that the Committee decides on, without our being at the table to have direct input.

"I'd also like to say mahalo for the effort that went into WAM taking another look at the Hawaii Health Systems Corporation. The fact that they heard from folks on the neighbor islands, heard from me, heard from my Maui colleagues and others who asked them to fully fund HHSC. I acknowledge that there are some issues in this area that we're going to need to continue to work on. I look forward to having the opportunity next Session to work with the Chair on some other ways that we might improve the system, recognizing, I think, full well that it's never going to be self-sufficient. There's no other public hospital system on the mainland that is.

"And while I might have said some things differently in this report, it nevertheless acknowledges some real issues that I think the Chair was wise to bring forward, and I look forward to the opportunity to continue to work with my colleagues on this measure.

"I urge everyone to support it. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 1800, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE STATE BUDGET," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, 2 (Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Whalen).

H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1:

Senator Sakamoto moved that H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Hooser rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of H.B. No. 2002, S.D. 1.

"Mr. President, this is our education omnibus package bill. It contains many, many good items and I just want to acknowledge that it's a work of many, many, many people. There are a great number of people who have contributed to this bill – teachers, principals, students, parents. We had some representatives of the Hawaii State Student Council who have contributed to the bill, and PTSA, the Hawaii Business Roundtable, the Governor or chief executive . . . key ideas, components contained in this bill, many of them . . . representatives from the San Francisco district school area, Edmonton, and of course our colleagues in the House and the Senate. I believe that it represents a great piece of work of collaboration on many important areas in education, reinvention and reform.

"Just a few days ago, the Senate Education Committee had a public meeting where we discussed and had people come in from all over the state and heard about four hours of testimony representing a broad range of topics – topics including the seven school board issue, weighted funding, the role of parents and principals. I have to say it was a really truly great discussion. Those of you that had the opportunity to watch it on television or attend the meeting, I think you'll agree with me that it was a well informed, articulate discussion of the issues.

"But at the end of the day, there were two points that are very, very clear. One is that there were many, many areas of agreement. If you look at the executive branch, you look at the legislative branch, you look at the teachers, principals, parents, there are many, many things that we all agree on. And there are a few points of disagreement.

"I'd like to focus my comments on the broad range of agreement and encourage my colleagues, as well, to move forward and think about where we agree, where we can work together, where we can collaborate.

"Almost all the participants support the concept of the weighted funding formula. This is a central component of both the Governor and the legislative package and it is an, of course, essential component of this bill. Almost all participants agree that we need to place more money, more control at the school level and push decision making down to the school level. Again, just about everyone agrees with that, and this is a part of this important piece of legislation.

"Almost everyone agrees that principals are the key leaders in schools and ultimately responsible for the school's success and that we need to empower our principals, support them with ongoing training and support, and may work for exceptional performance. Again, we all agree, and this is in the bill.

"We all agree that teachers are the central figures in the classroom and it is in the classroom where student growth and achievement happens. This is where the rubber meets the road, and most of us agree that we need to foster teacher excellence and reward those teachers who excel. Again, this is an important component of this bill.

"Number five, I think we all agree also, certainly the testimony that I hear, the parents deserve and require a meaningful opportunity to actively participate and collaborate with their school and to take responsibility for the success of their school. Again, much agreement and this is in the bill.

"Small class size – I think research clearly shows that most people when they go out in the community and ask people what they want, they'll tell you small class size is important. Again, this is in the bill for grades K-3. Books, facilities – the testimony comes in that we need to spend more money on books. Again, these are areas of agreement and areas that are supported in the bill.

"Yes, Mr. President, colleagues, the debate over the past 18 months on educational reform has covered many, many issues. Some areas we agree, some we don't. It's been a good debate, often intense, sometimes with rancor. But it is clear that the primary elements of this bill have wide spread support. It is also clear that we have areas of disagreement. But I think it's time, Mr. President, colleagues, that we move forward, that we set aside our differences and move forward on the areas that we know are important and that we all agree are critical to making our schools a better place for our students.

"It's time to move forward from debate to action. It's time to set aside the rancor. It's time to set aside the rhetoric. It's time to work together with parents, with students, with teachers, with administrators, with our business community, with the Governor, with the House, with both parties in the Legislature. It's time to move forward for positive education reform.

"This bill offers systemic change that will significantly improve the way we manage our schools. And more importantly, it will have a direct and positive impact on improving student achievement.

"For these reasons, Mr. President, I urge unanimous support so that we may again move forward together in positive support of our public education system.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hogue rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this particular measure.

"I appreciate the comments of the past speaker and all those who have worked on this discussion regarding education reform. There have been tremendous debates going on all over this great state about this very important subject in the past several weeks and several months. I appreciate the civility of the Chair of the Education Committee and the Vice Chair as well for keeping our discussions in our Committee civil, where in other areas of our society those debates were not civil. I think it's very important that we listen to those people who don't share the same point of view. So, Education Chair, thank you very much in that regard.

"My opposition, colleagues, comes from what has been left out of this bill. I agree with the previous speaker that there have been areas of agreement – weighted student formula, empowering principals, helping out the teachers, and the charter schools, etc., etc., etc. However, we have left out one very important area of agreement, and that is allowing, ultimately, the voters to decide on this.

"If I could liken this to a sports competition, it's as if we're getting ready to play a championship football game. We've had the pep rallies. The coaches have talked to the media. All the kids have gotten on the bus. Everybody is ready to cheer. The football teams have gone down to the stadium. They put on their uniforms. Everybody is ready to go, then at the last minute they say you're not going to play. That's what we've done here. We've said we're going to have this debate, but you ultimately, public, are not going to get an opportunity to decide this issue. That's the one area of education reform that we must have.

"Ultimately, I guess the public is going to decide because they're going to decide all of our fates in upcoming elections. It would have been nice if they could have decided on education reform instead. So, I would encourage those who are going to support this measure to still consider that one very important bit of competition – that the public should have the right to decide this issue at the ballot box. And for that reason, I'll be voting 'no.'

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Whalen).

H.B. No. 2003, H.D. 1, S.D. 1:

Senator Hanabusa moved that H.B. No. 2003, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Baker.

At 12:57 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 1:03 o'clock p.m.

Senator Hogue rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to support this measure with reservations.

"First of all, I want to thank the Chair of the Judiciary Committee. She answered all of my questions that I had about one of the sections of this particular bill.

"The area that I have in question and that I have reservations about is Section 22 of the bill. It's on page 61. We had a lengthy discussion about it in Committee. This essentially has to do with home rule. It is about drug rehab homes in residential areas. What this bill purports to do is to have the state oversee this particular process and take it away from the counties.

"There's one sentence in here that I find objectionable and I've had calls from members of neighborhood boards and they're very concerned about it as well. It says no conditional use permit, variance, or special exception shall be required for a residence used as a drug rehabilitation home. What you've done is you've taken the counties out of the process. And maybe that's the intent of this particular bill, but I don't think that's a very good idea. We should have more or most local control over issues like this.

"We had some people at the hearing, and although they were not specifically talking about a drug rehabilitation home, they had some concerns about some problems that had occurred in their particular area. And that area happened to be in my district.

"So, I would hope, as this bill moves forward and I appreciate the discussion on it, that we can strike Section 22 and give this right back to the counties where, frankly, it should be.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Aduja rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"May it please the President and my Senate Colleagues that I rise in support of H.B. No. 2003, H.D. 1, S.D. 1.

"As one of the three Co-Chairs of the Joint House/Senate Task Force on Ice and Drug Abatement I urge my colleagues to support this substance abuse omnibus bill.

"Mr. President, as you know, your devoted members of the Legislative Task Force have attended over 80 hours of informational briefings and public hearings and made numerous site visits to fully understand the scope of the ice and drug epidemic and to hear the will of the people in all of our communities. The findings of the legislative task force have been extensively documented in its final report, which was presented to the President and the Speaker in January 2004.

"The diligent work of the Legislative Task Force produced H.B. No. 2003 and its companion, S.B. No. 3233. S.B. No. 3233 was passed by this Body on March 1st with the votes of all Democrats and one Republican. Mr. President, H.B. No. 2003, as with its Senate companion, adds and amends various laws relating to criminal conduct for drug-related offenses. It designates a significant amount of funds for treatment and rehabilitation to assist those addicted to drugs to turn their lives around. This bill also provides for stiffer penalties for drug dealers, increased authority for law enforcement, and the expansion of drug courts.

"Mr. President, this is an excellent bill which deserves the support of all your members who truly care to stem the ice epidemic and help our communities heal.

"Mr. President, your Windward Senator truly knows that the ice epidemic in Hawaii is so serious, so commonplace that many of us know someone close enough who has fallen victim to drug addiction.

“Mr. President, ice does not discriminate. It preys on the young and the old, the rich and poor, the educated and the illiterate, the professional and the amateur, the doctors, lawyers, their husbands, wives, children and everyone in between. We are all affected in one way or another, and with this bill and its companion, the Legislature has taken full responsibility to turn this tide around, as we can no longer prolong inaction.

“We need to move swiftly, soundly, and efficiently, which is precisely what this measure empowers our communities to do. Mr. President, your Windward Senator fully credits the communities of Kahaluu, Kaaawa, Punaluu, Hauula, and Laie. The ice campaign, which originated in your Windward communities has spread like wildfire.

“We can no longer remain silent. The car thefts, the abandoned vehicles, the car accidents, the burglaries, forgeries, stealing of mail and the altering of checks, the assaults, the abuse of household members, the child abandonments, the homicides, the suicides – we have heard and seen it all. Some of us have even lived through it. Some of us are still suffering.

“Now is the time, Mr. President, to walk the talk – not walk and talk, but to walk the talk. We have talked about it long enough, and now let’s put our words to action. Mr. President, we can, and should, and must work together to protect our children – our most vulnerable members of our community – from drugs. We also must provide long-term treatment for those hardcore drug addicts. At the same time, we must also provide for stiffer penalties for the drug dealers and increased authority for law enforcement. Mr. President, H.B. No. 2003, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, does just that.

“It is your Windward Senator’s hope that this bill will receive bipartisan support. This issue is not about politics. It is about people of Hawaii – our kamali’i, our children, our keiki – and their future.

“Mahalo nui loa and I thank you Mr. President for all of your blessings during the term of the Task Force. In May of 2003 we humbly asked you for your authority to form, and you openly gave it to us. And with everyone’s cooperation, we presented you with this package. Now, colleagues, I urge all of you to pass this bill.

“Thank you.”

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

“I don’t think there’s any disagreement on all of us acknowledging the realization of a problem and the impact and the effects of the problem. I think where the differences come in are where we look at the solution.

“The Legislative Task Force worked very diligently. They performed a valuable community service. Basically, they validated what the Lt. Governor’s drug task force did. Those of us that did attend the community meetings, that did hear the stories that the last speaker was talking about, the incidents and all, fully agree with all of that information.

“Where we disagree is what do we do about it. And while there’s talk about stiffer penalties in this bill, there also, if you read very closely, a broadening and a liberalizing of opportunities for those that commit crimes. Certainly we don’t disagree with the concept of treatment, but none of us like to be patsies. None of us like to have hardened criminals use the drug court or drug treatment options as a ‘get out of jail free’ card. And in fact, that’s what this bill allows.

“It does not provide for the stiffer penalties that we talk about, or I guess we can agree to disagree what stiffer penalties mean. It does not provide, as the previous speaker said, the walk and talk and knock and talk, some of the things that the law enforcement coalition wanted. It does liberalize and broaden and expand Act 161, which a number of us had problems with. From the very beginning we’ve said we’ll give it a try and see how it works. Well, we did see how it worked and what we hear from the community is they want these people off the street. They want swifter justice. They want the tools in the hands of the law enforcement community. And this bill does not make it easier to shut down drug houses. It does not make it more certain that people are going to pay for their crimes. It just means that we’re going to spend more money for treatment and allow people to say, well yes, I robbed; oh yes, I abused; oh yes, I raped and pillaged, but I was on drugs at the time. I think that’s the wrong message and I think that’s the wrong emphasis.

“So while there are many good things in this bill, and hopefully it will become an even better bill during Conference, at this time I’m going to vote ‘no.’

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of H.B. No. 2004, H.D. 1, S.D. 1.

“At the close of the 2003 Regular Session of the State Legislature, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and you, Mr. President, convened the formation of the Joint House-Senate Task Force on Ice and Drug Abatement. The mission of the task force was to formulate a comprehensive approach to the myriad of profoundly disturbing problems associated with the ice epidemic that has taken root in our communities.

“The task force recommendations offer many initiatives to battle the ice problem. These initiatives primarily focus on drug prevention, treatment/rehabilitation, and enforcement.

“The measure before us today implements many of these initiatives through appropriations totaling approximately $16 million in fiscal year 04-05. If I may highlight just a few of these important provisions, Mr. President S.D. 1 provides funds to:

Expand the drug court programs in the second and third circuits;

Provide substance abuse prevention and school-based and adult treatment services for our children and families;

Provide grants-in-aid to the counties to sustain grassroots anti-drug campaigns; and Expand the kashbox substance abuse treatment program at the Waiawa correctional center.

“We are not ‘throwing money at a problem,’ Mr. President. To the contrary, we have formulated a battle plan to defeat a vicious scourge.

“I urge all my colleagues to support this very important piece of legislation.

“Thank you Mr. President.”

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Taniguchi’s comments read as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of H.B. No. 2743, H.D. 2, S.D. 1.

“Mr. President, this measure transfers approximately $55 million in excess balances contained in various special and revolving funds to the general fund. As you know, this year, as in years past, the legislature and the executive branch have scrutinized the balances of the various special and revolving funds and have determined that many of these funds have balances in excess of their needs.

“Scrutinizing the financial statements of these funds has always proven to be a good thing. It is, in essence, the Legislature exercising its financial oversight responsibilities of all government operations.

“As I stated earlier, when the companion measure S.B. No. 1491, S.D. 1, was before us for consideration and adoption, this bill is a necessity. This is so because I believe the Governor has not formulated a truly balanced budget. Her six-year financial plan ends with only a $6 million ending balance two years from now, and, she has failed to reasonably anticipate future expenditures required to provide more resources to our public schools, fight the war on ice, and fund collective bargaining pay raises.

“This measure will provide your Committee on Ways and Means with an additional, and much needed source of revenue, to address these and other vital issues, as we proceed to craft our supplemental budget.

“Mr. President, this measure also repeals the statutory authority of the Governor and the various executive departments’ to transfer excess balances from special funds to the general fund at any time during the fiscal year.

“Last year alone, the Governor authorized the transfer of over $240 million from special and revolving funds to the general fund. These transfers were executed without the benefit of legislative oversight, public participation, and open debate.

“By repealing this provision all proposals to transfer excess special and revolving funds to the general fund will be subject to public scrutiny in open legislative forums where it rightfully and democratically belongs.

“I urge my colleagues to support this measure.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 2743, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO NON-GENERAL FUNDS,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Whalen).

H.B. No. 1824, S.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Menor, seconded by Senator Baker and carried, H.B. No. 1824, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ELECTRICIANS AND PLUMBERS,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Whalen).

H.B. No. 2411, H.D. 1, S.D. 1:

No. 2683, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO DEFERRED ACCEPTANCE OF GUILTY PLEA AND DEFERRED ACCEPTANCE OF NOLO CONTENDERE PLEA,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, none. Excused, 2 (Taniguchi, Whalen).

On motion by Senator Hanabusa, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried, H.B. No. 2789, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO SEXUAL ASSAULT,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, none. Excused, 2 (Taniguchi, Whalen).

Senator Kawamoto moved that H.B. No. 1103, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Fukunaga.

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure and said:

“It’s interesting that the committee report says that this bill is in support of small business but really has nothing to do with small business. It has to do with union prevailing wage rates. It was a gutted bill. It’s completely changed. It has to do with mandating the use of union rates for all kinds of people, a number of whom are not even defined in current labor law.

“It will harm small business. It will probably harm a lot of big businesses, and it will cost the taxpayers more money.

“Thank you.”

Senator Sakamoto rose and said:

“Please note my vote with reservations.”

The Chair so ordered.

HOUSE COMMUNICATION

Hse. Com. No. 314, informing the Senate that the House has disagreed to the amendments proposed by the Senate to H.B. No. 1800, H.D. 1, and has requested a conference on the subject matter thereof, in consequence of which on April 2, 2004, the Speaker appointed Representatives Takamine, chair, Kaho'ohalahala, Karamatsu, Kawakami, Magaoay, Mindo, Nakasone, Nishimoto, Shimabukuro, Wakai, Waters, Bukoski, Moses as managers on the part of the House for the consideration of said amendments, was read by the Clerk and was placed on file.

In accordance therewith, the President appointed Senators Taniguchi, chair; Kokubun, Aduja, English, Espero, Hooser, Inouye, Kanno, Kawamoto, Kim, Sakamoto, Tsutsui, Hemmings as managers on the part of the Senate at such conference.

Senator Hemmings rose to speak on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, may I be permitted a point of personal privilege.

"Colleagues, I didn't want to do this when the gallery was full to make a point of this, but I think it's worth putting on the record.

"I voted 'no' against the budget in the Ways and Means Committee procedurally for the simple reason that I did not have a lot of the details in front of me. I know decisions were made while papers were being handed out half way through the hearing on it regarding what was going to happen, which led many of the testifiers to believe that they were testifying in vain.

"I didn't want to bring all of these things up. When we got to the Floor I realized that if I voted 'no' on the Floor, I wouldn't be on the Conference Committee, Mr. Chairman. And I believe that there are probably those who thought that was a great idea, but Mr. Chairman, I hope that we can continue to live in a free society where the right to dissent, the right to have a contrary point of view with the Majority is appreciated and allowed. I don't make the Rules. The Rule says if you vote 'no' on Third Reading of the bill, the interpretation of the Rule is you're not on Conference Committee.

"I really believe that the point of view that we represent over here needs to be represented. The point of view of the Governor needs to be represented, therefore, I voted 'yes.' That explains my vote and what might be perceived by some Majority members as a 180. I don't make the rules, Mr. Chairman, and I'm doing what I think is best to advance what I believe in my heart, believe in for my whole life. The fact that some people in the Majority Party want only people on the Conference Committee that will rubberstamp their dictates makes me even more desirous to be on the Conference Committee.

"I thank the leaders for recognizing the fact that voting 'no' on the Floor is where its decided who's going to be on Conference Committee. Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Taniguchi rose in response and said:

"Mr. President, just in response.

"I guess part of it is that the theory I guess I've always had in my numerous years here is that, generally speaking, when you go to Conference, the conferees on behalf of the Senate are supposed to vigorously support the Senate position in Conference in opposition to what the House is doing. So, I think part of it for us is that if people vote 'no' on these bills, then I guess there's some question as to whether they will be supporting the Senate position.

"That's historically why people who vote 'no' on the bill weren't allowed to go to Conference because that was I guess the philosophy behind Conference is that you're supposed to really fight for our position even if you may not even agree with it. But if you voted for it, then you've got to go with it.

"That's a lot of why the Rule was established. It's not a matter of partisanship or that kind of thing or trying to keep a particular perspective out, but that's the basis of it. That's why I think we do have questions as to why people vote 'no' on particular bills and still would want to be on the Conference. I think we've had members in the Majority Party who also voted 'no' and would like to be on, or voted with reservations so that they could stay on to provide their input and I think we've acknowledged that.

“So, maybe that philosophy that I’ve had over the years about Conference maybe changed a little bit, but I think that was the reason why the Rule was established.

“Thank you.”

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"The original idea, which was an administration objective, was to make the state law the same as the federal law. The federal law has certain requirements at a $50,000 level. The bill came in at $40,000. It was amended in the Senate to $20,000. The point is, whatever the amount, it's going to impact and affect small businesses the most. It's going to be most difficult for them.

"And as I've said before, really, business is the tax collector in this state. We in business do all of the tax collecting, the cost, the personnel, and everything else and we just turn over the money to the state.

"This will be more of a burden and I urge a 'no' vote on it. Thank you."

Senators Kim, Ihara, Sakamoto, Aduja, Hooser requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 2511, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

H.B. No. 2397, H.D. 1, S.D. 1:

On motion by Senator Taniguchi, seconded by Senator Kokubun and carried, H.B. No. 2397, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT MAKING AN EMERGENCY APPROPRIATION FOR THE HAWAII STATE DISASTER REVOLVING LOAN FUND," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Ige).

Senator Slom rose to speak on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I brought up an issue in the Ways and Means Committee this morning that at first looked rather innocuous. There was a problem – a constituent called about a vote that was taken on Friday, one of the many bills that we voted on in Ways and Means. And in getting the bill status off the computer, I noticed that the bill said that everyone was present at the Ways and Means Committee, all 15 votes – 12 Democrats voted aye; 3 Republicans voted nay. The problem with that, Mr. President, is, as I pointed out to the Ways and Means Committee this morning, that in fact was not the case.

"Those of you that know what I do, from the time that I've been in here, I take copious notes when I'm at the committee hearing, including when people are there so that you look at the different vote totals just as the Senate Clerk has to do here – people walk in; they walk out; they're not here; they are here – and in Ways and Means and other Committees too. And sometimes it's a daunting problem.

"Calling that to the attention, however, I did volunteer to share my notes with the Chair at the time, and he later said that he had checked and they found that there was an error that was made and that was it. I was curious, though, because we had some instances last year where incorrect votes had shown up on the computer on the public website, and people look to that website for accuracy. I've had people call me and say how come you voted no on something or how come you voted yes when in fact it was the wrong vote. Again, usually it was a mistake and the error was corrected.

"I'm concerned, however, because I had one of our researchers go through all of the bills on Friday and what I have in my possession is that of the 36 votes that were taken, 35 of the votes were incorrect. I think this is significant because this is what's on the website. Again, this is what the public downloads. This is the information they have.

"There is a consistency though it seems, and I was joking about it this morning. If a Republican gets up and leaves the room, all of a sudden there's a great deal of activity to have a lot of votes. When members of the Majority Party are not even in the room, they are counted as having voted.

"Now, I raise this point of personal privilege not to criticize or to point fingers at anyone, because I know, for example, in Ways and Means the Vice Chairman who usually does the recordation is very accurate in terms of looking around the room. The first vote is always a direct roll call vote for everyone. After that, there's plenty of opportunity for people to have reservations or noes and he, like I, look around the room and I actually do a physical count. I put it down on my sheet. But 35 errors out of 36 bills is not good.

"I guess my real question is, How accurate is all this information and has it happened in other Committees and other times? And I'm suggesting, because this website is so important and because this is the only way that the public has of looking at what we've actually done, that we should take a look at this. I don't know whether we need an investigation or what we need, but we need to make sure that these figures and this information once published is absolutely accurate.

"I remember last year there were a couple of questions that arose during crossover time and the issue was, well that's how the vote was taken and all of that. When my office pointed out that we had videotapes of the Session and we reviewed the videotapes, changes were subsequently made. We have some additional video tapes and if anyone would like to view them or review them, as well as the sheets that I have in terms of who was in the room at the time the voting was taken, I think that's an important point, Mr. President, because as we saw in this latest survey that rated the Governor and the Legislature, that there is continuing criticism of the Legislature.

“I think that we should do everything in our power to make sure that the things that we do in here and the things that we put out for the public for public consumption are as accurate as possible. So, I’ll be very happy to work with anyone and share information I have, but I’m very concerned that the magnitude of this problem seems to be a lot larger than just an occasional mistake.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

At 12:09 o’clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:16 o’clock p.m.

Senator Kokubun rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and said:

“Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege just to clarify the situation that the good Senator from Hawaii Kai raised.

“I think that is very good constructive criticism. I take it in that manner, and I think that this is something that we’re going to have to work on with staff just to be sure that accuracy is the most important part of our process in Ways and Means. I will certainly work toward that end.

“I appreciate the input, though. Thank you.”

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3151 (Jud. Com. No. 4):

Senator Hanabusa moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3151 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

Senator Hanabusa then moved that the Senate consent to the nomination of BARBARA T. TAKASE to the Office of Judge, District Court of the Third Circuit, for a term of six years, in accordance with the provisions of Article VI, Section 3, of the Hawaii State Constitution, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa rose to speak in favor of the nominee and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in favor of Jud. Com. No. 4.

"Mr. President, Jud. Com. No. 4 submits for consideration and confirmation to the District Court of the Third Circuit, State of Hawaii, judicial nominee Barbara Takase. Ms. Takase's education background completely shows her to be born and raised on the Big Island. She is a Ka'u High School graduate, and that's apparently located in Pahala, Hawaii. She's a University of Hawaii Hilo graduate with a Bachelor's of Art in psychology and a teaching certificate. In addition, she received a law degree from the University of Hawaii William S. Richardson School of Law.

"It is her experience, Mr. President, that makes her so well qualified for this position. She began as a pre-trial or pre-sentence investigator for the Hawaii Correctional Center. She did employment counseling. She did victim witness counseling for the County of Hawaii Prosecuting Attorney's Office. Then she went on to law school and returned as a deputy prosecuting attorney for the County of Hawaii. She has served, for my good colleague from Hawaii Kai, as a hearings officer for Felix due process matters, as well as being a per diem judge for the district and family courts for the third circuit for the past five years. Mr. President, that's almost as long as a term for a district court judge.

"The Hawaii State Bar Association found her qualified, with five voting highly qualified and six voting qualified. The Hawaii County Bar reported her basically highly qualified with 24 of her colleagues voting her as such and seven voting her as qualified.

"Mr. President, the most telling statement about Ms. Takase is the fact that she admitted that she has never had any ambitions to be a judge but it was having been provided the opportunity to serve as a per diem judge and sitting on a regular basis between three to four days a week that made her decision to be a judge. She found the work to be challenging, the people appearing before her interesting and stimulating, because this is where (this is what Ms. Takase says as to the district court) most everyday people may have their only exposure to the judicial system either through something like traffic tickets or small claims. She felt it was so important to give them their day in court.

“The person that she replaces, Sandra Schutte, who retired in June, flew from the Big Island to testify on her behalf and she felt that Ms. Takase is highly competent because she has watched her handle difficult calendars, she has a great demeanor, the strength and the courage to make the hard decisions.

“Another attorney was impressed with how Ms. Takase managed the courtroom. Mr. President, when you look at her background, you can understand how someone who has had such diverse experience in the criminal justice system would be able to handle this courtroom. Someone said she has the humility and she serves in the courtroom like she did as a victim’s counselor – with compassion and really understanding, which is what you really need in that district courtroom.

“I ask that you join me to basically put into the position, someone who as almost served a full term as a per diem judge, someone who clearly deserves the appointment. Mr. President and colleagues, I ask that you join me in consenting to Ms. Takase to the Third Circuit, State of Hawaii, District Court.

Senator Inouye rose to speak in support of the nomination as follows:

“Mr. President and colleagues, I speak in support of the appointment of Barbara K. Takase to serve as a District Court Judge of the Third Circuit. Ms. Takase is highly qualified for this post, as has been described by the good Senator from Waianae, the Chair of Judiciary, with her impressive background that should prepare her well for the task ahead of her.

“Barbara has been, as well, an attorney in private practice working in the areas of real property, wills and trusts, and business law, including the formation of limited liability companies, nonprofit corporations, and S corporations as well. Since 1999, as we’ve heard, she has been a per diem judge in both district and family courts. Due to the vacancies in both courts, she often hears three cases or four days a week.

“Mr. President and colleagues, it is important that we have high expectations from the people we appoint to the bench, and I speak to you today with the assurance that Barbara Takase justifies that high expectation. It is also important that a judicial appointee understand the perspective of both sides of the cases she hears, and she should have the appropriate background to reflect that understanding.

“As an aside, Mr. President and colleagues, Barbara and her husband Gerald, who also is a deputy corporation counsel for Hawaii County, are proud parents of four children – an older daughter and triplets. When I was Mayor, in my recollection, and I think Barbara if you can remember, in the early ’90s at the orders of her doctor, she had to be bedridden for months before the triplets were delivered. She exhausted her sick leave and only the Mayor had the powers to extend her sick leave. And because of the hardship put upon the family, I extended the additional benefit of her sick leave in her case. So, I have a personal interest whenever I see the triplets and a personal love for the family.

“As a former deputy prosecuting attorney for Hawaii County, an attorney in private practice, a per diem judge, and an active and concerned member of the Big Island community, Barbara certainly has demonstrated both through her words and actions that she is well prepared to assume the responsibilities of a district court judge of the third circuit.

Senator Hogue rose in support of the nominee and said:

“Mr. President, I also rise in favor of this nominee, Barbara Takase, and I do it as a member of the Minority, also a member of the Judiciary Committee, and as a father of four. So, hats off to you. If you can judiciously do your job as a mother of four, I know that you will do a great job on the bench.

“She does, colleagues, have impressive experience, intelligence, compassion. There’s a serious side to her and I was very impressed with how seriously she takes this nomination and she does it with great humility as well.

“There is something that I think that we haven’t spoken about today and it really struck me when I met Barbara Takase for the first time. There is an aura of fairness about her, and I think that is so very important when you go before a judge. Many of the people that will stand in her courtroom will be doing so for the first time and I think it’s important that you have that kind of an aura.

“So, Barbara, you’ve got it. You’ve got my vote, and colleagues, I hope you have great consideration for her as well and I hope you will favor her with this advise and consent – Barbara Takase to the District Court of the Third Circuit, State of Hawaii.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

At this time, Senator Hanabusa introduced Judge Takase and her family to the members of the Senate.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3152 (Gov. Msg. No. 411):

Senator Hanabusa moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3152 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

Senator Hanabusa then moved that the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of GLENN S. HARA to the office of Judge, Circuit Court of the Third Circuit, for a term of ten years, in accordance with the provisions of Article VI, Section 3, of the Hawaii State Constitution, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa rose to speak in support of the nominee as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of Gov. Msg. No. 411.

“Mr. President, Gov. Msg. No. 411, submitting for consideration and confirmation to the Circuit Court of the Third Circuit, State of Hawaii, Glenn Hara for a term of 10 years.

“Mr. President, Mr. Hara is Hilo grown. He is an honor grad and class president of Hilo High School, and I won’t tell you what year. He received his Bachelor’s in Economics from Stanford University and his Juris Doctorate from Stanford University Law School.

“His experience is as follows: he was a Judge Advocate General, a JAG, basically, in the US Army, and he was a law clerk for Kazuhisa Abe, also someone from Hilo.

“Mr. President, I didn’t realize this when I first met Mr. Hara because I would have made a comment to him. After Judge Abe stepped down from the Hawaii Supreme Court, I had a case with him, and at that time he was very proud of the fact that he had equivalent to two bound versions of Hawaii Reports – us lawyers know what the Hawaii Reports are – and it contained all of his dissents. I just hate to believe that Glenn Hara had something to do with all of those dissents.

“Glenn Hara also served as an attorney general and as a prosecuting attorney. He entered private practice and was a civil practitioner for part of the time. He served as a Grand Jury Counsel. He also served as a per diem judge for five years, an arbitrator, and after serving in solo practice for about eight years, he then joined about seven years ago the law firm of Roehrig, Roehrig, Wilson and Hara. This law firm, by the way, seems to have some kind of monopoly on the Big Island. Everybody seems to be connected to them.

“The Hawaii State Bar Association found him highly qualified, with ten voting highly qualified, six qualified, and one abstention. They did make a comment that they had to make some statement about his temperament. One of the issues raised was that he was much too aggressive as a soccer coach, but somehow that didn’t fall into judicial temperament. The Hawaii County Bar found him to be highly qualified. Basically, 22 of his colleagues voting as such; four qualified; one, basically, not qualified; and three blank votes.

“Many came from the Big Island to show their support for Mr. Hara. When asked why he wanted to serve, he basically said that he grew up in a family where citizenship and service was very important. He said that he found that this would be the way he could serve, short of elected office. That’s the one thing I guess he didn’t want to do. So, as 32 years as a lawyer, he felt that it was now time to serve and return to the Big Island community as a judge if we would confirm him.

“One of the most interesting people testifying on his behalf was Lincoln Ashida. Lincoln is, of course, the corporation counsel for the County of Hawaii now. He said that what he recalls the most about Glenn Hara is that after a case was pau, Glenn Hara will take him aside and tell him what he did right and what he did wrong and what he could do better. So, Lincoln Ashida basically said that the lawyer he is today is because of Glenn Hara. So if anyone has any problems with that, you can blame Glenn Hara.

“Glenn Hara is the son of Senator Stanley Hara, a Democrat, I may add, who served in this Legislature for 25 years. You can see that Mr. Hara’s desire to serve the community, the Big Island, is genuine and it is something that flows in his blood.

“Mr. President, members, I ask that you join me in consenting to Mr. Hara as the Circuit Court Judge for the Third Circuit of the State of Hawaii. Thank you.”

Senator Inouye rose in support of the nomination and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the appointment of Glenn S. Hara to serve as a Circuit Court Judge of the Third Circuit.

“Mr. President, as you know, it is very important that judicial appointments be filled by highly qualified persons with a wide range of judicial experience. Mr. Hara is just such a nominee as referenced by the good Senator from Waianae, the Chair of Judiciary.

“Mr. President, this is the range of experience we expect from a judicial appointee, and the people of Hawaii deserve nothing less. Mr. Hara brings an impressive educational background to his work as well. As we heard, he was an honors graduate of Hilo High School, which we’re all proud of, and was his senior class president, as well as our Senator from Waipahu who was our senior class president. I can say the year – 1958. (Laughter.)

“Mr. Hara worked hard to achieve these goals and his hard work has prepared him well for a life of public service. I wanted to add to Glenn that your friends have called and they all wish you well. Glenn S. Hara has sought challenges all his life and has met them with grace and skill. Mr. President, being a circuit court judge will be his greatest challenge to date, and he, as well as his wife Janet, is well prepared to meet it.

“I offer my wholehearted support to his nomination for this important post. Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hogue rose to speak in support of the nominee and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of this nominee.

“Colleagues, this nominee to the Circuit Court of the Third Circuit on the Big Island does have great experience and great intelligence. I was very impressed with him as I met with him in my office and also in his testimony before the Judiciary.

“He has a great commitment to the community and I wanted to talk just a little bit about that because he and I had a wonderful conversation about coaching girls athletic teams. I coach basketball and many years ago coached softball, and Glenn coaches soccer. We have learned that coaching girls can be one of the most satisfying, absolutely satisfying experiences of one’s life – the way that they listen, the way that they learn. Coaching boys is nice, but coaching girls is very, very special. Glenn and I not only had a great conversation but then he sent me some articles about coaching girls, which I really, really enjoyed. So, thank you very, very much.

“As a coach of a girls athletic team, you not only have to talk about the skills on the court or on the field, but life skills as well, and so it’s an absolutely perfect proving ground for being a judge. I know that Glenn has had wonderful experiences as a coach and I know he will be a wonderful judge, so I urge all my colleagues to vote ‘yes’ for Glenn Hara.

“Thank you very much.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

At this time, Senator Hanabusa introduced Judge Hara and his family to the members of the Senate.

At 12:33 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:50 o'clock p.m.

Senator Trimble rose on a point of inquiry as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of inquiry.

"Current law says that profiting from prostitution is a misdemeanor. H.B. No. 2020 provides that promoting travel services for prostitution is a felon. My question is not really the difference in the penalty, but rather how an overzealous prosecutor will interpret promoting transportation services. Is a cab driver that takes a John or a Jane on a trip, could he be charged with a felony?"

The President then inquired:

“Are you directing your question to the Chair of the Judiciary Committee?”

Senator Trimble replied:

“That seems like the best place in the House.”

Senator Hanabusa responded as follows:

“Mr. President, the intent of this bill was not to cab drivers. It is the promotion of travel to developing countries in particular, and that’s the travel agencies that were looked upon as being class C felons if in fact they are promoting sex tours. This is the intent of this bill.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3115 was adopted and H.B. No. 2020, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PROSTITUTION,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Trimble rose with reservations as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise with reservations.

“You know, I think the appropriate place, if there is a problem with confidential information, is to change the law relating to the Office of Information Practices. There are a variety of departments, branches, and agencies that deal with confidential information, and instead of doing it one department, one agency at a time, I think it’s more appropriate to do it as it relates to the Office of Information Practices.

“Thank you.”

Senator Ihara rose to speak in favor of the measure with reservations as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in favor of this bill with reservations.

“Mr. President, this bill would keep from public disclosure business trade secrets and proprietary records at one of the state agencies. Testimony from the Office of Information Practices says that this information that is sought to be kept secret is already protected from disclosure, and I have the same concern that the previous speaker mentioned in that it may encourage other agencies to start coming in one after the other asking that their records be kept secret that’s already protected.

“The reason that they want to have their information not be, well, to put it in their law is that they want to have some degree of certainty that their records – this proprietary information and business trade secret information – are not made public, which is already the case. So, those are my concerns, Mr. President.

Senator Hogue rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition for much of the reasons that were brought up before us by the previous two speakers.

“This bill is unnecessary. This information is already protected. I think that we really need to be concerned about going this way. If we start protecting certain entities . . . for example, we had a bill come forward in Judiciary about protecting business disclosure for the convention center, for example, and there was a lot of concern there and so the bill ended up getting held.

“I think that we need to really look at this as a slippery slope here. Many times, as a Legislative Body, we are kind of dissed by those in the media and sometimes by the public that we don’t disclose everything and we need to make everything as open as we possibly can.

“So, I really think that this is problematic, especially since it’s unnecessary. Why even go down this road at all? Let’s make the Office of Information Practices be the place that makes certain that things should be or not be open.

“Thank you very much, Mr. President.”

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Mr. President, I, too, rise in opposition to this bill.

“As I’ve said on the Senate Floor this Session previously on other measures, I’m concerned because we seem to be moving in a direction to turn off the sunshine for meetings and information. The good Senator from Kaneohe just mentioned about the convention center bill, and we did discuss that earlier.

“Let me be clear – I’m all for protecting actual trade secrets and proprietary information. But as the good Senator from Kaimuki had mentioned, we already have a law in place and the proper agency for that is the OIP. In recent years we saw that the OIP had become a political football. I think that most of us are very enthusiastic about the new direction of the OIP and that in fact this is the direction and this is the location for these kinds of questions.

“I’m concerned when there is existing law against and yet someone comes in with a law to change that for their specific situation. So, I would urge caution on this. Actually, I urge my colleagues to vote ‘no.’

“I would also, if I may, direct a question specifically to the Chair of Judiciary because this had come up again in the issue about the convention center, and my question would be, the information would be sealed but would the Legislature or Legislative Committees under this law be able to find out the nature of that information?”

Senator Hanabusa rose and replied:

“Mr. President, the question from the good Senator from Hawaii Kai I think is referencing the convention center provision which had an exemption if it was the Legislature that made the inquiry. In this particular bill it is my recollection that there is no such exemption nor is it anticipated as far as the NELHA contracts are concerned.

“Thank you.”

Senator Slom responded:

“Thank you, Judiciary Chair. That was my understanding as well, and I think that makes this more of a difficult bill because here is the Legislature that is funding this agency but the Legislature itself would not be able to get any information. Apparently, others would not be able to get the information too.

“So, if we have a law already on the books, I would urge my colleagues, as I said, to vote ‘no.’ Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3117 was adopted and H.B. No. 2142, H.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO BUSINESS PRACTICES,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 3 (Hogue, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Aduja).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3118 (H.B. No. 2290, H.D. 1, S.D. 2):

Senator Hanabusa moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3118 be adopted and H.B. No. 2290, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak against H.B. No. 2290 in its final draft.

“Mr. President, if this bill is in response to racing and speeding on the highways, I would submit to my colleagues that it’s a non sequitur. It doesn’t fit the occasion. There’s considerable evidence that most of the speeding is being done by drivers who are young adults, and not 16- or 17-year-olds.

“The other principle that I think applies here is that we are penalizing the many for the sins of a few. The viable alternative is to implement swifter, surer traffic violation laws with genuinely strong penalties. And there’s another remedy to 16 and 17-year-olds’ accountability on the road with cars, and that is to do something that we used to do, Mr. President, when we were young kids – parents were held accountable. As we all know, parents have to sign for their children to get their license, and if more parents were held accountable for their children’s traffic violations, possibly there’d be more parental guidance in this area.

“I don’t believe it’s fair to all the young people that for years have been expecting to get their licenses to have to go through this particular process in order to attain it, especially when the vast majority of them – 99 percent of them – are good young kids that will use their license conscientiously possibly for work, school and other worthwhile endeavors. Therefore, I would urge my colleagues to reconsider this bill and vote ‘no’ against it and try to implement laws that are really going to penalize the people that are creating the problems.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in favor of this bill.

“Mr. President, this is not to answer the racing concerns. This is not to answer the questions about speeding. This answer is about the fact that currently, right now, the number one killer for young people from ages 3 to 19 is accidents and situations that was brought in by young people.

“Again, Mr. President, we are one of six states that don’t have any sort of graduated license in the country. This is about young people’s lives. I had the unfortunate opportunity to attend funeral services for three young people who got killed in accidents. Again, we need to insure, and we tried to do that three years back with the education portion, but we still continue to have accidents and concerns about the process in which our young people get their license.

“Like the good Senator from Waimanalo has said, we need to get the parents involved. One of the stages that we have in this graduating license, we have 50 hours of supervised time in which the parents or guardian must sign off their supervised time. So, we’re getting people involved. We’re getting agencies involved. We’re getting the police involved, and we’re getting the young people involved.

“This bill was not instigated by adults. It was instigated by young people trying to save young people’s lives. This graduated license was started three years ago by the Youth In Action group throughout the state, and this is why we brought it up.

“Thank you, Mr. President. I urge my colleagues to vote ‘aye’ on this bill.”

Senator Hogue rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in favor of this particular measure.

“As a parent of four teenagers, I think this measure is very, very important. I think that we have seen success with the graduated licensure in other states, so the proof really is in the pudding. It saves teenagers’ lives.

“In other areas we talked about apprenticeships and we had apprenticeships written into the law. This is kind of almost an apprenticeship for driving a very large vehicle. I think it’s important when we’re talking about maturity or sometimes lack of maturity of teenagers that we have this period so that they get the proper supervision and that we do get parents involved. I do agree with my colleague from Waimanalo that parents should be involved, absolutely they should be involved.

“This is a bill that makes you essentially earn your final licensure to become an adult. So, I encourage all my colleagues to vote ‘yes.’ Thank you.”

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

“Mr. President, in rebuttal.

“If parents really want to get involved, all they have to do is not sign the applications for driver’s licenses. Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hooser rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"Yesterday I had my daughter here, 16-year-old daughter, as my shadow on the Floor. I'm very proud of her as a young lady, and I think there are few 16-year-olds as mature and as together as my own child, if I do say so. But she's not ready to drive. She doesn't have the experience. I thank the Legislature in prior years for passing the laws requiring raising it to 16 and requiring the forms to be signed. We're going through that process right now and she is clearly not ready to drive as mature and as together as she is because it takes experience. And no matter how good a parent you are, no matter how mature the child is, without experience, you can't really learn to drive safely. Certainly she's not ready to drive between the hours of 11:00 and 5:00 in the morning in my opinion.

"I have a couple of regrets. I support the bill 100 percent. My one regret I have is that this is being televised today, and if my daughter sees me testifying in support of this, she's liable not to talk to me for a while. (Laughter.) She thinks this is a terrible bill, but I'm speaking in support of it 100 percent. I like to think I'm a good parent and I try my best. This will give me and other parents a powerful tool. When the teenager says 'I want to go here, I want to go there, I want to drive, I know how to drive,' we can simply say it's the law, you cannot do that. And you prevent 16-year-olds from driving late at night with cars full of teenagers in dangerous kinds of conditions.

"I think it's a good bill and I'm going to be supporting it enthusiastically. My only other regret is that every other parent, except the parents in this room, when the child points at them arguing, they can say don't blame me, I don't make the laws. But unfortunately today, I do not have that excuse to offer to my daughter once this becomes law.

"Thank you."

Senator English rose in support with reservations and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support with reservations, and that way I can get on the Conference Committee.

"My particular district – the islands of Moloka'i, Lana'i, and rural East Maui – has a bit of a problem with this, and the problem is that a lot of times the great distances involved traveling in these very rural areas gets caught up in this particular bill. For example, there are people that live in an area called Kaupo in Hana and it would take them about an hour-and-a-half to two hours to drive into Hana where the school is. There is one bus that brings a few of the kids from that very remote area into Hana High School, but a few of them drive as well. And the problem with it, of course, is that if they can't leave home between 5 a.m. in the morning, it becomes difficult.

"I can support a lot of the provisions in here but I just have to find that delicate line between balancing out the greater interest of safety and welfare of the people on the highways and the people of Hawaii with the need for some of the people in our rural areas to travel during these hours and to travel outside of this. There has been some movement in the bill to accommodate that.

"So, in Committee I voted 'no,' but I've learned from the Senator from Waipahu to vote 'yes, with reservations' and you'll end up on the Conference Committee where you can actually change the things you want to change. So that's why I'm voting 'yes, with reservations.'

"A final point, Mr. President. This bill, while some kids like it, most of the kids that I've talked to don't. And I can tell you that I'm torn between it because on the island of Moloka'i we have an exceptionally high rate of accidents with children. Usually this happens at graduations, proms, these types of events, and for some reason we have a huge proportion of accidents there.

So, I understand the rationale behind the bill and that's why I'll be supporting it 'with reservations.' Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"I appreciate some of the struggles that the good Senator from Maui has gone through, and I learned a lesson a long time ago too – and that was, even if you sit on the Conference Committee, your chances of influencing anything are about 1/10 of 1/2 of 1 percent. So, I think it's important that when we debate bills that we give it our best shot and our best arguments.

"The issue really is not safety and welfare, because all of us are in favor of safety and welfare not only for everyone's kids, including our own, but also for everyone else's on the highway.

"The problem here is, though, again, and it was enunciated a few minutes ago, we as parents can continue to duck our responsibilities by saying it's the law, or somebody else did it, or you have to abide by this, rather than taking our full responsibility and accountability. I think that's what it really comes down to, that plus the fact that 99 percent of these youthful drivers, 98 percent, are drivers without problems, without records, without accidents, without incident. And as usual in government, the only remedy we ever had is using the broad brush to make it apply to everyone, and I think that's a disservice and that's the message we send to our young people as well.

"So, I would say that we certainly want to increase options for safety and for welfare, but it begins with each and every one of us who are parents and we do have the responsibility to do that even if our children don't agree with our decisions. But it's a lot better to do that than say government did it.

"Thank you."

Senator Kim rose to speak with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I rise with reservations.

"Mr. President, it's interesting because more adults get into more accidents. And so, if that's happening, then perhaps adults need to have a graduated license. I'm not sure, but to say that because you go through a graduated license when you're 16 that you're not going to get into an accident and while children or young people are getting killed, I trust some of them are getting killed because adults over the age of 17 are driving. And because of that, Mr. President, I will be voting with reservations.

"Thank you."

Senator Ihara rose and said:

"Please note my reservations on this bill."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3118 was adopted and H.B. No. 2290, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO DRIVER

LICENSING,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom). Excused, 3 (Aduja, Taniguchi, Whalen).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3119 (H.B. No. 2472, H.D. 2, S.D. 1):

Senator Hanabusa moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3119 be adopted and H.B. No. 2472, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

“I note that there is overwhelming testimony in support of the bill. Many of these groups over the years have fought to continue to expand this program of giving sterile needles and syringes to those who are using drugs.

“You know, we should be conflicted. We’ve spent most of this Session so far and we’ll spend the rest of it talking about the drug problem. And in this bill, I see as a problem, as I saw when it was first proposed, that basically we’re saying your behavior and what you do is okay, and in fact we’re going to facilitate it by making the needles available.

“The converse argument to that is, well, we’ll protect disease as long as we give them clean needles on a regular basis. But this Body has shown its reluctance to have any strong punishment or incarceration going for treatment, and yet we’re not talking about treatment in a bill like this.

“What this bill specifically does is take away the sunset provision for Act 292, but more importantly, at least under Act 292 there is a requirement that the director of health implement a disposal and tracking system and report to the Legislature. This bill has in its current form right now, S.D. 1, would remove that so that there’s no tracking whatsoever.

“Now, we talk everyday about the growing crisis in the use of drugs and so we can expect that there’s going to be more and more people that are using drugs if we don’t find effective means, and yet what we’re saying is let’s make sure the needles are clean. I think we’ve lost focus, and I think we’ve lost perspective and I, for one, am voting ‘no.’

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3119 was adopted and H.B. No. 2472, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE SALE OF STERILE SYRINGES FOR THE PREVENTION OF DISEASE,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 3 (Hemmings, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 2 (Aduja, Whalen).

At 1:16 o’clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 1:18 o’clock p.m.

No. 3002 prior to its return to the Senate, and another version of this bill was previously adopted by the Senate Economic Development Committee and transmitted to the Ways and Means Committee.

"This bill tracks the successful 3Rs approach in which DBEDT and the county economic development boards are interested in implementing this initiative. I urge my colleagues to vote in support of the motion."

There are established four local school boards, one in each of the counties of Hawaii, Maui, Kauai, and the City and County of Honolulu, to be elected by the voters of each county as provided by law. Each local school board shall:

- (4) Evaluate the principals managing schools in the local school board’s school district;

SECTION 7. Constitutional material to be repealed is bracketed and stricken. New statutory and constitutional material is underscored.

SECTION 8. This Act shall take effect upon approval, provided that the Constitutional amendment shall take effect upon compliance with article XVII, section 3, of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, provided that subsequent to ratification, sections 3 and 4 shall take effect on January 1, 2007.”

Senator Hogue moved that Floor Amendment No. 11 be adopted, seconded by Senator Whalen.

Senator Hogue rose to speak on the amendment as follows:

“Mr. President, thank you very much colleagues, as you can see by the title of this bill, it’s relating to education.

“The purpose of this amendment is to allow the voters of this State to have the opportunity to see whether they would like to have locally elected to school boards. It also includes the language of the previous bill which would had to do with whether or not there was prerequisite course work for retired teachers, a measure that we endorsed readily.

“I don’t want to get into a big debate here about education reform, but I know that there was a measure passed yesterday in Conference Committee. And it’s kind of interesting, I got a question from a reporter afterwards and I’ll just tell you what the reporter asked me. He asked me, ‘Is this real reform or is it kind of like putting make-up on a pig?’ I laughed at the question and didn’t answer it, but that was his question. So I’m not casting any aspersions on his question, but I am saying that obviously the public didn’t get a voice in that.

“This amendment would allow the people to get a voice as to whether or not they want elected school boards. I think they should get that voice.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in opposition to the amendment and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

“I guess through Session in the House as well as in the Senate, people did have an opportunity to voice reasons for local school boards whether it’s seven more or, as in this measure, four more. In the discussion, people didn’t come forward with many good reasons why student achievement would be raised when we allow district-wide formulation of educational policies when we already have statewide policies. People didn’t come forward saying why should we appropriate general funds to each single local school board when we’re already doing that in S.B. No. 3238, which was mentioned.

“There are several measures that deal with some of the problems for proponents of local school boards. One of those dealt with people feeling distant from the board. We’ve included in S.B. No. 3238, the conference draft, that the Board of Education shall hold at least two community meetings annually in each departmental school district, in addition to their regular meetings to address that issue, as well as, more importantly though, in each school there’ll be a school community council with members of the community, parents, teachers, others to really address the issue. We feel that this and many other provisions will certainly do more to help education.

“At this juncture, Mr. President, we need to focus on learning at the schools, in the classrooms and certainly we need to come forward with reinventing the schools – in essence, allowing the principal to be the pilot, open up the air for the schools to take off, roll down the runway and soar, Mr. President. We need to move ahead with the reinvention. As in the omnibus bill, we don’t need, Mr. President, more air traffic controllers at the mid-level asking for additional flight plans, rationing out fuel, re-ticketing passengers.

Senator Slom rose and said:

“Roll Call vote please, Mr. President.”

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in favor of the amendment and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the amendment.

“Like the local airlines, it’s difficult, for the neighbor islanders especially, to get reservations or input with the public education system. This amendment is simply putting a question on the ballot and letting the people decide. Quite frankly, I don’t know how anyone could be opposed to it in view of the fact that it’s been recognized by everyone that the system that we are now operating under is obsolete and the statewide system, most especially, does not address the special problems that different school districts are confronted with.

“Nevertheless, if people in this state decide that they like the statewide system, they could do it through the ballot initiative, and that’s all this is asking for – for you, the Majority Party, to join us in letting the people decide on how the education system should be governed.

“So, I’m urging my colleagues to allow ‘democracy’ and let the people vote on this. Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hooser rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition.

“Mr. President, over the last 18 months, participating in the process of the Education Committee has taught me many things. I’ve learned many things from many people – teachers, parents, educational professionals, businesspeople. And the one lesson that I’ve learned most of all is that improving schools is not about school boards. It’s about schools themselves. It’s about what goes on in schools and the communities around those schools, what goes on in the classroom between teachers and their students.

“You know, I’m not willing to place something on a ballot which I believe is bad public policy. If I believed it was good public policy I would support this, but I don’t believe it’s good public policy. My research and the people I’ve talked to tell me that this is not substantiated by conclusive evidence that shows that smaller school districts are tied to increase in student performance, that’s number one. To the contrary, the omnibus bill that we’ll be voting on the Floor in a few days talks about and implements small class size, which is clearly substantiated by sound research. The seven school board proposal and the one that’s before us today also include an appointed overarching commission. And the voters of our State have already rejected twice appointed school boards.

“The prior issue of the seven school boards, and since this new one apparently mimics the provisions but has four schools boards, would need seven more Departments of Education, or now four more Departments of Education – four more layers of bureaucracy taking much needed money from classrooms and putting them into those bureaucracies.

“And most of all, there was a lot of talk about neighbor islanders and how the neighbor islanders are behind this and want this. Seven school boards or four school boards would be four or seven politically unequal organizations. In my district, the district of Kauai and Niihau, district seven, would be the smallest, and therefore the weakest, if you would, competing against school boards much larger in size for a finite amount of resources. In the old measure, the districts would be three times as large. With this new measure, Mr. President, Kauai would be competing against a school district over ten times as large, again for limited resources.

“I urge my colleagues to vote against this. You know, again, we’ve had a lot of talk about what the people of the neighbor islands want. I’ve asked the people in my community. I asked them from all parts of the island, 400 different people. I asked them, what is the most important thing that I can do as your Senator to improve public education? And the answer, Mr. President, the number one answer was: you can spend more money on public education, more money on schools, more money on books, more money on facilities, more money on important positions like PC & Cs. And the bill, our omnibus bill does this, Mr. President.

“The second most important thing the people told me they want me to do is to fight for smaller class size, and the omnibus bill does this in the critical ages – kindergarten, first and second, smaller class size.

“The third thing that my constituents are asking me to do is pay teachers more. And our bill provides a $5,000 bonus for teachers that achieve national certification.

“At the very bottom of the list, Mr. President, at the very bottom of the list with right around 10 percent of the people saying that they believe the school boards are the most important thing. I prefer to focus on the top of the list, Mr. President. Our bill does this. It puts decision making, and more importantly or equally importantly, at the school level. It empowers and holds principals accountable. It provides meaningful opportunity for the community to participate.

“Once again I state for the record, improving our schools is not about school boards. It’s about what happens at the school. It’s about what happens in the classrooms, and I encourage my colleagues to vote ‘no’ on this amendment.

“Thank you.”

Senator Menor rose and said:

“Mr. President, I will be voting ‘no’ on this amendment, but I do have some reservations.”

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 11 was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, failed to carry on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 5. Noes, 20 (Aduja, Baker, Bunda, Chun Oakland, English, Espero, Fukunaga, Hanabusa, Hooser, Ige, Ihara, Inouye, Kanno, Kawamoto, Kim, Kokubun, Menor, Sakamoto, Taniguchi, Tsutsui).

The President then announced:

“We are now on Third Reading of H.B. No. 2645, H.D. 2, S.D. 2.”

At 11:12 o’clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Senator Hemmings then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 12) to H.B. No. 2215, H.D. 2, S.D. 2:

SECTION 1. H. B. 2215, H. D. 2, S. D. 2 is amended by deleting sections 1-6.

SECTION 2. Statutory material to be repealed is bracketed and stricken. New statutory material is underscored.

SECTION 3. This Act shall take effect on July 1, 2004."

Senator Hemmings moved that Floor Amendment No. 12 be adopted, seconded by Senator Whalen.

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in favor of the amendment as follows:

"Mr. President, I wish to speak in favor of the amendment that I have offered.

"Mr. President, we have an opportunity to rectify the problem that was created by us last year. Under the Cayetano Administration, the Legislature passed S.B. No. 1096, which ended up being Act 90, 2001, which basically reinstated the right to strike in balancing the tables in negotiations and collective bargaining. At that time, only two Senators voted against the measure. I repeat, only two Senators voted against the measure.

"Last year we retreated from that position and reinstated, in the collective bargaining process, binding arbitration. In the ensuing debate, it was pointed out that by doing so it would result in dramatic increases in the collective bargaining process that the taxpayers would have to come up with. And low and behold, this is exactly what happened.

"The total cost of the HGEA arbitration is going to be $247 million from now until 2009. It's important to note that those employees receive an average of 24.5 percent pay raises in the last six years, far exceeding the 13 percent rate of inflation. Their recent award was going to average about 7.8 percent, considerably more than the administration offered.

"The bottom line is that binding arbitration has indeed done what everybody predicted it would do. It's taken the whole process and tallied in favor of a union at the expense the taxpayers and the expense of fair, equitable bargaining. It's so bad that Mayor Harris, at the county level, has already said that we should reject the HGEA pay raises. The Kauai Mayor said the same thing. In the other jurisdictions, at the county level they've said that in order to accommodate it, they may have to raise taxes on the people of Hawaii.

"It's a very simple decision the Majority Party has to make. You changed your mind last year and reinstated binding arbitration. What was predicated has come true, resulting in severe cuts in the state budget to possibly accommodate binding arbitration decisions. Many of these cuts are going to affect human service programs and other programs for the needy.

"The opportunity to rectify this situation is now, by reinstating the right to strike and allowing the unions to bargain in good faith with the state and come out with hard fought negotiated compromise rather than having a third party, oftentimes not from the State of Hawaii, make financial decisions that are beyond our ability to pay.

"So, I urge my colleagues to do what you did last year. Think it through and make a decision according to what is best for the people that sent us here by voting 'yes' for this amendment.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hanabusa rose to oppose the amendment and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to this amendment.

"Mr. President, there's probably no one who was a stronger proponent of Act 90 than myself. And as well, last year when the Majority of this Body voted in favor of the repeal of the right to strike and the reinstatement of the binding arbitration, this Senator voted in opposition. However, Mr. President, I cannot support an amendment at this stage of this legislative process that seeks to reinstate the right to strike and repeal the binding arbitration process.

"When you look at our budget and you look at our employees, the HGEA units really account for the majority of our state employees. They are entitled to know what will affect the most important thing in their life, which is their wage and their terms and conditions of employment and whether that's going to be determined by arbitration or it's going to be determined by negotiation. I am a proponent of negotiation. I believe in that process, but, Mr. President, I cannot stand by and support an amendment at this stage of our legislative process that's taking away their ability to participate in that process.

"So for that reason, Mr. President, I will be voting 'no' as to this amendment. Thank you."

Senator Slom rose to speak in support of the amendment as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the amendment.

"There is no wrong time to right a grievous wrong, and the grievous wrong was to change last year politically, as this Body did, to go back to the binding arbitration. And so, to say right now this is not the time to do it, it is the time to do it. It's time to do it before we continue to embark on a road that is going to wreak financial havoc with this state, with the taxpayers, and with the keiki that my colleagues are always talking about of the future, because they're the ones that are going to have to pay the burden.

"In addition to that, in terms of having public employee union members participate, they have absolutely zero participation in the binding arbitration process. They are not involved in it in any way. They don't have to approve it in any way. It is only the regular collective bargaining process with the right to strike that gives them full citizenship and an ability to take an active part.

"So, if we are concerned about the future of our public employees, if we are concerned about them as well as other taxpayers and our ability to pay, then we should right the wrong that was made last year while we still have an opportunity to do it. And I would urge my colleagues to support this amendment and I ask for a Roll Call vote, Mr. President.

"Thank you."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Ihara rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I have a point of personal privilege.

"For the viewer's benefit, could we use the microphones so that viewers watching on Olelo can know how we vote."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 12 was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, failed to carry on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 5. Noes, 20 (Aduja, Baker, Bunda, Chun Oakland, English, Espero, Fukunaga, Hanabusa, Hooser, Ige, Ihara, Inouye, Kanno, Kawamoto, Kim, Kokubun, Menor, Sakamoto, Taniguchi, Tsutsui).

The motion to adopt Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3257 and pass H.B. No. 2215, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, on Third Reading was then put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3257 was adopted and H.B. No. 2215, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Trimble).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3263 (H.B. No. 2291, H.D. 2, S.D. 2):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3263 be adopted and H.B. No. 2291, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Trimble then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 13) to H.B. No. 2291, H.D. 2, S.D. 2:

SECTION 2. HB 2291, H.D. 2 S.D. 2 is amended by inserting the following:

"SECTION 1. The legislature finds that persons with disabilities and many seniors are unable to use public transportation, such as buses. Although the city and county of Honolulu currently complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 by providing "handi-cab" and "handi-van" services to the disabled and elderly, additional, alternative transit services are needed to enable this population to get necessary medical services, such as to and from medical appointments, in a timely fashion.

A number of cities and municipalities have supplemented their public transportation services for certain seniors and disabled residents with taxicab companies to provide transportation programs. For example, Montgomery County, Maryland has a discount taxi coupon program for persons with limited incomes who are elderly or who have a disability. Program participants can purchase up to $100 worth of coupons per month at a substantially reduced rate, based on a sliding scale. The program requires an application and verification process to determine eligible individuals.

The purpose of this Act is to require the department of human services to develop and implement a discount taxi program to assist Hawaii residents who are elderly or disabled and have limited incomes.

SECTION 2. (a) The department of human services shall develop and implement a discount taxicab pilot program for the city and county of Honolulu, to be administered by the Oahu transit services, by contracting with interested private taxicab services to provide transportation to eligible residents to fulfill their transportation needs. Transportation provided by the program shall be demand-responsive and available throughout the city and county of Honolulu. The taxi discount program shall include performance-based incentives and disincentives that include consideration of on-time performance, accidents, missed trips, program participant complaints, and vehicle cleanliness.

(b) The department, with assistance from the executive office of aging and the disability and communication access board, shall develop standards to determine eligibility that shall include program participation by seniors and disabled individuals who have limited incomes not to exceed an amount to be determined by the department.

(c) The department, with assistance from the executive office of aging and the disability and communication access board, shall determine the method of identifying program participants and payment system.

(d) The taxi discount pilot program shall be funded by legislative appropriations and federal funds, when available. The department shall use its best efforts to obtain federal funds to enable the development, implementation, and maintenance of the discount taxi pilot program.

(e) The department shall adopt rules in accordance with chapter 91.

(f) The department shall submit a status report on the discount taxi pilot program to the legislature twenty days before the convening of each regular session beginning with the regular session of 2005 and ending with the regular session of 2009.

SECTION 3. There is appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii the sum of $, or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2004-2005, for the establishment and implementation of a medical discount taxi pilot program in the city and county of Honolulu for elderly and disabled residents of limited incomes who are not wheelchair-bound.

SECTION 4. The sum appropriated shall be expended by the department of human services for the purposes of this Act.

SECTION 5. This Act shall take effect on July 1, 2004, and shall be repealed on June 30, 2009."

Senator Trimble moved that Floor Amendment No. 13 be adopted, seconded by Senator Whalen.

Senator Trimble rose to speak on the amendment as follows:

"Mr. President, this a very simple bill. I will not spend a great deal of time trying to convince you to support it, because you should be willing to support it on its face.

"It provides the opportunity for the Department of Human Services to negotiate discounted taxi fares for elderly and disadvantaged to obtain medical services.

"This bill will provide a needed service. It can be done without any costs to the taxpayer. It is a bill that 23 of you affixed your name to the end of at the beginning of this Session. I thought that you ought to have the opportunity, since you put your name there, to discuss and vote for.

"Number four, this bill also provides the opportunity for the Department of Human Services to seek federal grants to extend this . . . the extent of these transportation services to the extent that the costs are reimbursable by the federal government.

"Mr. President, I ask for a Roll Call vote, and colleagues, I ask you to support this measure. Thank you."

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in opposition to the amendment and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this amendment.

"Mr. President, we tried to cut a good bill. Mr. President, the Governor of the State of Hawaii has indicated to the Transportation Committee and the transportation people that transit and those kind of activities should be a county issue, and we tried to doing that.

"Mr. President, also the fact that in the last paragraph, they're requesting general funds to pay for this with no amount specified.

"In view of that, Mr. President, I urge my colleagues to vote 'no.'"

Senator Trimble rose to speak in rebuttal and stated:

"Mr. President, I offer a brief rebuttal.

"I would be satisfied for a $1 appropriation in response to the Senator from God's country.

"Number two, the Department of Human Services is already heavily involved in supply of pass through money for people that are low income and disadvantaged.

"Number three, the Department of Human Services is more interested that transportation services for people disadvantaged be supplied on a timely basis than what is currently happening at the county level, at least in the City and County of Honolulu.

"So, I do urge my colleagues to consider supporting this issue. Thank you."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 13 was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, failed to carry on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 6. Noes, 19 (Aduja, Baker, Bunda, English, Espero, Fukunaga, Hanabusa, Hooser, Ige, Ihara, Inouye, Kanno, Kawamoto, Kim, Kokubun, Menor, Sakamoto, Taniguchi, Tsutsui).

The Chair announced:

"We are now on Third Reading of H.B. No. 2291, H.D. 2, S.D. 2."

Senators Hanabusa, Kim, Tsutsui, Baker, Ihara, Ige and Aduja requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion to adopt Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3263 and pass H.B. No. 2291, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, on Third Reading was then put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3263 was adopted and H.B. THIRD READING

MATTERS DEFERRED FROM THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 2004

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3125 (H.B. No. 2539, H.D. 2):

Senator Menor moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3125 be adopted and H.B. No. 2539, H.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Baker.

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I asked for this to be pulled out of the Ordinary Calendar for the simple reason that it's a step in the right direction. Your Minority Party for years has been advocating getting rid of the certificate of need process because it's problematic to the marketplace and medical service and is especially cumbersome and expensive for anyone wanting to improve a hospital or a major facility.

"This is a step in the right direction and hope the Majority Party sees the wisdom in the future of continuing down this road of liberating the medical marketplace from this burdensome process.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3125 was adopted and H.B. No. 2539, H.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HOSPITALS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3126 (H.B. No. 2092, H.D. 2, S.D. 2):

Senator Menor moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3126 be adopted and H.B. No. 2092, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Baker.

Senator Tsutsui rose to speak on the measure with reservations and said:

“Mr. President, please note my reservations, and I have written comments to be inserted into the Journal.”

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Tsutsui’s remarks read as follows:

“Mr. President, I don’t understand why accepting Canadian medical licensure is a pressing issue. The question I would need answered before approving this bill would be whether or not we have a genuine need for more doctors. I have serious concerns when it comes to the quality of medical care provided to our residents. This is an issue that should be further researched before passed.

“Thank you.”

Senator Hogue rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“I do so reluctantly because I understand the intent of this bill, which is to allow those physicians who are trained and educated in Canada to come and actually practice here locally. However, there was some compelling testimony that came forward that I want to read part of it into the record right now from a Dr. Peter Galpin. He noted that the bill, in its particular form right now, would eliminate the oversight locally here by just allowing those who have a year of residency and some education in Canadian medical schools to come over here and get a license. There would be no discretion from the local board of medical examiners. And as he says:

‘While we recognize and applaud that BME would like to reduce or eliminate the discretionary portions of licensure, allowing the Royal College to determine eligibility of physicians for licensure removes any oversight by American organizations prior to licensure here in Hawaii.

‘Further,’ the doctor goes on to say, ‘once a physician is licensed by the State, they must become credentialed at a hospital. As a member of the credentials committee at one particular local hospital, I can tell you that verifying credentials is difficult enough for physicians trained in the United States. The problem is only compounded when records exist overseas.

‘Further,’ the doctor says, ‘by recognizing the Royal College but not organizations in other countries with equal levels of training – say, England, Japan, Australia, Switzerland, Germany, etc. – we may lead to a vast expansion of the current law. Finally,’ he says, ‘Hawaii is the only state in the union to offer such a policy.’ And he asked these questions: ‘If this is such a good policy, why are we the only state to enact this type of Legislation? And if this is such a good policy, why does Canada require US physicians to undergo training and examination in Canada before licensure?’

I think these are good questions. The bill must be changed from its current form, so I will vote ‘no.’

“Thank you.”

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of this measure.

“Unfortunately, the testimony that was just read into the record by the good Senator from the Kaneohe area was on the first version of this bill and not the current version of the bill. The bill before us is a changed bill. It was one that took some of the concerns of Dr. Galpin into account. It’s a measure that was worked on by the Hawaii Medical Association, by Dr. Galpin, by the Board of Medical Examiners, and the Attorney General. This is a measure that the administration supports. It’s also a measure that continues oversight in its current form by the Board of Medical Examiners.

“The Board of Medical Examiners came to us asking that we work on this measure because they were unable to come up with criteria for ‘substantially equivalent’ and be fair across the board. And this measure tightens those requirements so that you can’t just come in from a third world country and maybe not have the adequate background and then end up as a licensed professional here. It is true that the hospitals do have to do credentialing, but there were hospitals testifying in support of this measure, so they don’t believe that credentialing is an issue.

“And finally, Mr. President, we have a need to provide qualified doctors and professionals in many specialties for which there is a shortage in our state. And this bill allows us to utilize physicians who have the same kind of training that American doctors going to American schools have and makes it possible to obtain their services here in Hawaii. The board in this draft does retain oversight and has been asked to look at the credentials on a going forward basis more regularly than they have in the past. And I believe that because we really have not lowered the standards, we’ve kept them high, that this is a good bill. It’s a bill that will help us recruit additional doctors into our state, additional qualified doctors, and it certainly is a boon for medical consumers throughout our state.

“I urge all my colleagues to support this measure. Thank you.”

At 11:36 o’clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:38 o’clock a.m.

Senator Hogue rose in support with reservations and stated:

“Mr. President, after hearing the testimony of the Senator from Maui and pointing out something that I had not seen in the bill, please note my reservations on it, but I will vote in the affirmative.

“Thank you.”

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3126 was adopted and H.B. No. 2092, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO MEDICINE AND SURGERY," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Hanabusa moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3127 be adopted and H.B. No. 1770, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hemmings rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, all too often your Loyal Opposition, your Minority stands up to oppose legislation. I'm very proud, for the second time today, I'm standing in support of this initiative.

"Mr. President and colleagues, this bill is what we all agreed at the start of this Session should be done. The Senate has added provisions in it to severely penalize those who speed excessively on our highways, and we, by doing this, affirm the concept that harsh and swift justice oftentimes is a deterrent to crime.

"This bill is a step in the right direction, and hopefully laws like this will help alleviate the problems we're having on our highways with speeders and racers. I'm glad that we can have a consensus with the Majority Party on this initiative."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3127 was adopted and H.B. No. 1770, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO MOTOR VEHICLES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I stand in opposition to this measure.

"Reasonable people can listen to the same testimony and come to a different decision. I found that the comments made by the Judiciary were compelling.

"Last year we had the baby drop-off bill. I guess the major difference between last year's measure and this year's measure is that under the baby drop-off bill it was supposed to be 72 hours from birth and this can be any age. But I found that I had a problem with it when the Department of Human Services noted, and I guess it's by our Child Protective Services noted that there was a child that was not with its parents, that they could close the case file in that house even though the house was one that could not be licensable. My sense is that that determination should be done at a level above that of the caseworker.

"For that reason, I will be voting against the measure. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3128 was adopted and H.B. No. 2458, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CHILD WELFARE SERVICES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"We had several bills this year that basically would augment the computer improvements, so called, in the judiciary. The problem is we've been putting a lot of money into the computer system in the judiciary and the idea was that we were supposed to see results and to find it more efficient.

"We've had no reports that in fact it has resulted in efficiency. We continue to have complaints about the way in which the Judiciary does conduct its filings and so forth, but we did have increases in fees to go into the special fund that is now going to fund the computer system.

"I think that we need oversight on this before we continue to pay more expenditures and to hold the judiciary accountable to show us where in fact the progress and efficiency has been made.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3130 was adopted and H.B. THIRD READING

H.B. No. 2741, H.D. 1, S.D. 1:

Senator Taniguchi moved that H.B. No. 2741, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure and said:

“Here we have an example of another bill where there is no problem but the Legislature is trying to create a problem, and it’s one of trying to enforce divisiveness between the legislative branch and the executive branch by requiring additional reporting and responsibility that the Legislature wants from the executive branch in terms of agencies, deputy directors, special assistants and so forth.

“It never was a problem before. It’s not a problem now. We don’t have any evidence that there was a problem other than the Legislature doesn’t want the new administration to continue its policy of trying to re-staff certain positions.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 2741, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

H.B. No. 2748, S.D. 1:

Senator Taniguchi moved that H.B. No. 2748, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

“Under this bill, the Legislature would confirm permanent civil service status of the business action committee. I have consistently opposed all measures by which the Legislature would confirm permanent civil service status. I can think that in this case it is inappropriate even though personally I think that Milton Block has done a fantastic job; even though personally I feel that the business action center has done a superb job.

“I think that in order to keep the integrity of the civil service system, that we ought to let them, like everyone else that becomes a permanent civil service employee, go through the proper and appropriate recruitment process.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Ihara rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I have comments I’d like to submit into the Journal on this bill in favor.”

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Ihara’s remarks read as follows:

“Mr. President, I want to point out what I believe is an inaccuracy in the committee report on this bill. Specifically, the third paragraph states, in part, ‘. . . your Committee created and circulated a proposed Senate Draft 1 that deleted the substantive provisions of the measure and inserted therefor . . .’ I understand that the action described was taken by the Committee Chair, and not by the Committee because the Committee did not have the opportunity to consider this action. The Senate Majority Staff Office did modify their committee report boilerplate language to prevent such errors, but I understand that this particular committee report was drafted by the Ways and Means Committee.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 2748, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO STATE FINANCES,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Aduja rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I have some discussion, if I may, in favor.

“Amateur radio operations are critical to Hawaii’s emergency and disaster response capability. To maintain this capability, 'ham' radio operators must be able to use outdoor antennas from their residences. Because hams have encountered restrictions which prohibit antennas in many condominiums and subdivisions, we need legislative action to provide them with reasonable accommodation.

"The US Congress has ruled that 'reasonable accommodations should be made for effective operation of amateur radio from residences.' Congress has further declared that regulation of all levels of government should facilitate and encourage amateur radio operations as a public benefit.

"Congress has found amateur radio to be in the national interest for its service in emergencies, for advancing telecommunications, for providing a vital reservoir of trained operators and electronic experts, and for international good will.

"Hawaii is especially vulnerable in times of emergency, both because we are so far from outside help and because we are separated as islands. We are especially vulnerable here in Hawaii to natural disasters – hurricanes, tsunamis, high winds, volcanic activity and the like. Ham radio is our link with each other and the outside world when disaster strikes and official communications cannot meet our needs. Were any of you aware that during hurricane Iniki, ham radio was the only link available to connect Mayor Yukimura of Kauai with Governor Waihee?

"Senate President and colleagues, given the emergency and the assistance that we can get from ham radios, I do urge my colleagues to support these two measures.

"Thank you."

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Hooser).

H.B. No. 1840, H.D. 1, S.D. 1:

Senator Baker moved that H.B. No. 1840, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator English.

Senator Hogue rose to speak with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I rise, I guess, to voice my reservations about this particular bill.

"Fugitive dust, I didn't even know there was a term. But, fugitive dust is what this is about here. There has been some concern by the pineapple growers that the bill doesn't seem to be explicit to agricultural concerns – what happens if they would happen to have dust, whether it's fugitive or otherwise.

"The Department of Health has also indicated that they already have rules in place and that this is not necessary. I checked with the Department of Health this morning and they still don't believe that it is necessary because they have a rule.

"So, please note those reservations. Thank you."

Senator English rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"Yes, you know, Mr. President, the Department of Health finally has come out and said 'well, yes, we have rules.' But the issue has been that all throughout this bill, when it moved through the House and it finally came through to the Senate, they said we don't have rules to deal with this. So, somehow, mysteriously between hearings, between coming from the House over to the Senate, they finally discovered these rules somewhere and said 'oh, we have them now.'

"But you know, the real issue, and this is a fascinating thing, this Session we dealt with toxic and dangerous mold and fugitive dust and a few other things we've never heard of, but with this particular issue of fugitive dust, I think that what we've done in this particular bill is clarify the language. And if the Department of Health now says that they do have the rules, then it gives them much clearer direction of how to do those rules and makes it what we call 'user friendly,' because when people went to them, constituents, and said what are the rules on this, they said 'we don't have rules with this; in fact we don't deal with this.' And only in the last Committee, in the Joint Committee with Health and Environment and my committee, did the Department of Health come and say, 'oh, by the way, we have the rules on this.'

"So, I think that it's a clear indication that they need to get their act together on what they do and what they do not have rules on and then make it clear to the general public, to the constituents, when they go to them and ask them what are the rules. So, the whole reason that this is here is because they said they did not have rules on it.

"So, it makes it clearer, it makes it user friendly and I think all in all it ends up helping the consumer, and that's what we want to do. Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 1840, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO AIR POLLUTION CONTROL," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"We have a fact of closing law, which requires a period of time – 60 days – to notify workers if there's going to be any changes. This bill would increase that by 50 percent to 90 days.

"It already is a difficult thing for businesses if they have a threat of closing – they are still working with vendors; they're working with employees; they're working with their financial institutions trying to stave off an eventual shutdown and trying to reach some kind of alternative accommodation. If we make the period of time even longer, what that does is jeopardize the attempt to reach a accommodation because then you're saying to the whole world that it looks like we have no other alternative, we're going to close. That has a deleterious effect on creditors and on financial institutions and so forth.

"So, instead of doing the workers a good deed by extending this, it actually does them harm, so I urge a 'no' vote on this bill."

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition as well.

"Many small businesses really fight to the finish. There are many times where small businesses, or medium size businesses, or even large businesses it's one payroll away from perhaps closing their doors. As with the previous speaker, I think we should allow businesses to fight to the finish with their family of workers, managers, and customers as opposed to having them surrender very early in process."

Senator Ihara rose and said:

"I have reservations."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 2740, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO NOTIFICATION OF EMPLOYMENT CHANGES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Whalen rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition. It's a strange bill, but I'm actually going to make a speech on it.

"Before everyone gets worked up talking about the turtles and the birds, the point of this is to show how extreme we are. The special management area varies in its distance from the actual shore. This bill requires a penalty of up to $100,000 and $10,000 a day for a homeowner who happens to have their light shining from their back porch out into the water. There's an exemption for hotels, condominiums, which, in my opinion, are really the focus of what this is where they shine lights into the water for the effect for the tourist or whatever.

"A homeowner who happens to have a dinner out on the patio or whatever is going on and the kids are running around in the yard at eight o'clock at night, the light shines across the back yard into the water, I don't think that's going to attract migrating turtles or anything else. But they can get hammered under this bill, and I think it's way too far in the extreme."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3215 was adopted and H.B. No. 1743, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO LIGHT POLLUTION," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

"Mr. President, I rise in support with reservations.

"My reservations . . . I guess I was a derelict. It should have an amendment here. This makes April 'Financial Courtesy for Youth Month.' But I'd like to extend that to my colleagues and to the general public. I remember the late Sylvia Porter called us a nation of economic illiterates. And I think that we need to have financial literacy not just for our young people, but also for many others in our community as well.

"So, I'll support it with reservations. Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3216 was adopted and H.B. No. 1898, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO FINANCIAL LITERACY FOR YOUTH MONTH," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

And he said, they're, in essence, doing that and they will work toward enhancing that and perhaps their rules. I move to recommit this measure, Mr. President."

On motion by Senator Sakamoto, seconded by Senator Hooser and carried, H.B. No. 1937, H.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION," was recommended to the Committee on Transportation, Military Affairs, and Government Operations.

RECONSIDERATION OF ACTION TAKEN

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3219 (H.B. No. 2630, H.D. 2):

Senator Tsutsui moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken earlier in the calendar on failing to adopt Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3219 and failing to pass H.B. No. 2630, H.D. 2, on Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kawamoto.

At 1:24 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

"Point of order. Isn't the motion the vote is on, the motion to reconsider, and after a vote is taken on the motion to reconsider, then we vote on the bill?"

The Chair replied:

"Yes, we are voting now on the reconsideration."

Senator Baker further inquired:

"Isn't the reconsideration a voice vote of aye or nay?"

The Chair responded:

“Yes, but I think it’s the prerogative of the Chair. I took a hand vote.

“So, I believe we are in the middle of the vote. All in favor of reconsideration raise your right hand. This is for the reconsideration.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried.

Senator Menor then moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3219 be adopted and H.B. No. 2630, H.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Baker.

Senator Menor rose in favor of the measure with reservations and said:

“Madame President, I rise to speak in favor of this particular bill.

“I Appreciate the fact that my colleagues are allowing this measure to be reconsidered. Given the fact that we had a number of empty seats, including the one that I am standing in front of, and I didn’t have an opportunity to defend this bill, I would like to have that opportunity at this time.

“Prior to the Floor discussion on this measure, I hadn’t been planning to say anything. But given the fact that it appears that the votes might be close, I don’t want to take any chances. I at least want to put out my best effort to give it a good shot, and hopefully the majority of my colleagues will see the light and vote in support of my position.

“Let me just say that I think that those who have expressed concerns about this bill are missing the boat, and that I respectfully disagree with them in several respects. First of all, I think that in general, customers who rent the vehicles tend to be very price sensitive and akamai when it comes to purchasing gasoline for their rental vehicles. And if customers believe that they will save money by refilling their tanks with gasoline on their own, I think that they will do so even if a rental car employee tries to sell them the fuel option.

“It should also be noted that the practice of rent-a-car companies to make these fuel purchase options available is definitely not anti-consumer. In fact, many customers appreciate the availability of the fuel purchase option because they feel that it is more convenient to be able to purchase that option rather than having to take your rented automobiles to a service station to fill up their tanks on their own.

“Moreover, I think it should be emphasized that under Hawaii law a U-drive company that offers gasoline or this option is limited by what they can charge pursuant to this option. The rent-a-car company is allowed to charge the price per gallon for a liter of fuel and that charge cannot exceed the average of the local prevailing retail market price for similar fuels sold at self-service gasoline pumps by commercial gasoline dealers. In other words, you can’t overcharge on the gasoline that is going to be used or purchased through the fuel pump option.

“So, in that regard, the fact is it may cause the customers to choose to purchase this fuel option instead of going out on their own and refilling their own vehicles because they realize they can get as good or perhaps even a better deal by purchasing gasoline from the U-drive companies.

“Furthermore, the current law allows that customers who obtain a fuel purchase option to be able to get a refund if they decide to refill their tanks at an outside gasoline station. This measure would retain this alternative option for consumers under existing law.

“The director of the Office of Consumer Protection, Stephen Levins, testified on this measure, and he indicated that he didn’t oppose it and he testified that his office has not identified any abuses that have occurred in the market of the fuel service purchase options by the U-drive companies.

“I would also like to inform my colleagues that on a related measure, the Legislature last Session passed a bill that would allow the U-drive companies to be able to consider the sale of consumer damage waivers or CDWs in the calculation of bonuses or commissions that are paid to rent-a-car employees. When we consider that bill, a number of my colleagues, some of whom oppose this measure, expressed fears and concerns at that point in time that the enactment of the CDW bill into law would result in abuses. During the hearing that we held on this measure, I specifically and pointedly asked Mr. Levins, again who’s the director of the Office of Consumer Protection, whether he’s been monitoring the CDW bill, and he indicated that he was, given the concerns that was expressed about that legislation last Session. He indicated that based on his careful and close monitoring of the U-drive companies and the implementation of the CDW law, he hasn’t found any complaints or abuses that we need to be concerned about to date.

“So, the fact is that the fears and concerns about the similar legislation that we passed last Session have not materialized, and I do not believe that those kinds of fears and concerns will pan out with respect to this measure that we are considering today.

“Another significant reason why rental car companies have not engaged in unfair deceptive practices in the market of CDWs and fuel purchase options is because they could be subjected to significant penalties, including the payment of treble damages under Chapters 437 and 480 of the Hawaii Revised Statutes. In this regard, these provisions of the law punishing U-drive companies for misleading or deceptive practices in statements to renters would remain as part of the law under this bill.

“Finally, this measure would bring Hawaii’s law into line with every other state in the nation to the extent that Hawaii is the only state that has this prohibition in place with respect to fuel service options.

“So, for all these reasons, I respectfully urge my colleagues to vote in favor of H.B. No. 2630, S.D. 2. Thank you.”

Senator Aduja requested her vote be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was then put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3219 was adopted and H.B. No. 2630, H.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO MOTOR VEHICLE RENTAL INDUSTRY,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

“I think that the law should speak with a consistent voice when it comes to narcotics. There is no need to codify an existing practice. Under this bill, it would include both chronic as well as acute pain. There is no provision that would insist that a patient be terminally ill before he would allow a physician to prescribe or allow the patient to go physician hunting for a physician that would prescribe narcotics.

“I oppose this measure. Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3225 was adopted and H.B. No. 1839, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PAIN PATIENT’S BILL OF RIGHTS,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

“I am opposed to the proposition that every year we consider separately one or two measures that would provide for a check-off on your income tax return. I feel that the appropriate process is to ask the Legislative Auditor or the Legislative Reference Bureau to prepare a list of those that would be appropriate for us for consideration. And for us to decide say perhaps once every ten years what should be on the income tax forms to avail people the opportunity to have it checked off.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3227 was adopted and H.B. No. 1860, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

“We’re talking about creating the Aloha Aina Patrol. First it was limited to Honolulu County. Now it’s extended to all counties. I think it takes away flexibility. It’s another case of earmarking with special funds. And we have blank amounts, so we don’t know what we’re talking about in terms of the magnitude of appropriations. In addition to that, what we really should be doing is hiking the funding for existing county police forces.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3228 was adopted and H.B. No. 2061, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO TRANSIENT ACCOMMODATIONS TAX,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

“I think we all or hope we all understand that we need new money, new capital formation in the State of Hawaii. We’re not going to get it by having another state fund, private investment fund, but what we are going to get, if we’re going to entice and encourage new funds, is an improved business climate and budgetary spending considerations that are in line with the taxpayers’ ability to pay.

“So, I think that should be our first line of incentive in all things. Thank you.”

Senator Trimble rose to oppose the measure and said:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to the measure for slightly different reasons.

“I agree that we need to have funds that invest in venture capital and start-up companies in Hawaii. We already have an appropriate vehicle to do this. We have an employee retirement system. They set aside perhaps up to 8 percent to invest in funds that do exactly this. Unfortunately, the funds that they select do not consider or have not considered or have not adequately considered investing in firms in Hawaii.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3238 was adopted and H.B. No. 2396, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CAPITAL INVESTMENTS,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

“Madame President, usually when we provide incentives we provide incentives to encourage firms to take a particular action. It is not my understanding that the firm that we’re talking about in this case would not make these investments if the tax incentives were not available. So I think that this may be an inappropriate use of an incentive program that does not, has not accomplished the intended result of being an incentive but barely gives tax benefits for investment that would occur anyway. So, I’ll be voting ‘no’ on this measure.”

Senator Hooser requested his vote be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3239 was adopted and H.B. No. 2191, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ENTERPRISE ZONES,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure as follows:

“Madame President, I rise to speak against H.B. No. 2961.

“Frankly, and to the point, to be consistent on this issue, we believe that this extends the shelf life of dependency on fossil fuels, especially oil. We think that all public assets and tax credits should be put into renewables such as geothermal, wind, solar, and hydrogen which would be a much more enduring and environmentally sound investment regarding fuel.

“So, we believe that this is an unwise tax credit at this time. Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3241 was adopted and H.B. No. 2961, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ETHANOL,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3244 be adopted and H.B. No. 267, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

“The bill has had an interesting history and purports to allow for the independence of thought and speech by agencies that are currently situated administratively under the Department of Accounting and General Services, mainly the Office of Elections and the Campaign Spending Commission.

“But what the bill does is it’s another attempt to drive a wedge between executive authority by the Legislature, because it takes the ability of the Legislature to appoint the election review panel, which is an executive function. It also allows for the hiring of outside attorneys. Generally we found that there has not been a problem in this area except for one that has been created by the Legislature this year.

“So, I urge a ‘no’ vote.”

Senator Kawamoto requested his vote be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Ihara rose with reservations and stated:

“Madame President, I have reservations on this bill similar to the ones mentioned by the Senator from Hawaii Kai.”

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

“One of the things that the small business community has said is that we need strong workers’ comp fraud responsibility. We had it in a bill earlier this Session. The bill was changed. This gives the appearance that there will be an attempt by the state to remove and to lessen workers’ comp fraud, but in fact that is not the case. While it makes several good moves, it does not go far enough. And as I say, it gives the illusion that it’s going to solve the problem when in fact it does not.

“I urge a ‘no’ vote. Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3250 was adopted and H.B. No. 1374, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WORKERS’ COMPENSATION,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure and said:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to this bill as well.

“What this bill will do is to grant an unemployed individual a full weekly benefit without the offset for wages paid during the week. As such, it does not encourage people to take full-time work but allows them or encourages them to continue taking both unemployment compensation and partial salaries.

“Thank you.”

Senator Aduja requested her vote be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3251 was adopted and H.B. No. 1774, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to this bill as well.

“What this bill does is basically interfere with private contracts. It extends wage benefits to all laborers and mechanics working on any government construction project. The definition of the laborers, mechanics, apprentices, and trainees is vague and extremely broad, and it interferes, as I say, with the private process.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3252 was adopted and H.B. No. 1778, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WAGES,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

“There was a great deal of talk about the necessity for granting paid family leave for government employees to attend parent teacher conferences. At one time, and under current law, there was no cap or no requirement that the hours be limited. While this bill seeks to limit the time off to two hours, it begs the question – the original issue was whether or not employees were actually utilizing the time, how many, and for what purpose.

“We’ve seen no statistics or no data showing that in fact public employees were using this time off to attend these conferences and there’s no oversight. And so, even limiting it to two hours amounts to two hours of additional paid time off without adding any responsibility that they actually attend the functions for which this legislation was drafted.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3253 was adopted and H.B. No. 1780, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EMPLOYMENT,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3255 (H.B. No. 1792, H.D. 2, S.D. 1):

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure and said:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

“As the State Department of Labor has stated, there is no reason to do this. There already are earmarked federal funds for certain purposes. However, what the State Department of Labor was saying was that the uses contained in this measure, H.B. No. 1792, go far beyond what the federal government allows and, as a matter of fact, may result in the loss of federal funds and/or additional penalties to the State. In other words, it’s an abuse of federal funds for unemployment purposes.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3255 was adopted and H.B. No. 1792, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO LABOR,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

“As testimony showed, I had personally asked the head of the Civil Rights Commission if this legislation was needed. The answer was ‘no.’ We have the law on the books. It’s not going to do anything, to add anything, or provide anything new. This is just window dressing to try to continue an issue which has already been decided in the state.

“So, there are adequate remedies. Penalties have been assessed. We do not need this legislation. Thank you.”

Senator Espero rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

“Madame Chair, I’d like to rise in support of this measure.

“This bill just has to do with wage clarity. This has to do with equality for women in our workforce. This has to do with being able to give them a fair wage for fair work equal to their counterparts. It’s a good bill. It’s a good message. It’s a good piece of legislation that we should be passing today.

“Thank you, Madame Chair.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3256 was adopted and H.B. No. 2025, H.D. 3, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EQUAL PAY,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3258 (H.B. No. 680, H.D. 2, S.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3258 be adopted and H.B. No. 680, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Madame Chair, I rise in opposition to this bill.

“Now, I know that no one in this Body needs any ethics training, so I don’t know who the bill is actually focused on. I would say this, that it’s kind of ridiculous to say that we’re going to need training to do what is right and what we know is the law. We have an ethics commission that is set up to adjudicate any violations or also to advise us.

“I wonder who’s going to give the ethics training. I hope it’s not any of our previous colleagues who have spent time in jail, although maybe they’d have the experience so they can do that. And this is the same Body that doesn’t want legislative drug testing for everybody, so I don’t think we need ethics training for everybody. We can maybe decide in caucuses during recess who we should send to ethics training.

“Thank you.”

Senator Espero rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

“Madame Chair, I’d like to rise in support of this measure, also.

“This measure falls under the heading of government reform. This year it looks like it’s going to be a good year for government reform in this legislative Body. It started when Speaker Say and President Bunda eliminated the Chair veto rule that would not allow one Senator to have more power than other Senators have. It made us all equal.

“We’re also looking at legislation for campaign spending reform, and then we have this measure before us for ethics training, ethics education. Unfortunately, in today’s day and age, everyone here is not created equal. Some of us do more than others in certain areas, and in ethics training and education I believe all of us could use it.

“The newspaper highlights it today and there’s an editorial in the Star Bulletin – ‘Eject political lobbying from Governor’s offices.’ Maybe if there were some ethics training for the people that this bill looks at – cabinet members, high appointees, Legislators, OHA members – maybe this article in today’s newspaper would not even be an article.

“This is a bill which brings back the trust in government because the people, over the years, there has been a decrease in that trust and that faith in our abilities to watch ourselves and our abilities to do what’s right.

“This bill is a good bill – government reform. It’s the right bill, and for those that don’t like it, I’m just sorry that there’s so many Republicans against it.

“Thank you, Madame President.”

Senator Whalen rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“I think the comment about the Republicans is that maybe it’s based on the philosophical difference between at least myself and the former speaker, in that you feel people need to take responsibility for their actions. Surely, no one can claim that ethics training or ethics class by a few of the Legislators who’ve gone to prison, or are in danger of doing so, would have saved them, because taking money from people, using your office to run a private business, setting up foreign companies to launder money is something the ethics class probably wouldn’t even talk about because it’s just plain common sense that you don’t do that type of stuff.

“I guess there’s a difference of philosophy in that if you intend to obey the law, if you intend to uphold high values and high morals, you don’t need somebody to tell you to go to a class. I know one of our colleagues here often sends letters to ethics commission asking them for their opinion on things where it’s gray.

“I don’t think we need to mandate classes for us to somehow gain the trust of the public. We’re either going to be ethical or we’re not. It’s not going to come from going to a class.

“And for my colleague who feels that this is a Republican versus Democrat issue, maybe he should limit it just to the Democrats, because at this point, it’s only been Democrats who’ve gone to jail for their unethical behavior.”

Senator Espero rose to speak in rebuttal and stated:

“Madame Chair, as I said earlier, none of us in here are perfect. We don’t know all the bills. Ethics training, ethics education, is complicated. With all the laws and all the rules now that are on the books, I doubt if anyone can cite half of what’s out there.

“And this is just education – like principal academies that try to make our principals better; like professional development for teachers. This is a job. This is where we get paid, and if we’re not willing to set aside two hours for the ethics commission – that would be the body that will provide the training, Mr. Mollway and his gang – then I think that says something about the Body.

“Again, it’s not a Republican or Democratic issue, it’s not. I’m just stating a fact that the Republicans were the ones that voted ‘no’ – not all of the Republicans, but just a few of the Republicans, and that’s just a fact.

“Thank you, Madame President.”

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure as follows:

“Madame President, I rise to speak against this legislation.

“Quite frankly, I truly regret that this has become political. But, I will tell you that we don’t have to be trained to know the difference between right and wrong. We don’t have to be trained to know what honesty is. And I don’t believe anyone who is unethical or dishonest, that the training is going to help them. So, I’m rather insulted by trying to equate our ‘no’ vote against this measure as a political issue.

“I’d like to echo the retort of my colleague from Kona. None of us have gone to jail on this side of the aisle for being unethical or breaking campaign spending laws, or abusing the public trust. It would have been better if we just could have had this bill come to the Floor and voted on without the political accusations. But since they were made against us, I think it's our duty to respond.

"We're very proud of who we are and our integrity, and we'll be voting 'no' against this bill. We don't need to have training to be honest."

Senator Slom rose to speak in rebuttal and said:

"Madame President, just a brief rebuttal.

"The public will be more secure and will have more confidence in us not because they know that we've gone to training or had treatment. What they will be confident in is when they see what we actually do, how we actually vote, how we conduct ourselves personally and professionally. That means much more than any training or any treatment.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Madame President, I rise in support of this measure.

"I hope as this training goes forward it isn't only about reading the lines and take turns reading paragraphs. People make mistakes . . . people need to be reminded . . . nobody's perfect. But, I hope the training does include talking about this perception of wrongdoing. Things we do many times, our colleagues on both sides of the aisle, we do what is right. But somehow, if there's a perception of wrongdoing that appears to be unethical, that is wrong. I believe the training should address that perception does not make something wrong.

"Trial by the media – that doesn't make things wrong. We should be strong enough do what is right in spite of fears, in spite of comments, rightly or wrongly. Ethics is about doing right in spite of what publications print or what people say and what accusations are made. Policies shouldn't be by public opinion, by rhetoric. We should be reminded that we should do what is right in spite of the whims, the fears, the perceptions.

"So, hopefully it will include helping us do what is right in spite of what many times fogs our thinking. Thank you."

Senator Hooser rose in support of the measure and said:

"Madame Chair, I rise in support of the issue.

"I'd like the words of the good Senator from Ewa Beach entered into the record as if they were my own. (The Chair so ordered.)

"I'd like to add that I think if you look around at professions in the world, whether it's a doctor, lawyer, accountants, most professions offer ethics training because it is something that is not as cut and dry. I, for one, am open to always this learning more and trying to act in a fashion that is of higher ethics and making better decisions as I grow older and learn more as I go through life. I certainly welcome additional training.

"I would suggest that if perhaps this training had been conducted prior on not just the second floor or the third or the fourth, but also on the fifth floor, perhaps they wouldn't have a political action committee operating out of the Offices of the Governor and raising those serious questions that they do today. And when asked about that conduct, the response was, 'well, we would never knowingly violate the law.'

"I would suggest that this bill, the training that will be provided, will prevent these types of actions from reoccurring. I urge my colleagues to vote in support.

"Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in rebuttal and stated:

"Madame President, I rise on a point of rebuttal to the previous speaker.

"There's no foundation or truth that a political action committee was operating directly out of the Governor's Office. That has not been judged by the ethics committee or adjudicated.

"What is unethical is for someone to stand up on this Floor and make that accusation, Madame President, without foundation.

"I didn't want to get into this political debate. This bill will pass. But if you want proof, once again, check the criminal record of how many Majority members from the Senate and the House of Representatives ended up in trouble with the law.

"It's unfortunate that this turned into this political battle, but I'm not going to sit idly by and have the Governor insulted on the Floor of the Legislature with this legislation, and I recommend you vote 'no' against this bill.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3258 was adopted and H.B. No. 680, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ETHICS," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Whalen).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3264 (H.B. No. 2523, H.D. 1, S.D. 1):

Senator Trimble rose to oppose the measure and said:

"Madame President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"I think the reasonable thing to do instead of looking at one fund or one revenue source one at a time and saying this one shall be exempted from paying for their share of central services, this one shall not, that we ask one group – Legislative Auditor, the Legislature Reference Bureau – to come up with consistent criteria by which all funds will be matched against. And then present their findings to this Body and then we can vote on it all at once, instead of dealing with it in a vacuum one at a time, two or three times each Legislative Session.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure and said:

"Madame Chair, I also rise to speak in opposition to the bill.

"As I'm constantly reminded by my good Chair of Ways and Means, this is an administration bill. So, maybe by my speaking against it, it will pass easily.

"I have been opposed to the passenger facility charge for the last administration to this administration. I still am. I continue to be opposed to the creation of special funds. This takes the existing fund and turns it into a special fund. So, I'm opposed to that, and I'm opposed to the additional $4.50 fee on each airline ticket.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3264 was adopted and H.B. No. 2523, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PASSENGER FACILITY CHARGES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Madame Chair, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"This allows the counties, does not force them, but allows the counties to assess, impose, levy, collect impact fees for state highway improvements. It also creates the new state highway special fund for this. It will surely increase property taxes at the cost of housing within the counties that do decide to adopt this.

"Thank you."

Senator Espero rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Madame Chair, I'd like to rise in support of this measure.

"Currently, the counties are assessing impact fees. This bill will allow the counties to use those fees on state roadways, in particular those areas that have much new development in growth – my area, Central Oahu, Waialeale, areas in the neighbor highways.

"This bill is to help deal with the traffic congestion and other problems that growth and development brings. I urge all of my colleagues to support it.

"Thank you."

Senator Menor rose to speak on the measure with reservations and said:

"Madame President, I just wanted the Clerk to note my reservations in respect to this measure.

"There's a technical clause in the bill that I am hopeful will be addressed in Conference Committee. Thank you."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3266 was adopted and H.B. No. 2703, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO IMPACT FEES," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3267 (H.B. No. 2883, H.D. 2, S.D. 2):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3267 be adopted and H.B. No. 2883, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure and said:

"Madame President, I rise in opposition to the measure.

"I think we all want enhanced wireless, particularly 911 coverage. However, there are two questions here that are unanswered. One is, what the total amount of surcharges, extra charges are going to be on top of the already very hefty surcharges on wireless use; and number two, the kinds of technology that will be used.

"We note that the police department is still having trouble with its Motorola communications and the technology to be used here is not spelled out.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3267 was adopted and H.B. No. 2883, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WIRELESS ENHANCED 911 SERVICE," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Madame President, I rise to speak against this legislation.

"This is going to take money out of our fuel tax revenues. It should be used to fix the potholes on our highways and all the other problems we have with the highway system throughout this state. And on Oahu, it's going to put money into a commitment for a fixed guideway mass transit system of which we do not have a specific plan for yet.

"This is way premature. Sometime in the future it may be appropriate for the state to share in the cost of building a fixed guideway system for Oahu. But certainly, now is not the time, especially when we do not have a specific proposal in front of us.

"Therefore, I urge my colleagues to vote 'no.'"

Senator Espero rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Madame Chair, briefly I'd like to rise in support of this measure.

"The battle is beginning again – whether the City and County of Honolulu should have a fixed rail system or not. We had this battle in the '80s; we had it in the '90s. It's going to begin again. Traffic is not getting better right now.

"This is the area where both the city and county has failed in terms of coming up with some very pliable solutions that work. There's a lot of little band-aids going around, but do we need a fixed rail system? This would provide some seed money to the counties so that they can begin this dialog and this process once again.

"For those that support an elevated rail system, I urge them to support this bill. Thank you, Madame President."

Senators Hanabusa, English and Aduja requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3268 was adopted and H.B. No. 2956, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO MASS TRANSIT," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Madame President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"This takes funds from one special fund and puts it into a newly created another special fund. I oppose it.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3269 was adopted and H.B. No. 1710, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE UNIVERSITY OF HAWAII," having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 1 (Slom). Excused, 1 (Bunda).

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3272 (H.B. No. 2739, H.D. 1, S.D. 2):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3272 be adopted and H.B. No. 2739, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Madame President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"Have we already forgotten or didn't we learn the lesson of Pearl Harbor? Didn't we learn that it is bad public policy to put all your assets in a single location? When you concentrate your assets and a catastrophic event occurs, you run the risk of a complete meltdown.

"In Hawaii, we prepare for the worst. We stockpile toilet paper. We have even made a culinary art form out of the use of Spam. We have experienced every manmade and natural disaster imaginable. And usually, we are prepared.

"We have a long history of intentionally siting cultural, civic, and educational facilities inland away from the ocean. We have a deep respect for the devastating power and unpredictable nature of the sea. Be prepared is more than a boy scout motto. It is second nature to our community. We know firsthand the potential hazards of drugs, floods, volcanic eruptions, hurricanes, and tsunamis. Common sense is experience faced.

"Our newcomer residents arrive on our shores without the knowledge that has become ingrained and second nature to every islander. Without this collective memory, these newcomers pose a significant danger to the rest of the society when they assume positions of power to pursue agendas that are not closely scrutinized and reviewed publicly.

"We are about, as a matter of public policy, to invest hundreds of millions of dollars in research and educational facilities in Kakaako. These facilities will be in or adjacent to a tsunami zone. Given the fact that we know and have experience firsthand tsunamis, is it reasonable to locate and expose classrooms, labs, lecture halls, human resources, and research laboratories in a known environmental hazard zone?

"One may ask if the Hawaii Community Development Authority acted responsibly. The part of the decision that bothers me is that this decision was reached without a specific tsunami risk assessment to determine the risk for public review and scrutiny.

"Further, HCDA is compounding this questionable decision by allowing the coast sighting of wet laboratory space. Wet laboratory facilities do pose potentially significant risk to the surrounding community. Is it reasonable to locate such biomedical research facilities in a tsunami zone?

"Evan Dobbelle, as President of the University of Hawaii, was at the helm when this decision was reached. This decision under his watch was rushed through the 2001 Legislative Session without adequate notice and public review. The opportunity for free public land, $150 million of free public money, and a major construction project timed for the election cycle was just too good to pass up. It overrode the sensible thing to do.

"This project demands careful and thoughtful evaluation of the potential risk to society by placing research laboratory space this close to the ocean. The board of directors of HCDA failed to act in the public interest when they did not insist on a specific tsunami risk assessment be performed before the shift in public policy of what was appropriate use of the Kakaako peninsula.

"The civil defense inundation maps do not assess the potential public danger presented by the proposed use for biochemical research. The function of these maps is to show those areas from which civil defense authorities need to evacuate people in case of a tsunami alert. They are not intended to replace a formal tsunami risk assessment, which may be used to determine the maximum amount of public investment that is appropriate in any one area and to specifically ban those uses that do pose significant public risk when disaster occurs.

"It is appropriate for the Governor to replace the remaining members of the HCDA board with persons who ask very basic questions. While the answers to these questions are sought, Governor Lingle should limit the use of this area until a formal tsunami risk assessment is performed. It is incumbent upon us as Legislators to possess the information needed to determine the greater public good before we authorize this $100 million special purpose revenue bond for the construction of wet land space in the Kakaako peninsula.

“Madame Chair, I request a Roll Call vote.”

Senator Taniguchi rose and said:

“Madame Chair, will the previous speaker yield to a question?”

Senator Trimble having answered in the affirmative, Senator Taniguchi inquired:

“Was a tsunami risk assessment made for Waikiki Beach and the hotels adjacent to those beaches?”

Senator Trimble responded:

“I believe those are private investment and what I’m talking about is public investment, and there is a major difference between hotels that are easy to evacuate and wet laboratory space.”

Senator Taniguchi further inquired:

“So, the answer is ‘no?’ Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3272 was adopted and H.B. No. 2739, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE ISSUANCE OF SPECIAL PURPOSE REVENUE BONDS BY THE HIGH TECHNOLOGY DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION,” having been read throughout, and Roll Call vote having been requested, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Hogue rose to oppose the measure and said:

“Madame President, I’m going to rise in opposition to this particular bill.

“We talked about this previously. Members, I’m pro-choice. I would support this, but they have taken out the religious exception. I think it really doesn’t matter what the Catholic Church says on the mainland or what any other Catholic entity says. It’s strictly as a matter of what St. Francis Hospital believes, and if this goes against their belief to bring in these emergency contraceptives, I believe they should have that right as a hospital. And for that reason, I’ll be voting ‘no.’

“Thank you.”

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in support of this measure.

“Of the more than 300,000 women who are sexually assaulted each year in the United States, an estimated 25,000 will become pregnant. Women who have been sexually assaulted have a compelling need for quick and easy access to emergency contraceptives. Sex assault survivors are under extreme physical and mental trauma. Female survivors of sex assault also face the additional stress of an unwanted pregnancy.

“Currently, emergency contraceptives are a part of the treatment protocol for identified victims of sexual assault. It is the standard of care established by the American Medical Association, but a recent statewide study showed that in Hawaii emergency rooms, this standard of care is inconsistently delivered. The treatment protocols for sex assault victims are not uniform and vary from emergency room to emergency room, and oftentimes are not even established written policies.

“Emergency contraception has been shown to be safe and effective. It’s important that the survivors of sex assault be allowed to gain access to the many medical options available to them. Every effort should be made to help victims of sex assault in order to allow them to begin to rebuild their lives.

“Madame President, what this bill is really about is about access to appropriate timely healthcare. It shouldn’t matter what hospital is near by when a victim of sex assault needs assistance. They need to have the best, most appropriate care available to them. This bill will ensure that access.

“I urge all my colleagues to vote in favor of this measure. Thank you.”

Senator Ihara requested his vote be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Kanno rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations and said:

“Madame President, I rise to speak in support with reservations.

“We were discussing the issue with the Chair of the Consumer Protection Committee and we’ve requested that the conferees look at the possibility of 20 days as a compromise and the Chair of Consumer Protection has graciously agreed to do as such. I also did talk to the Chair of the House Consumer Protection Committee during our lunch break, and he has agreed to disagree when the measure gets sent to the House so that the measure can be taken up in Conference.

“So, I would like to thank the members and the Chair from Consumer Protection. Thank you.”

Senator Ihara rose to support the measure with reservations as follows:

“Madame President, I rise in support with reservations now that the previous speaker had indications that the bill may be amended.

“I’m concerned . . . I do support a 20 day notice period. I cannot support a 15 day notice period. I’m concerned about policyholders who happen to have a mid-December, December 15th, expiration date, and they go on holiday and it’s so near the time period of the last part of December. There’s two 3-day weekends, and I hate to imagine if you are one of those policyholders and you arrive back on January 2nd or 3rd and find out your policy is expired. I’m just concerned about the logistics of mainland mail to Hawaii during that period. If you happen to be one of the unfortunate ones that have a mid-December expiration date.

“For those reasons, I have reservations. Thank you.”

Senator English rose to speak in favor of the measure with reservations and stated:

“Madame President, I rise in favor with reservations.

“I just want to point out something. The previous speaker hit on it, I think, and it’s this – well, you know in mid-March I’m still receiving mail from December of last year. It’s the US Postal system. I’m not sure what it is, but I’m still receiving catalogs and receiving things from mid-December. Well, I don’t know the difference between Oahu and Hana, but when the mail is that slow, we have a big problem. And I know for many people, especially in the rural areas, it takes another day for the mail to get out to Hana or to down to Kalaupapa or to these areas.

“I don’t know what the responsibility of the US Postal System is to deliver things on time, but I know the law says that when we drop something in the mail, it’s considered delivered. But think about this, if you put something in the mail in December and you don’t get it until March, the law says you received it the day that they posted it in the mail. Maybe part of the problem is that they use bulk rate mailing. Most of our insurance reminders that we get are bulk rate mailers as well.

“So I have my reservations on this. I think the fault is not really with the insurance carriers, but it’s with the US Postal system not delivering mail in a timely fashion. But nonetheless, I think that we’re moving in a good direction, a good compromise on this. So, I just wanted to note my reservations because of that.

“Thank you.”

Senators Hooser and Chun Oakland requested their votes be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

FINAL READING

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 1-04 (H.B. No. 1800, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 1-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 1800, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Taniguchi rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this measure.

"Mr. President, H.B. No. 1800, C.D. 1, is the executive supplemental budget bill. It contains the operating and capital improvement appropriations for the executive branch for fiscal year 2004-2005.

"Before I make a few comments on the bill itself, I again would like to thank a few people who were instrumental in crafting this measure.

"First, I would like to thank the Conference members of the House, especially Chairman Dwight Takamine and Vice-Chair Bertha Kawakami, who spent countless hours with me and my Vice-Chair, the Senator from the Big Island, agonizing over the hundreds of crucial decisions that needed to be made.

"Next, I would like thank the members of the Ways and Means Committee for sitting through hours of hearings, briefings and Conference meetings.

"I would also like to thank my staff and the staff of the Finance Committee for their hard work.

"Finally, I would like to thank the Leadership teams of both Chambers, especially House Speaker Calvin Say, and you, Mr. President, thank you.

"In addition to my feelings of gratitude and appreciation, I want to convey one additional message to everyone: It's not over yet. While we are poised to approve this budget, and therefore technically 'close the book' on it, we are in no way done with our work this year. I think that bears repeating and re-emphasizing – we are not done with our work this year.

"As we all know, there are two public sector unions still out there negotiating hard with the Governor for a fair contract. Voting on this budget today in no way shuts the door on them, nor does it commit the Governor to any level of pay increases.

"In addition, we all know that on Monday, the Governor made some additional adjustments to her financial plan to try and accommodate appropriations for collective bargaining pay raises for all units. I appreciate the fact that she recognizes that all of our public employees deserve just compensation for their services. We are currently reviewing her proposed budget cuts, her special fund raids, and will try to address those in vehicles that we still have on the table.

"As I mentioned in my floor speech on the Senate's draft of this bill, I think the appropriations found in it represents what we have always tried to do over the years – we have provided much-needed resources to very crucial government programs.

"We have provided more critically needed resources to our public schools, more to our public and private hospital network, more to assist the indigent and the needy, more to help take ice off of our streets – and the list goes on. More importantly, we have provided these resources without bankrupting our state – despite what some may claim.

"This budget, in conjunction with our six-year general fund financial plan, demonstrates one fact: this Legislature has prioritized the use of our precious resources and has seen fit to provide those in areas that are most important to our state's well-being now and in the future.

"I find it unfortunate that now that the Governor feels that she is not getting her way with this budget, she has resorted to name-calling and has actually threatened the Legislature with retaliation come election time. I feel that is unfortunate. I'm not really surprised, however, as it is apparent that our Governor finds that retaliation, not cooperation, is the best course of action to get things done in government.

"Take, for example, the Department of Education's budget. First, the Governor refused to acknowledge the Board of Education's budget request in September of last year, ignoring their need for approximately $50 million more in resources, most of which was to help the DOE come into compliance with the No Child Left Behind Act. On top of that, in the latest round of her proposed budget cuts, our Governor is slashing the DOE's base budget by an additional $7.5 million. That is almost 25 percent of her entire proposed cut of $30 million. Moreover, these cuts were done with absolutely no input from the DOE.

"The Governor has clearly been punitive on the DOE simply because our superintendent has had the courage to make independent decisions as our state's top education administrator.

"Furthermore, this Governor has also been attempting to fool the public into thinking that certain collective bargaining laws do not pertain to her and that she can change an arbitrated award because she feels like it. She has apparently singled out the HGEA and characterized this group of employees . . ."

Senator Whalen interjected:

"Point of order, Mr. President. I believe the speaker is not addressing the bill. Rather, he is going on a tirade against the Governor, and I ask that he be brought into order to address the merits or demerits of the bill at hand."

The President responded:

"We will keep to the merits and demerits. I will ask the Chair to continue his remarks."

"Again, she has apparently singled out . . . after discussing the financial plan, they singled out the HGEA and characterized this group of employees as budget-busters. This, too, is unfortunate.

"In conclusion, members, I would again rather emphasize what we have accomplished in this budget as opposed to having to answer to all of the political mud that has been flung into this debate. I believe everyone, including the Governor, wants to provide the people of this state with a responsive and responsible government. So do I. So does everyone in this Chamber and the one next door. But when we have differences, we shouldn't be cajoled, criticized or coerced into a decision. There is a better way to do things.

"Members, judge for yourselves if this budget does what you think it should do. As your Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, I ask that you have confidence in this document, as well as in the financial plan, and that we will provide the resources to operate our government in a responsible, efficient manner – without breaking the bank and without going into a deficit.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"Gee, it's amazing. We start every Session with a prayer and, huh, we ditch the prayer immediately.

"I'm going to try to stick to the bill itself, H.B. No. 1800. It was unfortunate, I think, that the previous speaker did go far afield from the budget itself. We don't want to engage in name-calling. But let's just say that for the last couple of years there's been a change in philosophy and direction to try to reign in expenditures within the state to try to have a coherent, consistent philosophy of how you not only fund activities, but also how you prioritize activities rather than saying yes to all of them.

"The fact of the matter is this bill, while the good Chairman of Ways and Means is correct and said the whole process is not over yet, we are confronted with this bill today. Faced with this bill, we have several things that we have to consider. Number one is we do not have a balanced budget. That has not been presented to us. Number two, we also see that the financial picture of the state rests on the raid of the emergency so-called rainy day fund and also on special funds. Number three, we see that as we go into other bills, which are all part of the budgetary process and the financial picture, that we're going to have a problem with eliminating many vacancies that have not been called for before.

"You know that we in the Minority have often said that vacancies that have been vacant for up to 10 years where the departments have transferred the funds for other functions, those certainly would be prime candidates to get rid of those positions. But on the other hand, where we have positions that have been vacant for several months and the departments are in the process of filling them, that's not a good financial way of doing it, particularly when we're losing federal funds along the way and that will be pointed out in future discussions that we have.

"In terms of fooling the public, I think the problem is that we are all, who support this budget, trying to mask a financial situation that the Governor and the executive branch have given us notice about. I don't see it as threats or retaliation. They've said that if we do this, this is what's going to happen in terms of our financial picture in the future.

"We are just in the process now where our economy is improving, and that's a good sign; that's a positive sign. There's two ways of looking at that, though. If you start to improve an economy, you go out and continue spending or accelerate your spending. You can spend for many things that are not priorities and necessities or you can try to hold to a prudent, economic fiscal course of action. And I think that's what the executive did in the budget that was presented to us.

"So again, understanding that it's not over yet, what I'm faced with today I cannot support, but I urge further discussion and will keep an open mind on other measures that we will look at in the future.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in favor of the measure with reservations and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of H.B. No. 1800 with reservations.

"First of all, I want to qualify reservations. This is the first time I've done anything with reservations this year. I've tried to make it a personal practice to not be on the fence and equivocate my position, but to either be for or against something. I might vote in favor of this budget but I do have reservations, so I'm going to have to break my own pledge to myself.

"First of all, this is not a budget. The definition of the budget is to take into account income and expenditures and come out with a plan. This is simply the omnibus spending bill. As we will subsequently see, there are a number of other spending initiatives to follow this spending bill.

"I do have to regret the comments of the good Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee directed at the executive branch of government, more specifically the Governor. We are in two different political parties and we do have different ways of doing things. We believe that we're spending taxpayers' money. And we believe that budgets should be honest and accountable and not balanced and one-time raids of funds, or juggling of the books, or raiding the employees' retirement fund, or putting off debt service and have it back-loaded so that future generations will have huge bills to pay. We believe in prudent spending and we believe in honest long-term budgeting. The evidence over the last years have shown that we've done everything but.

"Regarding education – the formula of throwing more money at public education without accountability, without changing governance has produced exactly what we've got. If you're happy with education, then it's been a good investment. But I would submit to you that most of the people of Hawaii are not, including the superintendent of education who said we have to reinvent education. It's important for us to note that year in and year out the education budget has grown exponentially in relationship to the growth of the economy – $1,726,000,000 was the EDN total budget request for this year. That's a lot of money . . . a lot of money.

"The Governor wanted to hold the system accountable and this Legislature with this spending initiative has chosen to do the same thing it's done in the past – throw money at the problem and tell the people of Hawaii that this, along with some fake education reform to come, that we've solved the education problem. It's not going to work.

"I want to hone in, because there's so much to be said looking over this committee report, I want to hone in on one specific item that's near and dear to my heart. And hopefully in doing so, I'll point out to the fool-heartedness of not what's being done, but how it's being done. Three years ago, at my urging with the prior administration, we called DHRD and we asked how many vacant positions there were, how long they were vacant, and how much they were worth. At that time, I think the figure was $110 million of funded vacant positions that were not filled, many of which were a year, two years, three years out. We thought that maybe that money was being used for necessary services, but it certainly wasn't accounted for. At that time, I called a lot of the vacant position funding a slush fund because there was no legislative accountability. So, I think, with all due respect to the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and the Majority Party, after three years this issue is being addressed. I'm a little curious that it's being addressed now that we have a Republican Governor, but nevertheless, it's being addressed.

"We do not have a problem with what is being done, but how it's being done. I'd like to focus in on one department, Human Services, and show you what is being done and how it's going to impact the most vulnerable in our society and how economically foolish it is. In doing so, I want to especially pay tribute to the department director who has done some unprecedented things to bring new money to the table to assist the truly needy in Hawaii.

"Now, I've heard oftentimes in Committee and read in committee reports that department heads have been unresponsive, and I've heard it said of Lillian Koller. This is a book full of responses to every question asked by the legislative branch to Lillian Koller. I won't go through it item by item, but this one concerns the impact of changes to the executive budget, H.B. No. 1800, H.D. 1. This response is to questions on proposed reductions to Medicaid federal funding, and the list goes on and on. In spite of claims otherwise, this director has been responsive. Quite truthfully, we kind of resent the implication that this director and other directors have not been responsive to the Legislature when the record will clearly show they have been.

"Let's talk about human services and what we're doing to the truly needy. Let's talk about vacant positions that have been cut down to being eliminated if they're more than six months. Let's talk about the Housing, Community Development Corporation of Hawaii, which Lillian Koller took over management of as of July 1st. In the last six months, she's hired 40 percent, 40 people, representing a 222 percent increase over the prior six months. She's using those vacant positions.

"What does this budget cut? It's cutting 28 positions – 11 from revolving funds, but more importantly, 17 from federal funds. That means there's not one cent in those 17 federal positions benefit to the State of Hawaii by saving general fund revenues. What it actually means is we're losing a huge amount of money from the federal government to service the housing needs of the needy in our society. Is that a conscientious cut? I'd submit to you, the Majority Party, for the sake of cutting money from the executive branch of government and possibly making the Governor's administration potholed is hurting the needy.

"But let's take something a little more specific. Let's take voc rehab. Voc rehab takes care of the blind, the disabled. Lillian Koller has hired 23 new people in the last six months – a 230 percent increase in hiring over the previous six months.

"This budget cuts six fully funded federal positions. Federal money is being sent or will not come to Hawaii because this budget is cutting those positions. For what? For whom? Whose money are we saving?

"Additionally, those positions are used to take people off welfare and put them on federal disability. So we'll continue, because of the slow processing, to have those people on welfare, which will be an additional financial burden.

"Once again, the disabled, the blind, the crippled are being hobbled because we're cutting six federally funded positions from the budget.

"How about Med-QUEST – the medically indigent, the people that don't have enough money to pay for their insurance. We currently handle in the department about 180,000 people. It's interesting to note that later on in this day we're going to pass Hawaii Rx and it's going to assist 300,000 people in getting their prescriptions filled and getting affordable prescriptions. In the last six months, Lillian Koller hired 28 people to assist in that project. This budget cuts 17 positions. Sixty percent of their salary is federally funded.

"You're not going to be able to blame the administration for the disservice that this budget does to the truly needy in our society. So the question becomes why? Why are we crippling human services programs? Why are we doing this? I think possibly the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee answered that question when he stood up and addressed this budget and chastised the Governor.

“We’re going to talk about collective bargaining later, but I would submit to you, Majority Party, that we will continue to try to work with you. We will try to find ways to cut vacant position funding in a responsible manner. And in doing so, when we cut those positions, we make sure the money is there, as I’ve always advocated, to fund necessary programs.

“These are my reservations about this budget or this omnibus spending bill. But there’s one last question that I hope I can ask the Majority Party and I hope one of you pops up and answers it – why now? Why now? I see a few smirks on the faces over there because obviously you’ve talked about this. You probably have a good answer.

“Mr. President, you and I were in the Legislature back in the ’80s. The budget was always, always, used at the end of Session to leverage everything else. I can remember nights in the ’80s when we’d be waiting for it to be decked and printed to get out on our desks for 48-hour notice to make the deadline at the end of the Session.

“So the question is – I think there’s 12 days left in this, almost three weeks worth of work left – why is the budget coming out now? Is it because the Majority Party, who’s controlled this Legislature for 40 years, all of a sudden has decided to be very efficient? Or is it political? Is it for political reasons so you can send this budget up to the Governor and have time to react to it politically on the Floor of this Legislature without having to call a Special Session in an election year? Hopefully, someone can answer that.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Taniguchi rose and said:

“Mr. President, I’d like to again speak in support and thank the previous speaker for his support of the budget bill.

“Could we have a short recess?”

At 11:11 o’clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:17 o’clock a.m.

Senator Kokubun rose in support of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I stand in strong support of H.B. No. 1800, C.D. 1.

“Mr. President, this is probably the most important piece of legislation that’s facing us this Session. The primary reason is because it enables us to address three main concerns that have come out from our Committee to help communities statewide. There will be discussion on those specific measures: on education, on ice, and as well as our consumer issues and prescription drug costs. So I think this bill allows and enables, really, this Legislature to get us in front of the ball to really address these concerns.

“I wanted to just share with all of you that I did have the wonderful opportunity to serve as Vice Chair to our Senator from Manoa. We did put in many long hours. He didn’t necessarily command that I be there, but I think it was my own initiative to sit and be with them and with the other Conference Committee members because it was a tremendous learning experience. It’s a fantastic way to learn how our government functions and really a way to see the budget as a tool to set our priorities for the people of Hawaii. I think this budget responds to those priorities, and that’s why I think it’s so important.

“The Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee always, in my opinion, levels the playing field. His intent is to provide a very steady hand to all of the discussions about the budget. There are so many competing interests that we need balance here. But I think in terms of fairness, there’s no doubt in my mind that his level of fairness is beyond reproach.

“Mr. Chairman, the other very, very important aspect to bring out at this point is the fact that the staff of the Ways and Means Committee are also there every minute. In fact they’re there more than the Chairman and I are because they are doing the incredible detail work that goes into producing this document. This is not an easy thing. This is not just a political tool that we can talk about in terms of I did this; she did that; whatever it may be. Mr. President, it’s so important for everyone to understand how the details of this budget cause our state government to function. Clearly in my mind, I think this sets out the right priorities for us as a Legislature.

“With respect to some of the comments made earlier by the Senator from Waimanalo, the issue about raiding vacancies, utilizing other funding tools, you know, are not new for us. The Governor, in her own manner, has used these same vehicles to balance the budget. So I don’t think this is something that we can say one side is wrong or one side is right. We realize that these are the only means that we can utilize to balance our budget.

“Mr. President, this is a balanced budget. The good Chair of the Ways and Means Committee would not proceed forward with a budget that was not balanced.

“So, at this point in time, I echo his concerns that yes, we are not done. Certainly the Governor could react to this. We do have more time to address other important measures that are before this Body. But at this point in time, to me this budget clearly demonstrates what the priorities of the Legislature are and how we’re going to provide the money to address these priorities.

“Thank you.”

Senator Hogue rose in favor of the measure with reservations and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this measure with reservations.

“We had a little bit of a conference there with the Chair of Ways and Means. I think there’s an honest disagreement in interpretation about handling these vacant positions and how they affect federal funding. The Senate Ways and Means Chair believes that the budget, as written right now, does not affect the federal funding. We believe and the Director of Human Services that it will affect. I really strongly urge the two sides to get together and talk this over and perhaps get together maybe even with the third side, whether it’s the attorney general or some other budget referee to finally get the proper interpretation of this particular measure.

“It’s absolutely important for us to be as responsible as we can be regarding vacant positions. I would agree that both sides have looked at vacant positions. Both sides have looked at the raiding of special funds over the years, but we must be responsible and we must get the proper interpretation. Until we get that, I’ll have reservations.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Chun Oakland rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I would also like to stand in support of this measure.

"With regards to the concerns raised by the Senator from Waimanalo, when I first heard of concerns yesterday afternoon at a Keiki Caucus meeting, we did get a briefing this morning by the Ways and Means Chairman and that question of federally funded positions was raised. The Chairman of Ways and Means had indicated that his understanding was that the federal ceiling for these funds were intact and that the positions could be filled with the federal monies. And if there is any concern, I know historically the Chairman of Ways and Means and the Ways and Means Committee has been very supportive of human services, and I have no doubt if there is a problem that we will be able to correct it.

"But that was my understanding that the federally funded positions still could be filled. Thank you."

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition.

"The kindest thing that could be said about H.B. No. 1800 is that it is work in progress. I do not deny that much effort has been put forth, but if I remember from my high school physics course, work is defined as what is accomplished, not what is attempted. It really would not be in the public interest to find out after the fact that federally funded positions were unintentionally affected. The prudent thing to do is to recommit this measure to Committee to carefully review it in the timeframe that we still have before this Body adjourns, and then come back after the questions have been answered.

"Thank you."

Senator Espero rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I'd like to rise in support of this measure.

"The question was asked, why now? I think maybe we should ask, why not? Now, we know that our differences in this Body, in this building, there are Republicans and there are Democrats. That's the nature of the beast. And we come here every year to debate, to discuss, and to come up with what we think is the best bill, the best budget for the people of Hawaii. We will have our differences, yes. But as far as going to name-calling and fake education reform, you know, let's be adults here. We have differences. We accept those, but we move on.

"This budget before us, quite frankly, is an exceptional budget. We have $100 million for repair and maintenance. We have tens of millions of dollars for new schools and new facilities, and that's repair and maintenance of our schools. We have $4 million for the Hawaii Invasive Species Council to help our environment; $2.5 million for new textbooks and learning materials; $2.1 million to reduce the student/teacher ratio in kindergarten through second grade; $1.7 million to get more parents involved in the schools via our parent-community networking centers; half-a-million dollars to give our teachers extra bonuses for those that pass the national board certification; $25.8 million for our charter schools, which is a big piece of education reform that came out of this Legislative Body for charter schools; $3.4 million for our A-plus after school program; $4 million for adult treatment services dealing with the substance abuse and ice problems; $3 million for school-based treatment in our high schools and intermediate schools; half-a-million dollars for treatment of first-time nonviolent drug offenders; $2.7 million for the expansion and the success of our drug court program, again, something that came out of this Legislative Body; $25.8 million for the Department of Human Services to provide basic health insurance coverage for those people who are needy. We have funding to go to the counties to help them in all of their programs and all of the problems that our counties are having. We're assisting nonprofits and other organizations that are coming to us. Unfortunately, we are not able to help everybody because of the priorities we have to establish, but again, it's something we have to do.

"To knock this budget and to vote against the budget, I just don't understand that, Mr. President. This is a very good product and I will take literally the decades and years of experience that people in the Legislature have over the less than two years that this current administration has.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in response or rebuttal.

"No where have I called anybody any name, and I certainly have not chastised anybody personally in the executive branch of government like was done with the Governor on this Floor. And I will tell my colleagues I have a tremendous amount of respect. Everything that was said about the Chairman of Ways and Means by the Vice Chair is exactly correct. He and I just have a different philosophy in some things, but he's a most noble adversary. He always comes and explains his position, as he just did on the Floor, and we agree to disagree. He's a good man, and I'm proud to work with him. We just disagree.

"In rebuttal, I'd like to say, regarding the vacant positions, I can see where the Human Service Chair is a little concerned. When you cut from the budget position counts and money, we believe that you can't hire those people if they're not authorized, no matter what the federal ceiling is. But the real question here is, if it does not affect hiring, why was it done? What has it accomplished? What's the purpose? We know the truth is that it does.

"If you take out of the budget a position count and the authorization of spending end funds or federal funds, you take away the department head's ability to hire a human being, to pay him federal money to get the job done. If that's not true, why did we do it? So, the argument put up by the Majority Party is quite contradictory.

"The good Senator from Ewa Beach stood up and said he wanted to answer the question – why, after the Majority Party has had power for 40 years and always bumps the budget up to the waning moments of the Legislature, why is it being passed close to three weeks prior to the close of the Legislature? That was my 'why now' question. For the record, the speaker who claimed to be addressing that question went on and lauded the spending this bill did but didn't answer the question. And I still await a logical, cogent, reasonable, fair answer. Why after 40 years and 100 percent control over the legislative and executive branch of government is this budget suddenly so efficient it's passing close to three weeks before the close of the Legislature? I think it's a legitimate question and I'll await the answer."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 1-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 1800, H.D. 1, S.D. 1,

C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE STATE BUDGET," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Slom, Trimble).

At 11:32 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:37 o'clock a.m.

At this time, the President made the following announcement:

"Members, if there are no objections, we will move onto the other business while we wait for word that the state budget has been transmitted to the Governor. We will move on to the items under Third Reading on page 46."

Senator Hemmings rose on a point of inquiry as follows:

"Mr. President, point of personal inquiry.

"What's the necessity of holding up these legislative proceedings to wait for the transmission of the state budget to the Governor?"

At 11:38 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:40 o'clock a.m.

The President then announced:

"Members, we just got the transmittals from the Governor's Office, so we will proceed as normal on page 45."

Senator Hemmings rose and again said:

"Mr. President, before the recess, I asked a question and I want the record to reflect in the Journal that the question was answered by the Clerk, and the answer is that before we can conduct anymore spending initiatives on the Floor, the budget or the spending bill, as we may call it, has to be, according to constitutional interpretation, delivered to the Governor. I'm sure the Majority Party, especially the barrister who fought a lawsuit on untimely vetoes would note the time appropriately so that we will all be in compliance with the constitution on this issue.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 2-04 (H.B. No. 2300, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1):

On motion by Senator Hanabusa, seconded by Senator Taniguchi and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 2-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 2300, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE JUDICIARY," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 3-04 (H.B. No. 2280, S.D. 1, C.D. 1):

On motion by Senator Taniguchi, seconded by Senator Kokubun and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 3-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 2280, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO STATE BONDS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 4-04 (H.B. No. 1043, S.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Kanno moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 4-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 1043, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"First let me say that as we said publicly before, we do respect and appreciate the work of public employees and their necessity in this state. However, as I've also said before, it seems that we spend an inordinate amount of time and resources in providing appropriations, salary increases, sick leave, holiday leave, benefits, and changes in state law for public employee unions, and that's what we're doing in this bill here.

"We've had the discussion over and over again about the merits and demerits of binding arbitration versus the right to strike and how the Senate members and House members changed their position in a very short period of time with the change in administration. And we're faced with a situation here where we've had binding arbitration, not collective bargaining, binding arbitration, which has resulted in an 8 percent salary increase. The actual numbers are $32 million for the first six months of the next fiscal year, January through June 30th, and $54 million the next year, which has not been appropriated.

"We also have replaced all of the changes that were made in the collective bargaining civil service reform of 2001 so that the benefits, the sick leave days, the vacation days, the step increases, all of these things go far beyond 8 percent. We all talk about having a fair compensation and fair benefits package for our public employees and I think the problem is that we have gone well beyond the fair and well beyond the ability to pay.

"And let's not get bogged down in an argument about the arbitrators from the mainland and whether they took this into consideration or that or they did not. The fact of the matter is we've got the taxpayers of this state who are paying for, continually, increases. Because as you know, even when you vote on this now, in a few short weeks the negotiations will start anew, all over again for the next contract for the government employees. And that's why I say we spend a great deal of time and effort just funding public employees' salaries when we should be doing other things with other bills and other monies.

"Are the public employees getting a fair wage at this point? Absolutely. Are they getting more benefits than in the private sector? Absolutely. The private sector is called upon to support this growing number of public employees and the benefits and the costs both in terms of active employees and retiree employees. And it is a tremendous burden which is only going to be exacerbated as we look further in the future.

"So, we've got the problem of arbitration, which really does not fit. We have the problem of the actual dollars, and we have a situation here where if we had a lessor amount, an increase which the Governor has been amenable to and which many of us in this Body who disapprove of this particular bill are amenable to, we're not doing that. We're still going at full bore with a large and burdensome increase. So, I'm urging a 'no' vote.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against this funding legislation, H.B. No. 1043.

"Maybe this is what it's all about. Parenthetically to this bill, I will tell you that later on we're going to have a bill that's going to raid, once again, the rainy day fund to fund human service programs. And guess what, it's been raining for an awfully long time in Hawaii and the rainy day fund is running out of money and so are the human service programs.

"It's important to note that public employees do a good job but they get paid excellently, and they get amongst the best fringe benefits in the nation of all other 50 states. When you go to work on the first day – 21 days of sick leave, cumulative benefits with paid days off or leave holidays, health insurance, second-most days off of any state in the nation. The fringe benefits are extraordinary, far in excess of the private sector.

"It's also important to note, in relationship to pay increases for other branches of government, that since 1998 through the year 2003, five years, these public employees have gotten 25 percent in pay increases. It's also important to note, and I'm going to read out of a resolution passed in Ways and Means just yesterday, whereas it should be pointed out that these recommended increases do not represent a just commitment on a one-time appropriation. On the contrary, they represent a permanent increase to the judiciary's base budget and/or as accordingly this Legislature refuses to commit future Legislatures to the liability resulting from these annual 3.5 percent salary increases without knowing their full impact on future financial plans.

"Extremely interesting – $1.5 million pay increase for judges who ranked 48th in the nation for pay, 48th, after indexing for cost of living, 32nd in straight dollars. We can't give them a million-and-a-half-dollar pay raise – the most underpaid judges in the nation. But yet, and we have to worry about future budgets, the HGEA's pay raise this year, which this supplemental budget has taken care of, is going to add $32 million to this year's cost.

"But what about what this resolution says about the million-and-a-half dollars for the judges? We can't do it without realizing the resulting liability in these annual increases on future impact. But we do know what the HGEA pay raises are going to do. It's going to be $54 million every year for the future. Isn't it amazing? Isn't it amazing. We find the money for pay raises for a special interest group that is adequately paid, that has had 25 percent pay increases in the last five years, who has the most generous fringe benefits in the nation, but we cannot pay our judges a little more salary and they're amongst the worst paid in the nation. It's just not fair

"I'd ask you to vote against it, but I know who brought you to the dance. But I will tell you that this even hurts organized labor. In the long run they're paying for it too. The economy of Hawaii and the cost of living is directly related to how we spend taxpayer's dollars and collecting too much of it. This hurts everybody, including the unions. But the Majority Party seems to bow at the altar to it. It's time we hold the system accountable and do what's responsible for the taxpayers of Hawaii, and that's why I'm voting 'no.'"

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 4-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 1043, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT MAKING APPROPRIATIONS FOR SALARY INCREASES FOR PUBLIC EMPLOYEES," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 5-04 (H.B. No. 2004, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 5-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 2004, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Aduja rose in support of the measure and said:

"Aloha, Mr. President, may it please the President and my Senate colleagues that I rise in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, your Windward Senator, Co-Chair of the Ice and Drug Abatement Task Force, fully and wholeheartedly commends the excellent work of the Conferees – Co-Chairs Taniguchi and Takamine; Senate Managers Kokubun and Hogue; and House Managers Kawakami, Nishimoto and Meyer.

"Mr. President, this measure makes appropriations for drug education and awareness, segments of the population that are particularly vulnerable to substance abuse, drug abuse treatment services, The Weed and Seed Program, Being Empowered and Together Reintegration Program, and the KASHBOX Substance Abuse Treatment Program; and grants-in-aid to counties to fund grassroots community efforts to sustain their anti-drug programs.

"This measure further establishes a statewide Substance Abuse Treatment Monitoring Program, which requires the Department of Public Safety to coordinate community-based drug abatement and mobilization efforts on a statewide basis.

"H.B. No. 2004 expands Drug Courts and the Canine Interdiction Program, and creates a multi-agency task force to respond to the effects of ice on children.

"Mr. President, as I had mentioned in my April 2nd floor speech on H.B. No. 2003, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, ice does not discriminate. It preys on the young and the old, the rich and the poor, the educated and the illiterate, the professional and the amateur, doctors, lawyers, elected officials, their husbands, wives, children and everyone in between.

"Mr. President, your Windward Senator personally knows the tragedy that all too many families suffer when someone close to them falls victim to drug addiction.

"Mr. President, the media and press has recently reported that my own family has been torn apart by my former husband's problems with illegal drugs. I, and my two small children, lived in the world of lies, abandonment, and betrayal that the drug addict creates to hide his addiction.

"Your Windward Senator has spent sleepless nights trying to comfort my crying children because they don't know why daddy hasn't been coming home. I have seen the sorrow in my own children's eyes when the daddy they love and so desperately need doesn't come home because he's doing something that he did not want his family to see. I have lived through the shame and humiliation of knowing that someone I loved and trusted with the lives of my children has betrayed our love and our trust by the selfish seduction of chasing that next 'relapse.'

"Mr. President, my children and I, as with countless other families in Hawaii, have struggled through our individual battle against illegal drugs. With each new dawn, I look into the eyes of my fatherless children and renew my fight to hold on to my family, to raise my young children to be responsible members of our community, to maintain my dignity, and to work tirelessly to end the curse of illegal drugs in these small island communities that we call 'Hawaii.'

"Mr. President, the importance of Windward Oahu's ice campaign has been recognized by many of our island communities as an important first step to stop illegal drugs from taking over our families and our broader communities. As I mentioned earlier this month – the car thefts; the abandoned vehicles; the car accidents; the burglaries; forgeries; stealing of mail and the altering of checks; the assaults; the abuse of household members; the child abandonment; the high divorce rates; the suicides in lieu of jail as with one of my favorite singer/songwriters, Mackey Feary; the homicide of a cop, our own Glen Gaspar; the suicides by cop; and sadly we can now add Kailua's arson of a primary residence and the murder and attempted murder of an aunt and mother of an addict – we have heard and seen it all. And, unfortunately, all too many of us are living with it and its lifelong scars.

"Mr. President and Colleagues, it is our legal and moral responsibility as the elected officials of our communities to put words into action, to stop the spread of illegal drugs, and to offer new opportunities to the victims of substance abuse to rebuild their families and their lives.

"Mr. President, we must work together to protect our children, the most vulnerable members of our community and the most innocent victims of illegal drugs.

"We must work together to provide long-term treatment to those 'hardcore' drug addicts to break the cycle of chemical dependency and help them regain their lives, their families, and their dignity.

"Mr. President, we must expand Drug Courts to include the Second and Third Judicial Circuits and to expand Juvenile and Family Drug Courts on Oahu to stop illegal drugs from harming more innocent families and children, and to stand firm against those who seek to profit from the misery they bring to our society by providing our Judges with the discretion to sentence drug dealers to prison rather than to allow dealers the luxury of treatment in lieu of jail.

"Mr. President, it is your Windward Senator's committed prayer that this measure will receive the bipartisan support that it deserves and that the families of our great state deserve. The issues relating to illegal drugs in our state are not about partisan politics. They are about the core values of our great society – our families, our children, and our future.

"Mahalo nui loa and I thank you, Mr. President, for all your blessings during the term of the Task Force. I urge all of my colleagues to continue the bipartisan work that we began in the meeting rooms by passing this bill and bringing our work out into our communities and our streets through the many valuable changes that this bill seeks to implement.

"Aloha, Mr. President and to all of you my colleagues and God bless."

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"The previous speaker raised a number of excellent points, and of course she's absolutely right. This is not a partisan measure in any event and it does have bipartisan support. There are many good features to this bill, but there are also some troubling features.

"The fact of the matter is the Lt. Governor's Task Force that began this process was basically replicated and duplicated by the Legislative Task Force afterwards, although there was much more citizen input in the Lt. Governor's substance abuse meetings statewide. I think that a voice or voices that are not being heard are those voices that say we absolutely support treatment but first we want prevention. We want protection. We don't want people using drugs as an excuse for the crimes or for the things that they do.

"And so while there are good portions in this bill and good programs which we've all supported in the past, such as Weed and Seed and the expansion of the Drug Courts, there is a lack of law enforcement emphasis within this bill. The walk and talk, the knock and talk provisions were taken out very early. There are other provisions that were suggested by or really focused upon by both the law enforcement community and by those people that have come to all of us and said do something about this problem.

"Again, it's not a situation for those of us that may have objections or opposition that we don't want treatment. Treatment is fine, but if we're talking about crime prevention and crime reduction, as the bill purports to do, and also about successfully battling crystal meth and other substance abuses, then we've got to have the tools that those in the law enforcement community urge upon us. It's got to be a balanced approach. And in my humble opinion, unfortunately, this bill in this form is not a balanced approach. It gives a great deal of latitude to treatment, to victimization of the people that are creating, by their own choices, a course of conduct and action that they instill upon other family members and community members as well.

"So, unless we get serious about this, unless we have a balanced idea of true prevention, then we will not have a successful battle against crystal meth or any of the other substance abuses.

"Thank you."

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in strong support of this measure.

"This is the part of the ice package that deals with prevention and treatment, diversion, rehabilitation. The other aspects of the problem which have to do with tweaking our criminal laws, making it easier to deal with the folks who actually have committed crimes is in another measure we passed.

"I also think it's important to recognize, for the record, that while the executive was involved and did a fine job with the summit, it was in fact the Legislature that took the lead. I wasn't on the task force but many of my colleagues were, and if you look at the timeline, it was created last Session. They worked all interim, went to countless meetings. I had the good fortune of chairing the meeting when they were on Maui and we heard hours of testimony from the prosecutors, from the police, from the providers, from the folks in drug court. They told us what we really needed was a comprehensive plan of prevention, diversion, support for people when they're coming out of treatment, the clean and sober houses, the ability to have drug treatment in our correctional facilities, and how we need to help people stay away from that drug life once addicts get out of their treatment so they don't relapse.

"We're dealing with a drug that is very, very addictive. It's not just something that you can walk away from. Many people can't and they need to have that support, and that's what this bill does.

"This bill is in response to the hundreds of hours and the thousands of testimonies that the Legislative Task Force heard, and fortunately, when the Lt. Governor had his drug summit months after the Legislature had completed its work, they heard the same thing. So that's why we can go forward in many respects in tandem because it is a response to the community.

"I think this is a very good bill. I'm delighted to see the emphasis on prevention, treatment, and rehab, because I really think those, in the long term, are going to be the kinds of efforts that will enable us to break the cycle of drugs and the cycle of violence that goes with it.

"I urge all of my colleagues to support this measure. Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hogue rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to support this measure with reservations.

"My reservations have to do with the fact that so much of this bill is coming out of the rainy day fund. I'll talk a little bit more about the rainy day fund bill when that comes forward. I wish we could have just generally funded these rather than coming out of the rainy day fund.

"Also, I want to echo some of the comments brought forward by the good Senator from Hawaii Kai regarding balance. It really doesn't matter whether the Lt. Governor was first or the Legislature was first. Both of us talked about this problem and heard community efforts. I was at many of the meetings as well, and there has to be this balance between the law enforcement community and those who victimize and talk about treatment. This particular measure goes, I think, a little bit out of balance more towards the treatment side than the law enforcement side.

"There has to be equal balance brought forward here by the Legislature, and for those reasons, I want to note my reservations. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 5-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 2004, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE ILLEGAL USE OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 6-04 (H.B. No. 2743, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 6-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 2743, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Hogue rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this particular measure.

"This is the raid bill. If we were doing our own budget at home, it would kind of be like rob Peter to pay Paul. We all do it. So, that's essentially what's going on here.

"But I wanted to point out one particularly (I'm going to use the word here) egregious section – Sections 17 and 18. It's bothersome that we are going here and attacking the state highway fund. And the reason why I find this particularly problematic is that these funds are funds that we could get federally. As I understand it, and we have called the Department of Transportation, $12.5 million total in Sections 17 and 18. This means we're going to raid these funds. It means that we will not get $50 million from the federal government. I can't quite figure out why we're doing that. It doesn't make sense. When you as a family rob Peter to pay Pauls, you certainly want to make sure that you've got some money coming in and you want to do it responsibly. This doesn't seem to be the most responsible way to do that.

"So, remember that we get federal fund matching monies of 80 percent to our state's 20 percent, and we're raiding here $12.5 million so we're going to lose $50 million in federal grant monies from the highway fund if we do this, according to the Department of Transportation. So that's a big problem there. It almost speaks to the other issues that we had previously.

"So, over the last ten years, in fact, we've taken over $200 million from this fund. That indicates a $1 billion loss – a $1 billion loss – to the state. So I would not say that that is responsible raiding of special funds.

"Also, speaking to this particular issue, the state highway fund . . . this is gas tax money. We're concerned. We see it all the time as to why our gas prices are so high. This is gas tax money right here. Here's the reason why the prices are so high. If we have a problem with this state highway fund, well then let's reduce the gas taxes. So, we answer that question as well.

"So, not responsible, doesn't make sense, and so I'm going to vote 'no.' Thank you."

Senator Taniguchi rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this bill.

"Mr. President, this measure transfers approximately $43 million in excess balances contained in various special and revolving funds to the general fund. Your Conference Committee has scrutinized the balances of the various special and revolving funds and has determined the various funds identified in this measure have balances in excess of their stated needs.

"Mr. President, this measure is an integral component of our supplemental budget and financial plan because it provides an additional source of revenue necessary to address a host of vital issues such as providing more resources for our public schools and fighting the war on ice.

"Mr. President, if I may, I would also like to note that last year the Governor transferred out of special and revolving funds over $200 million, and that in my review of the Governor's message dated April 12, a couple days ago, the Governor is proposing transfers to the general fund of approximately $30 million from certain special and revolving funds that have excess balances as a means to address, in part, projected collective bargaining cost items.

"I urge my colleagues to support this measure."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against this legislation, H.B. No. 2743.

"Mr. President, I would like to agree with the previous speaker regarding the necessity under this situation that we've been in for 10 years in the State of Hawaii in spending more money than we have that it's necessary to squeeze out of everything possible, including special funds, extra money. The Governor is doing it. The Legislature does it. And so in lies the story.

"I could agree to this procedure albeit for one special fund raid spoken about by the very quick to stand up Senator from Kaneohe, because the math just doesn't add up, Mr. President. Taking $12.5 million out of the highway fund denies us the opportunity on the 80/20 percent match by the federal government, the opportunity to bring $50 million to the highway fund. So, we'll tell our constituents next time they drive over a pothole or are stuck in traffic somewhere that the State of Hawaii turned down $50 million because we did not spend $12.5 million.

"Another way to look at it is that we're losing $50 million by saving $43 million in special funds in entirety. So by my math, it's almost a $7 million net loss. It just doesn't make economic sense. So, there is a solution – for economic prudence I suggest we recommit this bill to Conference Committee and adjust it and see if we can't make the money up in some other area. But to lose $50 million to save $12.5 million just doesn't make sense.

"So, I'm voting 'no,' but I would certainly entertain a recess and a motion to recommit and take this back to Conference Committee, since we have so much time, and do what's prudent.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Kim rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this measure.

"Mr. President, I, too, was concerned about the monies taken from the state highway funds, but doing my homework and in discussing this fully, I've come to realize that this fund has more than $12.5 million. This fund will have, I think it's $60 million or probably even more than that. I believe our Ways and Means Chair is going to find that exact figure.

"But the fact of the matter is, those are excess funds, Mr. President, not funds that have been committed. It's not funds that are going to be matching funds. Matching funds come per project, Mr. President. Project by project, the federal government has certain kinds of matching funds, and these projects have already been identified. These projects are already part of the budget. These projects are already monies that are going to be used. They're not part of the excess funds. The excess funds are funds that the department has no intention of using, has no plans of using within their projected budget.

"So the fact that we didn't spend the money, it's the administration and it's the transportation department who did not spend the money to fix our roads. We had a hearing, Mr. President, and I questioned the department head as to why aren't they paving our roads. They have all this money, all this money sitting there and they haven't paved our roads for years. Thirteen years have gone by and they have not paved our roads. They have not projected some of this money to be used.

"So I suggest that our colleagues across the way really go and talk to the Department of Transportation and find out why they have all this money, this excess money, why these monies are not committed as matching funds, and we are not losing $50 million. We are not losing these matching funds. So I suggest that they go back and maybe take a recess so that they can go back and talk to the department head and find out why they haven't committed this money and why it's not part of their budget.

"Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, this is my first time or my first rebuttal on this particular issue. Thank you, Mr. President, I appreciate you keeping count for me.

"In rebuttal to the previous speaker in response, just so we all understand each other, we agree that the roads have not been repaired for 13 years. You're exactly correct. And that's exactly why we have a new administration that's going to correct the years of abuse the previous administrations heaped on this community regarding the maintenance of our highways.

"Nevertheless, though this money may be sitting in the fund, that does not preclude it from being used in the near future to get matching funds federally. Nevertheless, this money – $12.5 million – could turn into $50 million worth of federal help. That's a fact. When it's done, like we talked about hiring vacant positions, hopefully it will be sooner than later. And what we're really proud of on this side of the aisle is that this administration has done an excellent job of funding human service programs with federal money, and I'm sure the Department of Transportation Director, Rod Harada, is going to do an excellent job of pursuing turning state funds into a four to one match to federal funds.

"That's why it is imprudent to eliminate this money from the special fund. Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Kim rose in rebuttal and stated:

"Mr. President, in rebuttal.

"Mr. President, I would like to remind the previous speaker that it's this administration and this transportation director who proposed the budget that is not using all the funds. I also propose that there is already $12.5 million in the current excess fund that could get us the money. In fact, if we have $60 million there, and I'm also hearing that it might even be $100 million, those are all the monies that can be used for the matching funds.

"But again, it is this administration and this transportation director's budget that does not utilize these excess funds. Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I speak in favor of the measure with some clarification on these funds.

"Some people seem to feel because we have a million dollars we go to the federal government and say, 'We have our million, where's your four million? We have our 1.5, where's your 6 million?" That is not how it works.

"Having Co-Chaired the transportation Committee with our Senator from Waipahu, as well as for a time sat on the OMPO Committee and looked at how the state does planning, the federal government every six years does an act that funds transportation projects. Hawaii is fortunate that although we are a small state compared to Texas, we're what they call a zone E state. We get more money than states like Texas for the dollars our residents put in. So that's something that Congress does.

"But every six years, and it's coming up shortly, they start to say this is the portion of money that will go to Hawaii. For some of them, specific projects, like a project soon to come about in Pearl City where an additional lane is added, some for buses. But in essence, it's not an unlimited fund. It's a finite fund.

"As the Senator from Moanalua pointed out, these projects need to be planned out. In the past, these projects were planned out to match what federal dollars come in, and if we don't have enough federal dollars, we spend all the state dollars. But ideally, we do want to match.

"So, it's not a correct statement to say just because we have taken some money out of the fund, we've lost a billion dollars – far from it. We're not foolish. But certainly, as has just been pointed out, excess funds, pushing it up to the window, leaving it stacked there day and night, day and night, don't help us carry on the business of our state.

"So we need to look at how we can best use our funds, and certainly I'm sure the good people in the transportation department are doing that. But certainly perhaps they need to re-look at how we can use some of the dollars that are sitting there better. But certainly if there are excess dollars, let's put them to good use.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 6-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 2743, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO NON-GENERAL FUNDS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 7-04 (H.B. No. 2796, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Baker moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 7-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 2796, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hogue rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition.

"This is the rainy day fund raid. First of all, I want to say that I certainly understand and I feel compassion for many of these programs that in here. I just don't believe it is good fiscal policy to come back year in and year out and raid the rainy day fund.

"I should note, colleagues, that the NCSL, also the National Association of State Budget Directors recommends that we have as much as 5 percent of our total budget in the rainy day fund. As a matter of fact, we have about .6 percent. That's all, just a little over one-half of 1 percent – $54.3 million in the rainy day fund of our total budget of $9.15 billion.

"So, every year if we're going to go into this thing and we're going to raid it, I think the amount of this raid is around $9 million or so, not good fiscal policy. So, I would encourage us to stop this particular practice. If these are worthy programs, and most of them are, then we've got to find ways to fund them through the general fund and not continuously raid the rainy day fund until it doesn't even exist when we finally have that really bad rainy day.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, this is a complimentary bill to the budget. This bill along with the funds in the budget helps make sure that our health safety net is intact. For many folks outside, it is raining, and this rainy day fund for those programs I believe is most appropriate because the rainy day and budget reserve fund is coming from a diversion of funds from the tobacco settlement fund. That's the source of the rainy day fund.

"It seems to me that the nexus between the bad health that those funds are deriving from and the good health that we need in our community is quite strong. Therefore, I think it's very appropriate that we use those funds to ensure that the health safety net stays intact. The funds for our community health centers, for our hospitals, for important health and social service programs are to try to help the most frail and vulnerable in our community.

"It seems to me, Mr. President and colleagues, that in a perfect world we would have all of the general fund monies we need, but since we don't have a perfect world and the budget and emergency reserve fund is coming from the tobacco settlement fund, it's an appropriate use of those funds when it is raining outside.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 7-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 2796, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO STATE FUNDS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, 3 (Hogue, Slom, Trimble).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 8-04 (S.B. No. 2525, H.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 8-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 2525, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kim.

Senator Taniguchi rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of S.B. No. 2525, C.D. 1.

"Mr. President, the purpose of this bill is to repeal the primary funding source for the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs in compliance resolution fund. Historically, several divisions in DCCA were self-sufficient, sustaining operations from the fees and other revenues they collected. In 1999, the move to make the entire department self-sufficient was made when the director approached the Legislature with a plan to commit the entire department to self-sufficiency and to remove any reliance on general funds.

"However, last year the department's revenues and expenditures were off by approximately $14 million. This raised concerns that there needs to be more accountability and scrutiny. Therefore, after careful consideration, we found that a reasonable solution is to require the department, like other departments, to make expenditure requests from general funds.

"We have considered a large raid of the compliance resolution fund rather than conversion to general funds, but we couldn't do this, and actually the House argued not to do this, because the department's revenue stream goes up and down throughout the year as they get revenue from different sources. If we took, I guess, a large $30 million level of raid, there would be payroll shortfalls that would occur.

"We also believe that if the department has developed a culture of customer service that this would not change under this bill. The professional and vocational licensing division will remain special funded through the establishment of the compliance and regulatory education special fund. We left this division intact because the fees assessed, license fees, are tied only to the costs directly related to regulating that licensees, profession, or vocation.

"It has been brought to my attention that amendments made to Section 26-9, Hawaii Revised Statutes, regarding decreasing or increasing fees may have some ambiguity as to what are revenues in determining the formula for triggering the decrease or increase.

"It was our intent that revenues include but not be limited to any general fund appropriation fees or fines collected and received by the department.

"I urge all members to support this measure. Thank you."

Senator Slom rose to oppose the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in very strenuous opposition to this bill.

"You know, of all of the lame, irrational, difficult bills and bone-headed bills that we're discussing today. This is the worst. It makes absolutely no sense.

"As a customer of this department over many years and a strong critic of this department over many years, as were many in the community, this department has one of the worst reputations in state government. There was no reliance on customer needs. There was no reliance on providing efficient, productive, and rapid service until under a previous administration there was the proposal made to allow the department to become self-sufficient and to go in a direction that would change all of that.

"In the bad old days, one could wait for months for a very simple registration or a very simple report that was needed for business registration or one of the divisions under DCCA. And even though, as the previous speaker mentioned, we did make this change, the idea being to make this department both self-sufficient, autonomous, and to allow it to see if it could correct its many difficulties, many of the significant changes were not made until the last two years under yet another change in administrations.

"To say that the funding or the accountability is troubling leaves me greatly troubled. No one has been to more committee meetings, Ways and Means and others, than the present director of DCCA. No one has answered questions better and more truthfully, more honestly, and in more detail than the current director of DCCA. And while I know my colleagues always take my word for everything I say, they don't have to entirely take my word in this measure because a recent survey shows that of all the state departments, the one that was both most and improved and most customer friendly was the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs.

"Business pays into this fund, the CRF, the compliance resolution fund. Business pays in with the expectation that services will be delivered in a professional and business-like manner. Business has said overwhelmingly that they like the changes that have occurred within this department. Probably no department has taken to heart the Governor's inaugural reforms that the 'open for business' sign is on in the state more than the DCCA.

"And the best part is that the director of the DCCA himself came before Legislative Committees and said, 'Look, we've reviewed a number of the proposals; we've made a number of changes administratively, but I want to make more changes. One of the changes I want to make is to reduce fees.' My understanding is that there were four bills that were introduced, two were never heard by Ways and Means, to reduce fees. One was going to do away with a certificate of completion fee entirely. The rationale from the director was, 'look, we make businesses and individuals jump through all kinds of government hoops to prove to the community that they are legitimate, that they are in compliance, that they have accepted the regulation, that they have been accountable, and after we do all that then we charge them a fee to get the certificate to say that we've done that.'

"The director recommended that that fee be eliminated. The Ways and Means Committee said 'well, not too fast now; we don't like to operate too fast in state government. Let's only reduce it. Let's reduce it to $10.' The director was there the day that discussion took place and I asked the director pointedly, 'Do you need the $10?' And the answer was 'no.' And he looked at other fees and requirements to reduce the cost of doing business in Hawaii. And what do these costs of doing business do? They limit new capital, new investment, new funds to not only stabilize and enhance our economy, but it also should be the source for paying the kinds of human service needs and other needs that we try to prioritize within the state.

"So here you have a department that is doing exactly what it was mandated to do, only even better. And what is our response? This is not a raid bill, Mr. President. This is an evisceration bill. We don't want to just take money from the DCCA, we want to penalize it for their productivity. We want to penalize it for their success. We want to penalize them for the realization by the business community that supports them and pays the bills. We want to penalize them for doing a good job and for keeping their word.

"I don't understand it. I really don't understand it. There's no economic or budgetary reason for doing this except, except if you just look at it from a monetary perspective. And what is that monetary perspective? This bill would repeal the CRF and would transfer approximately $32-$34 million from this compliance fund into the state general fund. I guess presumably to help us take care of our public employees even more. Maybe we could do it on a yearly basis instead of every two years.

"But the businesses have already paid and the businesses would continue to pay, only now, the Legislature would reinsert its control over this successful department. It's kind of like what happens in education – you have charter schools that are public schools and you have the unions and several of my colleagues that really don't like charter schools because they are autonomous and they are doing the things that they're supposed to do. They are a shining example, but we don't like that because they don't fall in line and they're not under control of the monolithic power of the educational bureaucracy.

"And here we have a department in the same situation. Why take this money away? Why take this CRF and eliminate it and start a special fund within the same treasury, take all the money from the general fund, keep the liability for the businesses there, make sure that the DCCA does not have a dedicated source of funding so that they have to come hat-in-hand every year to beg for their budget again as they used to. It gives nothing back to business. There's no benefit. There are no concerns about the DCCA and its customers. The customers have answered that.

"I looked over the testimony and all of the hearings in both the Senate and the House. There were like 40 to 1 in favor of DCCA opposed to this bill, 70 to 1, 80 to 1. But we're ignoring all those people. We're telling them that what they say and their daily involvement with this department doesn't matter because we know better. But you know what? We don't know better. The questions were asked. They were answered. We've got a very clear trend of what's happened in this department and we're ignoring it. I suggest we're doing it not just for the money, because we're going to take their money anyway, but we're doing it because we do not want any real independence or autonomy or success, because that might reflect on the executive branch and we certainly don't want to do that.

"So, business was overwhelmingly opposed to this bill. The monetary reasons for changing in the first place, which came from a Democratic administration, are as sound today as they were then. I don't see any forceful argument. I don't see any rational argument for doing this, and I know that some of the members of the Majority Party are conflicted because common sense and rationality tells them this is a bad, bad bill and a bad motive for doing this. And I hope that they will stand up and say so, and I hope that this bill will be defeated.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Taniguchi rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, a rebuttal. I support the bill.

"I'm certainly glad that we have refrained from the bone-headed practice of loudmouth name-calling on this Floor.

"In rebuttal, again, the department is not being negatively impacted. Actually, we think it may be better. They will be able to, rather than have to worry about I guess their up and down income and revenue source, by being in the general fund, they won't have to worry about that. Businesses should not see any change. All positions are retained. All the same people will be at the same counters that they have been. The director will still be able to hire and fire people. They can request additional positions as he does now.

"So, we believe it's a good bill. We need the bill for our financial plan, and we ask the members to be in support.

"Thank you."

Senator Menor rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, I just wanted the record to reflect the fact that I will be voting 'no' on this measure. I have strong opposition to this measure, which I have already shared with my colleagues in Caucus and also in discussions.

"Let me just say briefly that when your Committees on Consumer Protection and Transportation conducted a hearing on this measure that there were about 80 testifiers, many of which came from the business community who expressed strong opposition to this measure. I believe that there was one testimony in support from the Tax Foundation of Hawaii, and to date, I don't think that there has been any additional testimony, correspondences, or communication that have been submitted in support.

"We decided to hold the bill because we felt that it took a wrong approach to budgeting. I'm very concerned about the fact that the passage of this bill could dismantle a system in DCCA that has served the public well and also has served businesses well.

"I'd also like to note that I have history with respect to this issue. As the longtime Chair of the House Consumer Protection Committee, I worked closely with former director Kathy Matayoshi and the Cayetano administration to put together this structure and I believed in the structure back then and I still believe in it now.

"Thank you."

Senator Hogue rose to inquire:

"Mr. President, would the good Senator from Mililani yield to a question?"

Senator Menor having answered in the affirmative, Senator Hogue inquired:

"I would find it very appreciative if you could give us the detailed reasons for your opposition to this particular measure. I think it would be very helpful. I know I served on the Committee with you. I know that you have worked very hard with this particular department, this administration and the previous administration, and I think it would be very instructive not only to the members of this Body, but also the members of the public as well, if you could please give out some of those reasons as to why you held that bill.

"Thank you very much."

Senator Menor responded:

"Mr. President, just in response, I think that the reasons are really a matter of public record. We had extensive hearings on the measure and the testimonies in opposition were quite persuasive to myself. In addition, I think we've already had lengthy remarks delivered in opposition by the Senator from Hawaii Kai and I'm sure that you'll hear other remarks being delivered along that line.

"My position basically reflects and echoes those sentiments."

Senator Trimble rose to oppose the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"We have a legislative auditor. I think we may have just given her a raise, and then we completely ignore what she says. The legislative auditor has consistently said over time there are three criteria that should be used to determine whether a special fund makes sense or not. The first one is, are the people getting the benefit the same as those paying the fee? In the case of DCCA – yes, they are. Second, is there a relationship between the fee that is paid and the service that is provided? In the case of DCCA – yes, it is. The third one is, is the special fund capable of being self-sufficient? The answer again is yes, it is.

“If ever there is a case that could be made for an organization to have a special fund, it is DCCA. Colleagues, what we are doing here today in terms of putting together the budget package makes no sense. There are some outside this Chamber that will view our actions here today as petty, misguided, short-sided, vindictive. Why do we continue to compound mistake, after mistake, after mistake?”

“I urge you to reject this bill. I urge you to vote ‘no.’ Thank you.”

Senator Slom rose in rebuttal and said:

“Mr. President, just a brief rebuttal.

“Let me assuage the concerns of the good Senator from Manoa, the Chair of Ways and Means. Bonehead is a bipartisan term of endearment and not meant to . . . you know.

“Two years ago when we took funds from the insurance regulation fund within DCCA, that resulted in a lawsuit, which I understand is still underway – a lawsuit for illegally taking those monies. I would suggest that if in fact we take these monies that there will be a similar lawsuit as there should. This is an illegal taking of funds that were deposited for a specific purpose and that purpose is not going to be realized.

“In addition to that, what troubles me more, when we were debating the budget, there was an issue about federal funding and positions. And the head of the department, Department of Human Services, stated her position very clearly that it would be the loss of the ability to fund those positions. But we, being wiser than the department head said, no, we have a different opinion; we’re going ahead and we will override that opinion.

“Now we’re saying the department head of the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs has said strenuously that this would be a bad move. And we’re saying, but we know better because we’re the Legislature. We’re going to take over everything. We’re going to do everything, and we can do it better.

“Look to the track record of this Legislature and look to the track record of DCCA and I will stay with the DCCA position. This is a bad move and we should be ashamed if we do it.

“Thank you.”

Senator Sakamoto rose and said:

“Mr. President, I just want a clarification from the Senator from Hawaii Kai.

“Over the years that we have been here, every time we increased or added a special fund he has voiced vocal opposition. This time we are proposing to do away with special funds or special fences around money, but he’s so vigorous in his support. So I’m wondering if he has changed his position and if he would just clearly answer that – yes or no.”

Senator Slom responded:

“I’d be very happy to, Mr. President.

“Yes, I have voted against the creation of every special fund. We’re talking about something that’s in existence right now. We’re talking about the department. And by the way, as I mentioned earlier, what the state proposes to do is loot the money from the CRF and create a special fund to put that looted money into. But we’re talking about that department and how that department works, how it helps business, and the good Senator knows quite well that the business community overwhelmingly has supported this DCCA operation and wants it to continue the way it is. And I’d be very disappointed if this Senator votes to go against the wishes of the business community.

“Thank you.”

Senator Ihara rose in opposition to the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to S.B. No. 2525.

“Mr. President, I understand the concerns about the need to balance the budget using monies from DCCA’s compliance resolution fund. I just prefer that this be accomplished without eliminating this fund.

“Thank you.”

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure with reservations.

“I had no problem with creating DCCA as a special funded department, and I still don’t. I suppose if I had my druthers and there weren’t budget implications, I would prefer that we keep it that way. But you know, Mr. President, I don’t believe that it’s the source of funds that determines whether a department is going to be efficient, effective, and friendly to business. If it were only determined on the source of their funds, we would be in big trouble.

“So, I reluctantly support this measure because I don’t think that the source of funds determines how well our departments operate.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Fukunaga rose and said:

“Please record my support with reservations.”

The Chair so ordered.

Senators English, Aduja and Tsutsui requested their votes be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 8-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2525, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO STATE FUNDS,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 16. Noes, 9 (Chun Oakland, Hemmings, Hogue, Ige, Ihara, Menor, Slom, Trimble, Whalen).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 9-04 (S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Sakamoto moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 9-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Hooser rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"I rise in support, Mr. President. I'd like to speak for a moment in support of S.B. No. 3238, relating to education, the reinventing education act of 2004.

"We spoke about many aspects of this measure in prior discussions, so I'll try to keep my remarks brief. However, I think this is, without a doubt, the most important piece of legislation that I've been privileged to participate in, in my brief career here in the Senate. When I first ran for office two years ago, the reason I chose to run for the office of Senator for district seven was to support and improve our public education system. I'm very thankful for the opportunity to participate in that process in the previous last two years. I'm also thankful for the opportunity on gratifying yourself, Mr. President and my colleagues, to serve as Vice Chair of the Senate Education Committee.

"The ability or the opportunity to participate in this process is really a unique one and it's been a really wonderful opportunity and it's brought about this significant piece of legislation and it's really been a partnership between the Senate and the House, teachers, principals, parents, the business community, and many, many people in our community.

"The process has been comprehensive. It's been long. It's been arduous at times. I'd like to take a moment to thank the Education Committee Chair, the Senator from Moanalua, for the hard work that he's done on this legislation. I personally witnessed long hours in the evenings working and meeting with people, as well as the Education Committee staff and my own staff, and of course members of the House who've also participated.

"I ran for this office to make a difference in public education, and the bill that we're voting on today does that and it does that in a very large measure. And while it may not satisfy everyone, there have been many sides to this debate. This bill, like most of our legislation, will not satisfy everyone. Of course, there was the obvious issue of the school board issue – the seven boards, the four boards, the multiple board constitutional question that is not included in the measure that we debate today. But I'm hoping, Mr. President, that those individuals who supported that measure both in the community as well as in our Chambers today, will put aside their disappointment and look closely at this bill and closely at the very many positive aspects this legislation has to offer to our community and to our schools and to our students.

"This bill represents a huge step forward and is a major reinvention of our public education system. The concepts and provisions in this bill were supported by teachers, principals, by our PTSA, by our Hawaii State Student Council, by the Hawaii Business Roundtable, by realtors, by neighborhood boards. The Honolulu Advertiser recently published a poll saying that the community at large, the majority of the community supported our bill, these provisions. The major provisions are reflected and have been practiced in places like Edmonton and in San Francisco. It is a good bill.

"We talked about many, many aspects many, many times, so I'm not going to go too much further. I'd like to encourage my colleagues to support the bill. This is a nonpartisan bill. This affects schools. It affects teachers. It affects students in all districts – Republican districts and Democratic districts, and, I suppose, nonpartisan districts.

"If you support direct funding of your schools in your district, I encourage my colleagues to vote 'yes' on this measure. If you support increasing small class sizes or decreasing class sizes in K1 through 2, which has been proven to positively affect learning in young children, if you support that measure I encourage you to vote 'yes' on this measure. If you support, colleagues and Mr. President, spending more money for books and supplies, more money for parent network centers, I encourage you to vote 'yes' on this bill. If you support paying and rewarding our teachers more – teachers that excel, teachers that take the step to apply and qualify for national certification – if you support rewarding these teachers with a $5,000 annual bonus in your district in your school, I encourage you to vote 'yes' on this bill. If you support empowering teachers, empowering and supporting our principals with additional responsibility, additional accountability, and additional rewards, I encourage you to support this bill and vote 'yes.' If you support reducing the bureaucracy in your districts and in your schools, again I encourage you to vote 'yes.'

"And of course, as much talked about increasing school/community participation, this bill does that. And again, if you support that in your school, the school in your neighborhood, the school in your district, I encourage all of you to vote 'yes.'

"This is a good bill. It does many, many good things. This bill changes fundamentally and positively the way our schools are mapped. This is a bill that each of us as individual Legislators can be extremely proud of, and I encourage all of you to vote 'yes.'

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hogue rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition, and I want to be respectful to the previous speaker. Good people can just agree to disagree.

"I do agree that we want to support the weighted student formula, textbooks, teacher retention, principal recruitment, some of those very necessary ideas regarding education. But have we truly reinvented our education system? Have we truly brought the real reform on our system? I would argue that we have not. Because essentially what this bill does is it gives actually more power to a centralized bureaucracy that unfortunately has not had the best results over these past 40 years.

"So, I disagree with the previous speaker. It's how do we change that? What is real reform? Real reform is bringing competition into the system. Real reform is bringing locally elected school boards. Real reform is breaking-up the centralized system. So we agree to disagree, and I think that's a very, very good debate. Maybe in your communities you're in favor of this venture to school reform, and maybe in other districts, including my district, you're not in favor of this being called school reform.

"So ultimately, we can throw the debate over to the people, and what this bill does not do, and what we have asked over and over again, is let the people decide. Is there a definition of real reform – breaking up the current centralized school bureaucracy – or do you want to empower it even more as this particular bill does? So, we've left out that great opportunity to hear from the people and give them an opportunity to vote in November.

"So we agree to disagree. Ultimately, we're going to find out over the next several years whether this in fact was real reform or fake reform. We don't know. We won't know, but we've left out a very, very important voice, and I feel that is very, very problematic, I guess.

"So, I would encourage my colleagues to rethink their position. I wish we could go back to the table and allow people the opportunity to voice their opinion now on this very important measure.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the measure.

"As the Senator from Kauai pointed out, many, many people helped and I can't fail to point out the Senator from Ways and Means and all of the people in this Body who supported via through the discussion, through the what can we fund, perhaps what can we not fund. And certainly, this measure funds many things, but combined with S.B. No. 1800, the Ways and Means and House Chairs have found a way to fund over $26 million or about $26 million, not in this bill, more for security, more for the treatment of drug treatment in the schools, more for transportation, transforming A-plus, more for coaches, more for trainers, more for the library books, certainly much more for repair and maintenance, much more for capital improvements.

"But back to this bill, many people are sort of confused when will what happen when. And as the Senator from Lanikai points out, it is not instant, but certainly this measure would bring more textbooks now, math books, and one of the reasons why math books, I think our system is overly decentralized now in curriculum in books. So this would help to focus the department on, well, let's look at math books and how can we use this source of money to perhaps bring together such things that are overly decentralized now.

"Class size now – kindergarten, first, second grade – the goal would be maximum 25. The bonuses that were previously bargained but not in this bargaining agreement, $5,000 a year now . . . well, not now. They have a memorandum of agreement that goes forward, but when that ends, there will be certainties that the $5,000 a year will continue.

"As mentioned, the PC&Cs every school starting now – student activity coordinators, high schools, full time; information technology infrastructure now; principals academy starting now; more faculty at the University of Hawaii for our teacher shortage starting now; repair and maintenance, getting those decisions de-linked from DAGS starting now. These things will start along with the pilot project to let's say how can this really happen. So, school year 04-05 pilot project provision in this bill for the department, for the board of education to have community meetings untangled from some of the bureaucracy that would prevent them from having a free discussion as they get public input, that can happen as soon as we pass this measure.

"The committee on weights will be starting discussion on how to de-link DAGS, DHRD, and perhaps that can happen very soon. Discussion on 12-month principals can start. So, for the school year 04-05, pilot project, repair and maintenance, board meeting, some of these issues. From 05-06, the hope is we can deal with principals and vice principals in a different context than other operational officers in the department so we get more efficiency there and we can look at our principals as the key leaders implementing the school-community councils 05-06. We can have that transition from SCBM, if they have one, for implementation of that 05-06. At that time, the performance contract for principals, hopefully there's something hammered out that that can start. De-link Budget and Finance, Department of Health, Attorney General, Human Services come that time. Then 06-07, with all of that done – 04-05, 05-06, 06-07 – then we can implement the student weighted formula and the single calendar.

"The argument always talks about overly centralized. That is not correct. Look at our school calendars. They're so defused but they've caused so much confusion that parents are upset. We can't do professional development too decentralized, and I think that's one thing that will centralize, will actually mean more efficiency for parents for community, and for developing our professionals, that 06-07.

"So certainly, Mr. President, we go around the clock and we hope in that time, separate from the discussion of shall there or shall there not be school boards, people will all get behind having this be successful. Houston, San Francisco, Seattle, Edmonton, other places are looking at it. So Mr. President, let's go around the clock and be successful because it will take not just the students, not just the parents, not just the teachers, it will take the community to get behind this. So let's all get behind it and put our good effort to make it successful.

"Thank you."

Senator Menor rose to speak in favor of the measure with reservations and stated:

"Mr. President, I'd like to speak in favor of this measure but with some reservations.

"First of all, I wanted to commend the Chair of the Education Committee for all of the hard work and commitment that he has devoted to the issue of education reform. He really has done an outstanding job, so we need to express our gratitude to him for his leadership in that particular area.

"I'm also going to be very supportive of this bill because of the fact that as a member of the Senate Education Committee, I have oftentimes stated that the key to a quality education is to focus on basics, which are to provide adequate resources and funding to our schools to enable our educators to be able to do an effective job to educating our youngsters. I think that this bill focuses on those particular areas by including, for example, funds for reduced class sizes, textbooks, and other important areas in education.

"However, I do have some reservations. One of the concerns I have is the fact that there are still many details that have to be worked out during the interim regarding the implementation of this bill. Moreover, I do have some reservations about the establishment of school-community councils and how effective they would be. Moreover, I do have reservations about the provisions in this bill that propose adding more responsibilities and functions to the Department of Education, which in effect would be expanding the education bureaucracy which I think might be counterproductive.

"However, I believe that on balance that this measure is a strong measure. It is a significant start in the direction of education reform. So I will be voting in favor of this measure.

"Thank you."

Senator Trimble requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 9-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, 3 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom).

S.B. No. 3237, S.D. 1, H.D. 1:

Senator Menor moved that S.B. No. 3237, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Baker.

Senator Menor rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of S.B. No. 3237, S.D. 1, our Hawaii Rx-plus bill.

“Mr. President, I’m very happy to say that this measure, which is a product of a great deal of hard work, is a bill whose time has finally come. It will place Hawaii as a national leader in attacking one of our nation’s biggest problems in the areas of consumer protection and healthcare, which is the skyrocketing cost of prescription drugs.

“With the passage of this bill, as I’ve stated on many occasions, this bill will make Hawaii one of two states along with Maine as having a law which will enable state government to be able to effectively negotiate price discounts with the drug manufacturers on behalf of the consumers of Hawaii. So in that regard, this bill will position Hawaii as a national leader on healthcare issues once again.

“Mr. President, an estimated 300,000 people – some of them working individuals, seniors living on fixed incomes who struggle to pay for medication that they need – will benefit from this program. Most of these individuals have inadequate drug coverage or no coverage at all.

“As we all know, today’s vote represents the final action that the Legislature will be taking on this measure before it is sent to the Governor. So in that regard, before I offer my thanks, I just want to say that it really has been a long and difficult road and we are now poised to pass groundbreaking legislation with a clear benefit for the people of Hawaii.

“We have many people to thank for that. We have consumer groups who were involved in this legislation, concerned citizens, lawmakers such as my colleague Senator Baker who was my Co-Chair on this measure, and we also need to thank the Governor for her support. I would also like to note that there were several representatives of the consumer organizations who worked hard to make this bill a reality whom I believe are in the gallery. They include Greg Marchildon and Alicia Maluafiti of AARP; Albert Hamai of the Hawaii Alliance for Retired Americans; Donna Higashi and Justin Wong of the HTA retiree groups; and Joy Kealoha of ILWU. We really do thank them a great deal for all of their work.

“In closing, I ask my colleagues once again to join me in voting for S.B. No. 3237, S.D. 1. Thank you.”

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I, too, rise in support of this measure.

“Mr. President, it’s been my pleasure this year to work with the good Senator from Mililani, the Senator from Kaneohe, and others on trying to come up with not only a measure that is going to bring much needed relief in terms of the high drug prices, but something that could be implemented and implemented quickly.

“It seems to me that the coalition of individuals both from the community, from the House and the Senate, and the administration came together. The kind of working relationship that ultimately emerged is the kind that we would like to see for all our bills. This is certainly a bipartisan effort and one that I was very pleased to be a part of.

“It’s going to help senior citizens, former plantation workers, folks that are regular citizens, individuals who at any place in the state do not have a drug benefit plan and need some assistance in paying for their prescription drugs. It’s a very forward-thinking bill, a forward-looking bill, and I’m so pleased to have had the opportunity, Mr. President, to be a part of this measure. I thank all of my colleagues who gave their input, gave their support, gave their help along the way, as well as our colleagues in the House, the representatives from the administration, the director of Human Services, the director of Health, and ultimately the Governor herself when she signs this measure into law and it becomes effective July 1st this year.

Senator Hogue rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I want to echo the comments of my colleagues from Maui and from Mililani. A lot of people worked on this. I also want to duly acknowledge the director of Human Services, who is up in the audience as well, for all her hard work. This is a bipartisan effort. The Governor has come out very strongly wanting to help the people in this gap group. It’s an important measure, I’m sure, not only in your communities but in my community as well, as we try to get some lower prices on prescription drugs, a very important measure.

“I just hope that we haven’t inadvertently, though, according to the director of Human Services, cut some positions which are going to be needed to administer this very important process. So, I hope that we can correct that in the days ahead here.

“I encourage your support on this particular measure, and I hope we can work out that potential personnel problem to administer this very important and much needed program.

“Thank you very much, Mr. President.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 3237, S.D. 1, and S.B. No. 3237, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PRESCRIPTION DRUGS,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

RECONSIDERATION OF ACTIONS TAKEN

S.B. No. 2577, S.D. 1 (H.D. 2):

Senator Baker moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken earlier on the calendar in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2577, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Hanabusa and carried.

Senator Baker moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2577, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Hanabusa.

Senator Baker noted:

"Mr. President, colleagues, this is the peer review amendments to facilitate the development of a patient safety standard, and although the Senate had broader language and would have liked to have had that move forward, this is the best we know we're going to do and there's really no sense in going to Conference. The proponents of the original bill asked us to accept these amendments, so that's why I'm moving to accept at this time."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2577, S.D. 1, and S.B. No. 2577, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PEER REVIEW," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Friday, April 16, 2004.

S.B. No. 3222, S.D. 2 (H.D. 2):

Senator Baker moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken earlier on the calendar in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 3222, S.D. 2, seconded by Senator Menor and carried.

Senator Baker moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 3222, S.D. 2, seconded by Senator Menor.

Senator Baker noted:

"Mr. President, this measure would add naturopathy to the PIP for auto insurance. It has the same limitations as chiropractic and acupuncture. Really the only differences between the Senate version and the House version are stylistic nonsubstantive."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 3222, S.D. 2, and S.B. No. 3222, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO MOTOR VEHICLE INSURANCE," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Friday, April 16, 2004.

S.B. No. 2294, S.D. 1 (H.D. 1):

Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on March 30, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2294, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2294, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa noted:

"Mr. President, S.B. No. 2294, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, is the criminal trespass bill. What it does is it raises criminal trespass to the second degree.

"The differences between the House and the Senate version is that the House removed the reference to private property because of the fact that there was no testimony evidencing any need for that and it also included that the notice shall be valid for a year.

"Mr. President, I believe that the Senate should agree to these amendments."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2294, S.D. 1, and S.B. No. 2294, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CRIMINAL TRESPASS," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Friday, April 16, 2004.

S.B. No. 2443, S.D. 1 (H.D. 1):

Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on March 30, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2443, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2443, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa noted:

"Mr. President, S.B. No. 2443, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, is the attorney liens bill. Mr. President, you might recall this was the bill that resulted from a Ninth Circuit decision that results with double taxation with the awardee being taxed for attorney's fees and liens.

"The House simply deleted liberally construed language and made a variety of changes which I believe doesn't change the intent of the bill and is more stylistic."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2443, S.D. 1, and S.B. No. 2443, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ATTORNEYS' LIENS," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Friday, April 16, 2004.

S.B. No. 2844, S.D. 1 (H.D. 1):

Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on March 30, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2844, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2844, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa noted:

"Mr. President, S.B. No. 2844, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, is the habitual offender bill. This is what many of our colleagues will find that their constituents are crying for. This is the one that basically enhances the sentence after the third offense for any property crime. The most common one that people refer to is of course theft of cars or breaking into cars.

"The difference between the Senate bill and the House bill is really only that the House removed the DAG and DANC changes that we made, but that is in a present bill moving over to the House. Also, they clarified that the third offense must be within five years and it must be on separate days.

"Mr. President, I believe that the Senate should concur."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2844, S.D. 1, and S.B. No. 2844, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CRIME," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Friday, April 16, 2004.

At this time, Senator Taniguchi, Chair of the Committee on Ways and Means, requested that the referrals of S.C.R. Nos. 39, 43, 44, 48, 60, 61, 62 and 68 to the Committee on Ways and Means be waived.

Senator Taniguchi noted:

"Your Committee on Ways and Means is requesting this waiver in order to meet the concurrent resolution crossover deadline tomorrow."

The Chair then granted the waiver.

By unanimous consent, the following concurrent resolutions were placed on the calendar for Adoption on Friday, April 16, 2004:

Senator Hemmings rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Yesterday I was in receipt of an e-mail from a member of the Hawaii Lupus Foundation. In it they were lamenting that it came to their attention that their purchase of service contract had been terminated. It's a six-year contract for $150,000 – $25,000 a year. This e-mail went out to a number of Legislators.

“What’s particularly alarming is the copy a director passed on to me regarding the response from one particular Legislator. That Legislator said, ‘This appears to be the Governor’s new tactic – she doesn’t like the fact that we’re funding government employee contracts and she’s going to take it out on health and human service programs we hold dear. Nice lady!’ It’s a very, very sad response because it’s a response that’s surely political and surely without foundation.

“I’d like to inform that Senator and my colleagues that I happen to know something about this. The reason why the Lupus Foundation’s contract is being terminated is because there is documented, verified, and collaborated evidence that this foundation has been falsifying its reports to the Department of Health.

“I surely want the human services providers in this state to know they have a Governor that believes in human services and the continued funding of most programs which are honest and generally serving the needy in our society more than she does extravagant pay raises.

“So, I think with that in mind, I hope the record is set straight and I hope that the Legislator, the Senator who sent that reply, understands what really is happening.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Hse. Com. No. 549, informing the Senate that the Speaker on April 15, 2004, made the following changes to the conferees on the following bill:

H.B. No. 2023, H.D. 2 (S.D. 2):

Appointed Representative Kahikina as first co-chair.
Discharged Representative Arakaki as first co-chair,

was placed on file.

At 11:50 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:54 o'clock a.m.

Hse. Com. No. 550, returning S.B. No. 2842, S.D. 1, which passed Third Reading in the House of Representatives on April 15, 2004, in an amended form, was placed on file.

Senator Hanabusa then moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2842, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa noted:

"Mr. President, S.B. No. 2842, S.D. 1, H.D. 4, contains in it, basically, enabling legislation for the constitutional amendment which we are calling the 'Megan's amendment.'

"What this amendment has done is to create a task force very similar to the information charging task force, which we have used for the constitutional amendment that will be put on the ballot that cures the defect. So this is a similar kind of enabling legislation – the creation of a task force to put into play Megan's amendment."

At 11:55 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:56 o'clock a.m.

The motion was then put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2842, S.D. 1, and S.B. No. 2842, S.D. 1, H.D. 4, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CHAPTER 846E, HAWAII REVISED STATUTES," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Monday, April 26, 2004.

Hse. Com. No. 551, returning S.B. No. 2843, S.D. 1, which passed Third Reading in the House of Representatives on April 15, 2003, in an amended form, was placed on file.

Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2843, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa noted:

"Mr. President, S.B. No. 2843, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, is what we call the constitutional amendment that will address the Megan's issue.

"What the House did is to add the phrase in here that basically sets forth the time after which the conditions under which a convicted person may petition for the termination of public access.

"So this is basically just termination of their placement on it. However, this bill must be read in conjunction with S.B. No. 2842, H.D. 4, which has the enabling legislation. This is the constitutional amendment for Megan."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2843, S.D. 1, and S.B. No. 2843, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE I OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF HAWAII," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Monday, April 26, 2004.

Hse. Com. No. 552, returning S.B. No. 2846, S.D. 1, which passed Third Reading in the House of Representatives on April 15, 2003, in an amended form, was placed on file.

Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2846, S.D. 1, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa noted:

"Mr. President, in S.B. No. 2846, S.D. 1, what the House did was they amended what we call the close constitutional amendment which resulted in the decision by the Hawaii Supreme Court in the Peseti Case.

"What the House did was really more technical in that they moved a portion of Section 2 of the bill within the bill itself, but the questions remains primarily the same that we are going to propose.

"Again, this is the constitutional amendment called Peseti. And for those who don't remember Peseti, Peseti is what is also called the rape shield law."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2846, S.D. 1, and S.B. No. 2846, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT PROPOSING AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLE I, SECTION 14, OF THE HAWAII CONSTITUTION," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Monday, April 26, 2004.

At 11:58 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 11:59 o'clock a.m.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3380 (Gov. Msg. No. 421):

Senator Hanabusa moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3380 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

Senator Hanabusa then moved that the Senate consent to the nomination of BERT I. AYABE to the office of Judge, 21st Division, Circuit Court of the First Circuit, in accordance with the provisions of Article VI, Section 3, of the Hawaii State Constitution, for a term of ten years, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa rose to speak in support of the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of Gov. Msg. No. 421. Gov. Msg. No. 421, Mr. President, is consideration and confirmation to the Circuit Court of the First Circuit, the Twenty-first Division, Bert I. Ayabe for a term of ten years.

"Mr. President, colleagues, his name may be very familiar because on April 4th of last year we had confirmed Mr. Ayabe to a District Court position at that time. Just to refresh your recollection, Mr. Ayabe's education was Kaimuki High School. I remember one of the testifiers made it a point at that time to say that Mr. Ayabe turned down Punahou for Kaimuki. He did his undergraduate studies at the University of Hawaii and got his law degree at Hastings College of Law. He has practiced law since 1981.

"The testimony we received last year was that he had an extensive private practice, and right before he applied for the judgeship he was then doing a lot of arbitration and mediation, which was a positive reflection upon him.

"The Hawaii State Bar Association came forward and found Mr. Ayabe highly qualified again. They gave a vote of 10 highly qualified; 3 qualified; and 1 person abstained.

"The testimony was very supportive of Mr. Ayabe, as it had been last year as well, and I would just like to highlight some of them. One of the highest compliments came from Richard Turbin not in is role as the future president of the Hawaii State Bar Association, and he was there to testify for the Hawaii State Bar Association, but as a private attorney who had really been an adversary of Mr. Ayabe. He informed us that he was so impressed with Mr. Ayabe that he had asked Mr. Ayabe after that time to serve as a mediator and arbitrator on many of his cases. In essence, he was looking to him to resolve much of his difficult matters.

"Peter Carlisle, who asked to be taken out of order because, as we all know, he is in a very, very visible case, the Aki trial at this time, said that Judge Ayabe was absolutely terrific. He said that his prosecutors that report to him said that the thing that made Judge Ayabe such a very good judge was that he never tried to guess and he never faked it. Basically, if he didn't know the answer, he would find out before he made that decision. This sentiment was shared by the other side, so to speak, by John Tonaki, who is the public defender. He said his public defenders are very impressed with Judge Ayabe, especially with his great temperament and the manner and the skill with which he handles that district court.

“Members, to understand what a compliment that is, you’ve got to be in district court. District Court is like that show ‘Night Court’ that they used to have. It’s not quite that bad but it gets pretty close sometimes and we have a judge who handles it very well.

“John Komeiji, someone who many of us know, said that he actually went to watch Judge Ayabe because he had spoken so highly of him last time that he wanted to make sure that when he appeared before the Committee, he wouldn’t be shot down by somebody saying, ‘Is he really as good as all of that?’ And he said, ‘Yes, he is very good.’ And then he told us probably the reason why Bert Ayabe stayed at Kaimuki High School. He said that Bert Ayabe likes to be called Mr. Bulldog. That’s Kaimuki High School’s mascot. Because he can now claim that he will be the highest ranking official who graduated from Kaimuki High School. Now I don’t think that’s the reason he turned down Punahou, but who knows. You would have to ask our Punahou colleague across the way if that’s true.

“But I waited, and of course the person that I always want to hear from whenever I hear Bert Ayabe’s name is his coach. Some of you remember him, Mr. Charlie Miyashiro. He was the one who sent me to research who is Jack Armstrong, the All-American Boy. Well anyway, the Coach came and testified. This time he added something new to his testimony. He said that since the last time he was there, he has been inducted, this is the Coach, has been inducted into the National High School Football Hall of Fame, and it was a big event. And then he smiled and said the reason I’m telling you this is so that you put credibility to what I say when I say he’s a great guy. You know, to have your coach from high school be the cheerleader for you and to be there as president of your fan club is a very high tribute. He said that he learned that to have success as a coach you must be fair, firm and friendly. That is the formula for a good coach, the formula for a good leader. And then he said it’s got to be a formula for a good judge and that all of those characteristics he attributes to Bert Ayabe.

“Mr. President and colleagues, I say that on Coach Miyashiro alone, we should confirm Bert Ayabe. The Coach went on to tell me that one of the first coaching, I guess, scrimmages he had was with Waianae High School and they lost three times. I don’t think he told me that to kind of affect my decision that Bert Ayabe is okay because here’s a coach who would throw a game for him, but no, he didn’t know that Bert Ayabe would be before us.

“This is a great person and I understand he’s in the gallery today. This is the Coach . . . not to take anything away from Bert Ayabe, but that’s the kind of support that present Judge Ayabe has, and I ask that you join me in confirming him to the First Circuit Court of the Twenty-first Circuit.

“Thank you.”

Senator Hogue rose in support of the nominee and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of this nominee, Bert Ayabe, who has shown great compassion, thoroughness, and willingness to be tremendously prepared on the bench, and all of the great things that have been afforded him are absolutely true.

“He also shows a great warmth when you talk with him in person. I should tell you that he’s also the father of a future girl’s basketball star at Punahou, by the way, interestingly enough. We had a great discussion about the world of sports.

When you participate in sports, you really understand the full person. And I think that because of his understanding of the world of sports, he will understand the people that come before him in the courtroom and he will do an absolutely terrific, terrific job. It’s been a wonderful training ground for him and he will be, indeed, Mr. Bulldog, Mr. Compassionate Bulldog on the bench.

“So, we give him our full unqualified support. Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Aduja rose in support and stated:

“I rise in support of the confirmation of Bert Ayabe to the Circuit Court of the First Judicial Circuit.

“I have known Judge Ayabe on a professional level for several years. Early on, we were adversaries in a contested summary possession case. He represented the landlord while I represented the tenant. The tenant alleged constructive eviction as a basis for failing to pay rent. Judge Ayabe and I went back and forth on the issue, but it was Judge Ayabe’s keen eye, fairness, and understanding that stands out in my memory of him during the case. We soon came to an amicable agreement and fair resolution, despite the difficulty of my client. I admired Judge Ayabe for his forthrightness, his professionalism and his character.

“From what I hear of his year on the District Court Bench, he has performed with exemplary service. Judge Ayabe’s experience in the District Court where he served on the Criminal Division is a fantastic introduction to the next branch of the judiciary. Judge Ayabe traveled to the County Courts: Waianae District Court, Ewa District Court, Kaneohe District Court, and Waipahu District Court.

“Judge Bert Ayabe has demonstrated a very high level of skill, patience, knowledge of the law and judicial temperament. He is fair, calm, and impartial. There is no doubt in my mind that he will serve as an excellent Circuit Court Judge.

“While I do not sit on the Judiciary Committee, I did attend the hearing as I had particular interest in Bert Ayabe and Alexa Fujise through my prior experiences with them. It was wonderful to see the overwhelming support that both nominees received. With that, I wholeheartedly recommend that we join in support of Judge Ayabe’s confirmation to the Circuit Court of the First Judicial Circuit.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

At this time, Senator Hanabusa introduced Judge Ayabe and his family to the members of the Senate.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3381 (Gov. Msg. No. 422):

Senator Hanabusa moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3381 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland and carried.

Senator Hanabusa then moved that the Senate consent to the nomination of ALEXA D.M. FUJISE to the office of Associate Judge, Intermediate Court of Appeals, in accordance with the provisions of Article VI, Section 3, of the Hawaii State Constitution, for a term of ten years, seconded by Senator Chun Oakland.

Senator Hanabusa rose to speak in support of the nominee and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of Gov. Msg. No. 422.

“Mr. President, Gov. Msg. No. 422 is consideration and confirmation to the Intermediate Court of Appeals, Associate Judge, gubernatorial nominee Alexa Fujise for the term of ten years.

“Mr. President, Ms. Fujise is a University of Hawaii Manoa grad and of William S. Richardson School of Law. In other words, she is completely homegrown. She has practiced law since 1980 and her experience has been clerking for Chief Justice Herman Lum. She has been employed three years at the Office of the Disciplinary Counsel, and for the last 20 years she’s worked for the Department of the Prosecuting Attorney in the capacity of their appellate work. She basically is the supervisor for their appellate division at this time.

“The Hawaii State Bar Association found Ms. Fujise qualified with four voting highly qualified and ten qualified. Mr. President, I do want to make a statement about that because the testimony that I received plus what I know of Ms. Fujise and also from all the testimony that we received and those who came forward to actually give tribute to her, that this ranking is one that is wrong. It’s caused myself and members of the Committee to really stop and wonder.

“The reason I raise this, Mr. President, is because statistically we have come across a very interesting thin in the Hawaii State Bar Association. Since last year until this we have confirmed six women judges. We had one highly qualified, I believe, on the system before they instituted this new one, and the subsequent five were four qualified, and one not qualified. One of the ones just receiving a qualified rating is Ms. Fujise.

“The men, on the other hand, Mr. President, were 11 in number – nine highly qualified, one qualified, and one not qualified. Members, the reason I raise this is because for those of you who are looking at the ranking from the Bar Association, I do not want you to hold it in any way in a lesser light of Ms. Fujise, because you will hear, from what I’m about to tell you, how very qualified she is, but there is something foul with that system that cause myself and fellow members of the Committee really cause us to pause and ponder.

“Let me tell you what the testimony was for Ms. Fujise. Peter Carlisle, who took time off of the Aki case, said one of the most humbling things that I’ve ever heard Peter Carlisle say. And you’ve got to know Peter Carlisle and been in hearings after hearings of him to appreciate this. He said that he would really, really miss her. And the reason why is because Ms. Fujise would not tell him what he wanted to hear but tell him what he needed to hear. But he real skill for Ms. Fujise is that Peter Carlisle would listen. Now that, in and of itself, is a great esteem. I don’t know that the prosecutor’s office is going to do without someone who can make Peter Carlisle listen. He said, when she said something to him, she would listen because it was just the package of how she presented herself – very calm, very well reasoned, very detailed, and so knowledgeable of the law that even Peter Carlisle listened.

“On the other side of the fence, John Tonaki, the public defender, said that he strongly supported her in this nomination because of the fact that he said when you had Alexa Fujise on the other side of you, you knew you had to be ready because she was a very formidable opponent. He said that she was very well reasoned and thorough in all of the briefs that she did. So when they saw her name, they made sure that they were very prepared.

“Lori Nishimura, which many of us know in the role as basically the government liaison for the prosecutor’s office, called Ms. Fujise the pillar of the prosecutor’s office. And she relayed a story that I think really sums it up. She said that as she sat there talking to Ms. Fujise, the phone rang and there was a frantic prosecutor in the court on some issue of law and needed a response immediately. And she said Alexa Fujise calmly explained the law to this prosecutor and said it wasn’t in any way condescending or anything. It was a very reasoned, comforting way and she got that prosecutor through what would normally be a major crisis.

“A friend of many of us is, of course, former Senator/District Court Judge Russell Blair. And he had an interesting slant. He said he would be absolutely delighted to have had or to have Alexa Fujise second guess any of his decisions, and he felt that she would also be an excellent choice on the Appellate Court.

“Mr. President, what we need on the Appellate Court are people who know the law, are willing to study, willing to put in the time, and willing to understand what the law really means. And I think we have that in Alexa Fujise. So I ask that you and my colleagues join me in consenting to her nomination.

“Thank you very much.”

Senator Hogue also rose in support of the nominee and stated:

“Mr. President, I wanted to give bipartisan support to this nominee, Alexa Fujise.

“You’ve heard me, colleagues, talk about the aura of fairness about some of the judge nominees that we’ve had here and certainly Ms. Fujise has that. She has the aura of fairness about her and that’s so very important when you go to the bench. But she also has an aura of calmness, and I think when you face that kind of a situation when sometimes things are a little bit crazy, the attorneys are crazy, the plaintiff is crazy, the defendant is crazy, etc., etc., you need someone there on the bench that has and exudes that aura of calmness. So, we certainly appreciate that and we know that you will do a terrific, terrific job . . . very serious, very focused, very thorough and very highly qualified.

“Regarding the Judiciary Chairman’s concerns about the Hawaii State Bar Association, I want to echo those as well. Let’s call a spade a spade. Obviously we have some male chauvinists in the HSBA and that’s just got to stop, just absolutely got to stop. They have got to not be taking gender into consideration when they consider whether someone is highly qualified or qualified . . . just absolutely have to look at the person. There are some problems going on with the Hawaii State Bar Association and they’ve got to get their house in order.

“There is no doubt in my mind and those on the Committee that Alexa Fujise is highly qualified and we recommend her highly. Thank you very much, Mr. President.”

Senator Aduja rose in support of the nominee and stated:

“Senate President and colleagues, I rise in support of the confirmation of Alexa Fujise to the Intermediate Court of Appeals.

“In 1987, fresh out of law school and having recently passed the Hawaii bar exam, I was hired as a deputy prosecuting attorney, and assigned to the appellate division. Alexa Fujise, at that time, was one of the top deputies in the division.

“To give you the flavor of the hierarchy in the department, Alexa, a top deputy, had an office. My office was a small desk in the library. Alexa soon became my mentor and my friend. The Prosecutor’s office was a wonderful learning ground that I will never forget, partly because of the fast pace of moving hundreds of cases within a relatively short period of time as per our constitutional requirements and partly because of the great attorneys that comprised the department. Alexa Fujise was and is one of those great attorneys. The average ‘life span’ of a Deputy Prosecuting Attorney is two to three years. My own career at the Prosecutor’s Office lasted three-and-a-half years. Alexa’s career spanned two decades solely in the Appellate Division.

“Alexa has supervised and consulted with the appellate deputy in over 1400 cases. She has supervised and substantively edited briefs by law clerks in over 600 cases. She has written briefs without presenting arguments in over 160 cases, written appellate briefs and presented arguments in over 55 cases, and has presented arguments without briefs in 11 cases. That is over 2,226 cases, some becoming published opinions.

“The expertise gained in the area of criminal law at the Prosecutor’s Office is impeccable. The issues of a legal search and seizure, confession law, statutory construction, double jeopardy, admissibility of evidence, right to due process including prosecutorial misconduct, ineffective assistance of counsel and juror misconduct are all typical issues faced by an appellate advocate.

“In my opinion, Mr. President, there can be no one more qualified for this position in the Intermediate Court of Appeals. Her experience and love for this area of the law is beyond reproach. Her temperament is calm and collected and her disposition is fair and impartial.

“She is married to the former District and Circuit Court Judge and U.S. Magistrate Francis Yamashita, whom I have also encountered during my practice as a deputy prosecuting attorney and private practitioner on many occasions. Magistrate Yamashita has always been fair and impartial with an excellent judicial temperament. Alexa will also be an excellent judge.

“Colleagues, please join me in confirming Alexa Fujise to the Intermediate Court of Appeals.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

At this time, Senator Hanabusa introduced Judge Fujise and her family to the members of the Senate.

At 12:27 o’clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:46 o’clock p.m.

ADOPTION OF RESOLUTIONS

MATTERS DEFERRED FROM THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 2004

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3323 (S.C.R. No. 13):

Senator Kawamoto moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3323 and S.C.R. No. 13 be adopted, seconded by Senator Hogue.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to several resolutions and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to several of these resolutions.

“We all know that resolutions are really not that important because they don’t have the force of law and they just request or they urge or they ask, but they are important because they are a record of what we do and they are a record of our votes. Unfortunately, my understanding is that our votes in opposition to any of these are actually not recorded and what the Clerk records is whether or not the resolution is adopted either unanimously or not unanimously.

“I think it’s important because there’ve been a number of times when resolutions have been passed and people have then later said this is reflective of the Legislature, meaning all 76 Legislators. A case in point is last year when our good friends across the hall there introduced that wonderful resolution, the aloha to Saddam Hussein, giving him all kinds of praise and everything else. A lot of people said later they were caught by surprise where it was because they voted on 30 or 40 or 50 at the time.

“So, I’m going to just list very briefly the objections that I have, but I would suggest that in the future, if we’re going to be doing a major 29 pages worth of resolutions, then we should allocate a little bit more time and have discussion on these resolutions.

“Saying that, Mr. President and Senate Clerk, please cast my ‘no’ vote on committee reports 3323, 3324, which is S.C.R. No. 13 and S.C.R. No. 15, which I think will have a deleterious effect on non-union construction companies in this major military government project.

“Thank you.”

"Mr. President, on page 21, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3346, 3347, this is a thorough evaluation of Waikane after use since 1976 training by the United States Marines. Certainly I think that there should be some kind of evaluation but I don't think that we should get into the financial problems and difficulties in costs that we had with Kahoolawe, and yet this is an open-ended resolution which really encourages that.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the joint report of the Committees was adopted and S.C.R. I always mention I'm the classmate, the younger classmate, of the good Senator from God's country, and I'll go along with almost, almost anything. But, Mr. President and colleagues, this is what my good colleague has done. On 3360, which is S.C.R. No. 10, S.D. 1, that originally was a resolution to inquire into the impact for all of Hawaii citizens by the Jones Act – the cost, the lack of communication, the lack of competition, all of the problems that we suffer when we talk about the high cost of living for other things. Now, my good colleague, my good friend, my classmate, the arbiter of God's country – and there is, by the way, only one God's country that I recognize – he gutted that resolution before he even gave it a hearing, for God's sake in God's country. And he's fixing a traffic light . . . now, come on. You know, from an evaluation of the Jones Act, which affects all of us, to a traffic signal at the intersection of Kamehameha Highway and Kuala Street in Pearl City. Come on, I'm all for traffic lights, but this was not the way to do it. So a strong 'no' vote on that.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the report of the Committee was adopted and S.C.R. No. 10, S.D. 1, entitled: "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION TO STUDY AND INSTALL A TRAFFIC SIGNAL LIGHT AT THE INTERSECTION OF KAMEHAMEHA HIGHWAY AND KUALA STREET IN PEARL CITY TO ALLEVIATE TRAFFIC CONGESTION AND PROVIDE PROTECTION TO NEARBY RESIDENTS WHO FREQUENTLY CROSS THAT INTERSECTION," was adopted with Senators Slom and Trimble voting "No."

Senator Kawamoto moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3361 and S.C.R. No. 11, S.D. 1, be adopted, seconded by Senator Hogue.

Senator Slom rose in opposition and said:

"He did it again, Mr. President, the very next one, 3361 and 3362, S.C.R. No. 11, S.D. 1, and S.R. No. 7, S.D. 1. Now, here was an evaluation of the Passenger Carrier Act. Again, something that affects us, affects transportation, affects our economy, and what did he do? He gutted it again before a hearing and he stuck in a request to design and erect an attractive and appropriate sign for the Korean Vietnam Veterans Memorial on our state grounds here. I'm all for that . . . in a separate resolution, but this is not proper. I think that we should inquire into the medical condition of the good Senator from God's country because I think he had too much birthday cake and Chinese food the other day. (Laughter.)

"Thank you."

"Mr. President, moving right along, on page 27, 3368 and 3369, which is S.C.R. No. 180, S.D. 1, and S.R. No. 97. This is requesting the Department of Health to ask the food industry, in particular, 'big box' people to find ways of taking their pallets and their wooden materials backhaul. We had a bill about that previously. The big box companies and others that work with pallets have weighed in on that issue. I don't think we have to continue trying to browbeat them on this. In some cases, they recycle the materials here. In other cases they sell the materials here. But in terms of backhaul, they've shown that it was an economic implausibility.

"Thank you."

No. 20, requesting the Federal Communications Commission to investigate the adverse health effects of cellular and radio antenna in Waiawa and Pearl City. Well, there are two things that can be said about that. One is that if we're concerned about the health concerns then it should be to look into the possible health impact on all of the island where there are cellular facilities. But the other is that the FCC is really important right now because it's got to get sex and scandal off the airwaves and off TV. So, I think we should let them do their job in that area as well.

"Thank you."

Until we can educate our young folks into reading, writing, mathematics and basics, I'm worried about those robotics, Mr. President, quite frankly. I have visions of them at night coming to take just Republicans and take them away. (Laughter.) So, I see this as a sinister move and I don't want virtual people. I don't want robots. "On page 38 and 39, 3422 and 3423, urging the United States Congress to amend the laws about immigration. We're talking about an alien convicted of crimes, and the idea here is to seek a waiver from the deportation and it having more delay. And this reminds me of the bill that was just talked about earlier, the Megan's law where all of the 1,900-plus convicted felons wanted to have an individual hearing. They've had the hearing; they've been convicted; let them go and say aloha to them.

"Thank you."

No. 96, entitled: "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION URGING THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS TO AMEND THE LAWS ON IMMIGRATION TO ALLOW IMMIGRATION AUTHORITIES TO EXERCISE JUDICIAL DISCRETION IN A PROCEEDING TO DEPORT AN ALIEN CONVICTED OF A CRIME AND TO ALLOW A CONVICTED ALIEN TO SEEK A WAIVER FROM DEPORTATION UPON DEMONSTRATION OF SUCCESSFUL REHABILITATION EVIDENCED BY NO SUBSEQUENT CRIMINAL CONVICTIONS," was adopted with Senators Hemmings, Slom and Trimble voting "No."

Senator Kawamoto moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3434 and S.C.R. No. 118, S.D. 1, be adopted, seconded by Senator Hogue.

Senator Slom rose in opposition and said:

"Finally, on page 41, number 3434, which is S.C.R. No. 118, S.D. 1, this is the resolution that disses the hard work of the executive salary commission. They all testified about why they were coming forward with the need for the salary increases. We pass salary increases for the HGEA on a regular basis year after year, month after month, but most of these people in the executive branch have not had an increase in their salaries in 12-14 years.

"Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the resolution and said:

"I want to cast a very strong 'no' vote on Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3434 on page 41, which is S.C.R. No. 118, S.D. 1, and add the following comments, Mr. President.

"It seems last year in austere financial times, a much more austere budget scenario was going to be facing us and the council of revenues' problems, that we could afford to pass a pay raise for ourselves and sit on our hands. I think the Senate Republicans did offer a resolution to challenge that. Those pay increases added up to 26 percent over the next eight years. It was enough money for that.

"Right now, there is a bill – it's S.B. No. 2718. It's in Conference Committee. It's going to give compensation to the officials of the legislative service agencies. And I might add, these people deserve a pay raise too, but it's being given to them. But yet, in the branch of government that has not been given a pay raise for over 14 years is once again being denied it.

"It's important to have these pay raises put in perspective. The pay raise for the executive branch of government would amount to approximately half-a-million dollars a year. Yesterday, we passed a pay raise that was arbitrated, not negotiated, for HGEA workers that amounts to $54 million a year beginning in 06. This is for a union that's had 25 percent increases in the last six years. And trust me, these people do good work, but they also get good pay and benefits, far in excess than their counterparts, oftentimes, in the private sector who are suffering in a beleaguered economy. We're turning down executive pay raises

"It's important to note that the committee report says that we have to contend with pending unbudgeted salary adjustments for various collective bargaining units. I think maybe therein lies the problem. Once again, this Legislature and the Majority Party is more concerned about that than fairness to the judicial and the executive branches of government.

"I might also note that the Governor makes less money than the head librarian. I might also note that there are 361 civil servants employed in the executive branch of government that make considerably more than the department heads.

"The committee report noted, I must say lamely, that these new directors have only been on the job for 14 months, why should they get the pay raise? Well, I might add, why should recent hires in the civil service get extensive pay raises with extensive benefits? I might add that the fringe benefits for recent hires, someone getting hired in the executive branch of government in the civil service area, the fringe benefits are by far and away the most benevolent in the nation.

"Mr. President, it's unfair, and as the newspaper said, it's petty politics at its worst.

Senator Ihara rose in opposition to the resolution and said:

"Mr. President, a 'no' vote on S.C.R. No. 118, Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3434, which would disapprove recommendations of the executive salary commission.

"I must respectfully disagree with the committee report for that resolution. This is Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3434. It said that the commission had no statutory authority to establish a tiered system of compensation for department heads. My reading of, and I'll quote HRS 26-55(b), it says 'the commission may recommend different salaries for department heads and executive officers.'

"Thank you."

Senator Hogue rose with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, strong reservations on Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3434 and 3435.

"The reason why I ask for reservations is because I would have gone along with the idea that we're not going to grant executive and judiciary pay raises. I would have gone along with that if we also voted down legislative pay raises. That would have been a consistent position. But it is very wrong, extremely wrong to accept legislative pay raises and then disapprove similar pay raises for the executive and judiciary branches.

"It does not, does not look good to the public. I think we should be ashamed of doing something like that, and I just want to note my total disagreement with the way that this Body has handled these particular measures.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Aduja requested her vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the joint report of the Committees was adopted and S.C.R. No. 118, S.D. 1, entitled: "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RELATING TO THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE 2004 EXECUTIVE SALARY COMMISSION," was adopted with Senators Hemmings, Ihara, Slom and Trimble voting "No."

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3435 (S.C.R. No. 119, S.D. 1):

Senator Kawamoto moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3435 and S.C.R. No. 119, S.D. 1, be adopted, seconded by Senator Hogue.

Senator Slom rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, the last one, 3435, which was S.C.R. No. 119, recommendations of the judicial salary commission. We heard from the Governor; we heard from the people on the commission; we heard from attorneys about the need to adjust those salaries and that you want to turn down as well. I don't know what the reasoning is behind it, but that's it.

"Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the resolution and said:

"I also want to address Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3435, which is on page 41, S.C.R. No. 119, S.D. 1. This resolution also rejects the commission's recommendations for pay raises for the judiciary. In actual dollars, our judiciary is ranked 32 in the nation for pay compensation. In dollars adjusted for the cost of living in Hawaii, we're dead last – dead last. It's once again just not fair.

"This Legislature . . . the Majority Party, I should be more specific, has found money for pay increases for themselves, for the people that work directly for them, and for the labor unions, but cannot find enough pay to give our judges an adequate salary for the work they do. I find it quite ironic that the Majority Party can stand up and laud all the nominees that come to this Floor for advise and consent and get voted into a judicial position of great prestige, and the entire third branch of government, the judiciary, relies on their confidence and their integrity and we insult them without giving them a pay raise.

“So, for these reasons, I’m voting against these resolutions. I know, Mr. President, you have noted that maybe this could be done next year. Well, maybe the pay raises that we gave the HGEA could be done a year or two years from now in view of all the excessive benefits and pay raises they’ve gotten. Maybe the pay raises that we gave ourselves last year could have been delayed. Maybe the pay raises that we’re contemplating for legislative offices could be delayed. These people deserve a pay raise and they deserve it now, and these two resolutions are an insult to them.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senators Ihara, Hogue and Aduja requested their votes be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the report of the Committee was adopted and S.C.R. No. 119, S.D. 1, entitled: “SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RELATING TO THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE 2004 JUDICIAL SALARY COMMISSION,” was adopted with Senators Hemmings, Slom and Trimble voting “No.”

RECONSIDERATION OF ACTION TAKEN

S.B. No. 2395, S.D. 2, H.D. 1:

Senator Kim moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on April 15, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2395, S.D. 2, seconded by Senator Hanabusa.

At 1:08 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 1:12 o'clock p.m.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried.

Senator Kim moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2395, S.D. 2, seconded by Senator Hanabusa.

Senator Kim noted:

"Mr. President, this measure is the information practices for the convention center. The House basically made some style changes."

Senator Ihara rose in opposition to the motion and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to the motion that the Senate agree to the House amendments to S.B. No. 2395.

"I'm taking this unusual move to speak on this bill at this time because I want to sound the alarm to the members and the public that the Senate is about to pass this bill on Monday. The Senate originally passed this bill at the recommendation of the Senate Judiciary Committee. The House companion bill came to the Senate, the Judiciary Committee heard the bill and voted to hold the bill. So, the Committee had actually reversed its position and, nonetheless, we are seeing this bill here before us again.

"I am opposed to this bill because it would keep secret the user's identity, the users of Hawaii's public convention center. I think this is an ill-advised policy that I must oppose.

"S.B. No. 2395 sets a hasty precedent, in my mind, that Hawaii's open records laws and citizen's right to know may be disregarded for economic reasons. This bill poses a significant policy question in my mind – how much are our citizen's rights, these rights, how much are they worth? A million dollars? Two million dollars? Because it is purely and only for economic reasons that this bill was even proposed. It is only because Hawaii's convention center is in economic trouble, flowing in red ink, that this bill is needed and before us today.

"If the convention center was doing half as well as expected when first proposed years ago, this bill would not have been introduced, I believe. This bill takes away forever the public's right to know who is using our convention center, because all users who demand secrecy will get it if this bill passes. Mr. President, this bill provides that if and when the convention center becomes an economic success, which I hope it will, it must still continue to provide secrecy. The bill disregards citizen's right to know even when the reasons for this bill goes away.

"Mr. President, the Senate will vote on this bill for Final Reading on Monday and I hope Senators enjoy the weekend. I'll try to sound as large an alarm I can make and I hope that we will consider keeping the lights on in the convention center when we vote on Monday.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I, too, rise in opposition to the action contemplated here.

"I applaud the previous speaker – his remarks, his dedication to this. I spoke up and voted against this in Committee on several occasions. On the second floor I was very happy that the Senate had taken this position, and there is no way that we can justify this bill. There's no way that we can talk about open government and sunshine and public information, and pass this bill. There was no need for this bill.

"There may be something going on that we're not discussing, but we certainly aren't discussing it in public right here. And quite frankly, this bill does not pass the smell test and we should stop it today – not on Monday. We should do it today.

"Thank you."

Senator Kim rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in support or rebuttal.

"Mr. President, this bill will not forever remove certain information and the public from knowing. This measure was amended and it continues to be in that form, in the House form, where up until 10 days after the event. And it's only in cases, specific cases, when a client feels that they would like this information for various reasons that were stated that this information be kept confidential.

"I believe that whether or not the convention center is doing well or not really has no bearing on this. The fact of the matter is, you have certain types of conventions that come into town that may want to have some of their records kept confidential, and this is a means in which the convention center can also remain viable and competitive with its competition throughout the nation.

"Also, if a booking is canceled, that information is made available. I was also told that if a Legislator were to ask for that information, that information would also be available.

"Thank you."

Senator Hogue rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"This measure doesn't pass the smell test or the common sense test. Think about this – we can have some entity coming in here; we can't release the information for 10 days; hundreds, if not thousands, of people are running around and we ask the convention center what's going on and they say, 'well, contractually, we can't tell you.' And so, it makes absolutely no common sense.

"In its form right now, we should vote it down. Thank you."

Senator Ihara rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, just a quick note and further comments in opposition to the motion to agree.

"I want us to be clear that any and all users of the convention center who request it and have a legitimate reason to duly note their verification but demand that their use of the convention center be kept from the public while they are using the convention center – any and all users who say that they want their use of the convention center be kept secret, will be kept secret and the public will never, never know who is using the convention center while they are using it. They will only find out about who the user of the convention center is, the identity of that user, after, if they're from the mainland, after they leave town. And that's when we'll find out.

"I believe that this is Hawaii's convention center and I am quite concerned about the policy that this legislation would provide.

"Thank you."

Senator Inouye rose to speak on the motion and said:

"Mr. President, I will be voting for the motion, however, I will leave my remarks, if this passes, to our decision-making on Monday.

"It has been brought to my attention . . . I received a call from San Francisco on this measure, but apparently it didn't pass so I have no problem with that. However, one thought that was put to mind for my information was that there's a certain industry that is very concerned about the non-information posting, as well as not knowing who's using the industry as it relates to an incident that happened in San Francisco with regards to WTO and their plans to have conferences worldwide. There is a concern that in the event that there is a conference to be held here in our state with regards to an activity of WTO (World Trade Organization) or anything that affects decision-making of that body as it relates to the biotech industry and the process of GMOs, that in the event something does come to Hawaii, that no one will know of it until they leave as well as how it affects, if in the event such conferences are held here, that security measures will be needed and how can we differentiate security requests of our police departments as well as civil defense and those of that nature, Mr. President and colleagues.

"It's a concern that I've dealt with in the last couple of days and I thought this measure died so I didn't have to worry about that. But I just needed to hear that with all of you that I will be looking at this measure and will probably make some decisions at that time.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose and said:

"Roll Call vote, Mr. President."

Senators Chun Oakland, Fukunaga, Hooser, Ige and Inouye requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Roll Call vote having been requested, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2395, S.D. 2, and S.B. No. 2395, S.D. 2, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO INFORMATION PRACTICES," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Monday, April 19, 2004, on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 18. Noes, 5 (Hemmings, Hogue, Ihara, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 2 (Kanno, Whalen).

At 1:23 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 1:23 o'clock p.m.

Senator Hanabusa moved that S.B. No. 2395, S.D. 2, H.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kawamoto.

Senator Ihara rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to S.B. No. 2395, relating to information practices.

"Mr. President, I spoke on Friday and gave some of my reasons why I oppose this bill. I want to just outline my six reasons why the Senate should vote down on this bill.

"Number one, this bill would take away from citizens, citizens' right to know who was using the state's convention center and give convention center lessees a new right. It takes away a right from citizens and gives a new right to convention center lessees. And this new right is a right to use our convention center in secret. That's number one.

"Number two, the bill would establish for the first time a public policy that explicitly and unequivocally, and I would say blatantly, exempt Hawaii's open records law for a purely economic reason. And I believe if we do this, particularly in this fashion, this sets up and opens the door to other facilities and other agencies in the state seeking a similar exemption for purely economic reasons.

"Number three, this bill would allow the state to withhold secrecy . . . actually would allow the state to withhold disclosure of convention center users, even if the state disagrees with the demand for secrecy. So the bill would allow any user to demand or require secrecy. All they have to say is 'I want secrecy. If you want me to use the convention center, I want to be able to use it in secret.' The state would be required to give the secrecy, to provide the secrecy even if the state disagrees. You know, they sign a contract and the state says well, I'm not sure if it's a good idea after all, the state does not have the option. And if the state did reveal the identity of the user of the convention center, the user could take the state to court because we are giving convention center users a statutory right to have their identity be kept secret even if the state disagreed.

"Number four, this bill would require secrecy even when the original reason for the secrecy goes away. The reason is that we want our convention center to be competitive, to be successful, and we all want that. Where I differ is that it is being done and proposed to be done at the expense of our citizen rights. But years from now when the convention center is successful and we're already competitive, in fact we don't even need this offering of secrecy as a way to sell our convention center, it's just an add on, a little extra, but we don't need it, really, to be competitive because we're already competitive. The state will still be required to provide secrecy to the convention center users even if we're packed to the gills and we're booked and we don't need anyone else. Many of those users say we want secrecy, they get secrecy, and to me that's not fair.

"Number five, the secrecy required in this bill would deny citizens critical information they need to exercise their right to protest and petition the government. This information, as you've guessed, is the identity of the users. It's hard to protest when you don't know who's using the convention center.

"The Society of Professional Journalists came up with a few kind of, perhaps, extreme situations. You never know. It could happen. Exhibits and shows around the world go to all kinds of places and Hawaii is a good place to have conventions, particularly if they know they can come to Hawaii and come in secret. If there was a show that promoted the selling of automatic weapons to Hawaii residents, those who might oppose such shows would not know, or shows that want to promote genetically modified foods – I'm not saying I'm for or against any of these but these are examples of where there may be some controversy – or shows that celebrate the superiority of certain races would also be able to come here and celebrate to their heart's content all within the closed confines of our convention center and we wouldn't know it. The public would not have the ability to exercise their right to protest or to seek relief of government.

"Number six, the secrecy would also apply to particular information, particular situations that affect the neighbors of the convention center, where I believe they do have the right to know, such as when there are large conventions where severe traffic congestion may be expected or there may be the presence of some danger of some kind, whether it's chemicals or some other means where they would want to know if they even have a list for their safety.

"Mr. President, I want to also note that in this version of S.B. No. 2395, the Legislature does not have access to convention center booking records. There was another draft that was in existence or is in existence that allowed the Legislature to have access to these records, but this version that we are voting on today does not allow for that.

"For all of these reasons, Mr. President, I urge Senators to vote this bill down once and for all times' sake. Thank you."

Senator Trimble rose to speak against the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to S.B. No. 2395.

"We expect our citizens to act rationally. To act rationally, they need complete and accurate information. Whether it is the national weather service telling us of an approaching hurricane or it's the highway department telling us about a road construction project, people need information to make rational decisions.

"The convention center is in Senate District 12 but there are also many residents in Senate District 12 that plan their life or some part of their life based upon the nature and size of a convention. I think that my constituents have a right to know whether it's the World Trade Organization or the Ku Klux Klan that is coming to town. They might want to make other plans. It is not the protestors that will be denied the information because they'll find out anyway. The only ones that will be in the dark are residents of Hawaii.

"For this reason and the others stated by the previous speaker, I ask that you consider the measure carefully and vote against it.

"Thank you."

Senator Kim rose in favor of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

"Mr. President, first, let me just make some clarifying remarks here. It was said to the media, and I believe it was said earlier on this Floor, that somehow this measure was killed by the Judiciary Committee and we were looking for a way of getting this measure around that. For the record, I asked Senator Hanabusa to hold the House measure when it was in their Committee because I knew that the Senate measure that had gone over was moving through the process and we do this all the time and that it would be coming over to us. So, that's for the record. It made it sound as if we killed it once and now we're trying to revive this measure, and that's not true.

"Let me also read from the committee report that came out of the Judiciary Committee. It says that following the hearing on this measure, the Department of Business, Economic Development and Tourism, the Hawaii Tourism Authority, and the Office of Information Practices mutually agreed on amendments to this measure. And these amendments were to allow information regarding the event to be released 10 days after the event occurs and allowing the booking business records to be disclosed if the event was canceled. That was the measure that came out of the Senate Judiciary Committee that went over to the House. The House made some style changes to this measure which is why we're moving to agree.

"Also, the information that was said by an earlier speaker about the Legislators not being privy to this information is incorrect. I will read the bill to you, it says: '(a) Booking records relating to Hawaii convention center licensees shall not be disclosed under chapter 92F until ten days after the event has occurred, when requested by a potential licensee and disclosure may result in: (1) Disclosure of a potential licensee's confidential business information or proprietary information; or (2) The loss of a convention center booking,' and '(b) Subsection (a) shall not apply to disclosure to the legislature.' So, if anyone here in the Legislature requested this information, once we requested this information we would be open to the open records policy. So we are not exempt from that and that information would remain open to the public.

"Another thing that I would like to set straight, Mr. President, is that I'm not the force behind this measure. As the Tourism Chair, I introduced this measure because I was asked to by the HTA, the Hawaii Tourism Authority. The convention center people needed it. We are in a situation where we, the state, are running a commercial entity. The convention center is there to bring money into the state, to support our tourism, and that is exactly what as Chair of the Tourism Committee was my job to do as we move forward. The measure was amended by the Judiciary Committee and we agreed to those amendments that were made, I might add, I believe by DBEDT. This is the process that we go through.

"I believe that if the convention center is successful then we can repeal this measure. So, to say that the public will be forever and ever, or the state will be forever and ever bound by this legislation, I don't believe that's true. So, there are issues here, Mr. President, and I just suggest that the members vote as they may on this issue.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"This bill was a bad bill when we started out. It is a bad bill now. It's actually a worse bill with the House version. That's why we initially did not agree to the House version.

"The title of the bill has to do with information practices, so we're not talking about information, we're talking about secrecy and withholding information. I will quote also from the House committee report, stand. com. 1285, page 2, when it said, quote, 'The Office of Information Practices took no position on this measure, but suggested, during oral testimony, that the phrase "shall not be subject to disclosure" be changed to "may be withheld from disclosure" to afford the HTA discretion over when nondisclosure may apply. The HTA indicated at the hearing that it was not in favor of this change.'

"The whole record of this bill, and it doesn't matter whether it came from HTA, the Tourism Committee or DBEDT, it is a matter of principle. The principle is we are not providing for sunshine. We are not providing more information. We are in fact hiding information from the public, as was said by the previous speakers.

"In addition to that, those institutions that want to have private conventions or conferences do not want to know, do not want the public to know who is sponsoring the convention or who is in town, can do so. They have private facilities in which to do this. There is not indication that you're going to have a large convention group that wishes anonymity. To the contrary, it would seem that it would be smaller groups that would not be economically profitable to the state.

“And speaking to this item of profitability, stand. com. 1285 also says the following: ‘Your Committee finds that allowing the Center to honor nondisclosure clauses will enhance its opportunities to obtain bookings, thus serving the public interest in profitable operations, without unduly impeding public access to information.’ Well of course we have free speech and you can say anything, but that’s just not true. It will in fact impede public access to information and will not – will not – guarantee profitable operation to the convention center. The convention center was never, never envisioned as being a profitable operation, and the taxpayers of this state pay a hefty debt service – principal and interest – every year for the $350 million original cost of the convention center. In addition, we pay hefty amounts for the marketing, for the servicing, for the personnel of this convention center. So it is a large and prominent investment.

“It’s interesting to me that this Legislature, who has always prided itself on Hawaii’s uniqueness, particularly with public records, if it supports this, this bill, it is supporting just the opposite and just sending mixed signals. From the time that the Legislature was cognizant of a public effort to build or to fund the convention center, I never heard a complaint that we would have difficulty in bookings unless the information was kept private – never until this Session. And then it seems that this bill has a life of its own or several lives because while we can argue semantics of whether it was killed or held or delayed or whatever, the bill was not going anywhere until it did get a new life. There’s a great deal of pressure to push this bill through, and one might ask where that pressure is actually coming from and what is the nature of it. I, like my colleagues, have been told, well, other jurisdictions require these kinds of secrecy clauses or at least allow them. That, colleagues, does not make it right and does not make it something that we have to adopt.

“We were never told that we could not get a specific convention or group to come here because they were afraid that people would find out in advance that they were coming. And in fact, if we look back to the history of this convention center and to the original marketing and the original discussions in the Legislature, we were always told this was going to be the convention center for travel agency groups, and attorney groups, and doctors, and dentists, and everyone else. And none of them seem to need any anonymity.

“And as far as protecting proprietary interest, proprietary interests are protected under the various laws and are not subject to someone having to put down on an application for the convention center yes the ABC Corporation is coming because we want to introduce our new product, the ABC Eliminator. So that’s not a good argument as well.

“And I guess the issue or the statement that was just made by the good Committee Chair of Tourism that if successful in terms of bookings and everything else, we can later repeal this bill, that doesn’t make any sense because there is no direct relationship. None that’s been shown, at least, between additional bookings, numbers of people coming here and the necessity for having this particular secrecy clause. And therefore there would be no reason to remove it.

“I think that we’re going down a bad road. There is bipartisan opposition to this bill. I don’t think it really serves either the convention center, the tourism industry, or those conventions that book our convention center or other facilities without trying to fool the public. So colleagues, I think that this is an important bill, and regardless of who is behind it and what their motives really are, it’s something that does not belong in our information practices.

“I urge a ‘no’ vote and a Roll Call vote, Mr. President. Thank you.”

Senator Hooser rose in opposition also and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

“I’d like to state for the record that I believe the bill is well intended, well meaning, and it is perfectly appropriate to seek ways to protect the users of this facility, protect their trade secrets, proprietary information and other things that they may be fearful of getting out exposed to competitors who want to know. So I think the intent is positive and well meaning.

“I also think, Mr. President, given more time and more discussion that I and others perhaps would be able to come to terms with the amendments of the bill to make it more satisfactory to protect the public’s right to know and also extend maybe additional protections to the potential users of the convention center.

“However, at this time, in my opinion the bill is too far reaching and I will not be able to support it in this form. Thank you.”

Senator Hanabusa rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the measure.

“Mr. President, since we’ve had so many references to the Judiciary Committee I believe that as the Chair of the Judiciary Committee I must step up now and put the record as straight as I can.

“First of all, Mr. President, the terms at issue were originally contained in the Judiciary Committee’s amendment, the S.D. 2 to S.B. No. 2395, and let me explain why. During the hearing that we held, the testimony was basically that everyone could agree to the 10 days because the original version of the bill had no time limit. I believe the Tourism Committee put in 30 days or something like that, and then we got the compromise of 10. However, Mr. President, what then subsequently happened was we put in the amendment that if a booking was canceled, then immediately the information would become public.

“As our system works, when the House bill came over we had another hearing on the matter. And in that time, it was your Judiciary Chair that asked HTA and SMG, I think was the name of the company that’s doing the booking, ‘What’s the value of this to the economy? What is it that you feel you’ll be able to bring forward if we were to provide this bill for you?’ The answer was there would be $11 million a year in direct tax benefit and $132 million to the economy. This was their estimate. And I, in jest, partially in jest, said, ‘So when we look upon this matter and when the Legislature votes, that’s what we’re going to tell the people that it’s worth. That’s what you’re telling us that it’s worth.’ And they basically said, ‘that’s what we believe it’s worth.’

“I’d like to correct the statement made by one of the previous speakers. This is a very unusual provision. It does not exist elsewhere. And the reason why the HTA believed that it would give them an advantage is because it does not exist. However, the Judiciary Chair also asked another question of the HTA and that was regarding subpart (b), which says, ‘Subsection (a) shall not apply to disclosure to the legislature.’ And at that time, I told them straight out, ‘So if the good Senator from Kaimuki has a standing request at the beginning of each year to know exactly what your bookings are, what would you do?' And they said, 'we would disclose it to the legislature.' So I said, 'If the good Tourism Chair had an informational hearing at the beginning of each year and said tell us what your bookings are, these bookings would have to be disclosed?' And they said, 'yes.'

"So my point was, 'so this provision that you're asking for, the secrecy provision that everyone's talking about, you would have to reveal it to the Legislature of the State of Hawaii.' And they said 'yes.' So I said, 'well, if that's the case, then it makes the Legislature really the watchdog over these matters. And the good Tourism Committee and/or any member of the Legislature could request that information.' And they said, 'that's exactly what would happen.'

"So, Mr. President, it's not as onerous as what's it's coming out to be because there is in this bill the ability and the right to know. And it would be up to each and every member of this Legislature as to whether or not they believe (1) they need to know; (2) people should know, because at that point it would become public.

"But notwithstanding, given those circumstances, HTA believed that this is the bill that they could go forward with and get the $11 million in direct revenue and $132 million indirect to the economy. We as a Legislative Body have made exceptions to basically our Freedom of Information Act – HRS 92F. We have done it in certain circumstances for NELHA, for example, where we have permitted them not to make public certain appendices to the lease that they enter into based upon proprietary information and competition. We do that. This is another example of whether or not this Legislature is going to do that as well.

"But one of the most critical aspects of this bill is the fact that it is not pure secrecy and that in fact it does shift the burden, to a large extent, to this Legislative Body. And yes, every member is going to have to decide, is that sufficient protection that you feel you can live with? And secondly, is the economic gain for the state in these difficult economic times sufficient to outweigh what you might consider to be that right that we're giving to HTA – a right that we have a lot of strings attached to, a right that we technically control.

"So based on that, Mr. President, I support the bill and I ask my colleagues to do the same because it is not the onerous bill that people paint it out to be. Read the bill. Read what it says. It has in it, clearly, the exemption for the Legislature, and I trust the members of this Legislative Body, both the Senate and the House, will be there to ensure that nothing, nothing goes forward that in fact would infringe upon the rights of the public, that if they believe something should be known, they would come forward and they will do their job as Legislators.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Trimble rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in brief rebuttal.

"The previous speaker talked about the rights of the Legislature, the rights of the Legislature for information. I think the underlying issue is the right of the people for information so that they can act responsibly and plan their life for their own convenience, and they can't do that if they don't know what is happening at the convention center.

"The previous speaker also mentioned another bill, so why don't we talk about the trilogy of the attacks on OIP. We might as well start with S.B. No. 3185. We did something for our own convenience. We didn't want to be bothered with vexatious requests. And what is vexatious today we can revisit tomorrow and say exasperating; and the day after tomorrow, annoying. And after a while, we run the risk that OIP will actually be in collusion with individual departments to determine who and why and when people have a right for information.

"Then we went on to H.B. No. 2142. H.B. No. 2142 was necessary because it appears that some departments and some agencies don't care or don't know how to read Chapter 92F, and therefore want to put their own little exclusions in their own little chapter.

"But the end of the trilogy is far worse, and I would suggest there is no difference between the highway department telling people what roads are going to be under construction and the need for the people to know the size and nature of the conventions that are held right next door to where they live so they can plan their life accordingly. It is the people's right. It is one thing to deny the people the right to vote on things like school boards, but it is something else that we face here today – and that is their right to know.

"Thank you."

Senator Ihara rose in rebuttal as follows:

"Mr. President, a few rebuttal comments.

"I stand corrected on the provision that allows for disclosure to the Legislature. I wonder, though, why give Legislators access to this information and not citizens? And if the purpose is to keep these records secret, then are Legislators being expected to keep it secret? Or if not, then why give Legislators access and we represent citizens, and if we were to just make it public, then what's the point of the bill to begin with?

"Secondly, if the Tourism Chair wanted to have her intent be made known, I believe the Judiciary Committee should have deferred action on the bill and not held the bill. The recommendation on this bill's companion, the House companion to this bill, was to hold, and a vote was taken. That's why as you recall, Mr. President, we have Rule 22. And I supported changes to this Rule. This Rule allowed for a Chair to defer indefinitely as long as the reason for the deferral was made public. So the Chair, I think, rightly could have announced that one of the sponsors of the bill, the Tourism Chair, recommended that the bill be deferred because she wanted to act on the Senate version which was alive in the House. And I believe that would have been an appropriate action instead of voting to hold the bill. That is why I believe that it is a valid statement to say that the Judiciary Committee reversed its position from passing the bill or this issue – this policy expressed in this bill in the companion bill – in one point in time on March 1st, and actually on April 1st voting on the same issue to hold the bill. I believe that the actions of the Committee as is known and is public, a citizen, a Legislator, myself can validly assert that the Committee reversed its position.

"Nonetheless, Mr. President, I wanted to also mention there was reference to the Office of Information Practices having agreed to the ten day disclosure period. That's not true. I called the director of the Office of Information Practices. Mr. President, that's why I make points about there are sometimes information in committee reports that I disagree with, and I often let it go. But, this is an example of why it's important for members to read committee reports, because if they are, there's information in committee reports that are not challenged. And I did not challenge it at the time. Then they stand as the report of the Committee. We can double-check this and I'm sure the Judiciary will. But I claim that the Office of Information . . . see, it implies that the OIP supports this bill or at least supports the ten day portion of it, and I assert that they do not.

Respectfully submitted,

"This erodes the open records law clearly. In fact it's the OIP director that raised the concern in his testimony in the House about the public not having the right to protest, not having the right to access information with which to use to protest users of the convention center.

House Concurrent Resolution	Referred to:
No. 152, H.D. 2	Committee on Health
No. 156, H.D. 1	Committee on Health

RECONSIDERATION OF ACTIONS TAKEN

S.B. No. 1362, S.D. 3 (H.D. 2):

Senator Baker moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on April 15, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 1362, S.D. 3, seconded by Senator Hanabusa and carried.

Senator Baker moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 1362, S.D. 3, seconded by Senator Hanabusa.

Senator Baker noted:

“Colleagues, this bill relates to mental health. It’s an administration bill. This is a bill that the administration asked us to make some additional amendments to, which we did on the Floor of the Senate prior to crossover.

“What the House did was to make the effective date upon approval, which is of course acceptable to the Senate, and to change the reporting language requested in this bill from 10 days prior to Session to 20 days prior to Session, which is certainly consistent with what is the normal practice. Therefore, I believe we should agree to the House amendments.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 1362, S.D. 3, and S.B. No. 1362, S.D. 3, H.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO MENTAL HEALTH,” was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Thursday, April 22, 2004.

S.B. No. 2897, S.D. 2 (H.D. 2):

Senator Baker moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on April 15, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2897, S.D. 2, seconded by Senator Tsutsui and carried.

Senator Baker moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2897, S.D. 2, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Baker noted:

“This is also an administration bill. It relates to dental examinations.

“What it does is to provide that if the state constructed exam cannot be administered in a public facility available in the state, which is Pearl Harbor, then it authorizes regional or state testing agencies to be used and then be able to license dentists and dental hygienists.

“It also repeals the license eligibility of graduates of foreign dental schools not accredited by the American Dental Association. This will bring the State of Hawaii’s licensure in conformance with all of the other states as of January of this year.

“These were amendments requested by the board of dental examiners. The Senate would have added these but the request came after we had already made a decision, and rather than reconsidering action in Committee, we let them go forward in the House.

So, these amendments are certainly acceptable to both your Committees on Health and Consumer Protection and Housing. I urge my colleagues to vote in favor of these amendments.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2897, S.D. 2, and S.B. “Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

“Mr. President, your loyal opposition in the Senate Minority is extremely concerned with the volume of the waiving of Rule 21 concerning hearing notices. I believe this Legislature in that it expedited some very significant legislation such as the state omnibus spending bill through the process this year and sent to the Governor many bills of major importance three weeks early, that there is indeed time to do things in such a manner that the public can be notified about it. There seems to be some substantive labor bills that are being expedited without adequate public notice and a number of resolutions that we feel that could have a direct impact on our constituencies.

“I'm hoping that members of the Majority Party will join us in this concern. If the Rule is uniformly waived on a regular basis, the Rule becomes absolutely useless. The intent of the Rule is extremely important – that the public, who sent us here, has adequate notice on bills and resolutions that will dramatically affect their life.

“I believe this effort, once again, is undemocratic in the sense of the word that the public will not have adequate notice to react accordingly to legislation we're considering. In that some of these bills do have the time to be adequately notified, I'm curious as to why it's being done.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

The President responded:

“Thank you for voicing your concern. We will take that into advisement.”

“I’m happy to hear that you’re suspending that Rule because as far as the Education Committee is concerned, Board of Regents appointments are important. Last week I did send a letter up to the Governor asking if she could make her appointments. She did respond, although the response didn’t say she’d hastily send it down, I do hope so in light of the public interest. These are policy-making positions, and I believe we need to do our job, Mr. President, to hold a hearing, receive testimony – positive or not – and ideally confirm these people prior to them actually getting into the policy-making rules.

“So, I’m glad you’re doing what you’re doing and hopefully we get timely appointments sent down on the regents as well as many, many other positions.

“Thank you.”

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"This bill has a checkered past. It's been making its way through the Legislature each of the last several years and it has the distinction of being honored by Governor Cayetano who vetoed it and by Governor Lingle who has vetoed it.

"This bill is a bad bill. It takes away the choice of heads of departments and also tries to treat every employee the same even though they are similarly situated. We are talking about public employees that are exempt from civil service. They know they're exempt when they enter the service and they are treated on their own individual merits. They are not subject to one-size-fits-all collective bargaining or arbitration, and that means that they are allowed to and are rewarded by different pay scales and different wages.

"What this would do is make them all the same. There is no demonstrated problem here. As I said, it's crossed two distinctive administrations, and I think it's a bad bill, a bad precedent, and it takes away choice of both the administrators, departments, and the public employees.

"I urge a 'no' vote. Thank you."

Senator Taniguchi moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3457 be adopted and H.B. No. 2296, H.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Trimble rose in opposition and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to H.B. No. 2296, H.D. 1.

"On the surface this bill is a simple matter, hardly worthy of consideration by such an august body as this. But I ask that you take a second look, a fresh look at the underlying arguments to see if the average voter would see it in the same way. If not, then you should reconsider, lest the average voter find that we are all bereft of reason.

"The underlying argument is also of interest because it highlights how people that have too much power, people that have sufficient power to ignore free market forces, set prices, and present arguments to defend their actions.

"The argument is, at its core, that it would cost government, in the case of the judiciary, more if credit or debit cards are used for the payments of court imposed fees and fines.

"Nothing could be further from the truth. Use of debit and credit cards actually save money. It saves so much money that the judiciary should consider giving a discount to those that use debit and credit cards.

"Let me enumerate how this actually reduced total costs when it was done decades ago in competitive markets where competing firms strove to reduce costs.

"When you swipe a debit card or credit card through the machine, many wonderful things happen:

A receipt is automatically generated.

A computer entry is automatically made to your cash receipts journal.

Simultaneously, another entry updates your accounts receivable.

"When you give consumers choices as to the method of payment, you are more apt to be paid. Being paid means that you will have to refer fewer accounts to licensed attorneys for collection of outstanding balances as provided for in H.B. No. 2295, which we just considered.

"You can receive payment by phone – 24 hours a day, every day of the week.

"Please consider the time value of money. When you swipe the card through the machine, money can be deposited into your account the same day.

"And finally, people that handle credit and debit cards tend to be paid less because there are not the same risks involved with the mishandling of money. Fewer resources are needed to verify that there was no hanky panky with money. There was no loss of confidence in the judiciary when those mishandlings of money come to the light of day.

"If you take a look at the total cost picture and you assume that the judiciary can control their costs as ordinary businesses must do everyday, then you must begin to realize how important these savings could be.

"Let us look at the same transaction, only this time if it involves, instead, the use of money – coin and currency. Currency and coins have to be counted –not once, not twice, but on an average of four times. Then a receipt needs to be issued. The information manually entered into a computer. All of this done by hand takes time and costs money.

"People that handle currency, because of the responsibility involved, are paid more, if only to avoid the embarrassment and loss of respect when the inevitable malfeasance occurs.

"Money can only be received when the right person is behind the right window and only when government is open for business.

"There is a time lag between when the money is received and when it is credited to the proper account.

"Cash must be stored in a secure location and it must be securely transported to the bank for deposit. All this takes time and costs money.

"The first argument presented by the judiciary can only be true if they cannot control their costs.

"The second argument is draconian. It suggests that if one makes compliance less onerous, then we should charge more because you don't have to stand in such a long line. Few people enjoy going to court. We should not be making compliance more difficult than it absolutely must be.

"If the judiciary does not understand that their argument is fallacious and that acceptance of debit and credit cards will lower costs, not raise them, when you look at the entire cost structure, then they may continue to dispense justice, but they will not be considered just.

"If we as Legislators cannot see through these untruths, then the public will question our ability to make law. Please consider your vote on this very simple issue and what it will say in the context of the bigger picture.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

FINAL ADOPTION

S.C.R. No. 30, H.D. 1:

Senator Fukunaga moved that S.C.R. No. 30, H.D. 1, be adopted, seconded by Senator Tsutsui.

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in strong opposition to this resolution.

"First of all, I always have a problem when we're telling other countries what to do. We can't even take care of our own State. But that having been said, I wish now that I would have had Senator Trimble help me research this better. He could probably have presented a 45-minute argument against it. (Laughter.)

"While I certainly endorse and support the spirit of Hawaii goodwill, I don't think it extends to the communist People's Republic of North Korea, and that's what it is. I note that this resolution had been held a couple days ago because we systematically changed the name to the Democratic People's Republic of Korea . . . HA! What a joke! There's no democracy in the North Korean communist capital. We found that out yesterday with the accident, so-called, with the two trains and all of that.

"In addition, the resolution says that the communist People's Republic has quote, 'responded favorably and is awaiting further endorsement,' unquote. Who did they respond to? I never heard anything from the communist People's Republic of North Korea. Their own people don't have any free speech. They cut the telephone lines when anything happens there.

"So, we can extend goodwill, but to extend it to a communist nation – the one that has the worst record of human rights in the world, and that's saying an awful lot – I think does this Legislature and our responsibility, I think it does it harm.

"In addition to that, those who took time to read the resolution notes that the House wants to go further and make a cash appropriation of 15 percent of matching funds that somehow the State of Maine is making for the communist People's Republic of North Korea. But I say NO, Mr. President, let's take care of our own people here first.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.C.R. No. 30, and S.C.R. No. 30, H.D. 1, entitled: "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION ENDORSING AND SUPPORTING THE SPIRIT OF HAWAII GOODWILL AND FRIENDSHIP COASTAL KOREA VISIT AND URGING THE DEMOCRATIC PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF KOREA TO SUPPORT JAE KWON LEE AND JONATHAN COWLES ON THEIR JOURNEY TO NORTH KOREA," was Finally Adopted on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 1 (Slom). Excused, 1 (Sakamoto).

RE-REFERRAL OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Chair re-referred the following House concurrent resolution that was received:

House Concurrent Resolution	Referred to:
No. 73	Committee on Water, Land, and Agriculture

At 12:08 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:27 o'clock p.m.

Senator Ihara rose on a point of inquiry as follows:

"Mr. President, I have a point of inquiry.

"Mr. President, there are three bills that the Governor has not acted on – has not returned and has not signed the bills. These bills, today is the tenth day. I'm not counting the day that they were transmitted. And my question is, What is the time deadline that the Governor has to return these bills if she wanted to veto them?"

President Bunda stated:

"Senator Ihara, could you identify those bills for us."

Senator Ihara replied:

"They are H.B. No. 2689, H.B. No. 2378, and H.B. No. 2685."

President Bunda then said:

"I believe, Senator Ihara, it's our understanding that today is the tenth day, and from our reading, the deadline is midnight. Now, we have some different opinions as to the deadline, but we believe right now that the deadline is midnight. So, she has until midnight to give us those bills."

Senator Hanabusa rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, this is in line with the good Senator from Kapahulu's question. I disagree with that opinion, and as everyone is probably aware, I still have the Supreme Court to rule on the case of Hanabusa v Cayetano, which is exactly on how you count 10 days.

“It is my understanding that in the recent case of, I think, if I’m not mistaken, it may be Laborers Intl Union Etal v Linda Lingle Etal. It was an issue of the veto of the substitute teacher bill that the circuit court rendered a decision that 10 days were to be counted as 12:00 on that tenth day. I believe that the 10 days are 24 hours, or full days, and that’s how it should be counted. And it’s a practical issue, Mr. President, because if that’s the case, we’re required to stay open until 12:00 midnight to receive whatever transmittal that the Governor can give.

“It also is an issue of whether or not the Governor is getting more than 10 days, which is given in the constitution. Say a bill was transmitted at 1:00 in the morning, hypothetically, and she transmits it at midnight on the, quote, ‘tenth day.’ What you end up giving is, in essence, 10 days and 23 hours.

“So, Mr. President, just for the record, I would like to say that I disagree with that interpretation of how we count 10 days.

“Thank you.”

The President then stated:

“What we should also be doing is to be inquiring with the House as to the clock or the time that they clocked it to transmit to the Governor’s office. So, what we will do, both the Senate Clerk and I, is we’ll meet with the House to figure out exactly what time and perhaps we can come up with a different opinion than we have today. Nevertheless, it is midnight.”

Senator Baker then rose on a point of inquiry as follows:

“Mr. President, point of inquiry.

“Then, are we intending to leave the Journal open until midnight tonight so we can receive those messages or transmittals from the Governor? Is there some mechanism that we’re going to use so that we’re sure that we get them?”

At 12:31 o’clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:35 o’clock p.m.

The President then stated:

“Senator Baker, in answer to your question – it was a good question to ask – I don’t think the Legislature, especially the Senate, has ever had an opportunity during Session to override a veto, and traditionally we have not actually kept the Journal open for this kind of message. But nevertheless, I don’t think it would be out of the constitution, so I don’t think it’s necessary for us to keep the Journal open.”

The President appointed Senator Taniguchi as an additional co-chair on the part of the Senate at the conference to be held for the consideration of amendments proposed by the Senate to H.B. No. 2703, H.D. 1.

Senator Hemmings rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I submitted to your office a formal letter addressing this issue this morning. It seems that at the start of the Session we made some calendar changes that at the time did not seem then problematic. Now that we're facing adjournment sine die next week, one of the changes does seem to be an issue that is worthy of the Majority Party's consideration, and that is that we have moved the recess day from Tuesday to Monday next week and a departure from business as usual even during this Session.

"As you well know, having a recess day on Monday allows us to spend the weekend digesting bills and of course caucusing on them on Monday and being able to submit our list of bills that we would like to discuss in Session Tuesday. We can submit that list Monday night. It seems like a fair, equitable and efficient way to do it. It's the way that, as long as I can remember in the Senate, we have been doing it.

"For this year, for reasons we suspect don't have to do with efficiency, the recess day in the last week of the Legislature has been pushed to Tuesday and we have two recess days in a row and the workday is Monday. When you request that the pull list be submitted Saturday evening by 5:00, that's putting our staff and probably more importantly the public at a decided disadvantage of being able to have adequate time to digest and go over all of the bills that weigh such impact on the people of Hawaii.

"I think there is a simple solution, Mr. President, and that is consult with leadership in the House and reinstate Tuesday as the workday and Monday as the recess day. I sure hope that this change in the calendar was not done for the sole reason of considering vetoes that are due Monday. I'm hoping that the Majority Party will see fit to consider this request of the Floor to adjust the days to the more efficient and open way of doing things so that your Minority Party and more importantly, as I've said, the public will have adequate access to the legislation and time to adequately look at it to do whatever's needed to be done.

"So, Mr. President, I would appreciate your consideration."

The President then inquired:

"When did you submit your letter, Senator Hemmings?"

Senator Hemmings replied:

"I drafted the letter this morning and it was submitted to your staff approximately an hour ago."

The President then stated:

"We will digest that letter and we'll bring it up with the House."

Senator Hemmings then said:

"Thank you very much, Mr. President, I appreciate the courtesy."

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following messages from the Governor (Gov. Msg. Nos. 496 to 502) were read by the Clerk and were disposed of as follows:

Gov. Msg. No. 496, dated April 27, 2004, transmitting her statement of objections to House Bill No. 1797 which she has returned to the House of Representatives without her approval and which reads as follows:

“EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

April 27, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 1797

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1797, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to Optometry.’

The purpose of this bill is to allow optometrists to use and prescribe therapeutic pharmaceutical agents, including steroidal agents, for all disorders of the human visual system, to administer injections for anaphylaxis, and to treat glaucoma. Since many serious systemic illnesses affect the eye, the bill would allow optometrists to prescribe a wide range of medication.

This bill is objectionable because it constitutes a significant relaxation of current restrictions and raises health and safety concerns. The training that optometrists receive is less than the rigorous instruction physicians are required to receive to gain prescriptive authority in the State of Hawaii. For example graduates of University of Hawaii’s John A. Burns School of Medicine, after four years of extensive medical training, are required to undergo an additional year of residency before they are allowed to independently prescribe medications.

Optometrists are required to complete a four-year degree program and to undergo additional instruction to use and prescribe a restricted class of medications. This bill would remove the restrictions on how optometrists use these medications for the treatment of serious eye diseases, such as corneal ulcers in children, or prolonged eye inflammations.

Time is of the essence in treating eye infections. If treated inappropriately or belatedly, the result could be severe complications, including blindness. According to the Hawaii

Ophthalmological Society (HOS), there are 33 states that do not allow optometrists to prescribe oral steroids, 31 states that prohibit optometrists from prescribing oral anti-fungal medications, 18 states that prohibit optometrists from prescribing oral antibiotics, 27 states that prohibit optometrists from prescribing oral anti-virals, and 22 states that prohibit optometrists from prescribing non-steroidal anti-inflammatory medications.

While more narrow modifications of current law with appropriate safeguards might be acceptable, this bill goes too far in deleting the restrictions that have been in place on the use of topical steroidal agents and anti-viral agents. I, therefore, urge ophthalmologists, optometrists, and their respective boards, and the John A. Burns School of Medicine to establish appropriate guidelines for future legislative consideration. Because of the serious health and safety concerns associated with the sweeping relaxation of restrictions proposed by this bill, its enactment would not be in the best interest of the people of Hawaii.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 1797 without my approval.

Respectfully,

/s/ Linda Lingle
LINDA LINGLE
Governor of Hawaii,”

was placed on file.

Gov. Msg. No. 497, dated April 27, 2004, transmitting her statement of objections to Senate Bill No. 2525, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, which she has returned to the Senate without her approval and which reads as follows:

State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 2525 HD1 CD1, entitled ‘Relating to State Funds.’

The purpose of this bill is to dramatically restructure the method of funding the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs (‘Department’) by repealing the Compliance Resolution Fund (‘CRF’). This bill requires the transfer of monies in the CRF account as of June 30, 2004 to the general fund, with the exception of $4.2 million that would be used by the Department’s Professional and Vocational Licensing division (‘PVL’). The bill also imposes a 90% floor and a 110% ceiling on annual Department revenues in relation to Department expenses.

This bill is objectionable because it destroys a system under which the Department is successfully accomplishing its missions – protecting consumers, regulating various businesses, and overseeing business registrations and filings. This bill compromises the ability of the Department to achieve these important public purposes. The bill takes approximately $35 million from the State's businesses rather than return that money to these businesses. It is a money grab, first and foremost.

The current system of self-sufficiency allows the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs to operate with regulatory independence and objectivity. The Department regulates many different businesses and professions, including financial institutions, insurance companies, utilities, and many professions and vocations. It often has to make judgments that are not popular with those being regulated. Being self-sufficient insures the continuity of resources to carry out these important regulatory tasks. In addition, being self-sufficient allows the Department to avoid competing for funds and being underfunded as has happened in the past. This bill would irrefutably harm the Department's functioning by changing the system of funding.

On a practical level, the bill was introduced without warning, without sufficient discussion, and without evident thought. As a result, it is badly written.

For example, the bill is silent on whether the 90% floor and 110% ceiling created in Section 2 includes general fund appropriations or just special funds. The bill is also silent as to whether those calculations are to be made across the Department as a whole or on a division-by-division basis.

There are other aspects of this bill that are incongruous with its stated purpose or have unintended consequences. Although this bill purports to retain self-sufficiency for licensing activities, it places in the general fund those fees resulting from regulation of condominium property regimes by the Real Estate Commission.

Unintended consequences are further evidenced by the fact that the Medical Claims Conciliation Panel ('MCCP') is left unfunded. The Department will be unable to hear all of the cases brought to the MCCP and will not be able to make refunds to any parties to such cases.

Section 2 of the bill transfers the Compliance Resolution Fund balance to the general fund at the end of the fiscal year. These monies, however, were collected from thousands of businesses, professionals, and other licensees for the purpose of providing specific services. While this may be legally permissible, it is bad policy. There is already on-going litigation brought by the Hawaii Insurers Council over the 2002 transfer of $2 million from the Insurance Regulation Fund (a fund now incorporated within the CRF) to the general fund (Act 178/2002). Hawaii Insurers Council alleges that such transfers violate specific statutes as well as the state and federal constitutions insofar as 'it would result in the transformation of the assessments dictated and imposed by the Insurance Commissioner on insurance companies into an illegal and unconstitutional tax.' This bill may very well spawn more such litigation.

Ultimately, there is no justification for this bill. Legislators contended that the bill would advance 'accountability' and 'transparency', and would ensure against the Department's accumulation of what the Legislators characterized as 'excess funds', which, allegedly, were the consequences of Department fees that are too high. These are clearly opportunistic arguments, with no basis in fact as related to this Department.

Accountability and transparency are already guaranteed by the budgetary process that the Department and the CRF undergo each year. Unlike other special funds, the CRF is thoroughly analyzed by both the Administration and the Legislature, with spending ceilings approved by the Legislature as part of each budget. If the Legislature were truly interested in accountability and transparency or the reduction of 'excess' reserves, it could have adopted the Department's offer to place a reserve ceiling and reporting requirements in the law without repealing the CRF. Further, the Legislature could have passed the bills submitted by the Department that would have allowed the Department to further cut its fees.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 2525 HD1 CD 1 without my approval.

Respectfully,

/s/ Linda Lingle
LINDA LINGLE
Governor of Hawaii,"

Senator Trimble rose with reservations and said:

“Mr. President, I rise with reservations.

“Senate district 12 extends along the coast from Waikiki to Kalihi. This bill only designates one particular area of my district. I’m curious why.

“If any of you have the opportunity, like I did 15 years ago, to frequent the Ala Wai Yacht Harbor, it was a fairly common occurrence between 10 and 11 in the morning to see a visitor come out of the Ilikai, walk down through the harbor, walk to the end of the pier and urinate. So obviously, this bill is not designed to take care of that problem because it doesn’t include Waikiki.

“The second thing I find reasonably curious is that the person must intentionally . . . have any of you ever experienced unintentional, you know, when you’ve got to go, you’ve got to go. Is it going to be a defense that can be presented to the judge that it was indeed unintentional? (Laughter.)

“The third thing that I find kind of curious is, a couple of weeks ago we dealt with vexatious requestors, what about the person that intentionally comes to the State Capitol lawn to express his dissatisfaction with state government? Is this not an expression of speech, an expression of action telling you what he thinks?

“Anyway, perhaps this measure is worthy of a little bit more discussion before we unanimously adopt it. Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Ihara also rose with reservations and said:

“Mr. President, could you note my reservations on this bill for only a few of the points made by the previous speaker. (Laughter.)

“Thank you.”

"EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

April 29, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 3238

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 3238 entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Education.'

This bill has been referred to as the 'Reinventing Education Act of 2004.'

After listening to the advice of people throughout the community and considering all the pros and cons, it became clear that I could not in good conscience place my stamp of approval on the 'Reinventing Education Act of 2004.' This bill contains too many flaws in its present form. While not wanting to paint the bill with too broad a brush, it does not reinvent education, it mainly protects the status quo, and in one case it makes matters much worse by increasing bureaucracy and reducing accountability.

Fortunately there is time to correct the most serious flaws in Senate Bill No. 3238.

I am, therefore, exercising what I call a 'soft veto.' I am asking the Legislature to develop new language that would create legislation we can all take pride in and regard as a step forward.

I realize we have to identify a vehicle for this new education bill. There are many to choose from, including possibly House Bill No. 1176 which has been in conference since April 2003. I propose that we rename our joint effort the 'Bipartisan Education Reform Act of 2004.'

Because we still have one week left in the regular session of 2004, the executive and legislative branches have time to come together to craft an education bill that will bring about meaningful education reform.

I am recommending in this statement of objections that the Legislature enact five changes to Senate Bill No. 3238 using the vehicle of House Bill No. 1176. They are simple to make, yet would result in significant improvements at our schools. These changes are:

- Give principals control over 70 percent of their operating budgets initially, but phase-in a plan that would allow them eventually to control 90 percent of funds. At first glance it may not appear there is much difference between giving principals 70 percent versus 90 percent of the money. But it will mean a world of difference in the classroom. That is because at 70 percent most of the spending is already predetermined since it goes to salaries and related items over which the principal has little or no control. It is only when principals are given authority for 90 percent or more of the funds at their schools that they truly gain the financial flexibility they need to make meaningful improvements.
- Empower principals, set standards for their performance, and hold them accountable. In business, in education, and in every social organization, leadership makes the difference. Individual teachers also make a difference. But it is the principals who can inspire, motivate, and lead their schools by example.
- Give charter schools their fair share of funding, for facilities as well as operations, so they can provide instruction that is culturally appropriate for their communities. Charter schools have demonstrated that they can produce successful, self-confident students, even in the face of tremendous obstacles created by the Department of Education. Such schools are especially important for Hawaiian students, who suffer greatly under the Department of Education's one-size-fits-all system. It is time to give charter schools the resources and the support to excel.
- Instead of launching the 'weighted student formula' in the 2006-07 school year, start this sensible funding plan a year earlier. Under this formula, money would be allocated based on the needs of individual students. There are successful models we can use from school systems elsewhere. Let us get on with the task now.
- Make the school community councils advisory in nature. That way, councils can offer their recommendations to principals without complicating the decision-making process or confusing who the public should hold accountable.

These five changes are incorporated in a proposed House Bill No. 1176 attached to this statement of objections.

It is important to note that I did not mention local school boards among my proposed changes. That does not mean I have abandoned this critical concept, for I have not.

I will continue to do everything possible to give the people an opportunity to vote on the issue of nonpartisan, locally elected school boards in the 2006 general election.

Education reform is not about us – it is about the children. The people of Hawaii know that and they want to see significant progress this session. If the Legislature makes the 'five easy fixes' listed above, we will have a much better bill that will really advance the cause of student achievement through education reform.

Together, we have one last opportunity before the session ends to do what the people brought us here to do.

The education bill before me today does not really help our children in a systemic way. To let Senate Bill No. 3238 become law as is would mean we have squandered a chance to act in a bipartisan way to achieve real reform. And far worse, we would have deprived our children of the quality education they deserve.

I am recommending these five revisions on behalf of people all across our State who have watched many previous attempts to fix our schools and who should not settle for less than real education reform this time. While far from perfect, this modified legislation would move us ahead.

Someone once asked Thomas Edison if he got discouraged when an invention did not turn out as planned. 'I am not discouraged,' he said, 'because every wrong attempt discarded is another step forward.' Let us discard what is wrong with Senate Bill No. 3238 and pass a law that truly moves us forward.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 3238 without my approval.

Respectfully,

/s/ Linda Lingle
LINDA LINGLE
Governor of Hawaii"

"The Senate will review the Governor's statement of objections to S.B. No. 3238, C.D. 1, and consider any appropriate action."

ORDER OF THE DAY

FINAL READING

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 20-04 (H.B. No. 1860, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Chun Oakland moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 20-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 1860, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I again rise to ask my colleagues to vote in opposition to S.B. No. 1860.

"It is a worthy cause, perhaps few are more worthy than this. However, I think that this is bad policy to every year discuss one or two more items to be elicited to our check off form on our income taxes. The direction we should be going in, colleagues, is to make it a one-page form with ten lines instead of trying to add another line and additional costs and confusion to that of the taxpayer.

"I believe that one of the daily newspapers also wrote an editorial that commented that it may also be bad public policy for a series of additional reasons. I wish that you would consider those also before you cast your vote.

"Thank you."

Senator Chun Oakland rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I speak in support of this measure.

"I'm very thankful for the Legislature considering this measure, which came out of the Keiki Caucus which is a bipartisan effort. This is one way that the community had suggested being able to raise funds for child abuse and spouse abuse prevention efforts, as well as treatment. We really would like to extend our congratulations to the community for this effort and to the Legislature for really supporting it.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 20-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 1860, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 3 (Hemmings, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Hogue).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 21-04 (H.B. No. 1774, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Kanno moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 21-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 1774, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"The purpose of the bill is to, quote, 'encourage eligible claimants of unemployment insurance to seek gainful employment.' That's a worthy objective. The point of the matter is the bill will do exactly the opposite because it takes the limitations off the terms of outside income or other income that can be used, giving the unemployment compensation benefits basically as a subsidy to continue people working on part-time or small types of employment rather than seeking fulltime gainful employment.

"In addition, the bill says that it allows the federal Reed Act funds to be used to offset anticipated increases and unemployment compensation claims. It's good that the bill does that, however, my reading of the federal Reed Act indicates that in fact the Reed Act funds cannot be used for this purpose and I think that we're going to have a legal challenge down the road.

"In any event, it does not help people get more employed. It is going to be more costly. I remind my colleagues that only employers pay unemployment compensation tax. There's no unemployment insurance. There's unemployment compensation tax. No employee pays into that fund.

"Thank you, I urge a 'no' vote."

Senator Kanno rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this legislation.

"Mr. President, as the bill states, the current law serves as a disincentive for persons seeking additional employment because the statute imposes a greater restriction on individuals seeking to maximize work opportunities and penalizes individuals as multiple employers.

"Probably when the statute was drafted, I don't think the Legislators at that time foresaw the number of part-time jobs that Hawaii's employees today need to have in order to survive. So the bill is specifically set up to address an individual who had a number of part-time jobs who got displaced from one of them and, unlike what the previous speaker implied, that it removes the cap that provides for some sort of limitless funding. The bill only provides that somebody will continue to receive the unemployment benefits until their compensation reaches the benefit amount, at which time the unemployment benefits would end. So, there is a cap involved.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise I rise in opposition to this measure.

"Many times worthy goals certainly are good. But in this case, people are very smart. I know a person who works in an unemployment office and periodically when we chat isn't it amazing that the day before their benefits expire they find a job. Unfortunately, there are many good people who need every penny of their unemployment benefits that diligently try to find a job and perhaps can't. But the fear with a provision such as this with no tiering like if you earn half the amount perhaps you can get half the benefits, if you earn very little perhaps you'd get the whole benefit, this measure provides too much of an opportunity for people who want to work the system to get around the system and unfairly receive benefits that people who truly need unemployment benefits should have. As the speaker from Hawaii Kai said, many of our small businesses are struggling. This type of measure would put a leaky hole into some of our worthy unemployment programs.

"I urge my colleagues to vote 'no.'

Senator Kim rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition of this measure.

"Mr. President, I hoped that this measure would have put in some safeguards because I think there is a lot of room for abuse. While I can understand the issue of part-time employment and unless I'm reading this wrong, there's nothing in the bill that speaks of part-time employment. So, I think the bill needs to be more specific.

"I also think that perhaps a percentage of the pay should be looked at, but at this rate, one could make one dollar less than what their getting as far as benefits and still get the full amount. So, I think there is some concern here and at this point I'm not satisfied with the way the bill is.

"Thank you."

Senators Ihara, Tsutsui, Fukunaga, Hooser, Baker and English requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 21-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 1774, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 16. Noes, 8 (Aduja, Hemmings, Ige, Kim, Sakamoto, Slom, Trimble, Whalen). Excused, 1 (Hogue).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 22-04 (H.B. No. 2741, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 22-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 2741, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"Quite simply, what this measure does is interfere with the management of executive branches by providing the deputy director and special assistant positions of executive departments not belonging to the Department of Education or the University of Hawaii are subject to position justification requirements and legislative review. Clearly the accountability and the responsibility for these deputies must lie with the executive, with the departments, and also with the head of those departments.

"This is an abrogation of what we've always done before and I think clearly is an interference with the executive branch of government.

"Thank you."

Senator Trimble rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"Only yesterday we were talking about S.B. No. 1828 and we were concerned about what people did and how they acted and we decided we wanted to make the Capitol a . . . what is it . . . a defecation-free zone. And there are members of the public, when they view what we do here today, that will say that the Legislature has a different set of standards for its own actions.

"There are some that will say that this bill is petty and partisan, that will say that when the people elected Governor Lingle they wanted to give her a clear opportunity for a new beginning, and that when the Legislature resorts to measures such as this that they are not competing with the Governor for the minds and hearts of the people but rather playing politics, the political game in an unfair manner just to insure that she might not succeed.

"So, for this reason, I urge my colleagues to take the higher ground and to vote against this measure. Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Espero rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I'd like to rise in support of this measure.

"This measure is simply a matter of checks and balances. It asks the executive branch to provide justification for many of their high salaried employees. An example happened this year with the tourism liaison. My understanding is this high salaried individual was paid for by other positions. So, it would be nice for us to know where those positions came from, who they were, and can have that information if there's going to be someone within the executive branch making 70, 80, 90 thousand dollars a year.

"So, I think just some good checks and balances with the legislative branch reviewing the executive branch is more than appropriate.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against H.B. No. 2741 and its permeation with all its drafts.

"Mr. President, I would like to think that, in reflection of the previous speaker's utterances, that this did have some semblance of check and balances in it. But this is clearly an abuse of legislative power against the executive branch of government. I would ask the Majority Party if this was such a brilliant idea, why wasn't it done five, ten, fifteen, twenty years ago when the Majority Party controlled the executive branch of government? Why is it being done now?

"I'd also like to note for the record that if this was a sincere attempt to hold deputies and people employed in different departments to some sort of accountability for what they're paid and compensated, why does it exempt two of the biggest departments that have the most highly paid executives, the DOE and the UH? It seems like a point of contradiction. Is this really fiscal responsibility on the part of the Legislature or is this just plain old petty politics, as the newspaper editors have pointed out.

"In closing, I would like to remind everybody that this is one of the most famous erosion bills – a bill designed by the Majority Party to erode power from the executive branch and hold her feet to the fire just for the sake of politics. It is indeed petty, and I would suggest that the people we serve know it.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Sakamoto rose and said:

"Mr. President, just some clarifying remarks to the previous comments about the Department of Education and the University of Hawaii. This is a reminder that the University of Hawaii has a board of regents that has oversight over salaries and positions and the Department of Education has the board of education oversight over them, elected officials that do have oversight over that department, Mr. President."

Senator Slom rose and said:

"Mr. President, just another brief point of clarification, since we certainly need clarity at 7:15.

"For the good Senator from Ewa Beach, while he's driving back tonight he should recall that when he's talking about those high salaries that that was the whole issue about having an executive salary commission since the salaries have been unchanged in 14 years.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 22-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 2741, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 3 (Hemmings, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Hogue).

“EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

April 30, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 2003

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2003, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to the Illegal Use of Controlled Substances.’

The purpose to this bill is to implement the recommendations of the Joint House-Senate Task Force on Ice and Drug Abatement that was created to address the epidemic proportion of crystal methamphetamine (‘ice’) use in Hawaii. This omnibus measure contains provisions that meet this purpose. However, it also contains provisions that would exacerbate the problem of ‘ice’ abuse in Hawaii.

Favorable provisions of this bill include increasing the prison sentence for those who manufacture drugs in the presence of a child, amendments to the drug paraphernalia law that would make it easier for law enforcement officials to prosecute these cases, and amendments that provide the Hawaii Paroling Authority with discretion in determining whether parole should be revoked for violations involving illegal drugs. In addition, the bill partially restores sentencing judges’ discretion to impose a jail sentence with regard to certain drug convictions. The bill also addresses the need for substance abuse treatment by mandating parity in health insurance plans allowing substance abuse to be treated like other medical conditions.

Although these provisions are a step in the right direction, they are unfortunately outweighed by other egregious provisions. For example, there are provisions in this bill that would actually reduce the penalty for manufacturing ‘ice’ and make the penalty for manufacturing small quantities of ‘ice’ less than the penalty for manufacturing small quantities of other dangerous drugs. As ‘ice’ manufacturing is a more serious problem in Hawaii than the manufacture of other dangerous drugs, this change in the law would be particularly inappropriate. Currently, manufacturing less than one-eighth of an ounce of methamphetamine is a class A felony with a mandatory minimum term of not less than ten years during which time the convicted person is not eligible for parole. Under this bill, that crime is reduced to a class B felony with a mandatory minimum term of only three years. Moreover, manufacturing that same quantity of any other dangerous drug remains a class A felony. Thus, if this bill were enacted into law, manufacturing small amounts of every dangerous drug except ‘ice’ would be a class A felony. This would not represent good public policy.

Furthermore, the bill even reduces the mandatory minimum sentence for manufacturing large quantities of ‘ice’ from ten years with no possibility of parole to a sentence of five years. This is unacceptable. This is also inconsistent with one of the avowed purposes of the bill: to ‘deter the proliferation of drug trafficking’ with regard to ‘ice.’ If we are to successfully intervene in the availability of ‘ice,’ these provisions should not be allowed to become law.

This bill is also objectionable because it overturns the Hawaii Supreme Court’s decision (State of Hawaii v. Smith, 103 Haw. 228, 81 P.2d 408 (2003)) that requires drug users with multiple felony convictions to be sent to jail. To the contrary, this bill provides drug users with multiple felony convictions the possibility of not serving even one day in jail. This is a matter of poor public policy, because other criminals with multiple prior offenses would be given a mandatory prison sentence.

Other objections to this bill include its disregard of the counties’ home rule. As currently drafted the bill infringes upon the zoning powers of the counties by exempting drug rehabilitation homes from land use ordinances that establish guidelines for these homes. The bill provides that, with regard to any drug rehabilitation home accommodating up to ten persons, ‘no conditional use, permit, variance, or special exception shall be required for a residence used as a drug rehabilitation home.’ The bill also provides that such a drug rehabilitation home ‘shall be considered a residential use of property and shall be a permitted use in residentially designated zones including . . . zones for single-family dwelling’ (emphases added). There is no provision that allows homeowners and residents any procedure to challenge a decision to place a drug rehabilitation home in their neighborhoods.

This bill also amends the zero tolerance in public schools law by mandating that students caught, for example, selling drugs be assessed for treatment and given treatment, if needed, rather than being suspended from school (except for a possible ten-day ‘crisis suspension’). The provision ties the hands of the Department of Education in disciplining students who possess, sell, or use drugs. Furthermore, the Department may be unable to implement the proposed revision, because not all schools have certified substance abuse treatment counselors on staff and because there may well be an inadequate number of programs to which students can be referred.

Further, the provisions, as written, would result in two students who have engaged in exactly the same behavior to be punished differently. A student who sells drugs who DOES NOT need drug treatment is still subject to the ‘zero tolerance policy.’ However, a student who sells drugs who DOES need drug treatment is NOT subject to the ‘zero tolerance policy.’ In fact, the student with the drug problem is better off for disciplinary purposes than the student without the drug problem, because the bill states that 'the child shall not be excluded from school and all disciplinary action shall be deferred' (emphasis added). The bill further provides that upon completion of the treatment program, all records of disciplinary action relating to the original offense shall be expunged. We should not enact legislation that, in effect, tells our children that being addicted to drugs is an effective way to avoid discipline or maintain a clean disciplinary record.

Moreover, we should not say that a student who deals large quantities of drugs, for example, cannot be suspended just because the student needs treatment. And, the provision appears to bar the zero tolerance policy even for a student who is caught selling drugs a second or third time.

House Bill No. 2003, in short, is a collection of provisions that are internally inconsistent, result in conflicting outcomes, and are, in some instances, inconsistent with good public policy. There are certain laudable provisions in the bill. I would hope they could be reenacted without those provisions that are steps backward rather than forward.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2003 without my approval.

Respectfully,

STATEMENT OF CONCERNS REGARDING HOUSE BILL NO. 2004

Honorable Members
Twenty-second Legislature
State of Hawaii

I will allow House Bill No. 2004, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to the Illegal Use of Controlled Substances' to become law without my signature.

This bill clearly has merit. It aims to provide the State and the counties with financial support to battle the crystal methamphetamine ('ice') epidemic. This bill funds intervention efforts, prevention, treatment efforts, and enhanced judicial programs in an effort to halt the spread of this dangerous and socially damaging drug.

HB 2004 appropriates $14,702,419 for drug prevention and treatment programs as part of the Legislature's spending plan. Regrettably, it does so without considering the availability of fiscal resources. The Legislature's disregard of sound budgeting principles requires that I carefully consider these appropriations, together with monies appropriated in the regular State budget, to ensure that the State's budget is balanced. This will need to be done in the context of addressing the legitimate 'ice' abatement goals of our community.

This bill uses monies from three funding sources to pay for the $14.7 million in proposed expenditures. The largest amount, over $13 million, would be appropriated from general funds that are not included in the State's financial plan. Accordingly, these appropriations will stress available resources and must be weighed against other statewide priorities.

The second source is the Emergency Budget Reserve Fund (EBRF). A total of $1.15 million would be taken out of this account. The EBRF was created to provide the State a critical reserve of monies during an emergency period, a severe economic downturn, or an unforeseen and drastic reduction in State revenues. The Emergency Fund was not intended to provide money for valid programs that are ongoing in nature, such as substance abuse treatment facilities. These centers should not have to wait anxiously from year to year not knowing until the eleventh hour whether they will be accommodated by dipping into the emergency reserves. Furthermore, funding drug prevention and treatment operations in this manner erodes the emergency account. Bond rating agencies point out that maintenance of this fund at about 5 percent of general fund revenues, or approximately $190 million, is considered the level for an effective reserve. The fund's current balance of $54.3 million is considerably below this prudent goal.

The third source of funding is the Environmental Response Revolving Fund. $300,000 would be removed from this fund to examine the effects of 'ice' labs. Using these monies for this purpose is, at best, a 'stretch' since the purpose of this revolving fund was to earmark money for cleaning up oil spills.

I am also concerned that some of the appropriations made in this bill are inadequate to fulfill the Legislature's mandates. For example, funding appropriated to the Department of Public Safety to expand its canine drug interdiction program would only cover the costs of one dog and not the handler. Similarly, the Department of Public Safety has also pointed out that $125,000 will not be sufficient to implement drug assessments for the inmate population they must process.

Despite these concerns, my Administration recognizes the importance of drug prevention and treatment programs. HB 2004 appropriates funds for the expansion of the highly successful drug court program, which is supported by the Law Enforcement Community. This bill also provides funding for the neighborhood-based Weed and Seed Program. However, support of this latter program may be problematic as the bill requires that a representative of the Attorney General chair a steering committee that already exists and must be chaired by the United States Attorney General, not the State Attorney General. Furthermore, the bill requires that the program establish an account for legislative appropriations, federal funds, and private contributions as a condition of receiving legislative funding. We must point out that this provision cannot be implemented because the federal government prohibits the co-mingling of federal funds with other funds. I urge the Legislature to take the necessary actions next year to correct these flaws in the Weed and Seed Program funding mechanism contained in this bill.

For the foregoing reasons, I will allow House Bill No. 2004 to become Act 40, effective April 30, 2004, without my signature.

STATEMENT OF CONCERNS REGARDING HOUSE BILL NO. 1800

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

I will allow House Bill No. 1800, 'A Bill for an Act Relating to the State Budget,' to become law on April 30, 2004, without my signature. This action is taken pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

This bill provides $7.9 billion in total operating appropriations, including $3.9 billion in general fund appropriations for fiscal year 2004-2005. This bill also proposes expending $1.3 billion for capital improvement projects, of which $566 million would be funded through the issuance of general obligation bonds.

House Bill No. 1800 represents the largest part of the fiscal puzzle that is being pieced together in the final days of the Legislative session. But it does not represent the total picture, and therein lies the problem. There are over 50 appropriations bills and over 15 revenue bills in various stages of enactment that will impact the State's bottom line. Until all of these various proposals are acted upon, taxpayers will not know what the total price tag will be.

Further, House Bill No. 1800 reflects only half the fiscal equation. It is a spending plan. It does not provide an approach or a plan that takes into consideration the long term financial health of our State, especially the projected deficits of the following fiscal biennium.

Our State is at a critical juncture in its economic recovery. A hallmark of my Administration has been fiscal responsibility. As such, in December 2003 my office provided a clear, well thought out, and prudent budget. It also included a balanced financial plan that covered a six-year period between now and fiscal year 2009. This budget was subsequently updated in mid-April to reflect what the State could responsibly afford in collective bargaining raises for the HGEA and other bargaining units still under negotiation at that time.

In its rush to pass House Bill No. 1800, the Legislature ignored our mid-April budget plan. The Legislature also made budget adjustments that had no logic, such as deleting 54 permanent and 27 temporary full-time federally funded positions. This bill also eliminates funding for the John A. Burns School of Medicine which is scheduled to open in Kakaako in the spring of 2005. Additionally, House Bill No. 1800 adversely impacts funding for a court-mandated program and did not fund repairs for the Molokai irrigation system. As a result of the Legislature's hasty action, we were asked by the Chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee to submit a 'fix-it' budget bill, which we did last week.

We are now at the deadline to take action on House Bill No. 1800. Ironically, this is the same day the Legislature is considering the 'fix-it' budget bill my Administration submitted on April 26, 2004.

What this sequence of events illustrates is that the Legislature has acted without a comprehensive, multi-year financial framework. Continuing in this vein is simply not the responsible thing to do. Furthermore it leads to short term fixes that result in long term adverse consequences.

It is the Governor's role to exercise fiscal discipline in the management of State resources. I take this role seriously. This means that not all of the programs funded in House Bill No. 1800 can or will receive the amounts appropriated in this bill. It means that some high profile and popular programs may be reduced and others may have to wait while more urgent or legally mandated programs are funded first. And it means that not all the organizations expecting grants-in-aid and CIP projects will get the dollars they lobbied for this year.

We are on the verge of a bright future in the State of Hawaii. For the first time in years economic indicators are looking strong, unemployment is at a low of 3.8 percent, the business community is optimistic, the outside financial community has given us good bond ratings, and our citizens feel a bit better off. As former Governor Ariyoshi aptly pointed out, 'We have the opportunity to manage when times are good. We can only react when times are bad.'

It is in these good times that it becomes essential to manage the State's resources in a prudent, conservative, but sensitive manner. By carefully exercising the control of funds appropriated by House Bill No. 1800, I will work to maintain the reputation of sound fiscal management our state is now beginning to enjoy. It is for these reasons that I am allowing House Bill No. 1800 to become law as Act 41, effective April 30, 2004 without my signature.

Respectfully,

Gov. Msg. No. 527, dated April 30, 2004, transmitting her statement of objections to House Bill No. 2743 (line item vetoes) which she has returned to the House of Representatives without her approval and which reads as follows:

"EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

April 30, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 2743

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2743, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Non-General Funds.'

The stated purpose of this bill is to transfer moneys from certain special and revolving funds to the general fund, including setting up a mechanism to 'automatically' take money out of the Tobacco Settlement Special Fund and the State Parking Revolving Fund at the end of each fiscal year.

This bill is a manifestation of the questionable financial practices that have plagued the State for too long. Using moneys out of special funds to pay for ongoing expenses, such as arbitrated pay raises, is further evidence that the State is living beyond its means. This is not unlike a family taking money out of the children's college fund or an IRA account to pay its grocery bills. This practice must cease if we are to ensure the State's long-term fiscal health and well-being.

While I believe this practice should not continue over the long term, I realize that without some use of these moneys, the biennium budget will remain out of balance. Of the transfers of money made by this bill, I object to the following transfers, because I believe that these transfers will most severely compromise the ability of the State to carry out legally mandated programs:

1. The $800,000 transfer from the Animal Quarantine Special Fund to the general fund. While the Legislature determined that there was $800,000 in excess of the requirements of this fund and authorized the deposit of that amount to the general fund, I believe that a reduction of that magnitude would deplete this fund by fiscal year 2006 and cause the quarantine operations to close down. The impact on the health of our community by this action cannot be overstated.

2. The $900,000 transfer from the Agricultural Loan Reserve Fund to the general fund. While the Legislature determined that there was $900,000 in excess of the requirements of this fund and authorized the deposit of that amount to the general fund, this action would cripple the Department of Agriculture's ability to provide loans to farmers in the event of natural disasters, such as the recent floods experienced on all islands.

3. The $3,000,000 transfer from the Special Land and Development Fund to the general fund. While the Legislature determined that there was $3 million in excess of the requirements of this fund and authorized the deposit of that amount to the general fund, taking this action would severely impact our ability to manage our parks, recreational, and conservation areas.

4. The $12,500,000 transfer from the State Highway Fund to the general fund. This fund provides moneys critical to the repair and maintenance of our state highways. The recent flooding that has caused serious disrepair to our roadways is ample evidence of the need for these moneys. Additionally, money in this fund can be utilized to match federal highway dollars in a 20 percent to 80 percent ratio. Thus, taking $12.5 million in highway fund is equivalent to the State losing $50 million.

Section 5 of Article VII of the State Constitution provides that '[n]o public money shall be expended except pursuant to appropriations made by law.' The removal of money from the special and revolving funds constitute expenditures of that money from those special and revolving funds and must be authorized by 'appropriations made by law.' While this bill uses the term 'transfer' to authorize the removal of money out of various special and revolving funds, these authorizations to remove money by 'transfers' are 'appropriations made by law' within the requirement of Section 5 of Article VII of the State Constitution. Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution provides that, '[e]xcept for items appropriated to be expended by the judicial and legislative branches, the governor may veto any specific item or items in any bill which appropriates money for specific purposes by striking out or reducing the same.' Because of the foregoing objections, I have taken the following actions pursuant to my line item veto authority:

1. Stricken out the $800,000 special fund appropriation out of the Animal Quarantine Special Fund on page 1, line 6 and changed it to $0.

“Mr. President, this was one of the measures that your Health Committee and your Consumer Protection Committee considered this year to help us improve access to quality healthcare. We all know that while it seems that we have a lot of dentists in our state, to find a dentist to provide care to someone who lacks insurance or might be on Medicaid has been very difficult. This bill will help us attract and recruit dentists to work specifically in this population by providing licensing by credential.

“This measure had the support of dental coalitions throughout the state, on the neighbor islands, here on Oahu, the Board of Dentistry, the Dental Association, and lots and lots of dentists and hygienists. It’s a very good piece of legislation and I urge all my colleagues to support it.

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, it seems to me that if you look at the functions of the office of what used to be called the Office of State Planning, now called the Office of Planning, that the Governor made the right decision last year when she noted that many of the functions of the Office of Planning was for closely related to that of the Department of Land and Natural Resources. I think we would be taking a step backward if we went and directed that they report to the director of DBEDT.

"For that reason, I oppose this measure. Thank you."

Senator Kokubun rose to support the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I stand in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, this is an important piece of legislation for us because, if you all recall, last Session the Governor introduced a bill that attempted to do exactly what was proposed in terms of moving the Office of Planning to DLNR and including the Land Use Commission, as a matter of fact. This Body, as well as the House, felt at that time that it was inappropriate and that we would not consider reorganization for political purposes.

"During the off session the Governor made the move administratively to enact what she could not attain legislatively. So I think what this bill does is really just specifically state that any type of move in this manner to negate legislative attempt must be done through a change in statute as opposed to administrative prerogative. So that is the purpose of this.

"I ask all my colleagues to support this measure. Thank you."

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, I'd like to thank you personally as well as members of the Conference Committee for enabling us to depart from normal procedure, waiving Rule 1(a), and consider language that would ensure that the Governor releases the funds for the helicopter air ambulance for the County of Maui.

"With your assistance, those of the Conference Committee Chairs, as well as our House Conferees, we've come up with language that restates that the State of Hawaii is not liable should the state or the Department of Health fail to establish these services, or in the event that the state would not be able to continue these services. It met the attorney general's objections. It's met the Governor's objections and she assured us that these funds would be released.

"So on behalf of my constituents, the constituents of the Senator from Central Maui as well as the Senator from East Maui, Kahoolawe, Molokai, and Lanai, thank you very much. I urge all my colleagues to vote in favor of this measure.

"Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of S.B. No. 3156.

"Mr. President, this is a good example of what good Legislators working with the executive branch can do when we cooperate with each other. As you know, this bill was problematic last year and the subject of long arguments and controversy. This year we seem to be doing what is prudent and correct and this will allow the good people of Maui to get the air ambulance service they need and yet protect the State of Hawaii from needless lawsuits.

"So it's a win for everybody and it shows that when we do work with the executive branch of government, good things can happen.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"This is a bad bill. It's a bad bill because it affects the rights of businesses large and small but particularly small. And what it does is create an unlawful and discriminatory practice for an employer that wants to manage its own sick leave policies. It gives additional rights to employees that do not exist right now and also causes of action. It will be an extremely costly measure. And I predict that if the bill is enacted into law what it will do is result in less businesses providing sick leave, which is not a mandatory benefit to employees.

"So it's a bad bill all around – employers lose and employees would lose as well. Thank you."

Senators Tsutsui, Baker, Kim, English, Fukunaga and Hooser requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

ADOPTION OF RESOLUTIONS

MATTERS DEFERRED FROM THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 2004

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3516 (H.C.R. No. 60):

Senator Kawamoto moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3516 and H.C.R. No. 60 be adopted, seconded by Senator Hogue.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3516, H.C.R. No. 60.

"This resolution states that we encourage the congressional delegation to support the development, relief, and education for alien minors under what is called the dream act. Well, it may be a dream for some people but it would be a nightmare for others. Because what we're talking about are undocumented illegal – specifically illegal – immigrants and aliens who would be given preference and would be given subsidies to attend higher education.

"We were debating all this Session about how to take care of our own people, about how to take care of Native Hawaiians and what we seem to do is we continue to bend over backwards for illegal undocumented aliens. And I want to stress that because no one, I think, has a problem with legal resident aliens, but we are talking about illegal.

"So I'm going to vote 'no' and I urge my colleagues to vote 'no.' Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the joint report of the Committees was adopted and H.C.R. No. 60, entitled: "HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION ENCOURAGING THE HAWAII'S CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION TO SUPPORT THE DEVELOPMENT, RELIEF, AND EDUCATION FOR ALIEN MINORS ('DREAM') ACT," was adopted with Senator Slom voting "No."

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3517 (H.C.R. No. 117):

On motion by Senator Kawamoto, seconded by Senator Hogue and carried, the joint report of the Committees was adopted and H.C.R. No. 117, entitled: "HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING CONGRESS TO SUPPORT FULL FUNDING FOR THE CARL D. PERKINS VOCATIONAL AND TECHNICAL EDUCATION ACT," was adopted.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3518 (H.C.R. No. 161):

On motion by Senator Kawamoto, seconded by Senator Hogue and carried, the joint report of the Committees was adopted and H.C.R. No. 161, entitled: "HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE GOVERNOR TO DECLARE HALEIWA TOWN AS THE SURFING CAPITAL OF THE WORLD," was adopted.

Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3519 (H.C.R. No. 199):

Senator Kawamoto moved that Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3519 and H.C.R. No. 199 be adopted, seconded by Senator Hogue.

Senator Hogue rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against H.C.R. No. 199.

"Colleagues, I hope you'll listen to the title of this resolution – requesting the Department of Hawaii Home Lands, the Department of Transportation, Department of Land and Natural Resources, and the Office of Hawaiian Affairs to cease issuing any easements to the City and County of Honolulu for access to Haiku Valley and to the Haiku Stairs.

"Colleagues, this area used to be in my district. It is now just on the other side of the boundary lines of my district and I've been asked by so many people that are avid outdoors people and hikers who want to get to the Haiku Stairs. They love Haiku Stairs. They want to get up there.

"The city has been working feverishly to try to open up Haiku Stairs. They've been working with the Department of Hawaiian Home Lands. They've been working with DLNR. They've been working with the Office of Hawaiian Affairs. They've been working with the Department of Transportation to make this happen. I know that I had one meeting right here at the Capitol in which I brought all the sides together to try to work out the problems.

"This particular resolution is being pushed forward for the proponents of the people who really want to close Haiku Stairs and they want to close the access. It doesn't say that in the resolution, but that is what is behind it. There are a number of residents who live right on the edge of the territory and they don't want their property trampled on, and I understand that. So the City and County of Honolulu has worked very hard by putting up security guards to protect those people, but they've been very vocal. So they got a Representative over on the other side in the House to advance this particular resolution.

"Now, your Senator from this area now, who represents this area now, offered up a very evenhanded, fair-minded resolution, but the Representative on the other side didn't want to hear it because it conflicted with his resolution. So this one advanced, and what it is saying is to stop everything when all these departments right now are currently working with the City and County of Honolulu so that they can open up Haiku Stairs.

"Haiku Stairs belongs to all of us. We should work together to open it up because it's a beautiful, beautiful area. This is an access issue and this resolution works against open access. That's what it does. It's an agenda for just a very, very few people.

"So I'm asking you to please vote it down. Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against Stand. Com. Rep. No. 3519, H.C.R. No. 199.

"Mr. President and colleagues, I think it's very important to also follow up on the good Senator from Kaneohe's comments by letting him know that this resolution even affected the state's position on access to Haiku Stairs by having a tremendous adverse affect on the very people that it claimed that this was going to protect. Because the problem right now is that people don't have access to the Haiku Stairs so they're parking in the neighborhood and sneaking in through these people's yards.

"There is a plan underway. The good Senator from Kahlulu is participating, helping the Kaneohe neighborhood board implement it to have the state make access through Windward Community College, which would be proven beneficial and maybe even economically beneficial to Windward Community College, and it will allow people of Hawaii to enjoy this beautiful valley and the absolute splendor of those stairs.

"So in a curious way, passing this resolution is almost ironically going to eventually hurt the very people that claim it's going to help. It just doesn't make sense and I urge the Senate to vote this resolution down and support your colleague from the Windward side who has a more reasonable solution to this problem.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senators Ihara requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was then put by the Chair.

The Chair then announced:

"The Chair could not distinguish between the 'ayes' and 'noes.'"

Senator Hogue rose and said:

"Roll Call vote."

The President stated:

"A Roll Call vote? We'll have a show of hands."

Senator Hemmings rose and said:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"I'd like to plead with the President of the Senate to acquiesce the Roll Call request of H.C.R. No. 199. It seems apparent that in this short discussion that we've had in an open and honest manner, there are a number of Senators who see the wisdom in not passing this resolution. By having a Roll Call vote, it will give us all an opportunity to ruminate on it further in making the appropriate decision and go on record. That would be the prudent thing to do and I ask you to allow it to happen."

At 7:18 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 7:21 o'clock p.m.

The President then announced:

"Members, Stand. Com. Rep. Nos. 3516 to 3518 have been adopted and we will be taking a Roll Call vote on 3519."

Senators Baker, Ige and Ihara requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, the joint report of the majority of the Committees was adopted and H.C.R. No. 199, entitled: "HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE DEPARTMENT OF HAWAIIAN HOME LANDS, THE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION, THE DEPARTMENT OF LAND AND NATURAL RESOURCES, AND THE OFFICE OF HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS TO CEASE ISSUING ANY EASEMENTS TO THE CITY AND COUNTY OF HONOLULU FOR ACCESS TO HAIKU VALLEY AND TO 'HAIKU STAIRS,'" was adopted on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 19. Noes, 6 (Hemmings, Hogue, Hooser, Slom, Trimble, Whalen).

RECONSIDERATION OF ACTION TAKEN

S.B. No. 2990 (H.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on April 15, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2990, seconded by Senator Kokubun and carried.

Senator Taniguchi moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2990, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Taniguchi noted:

"Mr. President, there is only a very minor difference in the spelling of one of the words, so we will go with the House version."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No.

2990, and S.B. No. 2990, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE INTEGRATED TAX INFORMATION MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS ACQUISITION BY THE DEPARTMENT OF TAXATION," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Monday, May 3, 2004.

MOTION TO OVERRIDE VETO

H.B. No. 1797:

In accordance with Article III, Section 17, of the Hawaii State Constitution, Senator Baker moved that the Senate override the veto of H.B. No. 1797, as contained in Gov. Msg. No. 496, seconded by Senator Menor.

Senator Baker rose in support of the veto override and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of a veto override of the Governor's veto of H.B. No. 1797.

"Mr. President, I believe that H.B. No. 1797 will raise the level of optometric care being delivered by Hawaii optometrists to the standards endorsed in the vast majority of other states. After careful review, I believe that there will be substantiation of the fact that modern optometrists have the appropriate education to safely prescribe their own medications for use in the diagnosis, management and treatment of the eye and diseases including glaucoma. In my opinion, this measure will actually improve the quality of and enhance the access to appropriate healthcare delivery for all of our citizens, and that has been the goal of your Health Committee this year.

"In reviewing the testimony and looking at the facts that were presented before us, I came across the testimony of Dr. Marvin Baum who had done quite a bit of extensive research noting that Hawaii is one of only three states where optometrists are not allowed to treat glaucoma. In addition, there are only nine states where optometrists cannot use oral medications to treat eye disease. This means that optometrists in our state practice with some of the most limited prescriptive authority in the nation. In fact, Hawaii is tied with two other states for next to last.

"Our proposal in H.B. No. 1797 is not new. It's not groundbreaking. Many of these states have had optometrists treating glaucoma and using oral medications to treat eye disease for a long, long time. Some of them as early as 1976.

"When this bill becomes law, it will take optometry in Hawaii from being tied to next to last to putting optometrist's practice in the middle of the pack. We're not going to be cutting edge at all. I would like to have inserted into the Journal for future reference all of the charts and statistics that show exactly where Hawaii ranks, what states have been doing this for many, many years, and really providing all of the background so that future persons who read the Journal can see the basis for which our decision was made.

"I'd like to also add that from some of the other testimony, we had testimony from a Dr. Les Walls, president of Southern California College of Optometry. Dr. Walls holds degrees in optometry as well as medicine having practiced as a family practice medical doctor for many years, serving as an instructor in family practice at a residency program before returning to becoming an optometric educator. He pointed out that medical school traditionally prepares the student in general medical and surgical background for postgraduate training programs. Detailed anatomy and physiology of organs such as the eye is not emphasized during medical school. In addition, during surgical rotation in medical school, it is uncommon to be exposed to ocular surgery. Because heart disease, cancer and stroke are the biggest killers in the U.S. population, medical school training is heavily devoted to general internal medicine, general surgery, obstetrics/gynecology, and pediatrics. There are usually fourth year electives in four to twelve week blocks where a student may increase his or her exposure to such specialty medicine in surgical areas such as ophthalmology; ear, nose, and throat; neurology; pulmonary medicine; cardiology and the like.

"It's Dr. Walls' experience that a small minority of students choose ophthalmology as a clinical rotation. On the other hand, optometry school is mostly devoted to ocular training. The prerequisites for optometry school meet or exceed the requirements for medical school admission, and the optometry admission test parallels that of medical college admission tests. With all the prerequisites and the primary care doctoral program in optometry school, the graduate optometrist is trained to make professional judgements and is quick to consult with other healthcare providers when a patient requires needed services outside their scope of practice.

"He further notes that optometrists now routinely work with medical specialists and sub-specialists in the interest of highest quality patient care. Like many of our doctors who work in primary care, that is the focus of the optometrist profession. They focus on primary eye care. This includes diagnosis, treatment, and management of refractive disorders and diseases to the eye as well as the vision system. Ophthalmology by comparison is a specialty that is surgery oriented and frequently deals with the diagnosis, management, and treatment of complex medical conditions, the kinds of things that the optometrists are not asking to do.

"An optometrist's education typically includes over 100 hours of instruction in general and ocular pharmacology, over 500 of didactic classroom instruction, and includes the diagnosis and treatment of eye disease, but also the effects of systemic conditions on the eye. This is followed by over 1,000 hours in the clinic performing hands-on patient care. Before any doctor of optometry can prescribe therapeutic medications, he or she must also pass a national examination administered by the NBEO called treatment and management of ocular disease. This test assures the state board of examiners make certain certified optometrists possess a high level of competency in this area. The safe use of these therapeutic medications is well established.

"I would also note that our optometrists already have to pass all of the content as well as practical considerations that their peers in other states that have these pharmacological and prescribing protocols have right now. They're already being trained, but because our laws are so restrictive, they're not able to practice in the areas that they're trained to practice in.

"I know that there is controversy over this particular provision and that's why the Governor vetoed it. But I think if you look at the preponderance of the evidence and not be swayed by one particular profession or another, you will come to the same conclusion that the Health Committee and the Consumer Protection and Housing Committee did that optometrists have the advanced area of expertise to provide vital care for the eye. They have adequate education and training. They have the continuing education, training and credentialing that will enable them to use this prescription authority in a manner that is going to be safe, it will help patients, and it will extend the reach of those needing important eye care.

"For these reasons and others, I urge my colleagues to vote up on this measure."

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Baker's statistical charts are identified as ATTACHMENT "A" to the Journal of this Day.

Senator Hemmings rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against the motion to override the veto of H.B. No. 1797, thus in favor of sustaining the Governor's veto.

"Mr. President and colleagues, no doubt the optometrists have particular expertise in dealing with a very (excuse the play on words) focused area of medicine concerning eye and eye disorders, most especially problems addressing focus, diseases related to glaucoma. And if this bill was as focused as their ability, it would make a lot of sense and I think you'd see tremendous support, including support from the ophthalmologists of Hawaii, the doctors.

"The good Senator from Maui outlines very salient points and some of them speak well as to why opticians should have prescription rights. But other things uttered need to be illuminated. It should be, first and foremost, said that there was mention that the optometrists get 100 hours of training in some particular area. Well, I can tell you that doctors get 100 hours of training in just one week of internship, which they do for three to five years. They get trained in the broad array of medical practices because they're dealing with the entire body, not just the eyes. This bill is wide open on the drugs that can be prescribed by optometrists whose training is very focused.

"According to the Hawaii Ophthalmologist Society regarding the number of states that allow optometrists to prescribe, there are 33 states that do not allow optometrists to prescribe oral steroids, 31 states that prohibit optometrists from prescribing oral anti-fungal medication, 18 states that prohibit optometrists from prescribing oral antibiotics, 21 states that prohibit optometrists from prescribing oral anti-virals, and 22 states that prohibit optometrists from prescribing non-steroidal anti-inflammatory medications. The point is – yes, 47 states do allow optometrists to prescribe, but it's very, very limited and it's very limited to their area of expertise. This bill is not.

"The prudent thing to do is to do what other states have done, and that is to have very, very focused prescriptive rights for qualified optometrists. They are capable people that can do a job, and I think this bill in fact reaches way beyond their means and their capabilities as far as prescribing a broad array of drugs.

"I would like to say that this bill may be similar to the air ambulance bill. We'll be back next year to fix the mistake. But why do that? Why not recommit this bill, go back to Conference on it, focus it, work with the ophthalmologists and see if we can't come up with a bill that is going to address the needs of the optometrists without putting the general public at risk for poorly prescribed medicines that the optometrists really should not be dealing with.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Kim rose in favor of the override and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the veto override of H.B. No. 1797.

"Mr. President, according to the Governor's veto message, this bill is objectionable because it relapses the current restriction of optometrists and raises health and safety concerns. She maintains that the training that optometrists receive is less than the instruction physicians are required to receive in order to gain the authority to prescribe medication in the State of Hawaii. Quite the contrary though, Mr. President, this bill is an endorsement of the thorough education and training of contemporary optometrists. The amplification of the scope of practice reflects this training and is evidenced as we have heard by 47 other states in which similar legislation has proven to be in the best interest of the public.

"The education and training in general for optometrists and ocular pharmacology is no less rigorous than that of medical doctors and parallel dentistry almost exactly. At the end of four years, Mr. President, the general dentists are also able to prescribe independently.

"Mr. President, the Governor also states that this bill removes the restrictions on how optometrists use medications for the treatment of eye disease. The removal of restrictions has occurred in states in most recent years, and significantly in those states in which restrictions have been lifted, there has been no subsequent repeal action due to inappropriate treatment or mismanagement on the part of optometrists. Optometrists are held to the same standard of care as primary care physicians. Optometrists will continue to liberally seek consultation and refer complicated ocular infections, prolonged eye inflammations, and surgical cases to ophthalmologists.

"The Governor goes on to say, Mr. President, that time is of the essence in treating eye infections, and if treated inappropriately or belatedly, the results could be severe. And I agree. Because, Mr. President, time is of the essence in treating eye disease. Therefore, this bill allows the well-educated, trained optometrists who are widely distributed to save precious time through the early diagnosis of prescribing appropriate treatment.

"This bill is in the best interest of the people of Hawaii. It is in line with the standard of care of the majority of states that has been time-tested and safely utilized for nearly 30 years. In some states, namely in New Mexico and North Carolina, malpractice insurance rates have not significantly increased in states with similar laws. As stipulated in the bill, only those medications indicated for use in treating ocular conditions will be allowed.

"Mr. President, I urge all of my colleagues to vote 'aye' on the bill. Thank you."

Senator Hogue rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, I urge all of my colleagues to vote 'no' on this particular motion.

"Colleagues, optometrists are very . . ."

The President interjected:

"For what purpose do you rise?"

Senator Hogue replied:

"I rise in opposition.

I want to say that optometrists are very, very good people and very, very professional. Ophthalmologists are very professional people and very, very good people. But these are the people that should be deciding this particular issue. I know that they've been fighting like crazy on it for many, many years. Maybe by us recommitting it, it will send a very strong message, especially to the ophthalmologic community to finally see the light and come up with a bill that protects everyone. That's really the prudent thing to do.

"If you've taken a look at the measures across the states, you can see that there are many, many different ideas about prescriptive authority, some have given expansive authority, others have given very restrictive authority. But this should be worked out between members of this particular community – the optometrists and the ophthalmologists. Let's send them a strong message that they need to get together and work it out amongst themselves and let's not override the veto.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Trimble rose in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"When this bill came before us I voted for it because I do favor prescriptive authority. But that is not really what we are deciding on today. What we're deciding on today is complete prescriptive authority. We have people over here that say that the other states are limited. We have people that say if you approve it, Hawaii will not be at the forefront . . . confusing information from seemingly intelligent people who read the same information. If we can't agree on terms of what the other states have done then maybe we haven't spent enough time trying to understand the information. Maybe it is appropriate that the Legislative Reference Bureau do a review for us in terms of what the other states do, and it would be prudent that they do it before we override the Governor's veto.

"So let's do the sensible thing – let's take another look at it. Let's give optometrists prescriptive authority but let's do it within reason.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the motion and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the override.

"Just a brief remark. I believe professionals are professionals. I believe we should license or certify people based on their professionalism, their ability to be responsible. Because a doctor is a doctor, it doesn't mean he does every single procedure and uses every single medicine under God's blue sky on this green earth.

"I think there are professionals that sell pharmaceutical products. They would be very concerned if their products were misused. There are study groups that work with what makes sense to which community. They self police each other because no profession would want their colleagues abusing their profession. I believe in professionalism and let's move ahead and support professionals."

Senator Slom rose in opposition and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the override of the Governor's veto.

"I come from a family where I grew up with an optometrist. I'm very familiar with the arguments which I've heard for 40 years. I know that in fact there are differences between and among states and, in addition, powers that we have.

"We've had a very good discussion, I think, this evening but this is not about optometrists and ophthalmologists. This is about overriding the Governor's veto. In the eight years that I've been here we discussed this or a similar bill each year and there was no consensus. I don't think that there was any new information that was added this year. What was added was that we have a different Governor and it became more of a political issue.

"Let me say that we just passed a bill about 45 minutes ago that gave more prescriptive powers to nurses. The psychiatrists and the psychologists continue to argue and to deliberate with us. The MDs and the chiropractors continue to disagree. We have these discussions year after year. As the good Senator from downtown Waikiki said, basically we have contradictory information. And all of a sudden it seems that this year there was more of an idea to rush to judgement in terms of this particular bill.

"I've got friends today who are optometrists. I've got friends that are ophthalmologists. I use the professional services of optometrists and ophthalmologists. I'm not worried about the abilities and the education of optometrists. I don't believe in scare tactics for any group. But I do believe that when we're looking at information and we just throw out figures that x-number of states do this and do that, if we're not truly careful in our research and we assume and we want others to assume that all of those states have the same kinds of powers and allow that, then we're not doing our job.

"The good Senator from Moanalua was talking about licensing, but of course we're not talking about licensing here. If I had my druthers, the libertarian view would be that the Legislature has no business whatsoever in any of these discussions. And if that were the case, I think we'd all be better off – let the professions settle it. But unfortunately, the Legislature is embroiled in this and almost every other aspect of every business and individual's life. And so therefore we're called upon to take a position and take a stand. And my position at this time based on this information and the, as I said, contradictory information is that there were other ways that we could do this and other ways that we could ensure if in fact the public safety is what is of concern, that we do a deliberate process.

"The good Senator from Kaneohe mentioned that there should be dialogue between the ophthalmologists and the optometrists. Well, there has not been, and one of the concerns from the optometrists has been that the ophthalmologists seemed renescent to have this discussion. We have the power to legislate it to make sure that in fact that happens. We have the power to have accountability and to narrow and define all of the terms so that we in fact all have an understanding what kind of treatment, what kind of medicines, what kind of procedures we're involved with. We have not done that and therefore tonight I'm forced to stand in opposition to the override.

"Thank you."

Senator Baker rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the override in a brief rebuttal.

"The Chair of Commerce, Consumer Protection and Housing gave a charge to optometrists before he was willing to move the bill out. He said, 'You must prove to me with the objective evidence that in fact what you're saying is correct – that it is 47 other states that have the privileges that you're asking for.' And they came back with table after table showing state after state beginning in 1976 where these authorities and prescriptive powers had been granted. The one that stands at the bottom of the list, along with two others, is the State of Hawaii.

“There is not ambiguity about whether these states have provided their optometrists with this authority. It’s quite clear. There’s table after table that indicate the states that allow their optometrists to use medications to treat allergies, medications to treat infections, medications to treat glaucoma, medications to treat inflammation, oral medications to treat pain.

“The optometrists are trained. It’s not the old-school optometrists and I think that’s what some of our older ophthalmologists are counting on. The training for optometrists has been upgraded; it’s been expanded; they have additional hours of pharmacology; they can actually treat on the same basis, under this legislation, as what dentists do now. The oral surgeons haven’t been screaming about the dentists and their practice.

“I think, unfortunately, it is a fear of part of some of the ophthalmologists that perhaps they are going to lose market share. I don’t think that ought to be our concern. Our concern needs to be are we going to give people access to appropriate healthcare. Are we going to allow our doctors in this State, the doctors of optometry, they’re not opticians, the doctors of optometry to use the skills and the training that they are given.

“I think, Mr. President, after a thorough review of all of the testimony, all the information received, it was clear to us that indeed we should make use of the training, the talent, the education, and the dedication that optometrists in our state have and we should override the Governor’s veto. I request a Roll Call vote.”

Senator Aduja rose in support with reservations and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support with strong reservations.

“Mr. President, I agree that optometrists are skilled practitioners and that they play a vital role in our healthcare delivery room. I do believe that their scope of practice should be expanded, as it has in many other states. However, in this case, this bill appears to be overly broad as it provides the optometrists with the authority to prescribe pharmaceutical agents without restrictions which is far beyond that which is allowed in our sister states.

“I have reviewed the written testimonies and e-mail correspondence of doctors, educators, ophthalmologists, optometrists, and members of the Hawaii Medical Association and the dean of the John A. Burns School of Medicine, Edwin Cadman.

“Mr. President and colleagues, please note the vital differences between the education, supervision, and formal training of a medical doctor and ophthalmologist as compared to the education and training of an optometrist. An optometrist is not a doctor of medicine. To practice optometry, one must earn a doctor of optometry, called an OD degree, by completing a four-year educational program in an accredited school of optometry. After completing this four-year degree and passing written and clinical examinations, an optometrist can obtain a license to practice. On the other hand, a medical doctor must complete four years of education of which includes two years of pharmacology training and study. In addition to this extensive educational requirement, a medical doctor is further required to complete a residency internship for another year under the direct supervision and responsibility of an experienced physician. During this residency internship, medical doctors are not authorized to write prescriptions independently. They remain supervised throughout their residency. Any prescriptions that they do write must be co-signed by an experienced physician. Under this extensive medical training program, a medical doctor will not write prescriptions for the treatment of glaucoma until his or her sixth year following undergraduate school.

“On a practical level, however, the general practitioner more likely than not will refer the patient to an ophthalmologist. Why would doctors of medicine refer a patient to an ophthalmologist when clearly they are capable to write a prescription to treat glaucoma on their own? An ophthalmologist is a medical doctor with four years of medical school, a year of supervised residency, and is required to complete an additional three years of education specializing in the study of the eyes. This additional three years of study is conducted in a clinical setting. Thus the ophthalmologist is in the hospital seeing patients from the first day of his or her training obtaining hands-on experience in diagnosis and treatment of eye disorders and diseases under the supervision of a senior ophthalmologist. An optometrist, on the other hand, does not have this type of hands-on clinical training.

“Mr. President, under these circumstances, I believe that it may be in the best interest of the state that prescriptions for the treatment of glaucoma for an infant or a five or ten year old child should be by an ophthalmologist with nine years of specialized training.

“H.B. No. 1797 permits optometrists to prescribe oral medications for all disorders of the visual system, the eye and the eyelids. Many serious disorders that do not arise in the eyes, such as diabetes, hypertension, lupus erythematosus, rheumatoid arthritis, an inflammatory disease, may cause disorders of the eye visual system. Therefore, optometrists would be able to prescribe virtually any type of medication or disorders that may also affect the heart, kidney, central nervous system, joints and many other internal organs.

“Here are two very serious examples of the inherent risk involved in H.B. No. 1797. Shortly after the Legislature removed the mandatory referral to ophthalmologists for treating infants two years and younger, a Hawaii optometrist had misdiagnosed a serious eye condition in a Hawaii infant. The optometrist informed the parents that the infant’s crossed eyes were not a serious condition and would correct itself over time. Six months later, without signs of purported improvement, the infant was seen by an ophthalmologist and was diagnosed with life-threatening tumors in both eyes. The Hawaii ophthalmologist referred the infant to a hospital in California for treatment. The end result, however, was devastating. Both eyes and tumors had to be removed. Had medical attention been further delayed, the tumors would have taken the infant’s life.

“To illustrate the difficulty in proper diagnosis and treatment of glaucoma, let me describe a recent case where a Hawaii ophthalmologist treated three patients for glaucoma by prescribing a sulfo derivative drug called neptazane. A rare condition called Stevens Johnson Syndrome resulted in each case. The result was death for one of the patients and permanent blindness in both eyes for the other two patients. Therefore, even highly skilled ophthalmologists can err in the treatment of glaucoma. These types of reactions to certain drug treatments for glaucoma are not found in textbooks but are generally learned through clinical training.

“Further, with regard to malpractice and malpractice insurance, the average cost for malpractice insurance for an optometrist is $225 per year. Whereas the average cost for coverage for an ophthalmologist runs from $6,000 to $8,000 per year, which would cover $1 million to $3 million dollars of malpractice insurance benefits.

“The majority of states limit that which optometrists can prescribe. The majority of states have instituted safeguards and referral requirements into their statutes that govern optometrists. Thirteen states require non-optometrists to treat glaucoma. I believe the rest of the statistics have already been disclosed to this Body.

“Mr. President, the medical community here in Hawaii is more than willing to assist and establish proper and safe guidelines for practicing optometrists. If given the opportunity, we’d work collaboratively with local optometrists to provide treatment guidance and support. Without the proper safeguards and restrictions in place, devastating results may occur such as those that I have described earlier.

“I thank you, Mr. President, for allowing me to place my reservations on this motion. Thank you.”

Senator Hemmings rose to respond as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in response.

“Mr. President, though the previous well crafted, well researched, most articulate speech was with reservations, I think it probably was the most compelling argument against overriding the veto. And I hope that my colleagues listened intently to it.

“What it did that I failed to do was it personalized it. It showed specifically how well-meaning optometrists with good training, who do not have the training of ophthalmologists, can make mistakes that can be absolutely devastating to individuals – a child who is permanently blind.

“It also points out some of the economics that reflect what really happens in the marketplace of medicine. There’s a good reason why optometry malpractice insurance costs so little. It’s because their scope of practice, especially administering medication, is very limited. Ophthalmologists, on the other hand, have medical malpractice insurance costs 30, 40, 50 times more expensive than the optometrists.

“What we are doing today is allowing optometrists to rise to the level of ophthalmologists in prescriptive rights, while in doing so, as the previous speaker so well articulated, we’re ultimately putting at risk the very people we say we’re trying to help.

“In closing, Mr. President, colleagues, I’d like to have the previous remarks added to the Journal as my own in speaking against this shortsighted legislation.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

The Chair so ordered.

At 8:01 o’clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 8:02 o’clock p.m.

Senator Aduja requested her vote be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, the veto of H.B. No. 1797, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO OPTOMETRY,” was overridden by not less than two-thirds vote of all members to which the Senate is entitled, on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Whalen).

H.B. No. 2003, H.D. 1, S.D. 1:

In accordance with Article III, Section 17, of the Hawaii State Constitution, Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate override the veto of H.B. No. 2003, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, as contained in Gov. Msg. No. 520, seconded by Senator Aduja.

Senator Hanabusa rose in support of the override and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the motion.

“Mr. President, this is the bill that is the result of the work of the Joint House/Senate Task Force on Ice and Drug Abatement. Mr. President, I’ve had the honor, under your administration, to serve on two very successful joint task forces – the Felix Investigative Committee, as well as this one.

“This Joint Task Force work and the resulting bills is a result of over 80 hours of collecting information and listening to over 400 people. There was about four feet of documents that have been reviewed in the process. Not only that, Mr. President, members not only of the Task Force but members of this Body spent many hours in meetings with community organizations, sign waving, everything because it expressed one thing – the fact that the people of this state wanted something to be done about ice.

“Mr. President, as you recall, when we started to first discuss this Task Force the idea was how should we approach it. And what was very loud and clear was that ice was on the foremost priority list of everyone, and that is why this Task Force concentrated on ice. It is the result of the cry from the members of our community that this Legislature chose to act this year, and the result, of course, was H.B. No. 2003 and 2004. Luckily, H.B. No. 2004 was not necessarily vetoed. It wasn’t signed, but it is law.

“It is a great disappointment for me to learn that H.B. No. 2003 was vetoed. But Mr. President, it’s even a greater disappointment to learn as to the reasons why it was vetoed. I understand that it was actually not the Governor who delivered the rationale for the veto message to the press, but in fact the Lt. Governor. Mr. President, the Lt. Governor has come to testify before our Committee, and his basic objection to the bill was that he was not named the drug coordinator. That was what he came time and time again to ask – is that we would reconsider and make him the drug coordinator.

“I believe that the Lt. Governor himself realized that this was a critical issue, so critical that he, after his summit, decided he needed to study it another year. We, of course, disagree. We felt that the people have waited long enough and it was time for us to act. Mr. President, ice is a very bad drug.

“You know, this bill was not vetoed for all of its contents, Mr. President. In fact, the governor’s message says that there are favorable provisions which include (1) the increase in the prison sentence for those who manufacture drugs in the presence of a child; (2) the drug paraphernalia law that would make it easier for law enforcement officers to prosecute these cases; (3) it provided the Hawaii Paroling Authority with the discretion in determining whether parole should be revoked for violations involving illegal drugs. In addition, they said it restores sentencing judges the discretion to impose a jail sentence with regard to certain drug convictions. Mr. President, this was the judiciary’s concern about Act 161 where their proposal was that we not necessarily repeal it but what we do is we restore discretion so we can stop with the representation that 161 is a 'get out of jail free' card.

"This bill also addressed the need for substance abuse treatment by mandating parity and health insurance. Mr. President, you may recall that when this whole issue started, there was some hesitancy on the part of the administration as to whether drug parity would be supported like it was supported in mental health. Obviously, the merits of this position has been made known and the administration now finds that that is a good position.

"Mr. President, let's now look at why it was vetoed, and it is unfortunate because I believe that someone may not have quite looked carefully enough at this 71-page bill. The first reason given for the veto is that this bill would actually reduce the penalty for manufacturing ice and make the penalty for manufacturing small quantities of ice less than the penalties for manufacturing small quantities of other drugs, and it goes on to say it reduces mandatory sentences. Mr. President, there is a difference. First, let's understand what drove this bill – it is the fact that the Legislature, in enacting it, made a clear statement that we are committed to treatment. And this is because of the fundamental belief in people – that people can change, that some people, especially those who are first-time offenders, can be given the right environment, and as a result of that, we can rehabilitate and we can stop this cycle. That's the first thing.

"The second thing is we are committed to a penal system that differentiates as to the heinous nature of the crime. And what that means, Mr. President, is that when we look at it, we believe that there is a difference between someone who may be caught in possession of a small quantity and someone who is a repeat offender. The existing statute, which is HRS Section 712-1241 makes a broad statement. It just says if there's a class A felony, well let's look at what it is. It's an indeterminate 20 years with a mandatory of one to ten years. That's what is says.

"What the new bill says is that it is a class A felony if you are caught manufacturing an eighth of an ounce or more. Mr. President, an eighth of an ounce is three packets of splenda or equal or whatever. That's all that that is. And what brings the penalty with that? It's an indeterminate 20 years; a mandatory of five years. If there is a death or serious bodily injury, a mandatory jail term of 10 years. If you are a repeat offender, Mr. President, we've heard a lot about this concept of three strikes. A repeat offender under this bill is anyone who's been convicted once – one other time – and then you'll have life – life, Mr. President, not 20 years, life – with a mandatory minimum prison term of 15 years, 15 years, a mandatory, something that we have not ever instituted in this Body, something like a mandatory of 15 years. One strike and you're out under this new bill. And if there is any effort or any attempt to basically distribute to a minor, a minor, Mr. President, then it is a class A felony.

"We have defined, like the portion of the bill that the Governor likes, we have defined that in fact minors are who we are here to protect.

"Mr. President, yes we do have a difference if there's a manufacturer of less than an eighth of an ounce, which is, as I've said, three packets. And in that sense we give an indeterminate of 10 years, a mandatory minimum of three. If serious injury occurs as a result of this, five years. And any repeat offender in that category gets a mandatory of eight years.

"Now, let's understand this in context of the federal system that we always compare our laws to. If you have simple possession, under the federal system it's a misdemeanor, a misdemeanor, Mr. President, and you will spend no more than a year in prison. Under our system, it's actually a class B felony. Compare that to what we have here, a class B felony with a mandatory of three years. This shows, actually, the strong penal nature of this bill, and it did not come easily, Mr. President, because people did not want to have that type of a penal system within crystal meth, because you have heard the debates that we've had. We've all heard about treatment. We have been criticized in the papers, Mr. President, by those who advocated Act 161 because we no longer make it mandatory that anyone who is charged for the first time or is convicted for the first time goes into treatment, because we have left that discretion to the courts and they have said that as a result of that, we have gone back on treatment.

"Mr. President, what we have done is actually strike a balance – strike a balance with the treatment, with the communities that we have heard from want, and also, to protect the community in the issues of those who continue to offend or those who do trafficking, which is the new category which is manufacturing of this drug. We are making a distinction because we believe in the fact that people can change and that there is a difference between someone who manufactures, someone who preys on kids, and someone who may simply be a user, and that's the distinction because we believe in people and that is fundamental in this bill.

"The second thing that the Governor said that they are objecting to is the fact that we are undermining Hawaii v Smith. Mr. President, it is because of Hawaii v Smith that we looked at 161, and it is because of that law that we, in essence, gave the discretion. Let's not be misled by what the Supreme Court said in Hawaii v Smith. It said the court should have discretion. The judiciary came forward and said this is basically the only thing we're asking you to do – give us the discretion so we can say you can go to drug court or you can go to treatment or whichever one that we feel. And we said yes, that's what we'll do. So after that provision went into the law, the judiciary basically had no further complaints on this bill.

"Then, Mr. President, the Governor goes on to talk about counties' home rule, and she's talking about the provision in the bill where we refer to the right to have rehabilitation houses and the fact that the Department of Health will license them, and the fact that the counties shall not prohibit that. And it's like, somehow by doing that, we in the Legislature have done something unique or overridden, and the poor communities are going to suffer from that.

"Mr. President, the people who came to testify were not so much upset with our situation. They're upset with the fact that the counties permit people of five unrelated individuals to live together. That's what they're upset about. This particular bill requires the Department of Health to license it. Yes, we have up to ten people – up to ten people – but Mr. President, that's nothing new.

"In HRS 46-4, we have the provision there that says, 'neither this section nor any other law, county ordinance, or rule shall prohibit group living in facilities with eight or fewer residents and which are licensed by the state and an intermediate care facility basically to address those with mental health problems. We've done that. We've done it in HRS Section 46-15.35 for family childcare homes. Section 46-15.36 for hospice homes. We've done this because we made a policy statement as to what is important and how we are going to address this major problem.

"We have a problem and it's an ice problem. It's an ice epidemic. We cannot turn our backs to the fact that they need a structured environment. That's what works – a structured environment. And that's why the Department of Health is in the process of promulgating their rules and to address this need. That is what this county home rule issue is. It's something that we have done . . . we have done when we see the need, and it is my opinion that your Committee and the Legislature, when they voted for this bill, adopted that philosophical view of what is necessary.

"Then the last item, in terms of the veto message, is that we have done away with zero tolerance in public schools. Mr. President, again, this is a belief and whether people, by getting treatment, can change. This begins on page 48 and goes to page 51 of this bill. And let me tell you what we decided as to the schools. But before I go there, Mr. President, let us all remember that if there was any success story in the testimony we received, it's with the kids and the fact that they are the only group where education worked. And that is why in H.B. No. 2004 it is so funded, because it works. They understand that ice is a bad drug. They've reduced their consumption of it. So we know that there's hope there and that is the hope. That's the only way we're going to break this trend.

"What this bill says is yes it gives the students the opportunity to be assessed and to be determined if they do need treatment. Mr. President, I'm proud about the fact that this bill will emphasize treatment, especially treatment of the young. But it does go on to say that if the assessment is made that the individual does not need treatment for substance abuse or any kind of dependency, disciplinary action can take place immediately like it would under any other situation. That's due process that we afford anyone in the schools system because, Mr. President, they are still our future. Yes, some of them may have problems, but this is not the time to turn our backs on them by simply saying we should have total zero tolerance – zero tolerance for what purpose?

"We have to rehabilitate them. We have to give them the opportunity for treatment. If we don't do that, what are we saying about the future? What are we saying about the people? We're basically saying, 'hey, you deviate from this once, then you have no future.' That is not what this Legislature is saying.

"The bottom line, Mr. President, is philosophical . . . philosophical in the sense of what do you believe the people of this state deserve. We do have a very strong, strong sanction provision – the criminal provisions that have been amended – a criminal provision that doesn't say one shoe fits all, a criminal provision that differentiates and says you do this offense one other time and you will have the strongest mandatory prison term that we've ever instituted. We are saying that. But before we get to that point, Mr. President, we are saying we believe in the ability of people to change and that they need and they should be afforded that opportunity. And I believe the administration believes that too or they would have vetoed H.B. No. 2004, because H.B. No. 2004 clearly sets forth the major policy statement of our commitment to treatment.

"Mr. President, when we enacted these bills, we decided that the people of this state did not want to wait another year. They did not want to have this studied another year. What they wanted was for us to take action. And that is what we have done. I think one of the strongest policy statements that this Body has made is H.B. No. 2003 and its companion bill, H.B. No. 2004.

"I would like to say, for those who voted for H.B. No. 2003 the last go around, the bill hasn't changed. It's still the same bill. It has the same provisions. And, like I said, even in the Governor's veto message, they do not take offense with every single portion of it. Somehow, we cannot simply say . . . we should not say that because the majority of this Legislature believes in treatment, believes in the fact that Act 161 should remain with the right of the judiciary to determine how a person should be sentenced, that that somehow makes this a less strong bill. It is not that at all, Mr. President.

"For that reason, I ask that all of my colleagues join me in overriding the Governor's veto of H.B. No. 2003. Thank you."

Senator Hogue rose in opposition to the motion and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition.

"Mr. President, I appreciate many of the comments from the learned Judiciary Chair. First of all, the administration does believe in treatment. In fact they have appropriated millions of dollars towards treatment through the Department of Health, the Department of Public Safety, Department of the Attorney General, Department of Human Services in this urgent current budget year. So they believe in treatment.

"The reason for this veto is balance. This particular bill is slanted more towards treatment than towards law enforcement. People wanted something to be done. People in our communities wanted something to be done. Unfortunately, this bill is balanced only in one direction. There's no walk and talk provision. There's no walk and knock provision. There's no wiretapping legislation that's in agreement with federal guidelines. It fails to allow an assessment of criminals after they've been brought in, so we are told that they are back on the streets the next day. These are all areas that could have helped law enforcement that are not in this particular bill. These are reservations that many of us have brought out on this Floor in previous discussions.

"There are also five other reasons to veto this bill:

1. It may reduce the number of convictions for class A drug trafficking felonies by requiring law enforcement to prove that those caught with large amounts of drugs have the intent to distribute. That's in section three.
2. Also in section three, it makes it more favorable to manufacturers of ice over other drugs as the penalties for doing so are less than those for the manufacturing of other illegal substances that I think the Judiciary Chair commented on.
3. It fails to clarify that Act 161 is not for repeat offenders.
4. It provides unequal treatment of students under DOE's zero tolerance policy – and it should be a zero tolerance policy.
5. It does not recognize county homerule by allowing clean and sober residential relocation homes to be exempt from county ordinances.

"I want to speak to a couple of these. One, the penalty for ice manufacturer being lower than the penalty for manufacturing other drugs – this is in section three, which will make it a class B felony instead of a class A felony. One judge, I am told, said about this particular bill, 'hey, if you're going to commit a crime now, just make sure you have some ice in your pocket.' Well, that's a very, very bad message to send to anyone on the streets. We cannot have any ice. We should have zero tolerance for ice. We should help our law enforcement communities.

"Finally, I've had so many calls from neighborhood board member who are just appalled at section 22, which takes away homerule. They want the permitting process to be gone through so they can look whether or not these clean and sober houses are appropriate for their neighborhoods. I fought against this particular provision in Committee. I continue to fight against this provision in this current bill.

"Finally, this bill in its present form actually makes it harder to fight the terrible problem of ice. In testimony, the city and county prosecutor agreed with that. The attorney general agreed with that. And for different reasons, even the public defender agreed with that. More importantly, communities are asking to get ice dealers and distributors off the streets. I'm not sure that this particular bill does that. We want safe streets. Unfortunately, with provisions of this particular bill, they may be out there even quicker if they refuse treatment.

"As the good Judiciary Chair has said, on behalf of the people, the people out there that we want to make safe, the people who aren't doing ice, the people who want to make certain that law enforcement has the tools that are necessary, I urge you to support the Governor's veto of H.B. No. 2003 and vote 'no' against this motion to override.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Aduja rose in support of the motion as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the motion to override the Governor's veto.

"Mr. President, we are on the eve of a new era in Hawaii. Tonight we have the choice to take bold new steps in arresting and perhaps reversing the disease of methamphetamine and drug use that has infiltrated the lives and livelihoods of the people of our state, or we can sit back, as we have year after year, and allow this disease to continue its frightening growth. We are, unfortunately, not in an early phase of development in the expansion of this social disease. We have let decades go by and it has spread widely and deeply into our society and into our lives.

"I'm proud of the people of my district and those throughout the state who have taken a bold and powerful step against ice and drug use in our communities. Many of them have risked their personal safety and have expended many hours of sweat and tears to take this courageous stand. We, as a Legislative Body, must rise to the occasion and take our stand as well.

"Since we announced our attention as a Legislative Body to comprehensively address ice and drugs the people of Hawaii have worked with us for the last year to prescribe treatment for the malaise of our state in the form of H.B. Nos. 2003 and 2004. Simply stated, Mr. President, we must override the Governor's veto of H.B. No. 2003.

"Mr. President, as I have mentioned in previous Floor speeches on H.B. Nos. 2003 and 2004, ice does not discriminate. It preys on every sector of our society. Its reach and its impact on our society is beyond words, and I believe we understand profoundly, each of us sitting here tonight, that it is our legal and moral responsibility as elected officials of our communities to put words into action, to stop the spread of illegal drugs and to offer new opportunities to the victims of substance abuse to rebuild their families and their lives.

"Regarding H.B. No. 2003, the Governor raises the concern of lowering penal sentences with the provision of treatment. Under this provision, we built an incentive for users to break the cycle of addiction. We need to ask ourselves which method works more effectively to improve society – hard and long prison time or treatment in combination with prison time for ice and drug users. Do we want to offer offenders the opportunity to free themselves of ice addiction or not? This is the philosophical difference between the Legislature and the Governor. It is not, Mr. President, a weakness of this bill.

"The Governor also raises concerns regarding the ability to set up drug rehabilitation programs in our communities. I believe that her use of the term drug rehabilitation in regard to this program is incorrect. Usually before the offender moves into a group home they have already gone through a drug rehabilitation program or programs elsewhere, oftentimes under a doctor's care. What we're talking about here in this bill is the next step, which is to live in a home with the support and guidance of other recovering individuals. Most people living in these programs are recovering addicts and have already gone through drug rehabilitation, thus it would be discriminatory to deny them the opportunity to live in any community, single-family residence or not.

"Regarding H.B. No. 2004, the Governor raises concern that there are inadequate parts to enact this bill. My question in response to this concern is how much more money will it cost the state in terms of vandalism, murder and the taxpayer's dollars to prosecute and incarcerate the offenders of likes instead of spending the money now to control it?

"I urge all of my colleagues to override the Governor's veto and to allow us to begin taking the necessary steps that our state desperately needs to curb ice and drug use and its horrible impact on our collective well being of the state.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the motion and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to overturning the Governor's veto.

"Well, there were many interesting things again on this bill that have been said this evening and over the last couple of weeks and months, but let's just review a couple of the things that were said.

"First of all, the good Senator Chair of Judiciary who we all admire and respect oftentimes has a siren song and sometimes it's very comfortable just to lay back and listen to that song, be relaxed, and be comforted. But then every once in a while you have to go – 'Oh wait, what did she really say? What's happening here?' – and talk about some additional facts. And so let's do that.

"First of all, the statement that was made and echoed by a number of speakers was that the people wanted something to be done. We all agree on that. What we disagree on is what the people wanted to be done. And those of us that have gone to drug summits, have gone to meetings, have gone to neighborhood boards, have gone to special community functions where this was a major issue, we heard overwhelmingly that what the people wanted done was to get tough with these folks who are doing drugs. And so as the good Senator from Kaneohe said, we were looking for a balance because getting tough did not mean that you would not use treatment or rehabilitation in those cases where it was both warranted and where there was an opportunity for success. Because the statistics that I think we can all agree on are that the rate of recidivism for drug users is extremely high. They use it over and over and over again usually escalating the use and the harm that they do.

"So, yes, the people wanted something done, but they wanted something done right. I don't believe that those people, including people in my community, that held signs to deal with the drug problem and the people that the good Senator from Kahaluu said were courageous and bold thought that the end all and be all was to put these people in treatment, some of whom have been in treatment many, many times before. They want them off the streets. They want them dealt with satisfactorily, and the truth of the matter is this bill does not do that. And it's not because I say so. It's because the prosecuting attorney says so, the attorney general says so, the head of public safety says so, and even the public defender for different reasons as was brought up. But there was no unanimity among law enforcement officials. And what they didn't say was that those specific proposals that they had advocated early on in the process were in fact not seriously considered and not adopted either in this measure or in any other supplemental measure. And I think that's really an important point.

"If we compare Hawaii with other states, we find that other states have drug problems too. Some may be ice based, some may be other drugs. We've noticed in Hawaii, and we've reported on this over the last 10 years, the drug of choice has changed and probably will change again in the next five years. So our attack should not be solely on ice. It should be on drug use and its impact on other people.

"But if we compare Hawaii with other states, we find that we have gone overboard already in terms of treatment and giving second chances, third chances, fourth chances, fifth chances, and that's what it's all about.

"Some of the speakers would have you believe that a poor innocent person with just three little bags equal to sugar or a sugar substitute is getting harsh treatment. Well first of all, let's take a look at those three little bags. One of those little bags with this drug, which has been talked about as such a crisis and scourge, one little bag can do a tremendous amount of damage. And we've seen it happen, individuals using these drugs, but still, still we bend over backwards in the single area of treatment. And in some cases, we call the users and abusers of these drugs the victims. We mix them up with the very people that have been holding the signs in our community, the people that have had to deal with drug houses for years in their neighborhood. We call these people victims. They are not! They are perpetrators! And they should be held accountable and responsible for their choices but we don't do that in Hawaii. We make victims of them and continue to talk about treatment, after treatment, after treatment, after treatment.

"We have seen that certain programs like weed and seed in the drug courts have had success and the Governor has supported and encouraged and enhanced those programs. One of the statements I liked best by the Judiciary Chair was, quote, 'we believe in people,' unquote, meaning that they can get rehabilitated, they can get clean, they can go through treatment programs and all that. Oh, wait a minute . . . we believe in drug users but we don't believe in taxpaying citizens to have the right to vote for decentralization or local school boards for schools. We don't trust the people to do that. Drug users we do.

"So we have created a very special class of people in this state – the drug users. And you know what? They know it. They want this bill to be completed. They want the Governor to have her veto overridden because then the people will go back and you folks that support this will say we've done what you want. And you know what? After the abuses continue and the problems go on unabated, they'll look around and say what happened? What happened?

"The Majority Party, the sponsors of this legislation, said they solved our problem, just like we solved our problem with education and healthcare and other issues. We have not solved the problem because we've not addressed the problem. We are looking at symptoms and we are looking very selectively at symptoms that we want to address because they're easy. It's easy to give more treatment. It's easy to spend another $14.5 million. What's difficult is to hold people accountable for their actions and demand that we get them off the streets first and then if they want to undergo treatment and we have certain statements that we require and certain objectives that we want, that's fine. Let's do that. But we put the cart before the horse here.

"The other thing is I hope I misunderstood – I hope I misunderstood – when the wonderful Judiciary Chair said that she thought that the reason that the Lt. Governor, after the Governor announced the veto, after the Lt. Governor spoke was because somehow he was upset that he didn't get an appointed position or he didn't get the recognition from the Majority Party. I hope I heard that wrong, because that has no place in this debate and could be further from the truth, just as this issue should not be a partisan issue. But it is a philosophical issue. Do you come down harder on the area of treatment or on punishment? On incentives or on protecting the public first and foremost? And that is our legislative responsibility – to protect the public. This is not protecting the public!

"The good Senator from Waianae also mentioned as a clarion call to those of you that voted for this bill before, remember this is the same bill. We made no changes in it whatsoever. And it's absolutely true. We had debate in Committee. We had debate on this Senate Floor. There were all kinds of suggestions made so that we could all work together and make it a better bill. But none – none – of those suggestions were adopted. The idea was we took this bill as it was, we're presenting it to you now the way it was, and we're saying let's override the Governor's veto, pass the bill and pacify the people as if – as if – they are going to be protected or that we've really done something about it.

"One final comment, and that has to do with the area of homerule and with these rehabilitation drug houses. To mix in the concerns or even the fears or the objections about the idea of five people living in a house, in a drug house, just doesn't compute. We recall two years ago under a previous administration that youthful sex offender facilities were forced into communities who had no choice as to what to do. And those communities were guaranteed by the state administration, by the Governor, by the health director, 'Oh, don't worry about these youthful sex offenders. They only sexually offend people in their family.' And they were guaranteed that nothing would happen. They couldn't escape. They would be taken care of and all that. And they put them within shouting distance of elementary schools. And the public objected but they couldn't do anything about it. Oh, and guess what, in case you forgot, there were escapes from these youthful sex offenders.

"Now this is what we're doing now. We're telling communities, we're telling neighborhood boards we don't care what you think. We don't care about you. If we want to put a drug rehabilitation house in your neighborhood with the traffic, with the noise, with the potential danger, we're going to do it and you don't have anything to say about it because there won't be any public hearings. There won't be any zoning. There won't be any permits. And that is the truth and that is why the Mayor of the City and County of Honolulu also asked the Governor to veto this measure, something he has not done for any other measure.

"So there are these concerns. These are legitimate issues aside from the philosophical context. And this Body has not dealt with them and refuses to do so. So yes, you have the votes to override the Governor's veto, but I hope you don't because you'll be overriding common sense.

"Thank you."

Senator Baker rose in support of the motion and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

“Mr. President, we’re treated to lots and lots of rhetoric on this Floor and sometimes some of our colleagues get wound up. We were certainly treated to some of that tonight. But there were so many inaccuracies and misstatements in what was said and I know that the good Senator from Waianae doesn’t need my poor attempts at oratory to restate some of the arguments that she made, but I feel that I want to add my voice to that because I could not just sit by and let some of these things pass.

“I’d like to just quote with regard to the philosophy or the basic approach that the Senate and the House took in this conference draft. Let me just point out the position of the Department of Health. It says, ‘the Department of Health supports the intent of this measure. We appreciate the Legislature in its comprehensive approach towards addressing Hawaii’s crystal methamphetamine problem.’ We took a balanced approach. We took an approach that balanced the needs of law enforcement and the Judiciary in terms of dealing with people who manufacture, who push, who try to distribute and want to entice others to drugs. We tried to create that balance that separates how we dealt with those individuals and how we would deal with someone who is using and wants to get off or maybe has a one-time flirtation with a very addictive drug.

“It’s interesting to note when I was listening to the previous speaker talk about how treatment doesn’t work and all of these things are not going to be helpful, well one of the things that the Department of Health has said over and over and over again is there has not been enough treatment. That’s what the hours and hours of testimony in every community across the state testified to – that there are not enough treatment programs or there haven’t been enough prevention programs or haven’t been enough programs in the community that they know work in order to reach the number of people that could be served by a treatment and rehab program.

“We have a wonderful drug court program in this state. But it took this Legislature to expand it sufficiently so that it can reach out and be effective to others who want to avail themselves of that program. It took this Legislature to find the dollars to put treatment efforts in our schools, in our communities, and to make those programs available to the people that want the help. It took this Legislature to enact a piece of legislation that insures that if you have health insurance, that you’re going to be able to access that health insurance to treat your drug dependence in the same way as if you have a physical illness. It took this Legislature to step up to the plate to find out what was working and effective in the community and say we’re going to put our resources where our mouth is and make sure that these resources are available in our community.

“And one final note with regard to the issue of are we stepping over homerule. When I listened to the testimony in that hearing that day when we were considering additional amendments to this bill, the kind of programs that I heard people be concerned about weren’t really programs at all. And they’ve gone through the hearings and they got the permits and they got the application. And the thing that they were most concerned about was that there was no structure. There was nobody accountable. So what this bill does is to say to the Department of Health if you’re going to have drug rehab facilities, you’ve got to license them. There’s got to be some oversight. There’s got to be some program. There’s got to be a way to help insure that there’s something productive happening there and it’s not just the lack of program but nuisance that has been created in the community.

“So I actually think, Mr. President, that we’ve done a good job of trying to make sure that there is some accountability for these kinds of activities. By and large, every person who worked in the treatment area said that you have to have a whole range of services. You have to have the very intensive. You have to have clean and sober houses. You have to have transitional houses. You have to have employment and skills training. You’re talking about breaking a cycle perhaps in families of many generations of using and abusing. And if we don’t provide these full range of options – treatment, rehab, prevention – available, we’re never going to break that cycle.

“I think we’ve made an important first step with this measure and H.B. No. 2004 and I certainly encourage all of my colleagues to vote in favor of this measure.”

Senator Hemmings rose against the motion and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak against the veto override.

“It’s been a good debate. We certainly heard both sides of the argument. I have a veto message here. It doesn’t have one mean spirited word about anybody in it. It doesn’t have any personal accusations. In fact, it actually has the recognition by the Governor that there are many favorable provisions in this document.

“Unlike the good Senator from Hawaii Kai, I did hear what the Judiciary Chairman said about the Lt. Governor. I’m only rising for one purpose – that those petty remarks be rebutted. To say the Lt. Governor opposed S.B. No. 2003 because he was not appointed some sort of coordinator is indeed below the dignity of the person who uttered those remarks.

“I’m standing to defend a good man whose heart is in the right place. I want to set the record straight about this man. This ice epidemic is not a new phenomenon. It’s been around for many years. And it’s funny that the Majority Party only convened the task force and addressed this issue after years of seeing it escalate to an epidemic proportion after the Lt. Governor picked up the gauntlet on behalf of the people suffering from this disease, hence the people suffering from the perpetrators of crime and violence and death by people who cannot and will not be rehabilitated.

“It’s important to reflect, because money has been mentioned, that somehow this Legislature is so bold and brave and innovative that they’ve appropriated money. Well, under the Lt. Governor’s leadership, the current budget has $23.9 million of federal and state money to address this issue, so the claim that somehow the Majority Party’s initiative put money in this program is just simply not true. The Lt. Governor is respected enough to be appointed to the US Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration Advisory Council. He’s already brought 3.5 million new dollars to the State of Hawaii through the US Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration for those who are diagnosed with dual problems, mental and drug abuse.

“This Lt. Governor is a good man. It’s really unfortunate that his integrity had to be impugned personally. I heard it. There was no misunderstanding. And it’s really sad that this argument has to get down to personal attacks.

“This Lt. Governor was a judge in drug court. This Lt. Governor knows that rehabilitation works when you have an adequate incentive for the person that is suffering from drug abuse to be rehabilitated. That’s why drug court works. This

Lt. Governor is a good man and his efforts are to be lauded not berated by this Legislature.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Chun Oakland rose in support of the override and said:

“Mr. President, I stand in support of this veto override.

“I just want to thank the Legislature and the community, the executive branch and the judiciary. I think this is a long overdue effort and I know that over the years, over a decade, we’ve tried very quietly with not much publicity to build the base of resources for treatment and for prevention. I’m glad that there is a much broader understanding of the problem. I’m very happy that we have a majority in the Legislature and with the other two branches of government, along with the community, that has made this a priority.

“I wish that the words of the Judiciary Chair be entered as my own in that she has very eloquently articulated the points of the bill before us. I believe this bill was a product of many people coming forward and making very helpful suggestions to amend the bill. There have been changes, quite a bit of changes.

“I did want to share with our colleague from Hawaii Kai that in the bill we do require a public hearing to be conducted by the Department of Health whenever there is consideration of a rehabilitation facility. That was very important to many of us because we know that when there is facilities in our community that are helping people, oftentimes there are concerns that the neighbors have. With licensing and with requiring the Department of Health to hold public hearings, I believe that was very important in addressing some of the communities’ concerns.

“Again, Mr. President, I’m very proud of this product. I thank everyone that has placed or put so much effort into this. Again, it has not been just this year or last year. I think over the years we have built a very strong foundation that we can all be proud of.

“Thank you very much.”

Senator Trimble rose in opposition and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the measure.

“If I may summarize the remarks of my colleagues, it is about balance. It is not new. It is not targeted. The only thing it is is expensive.

“Thank you.”

At 8:56 o’clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to S.B. No. 2951.

"This bill provides for a fine of $2,000 a day, each day being a separate offense for a violation of law or rules. A rule might be that they have to post the sign of their license. So, if we had an earthquake or if they moved offices or somehow their license fell behind a filing cabinet, they could be fined $2,000 a day. This seems rather onerous. I suggest that it is inappropriate.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the bill with reservations.

"In the past I have voted against this annual bill. We watch as we go through this Session, it goes from six million to ten million to thirteen million where it is right now. And I think the problem is that we always see the State as deep pockets. We don't have a situation where we have true tort reform and everybody comes to the State or they attach the State in lawsuits where there's supposed to be individual responsibility. And basically we are paying nuisance fees to make the suits go away. And the fact that these people take smaller amounts again indicates that they have no case, they have no claim, but because of the deep pockets they're able to do this.

"So, I'll vote with reservations, but again, I urge that the State provide legislation to make it more difficult for people to sue the State when they don't have legitimate claims.

"Thank you."

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"In fact, I think several other people were about to rise also. Sometimes the good Lord gives us a second chance. We have a second chance. Is the Senator from Hawaii Kai upset because his microphone is again not working today?"

"You know, it is bad law to pass a law because of one or two or three individuals. It is a worse law if we pass that law because somebody managed to push our buttons so well that we got incensed. It is bad law when we start to become arrogant and forget that we are not special people that have the power to legislate as it appeals to us, but we are ordinary people tasked with a very special responsibility – and that is to act for the good of society.

"There are three bills that we have considered this year that dealt with the Office of Information Practices. They were all bad. The problem with this bill is that it was trying to correct the problem the wrong way. It is also wrong to give the Office of Information Practices, which is housed in the executive branch of the administration, the power or the potential opportunity to pollute with other branches in the executive branch to deny people information and access to that information.

"I urge my colleagues to use the second chance that you were given to vote against this measure.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Ihara rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

“With all due respect to the supporters of S.B. No. 3185, Mr. President, I believe this bill is unnecessary, and overkill, and a misuse of Hawaii’s freedom of information laws for the purpose of stopping unlawful acts of harassment against state employees.

“I fully believe that any citizen who takes vexatious or harassing action of any kind, not only in requesting government records, should be stopped and be subject to penalty. This is precisely what just happened last Thursday to a vexer, someone who was the inspiration of this bill. Actually, ‘the person’ who is the inspiration of this bill. This person pled guilty to four counts of harassment last week Thursday. He submitted a letter of apology to 35 state agencies, public officials and staff and is now prohibited from calling, faxing or e-mailing these entities for six months. His apology states in part, ‘please accept this letter as an apology to anyone that considered my actions as being harassing.’

“So, Mr. President, there are ways to stop vexatious behavior against public agencies and officials, but this bill should not be one of them.

“Mr. President, this bill fails to accomplish what its proponents want. This bill only allows an agency to ignore requests from a person who’s been labeled a vexatious requester. This bill will not stop harassment of our state employees. This bill will not stop those types of vexatious actions. This bill is dangerous because it takes away a person’s freedom of information rights for up to two years, based on vague and overbroad criteria and deny their rights for actions that may be entirely legitimate.

“I fully respect the Office of Information Practices and its able director. And for the most part, I trust their judgment on freedom of information matters. However, I do not think citizens should trust any agency for denying their rights based on overly broad criteria without a hearing and a situation where OIP itself is a party of vexatious requester proceedings because of a conflict of interest.

“This bill would give a state agency the power to deprive citizens their right to access government records without a reasonable basis, without adequate criteria, without any requirement of proof, and without a hearing. This agency could even take away citizen rights for actions that are entirely legitimate. And to appeal a decision, a citizen would have to go to court. I think it should be the other way around. I think that government should have to go to court to take away citizens’ rights.

“S.B. No. 3185 says, and I’ll quote, ‘The Office of Information Practices may declare that a person is a vexatious requester if it determines that the person has established a pattern of conduct that excessively interferes with the agency’s legitimate responsibilities under this chapter,’ end quote. I’ll continue quoting, but what it basically says is that ‘OIP may declare someone a vexatious requester if that person . . .’ actually, I’m repeating. This is very good language to illustrate what we are about to do today. We’re about to pass a law, and I hope we don’t, that basically gives the Office of Information Practices powers. All lawmaking powers in the state rest with the Legislature, and we are giving this office the power to declare someone a vexatious requester if that person has established a pattern of conduct that excessively interferes with an agency’s legitimate responsibilities.

“It’s amazing what the Legislature can do with such simple words to take away people’s rights. But there must be criteria, there must be a reasonable and rational basis for taking away someone’s rights. Probably none of us will be affected, nor the media, nor anyone important. It’s the rights of the nobodies I’m concerned about. Say it ain’t so, please.

“But as much as I trust OIP, I’m sorry to report that the criteria in this bill are an abomination an unwarranted attack on citizens’ rights. I know they’re harsh words, but wait. For OIP to determine – that’s the word used, ‘determine’ – a vexatious pattern of conduct, all it would have to do is to determine that someone has at least two of what’s called factors. Two factors and a pattern, and you’re out.

“I’m going to read and I’ll paraphrase a little to make it easier to understand, but it’s accurate so you don’t have to believe me. You can pull out the bill, its on page 2, and read it for yourself. Among the criteria, a minimum of two required for denying someone’s right to see a government document includes . . . and there is actually seven criteria and I’m giving one away. One of the seven is – repetitive requests of the same request given repetitively when an agency has already responded. I’ll give that one. That shouldn’t happen, and they could do it nicely so it’s not harassing, but the other six, I question. And remember, all you need is two.

1. The person has submitted a large quantity of requests.
2. The person has split requests to minimize cost.
3. The person has abandoned requests when the fee is not waived. You can ask for a waiver and if it’s declined and you abandon it, watch out.
4. The person has appealed the request without reasonable basis. So, if you lose, watch out.
5. The person’s request only marginally promotes the public interest.
6. The person has submitted requests for purposes other than obtaining access to records.

“I happen to work with many citizen watchdogs, Mr. President. In fact, I’m trying to help support the new Hawaii Citizens Watchdog Network. I believe our state needs more citizen watchdogs. But, this bill would have a chilling effect on them.

“I’m going to go over those six factors here. Bear with me. Actually, I’m competing with the Senator from Moanalua.

1. Citizen watchdogs tend to submit large quantities of documented requests, as it is their right, but not under this bill if we pass it.
2. Watchdogs and researchers often seek ways to minimize copy costs by splitting large research into affordable segments. And I believe it should be permitted. And that’s the second factor that could be declared a vexatious requester.
3. I know some watchdogs seek copy fee waivers on the basis that they plan to distribute their research, but they might have to abandon their request if the fees are too high. You make a request and you ask for a waiver because you are going to publish something or you’re going to give it to the media or serve your watchdog function, and so you may abandon your request because you just don’t have enough funds. And because of this, someone could be more vulnerable of becoming a vexatious requester. I believe the other three factors provide an inappropriate basis for denying citizens their right to access public records.
4. If a person’s document request is denied by an agency, they may submit an appeal to OIP precisely because they believe they have a reasonable case. But if they lose and OIP says that they are wrong and have no reasonable basis for making an appeal . . . This is an appeal – you make a request to an agency, the agency says ‘no’ or does not respond, which is often the case, believe it or not, and you make an appeal and for some reason at the judgment of OIP they say that you, in fact, in their belief, do not have reasonable basis, you can become a vexatious requester. If OIP thinks that no reasonable basis is required to submit an appeal, wouldn’t it be better to require a reasonable basis rather than threatening to take away someone’s rights if they don’t have one?

5. Hawaii’s open record laws do not require citizens to review their identity, nor does it require citizens to give a reason for making a records request. This is as it should be. But, to avoid becoming a vexatious requester under this bill, citizens may need to reveal and prove how their records request promotes the public interest, because if it only marginally does this, if you make a request that is only marginally promoting the public request, your right to make future requests may be in jeopardy. How sad this would be.
6. And finally, with no hearing, OIP could decide that a citizen has been making requests for purposes other than obtaining access to records. A citizen could become a vexatious requester. No proof is required; no review by anyone else is required, and the person deemed a vexatious requester can only get their day in court in an actual courtroom. You have to go find a lawyer, you have to file the papers, file the filing fees to get back your rights to request public documents. How very unfair that would be.

“Mr. President, I believe this bill sets a dangerously low threshold for denying people’s rights. This bill will have a chilling effect on the people, I believe, we need most – government watchdogs, researchers and people whose mission it is to keep an eye out on public agencies. And I count myself among this group. I believe this bill gives OIP too much power, too much leeway, and it’s too much of a threat to legitimate watchdogs of our public agencies. This bill does not relieve agency staff from harassment and I urge Senators to defeat this bill today.

“Thank you.”

Senator Aduja rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

“Mr. President, S.B. No. 3185 would allow the State Office of Information Practices to declare someone a vexatious requester if in the opinion of the Office of Information Practices the person has a pattern of abusing the state’s open records laws. The definition of a vexatious requester is so broad and subjective it would apply to people who have a legitimate interest in government accountability and performance. As written, the measure could be adopted to apply to nearly anyone.

“Under this measure, a government agency must show the Office of Information Practices that an individual has a pattern of abusing the request process by using a set of criteria, and the individual would be given a chance to respond. These factors or set of criteria are vague and subjective, as indicated by Senator Ihara so I won’t go through that again.

“If the office finds someone has met only two of these factors, it may declare that person is a vexatious requester and restrict such person’s exercise to his or her rights to government records under Chapter 92 for two years. A vexatious requester may ask the state ombudsman to review the offices action and the person may appeal in the State Circuit Court. But, Mr. President, do we really want to flood our already overburden court system with such appeals in circuit court just to obtain government records.

“Mr. President, citizens are free to be vexatious requesters. It is our constitutional right. In fact, our Governor upon winning her election said, and I quote, ‘The whole idea is openness, opening the government up. I want a government that all people feel that they have access to.’ However, Mr. President, this bill introduced by several Majority and Minority Senators is practically identical to a measure included in Governor Linda Lingle’s administrative package of proposals.

“Over the past three years the public’s right to know has been diminished due to governments ability to withhold information under the broad claim of tourism and national security. S.B. No. 3185 represents an even greater threat to public access in Hawaii. If enacted, S.B. No. 3185 will have a permanent negative impact on the rights of our citizens and set a dangerous precedent for the future.

“The State’s Office of Information Practices, an agency under the Lieutenant Governor’s Office, is charged with issuing advisory opinions on open records law and mediating disputes between the public and government agencies over the release of government records. The OIP exists because in the past, government agencies abused their authority and unlawfully denied or impeded the public’s access to information. However, some state agencies are currently operating outside of the rules of the Uniform Information Practices Act, the law which allows access to governmental records.

“Through the Uniform Information Practices Act a citizen has ability to uncover numerous illegal acts of waste, fraud and abuse within our government agencies. However, to accomplish this, a private citizen may encounter and endure delays, denials, fragmenting of requests and even the destruction of records by government agencies. The OIP is charged with administering the Uniform Information Practices Act and not creating roadblocks that impede the public’s right to information. By definition, citizens and watchdog organizations could easily be deemed vexatious. Any attempt to hold government entities accountable could easily be considered annoying and vexatious.

“Leslie Kondo, director of OIP, cites only one example where an individual repeatedly faxed an agency requesting such agency to time stamp and return faxed copies. That one individual tied up fax machines with hundreds and hundreds of pages. Supposedly, this measure was introduced to address this type of request.

“However, this measure is overly broad and far reaching. As written, it enables the Office of Information Practices and government agencies to obstruct and deprive the public of its right to public records. The passage of this measure would therefore set a dangerous precedent and invite abuse of power. In addition, this measure has been estimated to directly affect only two to three people at this point in time. Why is it then that we as Legislators lend ourselves to punishing three people at the expense of the public’s right to access public records? Why doesn’t the OIP deal with these individuals outright instead of triggering the Legislative action? This proposed law is akin to using dynamite to kill a mosquito.

“Mr. President, as you well know, there are many individuals of organizations who have utilized the Uniform Information Practices Act to obtain insight into government policy, programs and unlawful behavior. A number of agencies do produce their records in a timely manner. However, such records may be sanitized by removing or withholding a portion of the file often without notifying the requester that documents were withheld, thereby hindering or eliminating the requester's right to appeal. Other agencies have delayed or denied production of records by claiming they are not familiar with the Uniform Information Practices Act.

"Government agencies are already allowed to determine the public's access by charging arbitrary excessive fees. The agencies have been given the authority to charge up to $5 for 15 minutes of research, plus up to 50 cents per page. If an agency is poor at record keeping, as we have learned through many reports by Marion Higa, the State Auditor, the cost of research and production of public records can be very high, thus presenting another impediment to public access.

"Further, agencies are inconsistent in the fees that they charge. For example, a division of the Department of Planning and Permitting for the City and County of Honolulu charges $5 for the first 10 minutes of research time, 50 cents for the first page, and 25 cents for each page thereafter. The Division of Treasury charges up to $4.50 for the first 10 minutes, and 50 cents per page. Some agencies, after receiving a request for information, simply pass the request to the Deputy Attorney General and then afterwards fail to inform the requester of their decision. The requester will only learn of such agency's decision if the requester inquires about such delay. When the requester learns that his or her request has been denied, a complaint with the Office of Information Practices must then be filed.

"The Office of Information Practices has a very large backlog of issuing opinions on appeals by requesters. The OIP also has significant complaints from requesters relating to abusive authority by agencies. Yet the OIP failed to introduce legislation to take any actions to address the government's improper treatment of OIP requests.

"Robin Loomis, President of Hawaii's Pro-Democracy Initiative believes that it is dangerous to go down this path. 'Unless this bill is more narrowly restrictive,' she says, 'I think it would limit people's right to open government. If they narrow it down, perhaps it would be good. But why are we doing this? There may be a few people who are abusing the process, but I can't imagine that there are tons of people doing this.'

"This bill could easily apply to individuals interested in government accountability and government performance,' said Beverly Keever, a University of Hawaii journalist and professor. 'It's a very subjective thing and I don't think it's worth worrying about if the agencies perform as they're supposed to be doing, and many of them are not.' Professor Keever continued by saying, 'I think it's frivolous on the part of the Legislature to get so involved. And it's frivolous on the part of OIP to push this when their fundamental purpose is spelled out to provide access and to protect citizens' rights. This is a bill that's written for the bureaucrats not written for the citizens.'

"I agree that there are some instances where requests for public records may cause damage to an agency such as information pertinent to ongoing legal proceedings or information that could damage defense security or international relations of the State or the economic interest or financial welfare of the State. However, this measure does not include such specific reasons for refusal. Neither does this measure provide for a very important and broad public override. If a record shows evidence of a breach of the law or serious public safety or environmental risk, this should be an exception to this measure.

"The sponsors of S.B. No. 3185 suggest that the vexatious requester they have in mind is an unpleasant individual who makes himself or herself a pest to state offices tying up staff time and attention. But, Mr. President, this is an age-old problem for anyone who deals with the public and there are existing public nuisance laws to rely on.

"We have a Governor who promised she would bring a new government and clean up the old, along with waste, fraud, and abuse. We must ask ourselves, are we working for the public good? An inconvenient request for information may now result in a complete denial of public records under this measure, as only a few individuals would have the time or resources to fight for the constitutional right to public information in our courts.

"For the above reasons, Mr. President, I oppose this measure and I respectfully request that my colleagues also do the same.

"Thank you."

Senator Hanabusa rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in favor of the measure.

"Mr. President, I've heard the concerns about the fact that this bill would have a chilling effect. I've heard concerns about the definition of what a person may deem is a vexatious requester and whether this bill is necessary.

"We received testimony on not only S.B. No. 3185, but also on another measure as well. Let me read you one of the testimonies that we received from our Senate Majority Attorney who said, 'I appreciate the opportunity to testify in support of S.B. No. 3185. I'm submitting this testimony on behalf of the Senate staff, members, and agencies who've told me of how their offices have been prevented from doing their work due to the actions of vexatious requesters. I have found that all of the staff who contacted me, whether Democratic, Republican, or nonpartisan, share a sincere desire to serve the public and respond to their legitimate requests. No one has expressed a desire to deny access to records under the UIPA for these people. The UIPA law, Chapter 92F, is a good law that contains many provisions protecting the public's right to these records. Unfortunately, the UIPA law did not contemplate how abusively the process might be used against a government agency and thus did not put forth protections for agencies from abuse of process.'

"Mr. President, that's the sentiment which is behind S.B. No. 3185. We hear the concern about the chilling effect. And Mr. President, it's a legitimate concern. But let me tell you, I believe that there is no more chilling effect than putting someone through a criminal proceeding. What we have here is people being charged criminally under harassment. Some may find that they desire it. Some may find that's the way we should go. But Mr. President, if we've got a problem, let's handle it and let's address it in a way that is less punitive than to have someone have to make a decision as to whether they are going to plead guilty or accept the DAG or a DAG plea, instead of going through a whole criminal proceeding and potentially end up with a criminal record for being a harasser versus a vexatious requester.

"This bill, which came out of Conference, requires a person's pattern of conduct to include the following factors, and they list the seven factors. But no one factor alone shall be sufficient to find excessive interference with an agency's responsibility – no one factor.

“Also, Mr. President, the Office of Information Practices must give notice. In addition, there's a duration. In other words, it can only go for two years. The individual also has the opportunity to request of the Ombudsman a review of what OIP may or may not have done.

“And finally, that requester has the right to challenge this in a civil court. Mr. President, I contend that a civil proceeding is a lot less onerous than to be charged criminally and to have the Attorney General's Office or the Prosecutor's Office come after you as a harasser.

“We must also not forget that what we're dealing with here is the fact that when one person becomes a vexatious requester, that person is taking away the rights of others. So, we must also bear in mind that there are other people out there who may want access, who can't get access because someone has chosen to tie-up whether its fax lines or fill-up someone's e-mail or whatever it is that the other people, our other constituents, are not able to have access to. What about their rights?

“Again, Mr. President, harassment whether its one count, four counts, ten counts, whatever it is, it's still a criminal proceeding. You've talked about a chilling effect, if someone goes before a criminal court and is looking at a criminal charge, it's a lot different than looking at potentially appealing a decision by the OIP.

“For that reason, Mr. President, if we are going to be concerned about everyone's rights and we are trying to balance this issue regarding someone who may be abusing it, a vexatious requester, and the rights of other constituents, let's do it in a way that is less onerous. Let's address the problem because we have the problem as set forth by our Senate Majority Office, who has had the complaints from both sides of the aisle on this problem. Let's do it where they can feel free to challenge it and not have hanging over their heads a criminal proceeding.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of S.B. No. 3185.

“I'm rising because I think that the good Senator from Honolulu's efforts to kill this bill in a filibuster have to be addressed.

“First of all, the implication in that dissertation was that somehow this bill is problematic because it received bipartisan support. I seem to think that that's probably the halcyon thing this bill has. It has people of both sides of the aisle recognizing that people's rights are being taken away by vexers or vexators, whatever you wish to call them.

“I'd like to underscore that point because one person tying up the system does cost the taxpayers a tremendous amount of money in the amount of time of work Legislators, public employees have to deal with vexers. This also, as pointed out by the good Senator from Waianae, denies access to other people – people that have legitimate concerns and want legitimate information oftentimes do not get it or don't get it in a timely manner because one or two people can tie the whole system up.

“This effort is really an effort to curb abuse, not by a couple of mosquitoes but by a couple of very selfish people. It was pointed out that an apology was offered by the person that was practicing this. Nevertheless, the damage was done and it should not be an additional cost to the taxpayers to have to file a criminal lawsuit to implement common sense.

“This bill does have adequate criteria to protect the general public's interest to access to public information and it does have safeguards, appeals, and other ways that someone who has been put on the list as a vexer can appeal the process.

“All things considered, this is a balanced bill that really helps the public and helps public access and not the opposite. I urge my colleagues to support it.”

Senator Inouye rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Mr. President, I speak in opposition of this bill.

“Mr. President, will you direct the Clerk to enter into the Journal the words of the Senator from Kaimuki/Kapahulu as if they were my own.

“Thank you.”

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Trimble rose to speak in rebuttal and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in brief rebuttal.

“Colleagues, how do you want history to remember this day? Do you want history to remember that government was brought to its knees by the actions of one individual? Do we pass law to take care of one individual? The Senator from Kaimuki laid out very clearly that when an individual crosses the line, there are other statutes to deal with the issue. I suggest that there is no need to pass this law.

“Thank you.”

Senator Ihara rose to speak in rebuttal and said:

“Mr. President, a brief rebuttal.

“Mr. President, we are dealing with a problem and this problem is behavior that is criminal conduct. Be certain that a vexatious requester's actions are criminal actions. I challenge anyone to name me or explain to me an action that is of a vexatious requester that is not criminal. It is the harassment, it is the nastiness, it is all of that that is criminal against public officials that should be stopped. But this bill does nothing – this bill does nothing – to stop harassing, vexatious, mean spirited, vindictive actions by citizens who need to calm down sometimes, lost it sometimes. Not only does it attempt to deal with the problem, but it doesn't address the problem at all. Instead, it takes away people's rights.

“I won't repeat my speech, but it seems that the debate will go on. If this bill passes we'll continue to debate because I think this issue and this policy that we're setting and the vague and subjective parameters for determining a vexatious requester, I think it will be a healthy and vigorous debate if this bill passes.

“I again urge my colleagues to vote 'no' on this bill. Thank you.”

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this bill.

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this bill and I rise in support of government workers. I believe if we're saying that we don't trust our agencies and the Office of Information Practices from doing the right thing – from the ability to determine, well, this is just because they want to have less photo copy costs or is it just because perhaps they're trying to be efficient, therefore we're going to task them and call them a vexatious requester – I believe not. I believe we're asking our government workers at the front counters, at the copy machines of many places to do a good job, to do more with less.

"I believe this measure will help them do more with what they have without having to be distracted with whether it's one wasp, one yellow jacket, one bumble bee, or a whole beehive. And I believe and I trust that our government workers and the Office of Information Practices will be fair and use this appropriately."

Senator Hogue rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"I would say that the good Senator from Kaimuki laid out some great arguments, but in one area I do believe he's wrong. In this day of technology with the advancements in computers, it is possible for a requester to be vexatious without ever making any personal contact whatsoever to offices. They could have their computers now do all of their work for them and tie up government offices needlessly. This bill will address that problem.

"The harassment charges aren't addressed, okay, because these people would never even contact, they would contact just from e-mail and the computers would do everything. So, this bill handles the advancements in technology, which could tie up our government offices for a long, long time. So this bill is much needed.

"It is the right kind of bill and I trust the director of OIP, who is also up in the audience.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

The President then made the following announcement:

"The Chair feels we're going to have a lot of debate, but the Chair wants to limit the debate. It's been a good debate but we will limit the debate to one more speaker."

Senator Hooser rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I'll keep mine brief. I rise in opposition.

"I would like the words of the Senator from Kaimuki reflected in the Journal as if they were my own.

"Thank you."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Menor rose and said:

"Mr. President, I just want to have the Clerk note for the record that I will be voting in favor with reservations."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Aduja rose and said:

"Mr. President, I would like request a Roll Call."

Senators Baker and Menor requested their votes be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

Senator Slom rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this bill.

"I just wanted to point out that this bill, unlike the ice bill that was vetoed the other day and overridden the other night, has a provision in it about halfway houses and this is how you do the bill right. This has a provision for zoning and permit requirements and everything else. And one of the major objections we had to the ice bill was that it did exactly the opposite. It forced those rehabilitation drug houses into neighborhoods that necessarily had no opportunity to discuss them or do anything about them.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 60-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 473, S.D. 1, H.D. 3, C.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO HALFWAY HOUSES,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

“This bill has a good intent but it has two undesirable features. One is that it increases fees from $50 to $250. The second is that it produces a new special fund.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 62-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2839, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO SOLICITATION OF FUNDS FOR CHARITABLE PURPOSES,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak against S.B. No. 3170.

“Mr. President, this bill is so we can feel good for the environmentalists, but in fact it would be harmful for the environment for a number of reasons.

“Number one is that it will sustain the growth of a crop that has a tremendous impact on the environment most especially in the ever increasing shortage of water. As we all know, sugar is an incredibly thirsty crop.

“Secondly, the costs are against the environment also. The cost and the impact on the environment of harvesting and collecting this product for energy does not make sense, so much so that the normally astute observations of what many consider a rather liberal magazine, Harper’s Magazine, says the ratio amount of energy generated by one gallon of ethanol to the amount of energy required to produce it is 1.09, which means it costs us about as much energy to produce ethanol as the ethanol we get. So, the bottom line is that we’re at no net gain energy wise and environmentally.

“Thirdly, it does something much more egregious to the environment. It extends the life of fossil fuels. If we were taking this energy and this work and the incentive is to really get behind future technologies, such as hydrogen and renewable energies like geothermal in the Hawaiian Islands, we’d be going a long way to making ourselves energy independent from fossil fuels.

“What this bill really does is by adding an expensive ethanol addition to gasoline it extends the life and our dependency on fossil fuels and the geopolitical problems that are related to oil. So, for many reasons, and most especially environmentally, this bill should not pass. I urge my colleagues to consider the environment, consider the cost implications, and vote ‘no.’”

Senator English rose in support of the measure and said:

“Just so that our colleagues and people out there understand what this does, it mandates up to a 10 percent blend of ethanol in our gas. Many of the people that talk about this compare it to North America. The problem with that is the ethanol from North America is made from corn. In Hawaii we’re talking about making the ethanol from sugarcane and the cane products – the cane juice, the gas and the molasses that comes from that.

“You know, in an island state such as ours, we have to try everything possible to reduce our dependency on fossil fuels, and by reducing at least 10 percent of the import, it will help us to bring down that dependency. But there are other reasons to support asking for a blend in our gasoline.

“Just to be clear, members, this bill is tied to three other bills that will be coming up. So, the previous speaker addressed it universally, but didn’t take it up in each bill. I’ll take up each point as we come to the bills, but for this particular one, it’s good for our energy policy. It will help us to reach our renewable portfolio standard goals and will help us to create local jobs and to keep many of our green fields green.

“So, this is a win, win, win in three different areas for Hawaii. I ask that you support this particular bill and again this one mandates an up to 10 percent blend of ethanol in our fuel.

“Thank you.”

Senator Hooser rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"Just to speak briefly, this is an important bill, Mr. President. I urge my colleagues to support it. It's important especially in my district, Kauai and Niihau, District 7. It's important to preserving agriculture, preserving sugar. It creates jobs. It's good for economic development. It increases our energy independence and our energy security. It has been a part of our state's policy for the last 10 years, and it's time that we move forward with this policy.

"I urge my colleagues to vote in support. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 64-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 3170, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PETROLEUM PRODUCTS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Hemmings, Slom).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 65-04 (S.B. No. 1238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Baker moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 65-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 1238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"If you read the bill, what concerns me is a person's right to revoke who he has decided to be his guardian. If you look on page 10, it says that a person who has capacity at the time they revoke or change guardianship. I contend that there are many people at times when they do not have capacity, know the difference between who can act in their interest and who cannot. And so, I do not think it is appropriate for a person to forfeit that right under this bill.

"Thank you."

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, with all due respect, I believe the Senator from Waikiki has misread this bill. This is a pro-consumer bill. It ensures that the advance directives, mental health directives of an individual when they are capable are paramount, and it references notifying the agent or somebody who has got to fulfill their advance directives as well as the healthcare provider. A guardianship is a court proceeding and this bill makes sure that the individual's agent must follow those directives even if there is a guardianship, unless there is a court ruling that overturns it.

"I think that this is a pro-consumer bill. It was certainly supported by all the advocacy groups. It's a measure that's long overdue, and I urge all my colleagues to vote in favor of this measure.

"Thank you."

Senator Trimble rose to oppose the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"It would provide an exclusion for the Department of Education at the University of Hawaii for rule making in this regard. I think that is inappropriate.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 67-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2200, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

DBA DAMIEN MEMORIAL HIGH SCHOOL," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 3 (Baker, Hooser, Tsutsui). Excused, 2 (Ihara, Inouye).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 72-04 (S.B. No. 2790, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Sakamoto moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 72-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 2790, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator English rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"You know, members, I really have to say 'thank you' for supporting me on this. As you know, I fought vigorously against the constitutional amendment that allowed for this type of SPRBs to go through. (Laughter.) However, being a good statesman, I also understand that the schools in my district need to use the tools that are available to them, and since it was passed and the voters have approved it, I introduced a bill for them.

"So, I'm asking for your support for the Haleakala Waldorf School special purpose revenue bond, even though I'm fundamentally opposed to the mechanism that allowed for them to use it. (Laughter.)

"You know, that's what statesmen do, right? So, anyway, I just have to explain this, and Mr. President, I will be standing up to speak on the next SPRB as well.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose on a point of information and said:

"Yes, point of information, Mr. President.

"I'm just wondering if this was a continuation of our discussion on Friday night about the fundamental philosophical differences between the Majority Party and the Minority Party and whether this is really statesmanship or political partisanship?"

Senator English rose and said:

"You know, I have to point out that most of the residents of the area is trending in the other party's favor in that district, so if it is partisanship, it's me helping the other party. But you know, a good statesman is also a good politician. (Laughter.) That's what's been missing in the entire debate. That is what has been missing in this whole thing about statesman versus politician. The reality is it's statesman and politician and the mix of that makes us effective.

"So, in response to that quip, we have to understand that partisanship aside, it is our duty to take care of the needs of all of our people no matter what their political persuasion is and to take the best interest of our population into account. And that's what I have done here.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Tsutsui rose and said:

"Mr. President, I've been somewhat persuaded by my colleague from Maui and therefore I would like to have the Clerk to register a soft 'no.'" (Laughter.)

Senator English rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"I'd like to just simply say that the exact same situation for the last bill applies to this one. Montessori School is in my district. I introduced the bill for them and I ask for your support.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 73-04 was adopted and S.B. Senator Slom rose to inquire as follows:

"Mr. President, my inclination is to vote for this bill, but I have an informational question for the Chair of the Education Committee. I noticed that within this bill there's a new term that's called 'special account' and I want to make sure that it doesn't bear any resemblance to special fund. So therefore, I'd like a definitional explanation between special account and special fund.

"Thank you, Mr. Chairman."

Senator Sakamoto rose in response and stated:

"It wasn't the intention from my part for it to rise to the level of a special fund depending on the department to keep track of the funds so that they can account for it as opposed to setting it aside in a different pot."

Senator Slom rose and stated:

"Yes, just for further clarification. Does the Department of Education understand the difference when you say that you're relying on them to just keep it apart and not rise to the evilness of a special fund?"

Senator Sakamoto rose to respond and said:

"I would hope so, sir. But, if you'd like, we can follow-up with a request that they do so if that's something you would like to pursue."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 76-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2063, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Trimble rose to speak in favor of the measure with reservations and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise with reservations on this measure.

"It seems like we could best call this legitimizing bounty hunting. It may be effective in the short run in terms of reducing waste, but I think the long term social costs of promoting this type of enforcement is undesirable.

"Second, if bounty hunting were so effective, we'd already be using it in a lot of other areas. When the Department of Health reports back to us the cost of dissention among those that are trying to collect the rewards and how much it is costing them, maybe we'll reconsider the desirable nature of this bill.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 78-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 3092, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO SOLID WASTE MANAGEMENT," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Espero rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I'd like to rise in support of this measure.

"This measure may bring the high technology industry to the Ewa Plain to Kalaeloa, formerly Barber's Point. The company is looking at building unmanned aerial systems to help with the defense of our nation and our homeland security. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

“This bill is very clear, it does in fact establish a new special fund for student scholarship and assistance special fund. Thank you.”

Senator Trimble rose on a point of information and said:

“Mr. President, I have a point of information.

“It seems that the intent of this bill is to . . . it’s more or less like an accounting change, instead of having tuition waivers we’ll call them scholarships and then go out and look for matching money. The bill had $20 million in it and I was just curious if this was new money and where it came from?”

Senator Sakamoto rose to respond and stated:

“This isn’t money that we’re providing from the general fund. Part of the intention or the financial assistance globally, most schools don’t give waivers, they give financial assistance. The money goes back. They may give someone $3,200 and the $3,200 comes right back as they pay their tuition. So, part of this is the mechanics to change to that type of system.”

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to H.B. No. 1786.

“This appears to be a back door in terms of granting people civil service stature without having to go through the process that every other civil service employee had to do. I think it’s bad policy and we should oppose it every time it comes up.

Senator Kanno rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of the measure.

“I just wanted to take a minute to commend the Chair for his work on this measure. He was in a very difficult position taking a measure into Conference and representing a Senate position that was not in the Senate draft of the bill. He also had the difficulty of negotiating with the House, where the House at all times during the negotiation could walk away because they could always agree to the Senate version of the bill, which really was the position they were advocating for.

“So, the Chair of our Consumer Protection Committee had an almost impossible task and he prevailed, and I wanted to thank him for that.

“Thank you.”

Senator English rose in support of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support.

“Members, this bill went through protracted negotiations because, well, let me say what it does. First of all, it says that the ability of small business to apply for a waiver reduction of penalties if they violate certain laws designed to protect the environmental cultural resources will not be granted. And it also carves out specific sections of Chapter 200, which relates to our boaters to help the commercial boating industry.

“You know on its surface it seems that this is maybe harmful to small business. But in reality, it is a bill that will help all of us. And here’s what it does – it says that we as a society had placed the environmental protections above all else and we will not allow big business, small business, any kind of business to get away with destroying our environment. We will not allow them to apply for an administrative waiver of reduction of fees if they violate these certain areas.

“Now, we came to Chapter 200, and we had to be, the term I would use is ‘surgical’ with it because the dilemma that we had was that the small boating division was maybe the worst offender – the division itself – and they were passing on this bad habit to a lot of the boaters. So, the boaters were telling us, look . . . and by the way, not one of the boaters have ever used the waiver reduction. It’s never been used by that community. But yet they had the perception of wanting to use this and said, ‘We need protection. We want to protect the environment but we need protections from the small boating division of DLNR. We’re going to be good to the environment. We’re going to make sure that we take care of the environment, but the small boating division is making us do all sorts of things under the threat of great penalty.’

“At first, I was a bit skeptical, but after looking into it and understanding, I believe, that three out of four harbor masters are under indictment and there’s all sorts of other things going on, I realize that there are indeed problems there. So, we went in.

“I want to thank Senator Fukunaga for working diligently on this. We carved out sections of Chapter 200 that will protect the boaters from the small boating division of DLNR and at the same time not allow them to get waivers if and should they violate the environmental laws.

“So in the end, what we’ve achieved here is something that will benefit the environmental sector and the boating sector and both sides are pleased with the end result of this. So, I ask for the member’s support of this measure. It supports our strong belief that the environment must be protected and that those that go out and harm the environment must pay the consequences for that.

“Thank you.”

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in opposition to this bill.

“I’m always interested when people get up to say that things are good for small business and they don’t have any small business background. And also, let’s make a differentiation between the environment and environmental special interest organizations, because that’s who supported this measure.

“It does do harm to small businesses. And when somebody says it lumps small businesses together with people that have been indicted and says that we’re not going to let them get away with ‘destroying our environment,’ unquote, they don’t have a very good view or realistic view of small businesses. And what small business has to contend with is a continuing barrage of new laws, new actions which puts them in violation not for destroying anything, but for not dotting the 'I's or crossing the 'T's. Previously, small businesses under the original act were subject to or allowable for specific waivers if they could show harm or non-cause for environmental and safety requirements. This bill has gone farther than that and now has environmental, health, and cultural preservation laws.

"Small businesses don't have lawyers on retainers. Small businesses generally are trying to run their business and occasionally may run afoul of a particular bureaucratic regulation. But, what we're doing is lumping them together with all big businesses and, as the gentleman from Maui said, with those people that have been under indictment and we're putting the same onus on them without giving them any opportunity to differentiate themselves. And there is a difference between small business and big business. And there is a difference between honest small businesses and indicted harbor workers.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Kawamoto moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 91-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 680, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"We've discussed this bill before. I think this is a vexatious bill. I think that it is totally unwarranted as I said before. People in public office, just like people in business, people in other areas, should know the differences between right and wrong. We have agencies and we have penalties for them.

"The only thing I can figure out is that because the Majority has had so much experience in this area that they feel that they need more training and they want us to have training as well. I don't think that we need the training. Let the public judge us by our actions in and out of the Legislature.

"Thank you."

Senator Espero rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I would like to rise in support of this bill.

"I think only a vexatious speaker may think that this is a vexatious bill. However, what we're talking about is just good government, Mr. President. This is a bill which will provide ethics training for Legislators, for members of the Board of Education, members of OHA, or high appointees in the administration. It will give us the tools, the knowledge, the understanding of our complicated ethics laws. It will provide us good training and education so that the people can see that we are making an attempt to restore ourselves and bring back good government.

"Many people have made mistakes. Right now the administration is under investigation as far as the Care Education Reform Committee which was in the Governor's Office, which probably if this bill had been in effect the administration would have known that maybe that's not the best thing to do at this time.

"So, I urge all of us to support this bill and I hope that those who are in opposition will consider it. Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against this bill.

"I wish we could have addressed this issue without partisanship. I wish the previous speaker had not tried to skewer the administration for allegations that have not borne any fruit, for allegations that are at best just allegations.

"Tying ethics training and a need for it to the Governor's Office is petty partisanship. But since the previous speaker chose to do so, I wish to enter into the record why ethics training may be necessary for the Majority Party. The roll call of people that should have had ethics training from the Majority Party, includes: Nathan Suzuki, tax fraud; Rene Mansho, two counts of theft; John . . ."

President Bunda interjected:

"Can we have a short recess please."

At 12:13 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:16 o'clock p.m.

Senator Hemmings continued:

"Mr. President, in the interest of the bipartisan cooperation, I'll gladly withdraw my reading of this list if the previous speaker will withdraw his remarks trying to tie ethics training not to the convictions or indictments but just to the accusations regarding the Governor's Office."

The President called on Senator Espero, and Senator Espero said:

"So be it."

Senator Trimble rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in favor of this measure.

"It appears that we almost had a good discussion, and there appeared to be two sides to the issue, not necessarily political parties, but two sides, two conflicting values. On one hand you had honor and on the other hand you had shame. Perhaps Ted Hung, when he characterized the culture of fear, was referring to shame. Will Rogers, I think, once said that the petty crooks are in jail but the really big thieves are in Washington. Perhaps we're somewhere in the middle.

"The value of ethics training at the very least is not that it makes us more honest. It has the same value as sending people to jail who come out better crooks. These two hours of ethics training ought to teach most people how to avoid the most common mistakes that other people make and at least be more subtle. I don't think it's going to change the nature of the individual at all. But, it might save this institution some embarrassment and two hours worth of training is a small price to pay.

"Thank you."

Senator Hooser rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"I'd just like to say briefly for the record, Mr. President, that I don't believe that ethics training, integrity or morality is party specific. I believe it's party blind, it's color blind, and it's gender blind and that we all, each of us, look ourselves in the mirror everyday and each of us do the very best that we can. Sometimes we make mistakes and certainly we can all be better at this. And I believe it should be our goal to all be better at this. I believe this ethics training will help us all make better decisions in the future.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 91-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 680, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO ETHICS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 3 (Hemmings, Slom, Whalen). Excused, 1 (Hogue).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 92-04 (S.B. No. 1611, H.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator English moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 92-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 1611, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in strong opposition to this bill.

"This bill is not an environmental bill, this bill is a tax. I hope my colleagues had an opportunity to read Lowell Kalapa's column yesterday. In any event, we've been arguing about this bill for over a year. Some of the salient points – it was sold to the public as a way of helping our landfills and yet it would only affect 2 percent of the materials that go into the landfill. We've all been paying a tax already in terms of setting up the administration for this super structure. There's going to be more public employees hired to operate it. Yet at this point we still don't know how it's going to operate, particularly the little sticky point about we pay the money and we're suppose to get the money back. We're suppose pay 5 cents plus 1 to 1½ cents and we're supposed to get the 5 cents back. But there's no mechanism to return the 5 cents.

"There are still the problems as was brought to all of our colleagues' attention by the various retailers large and small – the problem of storage; the problem of health; the problem of not being able to market their other products; and putting them in charge and putting them responsible for not only the handling of the materials, but also for the collecting of money and the remitting of money.

"It is a bad bill. But besides that, the people in the industry are willing to work it out. They asked for time to consider some of their objections and they were derided for raising issues that are very real issues. There have been no answers. All there is a rush to increase this tax.

"Thank you."

Senator English rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"Mr. President, this particular measure incorporates many of the concerns of the bottlers and the retailers. In fact that's what it does, it's a fixed bill for them. You know, just so people understand, if this measure doesn't go, the original bottle bill stands. This fixes parts, amends parts of that and makes it better. And it does things like makes it easier for businesses to comply with the redemption center requirements. It also delays the implementation for retailers to act as redemption centers until July 1, 2005.

"Many people think that all of their retail stores have to become redemption centers. That's not true. In fact, within a 2 miles radius you have to have one redemption center. And there are probably only two places on Oahu that don't need this. One is Manoa, and I understand that the University of Hawaii is looking at becoming the redemption center because they see a revenue enhancement opportunity in this.

"I also have to point out some of the tactics used by the bottle companies, bottlers here to provide this information. It was a very, very good strategy and it actually worked. I actually asked them to give me the databases. They have all of the mom and pop stores in my district, and my district is East Maui, Molokai, and Lanai. They had a lot of them and took them letters and said, please send this letter to Senator English and the other Senators and ask them to repeal the bottle bill law because its going to make us, the store owners, become redemption centers and take in all of the bottles, and many of the arguments laid out by the previous speaker. One little point though, the original bottle bill exempts the rural and remote areas from this.

"So it gave me an opportunity to talk to my constituents in my district that own these mom and pop stores. And I said, 'Do you realize that you were manipulated and used by the bottlers? By Anheuser-Busch, by Coca-Cola, by all of these companies?' And they were appalled. They said, 'they wouldn't lie to us, now, would they?' So, I showed them the law and I said here's what the law says. You don't have to become a redemption center. You don't have to take these bottles. You may want to in the future and we're leaving that up to the market. We're leaving that choice to the free market. Because if a customer comes in and says, 'I bought a six pack of beer bottles that I'd like to redeem and I may pick up another six pack of beer or something else, but you don't have redemption center. Well, I'm going to go somewhere to redeem it and while I'm there I'll pick up something else.' But really it's truly up to the market to decide that.

"The redemption centers will be in place and we've heard many of the issues around it. And we said let them have it delayed for six months so that they can have time to build the infrastructure that's needed, obtain the needed permits, etc.

"Now, onto this issue of 'is it a tax or is it not a tax?' Well, this is what I can say to that – there is a responsibility between the consumers, retailers, and government for the disposition of the trash created. On average, each man, woman, child in Hawaii produces two to three containers a day. That's what we throw out. It's a huge number. And if we can recycle that and bring down the amount of consumables we throw away, it will help our environment. It will help us to spend less in tax revenues in creating new landfills, in processing the discarded containers into the landfill. You know, either way you end up paying. People of Hawaii ends up paying.

"If we deal with it as simply throwing it away and putting it into the waste stream, then we end up paying because we have to pay for the pickup, the hauling, the processing of the rubbish and putting it into the landfills. If we do it this way, there's a small fee, yes, one cent. But it helps people to develop a recycling conservation ethic, first. Secondly, it does provide for, in a small way, a transference of wealth, in a very small way, because you'll see many people out there picking up containers now. Cans, many organizations are using these as fundraisers. So, in a small way it helps to transfer some wealth to some of the least fortunate people in our society.

"I ask that you support this measure because it helps us to make it easier for the retailers, for the bottlers, and for those on the implementing side to move this bottle bill, move the implementation of it forward. And just as a side point, we've done two things in here to help make it a lot easier – we've adopted administrative rules in the statutes and we said that these rules will be repealed by March 31, 2005 to give the administration time to promulgate rules on their own. That's been a sticking point. The bottlers have said we cannot go ahead because we don't have rules. The administration has said we can't go ahead with rules because it's onerous for us to do it. So, what we've done is adopted it. We've worked with the Department of Health. We've come up with a series of administrative rules. It's in place. The bottlers know what's expected. Everyone knows what's expected, and if the Department of Health so chooses, they can go ahead and promulgate new rules to supersede these.

"I think we have addressed many of the concerns of the retailers and the bottlers in this particular measure. I ask for your support of it and also point out that if this measure does not move, then the existing bill will be effectuated, which is much more onerous for the bottlers and for the retailers.

"Thank you."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in a point of personal privilege.

"I want the record to reflect that the mistake of identifying the good Senator from Hana, Maui for myself is indeed a compliment to him and to myself. (Laughter.)

"Thank you."

Senator English rose on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, point of personal privilege.

"You know, early on the Senator from Kailua said you should be my hanai son, and I said, you know, in the modern day and age, if you leave half to me, I'll accept that title. Thank you."

Senator Kanno rose to speak against the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against this measure.

"Mr. President, I am concerned about litter in our community, and I am concerned about our landfills, and I do care about our environment. I am concerned, however, that this bill will hurt people. Who will this bill hurt? It will hurt all people who don't recycle their cans, bottles and containers.

"So, who will recycle?

"Possibly, middle income families. Maybe individuals buying for a large group – for example, those involved with a youth sports team. And I do believe a portion of low-income families will be recycling.

"Who won't recycle? Or rather, who will be hurt by this bill?

"I believe that the largest group of people who won't recycle are the people who can least afford it? I'm speaking out for those people who will not have the wherewithal to recycle their beverage containers.

"How big an impact is it? If you look just at the 5 cents deposit, a regular case of soda which may cost $8 would now be $9.20. That's a 15 percent increase. That seems like a lot. A case of soda that's on sale, however, which would cost $3.98 would now cost $5.18. So, from $3.98 to $5.18 that is a 30 percent price increase.

"Members of the public may believe that this bill won't cost them anything because they'll get their nickel back on every can, bottle or container. But, unfortunately, they are wrong. They may not see the 1/2 cent container fee because it's paid directly by the beverage distributor. This fee will be passed on to the consumer.

"Let's go back to that case of soda on sale. That would amount to an additional 36 cents for the 1/2 cent container fee. For those who recycle who will get their nickel back, that's still a 9 percent increase in price that they won't ever get back. The case, which used to cost $3.98 will now cost $5.54, which means a whopping 39 percent increase in price for a case of soda.

"Some may fault those individuals who won't recycle their beverage containers. If you do that, would you also fault those who buy soda when it's not on sale? Would you also fault those who pay full price for a movie ticket when discount ticket options are available? I would not. When I shop at the supermarket it frustrates me that the only prices that seem reasonable are when items are on sale. It works when consumers are able to wait until an item goes on sale and then buy in bulk. That's in an ideal world. In the real world, moms and dads need to buy diapers and baby formula and pay full price. Clipping coupons, waiting for sales, and recycling cans takes time.

"There are people who work two or three jobs who are struggling to make ends meet and who have it hard enough setting aside quality time for their children. Families may not have the time to recycle their cans. Should they be hurt financially because recycling is not their family's top priority? These are the individuals and families that this bill hurts.

"What this bill does is create a mandated financial imposition to get the public to recycle. However, since not everyone will have the time or the ability or the wherewithal to recycle, it is an unfair mandated financial burden.

"I support curbside recycling and I believe that families would find it a lot easier to collect their cans and leave it at the curbside. I think by imposing something that's difficult like this, in a process that's uncertain where we're going to be taking our cans and how difficult it will be, in all likelihood not at the stores that we shop at, we are actually creating a bad impression for people about recycling by forcing them to enter into a system which is going to be inconvenient, difficult and cost them money. I think we should be looking at recycling options that are going to be convenient as easy as going to your curbside.

"My concern is that redemption centers will not be convenient. Years ago when I started work at the boys and girls club, one of my jobs was restocking the soda machine. And so, it was my bright idea to collect cans as a way to raise more money for the boys and girls club. I will tell you that it was probably one of the worst undertakings of my life. We set up bins. We collected cans. I will tell you that it was the most foul mess on our property. It was sticky. It was stink. There were bees and other creatures. And it was incredibly time consuming. And after months of trying to make this work, we had to give it up because the bees that were attracted to the cans were not safe for the children.

"I do hope that the implementation of this bill will be smooth and seamless for the public. It is unfortunate that for a measure that was passed two years ago in 2002, at this point the administration still had not had the rules approved. And that's why the Legislators had to stick the rules into this legislation to put something in effect to help the law take effect at the end of this year. It's just troubling to me that it takes so long to get rules published and I just hope that this isn't a precedent for every other piece of legislation that we pass – that we're going to have to be sticking rules into other bills to have rules be implemented.

"When the collection of the deposit begins, $40 million is the projected revenue from the 5 cents deposit. The proponents are targeting 80 percent of the containers to be recycled, which means that $32 million of that will be going back out to the public. Under this projection $8 million stays with the State. If the program has to be implemented, the program should be run from this money that stays with the State. Instead, a container fee of 1½ cents per container will charge the public an additional $12 million to run this program. If the redemption rate does not hit 70 percent, the container fee would be 1 cent instead of the 1½ cents. This will be a 7.7 percent reduction in the amount collected on each can, bottle, or container. Would this mean that in order to keep the program from running a deficit the 5 cents deposit would later need to be raised to a 10 cents deposit per container like one of the states on the mainland.

"Another set of figures show that $56 million in total will be collected based on an 80 percent reduction rate. Of that $56 million, $32 million will go back to the consumers. $56 million minus $32 million means that $24 million does not go back to the consumer. $24 million, that's what the public is funding into this program to make this program work. Of that, $13 million will be going to redemption centers and $6 million will be going to administer the program. There's a missing $5 million in there somewhere. But basically, if you think about it, the $24 million is funded by the working class families who can't make recycling their top priority because of possibly having two to three jobs, who have it hard enough time setting aside quality time for their children.

"Mr. President, is it fair to charge a 39 percent increase for a case of soda to the families in our state that are already struggling to make ends meet? I urge my colleagues to vote 'no' on this measure.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose to speak in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, I appreciate the last speaker's use of figures and rash testimony. However, I have to go back to the previous speaker, the good Senator from Maui. I'm still a little confused. I don't know if he's the son of one of our colleagues here or if he knows the difference between a tax and non-tax. He's trying to tell us that a tax is not a tax. This is a tax.

"He's also trying to tell us and to infer that the businesses are so much better off with this piece of legislation than the existing legislation and that they even embrace it. Then something must be wrong because there is a full-page ad that they took out yesterday asking that this bill not be passed and talking not about tactics, but the $20 million – more than $20 million – that the consumers are going to pay.

"My good colleague said that he answered the questions, but he didn't answer the questions. He didn't answer about the recycling centers. He didn't answer about how we get the refunds. He didn't answer about all of the money. And deriding the 1 cent or 1½ cents, which he forgot to tell us was per container.

"Every time we've had any kind of tax or fee, we notice that it doesn't stand at 1 cent or 1½ cents. All we have to do is look at gasoline or tobacco to be our most prominent guides. The main thing is here again we are trying to talk about the issue that was raised two years ago – landfills, and these particular products take between 2 to 3 percent of the landfill. They are not going to solve that problem. They are not going to solve other problems, but they're going to create problems at tremendous costs not only for businesses, which will be passed on to the extent that can to consumers, but to the consumers also.

"And as the previous speaker said, we are giving false hopes and expectations to the consumers. This is not an environmental bill. This is a tax bill."

Senator English rose to speak in rebuttal and stated:

"Mr. President, in rebuttal.

"I wasn't under the impression that I was answering anyone's questions. I was laying out the arguments why I think we should be doing this. So, the previous speaker was terribly mistaken in his assumption.

"But let me just take on one thing here and that's this – no matter how you look at it, the bottle bill will go into effect. So, what's before us is will it go into effect as it stands or will it go into effect as we have changed it here? That's what is before us.

"Two speakers ago tried to lay out an argument that this would put it in place, but the problem with that is that it's already in place. This makes it easier. So, laying out those arguments while interesting, kind of interesting premise as well, doesn't really address what this bill does.

"I just have to point out this as well, that even though there's a little bit of money being collected now, the Governor proposed to raid those funds in a March 12th Governor's message to us. If you remember, part of her proposal is to raid funds, and understand that it does not need legislative approval, it's simply telling us that she will be taking these moneys to use. Let's take $5 million out of the fund for the redemption of these bottles. The problem with that is that there is only $3 million in the fund. How can you take more than is actually there? I guess it was a projection that by the time they get around to taking that money to raiding this fund, there will be $5 million there.

"So what we've done in here is we put in some language asking that the auditor who under the previous version of the bill, the bill that was passed, certify that any excess moneys, if there are excess moneys, certify it, and saying that okay this is excess. The way that the bill was constructed, by my assumptions and by my calculations, there should be very little or nothing in excess. But it requires the auditor in her audits of this fund, every year for the first two years and then every other year after that, to certify if there's excess funds and only that would be allowed to be raided by either the executive or the legislative branch. So we built in some protections for the 5 cents that is held in trust in this deposit, in this fund for every bottle and container out there.

"Be very clear what this is. It's a bill that makes it easier for the retailers. You know, they put a wonderful full-page ad, which I haven't seen, saying that this should die. But you know, what they want and all of us want is for this whole bill to die completely and want a repeal of it. So, like they did with my small mom and pop stores, they told them something that wasn't true and asked them to communicate with me based on that non-truth and it gave me an opportunity to talk to them and to explain to them what the truth is. I think that their ad is wonderful for the newspapers. They make some money. It's wonderful I think for the debate on this. But, understand that their propaganda is simply that – propaganda. They want to see the bottle bill repealed. And make no mistake about it; this will go into effect – this will go into effect – with or without these amendments here.

"I ask you to support this measure. Thank you."

Senator Kanno rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, a rebuttal.

"I just wanted to add in opposition to the bill that one of the things that the bill does is take the burden off of many retailers to say that redemption center only has to be within a 2 mile radius. What that does, in effect, is make it harder for everyone to redeem their cans.

"I also wanted to mention that I really truly do hope that when this program is implemented that it is a smooth and seamless transition. And to me, there were so many possible things to go wrong, so many possible frustrations for the community, so much potential anger for government, retailers, the bottlers, everyone to deal with. I just ask everyone involved with this to do all they can to make the public aware of what is happening and when. I think it's very frustrating for the public, if they understand it, that they've already been paying these moneys, that they'll start to be paying more and more, and they won't be able to redeem their cans until a certain time. So all of the timing issues add to the frustration of the public.

"As we implemented a new system with ERS this year, they built in a year-and-a-half time to communicate to public employees that they are going to have an important choice to make about their pensions, about switching to a new pension system or retaining their old system. That's the kind of up front work that needs to be done with something as important this because we're talking about people's pocketbooks. And we're talking about a difficult process where people are going to have to add stops along the way to the supermarket to redeem their cans somewhere in order for them to get their 5 cents back.

"I don't know if all of you see it, I see a huge potential difficulty in the implementation of this. My message is not to complain about it, but to ask all the parties involved to do everything physically possible to do it in an informed and smooth transition because I am fearing the worst.

"Thank you."

Senator Hogue rose in support with reservations and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support with reservations.

"I don't like the fee portion of this particular bill, but I've lived in states that had the bottle bill and I've seen it work. Actually, it was not only good for the environment, but it ended up being good for many of the businesses involved. You gather all of your bottles and cans and you went down to the store and in many cases you end up spending a lot more money there than you would of otherwise.

"So, for those reasons and many more, I think this is ultimately a good idea. Its time has come. Its time is now to support it and I will. Thank you."

Senator Menor rose with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, I just want to enter my support with reservations."

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 92-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 1611, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE DEPOSIT BEVERAGE CONTAINER PROGRAM," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 5 (Hemmings, Kanno, Kawamoto, Slom, Trimble).

At 12:46 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 2:09 o'clock p.m.

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 93-04 (S.B. No. 17, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 2):

Senator Sakamoto moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 93-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 17, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Kanno rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in support.

"Mr. President, I'd like to commend the Chair and the Vice Chair of the Education Committee for their efforts on this measure. I think they worked very hard at addressing a number of the concerns and fighting for the Senate position. I'm looking forward with a lot of hope to the implementation of this bill.

"I think the focus is on student achievement and I think as we continue our discussions about education reform, student achievement should continue to be a focal point for us. I hope that as the bill moves forward and gets implemented, we continue our efforts to improve student achievement and continue to look at steps toward making universal preschool a reality. Because if we are talking about looking at the brain research that shows a remarkable growth in a child's brain before the child is five and the large number of children who do not have the benefit of a structured preschool, one way for us to make structural improvements to our school system that would have a direct impact on student achievement is to provide for additional avenues for more children to attend preschool.

"Thank you."

Senator Baker rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I have some remarks in support of this measure I'd like to have inserted into the Journal."

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Baker's remarks read as follows:

"Mr. President, S.B. No. 17, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1; Relating to Education, changes the minimum age requirement for children entering kindergarten. The intent of this bill is to ensure that all children be provided an appropriate start in their public school careers. Children in Hawaii deserve the best opportunity to succeed in kindergarten and subsequent scholastic experiences. By changing the minimum age requirement, children will be better prepared for kindergarten.

"Currently Hawaii's keiki are allowed to enter kindergarten at the age of four. Studies have shown that children who enter a highly structured environment too early are unable to maintain focus. There is a demonstrable difference in children who are only six months older. In addition, many children who are unable to focus in class are classified as having a learning disability.

"The benefits of changing the minimum requirement age for Hawaii's children to enter kindergarten will be students who would achieve higher scores on academic achievement tests. In addition, research on early childhood development indicate there may be an added benefit to male students who will be more engaged in school and become much more successful in dealing with like situations. Also, teachers are able to teach more effectively to classes that are appropriately mature. This bill will give our children a better chance in the beginning of their education."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 93-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 17, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 1 (Slom). Excused, 1 (Fukunaga).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 94-04 (S.B. No. 3182, H.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 94-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 3182, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kim.

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition of H.B. No. 2748."

President Bunda stated:

"We're on S.B. No. 3182, Senator Trimble.

Senator Trimble continued:

"Well, you know, when that bill was here, I voted for it, but what came back and is in front of us today is H.B. No. 2748."

The President interjected:

"Can we have a short recess?"

At 2:11 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 2:12 o'clock p.m.

Senator Trimble rose and said:

"Mr. President, I am sorry for my mistake. What we are discussing is S.B. No. 3182 in its new form and one of the problems is that when committee reports are filed on a Friday and it's a weekend, people don't have a chance to see what we're going to be discussing today and give us input."

President Bunda interjected:

"Senator Trimble are you going up or down on this bill?"

Senator Trimble replied as follows:

"I am speaking in opposition to S.B. No. 3182. It is an old issue. Some people would like to make it out to be an issue relating to the Business Action Center. I have the greatest respect for Milton Kwok and the rest of the team at the Business Action Center, but what this bill does is it confers civil service status on the people in the Business Action Center outside of the recruitment process and I think that is bad policy.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 94-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 3182, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE STATE OF HAWAII," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Trimble rose to speak with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I'm voting with reservations on this bill.

"This bill permits the High Technology Corporation to deposit monies that it collects for monies that is not owed and puts it in a special bank account. I'm not sure why the High Technology Development Company is collecting monies that is not owed and therefore needs to put it in a special bank account. And I'm not sure what this type of thing will be used for in the future.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 97-04 was adopted and S.B. Conf. Com. Rep. No. 98-04 (S.B. No. 2690, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Baker moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 98-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 2690, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"The purpose is worthy. We want to support air ambulance, but not at the expense of another increase in motor vehicle registration fees plus the addition of yet another new special fund.

"Thank you."

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

"Mr. President, this measure is to expand our emergency medical services ground ambulance component. The helicopter ambulance was in another bill. This measure will give us the wherewithal to expand those much needed services. If we left it only with our current resources in the general fund we would not be able to expand to the top five areas that have been identified with objective criteria that need additional ground ambulance service in this state.

"Many other jurisdictions use a portion of their vehicle registration fee, a one-time yearly fee that will enable us to provide those services because there is a clear nexus between traffic accidents, trauma, and the need for emergency medical services. We have some 940,000 cars in the state that pay a fee. The state fee has not been raised since the early nineties. It's $20, we're raising it $5. It's less than a pack of soda, a lunch, a pack of anything else, a movie and I believe, in the terms of the people that I have talked to, a very small and almost insignificant amount to pay for the increased services on Oahu, on the Big Island, and on Maui, as well as providing for much needed training, professional development for our paramedics.

"One of the things that the paramedics identified as an important feature for them to be able to continue to recruit and bring additional paramedics in was to provide training on the neighbor islands. Right now, if you want to be a paramedic, you want to upgrade your skills, go from one level to the next level, you end up having to spend some 15 to 18 months on Oahu. That's very disruptive for people who have a career and have to relocate over to this island in order to upgrade their skills. We need more emergency medical service personnel and if we don't have measures like this, we're not going to be able to retain and recruit others.

"Mr. President, I think that this is such an important measure that it should have universal support. I understand the Senator from Hawaii Kai doesn't like special funds. If there was another way to do it, I think we would have sought to do so. But this is something that is going to enable us to expand services in the future; it places it next to the service that really causes the additional need for emergency medical services. And it's one that I certainly hope all of my colleagues will support.

Before I sit down, I just want to acknowledge two people in the gallery with us today. One of Honolulu's finest paramedics, June Greenwood, and another gentleman who's helped me not only on this measure but on the air medical one, a wonderful paramedic from the island of Molokai, Scotty Schaefer. Thank you folks very much.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 98-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2690, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 99-04 (S.B. No. 2134, H.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator English moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 99-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 2134, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator English rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the measure.

"Mr. President, this measure moves from the Session Laws of Hawaii to the Hawaii Revised Statutes the legislation creating the Emergency Environment Workforce. And as you know, this was a measure that is very successful in Hawaii in eradicating such invasive as dengue fever and helping us to deal with typhus and other types of emergencies in Maui County and throughout the state.

“While we were unable to secure the needed funding for this measure in the measure itself, the committee report says that we are authorizing the use of monies to the Hawaii Invasive Species Council that we created earlier to implement this. And if you look at the proviso that we put in the budget on the $4 million that went to Hawaii Invasive Species Council, we authorized them to work with various agencies to implement that mandate.

“So, while some may say that we did not gain funding for it, I think what we can say is that we allowed for Hawaii Invasive Species Council at their call to fund this should they choose to and to implement it when they deem it appropriate. So I think it allows for the greatest amount of flexibility and salvages the workforce in the statutes and allows us to move the idea forward in giving the Hawaii Invasive Species Council a rapid response team on the ground.

“I ask the members of the Senate to support its passage. Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 99-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2134, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE ENVIRONMENT,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 101-04 (S.B. No. 3049, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Menor moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 101-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 3049, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Trimble rose to oppose the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I stand in opposition to S.B. No. 3049.

“The committee report reflected that this measure would make it easier for charitable organizations to raise money by offering charitable gift annuities. That may be so, but I at the moment am also interested in what protection will be provided to the donors. The people that typically make charitable gift annuities tend to be elderly and tend to rely upon the annuity to provide them with their income for the rest of their life.

“This tool in the hands of people that may not be totally scrupulous, for example, maybe a Ronald Rewald, could raise amazing amounts of money, cause havoc to society by doing it in a pyramiding or ponzi scheme that would have potentially disastrous effects to our elderly population.

“I urge you to consider a ‘no’ vote on this measure.”

This is fixing something that we put in the solar tax bill last year. It has no fiscal impact, I repeat, no fiscal impact on the budget because it simply corrects something we did in a previous bill.

"I ask the members to support the measure. Thank you."

"Colleagues, perhaps we are part of the problem with our schools. We seem to say we want results and yet we seem to be constantly involved in piddling, micromanagement. Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure and said:

"Madame President, I rise to speak against S.B. No. 420.

"It's rather ironic speaking against this bill because we introduced it two years ago, but it's morphed considerably since its introduction. This basically is going to take $10 million out of DCCA. DCCA has been more than cooperative with this Legislature on helping balance the budgets and putting money back into the general fund. Last year, if you recall, they did put a considerable amount of money in the general fund. It must be remembered at all times, this money, for the most part, comes from the DCCA on the part of their customers, the businesses that paid the compliance resolution fund for licensing and other services provided by the DCCA.

"The DCCA has made available $4.1 million, which is settlement money that the federal government gave to the DCCA for another issue which they're more than willing to put in the general fund. The other 6 million or so dollars that will be put in the general fund from DCCA is coming out of the pockets of those businesses that paid the fees. So, in a sense we're turning those fees into a tax, which was never intended.

"Number two, I think we should all remember that this bill is in fact necessary to help balance the budget. As difficult as it is for the DCCA to relinquish $10 million, it sure beats dismantling the DCCA Compliance Resolution Fund entirely, which was originally proposed in which the Governor vetoed that Legislation.

"So, in many ways this bill is a compromise and we would have hoped it could have been a little easier on the DCCA. But in view of that, it is a compromise.

"Thank you, Madame President."

Senator Taniguchi rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

"Madame President, I rise to speak in favor.

"I wasn't going to say anything, but I believe the department was willing to actually take a $12 million raid on the department, but we only went with 10.

"I do see Mr. Recktenwald in the gallery and I just want to introduce him for those who don't know him. But, that was my recollection.

"Thank you."

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in favor of the measure with reservations and stated:

"Madame President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill with reservations.

"Madame President, this bill could be a lot better if we really look at the public employees overall, all of the public employees. This one here addresses one employee union. The other one that I'm thinking about is the HSTA. HSTA requested that we help the public employees with the trust. I think we in the Senate leadership and the Senate Body were in favor of HSTA's proposals but they all seemed unwilling to go along with the idea. If you had to see the public employees, currently we lose about 1,300 teachers a year. Our university provides us with 400 to 500 teachers a year. And we go off and recruit from the mainland with a $100,000 package to hire special ed teachers.

“We need to look at the teachers as a frontline public employee. We have all the school reforms that we passed this year, but if you don’t take care of your troops up on the frontline for a very long time, things will not happen the way you want it to happen.

“So therefore, if I am back next year, I will make this my priority bill. Thank you.”

Senator Trimble rose to speak with reservations and said:

“Madame President, I rise with reservations.

“Curious bill. It’s an appropriation of 400,000 people. When David Shimabukuro of the Employee Retirement System appeared in front of Ways and Means he said, ‘Oh, it’s probably about 20 people mostly from the University of Hawaii.’ I have problems with bills that are so limited in their application that they affect few people and only one department. And I also have a problem when the University of Hawaii submits a budget and then we’re asked to one at a time pick up the pieces as we go through later on.

“So, I’m casting a reservation. Thank you.”

"We all recognize that prescription drugs are one of the most costly components of healthcare. H.B. No. 2005, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, relating to prescription drugs, is an innovative program that will reduce waste and save money. This bill is the result of a collaborative effort between the Departments of Health, Human Services, the Office of the Attorney General, the Board of Pharmacy, long term care and pharmacy industries, the Medicine Bank and consumer groups like the American Cancer Society.

"Currently, once dispensed, prescription drugs may not be used by anyone other than the individual for whom the medication was prescribed. This factor has contributed to the high cost of medical care. H.B. No. 2005 is an attempt to alleviate the economic burden, eliminate waste and maintain quality healthcare in Hawaii.

"This measure assists the needy and other individuals who lack the means to obtain prescription drugs by establishing a return-for-credit-and-reuse of prescription drugs program to allow previously dispensed prescription drugs meeting certain requirements to be returned to the dispensing pharmacy for credit to the payer and reuse. In addition, this bill creates a mechanism for previously dispensed prescription drugs to be donated to drug repositories. Under the provisions of H.B. No. 2005, prescription drugs that cannot be returned to the institutional pharmacy to be re-dispensed, although completely safe for consumption, will be put to good use through the repository program."

Ayes, 23. Noes, none. Excused, 2 (Menor, Whalen).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 140-04 (H.B. No. 2883, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Kawamoto moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 140-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 2883, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Aduja.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Madame President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"While I certainly support the police and support better communications, the problem with this bill has been that it is a surcharge, an additional charge on everyone's cell phone. I think during debate we could never get a fix as to what the total cost was going to be and what the actual surcharge was going to be. Everybody always talks about, well, it's only going to be 40 cents, 60 cents, 80 cents and that's where it starts out and then it continues to rise.

"In addition to that, I have concerns and questions about the technology that would be used for the enhanced 911, knowing that the police department has had very serious problems for several years now with their Motorola regular equipment.

"So, for these reasons, I'm voting against the bill."

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Madame President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"In addition to the comments made by the Senator from Hawaii Kai, this is an example where we're taxing the messenger. There is no direct relationship between the tax that we're applying on the phone service, no direct relationship, and the service that is being provided.

"On a deeper level we should we should consider how our police protection should be funded and not go out and look for additional ways to tack on little bit here, a little bit here, and a little bit here. We know how much it is going to cost, but we have not gotten a good accurate description of what is going to be provided and how accurate it is going to be, so that at least when I go out and tell people yes they've been taxed, they can decide for themselves whether it's going to be benefiting them or not. If I can't explain to them, if I ask them just to trust me, it's not sufficient.

"I'll therefore be casting a 'no' vote. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 140-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 2883, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WIRELESS ENHANCED 911 SERVICE," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 19. Noes, 3 (Hemmings, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 3 (Fukunaga, Menor, Whalen).

Senator Ige moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 141-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 2137, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations and said:

"Madame President, I rise in support of this measure with reservations.

"I took part in the discussions in the Conference and I know this is an important issue and there was a great deal of lobbying and a great deal of communication back and forth. And basically what the bill seems to do is to have a one call center so that when construction takes place there is good communication between excavators, contractors, utilities and the government.

"Therein lies the rub. There's been a lot of hours spent on this bill and I think it's generally a pretty good bill. But it still raises questions of liability of state and counties as to whether or not they would be responsible if even after all of these things are done there still are problems or there are dislocations or inconveniences that are caused. And I think the state and counties made that decision clear from the beginning of the negotiations, but I don't think it's been completely resolved.

"So, we do have a problem. We do need a solution. I'm just suggesting that we have problems. You may remember I spoke earlier with caution about the annual bill where were always paying for lawsuits and threatened lawsuits and everything else and I want everybody to realize that this is a possibility of potential for this bill.

"Thank you."

Senator Hogue requested his vote be cast "aye, with reservations," and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 141-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 2137, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO A ONE CALL CENTER," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 1 (Hemmings). Excused, 3 (Fukunaga, Menor, Whalen).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 142-04 (H.B. No. 1374, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Kanno moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 142-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 1374, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Madame President, I rise in strong opposition to this bill.

"One of the issues that we started out this Session back in January with was the constant problems of the cost of workers compensation to all businesses and thus ultimately to consumers, and the problem of fraud. We had a good bill that was presented by the administration. It was gutted. The whole idea was to have the insurance commissioner and the insurance division to have a fraud unit, not unlike that for unemployment compensation and for medical. This is for worker's compensation.

"The issue always was fraud is fraud and whoever, whoever, commits fraud, whether it's an employee, an employer, an insurance company, a hospital, a doctor, or whoever it is, they should be prosecuted because all of us pay for increased worker's comp.

"Well, this bill was turned on its head. The worker's comp and fraud unit was taken out of the insurance commission and then at the end in Conference, it makes it even more interesting because the fraud that will be investigated, that will be discussed will be only that fraud that's conducted or complicit by employers or insurance companies. Any other fraud continues to go unpunished.

"It's a bad bill. It's a bad message. It is out of sync with all of the other kinds of fraud units that we have and we should have done a better job."

Senator Kanno rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Madame President, I rise to speak in support of the measure.

"I just wanted to comment about the measure that the Conferees did make adjustments to both the Senate and the House drafts and what we decided to do was bifurcate the system so that what the insurance commissioner was pursuing was the ability to pursue fraud charges against all stakeholders in the worker's compensation system.

"The Conferees decided to designate insurance companies, self-insured employers, fully insured employers and have that be investigated by the insurance commissioner and to have claimants and medical providers to continue to be investigated by the Department of Labor. They have in the past pursued individuals on fraud charges.

"The statement I believe we wanted to make was that fraud is not solely committed by claimants as some would like to believe, but rather fraud possibly is being committed by all stakeholders in the system including employers, insurance companies, medical providers, as well as claimants. We wanted to provide a balanced measure that would allow us to begin this structural shift, provide for a timeframe to evaluate whether the charges that they were pursuing against fraud claims was fair and balanced and that they were looking at all stakeholders for possible fraud charges.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 142-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 1374, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO WORKERS' COMPENSATION," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Senator Ige moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 144-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 2396, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Slom rose to speak in opposition as follows:

"Madame President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

"There was an attempt to put together a good bill. This has got a lot of different things involved with it. Not only the Capital Investment Fund from the state is questionable whether or not the state should be involved in this, but also hammered out changes to Act 221, which was much troubled. It's going to extend Act 221. It doesn't answer some of our basic questions about really the costs and the number and kinds of jobs it will create. It doesn't follow what's happened already with Act 221 and we're going to be extending it for another five years. And it also introduces yet another new special fund.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 144-04 was adopted and H.B. No. 2396, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CAPITAL INVESTMENTS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

By unanimous consent, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 145-04 and S.B. No. 2549, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT MAKING AN APPROPRIATION FOR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING COST ITEMS," were recommitted to the Committee on Conference.

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 146-04 (S.B. No. 2550, H.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Kanno moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 146-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 2550, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Hogue rose to speak in support of the measure and stated:

"Madame President, I rise in support of this particular measure.

"I am very glad that the Governor has come together with the teachers union and has put together numbers which will allow for teacher recruitment and retention. Certainly a very, very important issue and the teachers are all going to get a raise, which is sorely needed by them. So I support that.

"I also want to make a point though, colleagues, that all raises are not created equally. Just because one particular bargaining unit received a raise does not mean that other bargaining units should get an equal raise or any raise at all. Each of these bargaining units should go before the Governor in the process and should negotiate to the best of their ability. And this is one that we can strongly endorse and we will do so.

"Thank you, Madame President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 146-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2550, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT MAKING AN APPROPRIATION FOR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING COST ITEMS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

"SECTION 1. There are appropriated out of the general revenues of the State of Hawaii to the legislative agencies indicated below the following sums or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2004-2005 to fund the salary increases and other cost adjustments authorized by chapter 89C, Hawaii Revised Statutes, for officers and employees of these agencies excluded from collective bargaining:

	FY 2004-2005
State ethics commission	$12,000
Office of the auditor	$82,825
Office of the legislative reference bureau	$49,728
Office of the ombudsman	$32,466

The sums appropriated shall be expended by the respective heads of the legislative agencies for the purposes of this Act."

Senator Taniguchi moved that Floor Amendment No. 15 be adopted, seconded by Senator Kanno.

Senator Taniguchi noted:

"Madame Chair, S.B. No. 2556 relates to salaries for employees of our service agencies. I guess in our deliberations we forgot to put in the one for the ethics commission staff and this amendment will cover that."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 15 was put by the Chair and carried.

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 148-04 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Kanno and carried.

Ayes, 23. Noes, none. Excused, 2 (Fukunaga, Menor).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 150-04 (S.B. No. 2595, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 150-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 2595, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Baker.

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure as follows:

"Madame President, I rise in support of this measure.

"Madame President and colleagues, this is certainly a bill that's been a long time coming. We thought we had this measure taken care of last Session only to discover that our colleagues across the way recommitted their version for some technical concerns.

"This year the measure has brought support from not only the counselors, but the DCCA. And I'd like to take this time to say a particular mahalo to Noenoe Tom of the DCCA staff who worked diligently with some of the counselors that have persevered over the years, and also to thank Phyllis Dendle for coming forward to help move what was just going to be a title protection bill to a title protection and practice bill.

"You know, colleagues, Hawaii is one of only three states that doesn't license professional counselors. While national certification is available, it doesn't provide the same benefits or protections to the public as state licensure does. These masters level mental health clinicians bring valuable skills to the community, but without licensure these professionals are at a disadvantage because increasingly federal programs require that services be provided by licensed professionals.

"Whether it's Medicare, Medicaid or Quest rules, unlicensed persons cannot provide services to individuals in those particular categories. For example, under Medicaid and Quest regulations, existing seasoned unlicensed mental health professionals are not permitted to provide the same scope of practice as licensed mental health professionals. For Medicare, the only thing that keeps a counselor from providing the valuable and needed services is that they don't have a state license.

"This is in part why 47 states, the District of Columbia, Guam and Puerto Rico have licensed professional counselors. I know that perhaps one of my colleagues or another might get up and say, 'well the auditor said they didn't need licensure.' That state audit report was a number of years ago and the times have changed, the rules have changed, the regulations have changed.

"This is the same reason that social workers, marriage and family therapists were so diligent in seeking their licensure. Being licensed has become the rule rather than the exception and we should not prevent qualified experienced mental health professional counselors from the ability to deliver the range of mental health services within their scope of education.

"It is now frequently considered by those in the field of mental health and behavioral health a minimum qualification to have this sort of licensure. The impact on access to mental health treatment statewide will be negatively affected if the approximately 300 professional counselors in Hawaii are not allowed to be licensed, thus dramatically eliminating their valuable services and expertise.

"I think this is a particular concern since we moved last year to expand the mental health coverage, and with the advent of HMSA determining that the full range of mental illnesses are now covered, we do have full parity in our state for mental health services. In doing so, we need to make sure that we have the full range of professionals able to make that treatment.

"So it's with a great deal of pleasure that I see this bill that we've been working on for what seems like an eternity finally poised to be enacted into law. I do want to thank once again, Noenoe Tom from DCCA for assisting in this endeavor. I urge all my colleagues to support this measure."

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure and stated:

"Madame President, I rise in opposition to this measure.

"I rise in opposition to this measure because we have a Legislative Auditor. We just gave her a raise and then when it's not convenient, we ignore what she says. I feel that the appropriate process, if conditions have changed, is to ask her to take another look. Until she does that, I don't see that services were not provided without state licensing last year.

"This is yet another group that comes before us trying to convince us that they need to be licensed by a state body. The only reason why I could think that we might need it is if next year we're going to come back and give them prescriptive authority.

"Anyway, I will be voting against this measure. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 150-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2595, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PROFESSIONAL COUNSELORS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 22. Noes, 2 (Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Menor).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 151-04 (S.B. No. 2906, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 151-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 2906, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Baker.

Senator Slom rose to speak in support of the measure with reservations and said:

“Madame President, I rise in support of this measure with reservations.

“You know it’s really interesting, the focal point of the Legislature became taking care of the public employee unions and trying to dismantle or disagree with the DCCA. The DCCA is obviously the best run agency in the state government. Polls have shown that, personal opinions have verified that, and yet what we’ve tried to do this Session is try to dismantle it, raid money from it and disregard the actions of the director when he actually wanted to reduce or eliminate fees.

“This is a good example. He came before the Ways and Means Committee, he wanted to eliminate the certificate of good standing fee because what he said was, and his argument was very clear, ‘Here we make businesses jump through hoops. They have to do various things. They have to pay the fees for doing the things. Then they complete all of that. Then we turn around and charge them another fee to show that they had done everything that they were supposed to have done and paid all of the things that they’ve done.’ And so he wanted to eliminate the fee. But this Legislative Body, not content with not lingering with the DCCA, simply reduced the fee down to $5, but we still have to collect that fee.

“So I will support the measure because we’re reducing the fee, but I also remind this body that the DCCA director came in with several bills to reduce other fees that weren’t even given a hearing this year. So, I think there’ll be more eyes in the community, particularly the business community, as to what this Legislature does particularly when people pop up and say how they support business. It’s not what you say, it’s what you do and how you act. And the DCCA director, Mr. Recktenwald, who was introduced a little while ago, has shown a clear force for getting to the heart of the issue, reducing fees, making the department more efficient and more customer oriented, and he has shown he can do it independently.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 151-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2906, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CERTIFICATES OF GOOD STANDING,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 157-04 (S.B. No. 1491, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

“Madame President, I rise to speak in favor of S.B. No. 1491, C.D. 1.

“I have comments that I would like to have inserted into the Journal, but I would like to make a brief comment.

“Madame President, in my typical mild-mannered style, I would like to thank the Governor – again, thank the Governor – for her soft approval of the Legislature’s version of the supplemental budget last week. I believe she will be pleased that we have moved this bill.

“Thank you.”

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Taniguchi’s comments read as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of S.B. No. 1491.

“Mr. President, this is really an unprecedented bill – but one that is appropriate given that we took unprecedented action this year.

“I am, of course, talking about our adoption of the supplemental budget a few weeks earlier than usual.

“On that note, I would like to quickly thank the Governor and her administration for approving the Legislature’s version of the supplemental budget last week. I think in return, she will be thankful for this bill – which modifies a few things in the supplemental budget that the Governor had objections to, or asked us to restore – specifically, the method of financing for the DCCA and vacant positions in the Departments of Labor and Human Services. In fact, we took it a step further and restored a few positions that the Governor did not ask for, but we felt was the responsible thing to do.

“If nothing else, I believe that this bill represents two very important things:

The first is that this Legislature has the best interest of the people in mind when we craft the budget. We are neither punitive nor vindictive in our actions. We are not here to play games or politics – especially with the state’s budget.

And second is that this Legislature is – and always has been – willing to work with this administration. Whether it is on the budget or any other piece of legislation, we have always embraced a cooperative spirit.

“I must acknowledge the Governor’s statement of hope that this Legislature learned a lesson this Session when crafting this budget. I believe we did. The lesson I believe we learned is that we have a rightful place in shaping our state’s future and we exercised it responsibly this year better than any other.

“Again, either through our fiscal policies or otherwise, I believe we as a Body positively affirmed our public mandate – and that is to represent our constituents for the reasons they elected us, but to do so in a way that is constructive.

“We as the Legislature have our role and the Governor has hers. As this bill indicates, neither she nor the Legislature governs this state single handedly – we must cooperate and remain flexible to do what is right for the people.

“I urge my colleagues to support this measure.

“Thank you.”

Senator Hemmings rose in support of the measure and said:

“Madame President, I’m speaking in favor of S.B. No. 1491.

“I do want to compliment the Majority Party, especially the good Chair of the Senate Ways and Means Committee. It shows that oftentimes when mistakes are made we can correct them. It’s magnanimous, in this particular incident, for the Senate Ways and Means Chair and the Majority Party to correct some of the problems that were enunciated when we did pass the omnibus spending bill, H.B. No. 1800. This does put back into place some of the cuts that we made, especially vacant positions, and this will serve people of Hawaii well.

“It’s nice for me to stand up personally to be able to say that sometimes bipartisan cooperation through and executive branch and the Senate Majority and Minority result in good things. It’s a pleasure to have it happen this time.

“Thank you.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 157-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 1491, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO STATE GOVERNMENT;” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 158-04 (S.B. No. 3193, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 59-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 2928, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Baker.

Senator Chun Oakland rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Madame President, I stand in opposition to this measure.

“I received a phone call from the Chairman of the House Human Services and Housing Committee, and he indicated that in our effort to eliminate the Rental Housing Trust Fund Advisory Commission, we had hoped to place on the Hawaii Housing Development Corporation of Hawaii Advisory Council a representative of the public housing residence. That did not occur, and as a result he asked that we recommit this measure. So that is why I will be voting ‘no’ on this measure.”

The Chair inquired:

“Is it your intention that we recommit this?”

Senator Chun Oakland answered:

"Correct. He has indicated that the House will be recommitting this measure."

At 3:21 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 3:22 o'clock p.m.

Senator Tsutsui rose in opposition to the measure and said:

"Madame President, I will also be voting 'no' on this measure based on the comments from the previous speaker.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 59-04 was adopted and S.B. Senator Hogue then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 14) to S.B. No. 2425, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1:

Section 1. Senate Bill No. 2425, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, is amended by amending section 1 as follows:

"SECTION 1. Section 302A-1185, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended to read as follows:

"§302A-1185 New century charter schools; funding. (a) Beginning with the fiscal year 2004-2005 supplemental budget request, and each budget request thereafter, the charter school administrative office shall submit a request for general fund appropriations for each new century charter school based upon:

- (1) The actual and projected enrollment figures in the current school year for each charter school; and
- (2) A per pupil amount for each regular education and special education student, which shall be equivalent to the total per pupil cost based upon average enrollment in all cost categories, including comprehensive school support services but excluding special education services, and for all means of financing except federal funds, as reported in the most recently published department of education consolidated annual financial report[-], provided that the legislature may make an adjustment to the per pupil allocation for the purposes of this section.

The legislature shall make an appropriation based upon the budget request; provided that ~~the~~ legislature may make additional appropriations for collective bargaining increases for charter school employee members of collective bargaining units, fringe and other employee benefits, facility costs, and for other requested amounts. The governor, pursuant to chapter 37, may impose restrictions or reductions on charter school appropriations similar to those imposed on other public schools.

(b) All federal financial support for new century charter schools shall be no less than all other public schools; provided that if administrative services related to federal grants and subsidies are provided to the charter school by the department, the charter school shall reimburse the department for the actual costs of the administrative services in an amount that does not exceed six and one-half per cent of the charter school's federal grants and subsidies. Any new century charter school shall be eligible to receive any supplementary financial grant or award for which any other public school may submit a proposal, or any supplemental federal grants limited to new century charter schools; provided that if department administrative services, including funds management, budgetary, fiscal accounting, or other related services, are provided with respect to these supplementary grants, the charter school shall reimburse the department for the actual costs of the administrative services in an amount that does not exceed six and one-half per cent of the supplementary grant for which the services are used. All additional funds that are generated by the local school boards, not from a supplementary grant, shall be separate and apart from allotted funds and may be expended at the discretion of the local school boards.

(c) To enable new century charter schools to access state funding prior to the start of each school year, foster their fiscal planning, and enhance their accountability, the charter school administrative office shall:

- (1) Provide ~~forty~~ fifty per cent of a new century charter school's per pupil allocation based on the new century charter school's projected student enrollment no later than ~~August 1~~ July 20 of each fiscal year; provided that the new century charter school shall submit to the charter school administrative office a projected student enrollment no later than May 15 of each year;
- (2) Provide an additional forty per cent of a new century charter school's per pupil allocation no later than ~~October~~ November 15 of each year; provided that the new century charter school shall submit to the charter school administrative ~~office a verified student enrollment no later than September 15 of each year; and~~ office:

(A) Student enrollment as verified on October 15 of each year, provided that the student enrollment shall be verified on the first day of business immediately prior to October 15 should that date fall on a weekend;

(B) An accounting of the percentage of student enrollment who transferred from public schools established and maintained by the department, provided that these accountings shall also be submitted by the charter school administrative office to the legislature no later than twenty days of each regular session; and

- (3) ~~Provide the~~ The remaining ~~twenty~~ ten per cent per pupil allocation of a new century charter school ~~based on the new century charter school's verified student enrollment~~ no later than January 1 of each ~~year; provided that the new century charter school shall submit to the charter school administrative office a revised student enrollment no later than December 1 of each year;~~ year as a contingency balance to ensure fiscal accountability.

(d) The department shall provide appropriate transitional resources to a new century conversion charter school for its first year of operation as a charter school based upon the department's allocation to the school for the year prior to the charter school's conversion.

(e) No new century charter school ~~nor~~ or new century conversion charter school may assess tuition.

(f) The department shall transfer additional funds from EDN 100 to EDN 600 for new century charter schools whose student enrollment, verified on or immediately prior to October 15 as provided for by subsection (c), exceeds the new century charter schools' projected student enrollment, in an amount corresponding to the number of additional students and the per pupil allocation. The charter school administrative office shall transfer from EDN 600 to EDN 100 any excess per pupil allocations for new century charter schools whose verified student enrollment is lower than their projected student enrollment in an amount corresponding to the lower number of students and the per pupil allocation.”

Senator Hogue moved that Floor Amendment No. 14 be adopted, seconded by Senator Hemmings.

Senator Hogue rose and said:

“Madame President, I think first of all I just want to note that we are for equal funding of charter schools, equal on par with all other funding, and so this is a very, very important bill. There was a technical error that happened which will allow for this bill to be possibly messed up, so we certainly don’t want that to happen if it becomes a law.

“If you go to page three and go to section (c), it says, ‘enable new century charter schools to access state funding prior to the start of each school year, foster their fiscal planning, and enhance their accountability, the charter school administrative office shall: (1) provide fifty percent of the new century charter school’s per pupil allocations . . .’ So, that’s in section 1. In section 2 it says, ‘provide an additional forty percent of a new century charter school’s per pupil allocation no later than November 15 . . .’ Then if you go to page 5, there’s a dangling phrase, striking out provide, it just says, ‘the remaining ten percent per pupil allocation of a new century charter school no later than January 1 of each year as a contingency balance to ensure fiscal accountability.’

“So, because there is no verb there, provide that has been stricken out, how do we know what exactly the verb is suppose to be? Is it a case of provide, withhold, punt or whatever? Well, it was pointed out that in the committee report it says provide. And, that’s well and good.

“However, historically, we have seen the Department of Education do some things that we would not have approved of that have ended up hurting the charter schools. And I would certainly hate for this very important bill to go forward without fixing it so that there is absolutely no question at all what the intent of the Legislature is.

“So, I would hope that this amendment can go forward because the intent of the Legislature is to support the charter schools. I think it’s a good amendment and all you have to do is put the provide back in there and it makes it grammatically correct. My English teacher probably approves as well. So, thank you very much, Madame President.”

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 14 was put by the Chair and failed to carry.

The motion to adopt Conf. Com. Rep. No. 68-04 and pass S.B. No. 2425, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, on Final Reading was then put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 68-04 was adopted and S.B. RECONSIDERATION OF ACTIONS TAKEN

S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2 (H.D. 1):

Senator Taniguchi moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on March 30, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2, seconded by Senator Kokubun and carried.

In accordance with the Conference Committee Procedures agreed upon by the Senate and the House of Representatives, the managers on the part of the Senate recommended that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2, on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 2 (Taniguchi, Kokubun). Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Slom).

Senator Taniguchi moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Taniguchi noted:

"Mr. President, I believe there were only technical amendments made to this bill."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2, and S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2, H.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CONFORMITY OF THE HAWAII INCOME TAX LAW TO THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Thursday, May 6, 2004.

S.B. No. 2474, S.D. 3 (H.D. 2):

Senator English moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on April 15, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2474, S.D. 3, seconded by Senator Menor and carried.

Senator English moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2474, S.D. 3, seconded by Senator Menor.

Senator English noted:

"Mr. President, this is the RPS, the renewable portfolio standards bill, and it's been a difficult one for me to agree to the House amendments on. I'd just like to read a few points on it.

"Hawaii imports between $2 billion to $3 billion worth of oil annually and these figures represent a growing dependence on oil. The key to achieving sustainability lies in economic diversification, export expansion and import substitution. In the energy context, import substitution may be achieved by increasing the use and development of renewable energy resources found in Hawaii, such as wind, solar, ocean thermal wave, and biomass resources.

"Members, there are many good components to this bill. This bill shows leadership in legislation because it affirms the state's support for renewable energy production. It creates a renewable portfolio standard of 20 percent to be achieved by the year 2020. This is a firm commitment to reduce our oil imports and increase our self-reliance. It directs DLNR to facilitate the private sector's development of renewable energy projects and to support them in their efforts. It mandates that DBEDT shall direct an independent analysis of the renewable portfolio standards and to report back to the Legislature on RPS progress.

"Furthermore, the bill directs the PUC to study on the RPS standards and to report back to the Legislature how this can be achieved. The PUC must develop and implement a rate making structure that provide incentives to encourage Hawaii's electric utility companies to use cost-effective renewable energy resources in Hawaii to meet the RPS standards.

"Now members, with that said, there are some very problematic parts with this bill. It redefines renewable energy to include non-renewable sources such as heat pumps, ice storage, and heat recovery portions of combined heat and power.

"In essence, it allows some non-renewables to be counted as renewable. It encourages conservation, but counts conservation measures as renewable resources, which we all know they are not. It allows utility to purchase renewable energy up to the avoided costs of providing this energy – up to.

"The Senate version requires the utility to purchase renewable energy at no less than the avoided cost of production producing this energy. This means that renewable energy producers potentially have a smaller profit margin in producing renewable energy. It doesn't direct the PUC to use penalties against the utility if they don't meet the RPS standards. It identifies the Hawaii Natural Energy Institute as the independent entity to conduct studies of the renewable portfolio standards, including an assessment of the viability of the existing standards and recommendation for future changes in the law. It doesn't allow any other capable and qualified institution to provide those recommendations.

"Finally, this RPS standard is only 20 percent by 2020, not 30 percent that the Senate sent out. You know, in weighing the issue very carefully and contemplating all sides of it, I've looked back on bills of this nature in the past and looked at the history of it and I've found a very interesting pattern – we always tend to pass out a bill with some good parts loaded down with some very ugly parts. And those ugly parts always centered around, well, trying to compound renewables as renewable. And it centered around adding in things that, well, didn't really meet the standard – you know, things like heat pumps and ice storage, heat recovery of combined heated power. These things were always included. And then part of that pattern that I saw was that a year or two later, these were removed from the bill and the good parts were usually left to stand.

"So this is a baby step forward with the potential for ten steps backwards. But, I'm willing to take the gamble because we have an administration that is strong in moving the renewable portfolio standards idea forward. We also have a PUC chairman that has shown independence in his judgment and in his work. And if the pattern holds true to what it has been in the past, then we can remove the objectionable parts of this bill next year.

"So, I'm asking the members here today to agree to this bill. It does not represent the best bill that we could have had. It does not represent the best that we could have done for renewable energy portfolio standards, but it is a small microstep forward.

"So, let's take the microstep. Let's move it ahead just a little bit. And next year let's clean this up and make it a real renewable portfolio standards bill. Thank you."

Senator Ihara rose and said:

"Mr. President, would you note my reservations in agreeing to the House amendments on this bill."

The Chair so ordered.

Senator Inouye rose and said:

"Mr. President, please register my reservations. I was really disappointed to hear of the amendments that were made. It seems like when we passed the RPS several years ago, it seems like that was the direction that we were heading for and it seems like now we took off what we all worked hard at and moved a little bit forward. Otherwise I would certainly vote 'no' on this measure, but I certainly would like to see what happens next year.

"So, that's my reservations, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2474, S.D. 3, and S.B. No. 2474, S.D. 3, H.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO RENEWABLE ENERGY," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Thursday, May 6, 2004.

S.C.R. No. 199 (H.D. 1):

Senator Chun Oakland moved that the Senate reconsider its action taken on April 27, 2004, in disagreeing to the amendments proposed by the House to S.C.R. No. 199, seconded by Senator Kanno and carried.

Senator Chun Oakland moved that the Senate agree to the amendments proposed by the House to S.C.R. No. 199, seconded by Senator Kanno.

Senator Chun Oakland noted:

"Mr. President, the original resolution had requested that the Department of Human Services and the Department of Labor jointly examine issues relating to public assistance and disincentives to work. The Department of Human Services had indicated that much of the disincentives have been addressed over a number of years starting in 1996.

"However, there is still a group of individuals that find that there are disincentives to works, mainly, persons with disabilities.

"The amendments made by the House reflect work that was done between the Department of Human Services and VSA Arts with the University of Hawaii to convene a task force to examine strategies and systems change that would allow small business development and careers in creative industries for people with disabilities in Hawaii.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.C.R. No. 199, and S.C.R. No. 199, H.D. 1, entitled: "SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE HAWAII WORK FORCE DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL, THE UNIVERSITY OF HAWAII, AND VSA ARTS OF HAWAII-PACIFIC TO JOINTLY CONVENE A TASK FORCE TO EXAMINE STRATEGIES FOR SYSTEMS CHANGE THAT WILL CREATE ACCESS TO SMALL BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT AND CAREERS IN CREATIVE INDUSTRIES FOR PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES IN HAWAII," was placed on the calendar for Final Adoption on Thursday, May 6, 2004.

MOTION TO OVERRIDE VETO

S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1:

In accordance with Article III, Section 17, of the Hawaii State Constitution, Senator Sakamoto moved that the Senate override the veto of S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, as contained in Gov. Msg. No. 519, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Sakamoto rose in favor and said:

“Mr. President, I guess there can be a long discussion or a short discussion. (Laughter.)

“Let me say that we debated the issues on this measure for a long time. I could go through a list of things and perhaps I’ll submit some of those comments to the Journal. Perhaps that may be it, Mr. President. But, I would highly recommend that there are many good measures in this measure, as we all know, and I recommend that our members override this measure.”

Senator Hogue rose and said:

“Mr. President, I also will be brief in my comments because we have debated this quite a bit. We’ve talked about local school boards, decentralization and a big debate about whether or not citizens should get the right to vote or not, whether this is state reform, whether this is real reform. But the overriding comment that I heard a lot was that somehow it was the Governor’s way or the highway. Well, I think that the Governor has shown that the highway goes both ways. It’s a wide highway and there’s lots of onramps here, and there is a chance for us in the next few days to make corrections so that this education reform bill can indeed be education reform and not just something that may be way off in the future or something may or may not happen.

“The Governor has made some very, very good points, valid points, I think, in which she has said that she wants phased-in funding direct to the schools from 70 to 90 percent; implementation of the weighted student formula a year earlier – if it’s a good idea, let’s get right to it; full funding for the charter schools – we certainly hope that the grammatical mistake won’t cause a problem in that; full funding for charter schools; principals on performance contract so they can be accountable; and the school community councils on an advisory basis so they do not end up putting another layer of bureaucracy in the process and make it actually more muddled.

“So I think the Governor has handled herself in a very statesman-like fashion. And I encourage my colleagues across the aisle to grab the hand that has been extended by her down to the Legislature and see if we can come up with a compromise so that we can all go home and say ‘hey, everybody wins, especially those people in the classroom – the kids – because they’re the ones who need to achieve at the highest level possible. So I would encourage as a first step that you not override the Governor’s veto.

“Thank you very much, Mr. President.”

Senator Taniguchi rose and said:

“Mr. President, on behalf of the Senator from Moanalua, the Education Chair, I’d like to request a Roll Call vote.”

The Chair so ordered.

At 4:11 o’clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 4:13 o’clock p.m.

The motion was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, the veto of S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION,” was overridden by not less than two-thirds vote of all members to which the Senate is entitled, on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Whalen).

H.B. No. 2743, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1 (Section 1):

In accordance with Article III, Section 17, of the Hawaii State Constitution, Senator Taniguchi moved that the Senate override the veto of H.B. No. 2743, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, Section 1, as contained in Gov. Msg. No. 527, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

The President made the following announcement:

“Members, before we begin our discussion, please note that when we vote on this measure, we’ll be taking each line item appropriation separately. For the purpose of our discussion, members may speak on any of the items vetoed by the Governor at this time.”

Senator Taniguchi rose to speak in favor and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the motion to override the Governor’s veto of items in H.B. No. 2743, C.D. 1.

“Fellow colleagues, H.B. No. 2743, C.D. 1, is a bill we passed a couple of weeks ago that authorizes the Governor to transfer certain excess amounts for special and revolving funds to the general fund.

“Specifically, this bill authorized the transfer of $43.6 million from 18 different funds to the general fund. These amounts identified by the Legislature were deemed in excess of the requirements needed to operate their respective programs. The process in which your Committee on Ways and Means went through was thorough, thoughtful, and above all, subject to the public hearings process of the Legislature.

“Unlike the Legislature, the Governor, under HRS 37-53, can unilaterally transfer special fund monies to the general fund without any public input. This Body must exercise its fiscal oversight responsibilities in full public view.

“Last year in fiscal year 03, the Governor transferred over $240 million from special and revolving funds to the general fund. In our findings, the Committee on Ways and Means concluded that all of the funds identified with this bill would be maintaining reserves at the end of this fiscal year which were higher than necessary. These reserves were not going to be utilized and therefore reprioritizing their use would not jeopardize the programs from which they came, nor would they hamper their program’s ability to leverage federal funds.

“Speaking specifically on the Governor’s veto of the transfer of the highway funds, I challenge the Governor’s assertion that this transfer is either critical to repair and maintenance or is to be utilized to match federal highway dollars. By the Department of Transportation’s own documentation, the $12.5 million was deemed excess and was not programmed for any projects. It was not projected to be used at all, not for repair and maintenance and not to leverage any federal projects.

“Colleagues, all of the transfers that the Governor has vetoed are excess. Let’s put these funds to better use. Let’s hope that these excess funds will be transferred to the general fund so that they may be applied to help the poor, the sick, and to put food in the mouths of needy children.

“Colleagues, I urge you to support the motion to override the veto, and I request a Roll Call vote. Thank you.”

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in opposition as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak against the motion.

“Mr. President, I was going to sit here and listen to the debate and be amongst the four or five votes that vote against this, but after hearing the previous speaker, I cannot sit idly by.

“To say that the Majority Party is taking highway funds and putting it into the general fund to help the poor, the sick, and the elderly is a mockery and incredibly hypocritical. This is the same Majority Party that year-in and year-out holds those same needy hostage for funding by putting their expenditures in the purchase of service and grants-in-aid programs in raid bills rather than putting them in ongoing operational budgets as most conscientious people that sincerely care about the needy.

“This isn’t about the needy. I think the Human Services people are beginning to smell the problems down here. This is about putting money on the books for HGEA pay raises, just as raiding the DCCA was and most of the other gyrations going through this Legislature have been.

“And I personally am insulted that once again the needy are being held up as a justification for the Majority Party’s manipulation of the budget year-in and year-out, balancing operating budgets with raids, with taking money out of the retirement fund, with taking money out of the rainy day fund, and all the while claiming they’re doing it for the keiki and for the elderly and for the needy.

“This is the same Majority Party, I might add, that eliminated vacant position funding from the federal government for the needy. They eliminated funding entirely. So bad was it, in their haste to pass H.B. No. 1800, we just passed another bill to fix it. And here we go again . . . here we go again.

“This is hypocrisy at its worst. And the sick and the poor and the hungry should be incensed that they’re being used every year to justify the manipulation of the budget as it is.

“God Bless that we have a Governor that wants to put those programs in normal operating funds and is willing to take a long term look at budgeting and wants to fix the problems created by a one-party monopoly over state expenditures.

“I’m voting ‘no’ against this because the Governor is basically right. We’ve got to build budgets that are real, take care and set priorities based on need, not on political expediency.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following messages from the Governor (Gov. Msg. Nos. 528 to 530) were read by the Clerk and were placed on file:

Gov. Msg. No. 528, informing the Senate that on May 3, 2004, she signed into law House Bill No. 2743 as Act 43, entitled: "RELATING TO NON-GENERAL FUNDS."

Gov. Msg. No. 529, informing the Senate that on May 3, 2004, she permitted the following measure to become law without her signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution:

House Bill No. 2796 as Act 45, entitled: "RELATING TO STATE FUNDS"; and transmitting her statement of concerns relating to the measure, which reads as follows:

"EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

April 30, 2004

STATEMENT OF CONCERNS REGARDING HOUSE BILL NO. 2796

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

I will allow HB 2796, 'A Bill for an Act Relating to State Funds,' to become law on May 3, 2004 without my signature. This action is taken pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

The purpose of this bill is to appropriate $9,585,765 from the Emergency and Budget Reserve Fund to finance various programs. Many of these programs are those that provide services to those people who are the most vulnerable in our population – the frail, the disabled, children, and those who are suffering serious illnesses.

The concern I have is the manner in which these programs would be funded. This bill further reduces the Emergency Budget Reserve Fund (EBRF), which was created to provide the State with a critical financial reserve during an emergency, such as a severe economic downturn a natural disaster, or even, God forbid, another terrorist attack.

The Emergency Fund was not intended to provide money for programs that are ongoing in nature and help the neediest within our community. What is particularly disturbing is that forty specific programs listed in this bill are forced to wait anxiously every year, not knowing until the eleventh hour whether they will be accommodated by dipping into the emergency reserves.

This is both unfair and unkind. It is unfair because it makes the managers of these programs come begging to the legislators each year trying to get funds for their projects before they have to close their doors. It is unkind because these programs serve those in our societies who have no way to fend for themselves.

Using the Emergency Budget Reserve Fund places the State in a precarious position. Bond rating agencies point out that although the emergency budget reserve is small relative to total State expenditures, the establishment and maintenance of the fund represent an important step toward institutionalizing prudent fiscal management policies for the State. We believe that to be an effective reserve, this fund should be allowed to grow to about five percent of general fund reserves, or approximately $190 million. The estimated fund balance as of June 30, 2004 is $54.3 million, considerably below this prudent goal. Also, we estimate receiving approximately $8.1 million in FY 2005, well below the total appropriations of this bill at $9.6 million. Therefore, the estimated fund balance on June 30, 2005 will go down to $52.8 million. As a result, it will be incumbent upon me, as Governor, to manage this account, as well as the rest of the State's resources, in a prudent and conservative manner.

For the forgoing reasons, I will allow House Bill No. 2796 to become law effective May 3, 2004 without my signature.

Respectfully,

/s/ Linda Lingle

Gov. Msg. No. 530, dated May 3, 2004, transmitting her statement of objections to House Bill No. 1043 which she has returned to the House of Representatives without her approval and which reads as follows:

"EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

May 3, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 1043

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1043, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Making Appropriations for Salary Increases for Public Employees.'

The purpose of this bill is to fund collective bargaining cost items as a result of binding arbitration with collective bargaining units (2), (3), (4), (6), (8), and (13), as well as salary increases and other cost adjustments for their excluded counterparts.

As outlined in my April 7, 2004 Message to the Legislature, the HGEA Arbitration Award will have serious, long-term adverse impacts on the financial well-being of the State of Hawaii.

The HGEA Arbitration Award amounts to a 7.8 percent pay increase in fiscal year 2005, at a cost of $32.2 million in fiscal year 2005 and $53.8 million in fiscal year 2006. Over the next five years this arbitrated award would create a $248.9 million I.O.U. that taxpayers would have to pay. This total is the best-case scenario, since it assumes no new pay raises for HGEA members over the next four years.

Salary increases of this magnitude will create sustained budget deficits starting in fiscal year 2006 and cause serious cuts in government services. These deficits will occur at a time when the State is facing a $165 million jump in debt service payments and a $57 million increase in retirement system contributions. As I have repeatedly emphasized, it is not a matter of whether the State can afford the HGEA pay raises this year. It is a matter of what the State can afford next year and in the years to come.

To compound the problem, the Arbitration Panel coupled this significant increase in wages with a reduction in productivity by granting employees hired after July 1, 2001 nine more days of vacation and six more days of sick leave beginning July 1, 2004. I have not included this as a cost item. However, the unrefuted evidence produced at the arbitration hearings was that this vacation and sick pay increase equates to an $8.9 million loss in productivity for the second year of the contract and an increasing loss of productivity each year thereafter.

Succinctly put, the State of Hawaii cannot afford the HGEA Arbitration Award. Raiding special funds, emergency funds, deferring pay days or diverting monies from the Employees Retirement System to pay for wage settlements are reactions that have proven fundamentally detrimental to the State's future financial well-being. The overall public interest is not served if a disproportionate share of the State's limited discretionary resources is used to fund collective bargaining costs, leaving other critical public programs unfunded or underfunded.

In addition to the detrimental fiscal implications of enacting House Bill No. 1043, the passage of this bill was based on factual assumptions in the HGEA Arbitration Award that were flawed. First, the Arbitration Panel incorrectly assumed that the State had a balance of $972 million in unrestricted funds at the end of fiscal year 2003. This figure represents the net of $1.065 billion in assets from the Airports Fund, the Harbors Fund, and the Unemployment Compensation Fund, minus $92.9 million from all other governmental activities. Balances in the airport, harbors, and unemployment funds must, by law, be used for the specific purposes named. It is neither fiscally or legally possible to use these monies for wage settlements.

Second, the Arbitration Panel incorrectly used the State of Hawaii Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) to estimate available funds at the end of fiscal year 2003. The State's financial reports are published on an accrual basis. This means the end of year figures in 2003 included tax revenues generated in fiscal year 2003 but not collected until fiscal year 2004. The figures also included expenditure liabilities (such as Medicaid and payroll) incurred in fiscal year 2003 but not paid out until fiscal year 2004. To use the CAFR, which is a backward looking document, to project what funds may be available in a future year, is inaccurate and misleading.

Third, the Arbitration Panel referenced the State's good credit rating to conclude the State could pay for this award. The fact of the matter is credit rating agencies consider a wide variety of factors in their analysis of a jurisdiction's creditworthiness. The credit rating process examines the State's economy, revenue collections, and the Administration's commitment to fiscal discipline. The willingness of the State to control expenditures during periods of slower economic growth, allowing the State to carryover sufficient financial reserves, also contributed to its positive credit rating. The rating is performed to assure bondholders that the State is able to pay its existing debts, not to indicate the State's ability to pay for future salary increases.

Finally, the HGEA Arbitration Award is legally flawed. As pointed out in my April 7, 2004 transmittal to the Legislature, the award failed to adequately explain how it took into account at least five factors set forth in section 89-11(f) of the Hawaii Revised Statutes. These factors include failure to stay within the lawful authority of the employer, failure to include the interest and welfare of the public, failure to consider the State's ability to pay, failure to use proper wage comparisons, and failure to give proper consideration to the overall compensation package when making the award.

In consideration of the exercise of my legal and fiduciary responsibility to the State, I am returning House Bill No. 1043 without my approval.

Respectfully,

/s/ Linda Lingle

MOTION TO OVERRIDE VETO

H.B. No. 1043, S.D. 1, C.D. 1:

In accordance with Article III, Section 17, of the Hawaii State Constitution, Senator Kanno moved that the Senate override the veto of H.B. No. 1043, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, as contained in Gov. Msg. No. 530, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Hemmings rose to speak against the motion and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against the motion.

"Well, Mr. President, the moment of truth. The moment when we find out what this Legislature was all about.

"Last year the Majority Party, 23 members reversed themselves on the right to strike and put back in the law, binding arbitration. I think we know the reason why. The best reason is found in this bill which the Governor had the courage to veto.

"At that time, conscientious Legislators, one of which was in the Majority Party, voted to keep the right to strike as a law, the law that previously the Majority Party and the Democrat Governor had promoted. In warning about the outcome of that change, we said that binding arbitration would result in pay raises beyond our control, and more importantly, beyond our ability to pay.

"We've also established through the negotiation process that cookie cutter pay raises are not adequate. Some unions, who are statistically underpaid compared to national compensation, deserve pay raises and oftentimes bigger pay raises than others. And that's why the units bargain separately, and it makes a lot of sense.

"With binding arbitration, we lost control of bargaining. A third party arbitrator, oftentimes from outside of the state, basically looks at the state books and sees how much money is in the state treasury. They don't see oftentimes that these monies come from raided funds. These monies come, in years past, from the employees retirement system. These monies come from cutting positions in the executive branch of government to help the poor, the sick, and the hungry. All they see is there's some money on the books. They don't consider future obligations beyond the two-year biennium budgeting process. They don't consider other obligations the state may have to help the truly needy in our society. They certainly don't consider the business environment that is so onerous that it's a disincentive to create jobs here in Hawaii. So they do what we said they would do. They take what the state is offering and what the wise negotiators of labor unions are asking for and they basically meet them halfway. That's the problem with binding arbitration and now we're paying for it.

"The HGEA arbitration award amounts to 7.8 percent increase for fiscal year 2005 at a cost of $32 million. After that it goes up to $54 million a year, every year. But who cares? Why only care about today? Next year, the following year, we'll raid additional funds and hold hostage additional human service programs.

"Over the next five years this arbitrated award will increase spending by $250 million. It's an IOU that the taxpayers would have to pay. Of course, this is the best-case scenario because we know as soon as this is approved, they'll be back at the table negotiating more pay increases.

"I want to make this very clear to my colleagues and to the interested people in the gallery that are watching very intently what you're doing here, and the people of Hawaii – there are many labor unions that deserve good pay and the HGEA workers, 23,000 of them, deserve it. They do good work for the most part. And they get it. They get good pay. They already have good pay. In fact, unlike the judicial branch of government, the executive branch of government, the legislative auditors, the legislators and other unions, they have received 25 percent pay increases in the last five years.

"We also did a study of fringe benefits. This labor union has amongst the most benevolent fringe benefits of any labor union of any public working group in the whole United States of America – second most days off, paid leave, holidays, all of the things that add up to quite a lot of money that the taxpayers foot for. I might add that these benefits far exceed what comparable workers in the private sector get. The days of calling public workers, public servants, are gone. It's obvious with the pay and compensation of benefits that the public is now a servant to the public workers, and it's just not fair.

"I'm really pleased that we have a Governor that builds a budget that looks to the future. I do notice that the Majority Party put off a group of pay raises. I've heard concern that it has future obligations. We're not obligated for anything more than a biennium budget, but approving these pay raises is going to obligate us. And it is going to be a problem that we're going to have to deal with.

"I'm hoping, I'm hoping that this Legislature will not force the executive branch of government by creating a scenario where we will not have enough money to pay for our bills where the executive branch will have to cut services, and eventually may even have to look at the prospects of laying people off because we simply do not have the money to pay our bills.

"But I'll guarantee you what the Governor will do – she'll do something that the Majority Party has failed to do. She will not cut funding for the needy. She will not cut funding for necessary human service programs. She will not cut funds that are truly going to serve those who need in our society for the benefit of this pay raise.

"Naturally, we're going to vote 'no' against the veto override. And naturally, you're going to vote for it. But I might add that if you look over our position on this issue over the last several years, especially the binding arbitration legislation which the Majority Party did a flip flop on, you'll see that once again you'll be voting against what is right and fair and good, ultimately, for all the people of Hawaii, including the employees of the HGEA.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Slom rose to speak against the motion as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise against the override.

"I do want to congratulate the Majority Party. I think we did spend about 38 minutes in reviewing the vetoes and you gave it full and ample discussion and time to look at it. And that of course is the hallmark of this Legislative Session. From the very beginning the whole thing was to do what the HGEA wanted to be done, to support them as they have supported most members of the Majority in election – not what is right for the people, not what is proof, not what is affordable – but what the HGEA wants.

"I recall that a couple of years ago, the head of the HGEA said, and it was a direct quote, 'the people, the taxpayers don't pay their workers, the Governor and the Mayors pay the workers of the HGEA.' Of course right after that, the then Democratic Governor, Mr. Cayetano, turned around and supported the rational position of the right to strike, abandoning the binding arbitration. And they had to change their tune. They went to the Legislature, and as the Minority Leader has mentioned, last year we fought the battle about changing your position, changing what you know in your heart is right and going back to what the HGEA demanded, threatened, cajoled and promised for election. And so we had more binding arbitration.

"And if you would have taken a little bit of time to read the Governor's veto message, you would have found that one of the objections was in what the arbitration panel did not do. And let me just quote for a moment, quote, 'the panel failed to adequately explain how it took into account at least five factors set forth in section 89-11(f) of the Hawaii Revised Statutes. These factors include failure to stay within the lawful authority of the employer, failure to include the interest and welfare of the public, failure to consider the State's ability to pay, failure to use proper wage comparisons, and failure to give proper consideration to the overall compensation package when making the award.'

"To any prudent person, to anyone in private business or even private unions, if these red flags had been raised, somebody at least would have said, wait a minute maybe we better not rush to judgement, maybe we better look at these or at least answer them. If we think they're wrong or incorrect, let's answer them. Instead, we're not going to do that.

"You are hell-bent on overriding the Governor's veto to send a message to the Governor. But the message you're sending is going to be read loud and clear by the public. The public is going to understand if there is a $248.9 billion IOU that's coming up over the next 5 years, that's without any additional pressure from the HGEA.

"Your Minority in this Senate supported collective bargaining increases. We supported those increases that we could afford. We supported the state negotiator when he had a groundbreaking 6-year contract. And the question had come up, well, why wasn't that offered to the HGEA and the HSTA at the time? And the answer by Mr. Hong was that it was offered, not once but several times, and those unions rejected it. They don't want a 6-year stable contract. They want to get right back into negotiating in a couple of weeks from now to go through the next two-year period. And that's what led me to say a couple weeks ago on this Senate Floor, the only reason it seems the Legislature is down here is to provide money and benefits to the HGEA.

"If there are layoffs, if there are risks, it won't affect the bosses of the unions. They'll still get their salaries. They'll still get their benefits and they'll still call for more. It will be the lowest of the low public employees who will suffer. And they shouldn't have to do that. And they didn't have to do that. Because the Governor has indicated and your Minority has indicated we support reasonable and prudent and affordable pay increases.

"But that's not what you want to do. You want to send a message to the Governor. So without really looking at any of these issues, without discussing these issues on this Senate Floor, you want to go ahead and do it. And you've got the numbers to do it. And you'll do it.

"I also heard that the head of the HGEA union a week ago in negotiations was gloating about how they had beaten the negotiator and the Governor and their opposition, but that it is their belief that the taxpayers in fact do not pay enough – that the taxpayers should pay more to support them, of course. I wish they would come out publicly and say that, rather than behind closed doors.

"The fact of the matter is, the public is going to wise up to this, because after all, we've passed an innovative education bill, so people will become more educated now. And a day of fiscal reckoning is coming and for those of you who do not care for the future and yet stand up here and make wonderful speeches about the keiki and everybody else, you're all going to have a part to play in the financial cost of this bill. We could have done something that everybody could have afforded. We could have done something prudently. But instead you want to override the Governor's veto.

"Let's have a Roll Call vote, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, the veto of H.B. No. 1043, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT MAKING APPROPRIATIONS FOR SALARY INCREASES FOR PUBLIC EMPLOYEES," was overridden by not less than two-thirds vote of all members to which the Senate is entitled, on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble). Excused, 1 (Whalen).

At 4:45 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 5:58 o'clock p.m.

STATEMENT OF SUPPORT FOR SENATE BILL NO. 3237

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, with my approval, Senate Bill No. 3237, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Prescription Drugs.'

The purpose of this bill is to implement the Hawaii Rx Plus prescription drugs assistance program. This bill represents the work of a bipartisan team that recognized problems in the original bill enacted in 2002 and who worked cooperatively to address these problems. This bill is designed to reduce the price of prescription drugs to qualified participants, to keep administrative costs at a minimum, to streamline the application process, to prevent the crowding out of prescription drug benefits already available through the Hawaii Pre-paid Care Act, and to protect the rights and benefits of the Medicaid population.

First, this bill creates a nonexclusive list of drugs to be covered under the program. In addition to the existing Medicaid preferred drug list, the bill allows the inclusion of various drugs used in the treatment of cancer and mental health illnesses. It also utilizes the Department of Human Services Pharmacy and Therapeutic Committee to review and recommend drugs for placement on the preferred drug list.

Second, the bill limits participation in the program to residents of the State of Hawaii who have a family income equal to or less than 350 percent of the federal poverty level, who lack prescription drug coverage, and who enroll in the Hawaii Rx program. The 350 percent threshold would cover a single person who earns up to $36,000 in annual income and a family of four up to an annual income of $74,500.

Third, the amendments in this bill ensure integrity in the program's administration by prohibiting the contractor administering the program from receiving compensation or other benefits from a participating drug provider.

Fourth, the bill establishes an initial list of discount priced drugs that currently encompasses those drugs purchased pursuant to the Department of Human Services administered Medicaid program. The effective date for this list is July 1, 2004. A second tier of discount drugs would be added on July 1, 2005.

The initial Hawaii Rx program was modeled after a program in the State of Maine. Maine's program was involved in protracted litigation, resulting in a United States Supreme Court decision issued last year. Hawaii's program has been tied to the State's QUEST healthcare program, thereby placing in jeopardy the State's Medicaid Title XIX funding. This linkage was decoupled through suitable language in this bill.

Finally, I would point out that the Hawaii Rx Plus program contained in this bill can be implemented via a streamlined application process. This will allow the enrollment of as many qualified residents as possible. A larger participant population will enable the State to negotiate higher discounts.

I am proud to affix my signature to Senate Bill No. 3237 and believe it will improve the health and well-being of the residents of our State.

Respectfully,

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 2003

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2003, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to the Illegal Use of Controlled Substances.'

The purpose of this bill is to implement the recommendations of the Joint House-Senate Task Force on Ice and Drug Abatement that was created to address the epidemic proportion of crystal methamphetamine ('ice') use in Hawaii. This omnibus measure contains provisions that meet this purpose. However, it also contains provisions that would exacerbate the problem of 'ice' abuse in Hawaii.

Favorable provisions of this bill include increasing the prison sentence for those who manufacture drugs in the presence of a child, amendments to the drug paraphernalia law that would make it easier for law enforcement officials to prosecute these cases, and amendments that provide the Hawaii Paroling Authority with discretion in determining whether parole should be revoked for violations involving illegal drugs. In addition, the bill partially restores sentencing judges' discretion to impose a jail sentence with regard to certain drug convictions. The bill also addresses the need for substance abuse treatment by mandating parity in health insurance plans allowing substance abuse to be treated like other medical conditions.

Although these provisions are a step in the right direction, they are unfortunately outweighed by other egregious provisions. For example, there are provisions in this bill that would actually reduce the penalty for manufacturing 'ice' and make the penalty for manufacturing small quantities of 'ice' less than the penalty for manufacturing small quantities of other dangerous drugs. As 'ice' manufacturing is a more serious problem in Hawaii than the manufacture of other dangerous drugs, this change in the law would be particularly inappropriate. Currently, manufacturing less than one-eighth of an ounce of methamphetamine is a class A felony with a mandatory minimum term of not less than ten years during which time the convicted person is not eligible for parole. Under this bill, that crime is reduced to a class B felony with a mandatory minimum term of only three years. Moreover, manufacturing that same quantity of any other dangerous drug remains a class A felony. Thus, if this bill were enacted into law, manufacturing small amounts of every dangerous drug except 'ice' would be a class A felony. This would not represent good public policy.

Furthermore, the bill even reduces the mandatory minimum sentence for manufacturing large quantities of 'ice' from ten years with no possibility of parole to a sentence of five years. This is unacceptable. This is also inconsistent with one of the avowed purposes of the bill: to 'deter the proliferation of drug trafficking' with regard to 'ice.' If we are to successfully intervene in the availability of 'ice,' these provisions should not be allowed to become law.

This bill is also objectionable because it overturns the Hawaii Supreme Court's decision (State of Hawaii v. Smith, 103 Haw. 228, 81 P.2d 408 (2003)) that requires drug users with multiple felony convictions to be sent to jail. To the contrary, this bill provides drug users with multiple felony convictions the possibility of not serving even one day in jail. This is a matter of poor public policy, because other criminals with multiple prior offenses would be given a mandatory prison sentence.

Other objections to this bill include its disregard of the counties' home rule. As currently drafted the bill infringes upon the zoning powers of the counties by exempting drug rehabilitation homes from land use ordinances that establish guidelines for these homes. The bill provides that, with regard to any drug rehabilitation home accommodating up to ten persons, 'no conditional use, permit, variance, or special exception shall be required for a residence used as a drug rehabilitation home.' The bill also provides that such a drug rehabilitation home 'shall be considered a residential use of property and shall be a permitted use in residentially designated zones including . . . zones for single-family dwelling' (emphases added). There is no provision that allows homeowners and residents any procedure to challenge a decision to place a drug rehabilitation home in their neighborhoods.

This bill also amends the zero tolerance in public schools law by mandating that students caught, for example, selling drugs be assessed for treatment and given treatment, if needed, rather than being suspended from school (except for a possible ten-day 'crisis suspension'). The provision ties the hands of the Department of Education in disciplining students who possess, sell, or use drugs. Furthermore, the Department may be unable to implement the proposed revision, because not all schools have certified substance abuse treatment counselors on staff and because there may well be an inadequate number of programs to which students can be referred.

Further, the provisions, as written, would result in two students who have engaged in exactly the same behavior to be punished differently. A student who sells drugs who DOES NOT need drug treatment is still subject to the 'zero tolerance policy.' However, a student who sells drugs who DOES need drug treatment is NOT subject to the 'zero tolerance policy.' In fact, the student with the drug problem is better off for disciplinary purposes than the student without the drug problem, because the bill states that 'the child shall not be excluded from school and all disciplinary action shall be deferred' (emphasis added). The bill further provides that upon completion of the treatment program, all records of disciplinary action relating to the original offense shall be expunged. We should not enact legislation that, in effect, tells our children that being addicted to drugs is an effective way to avoid discipline or maintain a clean disciplinary record.

Moreover, we should not say that a student who deals large quantities of drugs, for example, cannot be suspended just because the student needs treatment. And, the provision appears to bar the zero tolerance policy even for a student who is caught selling drugs a second or third time.

House Bill No. 2003, in short, is a collection of provisions that are internally inconsistent, result in conflicting outcomes, and are, in some instances, inconsistent with good public policy. There are certain laudable provisions in the bill. I would hope they could be reenacted without those provisions that are steps backward rather than forward.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2003 without my approval.

Respectfully,

Gov. Msg. No. 533, dated May 3, 2004, transmitting her statement of objections to House Bill No. 267 which she has returned to the House of Representatives without her approval and which reads as follows:

“EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

May 3, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 267

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 267, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to Government.’

The purpose of this bill is to repeal certain limitations on the powers of the Office of Elections and the Campaign Spending Commission that are imposed upon administratively attached agencies. The bill would also authorize the Office of Elections and the Campaign Spending Commission to retain their own legal counsel. Additionally the bill would establish an elections commission appointed by members of the Legislature that would appoint the Chief Election Officer and oversee the operations of the Office of Elections.

Attached agencies, boards and commissions, such as the Office of Elections and the Campaign Spending Commission, were created to retain a degree of autonomy in their mission and functions. Current law is ambiguous in defining the level and nature of autonomous actions these ‘attached agencies’ should enjoy. My Administration has honored the intended ability of such agencies, boards and commissions to communicate freely with the legislative branch, the executive branch, and the general public. We have requested, as a courtesy, that these boards keep the Departments to which they are attached apprised of their activities. In many instances boards, commissions, and attached agencies have developed a collaborative working relationship that has served the public well.

I must return this bill without my approval because it denigrates these collaborative relationships, would significantly skew representation of the voting public in the election process, and would place two attached agencies, the Campaign Spending Commission, and the Office of Elections, outside the scope of the law.

First, the bill gives appointment power and the power to oversee the Chief Election Officer to elections commissioners who represent only twenty percent of the people of the State. At least six of the nine members of the new elections commission must be residents of the neighbor island counties. As a result, eighty percent of the State’s population, residing in the City and County of Honolulu, would be represented by as few as two and no more than three of the nine elections commissioners.

Second, this bill deprives the Governor of any voice in the appointment of the State’s Chief Election Officer. The Governor presently appoints one of the five members of the existing Elections Appointment and Review Panel. Under this measure, the Governor would not appoint any of the nine members of the elections commission, which would replace the Elections Appointment and Review Panel. Further, if the elections commission member positions are not filled by the legislators within the times specified, this bill provides that the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Hawaii, not the Governor, must appoint the members to fill the vacancies. Because the Supreme Court decides selections cases on a regular basis, it would be inappropriate for the Chief Justice to appoint members to the commission this bill would create, and could blur the separation of powers provisions established in the State Constitution.

Third, the bill permits the Office of Elections and the Campaign Spending Commission to make personnel decisions and purchase supplies, equipment, and furniture without the approval of the Comptroller. Further, the Office of Elections, Campaign Spending Commission, and Elections Commission could take these actions without complying with all applicable requirements of the Hawaii Public Procurement Code and applicable personnel laws. Attached agencies should not be allowed to be ‘above the law’ when carrying out their administrative functions.

Pursuant to section 26-38, Hawaii Revised Statutes, the Comptroller has the authority to delegate approval for personnel decisions and purchases to attached agencies, boards, and commissions. This bill’s provisions would set an unwarranted precedent.

Finally, this bill erodes consistency and objectivity in the State Government’s legal interpretations by authorizing the Office of Elections and the Campaign Spending Commission to employ their own attorneys. It is critical that the legal advice given to those agencies be consistent with that given to other State agencies and with the interests of the State of Hawaii. Retention of separate counsel would likely result in inconsistent advice. Also, because the subject matter of these agencies involves political issues that affect predominantly members of the Legislature, it is important to assure that legal advice is not unduly influenced by what the agencies want to hear, rather than by sound legal analysis. This bill increases the risks of undue influence, especially because the attorneys would serve at the agencies’ pleasure and would be paid by the agencies.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 267 without my approval.

Respectfully,

MOTION TO OVERRIDE VETO

H.B. No. 267, H.D. 2, S.D. 2:

In accordance with Article III, Section 17, of the Hawaii State Constitution, Senator Hanabusa moved that the Senate override the veto of H.B. No. 267, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, as contained in Gov. Msg. No. 533, seconded by Senator Kim.

Senator Hanabusa rose to speak in favor of the motion and said:

“Mr. President, I stand in favor of the motion.

“Mr. President, just to refresh people’s recollection of this matter, I have personal knowledge as to how this evolved because it really started with a conversation with one of the administration’s directors, technically the director from DAGS. And he came to see me and he told me in a very candid conversation that he was permitting Mr. Watada of the Campaign Spending Commission to come forth and speak in opposition to a bill. And it was from that conversation and the questions that followed immediately after that it became very evident to me that there was a problem.

“We had moved, at the ending of last Session, Mr. President, Campaign Spending and the Office of Elections into DAGS. The reason why is, as you might recall, both of those entities were temporarily attached to the Lieutenant Governor’s Office and they cannot be temporarily attached there. They have to become permanent and one factor is going to subset the Campaign Spending Commission. And as a result, because of some AG’s study that was done or we had done at the end of the last Legislative Session it moved to DAGS. What we were not aware of, Mr. President, is that there is a provision of HRS Section 26-35, that says that it’s the director of the attached agency that makes direct communications with the Governor and the Legislature, and there’s a whole battery of different kinds of functions. That is the provision that caused the problem.

“Mr. President, the Governor’s Message goes on to say that the ‘Administration has honored the intended ability of such agencies, boards and commissions to communicate freely with the legislative branch, the executive branch, . . .’ But in actuality we know that was not the case.

“In a hearing before the Judiciary Committee, much to Mr. Watada’s surprise, I just asked him straight out, ‘Mr. Watada, are you being permitted to testify here today?’ He stopped, paused and said ‘yes.’ And I said, ‘have you had to have permission before you could testify,’ and he said ‘yes.’ And he went on to say what a chilling effect that this has had upon him.

“This Legislative Session is very unusual to me because the Office of Elections is nowhere to be seen, which is very unusual, given the fact that this is an election year. The Office of Elections did submit testimony on H.B. No. 267, H.D. 2, when it came before the Judiciary Committee. And they said, ‘We do not know what the ramifications may be of attaching the Office of Elections to the Judiciary,’ because that was the Senate proposal, ‘However, it matters little to us what branch of government or agency to which the Office of Elections is attached, as long as the citizens are assured that their elections are free from political influence. The Office of Elections should be placed in an apolitical environment, shielded from even perceptions of political influence.’ Where that environment may be is for this Committee and the Legislature to decide.

“Mr. President that’s exactly what the Committee of Ways and Means actually did and the Legislature did when we enacted H.B. No. 267, H.D. 2, S.D. 2. It was determined then that the best place for the Office of Elections and Campaign Spending was to remain in DAGS because we had looked and explored whether it should go to the Judiciary or it should go to the AG’s Office. We said, well, maybe they are properly in DAGS.

“However, in order to keep them in DAGS, they needed the protections. And as a result, when we did H.B. No. 267, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, we made them exempt from the prohibition that the direct communications with the Governor and the Legislature shall be by the administrative body. We allowed the administrative head, meaning the Director that they could make all decisions regarding appointments and that they could purchase all of their supplies.

“What the Governor apparently was very concerned about in her veto message was the fact that these personnel decisions were something that they could not agree with. Mr. President, in actuality under the provisions of the campaign spending law, it is the Campaign Spending Commission, for example, as part of their obligations that they select the executive director and they make personnel decisions. So this specific provision of the law is contrary to what we have already said that the Campaign Spending Commission shall have.

“The Governor said that she was concerned about the appointive powers of the Chief Elections Officer because what was created in this bill was a commission to oversee it, and not just simply like the way they have it in the present law in the election appointment and review panel, which simply selects who will be the directions officer, really has no oversight.

“They created in this bill basically a nine person commission – two of them to be selected by the Senate President, two to be selected by the Speaker of the House, two to be selected by the Minority Leader, two to be selected by the Minority Leader of the House. Sounds very familiar? It is, because it follows exactly the way we do reapportionment and that committee, that commission is given full powers, which is something that’s been lacking with the Office of Elections.

“And I know, I’ve been a critic of the Office of Elections over this period of time because that review panel simply makes decisions of hiring and firing. And the Office of Elections is not accountable to anyone in particular. So this addressed a serious concern.

“The Governor goes on to say in her message that there is a problem because only 20 percent of the neighbor islanders will be represented under this scenario. Mr. President, as it stands now there is no guaranteed representation at all because it’s a five member panel. There’s no representation set forth in the law for neighbor islands. We in fact addressed it in this version, so I don’t know what that complaint is all about.

“Third, is the one we talked about earlier, Mr. President, which is about the personnel decisions. Mr. President, the personnel decisions must be made by Campaign Spending, and this bill also exempts them from Chapter 76 as well as from, basically, collective bargaining . . . from collective bargaining. I should stand corrected. And the reason why is because the Campaign Spending Commission, Mr. President, also looks at all the unions including the public sector unions, and they did not believe that it was proper for their employees to be part of the union, the same unions that they would be possibly investigating or at least monitoring. So that was one of the changes that was made.

“Also, for the Office of Elections, Mr. President, we’ve got to make that entity as independent to the people as possible. She also said that the bill erodes consistency and objectivity in the State Government’s legal interpretations by authorizing the Office of Elections and the Campaign Spending Commission to employ their own attorneys. Mr. President, the Campaign Spending Commission employs its own attorneys now. We all know that, we confirmed him about two or three years ago when we moved the Campaign Spending Commission to the HLRB. His name is Brian Nakamura. We already have that. They already have that right and it makes sense as to why. Mr. President, they need their own attorneys. The Office of Elections needs their independent counsel as well, because if there is anything you don’t want, you don’t want people saying ‘hey the Attorney General’s Office is making the calls on who gets prosecuted under campaign spending and/or how elections laws are being interpreted.’ They need the opportunity and the right to be independent. So as a result of that, the law includes the right to their independent attorneys.

“Those are the four points that the Governor raised in her veto message. Mr. President, I ask that you, along with my colleagues, support the override because this is a very important and critical point. They are both in Chapter 11 of the Hawaii Revised Statutes under the title Elections. And the reason they are together makes total logical sense because that is probably one of the most important functions of our democratic society – that is the right to vote, elections, fair elections, and to have independence irrespective of who may be on the fifth floor, who may be the Majority on this Floor or the Floor across the way – they must be an independent body.

“So with the changes in this law, the Commission for the Office of Elections will become apolitical just like the Campaign Spending Commission. They are not to engage in politics, and that is what we need. That’s what the people of this state need because there is nothing, nothing as appalling as to sit there and to know – to know, Mr. President – that before the campaign spending director can come to testify, he has to clear it, or to wonder why Dwayne Yoshina is not in the halls of this Legislature during the year of an election cycle.

“Mr. President, they cannot have that taint. We cannot have that taint. The administration cannot have that taint. This will take any question away from all of us. They are going to be independent. They are in full support of this bill, and we have adopted structures that have worked, whether it’s the reapportionment structure. We’ve maintained the campaign spending structure. We’ve maintained the role of the judicial council in providing the names for the Campaign Spending Commission, and also to fill names if we fail to do it under the commission that runs the Office of Elections.

“This is the best thing that we can do for the people of this state because we will give them faith in the structure and they’ll know then that this most cherished right is one that is protected by all of us in making it independent and as apolitical as possible.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hogue rose to speak in opposition to the override and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the veto override.

“I think the Governor is also very concerned about the independence of these agencies. She makes some really good points here. She says, ‘Attached agencies should not be allowed to be “above the law” when carrying out their administrative functions.’ She further says in her veto message,

‘it is important to assure that legal advice is not unduly influenced by what the agencies want to hear, rather than by sound legal analysis.’ She makes some good points.

“The Judiciary Chair enumerated her arguments against some points but I think they need to be read into the record, and so I will do that. The Governor said she must return this bill without her approval because it denigrates these collaborative relationships that have been built up between her administration and these two attached agencies. She said it ‘would significantly skew representation of the voting public in the election process, and it would place two attached agencies, the Campaign Spending Commission, and the Office of Elections, outside the scope of the law.’

“She says, ‘First, the bill gives appointment power and the power to oversee the Chief Election Officer to elections commissioners who represent only twenty percent of the people of the State. At least six of the nine members of the new elections commission must be residents of the neighbor island counties. As a result, eighty percent of the State’s population’ would be represented by as few as only two members on this election commission.

“‘Second, this bill deprives the Governor of any voice in the appointment of the State’s Chief Election Officer,’ any voice at all. ‘Under this measure, the Governor would not appoint any of the nine members of the elections commission.’ I don’t think that is checks and balances.

“‘Third, the bill permits the Office of Elections and the Campaign Spending Commission to make personnel decisions and purchase supplies, equipment, and furniture without the approval of the Comptroller . . . without complying with all applicable requirements of the Hawaii Public Procurement Code . . .’ The Governor’s argument to that, and you heard the Judiciary Chair’s argument against it, ‘this bill’s provisions would set an unwarranted precedent.’

“And finally, the Minority is constantly, constantly advised against hiring outside attorneys, and the Governor accedes to that position. She says, ‘this bill erodes consistency and objectivity in the State Government’s legal interpretations by authorizing the Office of Elections and the Campaign Spending Commission to employ their own attorneys. It is critical that the legal advice given to those agencies be consistent with that given to other State agencies and with the interests of the State of Hawaii.’

“We’re concerned about the interest in the State of Hawaii, Mr. President. We support the Governor’s position and we oppose the override. Thank you.”

Senator Kawamoto requested his vote be cast “aye, with reservations,” and the Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, the veto of H.B. No. 267, H.D. 2, S.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO GOVERNMENT,” was overridden by not less than two-thirds vote of all members to which the Senate is entitled, on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 5 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble, Whalen).

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Gov. Msg. No. 534, dated May 3, 2004, transmitting her statement of objections to House Bill No. 2608 which she has returned to the House of Representatives without her approval and which reads as follows:

“EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

May 3, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 2608

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2608, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to the Hawaii Tourism Authority.’

The purpose of this bill is to authorize the Hawaii Tourism Authority (HTA) to hire attorneys independent of the Attorney General; to exempt the HTA from the Comptroller’s supervision; to authorize the appointment of a sports coordinator; to clarify the compensation package for the executive director of the HTA ($274,500 per year); to increase the allowance for HTA’s administrative expenses from 3.5 percent to 5 percent of the Tourism Special Fund; and to appropriate funds from the Tourism Special Fund to cover a fiscal problem when HTA paid 18 months of a Hawaii Visitors and Convention Bureau (HVCB) contract with 12 months of funds.

This bill is objectionable because it allows the Hawaii Tourism Authority to operate outside the safeguards of State law, micromanages the personnel decisions of the Authority, diverts funds away from direct tourism activities, and potentially creates legal difficulties for the State.

First, House Bill No. 2608 would exempt the HTA from Chapter 40, Hawaii Revised Statutes, the accounting and audit statutes for the State of Hawaii. This exemption would allow the HTA to spend moneys without regard to the safeguards and control administered by the State Comptroller. It would allow disbursements from the Tourism Special Fund and Convention Center Enterprise Fund to be signed by the HTA Executive Director, in effect allowing this person to sign his own paychecks. The State comptroller ensures the propriety of expenditures and imposes no extraordinary processing delays.

Second, this bill is another example of legislative micromanagement. It would place in statute the hiring of a ‘Sports Coordinator’ by the HTA. This provision of the bill appears to contradict section 26-39 of the Hawaii Revised Statutes that provides for the establishment of positions as deemed necessary to carry out the functions of any department or agency.

Third, the bill would divert an additional $915,000 away from direct tourism expenditures to cover the administrative expenses of HTA. Under current law HTA is allowed to expend 3.5 percent of the Tourism Special Fund for overhead. Based on a $61 million appropriation, a total of $2,315,000 is already permitted to finance HTA operations. This bill would raise that total to $3,050,000. The Tourism Special Fund was created to provide a dedicated source of funding to develop and market tourism in the State of Hawaii. To use these funds for administrative expenses constitutes a type of ‘internal raid’ on special funds that this Administration has consistently opposed.

Fourth, this bill would erode the consistency and objectivity in the State’s legal interpretations by authorizing the Hawaii

Tourism Authority to hire its own attorneys. It is important that legal advice given to an agency be consistent with the advice given other agencies and with the interests of the State as a whole. Retention of separate counsel by the HTA would likely result in inconsistent advice. Hiring outside counsel also would be another diversion of tourism funds into administrative expenditures when adequate counsel already exists in the Attorney General’s office. Additionally, the Attorney General can hire special outside counsel when thorny or difficult legal issues arise and thus could accommodate any special legal needs the HTA might have.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2608 without my approval.

Sincerely,

/s/ Linda Lingle
LINDA LINGLE
Governor of Hawaii,”

was placed on file.

MOTION TO OVERRIDE VETO

H.B. No. 2608, H.D. 1, S.D. 1:

In accordance with Article III, Section 17, of the Hawaii State Constitution, Senator Kim moved that the Senate override the veto of H.B. No. 2608, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, as contained in Gov. Msg. No. 534, seconded by Senator Hanabusa.

Senator Kim rose in support of the override and said:

“Mr. President, the purpose of this bill is to authorize Hawaii Tourism Authority to hire attorneys independent of the attorney general, to exempt the HTA from the Comptroller’s supervision, to authorize the appointment of a sports coordinator, and to increase the allowance for the HTA’s administrative expenses from 3.5 percent to 5 percent of the Tourism Special Fund.

“Mr. President, the Governor’s veto message, and I will try to go over some of the points that she made in her veto message, first of all, the first item would exempt the HTA from the accounting and audit statutes for the State of Hawaii. The Governor says that this exemption would allow the HTA to spend moneys without regard to the safeguards and control as administered by the State Comptroller.

“Mr. President, let me read from the testimony given by the Hawaii Tourism Authority. H.B. No. 2608, S.D. 1, provides the HTA with an exemption from the supervision of accounts similar to the exemptions provided to the University of Hawaii and the Department of Education. So already, Mr. President, we have that procedure. The problem that the Hawaii Tourism Authority have experienced is that the many contracts that they send out for tourism promotion – contracts for private development, contracts for festivals, contracts for events for marketing – do not get paid on a timely basis. Many of these contracts are small amounts to individuals and to groups, and charitable groups that do not have moneys or do not have cash flow that they can wait to be paid, and that has traditionally been made and that has been traditionally a problem, Mr. President.

“Also in the bill we have a three-year drop dead clause. Now, we thought that would be a good pilot project to see if in fact they can work like the University of Hawaii, and if in case there are problems, then there is a drop dead clause and we can always take that up again.

“The second item, Mr. President, in the governor’s message is that she states that this bill is another example of legislative micromanagement. It would place in statute the hiring of a sports coordinator by HTA. Mr. President, this is not micromanagement. The HTA asked us to do this. The HTA has asked for a sports coordinator and they were denied.

“So it’s interesting to note that the Governor goes on to say, ‘this provision of the bill appears to contradict section 26-39 of the Hawaii Revised Statutes that provides for the establishment of positions as deemed necessary to carry out the functions of any department or agency.’ Mr. President, 26-39 states this: ‘Except as otherwise provided by this chapter and with the approval of the governor, the head of a department may establish or abolish any subordinate office or position.’ Mr. President, the head of the department is executive director Rex Johnson. He was there and has asked that they be able to have a sports coordinator. They were denied this position by the Governor. It’s interesting to note that he’s gone online and asked for an appointment with the Governor and he’s not been given an appointment with the Governor.

“And so, if we going to do sports, if we’re going to promote our state and market our state as a place that’s good for sports, then we need a sports coordinator, and that position has been denied. And that is why it is in this bill.

“Thirdly, Mr. President, the Governor states that the bill would divert an additional $915,000 away from direct tourism expenditures to cover the administrative expenses of HTA. Let me again read from the testimony given by Rex Johnson, the executive director: ‘H.B. No. 2608 authorizes the HTA to use up to 5 percent of the moneys in the tourism special fund for administrative expenses. These resources are necessary for the HTA to effectively plan out its various programs – business and leisure marketing, sports events, planning, product development, communication and advocacy – that address the vitality of Hawaii’s tourism industry. The HTA has also been directed by the Legislature to implement accountability measures for these programs to ensure that the funds spent on programs to market and sustain Hawaii tourism industry bring in significant return on the investment to the State of Hawaii and its people.’

“Mr. President, it is this Body, the Legislature, that deemed that we should establish the Hawaii Tourism Authority. Two years ago the Senate put in a sunset clause. That measure was not adopted by the House. So, the Legislature had deemed that we wanted to have the Hawaii Tourism Authority and we have been exercising our oversight over them but it requires them to be able to adhere to some of these things that appeared with the auditor, the state auditor’s report. We have asked them to do a number of things. We have also taken the opportunity to have five major marketing contractors, something that’s never been done for tourism, and it seems to be working. But we need to oversee these contracts as stated in the auditor’s report.

“Finally, Mr. President, the fourth item that the Governor made in her veto message was about the hiring of the attorneys. She goes on to say that ‘it is important that legal advice given to an agency be consistent with the advice given other agencies and with the interests of the State as a whole. Retention of separate counsel by the HTA would likely result in inconsistent advice. Hiring outside counsel also would be another diversion of tourism funds into the administrative expenditures when adequate counsel already exists in the Attorney General’s Office.’ Mr. President, I think that this is very contradictory.

“First of all, let me just state that the bill is very, very narrow in the sense that it says that the legal services for the board may be done solely in the cases of contract negotiations in which the attorney general lacks sufficient expertise, provided that the independent attorney shall consult and work in conjunction with the designated deputy attorney general assigned to the Hawaii Tourism Authority.

“Mr. President, she goes on to say, ‘additionally, the Attorney General can hire special outside counsel when thorny or difficult legal issues arise and thus could accommodate any special legal needs the HTA might have.’ And that’s exactly what the bill states – it is in those thorny situations.

“But the reason this is so inconsistent is because they already allow the HTA to hire attorneys, which is also stated in her message, and the fact that the attorney general has stated that they never denied a request. So the fact of the matter is they have always allowed them to hire the attorneys so money is already spent on these attorneys and that there is only that question of whether or not it’s consistent or not.

“So the issue here is whether or not the HTA should have to wait five months after a request is put in – five months – before the attorney general finally gives them an approval, which never deny. But in the meantime, these contracts need to be negotiated. Most recently, Mr. President, the HTA sent a letter to the attorney general dated in July asking for permission to hire attorneys to deal with their five major contracts. They were not given the approval until December – December, Mr. President. These contracts needed to be approved and signed by December 31. Of course that’s been another criticism by our state auditor that these contracts are not being entered into on a timely manner. In fact, it’s been after the fact, and how can they when they have difficulty getting their attorneys.

“Mr. President, I think that in the Governor’s message here she contradicts herself as far as the attorneys are concerned, and I urge all of the members here to override the veto. Thank you.”

Senator Slom rose in opposition to the motion and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the override.

“It’s such a pleasure to take the same data and explain it differently, and let’s try to do that. Let’s take the same four items that the good Vice President has just brought up.

“First of all, in terms of exempting the HTA from the oversight of the comptroller and from HRS, the good Senator, the head of the Tourism Committee, said we already do this with the University of Hawaii and the Department of Education, true. But this is not the University of Hawaii and it’s not the Department of Education. We carved out special treatment for them because of our concern for education and because we wanted to show everybody we care for our keiki.

“This is not the same situation and oversight is absolutely necessary because when we look at and review not only the legislative auditor’s report but also the very hearings that we’ve had in the Tourism Committee over the last couple of years, we’ve had great problems with the previous administrators and executive directors – the lack of board input, the special nature of in-house contracts that were outside of the law and outside of the HRS. So there is certainly a means for looking at and making sure, even though we all seem to agree that the new HTA seems to be going in the right direction, but there certainly is a need to make sure that there is oversight. And by removing this oversight, we have nothing left other than the word of the HTA executive director.

"Now, that would be fine, except that the Tourism Committee Chair cites his testimony in support of the bill. Well, I would be very surprised if he didn't support the bill that was offered by the Tourism Chair. But will that rise to the level where we should let go of this oversight and disregard the issues that were brought up in the legislative auditor's report. I think not.

"Secondly, the issue of micromanagement in turning to the sports coordinator position. I happen to agree that we should have a sports coordinator position. I disagree, however, that it should be in statute. And I also remember that we had someone serving in that position, although we're not sure exactly what it was called, and instead of promoting sports, he was promoting his own business and promoting himself. So, in terms of looking at some of these things, it's not just good enough to say we need to have a position. We also need to have the ability for the Governor to weigh in on this.

"By the way, the bill also mentions, as does the Governor, that the salary of the executive of the HTA now rises to $274,500 a year. As we've seen in the last couple of years, it has gone up considerably and consistently.

"The third item that was brought up is the administrative expenses of the HTA. Increasing that amount from 3.5 percent to 5 percent from the tourism special fund. Here again, the money that is put into the tourism special fund was supposed to be earmarked and specifically delegated for marketing of the visitor industry. But now what we're seeing is there's more money to pay more executive salaries and other administrative expenses, and that was not the purpose of the HTA special fund. And we're talking right now a total under this bill of $3,050,000, which is quite a bit for administrative expenses.

"Fourth and finally, the question of hiring one's own attorneys for this department. It seems I've testified on this particular aspect of the bill for two years now about 80 times, because this really is the impetus. This is what the bill sponsors and what the HTA want to do. And the head of the Tourism Committee is absolutely right. The attorney general testified that no request for outside attorneys has been denied, and the executive director of HTA also confirmed that.

"The attorney general also confirmed that in those rare areas where among their nearly 200 deputy attorneys they don't have one of them that has the expertise in this particular area of contract law, they themselves will advocate that they go outside. So that's not been a problem and that's not been an issue. However, when we're talking about the more broad way of going outside for attorneys, we're talking about additional expenses over and above those that have been budgeted and we're talking about the idea of bypassing the attorney general.

"This issue of the five-month delay, I know that the Chair of the Tourism Committee loves to cite this because she cited it about two dozen times so far. And to his credit, the attorney general took responsibility and apologized for the delay in this particular incident. There, however, have not been, as one would assume from her support of this bill, this override, that it happens all the time and it happens because no one cares at the attorney general's office. That's farther from the truth and the executive director of HTA said that.

"So if we look at all of these four reasons, there are reasons to have oversight; there are reasons to go through the state attorney general's office; there are reasons not to micromanage; and there are reasons to use the tourism special fund for the purposes that were outlined. And by overriding this veto, you're overriding all four of those areas.

"Thank you."

Senator Kim rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in rebuttal.

"First of all, Mr. President, the issue of the attorneys is not an isolated one. It happened under the last administration as well and it prompted the measure last year. And during that time, this administration and this attorney general testified and said that we had a new attorney general and that it wasn't going to happen, and then it did. And so apparently it's somehow within the system itself and not with whoever is the attorney general.

"Speaking on the issue on the sports coordinator, Mr. President, the HTA had problems, we had problems – this Legislature, the Senate – with the sports contractor. The sports contractor was hired separately. It didn't come out of administrative funds, but it was paid for out of HTA funds to the tune of $750,000 for the sports coordinator. We had no control. There were conflicts of interest. And what we said is we would like to see a sports coordinator that is part of the staff that had no conflicts of interest that we wouldn't have to pay $750,000 for. And so, in essence we're going to save money, so if I'm hearing what the previous Senator from Hawaii Kai said, that why are we going to have this sports coordinator, this is something that we wanted to save money and not spend additional moneys for.

"Finally, Mr. President, we have received testimony from the industry, the visitor industry in support of this measure. Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and, Roll Call vote having been requested, the veto of H.B. No. 2608, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO THE HAWAII TOURISM AUTHORITY," was overridden by not less than two-thirds vote of all members to which the Senate is entitled, on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 20. Noes, 5 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble, Whalen).

At 6:31 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 10:07 o'clock p.m.

FINAL READING

MATTER DEFERRED FROM EARLIER ON THE CALENDAR

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 136-04 (H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1):

Senator Sakamoto moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 136-04 be adopted and H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Taniguchi.

Senator Sakamoto then offered the following amendment (Floor Amendment No. 16) to H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1:

SECTION 1. H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1, is amended to read as follows:

"PART I

SECTION 1. The legislature finds that the after-school plus program, popularly known as 'A-plus', was established to provide affordable after-school care for latchkey children.

Initiated in 1990, the after-school plus program was billed as the nation's first subsidized, statewide after-school care program for public school students in kindergarten through grade six.

The legislature further finds that currently, fees and other moneys for the after-school plus program are deposited into the general fund. However, the deposit of program fees and moneys into the general fund does not guarantee that the fees and moneys will be dedicated to the after-school plus program.

The establishment of a revolving fund for the after-school plus program would provide a clear nexus between the fees assessed and collected for after-school program services and the provision of those services.

The purpose of this part is to create a revolving fund for the collection and disbursement of moneys to pay for the administration and operations of the after-school plus program.

SECTION 2. Chapter 302A, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by adding a new section to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:

"§302A- After-school plus program revolving fund. (a) There is established the after-school plus program revolving fund to be administered by the department.

(b) The after-school plus program revolving fund shall consist of:

- (1) Fees collected by the department for administering and operating the after-school plus program, and the provision of program services;
- (2) Legislative appropriations;
- (3) All interest earned on the deposit or investment of moneys in the after-school plus program revolving fund; and
- (4) Any other moneys made available to the after-school plus program revolving fund from other sources.

(c) The department may establish appropriate fees and other charges to be assessed to each participant for the cost of administering and operating the after-school plus program. The revenues from those fees and charges shall be deposited into the revolving fund to be used to pay the costs of administering and operating the program."

SECTION 3. There is appropriated out of the after-school plus program revolving fund the sum of $6,000,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2004-2005 to be used to pay the costs of administering and operating the after-school plus program.

The sum appropriated shall be expended by the department of education for the purposes of this Act.

PART II

SECTION 4. The legislature finds that S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1 (Regular Session 2004), is a comprehensive measure that ambitiously aims to reinvent the public education system in numerous important ways. Some of the most critical goals of S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, are to:

- (1) Address the individual needs of students by requiring the establishment of a weighted student formula for allocating moneys to public schools;
- (2) Require no less than seventy per cent of operating funds for the department of education, excluding debt service and capital improvement programs to be expended by school principals;
- (3) Empower principals as educational leaders of their schools;
- (4) Support principals and involve school communities by establishing school community councils at public schools;
- (5) Require the development of plans, to be implemented in the 2006-2007 school year, for performance contracts for principals;
- (6) Remove bureaucratic constraints that hamper the effectiveness of the department of education;
- (7) Enhance the accountability system of the department of education; and

(8) Provide more books and learning materials for students.

These are only some of the ways in which S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, seeks to improve Hawaii's public schools. In recognition of the importance of this essential and revolutionary bill, the legislature took early action to ensure that the governor and other concerned stakeholders had ample time to reflect upon the bill and express their concerns or suggest improvements which could be addressed before the end of the legislative session.

One suggestion for amending this bill was to accelerate the implementation of the weighted student formula. S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, sets an extremely ambitious agenda for Hawaii's public schools. They will be faced with a new funding allocation system, a new school community council system, and new responsibilities in expending an increased percentage of their operating budget at the school level.

S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, provides funding for the department of education to pilot school community councils and the development of academic and financial plans. This Act specifies that this pilot program shall be implemented no later than January 1, 2005, ensuring the department of education begins these critical aspects of the education reinvention effort in a timely manner.

Other suggestions for amending the bill were to ensure that principals are sufficiently empowered to manage effectively, and clarify the relationship between principals and school community councils to ensure that decision-making can be executed efficiently. Although S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, expressly places principals in control of their schools, the legislature finds that more can be done to ensure their ability to effectively lead. This Act specifies that principals, rather than school community councils, shall be responsible for the initial development of their schools' academic and financial plans. This will ensure that principals are intimately involved in the formulation and execution of their schools' educational and fiscal goals.

A final suggestion to improve S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, was to allow charter schools to choose whether they want to be funded under the weighted student formula. Accordingly, this Act allows charter schools to select, as a group, whether to receive allocations through the weighted student formula for each fiscal biennium.

In approving S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, the legislature has fashioned an innovative, comprehensive, and ambitious yet implementable law, the purpose of which is to improve student achievement. In doing this, the legislature has committed itself, the board of education, the department of education, the governor, and the entire state government to efforts that require actions and commitment over many years. The complete effort to reinvent public schools begins with the enactment of both S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, and this Act.

Upon enactment, the creation and work of the committee on weights begins. Work begins immediately to prepare for the implementation of the school community councils, which must be in place by July 1, 2005. Beginning January 1, 2005, one school in each complex area, or fifteen in total, will pilot the process that the principal and the school community councils will use in developing their individual school's academic and financial plan. All schools will have school community councils by July 1, 2005, and they will receive training for their duties, including reviewing and recommending for approval by the complex area superintendent the academic and financial plans for their school.

The principals academy will be developed during the latter half of 2004 to provide training for principals in developing and implementing budgets, writing academic plans, and working effectively with school community councils.

The board of education will initially adopt the weighted student formula recommended by the committee on weights by December 1, 2005. Principals will prepare and submit to the school community councils their academic and financial plans, which will be approved by the complex area superintendent no later than April 1, 2006. School allocations based on the weighted student formula will be made by July 15, 2006.

As experience is gained, the funds that each principal will budget and expend may be increased by the department of education. Local control of schools will also increase, allowing the principal and the school community council to shape their particular school to meet the needs of their students.

Other actions are required to reinvent education, which include the development of performance-based contracts for principals, the adoption of a unified school calendar, and a reduction of the bureaucracy that hinders the department of education in providing support services for the schools. All of these actions will take place over the next three years.

The legislature finds that the actions required to improve student achievement and the implementation of those requirements as set forth in S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, and this Act, are prudent and reasonable. The legislature invites the people of this State to lend their support, time, and participation in this endeavor to improve student achievement.

SECTION 5. Chapter 302A, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by adding a new section to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:

“§302A- New century charter schools and new century conversion charter schools; weighted student formula. Notwithstanding section 302A-1185 and beginning on September 1, 2006, new century charter schools and new century conversion charter schools shall elect whether to receive allocations according to the weighted student formula adopted pursuant to section 302A- by the board of education; provided that:

- (1) All new century charter schools and new century conversion charter schools, as a group, shall elect whether to receive allocations through the weighted student formula;
- (2) Any election by new century charter schools and new century conversion charter schools to receive allocations, or not to receive allocations, through the weighted student formula shall be made by September 1 of each even-numbered year, and such election shall apply to the fiscal biennium beginning July 1 of the following year; and
- (3) The election to receive allocations, or not to receive allocations, through the weighted student formula shall be communicated to the department through the charter school administrative office.”

SECTION 6. The Act that resulted from the enactment of S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, Regular Session of 2004, is amended by amending section 1 to read as follows:

“SECTION 1. Although many responsibilities are laid upon education, ultimately education must do no less than advance the endowment of human culture itself, so that each succeeding generation finds itself further along the road towards peace, social justice, and environmental sustainability in a society guided by creativity, compassion, and curiosity. This Act is a road map for a critical phase in that ongoing journey.

The legislature finds that significant changes need to be made to enhance Hawaii’s public education system to ensure the success of that journey. Although the State’s students, parents, teachers, school administrators, departmental staff, and other educational stakeholders strive to achieve excellence, their efforts will never be completely successful until various aspects of the system around them are improved.

The legislature has supported and will continue to support efforts by the department of education to improve Hawaii’s schools as a means of enhancing the academic achievement, safety and well being, and civic commitment of students, to meet the evolving needs of today’s communities.

The coordinated package of initiatives in this Act aims to implement comprehensive education reform in Hawaii’s public schools and shall be known as the ‘Reinventing Education Act of 2004.’ Its main elements include:

- (1) Establishing a weighted student formula;
- (2) Providing additional information technology;
- (3) Empowering principals through a Hawaii principals academy and other means;
- (4) Strengthening community involvement through school community councils and parent-community networking centers;
- (5) Providing more mathematics textbooks;
- (6) Lowering class size in kindergarten, grade one, and grade two;
- (7) Providing full-time, year-round, high school student activity coordinators;
- (8) Providing support for students who need additional help to succeed in school;
- (9) Establishing a national board certification incentive program for teachers;
- (10) Enhancing teacher education;
- (11) Reducing the bureaucracy that hampers the effectiveness of the department of education;
- (12) Improving the educational accountability system; and
- (13) Requiring [the] board of education members to hold community meetings in their districts.

Research shows that student performance is significantly higher in smaller schools. While establishing smaller schools throughout the State is not financially feasible, some schools have taken it upon themselves to create smaller and more manageable learning communities within their schools. Research also strongly supports the need for early childhood education and the establishment of a coherent system that spans all levels of education. The department of education, teamed with the University of Hawaii and Good Beginnings Alliance to create a vision for such a system, which was presented in 2002, [and] is now being implemented.

Despite these efforts, more needs to be done. Currently, public school principals are faced with a nearly impossible task, as they are asked to attend to every detail of operating their schools without enough institutional support or discretion to expend funds. While some support and additional school leadership is provided by the school/community-based management (SCBM) system at many schools throughout the State, SCBM plays a far more limited role at some locations, and has not been implemented at all at others.

Recently, departmental leadership was decentralized through the creation of the complex area system, including the hiring of complex area superintendents. While replacing the old district system with this new structure was an important first step, further changes need to be made to allow meaningful authority to exist as close to the schools as possible. The complex area structure will serve as an excellent base upon which to build these continued reforms. It is the legislature’s intent to place a far greater number of decisions, and a much higher percentage of moneys, directly in the hands of individual schools and their leaders.

Another area of improvement necessary to promote excellence in learning is the method by which moneys are allocated to individual schools. Hawaii currently receives high marks nationally for funding equity, as being organized as a single unified system enables the State to fairly disburse moneys to schools. In other states, local revenue sources such as property taxes account for a significant portion of school and district funding, resulting in massive financial disparities between schools in more and less affluent areas.

Although the State avoids this particular pitfall, further improvements can be made to ensure that moneys go to the schools that truly have the greatest need, and to place more moneys at the discretion of individual schools. While the current funding system takes into account certain criteria when allocating moneys to schools, it does not comprehensively address the fact that some students are more costly to educate than others. For example, students with special needs, such as those with limited proficiency in English, or who have physical, psychological, or other impediments to learning, are more expensive to teach than students who are not faced with these barriers.

One method that can be used to address these funding issues is a weighted student formula. Under such a system, moneys are allocated to schools based on a system of weighted characteristics that apply to every student in the public schools.

Under a weighted student formula there are several advantages. Among other things:

- (1) The relative cost of educating students can be much more accurately assessed, based upon the unique learning needs of each student;
- (2) Funds follow students to whichever school they attend; and
- (3) The budget process becomes more transparent as it is based on dollars, not staff positions.

However, establishing a weighted student formula cannot be effective in a vacuum. Other reform measures must be implemented as well. Principals will be empowered to act as the educational leaders of their schools, with more authority relating to budgeting, and more flexibility to expend funds. With these expanded powers, principals will be held accountable for their performance through a system that includes rewards, assistance, and sanctions. Principals will also need more training and support if they are required to take on additional duties, and are expected to advance student success. Furthermore, community involvement and support of schools will need to be enhanced if schools are to work effectively.

The department of education is also faced with significant impediments that will likely reduce its ability to effectively implement the weighted student formula. With educational responsibilities spread throughout numerous state agencies, there are various roadblocks to progress that could prevent the department of education and individual schools from successfully performing their duties and effectively using a new funding system.

The legislature finds that a comprehensive effort addressing all of these issues is required for Hawaii's public schools to maximize student achievement. Accordingly, the purpose of this Act is to enhance educational outcomes in Hawaii's public schools by:

- (1) Implementing the weighted student formula by:
 - (A) Requiring the department of education to provide supplementary allocations to those schools whose budgets are adversely affected by the weighted student formula for no more than three years beginning with the 2006-2007 school year;
 - (B) Establishing a committee on weights within the department of education to determine the unit value of student weights and recommend a weighted student formula to the board of education at least annually, and appropriating $10,000 to support the operation of the committee;
 - (C) Requiring the department of education to adopt a weighted student formula in allocating funds to ~~[all]~~ public schools ~~[-excluding new century charter schools and new century conversion charter schools];~~
- (2) Appropriating $2,000,000 to the department of education to facilitate field support, security, and privacy for the telecommunications network, and training regarding information technology infrastructure used to enhance accountability, compliance with the federal No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, and implementation of school reform including the weighted student formula;

- (3) Supporting and empowering principals by:
 - (A) Requiring the department of education, with the invited participation of the exclusive bargaining agent of educational officers of the department of education, to propose salary schedules and other terms and conditions of employment of principals and vice principals based upon a twelve-month term of service, and report findings back to the ~~[Legislature]~~ legislature no later than twenty days prior to the regular session of 2005;
 - (B) Requiring the board of education to classify all educational officer positions of the department of education to adopt two separate classification/compensation plans for educational officers ~~[-one]~~:
 - (i) ~~One~~ for principals and vice principals (based on the general pattern of a school administrator's career development and associated school administrator's qualification requirements); and ~~[one]~~
 - (ii) ~~One~~ for all other educational officers (reflective of the career development pattern and qualification requirements for the respective professional field of expertise), and including classification appeals procedures for both; ~~[and]~~
 - (C) Convening a working group to create a plan for the implementation of performance contracts for principals;
 - (D) Establishing a Hawaii principals academy to support and train complex area superintendents, principals, and prospective principals, and appropriating $500,000 to operate the academy;
 - (E) Clarifying the authority and responsibility of principals;
 - (F) Appropriating $183,780 to operate the department of education's administrator certification for excellence (ACE) program; and
 - (G) Appropriating $400,000 to compensate principals recalled to work by the department, outside of their regular term of service, for professional development and any other activities that may enhance their effectiveness as leaders of their schools;
- (4) Enhancing community involvement in schools by:
 - (A) Appropriating $350,000 for training and other activities needed to facilitate the transition from the current SCBM system into a mandatory school community council system to be implemented at each public school, excluding new century charter schools and new century conversion charter schools;
 - (B) Clearly articulating the balance and reciprocity of powers and responsibilities between the principal and school community council; ~~and~~
 - (C) Appropriating $1,743,900 to support and enhance ~~[a proven means of improving parental and community involvement in schools,]~~ parent-community networking centers;
- (5) Directly, concretely supporting the academic achievement and holistic development of students by:
 - (A) Appropriating $2,500,000 for mathematics textbooks and other mathematics learning materials in schools ~~[-]~~; provided that mathematics curriculum is aligned within the school complex;
 - (B) Appropriating $2,143,350 to reduce class size in kindergarten, grade one, and grade two by hiring seventy-five elementary school teachers;
 - (C) Appropriating $460,000 for full-time, year-round, high school student activity coordinators; and

- (D) Appropriating $100,000 for programs that support parents in working with students who need additional help to succeed in school; provided the programs have measurable outcomes;
- (6) Directly, concretely supporting teachers by:
- (A) Establishing a national board certification incentive program to be administered by the Hawaii teacher standards board to continue comparable efforts initiated under a memorandum of understanding between the department of education and Hawaii teacher standards board which expires on June 30, 2005, and appropriating $480,000 [~~funding~~] to execute the memorandum of understanding during fiscal year 2004-2005;
- (B) Appropriating $92,000 for the administration of the Hawaii teacher standards board; and
- (C) Increasing the pool of qualified teachers and administrators by appropriating $500,000 to fund seven teacher education positions and one education administration faculty position at the college of education of the University of Hawaii;
- (7) Reducing bureaucracy that hampers the effectiveness of the department of education by:
- (A) Requiring the department of education to convene an interagency working group to address systemic impediments to the efficient management and operation of schools;
- (B) Transferring certain key functions from various state agencies to the department of education; and
- (C) Requiring the board of education to adopt a single school calendar for all public schools to apply beginning with the 2006-2007 school year;
- (8) Enhancing educational accountability by:
- (A) Requiring academic achievement, safety and well being, and civic responsibility of individual students to be assessed and tracked;
- (B) Expanding the accountability provision to include fiscal accountability;
- (C) Including complex area superintendents and principals in the accountability system;
- (D) Requiring clear, easily understandable report cards on key performance indicators for schools, school complexes, and the public school system; and
- (E) Requiring the board of education to hold community meetings in each school district;
- (9) Appropriating $400,000 for the piloting of school community councils and development of academic and financial plans at selected schools prior to the statewide implementation of the weighted student formula; and
- (10) Requiring the department of education to submit findings and recommendations to the legislature prior to the 2005 regular session relating to the implementation of this Act."

SECTION 7. The Act that resulted from the enactment of S.B. No. 3238, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, Regular Session of 2004, is amended by amending section 4 to read as follows:

SECTION 15. This Act shall take effect upon its approval; provided that sections 2 and 3 shall take effect on July 1, 2004

Senator Sakamoto moved that Floor Amendment No. 16 be adopted, seconded by Senator Hooser.

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak on the amendment as follows:

“Mr. President, I really appreciate the member's time in bearing with the process to come to some of these amendments when trying to work with the House as well as the Governor's office and other people. The bill we overrode earlier today, our omnibus education bill, with this bill contains some amendments relating to amendments to that measure.

“First, in charter schools, the charter schools, new century charters as well as new century conversion charters, as a group may elect to become under the weighted student formula. But that would only be every biennium. So September 1st of the even numbered years, as a group they can choose to come in or go out by September 1st making that decision.

“Another amendment clarified that principals, as their performance contract criteria gets looked at, that it include individual performance of contract criteria for principals. Also, in clarifying how their academic and financial plans are developed, clarifying that it's the principal that would develop and present the plan to the school community council for its review and approval of the academic and financial plan. The council's role would be to review and evaluate the school's academic and financial plan and either recommend revisions to the principal or recommend those plans for approval to the complex area superintendent.

“Another clarification the bill dealt with is the timing of the weighted student formula to actually happen. This bill says that there should be one school in each complex area that would be 15 that would embark on this, and the pilot program would begin no later than January 1st, 05. The following year the broader schools would participate.

“On the issue of the percentage, this bill doesn't change 70 percent and doesn't give date specific 80 or 90 percent, but we're requesting a study for the department to come back and look at issues and concerns such as creating buyback programs or a way for, if there are other barriers, getting to 80 percent or 90 percent.

“So basically, Mr. President, there were some improvements to the bill and we hope that members will support these changes.”

Senator Kawamoto rose and said:

“Mr. President, will the Chair yield to a question?”

The President posed the question, and Senator Sakamoto having answered in the affirmative, Senator Kawamoto inquired:

“Senator, I'd just like to find out if all these amendments truly had proper public hearings and the process was indeed the consequence of these amendments.”

Senator Sakamoto responded:

“I remember in a previous version of the bill on charter schools, the House had previously had the charter schools in the discussions, so that did get a hearing. On the principal's contracts, that always was in the bill. The wording of what exactly principals would do or the school community councils would do, those had discussions throughout actually the interim and Session.

“The piloting was in a previous bill. This bill just clarifies that it would be a minimum of 15. The study to go to 80 or 90 percent has always been part of the discussion with the Governor feeling it needed to be 90 percent and we weren't able to get there.

“So, the answer is yes.”

Senator Hogue rose to speak in favor and said:

“Mr. President, first of all, I'd like to speak in favor of this.

“I commend the Governor for charging the Legislature with trying to come up with amendments to the earlier reform bill. I also thank the Chairs of the Education Committee and the members of the Majority as well for considering these amendments. I know that it had to be very, very tough. But in some cases, maybe you didn't get what you wanted, and in some cases we didn't get what we wanted, and that's the art of compromise.

"The Governor did say that she wanted movement on four of the five issues. It appears at least from first perusal that there is movement on four of the five measures, so you can't argue with that. I would hope that we can move towards 90 percent if it is possible. I notice that is the one area that is not in here. Hopefully, beyond that I would hope that eventually we also get a chance to vote on a constitutional amendment. But that was not one of the areas that the Governor brought forward so we can't quibble with that.

"So, congratulations to everyone who was involved and congratulations to the Governor for making education her top priority."

"Thank you very much, Mr. President."

Senator Trimble rose to speak in support and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this measure.

"Actually, all I wanted to do was to add your name to those that the previous speaker was thanking.

"Thank you."

The motion to adopt Floor Amendment No. 16 was put by the Chair and carried.

Senator Sakamoto moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 136-04 be received and placed on file, seconded by Senator Hooser and carried.

By unanimous consent, H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION," was placed on the calendar for Final Reading on Thursday, May 6, 2004.

Senator Kim rose to speak in support of the nominee and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of Gov. Msg. Nos. 487 and 488.

"Mr. President, both appointments are to the Board of the Hawaii Tourism Authority and their vision statements, members, are all on your desks.

"First, I urge the confirmation of Gail Y. Haraguchi. She is the Senate nominee. Ms. Haraguchi is the product of the public schools – Castle High School, Kapiolani Community College and the University of Hawaii. She is a businesswoman and community leader involved in the junior golf program. She offers a fresh viewpoint, Mr. President, and a balance to the Hawaii Tourism Authority. Her vision for Hawaii is to focus on the quality of the visitor experience and to maximize the salability of Hawaii's natural beauty and our natural resources.

"Mr. President, the second nominee is Kawaikapuokalani K. Hewett. He, too, is the product of our public schools – Castle High School, Windward Community College and the University of Hawaii. He is the House nominee. Mr. Hewett fulfills the requirement of at least one member of the HTA shall have knowledge, experience and expertise on the area of Hawaiian cultural practices. Mr. President, it has been two years since this requirement was added to the law and finally today we will have representation from the host culture on this very important tourism board. Mr. Hewett is an icon in Hawaii. He is a talented entrepreneur, an educator, a practitioner who is nationally recognized for his expertise in music, hula, lei-making, and Hawaiian language to name a few. His vision is to protect, preserve and perpetuate the Hawaiian culture while promoting it with respect and reverence.

"Mr. President, I urge all of my colleagues to vote 'aye' for both nominations.

"Thank you."

FINAL READING

MATTERS DEFERRED FROM MONDAY, MAY 3, 2004

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 147-04 (S.B. No. 2551, H.D. 1, C.D. 1):

On motion by Senator Kanno, seconded by Senator Taniguchi and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 147-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 2551, H.D. 1, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT MAKING AN APPROPRIATION FOR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING COST ITEMS," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, none. Excused, 1 (Menor).

Conf. Com. Rep. No. 152-04 (S.B. No. 459, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 2):

Senator Hanabusa moved that Conf. Com. Rep. No. 152-04 be adopted and S.B. No. 459, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator English.

Senator Kawamoto rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise in favor of this bill.

“Mr. President, I would like to thank the Judiciary Chair for keeping her promise and looking at this bill. This conference that we had a couple of years ago, although we only took some of the definitions I think it’s a good start for campaign spending, and I would like to thank her for allowing all of us to again really define what bundling is.

“Therefore, I urge all my colleagues to vote ‘aye.’”

Senator Ihara rose in support with reservations and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of S.B. No. 459 with reservations.

“Mr. President, while this bill contains mostly minor improvements to the state campaign finance law, there is clearly one good change in it – that of making some campaign law violations a felony. This bill also closes a part of the pay-to-play system by banning some government contractors from making campaign donations. But contractors in their request for proposal process are not banned. The ban does not affect contractors in the dozens of agencies exempted from the state procurement code. The campaign spending commission director estimates that if this – and I’ll call it ban on some government contractors – if this ban was in effect a few years ago, it would have prevented about 20 percent of the illegal contributions that have occurred in recent years.

“Contractors who still want to pay to play can do so under this bill because they can donate before they begin procurement activity. The ban only starts once they start what’s called procurement activity and, I suppose, indicate interest in a contract, or they can simply be a subcontractor because this bill does not stop subcontractors from donating to candidates. As you know, many, many of these donations and many of the illegal donations that have been reported in the past have been given by subcontractors.

“Also, small-purchase contractors providing less than $25,000 in goods and services can still donate to candidates under this bill. That includes the type of contractors involved in the recent Department of Transportation’s kickback corruption scandal at the airport. At least five contractors have pleaded guilty for padding their invoices and giving over $150,000 in kickbacks to airport officials who said part of the kickback money was for political contributions. This is all from supposed small $25,000 or less contracts.

“There is also a mysterious provision that received no hearing and was added only in Conference – and that is to prohibit out of state corporations and unions from making donations to Hawaii candidates. I wonder what the public policy and rationale for this prohibition is and whether there may be a constitutional equal protection problem with this provision.

“Along with these four items are a number of minor technical and inert provisions. I agree with Dr. Watada that the reform value of S.B. No. 459 is about 20 percent. That means on a football field, we’re on the 20-yardline and there’s the rest of the field to go – a long way, 80 yards to go.

“Mr. President, I agree with the campaign spending commission that to really fix the private financing system of election campaigns there needs to be a ban on all corporate and union donations and a large reduction in amounts that individuals can contribute. I part company with the commission believing the real reform, a reform that makes all other reforms possible, is comprehensive public financing of election campaigns. The point though is that we have come a long way and we have . . . actually we’ve come a short way and we have a long way to go before real campaign reform can happen.

“Mr. President, I was thinking about reading the roll call inspired by the Senator from Waimanalo of recent campaign violators to indicate how large a campaign finance corruption problem we have in Hawaii, but to spare my colleagues, I’ll simply show you the list. The Senator from Hawaii Kai will be providing us with bipartisan support to make this demonstration.

“Mr. President, in the past few years we have we have on this list all different individuals, their names and their companies, and the dollar amount of illegal contributions. There are over a thousand separate violations of campaign spending laws in the last few years, and this scroll lists those individuals. There are no repeats. They are all individual separate names. The company names are repeated because many of them are from the same company. The company that’s listed is either the employer of the individual or the company that provided the funding for the individual to give to candidates that were illegal. The investigations are not yet over, but so far there are about 450 different individuals involved and these people gave close to $1.9 million in illegal donations. The Campaign Spending Commission reports that over half of the donations given to the winner of the last mayoral election in Honolulu were illegal.

“Mr. President, if this wasn’t enough, 32 persons have been criminally charged for the worst of these offenses, some involving literally hundreds of thousands of dollars of illegal campaign donations. Of these 16 cases prosecuted so far, all have pleaded guilty or no contest. Actually most of them no contest. Fourteen defendants have asked their judges to allow their records to be wiped clean in a few years, and all of these requests have been granted. So in a few years, the worst of the illegal behavior, these crimes, will be expunged from the court records. So it will be as if they didn’t do it. You can probably look it up on the web and find out what happened from the news reports, but if you go to the court and find out, their records will be wiped clean.

“Mr. President, I believe these crimes against the public trust and their misdemeanors should remain in the public record. S.B. No. 459 does make many of the recent offenses class C felonies and that’s probably the one item in this bill that saves it from my voting ‘no.’ But I hope we will take a look at making some of these campaign spending violations, even the ones that are felonies, even after and if we pass this bill, some of the felonies can still be wiped clean. I’m told the money laundering offenses and some others still, even with a felony, you can have your record wiped clean and so far our judges have decided that it is in the best interest to wipe these records clean. I obviously disagree, because otherwise it will just be a slap on the wrist for breaking the public trust.

“Mr. President, just today in the newspaper there is an article and it says city prosecutors have filed criminal charges against two donors linked to, and I apologize as they are Kaimuki engineers, that gave more than $24,000 in questionable contributions to a candidate. These charges are misdemeanors punishable by up to a year in jail, although we know that not only is there no jail time but their records will probably be wiped clean. It says also, last May the campaign spending commission fined these individuals $32,000 for making excessive and false named political contributions to various campaigns.

“Mr. President, something major and drastic must be done to deal with what I believe and is clearly a public corruption problem in our privately funded campaign system. We will be back another day to figure out what those solutions will be. I don’t think this bill makes much of a dent. I do believe it is a good start. I do not think this bill qualifies as reform because it raises more concerns about problems than it provides solutions.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hemmings rose to speak against the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak against S.B. No. 459.

“Mr. President, first I’d like to make a disclaimer that my list was nowhere near as long as this one. I’d also like to say for the record that the white knight of ethics in government, the good Senator from Kaimuki who spoke before me, gave a good speech as to why not to vote for this bill, and I’d like to have it entered into the record as my own. To briefly summarize, I in good consciousness cannot vote for legislation that is a façade of reform, which this one definitely is. I cannot go to the voters and the people of this state that are sick and tired of corruption in government and tell them we did something about it when indeed we did not.

“This bill does not constitute honest reform, and therefore it does not merit our support. I urge my colleagues not to condone what we’ve seen illustrated here on the Floor today by voting in favor of this bill. Please join us in voting against it.

“Thank you.”

Senator Trimble rose to speak in opposition to the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to S.B. No. 459.

“We read the newspaper only a few weeks ago that our approval rating was only 40 percent. At that time, we could have done something about it. We could have addressed the issues of why the public does not have faith in this institution. We have not.

“With the help of the good Senator from Hawaii Kai, I also need him to be my aide as a poster boy. Fortunately today, his phone is working. I surveyed my constituents and I told them if they answered my survey I would use their responses in my discussions from the Floor of the Senate. So please allow me to do that today.

“The first question that I have displayed here was . . . it’s not a question; it’s a statement – Legislators listen most to those that give them money. And if you see that little column on the far right-hand side, if they strongly disagreed, that’s where they filled it in. For the ones that agreed with the statement and strongly disagreed, it’s on the left-hand side. Seems like the people out there believe that the Legislators listen most to those that give money.

“Second slide, please. The statement is that we should ban corporate contributions to Legislators. Again, if you look on the far right-hand side, very few people disagreed with the statement. On the left, strong agreement.

“Third visual aid, please. And so the same question, to be fair about this, I asked if union contributions should be banned to Legislators, to candidates running for the Legislature. Again there was strong agreement with that statement.

“Until we address the types of contributions that perhaps affect us as decision-makers, people are not going to trust what we do. They are not going to trust our motivation when it comes to tax credits. There is still a great deal of concern about the extension to Act 221. And why is it that nobody rose on the Floor of this Body to speak in favor of Act 221, its extension, and the fact that we’re still maintaining the confidentiality of those getting the tax credits.

“I would like to conclude with an observation – the voters of this state are not pack animals from which we are extracting tax revenue. I would like you to think of them as tigers. I would also like you to visualize yourself as riding on the backs of these tigers. And what I would like you to remember going forward is that the tigers are getting hungry.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hogue rose to speak in opposition and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this measure and I’ll make it very, very brief.

“I’m not going to use the analogy of the tigers, but reuse the analogy of the football game in which Bob Watada and the Senator from Kaimuki mentioned that the ball was on the 20-yard line. It is obvious after taking a look at this particular bill, Mr. President, that the Legislature has decided to punt.

“Thank you.”

Senator Kim rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

“Mr. President, point of personal privilege.

“Mr. President, would the Senator from Waikiki answer a question?”

Senator Trimble having answered in the affirmative, Senator Kim continued as follows:

“Thank you very much for your charts. They’re very informative, but can you tell us how many people actually responded and the number people on your survey?”

Senator Trimble answered:

“I will say about a 2 percent response rate. That’s about 230 people.”

Senator Kim said:

“Thank you.”

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the measure.

“Some points of clarification – the list that was strewn on the Floor, that’s existing law. And yes, we should capture people who are doing things wrong with existing law. Some people seem to imply that until we change the law we cannot get people who have done illegal acts. That long list proves that perhaps in more recent times action has been taken and certainly people who have done wrong should be punished appropriately.

“A point in reference to who these contributions went to and the point about Legislators, basically that long list dealt with people not in this Body, not in the Body across there, but in the rooms above us, in the rooms in other places. Currently this Governor is in a position to say, if this bill passes perhaps she cannot get contributions from some of these people. I believe the biggest problem with the big money is the big races and not necessarily people sitting on this Floor.

“Certainly I’m not saying we should be exempt from people who do wrong. Nobody should be exempt from people who do wrong, but we should target what really make sense and basically I don’t like the use of contractor because I’m a building contractor. Basically, that list doesn’t imply that it’s building contractors or building subcontractors that are contracting with the state and other entities and many of those are not non-bid contracts. I believe this bill says that if it’s people who let out these contracts, that’s where the problem is, therefore it should be tightened in that regard in terms of the fifth floor and like bodies.

“So, I believe this measure is a good step and I think people shouldn’t wrongly point the gun at the Legislature when indeed most of the misdeeds are in offices in the higher levels.”

Senator Slom rose in opposition and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill.

“A couple points here – the good Senator from Kaimuki I think did lay out a very good scenario of why we should have done more. And I would be, I guess, inclined to vote only with reservations if this were the first year that we were tackling this, or the second year, or the third year, or the fourth year, or the fifth year, but we have been dealing with what we call campaign spending reform for more than a decade and we haven’t come up with a useable product. And it’s not that we can’t, it’s not because it’s too complex, it’s not because we don’t understand it, it’s because certain people don’t want us to do it, period.

“And I, like the good Minority Leader of this Party, agree that all this Session everything we passed is a reform – education reform, ice reform, campaign spending reform. But as I’ve said on the Floor on this Senate before, the people are going to be very disappointed because they’re going to find that the reform is hallow. It does not do what we say it will do. It does not do what they want it do. It does not do what they expect of us.

“I thought the statements last made by the good Senator from Moanalua were very interesting about the fifth floor. I couldn’t get exactly the connection there but the fact that it didn’t have anything to do with us. I recall speaking against an ethics bill the other day when the good Minority Leader again tried to read off a list of names. He should have learned from the Kaimuki Senator that you don’t read names, you roll them out. The point there was that we didn’t feel that we need it, that we can identify the people that have been wrongdoers, that have been broken or breached the public trust, that have misused our funds. But we didn’t want to do that.

“And the argument that came from the Majority, including the good Senator from Moanalua, was we all need ethics training; we all need to know what to do that’s right and wrong. The Governor, the Legislative Branches, the employees, everyone here needs to be re-indoctrinated. But the problem is we do know the difference between right and wrong, but that’s never stopped people from doing wrong.

“And the point of the fact is the people whose names were on that long list – some of whom were fined, one was imprisoned, I think one – the good Senator talked about appropriate punishment. It wasn’t appropriate. It wasn’t appropriate at all. As a matter of fact, from a business standpoint it was viewed as a business expense – just the cost of doing business. And that’s the message that we have to stamp out and that’s the message that we are both responsible for and should be accountable for. And the fact that other people in other offices, all of one particular party by the way, did certain things, that’s not what campaign spending reform is about. Campaign spending reform is just that – anyone that’s involved in the campaign process, anyone that accepts money has certain things that they have to do.

“And if we’re on the 20-yard line, the good Senator from Kaneohe who knows much more about this says we punted, I don’t know how much time is left in the game. But I do know, as the Senator from Waikiki said, that the public is watching us and they give us low marks. They know that we can do better but somehow we don’t. And year after year we talk about baby steps and we’re going this way and that way – listen, if it was something that this Body is really interested in, we could pass it in one afternoon and move it along and get it though Conference and not even keep the Conference Committee secret or wave the rules or anything else. Let the public know about it, and maybe even the media would come down here on a regular basis and cover this Legislature. But we don’t do that, instead we’re trying to fool the people.

“And this is not about contractors.”

The Chair interjected:

“Senator Slom, could you keep germane to the topic at hand, please.”

Senator Slom responded:

“Yes, Sir. I thought it was about campaign spending reform. Yes.

“It’s not about contractors.”

The Chair interjected again:

“To the bill, please.”

Senator Slom continued:

“Yes, Sir.

“I’m saying that this bill does not go far enough. And the key part of the bill that’s missing is a ban on corporate and union contributions. That’s what will solve the problem. I’m still a strong believer in private campaign funding as long as people know where the funds come from and as long as we say we’re now going to allow people to make these errors of judgement or errors of the law because we are going to make sure there is a ban in this bill. And that’s what would get all of us to support this bill. Without it, we cannot.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hemmings rose in rebuttal and said:

“Mr. President, I rise on a point of rebuttal.

“Once again a member of the Majority Party, in this case the Senator from Moanalua, stands up and tries to impugn the integrity of the Governor. I’m here to defend her honor.

“That list that was rolled out was not full of names of people who have been indicted and convicted or who have made illegal contributions to the Governor of the State of Hawaii. Rather, we all know the truth is that the vast majority of indictments and convictions have been companies that made contributions to the executive of the city and county of Honolulu, a member of the Majority Party. And to imply the Governor has been a recipient of these illegal contributions on a mass level as is evidenced by the documented truth in court is indeed sad.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Sakamoto rose in rebuttal and said:

“Mr. President, point of rebuttal.

“I didn’t say, or maybe you’re reading more into what I said, but the point was that the list dealt with people in the mayorship and the governorship, and I didn’t point to any particular one person. So, if that’s what you are implying, I’m sorry that’s not what I intended. It’s not a particular person but people who have the authority to do non-bid contracts who were perhaps influenced with campaign dollars that can make a great impact.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 152-04 was adopted and S.B. No. 459, S.D. 1, H.D. 1, C.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CAMPAIGN SPENDING,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 21. Noes, 4 (Hemmings, Hogue, Slom, Trimble).

FINAL READING

S.B. No. 2556, H.D. 1, C.D. 2:

On motion by Senator Taniguchi, seconded by Senator Kanno and carried, S.B. No. 2556, H.D. 1, C.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO STATE OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES EXCLUDED FROM COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AND MAKING APPROPRIATIONS AND OTHER ADJUSTMENTS,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 23. Noes, 2 (Hogue, Trimble).

H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 2:

Senator Sakamoto moved that H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Hooser.

Senator Sakamoto rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I speak in favor of this amendment, for the purpose of a little background note.

“There have been years of many different reports and some people claim nothing has been done with those reports. But many things have been done – embarking on SCBM, embarking on complex area divisions, embarking on many different journeys. There’ve been efforts to have this Legislature do things like change the school board by appointments and the voters have decided that’s not what they would have preferred. Many, many different things . . . weighted student formula as in this bill and as in S.B. No. 3238 was nothing new to this State. In fact, there was a report in 1994 regarding that. But also in 1994 there was the Felix consent decree. The last few years of No Child Left Behind saw our schools struggling with many, many things.

“This Body has passed measures to perhaps transform the system by doing things over the years, and later on I’ll get to this chart, but every year for the last few years we’ve been passing out some of the things we’ve been doing. We’ve been far from standing still, far from going in reverse. We’ve going forward. But in the process, in this year, the Department has asked for $51 million or more dollars and their budget has been slashed. We passed funds for facilities and projects and many of those are either withheld or not even discussed.

“There’s been very few favorable comments to the public school system coming from some people. It’s easy to pontificate; it takes work to legislate. It’s easy to destroy; it’s difficult to rebuild.

“Zeroing in on the local school board debate, unfortunately that took a lot of energy and effort in this Body and in the different speech circles around town. But there’ve been different proposals – no state board, elected state board, reconfigure the state board, appointed, commissioned, 15, 7, 4, 42, hike – any number of different combinations of what the field of play would look like. Last year we tried to change the field of play with the complex area 15 and that was vetoed. This year we weren’t able to come to resolution, and even the Governor’s own polls show that the voters aren’t feeling that would be the change. But where I thought we were on the same page last year was when Dr. Ouchi came to town touting the weighted student formula. Representative Takumi immediately felt that made sense, so he embarked on doing research and speaking toward that seems to be something that made sense, talking to people across the nation. And as he started to embark on the journey it was Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Rep. Takumi and myself who wrote a letter to the Governor saying can we embark on this journey together and investigate weighted student formula. To this date there was no response to that letter.

“So the Legislature embarked on working with the Board of Education, Department of Education, the teachers, the HSTA, the principals, the HGEA, parents, Hawaii’s parent-teacher association, principals, various business groups, others on weighted student formula, on what different parts of changing our education system made sense.

“The Governor embarked on her CARE project. The Governor kept calling our efforts fake reform. I don’t know if CARE project means Campaign Attack Regarding Education or the Campaign Against Reinventing Education, but I’m happy at this point in time the Governor has chosen to say perhaps we can amend the bill that we sent forth. We have done that in this measure in attempting to address or we are addressing the five points that the Governor put forward. The five points, one being charter schools, in our process as we talked to charter schools, they chose to be of the process because the weighted student formula would be really how the Department of Education schools would operate. But trying to address the point the Governor made, we worked with Linda Smith over the weekend and came up with language that was agreeable to her, at least at that time, that charter schools come in as a group and go out as a group. But for effectiveness and how do we budget, it would be on the biennium, so that’s one point.

"We clarified, regarding the principals, that the principal would be the person working with the school team to formulate and present the academic plan and financial plan to the school committee, the community council, and the community council would review that and if they had revisions they would recommend those back to the principal, or they would recommend the plan to the complex area superintendent. Therefore they're not purely advisory, as the Governor had hoped, but certainly it's clear that the principal, his or her plan would be moving forward. We clarified in the performance contract that indeed one of the criteria could address the individual principal as opposed to all in mass, all in a group.

"Another point raised was regarding the timing of when the weighted student formula system would roll out. We indicated in this measure that a minimum of 15 schools, one in each complex area, therefore would be across the whole state and that effort would embark January 1, 05 – the piloting – because they need to set up working with their school community council, working on what their budget perhaps would change to with the flexibility, also that all the other schools a year later would embark. Relating to the speed of the embarkation, the Governor also wanted us to put a 90 percent time specific in the bill. She suggested 70 percent on the start, 80 percent of the second year, 90 percent on the third year, and as Ms. Smith and others looked at it, they themselves determined that perhaps that was very ambitious. But in our bill we were trying to be prudent in deciding that we put the 70 percent in and the department could do more but the department needed to come back to us with a report dealing with provisions such as buy back of services should a school not want to handle things that perhaps the department could do themselves.

"So, the bottom line is, Mr. President, we have worked with many people over many drafts, over many days, over many weeks, over many months, to do the original bill which even absent this amendment would be an excellent bill. And these are not props that I asked my staff to put post-its on, far from it. These are drafts that our good SMA staff, House Majority staff worked on, other people worked on, and as we tried to address concerns raised, we continued to say what could we improve, and we feel this measure before us continues to improve things. Certainly, but it isn't about this measure, it's about will we, all of us, say, as some have said, that the schools and the students are the worst, the last, the bottom of the pile, or will we say we can work together.

"So I would hope that as we tried to address or we did address each of these things the Governor suggested that we can embark together. T the Tour de France, Mr. President, is a long grueling race. Mr. Armstrong has done well over the years. You go up the hill, down hill, sweat. You have flat tires, crashes, dehydration. So I feel and our team that's been working on this feel like we've been through a long grueling race, at times feeling like many people were throwing tacks in the rode, maybe people weren't being so supportive. But just like Mr. Armstrong, I think at the end of race we all want, whether we participate in the race or not, we all want to share in the yellow jersey at the end of the race. We all want, at the end of the race, to say let's enter Paris victorious.

"So my hope would be you can all enter the race, including this Governor and her team. We hope we can say let's enter this race no matter where we got on, whether we got on at the last time trial in Paris or we got on years before. Let's all work hard for the public schools. Let's do the best we can to make these efforts successful. Let's help the schools be it via a rotary club, via business, via church, via this Body. So let's work together to help our schools succeed because everyone wants the best for our students, and I want our students and their children and their children's children to so say in the future that our public schools are great schools, and we can do that.

"Thank you."

Senator Slom rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the bill.

"First of all, let me say that no one doubts the effort, the time, and all of the good will that the good Senator from Moanalua and others have put into reforming education, both in this house and also across the way. I must say I'm a little disappointed. They sure looked like props to me, Senator. I'm disappointed you didn't ask me to hold up anything for you. That's my job today. I do appreciate your timely analysis of the education bills and the things that you've done. You've tried to make everything a lot easier and more understandable.

"Having said that, however, I still am compelled to vote against this measure for the same reason I voted against the campaign spending measure, and that is we call it reform and in this case we call it reinventing education. If we were truly reinventing education we would have adopted the provisions that the Governor had suggested instead of deriding the CARE group. We would have allowed people to vote on an issue that they've been asking to vote on for several years in which polls indicate that 70 to 80 percent of the population wants real change, wants real reinvention. But we didn't do that.

"But I do give the Education Chair and the Majority Party credit of at least taking a look at the five proposals that were made by the Governor in her 'soft' veto last week. You may recall she vetoed the bill but said there's still time for us to come up with a workable, bipartisan, true education reform. And she did provide five specific areas that she thought needed attention. And as the good Senator said, the Governor was met part way in most but not all of these five areas. And I think that's what it's all about. It's like the 20 percent campaign or it's like 30 percent here. Whatever it is, it's not half, it's not three-quarters, it's not the whole thing. So you have a real difficult time in that saying something is reinvented when it's exactly the same.

"And the basis of this bill, this legislation is that the State Department of Education, the DOE, the State Board of Education, the BOE, will continue with the power that they have now, and that's what the public wants changed. Now certainly we are going to try to give the principals more power, and I think the amendment that the good Senator and the Conference Committee took under it's control will do that, will give the principal more power, but it will not give the principal the ultimate authority, the responsibility, and accountability that the Governor and those of us who want real reform have sought. It has not made a clear statement that the newly created councils will be advisory. They will work together but that creates problems. You have to have one individual that is responsible, and I thought we were in agreement that that person should be the principal.

"In the area of charter schools, the charter schools have some decision-making under this proposal. But what was it that the charter schools and their supporters have complained of all along for various years? That they were not getting equal funding for the other public schools and the charter schools are in fact public schools. This bill does not provide equal funding. It allows them to participate in more discussions; it allows them to make certain other decisions, but it does not provide or guarantee equal funding. And that was one of the issues that was raised.

“To try to keep my remarks brief, Mr. President, let me just say that every time someone stands up wherever they are, in this Body or in the community, and talks about slashing the education budget, they really should look at the figures and look at what the facts are. Far from slashing the education budget, if you look at it year after year, take a five year period, take a ten year period, take whatever period you look at, you will find that the expenditures overall have increased. And you will find further that if we’re talking about budget for education, we are now approaching $2 billion per year for public education in this state – even though we are not seeing any of the products or the fruits of past reform, so called, in terms of improvement to the students and their performance, but nearly $2 billion a year the taxpayers pay to support public education.

“So yes, it’s taken a lot of work. Yes, a lot of people apparently are very tired. And yes, we’ll be back here next year because we have not reinvented education. We could have done it. We could have allowed the people to once and for all say we want significant decentralized changes, but we didn’t do that. We didn’t trust the people enough to do that. And so instead, we produce these documents and we tell the people that it’s brand new, that it’s reinvention. And like some of the other bills, they’re going to be disappointed when they find out they’re not.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Baker rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure.

“Mr. President, I suppose that reform, reinvention is really in the eye of the beholder. If you talk to the principals, you talk to the teachers, you talk to many of the parents and students about the kinds of things that are going to help them and help student achievement, we have many of those things in this bill, the bill we passed earlier, and in several other bills, including the one on charter schools and on the age that one can go into kindergarten.

“Education is a process, Mr. President, and something that happens today or last year or the year before is going to take some time for it to affect student achievement, and for my money that’s really what we ought to be looking at. It’s not about government; it’s not about things that are peripheral to student achievement, but what is going to affect a child in the classroom – a teacher helping that child to learn, a principal managing a school. I think we have a lot of those elements in this bill.

“Is it perfect? Will our system be perfect tomorrow? I don’t think so. But it wasn’t going to be perfect tomorrow when all of a sudden we have local boards. Just look at what’s happening on the mainland to all the schools there having challenges with recruiting teachers, with violence in the schools, with raising funds so that their doors can stay open, with new facilities, finding facilities. Yes, we may be spending what seems like a lot to the good Senator from Hawaii Kai on education, but I submit that we’re not spending near enough. The cost of education, the cost of everything related to education has gone up. We have more students; we have more challenges; we have more demands placed on our schools, and all of those things cost money.

“If we have local boards, it’s not going to change the dynamic in terms of the funding that is needed for the schools in order to make changes. Hawaii’s public schools are in many respects excellent. We do have some challenges. The Department has acknowledged it, local educators have acknowledged it, the Legislature has acknowledged it, and we’re putting building blocks in place that will help that.

“One of the elements that perhaps the Governor won’t be completely 100 percent pleased with is we didn’t go immediately to the 90 percent of funds going to the local schools. There was a very interesting survey we all received by e-mail this morning that was done of the school principals and they talked about what the kinds of reform they felt would be useful and some of their reactions to if we had gone to giving them virtually full autonomy with 90 percent control. I’d like to read just a couple of responses from a principal in my area because I think it’s very instructive. These principals really feel that they want to deal with student achievement, but they don’t necessarily want to deal with all of the other things like having to procure items, having to do school lunch, having to do the kinds of things that are done centrally and managed well.

“The principal at Lahaina Intermediate School asked, “When will I have time to dedicate my time to student achievement if I have to do all the procuring, the maintenance of facilities, CIP, processing of personnel and the like? We are educators first, not business managers. Our products are students with quality education. Does that mean we will have to hire more personnel to assist us? Will we then be accused of being top heavy at the school level next?” She also said, “My plate is overflowing right now. Flexibility and personnel matters would help me, however, I don’t want full autonomy because I have to pick up responsibilities which are currently being done by centralized experts. I am willing to improve for student achievement at my school no matter what. It’s all about the students.” And that to me, Mr. President, is what needs to be and must continue to be central in all of the debate about reinventing education, reforming education. Are the things that we’re doing going to really help students learn at the local level, or are we just passing areas of concern down to the schools and hoping, because we’re really not giving them any more resources – we haven’t changed procurement laws, we haven’t done some of these other things – that all of a sudden, overnight everything is going to change.

“I think we need to listen to the folks that are involved in education, work with them, and take the steps that this Legislature has already taken this year and continue that process towards excellence for every student – giving them the ability to learn at the rate that they can learn and the way that they can learn, supporting our teachers, supporting our principals, supporting our communities.

“Mr. President, because I think the survey of public school principals that was done by our colleagues in the other body has such valuable information for all of us, I’d like to have it inserted into the Journal at the close of our remarks.

“Thank you, Mr. President. I urge all my colleagues to vote for this measure.”

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Baker’s insert of the survey of public school principals is identified as ATTACHMENT “A” to the Journal of this day.

Senator Hooser rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support of H.B. No. 2002.

“I think if we all take a moment to look at this list that the Chair of the Education Committee put together I think we would all be impressed. I certainly was. I sat on the Committee and worked on all these issues, but I haven’t seen them all together like this. If anyone out in the community says that this is fake reform and that we're not doing anything about education, I would just encourage people to show them this list. I think that to not support the good work that we have done in this Committee and in this Chamber because you didn't get your way in 100 percent of all the things that you wanted is small minded.

"Seven school boards – I think we should all just confront the issue. The seven school boards issue was a bad idea. It was a bad, bad idea. It wasn't supported by sound research. It wasn't supported by principals. It wasn't support by teachers. It wasn't support by the business community, the Hawaii Business Roundtable. It wasn't support by the PTSA. It wasn't supported by the Hawaii State Student Council. It wasn't supported by many neighborhood boards, even the realtors didn't support. It was a bad idea and there was no substantive research showing that seven school boards, four school boards, fifteen school boards, or whatever, had any relationship whatsoever to student performance in the classroom. It had an appointed commission at the top. The voters in our state have already rejected appointed school boards twice before. It set up seven separate Departments of Education, seven separate bureaucracies. It was a bad idea, Mr. President, and I, for one, am not willing to put a bad idea on the ballot and ask people to choose.

"What you're looking at today is good legislation. It's sound legislation. It represents the culmination of much hard work and incorporates many ideas of the executive branch and many ideas that were put forth from various stakeholders in the community and incorporates the hallmark, the centerpiece of Dr. Ouchi's formula for success – the weighted student formula. It incorporates more community involvement. The parents I talked to said they don't want to be involved if they're not going to be taken seriously. They want to have meaningful participation in our schools and this bill gives them meaningful participation.

"It honors teachers and provides them with a $5,000 bonus for those that achieve national certification. It supports principals. It de-links much of the bureaucratic mess that's kind of evolved over the past years and allows for quicker decisions when fully implemented. There are many, many good things in this bill.

"It's a result of collaboration and I think that H.B. No. 2002 is a good example of that. Through the entire process there has been collaboration and working together with the various stakeholders. I personally sat in the meetings and I have to give just tremendous credit to the Chair of the Senate Education Committee as well of the House Education Committee for the work they've done on this together with other members of the community and the Committee. I personally sat through hours, not just the testimony, but hours after the testimony had been given and worked with the Chair of the Committee going over page by page, testimony after testimony looking for suggestions, looking for concerns, and trying to figure out how we can address those concerns, how we can incorporate those suggestions into the legislation that we've ultimately passed. It was a good process.

"This recent amendment, the one that we're voting on today, is again a result of that collaboration. My hats off to the Committee, the Chair, this Body for saying let's take another look, let's look at this, let's incorporate what we can to improve this bill with suggestions from the Governor's Office.

"I have to add that this is continuing process. It doesn't stop here, Mr. President. It goes on, The collaboration goes on. It's imperative that we work together, that we set aside our differences. There is still much work to do. We need to work together – the Executive Branch, the Legislature, teachers, parents, students – all of us to achieve the level of education our State deserves and that we're capable of providing.

"Thank you and I urge my colleagues to vote 'yes.'"

Senator Hogue rose in support with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of this measure with reservations.

"I want to say first of all that I appreciate the debate that we're having today. I think it's a very, very good debate and I think it should continue.

"My personal opinion, and I've expressed it many times here on the Floor, is that I'm for competition and competition to me in this particular situation means breaking up the entrenched power of the current system and making us have local school boards. I think it's a good idea. And because I differ in my view than the good Senator from Kauai, I would like to see this measure ultimately played out as a measure on the ballot that will allow our voters to vote on this very important issue up or down, finally.

"I've seen something good happen in the last few days, colleagues, something that I think frankly is historic – and that is that the Governor has tossed the ball in the other court and asked the players to play. I guess that's a sports analogy and the players decided to play. And because it's a competition, there were some hard hits and there were some soft hits, and there was some tugging and some pulling, and through the art of compromise, we came up with what we did today. And because in the art of compromise, ultimately you don't get every single thing that you want, you know not everybody is going to go home happy, but it was historic. And that really is a good, good step, because ultimately, if we allowed everyone to come into the arena and play and everyone does listen, I think ultimately the students are better off for it.

"So, I say that I am for real reform, and to me real reform means change. Change is a very, very difficult thing to go through, and I think that's frankly why we got the responses that were brought up by the principals that the good Senator from Maui brought up. They're in the system. When you're in the system you're looking for the best way to do your job within that system. Real change means apprehension, anxiety, sometimes there's fear from real change. But real change, like competition, makes us all better, and that's what I'd like to see.

"This is a step in the right direction and I hope that what we've seen, Mr. President, in the last few days with the two sides getting together and talking about it, that's a good step.

"Thank you."

Senator Trimble rose to speak with reservations and said:

"Mr. President, I also rise with reservations, except at the moment, I'm leaning more toward the 'no' than the 'yes' side.

"It's probably because of the arguments . . ."

The Chair interjected:

"So are you up or down?" (Laughter.)

Senator Trimble responded:

"I'm speaking with reservations. But I might listen to myself talk and come to a different conclusion. (Laughter.)

“The first thing that I wanted to address was the comment that we’re spending more because the number of students are going up. I recall that when I worked on the issue of education down here 30 years ago we were having the same types of discussions we’re having today and that the enrollment has not changed significantly since that date.

“Number two, I’d like to remind you of the statement made by Bertolt Brecht who said that in this world we have to run as fast as we can to keep our pants from strolling out from under us. And the comment he was trying to make is that if we’re not moving forward rapidly, we’re actually slipping backward. And my concern is that regardless of what you call this, it’s not going to wind up with the guarantee that the children are going to have the materials and the school books that they need for the next two or three years.

“I would also like to have you look at governments one more time. We talked about the importance of the principal being the decision-maker. Have we formulated a process that will make the principal the decision-maker or have we formulated the process where in many cases decisions will be held in advance while it’s being run up the ladder to the area-wide superintendent? If that occurs in this system, then we will not have moved forward.

“Part of the intellectual problem between the two sides is that we both believe in collaboration but how do we measure that collaboration really occurred. I think we measure that collaboration really occurred if we allow the principal to put into effect her vision and judge the satisfaction of the community, the teachers and the parents. We get this process by allowing the principal to implement as rapidly as possible.

“The proposal that we have before us does not do that. It requires, quote, ‘meetings with the student council for formulation review of the process.’ And then it allows for, in cases of disagreement, it to go to the area superintendent. My sense is that this is a way of promoting stagnation and waiting, waiting, waiting. And when this happens, you don’t get change, you don’t get improvement.

“So, at the end I’m still going to vote with reservations, but I really wish that next year when you look again at governments try and work out a system where the principal is the decision-maker.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Sakamoto rose again and said:

“I rise again in support, Mr. President.

“First, to clarify the points about the charter schools that the Senator from Hawaii Kai was talking about, as I read the Governor’s prototype bill related to charter schools, there were provisions to add them into the weighted student formula. But as I searched through the bill, I didn’t see any provisions to have them have more money to change their current funding formula. So I think maybe people aren’t sure about the equal funding charter schools receive.

“One of the measures we passed relating to charter schools, S.B. No. 2425, did start to clarify for those who are still not sure. Perhaps a better clarification is that as of the October 15th school date this coming year, the charters will get a per pupil amount that’s equal on average to all of the other students except that calculation is less federal dollars, less SPED dollars. Most of the federal dollars are directed based on how the federal government says and the SPED dollars are directed based on individual student’s needs, so those couldn’t be averaged. But all the rest – 5,746 – is an average of what all of the other students get. So that is equal funding. This measure added $2.5 million. Ways and Means put $2.5 million because the previous Governor’s budget didn’t bring it up to the current correct dollar amount. That’s their funding.

“As far as facilities, we don’t take our CIP budget and our annual budget and divide it by 283 schools or 182,000 people. If we did that, how would we ever build a new school that cost $50 million? How would we ever do anything if we said all of those dollars are dispersed into every little pocket and every little cubbyhole, every desk, and every teacher’s cabinet? We have to make decisions strategically on the facility’s dollars, and hopefully in the future we can address charter facilities, but they are getting equal funding.

“I said earlier I would address this. On the second page, charter schools, civil service status was a concern that’s been clarified with the efforts the Labor Committees. The charter school funding, again with the Finance and Ways and Means. H.B. No. 2911 clarifies that the charter school office will report on their charter schools and clarify some of the complaints that have been coming up regarding land use, etc. S.B. No. 3148 deals with the Hawaiian schools wanting to group up. In this initiative, in discussions with OHA as they decide to participate more in education, they hopefully will help to fund the effort to deal with issues – such as, how do you form a group of charters within another group? How will that relate to all of the schools in general? How will it relate if they are a separate agency in regard to the federal government? The SPRBs are in the middle. The University of Hawaii, the Chair from Water, Land, and Agriculture reviewed that and reminded us that H.B. No. 2009 included CTAHR 500,000. So if anyone feels that something is left out with any of these or is incorrect, please advise.

“Back to the front. Before I used the analogy of the Rubik’s cube, so it’s still six-sided – parents and community, teachers, principals, students, facilities, administration. Many times we’ve change one side of the Rubik’s cube and the other side gets affected. We’ve tried, with the good cooperation from all of us in here. Thanks to my Vice Chair and especially thanks to Ways and Means that early on gave us the green light to let us do many things. So we really appreciate everybody’s help. And my colleague here is suggesting perhaps that we could insert this in the Journal. I’m not sure if that’s possible, but to the extent possible because I believe we’ve tried to capture what all of us have been able to put forward.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Sakamoto’s insert is identified as ATTACHMENT “B” to the Journal of this day.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, H.B. No. 2002, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 2, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Slom).

S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2, H.D. 1:

Senator Taniguchi moved that S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2, H.D. 1, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Kokubun.

Senator Slom rose in support of the measure with reservations and stated:

“Mr. President, I rise briefly in support of this bill with reservations.

“Every year it is the responsibility of the State Department of Taxation to submit a measure to place our tax law in conformity with federal law. That’s a good measure. But every year there seems to be a problem and the problem is this, that the conformity is not 100 percent. It’s not total. In other words, we don’t say we’re going to match all of the changes that were made in the federal law.

“There are two specific examples. One has to do with investment. We don’t have the same kind of investment treatment at the state level as we do at the federal level. It’s more generous at the federal. And secondly, which I think is what most people are aware of when they do their income tax is that the value or the amount for personal exemption is less in Hawaii than it is for the federal return. I think we figured out that the value of a spouse or a dependent child is about 72 percent of the federal average here in Hawaii.

“So, with those omissions, I support the bill with reservations but I would like to see that each year in fact when we do conformity, that we actually conform with federal law.

“Thank you.”

Senator Hogue rose and said:

“Please note my reservations. Thank you, Mr. President.”

The Chair so ordered.

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2, and S.B. No. 2983, S.D. 2, H.D. 1, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO CONFORMITY OF THE HAWAII INCOME TAX LAW TO THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE,” having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 25. Noes, none.

S.B. No. 2474, S.D. 3, H.D. 2:

Senator English moved that S.B. No. 2474, S.D. 3, H.D. 2, having been read throughout, pass Final Reading, seconded by Senator Menor.

Senator English rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise in support.

“Mr. President, members, this is a very interesting situation we’re in with this bill, and I’m asking that we agree to it. But like I pointed out in earlier discussions, I consider this a micro-step forward. In fact, it may even be standing in place and leaning forward. But enough of it is there to make us want to move this forward. I looked back at the pattern of these types of bills before. By the way, this bill is for the renewable portfolio standard. Members, the Senate position was 30 percent by the year 20. This bill puts in 20 percent by the year 20. The administration was very convincing in their presentation to us in Committee and said they can meet the 20 percent. In fact, so convincing that we needed to move it up higher because they can meet it and it can be done.

“Unfortunately, if you read this bill, it includes fossil fuels as the renewable under certain circumstances, and that’s really hard for me to swallow. In fact, I considered do we swallow this bitter pill or do we throw it out and be done with it. But in looking at it, I’ve decided that we have to take the homeopathic approach to it and absorb the poison so that we can become stronger in the next Session and fix some of these bad parts of this bill.

“Members, I’m going to insert into the Journal the C.D. 1 that I would have proposed in Conference because I think it incorporates our positions. It lays out what I think would have been good compromises, and it takes parts of our S.D. 3, it takes parts of the H.D. 1, and the H.D. 2 into consideration.

“I want to be really clear here that in asking everyone to agree to this House draft that we are fully cognizant of what it is. And in coming to this conclusion that we should agree, I took into consideration many factors, two important ones, very important ones – one is that it’s the administration that wants to do this, the administration that wants to make this happen, and I commend them for that. Hats off to the administration because they will make sure that the provisions here that are heinous will be read very narrowly. They will make sure that when we try to classify fossil fuels as a renewable, that it gets read very, very, very narrowly.

“The other factor is that we have a chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, Mr. Caliboso, that has shown through his actions that he’s willing to take on the challenges presented here, willing to take the PUC forward in dealing with the issues that were presented in here and willing to help to make a standard that works for all.

“I looked back at the pattern of energy bills in the past and observed something, and I’d like to share that with you. We often included very bad provisions in good energy bills. And usually a year later, we have what we call a cleanup bill that took those provisions out. Interestingly, it’s always the same types of provisions throughout the years. So I’m hoping that that pattern will hold true with this measure – that the areas that are bad will get taken out in a year or two and that we can be left with a truly workable real renewable portfolio standard.

“I’m also hoping that next year we can raise it to 30 percent, which is the Senate position and I think one that we can achieve that presents a challenge to everyone in Hawaii to conserve energy and to lean towards renewables.

“So with that, I ask for your support in moving this measure forward. Help us to take the micro-step or maybe even lean forward a little bit. But that momentum is important and for the record, I will insert into the Journal what would have been our proposed C.D. 1.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

The Chair having so ordered, Senator English’s insert of the proposed C.D. 1 reads as follows:

“SECTION 1. Building a sustainable future in Hawaii requires the government to take a leadership role in developing programs and initiatives designed to encourage people to live within their means. The legislature finds that a significant impediment to the goal of sustainability is the large imbalance between the amount of goods and services exported from Hawaii in comparison to the amount of goods and services imported to Hawaii. Specifically, the legislature notes that Hawaii exports only $2,000,000,000 a year in goods and services while importing $15,000,000,000 a year in goods and services.

Enterprise Honolulu stated that “a key characteristic of a healthy economy is that it exports more than it imports. If payments for imports exceed payments for exports, we have a 'trade deficit.' Just like a negative balance in your checking account impacts your household, if a trade deficit continues too long, the region's quality of life begins a downward slide."

The legislature also finds that Hawaii imports between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 worth of oil annually. These figures represent a growing dependence on oil imports which allows electric utility companies to enjoy a financial windfall when they sell electricity to Hawaii consumers. The profits realized by electric utility companies lead to the continued importation and dependence on oil.

The legislature finds that economic diversification, import substitution, and export expansion are key to achieving sustainability. Further, import substitution may be achieved by increasing the use of renewable energy resources found in Hawaii, such as wind, solar, ocean thermal, wave, biomass resources, and others enumerated in section 269-91, Hawaii Revised Statutes, as amended by section 2 of this Act.

The purpose of this Act is to encourage import substitution by increasing the use of renewable energy resources found in Hawaii, thereby decreasing the need to import large amounts of oil annually.

In addition, renewable energy resources offer Hawaii important job creation, environmental protection, and energy security benefits. These efforts will contribute to the ultimate success of the State's efforts to develop the infrastructure for a future hydrogen energy economy based upon hydrogen produced primarily from renewable energy.

SECTION 2. Chapter 269, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by adding a new section to be appropriately designated and to read as follows:

"§269- State support for achieving renewable portfolio standards. (a) The department of land and natural resources and department of business, economic development and tourism shall facilitate the private sector's development of renewable energy projects by supporting the private sector's attainment of the renewable portfolio standards in section 269-92. Both departments shall provide meaningful support in areas relevant to the mission and functions of each department as provided in this section, as well as in other areas the directors of each department may deem appropriate.

(b) The department of land and natural resources shall:

- (1) Develop and publish a catalog by December 31, 2006, and every five years thereafter, of potential sites for the development of renewable energy; and
- (2) Work with electric utility companies and with other renewable energy developers on all applicable planning and permitting processes to expedite the development of renewable energy resources.

(c) The department of business, economic development and tourism shall:

- (1) Develop a program to maximize the use of renewable energy and cost-effective conservation measures by state government agencies;
- (2) Work with federal agencies to develop as much research, development and demonstration funding, and technical assistance as possible to support Hawaii in its efforts to achieve its renewable portfolio standards; and
- (3) Biennially, beginning in January 2006, issue a progress report to the governor and legislature."

SECTION 3. Section 269-27.2, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (c) to read as follows:

"(c) The rate payable by the public utility to the producer for the nonfossil fuel generated electricity supplied to the public utility shall be as agreed between the public utility and the supplier and as approved by the public utilities commission; provided that in the event the public utility and the supplier fail to reach an agreement for a rate, the rate shall be as prescribed by the public utilities commission according to the powers and procedures provided in this chapter.

In the exercise of its authority to determine the just and reasonable rate for the nonfossil fuel generated electricity supplied to the public utility by the producer, the commission shall establish that the rate for purchase of electricity by a public utility shall not be less than one hundred per cent of the cost avoided by the utility when the utility purchases the electrical energy rather than producing the electrical energy. [~~In determining the amount of the payment in relation to avoided cost, as that cost is or shall later be defined in the rules of the commission, the commission shall consider, on a generic basis, the minimum floor a utility should pay, giving consideration not only to the near-term adverse consequences to the ultimate consumers of utility provided electricity, but also to the long-term desirable goal of encouraging, to the greatest extent practicable, the development of alternative sources of energy.~~]

~~Nothing in this subsection shall affect existing contracts between public utilities and suppliers of nonfossil fuel generated electricity."~~

SECTION 4. Section 269-91, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending the definition of "renewable energy" to read as follows:

"Renewable energy" means electrical energy produced by wind, solar energy, hydropower, landfill gas, waste to energy, geothermal resources, ocean thermal energy conversion, wave energy, biomass, including municipal solid waste, biofuels, or fuels derived ~~[entirely]~~ from organic sources, hydrogen fuels derived ~~[entirely]~~ from renewable energy, or fuel cells where the fuel is derived ~~[entirely]~~ from renewable sources. Where biofuels, hydrogen, or fuel cell fuels are produced by a combination of renewable and nonrenewable means, the proportion attributable to the renewable means shall be credited as renewable energy. Where fossil and renewable fuels are co-fired in the same generating unit, the unit shall be considered to produce renewable electricity in direct proportion to the percentage of the total heat value represented by the heat value of the renewable fuels. "Renewable energy" also means electrical energy savings brought about by the use of solar ~~[and heat pump]~~ water heating[-], seawater air conditioning district cooling systems, and solar air conditioning."

SECTION 5. Section 269-92, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended to read as follows:

~~"[§269-92]~~ Renewable portfolio standards. Each electric utility company that sells electricity for consumption in the State shall ~~[establish]~~ meet a [renewables] renewable portfolio standard [goal] of:

- (1) Seven per cent of its net electricity sales by December 31, 2003;
- (2) Eight per cent of its net electricity sales by December 31, 2005; ~~[and]~~
- (3) ~~[Nine]~~ Ten per cent of its net electricity sales by December 31, 2010[-];
- (4) Twenty per cent of its net electricity sales by December 31, 2015; and
- (5) Thirty per cent of its net electricity sales by December 31, 2020."

SECTION 6. The public utilities commission shall:

- (1) Develop and implement a utility rate structure, which may include but is not limited to performance-based ratemaking, by December 31, 2006, to encourage Hawaii's electric utilities to use renewable energy resources found in Hawaii to meet the requirements of section 3;
- (2) Gather, review, and analyze empirical data to determine the extent to which this proposed utility rate structure would impact electric utility companies' profit margins and to ensure that these profit margins do not decrease for a period of five years following the implementation of this rate structure;
- (3) Adopt rules to implement incentives and penalties to assist electric utility companies in meeting the renewable portfolio standards established in section

269-92, Hawaii Revised Statutes, while allowing deviation from the standard in the event of circumstances beyond the control of the utility, which could not have been reasonably anticipated or ameliorated;

- (4) Using funds from its special fund, contract with qualified technical experts to conduct independent studies to be reviewed by a panel of experts from among such entities as the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Renewable Energy Laboratory, the Rocky Mountain Institute, the Electric Power Research Institute, the University of Hawaii Natural Energy Institute, or other similar institutions with the required expertise. These studies shall:
- (A) Make findings and recommendations to the commission as to the capability of Hawaii's electric utility companies to increase the percentage of renewable energy established by the standard in a cost-effective manner, or whether circumstances require that the standard be adjusted. Cost effectiveness and capability shall be assessed by factors such as the impact on consumer rates, utility system reliability and stability, costs and availability of appropriate renewable energy resources and technologies, and other such criteria deemed appropriate by the commission; and
- (B) Make findings and recommendations to the commission for projected standards to be set five and ten years beyond the then current standard; and
- (5) Based on its own studies and those contracted under paragraph (4), the commission shall report its findings and recommendations, including, in particular, recommendations for new standards and goals, adjustments of percentages, and any proposed legislation, to the legislature no later than twenty days before the convening of the regular session of 2009, and every five years thereafter.

SECTION 7. Statutory material to be repealed is bracketed and stricken. New statutory material is underscored.

SECTION 8. This Act shall take effect on July 1, 2004."

Senator Slom rose to speak in support with reservations as follows:

"Mr. President, after the good words of the Chair of the Energy Committee, I have been swayed to support this bill with reservations.

"He wisely mentioned that the administration is committed to diversifying our energy as well as our economy. He also wisely pointed out the integrity of the PUC Chair both points of which I agree. He did kind of scare me a little bit when he talked about giving us poison, which we in the Minority hear a lot about. But fortunately Mr. President, as you know, I have a strong constitution and I'm not worried about the poison, so I'll accept it with reservations.

"Thank you very much."

Senator Hemmings rose to speak in favor of the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of this legislation.

"Mr. President, the young man from Hana, the good Senator, was extremely diplomatic in supporting this bill. And I'd like to say I commend him and the Majority Party for taking a stand along with the Governor for genuine reform in the energy portfolio, reform that is long overdue.

"We all know that Hawaii is blessed with incredible natural resources, not the least of which on the Big Island is geothermal. Our sun, the rhythm of our ocean, the wind all can contribute to making Hawaii the Petri dish of genuine energy self-sufficiency.

"But we would not be honest with ourselves and with the public who we're pledged to serve if we did not put on record the truth. And the truth is that we've allowed for close to 75 years now a monopoly to have a stranglehold on our energy here in Hawaii and that is Hawaiian Electric and its subsidiary companies. This company is traded on the stock exchange. This company's CEO is one of the highest paid in the State of Hawaii. This company's profits are amongst the highest of any corporation in Hawaii, all at the expense of the consumers of the State of Hawaii. We have electric rates that are 98 percent above the national average, far exceeding the rates of gasoline and other consumer products.

"This monopoly has done a good job of protecting its interest, and to its credit, this Senate took a stand for genuine reform. Unfortunately, when this bill was sent to the House of Representatives, the minions of the monopoly saw fit to take away its teeth. To imply in circumstances or to make law that says fossil fuels can be deemed renewable energy is an insult, yet this bill does it. But in this case I have to say if nothing else wasn't done, that the Chairman of the Senate Energy Committee along with the administration put on record this Senate's desire to promote genuine energy reform. And I believe that now that it is an issue, we will start down the path of doing just that.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Hogue rose in opposition and said:

"Mr. President, I stand in support of the Senate's position and in support of the administration's efforts, and because this is neither, I'm going to oppose this bill.

"Thank you."

Senator Sakamoto rose in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I stand in support and also some comments relating to the comments related to our Hawaiian Electric.

"I guess I'm not happy when people aren't able to defend themselves in an action. And I'm not saying one monopoly is good, but I am saying that's why we have the PUC. We have been, for the most part, having good utility service, and I hope the PUC would look into any accusations regarding excessive or over this or over that.

"On the other hand, Hawaiian Electric has been a big proponent of solar energy. They sponsor competitions. They put solar products on schools. Certainly they have been working to have energy efficiency into places like the Maui Community College. So I would hope that if there are some excesses, the PUC can do their job, but in other areas I think we should recognize them for the efforts they are doing to try and accomplish what we all want, which is freedom from being bound up by the oil goblins.

"Thank you."

Senator Ihara rose and said:

"Mr. President, point of parliamentary clarification.

"Subject to your further clarification, Mr. President, I believe the vote we are about to take is Final Reading on this bill. We voted to agree to the House amendments on Monday, and if this vote succeeds today, we will own it completely. We cannot say it's the House's proposal. It will be ours if we vote to pass this right now.

"Thank you."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, the Senate agreed to the amendments proposed by the House to S.B. No. 2474, S.D. 3, and S.B. No. 2474, S.D. 3, H.D. 2, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO RENEWABLE ENERGY," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions (S.R. Nos. 127 to 134) were read by the Clerk and were disposed of as follows:

Senate Resolution

No. 127 "SENATE RESOLUTION RECOGNIZING WITH GRATITUDE EACH OF THE INDIVIDUALS WHO OPENED A DAY OF THE SENATE, TWENTY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF HAWAII, REGULAR SESSION OF 2004, WITH AN INSPIRATIONAL INVOCATION."

Offered by: Senators Hanabusa, Hemmings.

On motion by Senator Kawamoto, seconded by Senator Hogue and carried, S.R. No. 127 was adopted.

No. 128 "SENATE RESOLUTION EXPRESSING DEEPEST APPRECIATION TO THE MEMBERS OF THE VARIOUS MEDIA FOR THEIR COVERAGE OF THE ACTIVITIES OF THE TWENTY-SECOND LEGISLATURE, REGULAR SESSION OF 2004."

Offered by: Senators Hanabusa, Hemmings.

Senator Kawamoto moved that S.R. No. 128 be adopted, seconded by Senator Hogue.

Senator Slom rose to speak with reservations on the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I would like to express my deepest reservations on S.R. No. 128 which praises the media for its coverage.

"While I have no problem with some of the working media who actually work that were down here. I think this was the Session that got the least coverage by the media, and whether the discussion was made in the boardrooms or where it was made, they would not cover the issues that we have wrestled with for five months adequately. I think it is a disservice to the public, and to give, uniformly, appreciation for all the media, I think is incorrect.

"Thank you."

Senator Trimble rose in rebuttal and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in brief rebuttal. (Laughter.)

"Mr. President, I would like to cite three reasons:

1. We don't get the coverage because we are boring. (Laughter.) Mr. President, I was not meaning any individual member of the other party. I was talking about this Body as a whole. We come, we meet, and then you guys recess. You come back 45 minutes later and you actually expect them to sit in booth over there for 45 minutes while you're in recess. There are some days when the only discussion is between the Senator from Hawaii Kai and the Senator from Waikiki. Now that probably is not very interesting.
2. After a while, Trojan horses, disingenuous legislation, false facades, and fake reform are no longer news because we do it all the time.
3. It is not what the people of the media do down here, because they are professionals. What appears in the newspapers generally have gone through the cutting room and come out oftentimes quite differently than it was submitted.

"So, for those three reasons, I disagree with the good Senator from Hawaii Kai. Thank you."

The motion was then put by the Chair and carried, S.R. No. 128 entitled: SENATE RESOLUTION EXPRESSING DEEPEST APPRECIATION TO THE MEMBERS OF THE VARIOUS MEDIA FOR THEIR COVERAGE OF THE ACTIVITIES OF THE TWENTY-SECOND LEGISLATURE, REGULAR SESSION OF 2004, was adopted.

No. 129 "SENATE RESOLUTION RETURNING ALL BILLS, CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS, AND RESOLUTIONS TO THE CLERK'S DESK."

Offered by: Senators Hanabusa, Hemmings.

On motion by Senator Kawamoto, seconded by Senator Hogue and carried, S.R. No. 129 was adopted.

No. 130 "SENATE RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE PRESIDENT TO APPROVE THE JOURNAL OF THIS SENATE FOR THE SIXTIETH DAY."

Offered by: Senators Hanabusa, Hemmings.

On motion by Senator Kawamoto, seconded by Senator Hogue and carried, S.R. No. 130 was adopted.

No. 131 "SENATE RESOLUTION RELATING TO THE PRINTING OF THE JOURNAL OF THE SENATE."

Offered by: Senators Hanabusa, Hemmings.

On motion by Senator Kawamoto, seconded by Senator Hogue and carried, S.R. No. 131 was adopted.

No. 133 "SENATE RESOLUTION REGARDING COMPLETION OF THE WORK OF THE TWENTY-SECOND LEGISLATURE SUBSEQUENT TO THE ADJOURNMENT THEREOF."

Offered by: Senators Hanabusa, Hemmings.

On motion by Senator Kawamoto, seconded by Senator Hogue and carried, S.R. No. 133 was adopted.

No. 134 "SENATE RESOLUTION INFORMING THE HOUSE AND GOVERNOR THAT THE SENATE IS READY TO ADJOURN SINE DIE."

Offered by: Senators Hanabusa, Hemmings.

On motion by Senator Kawamoto, seconded by Senator Hogue and carried, S.R. No. 134 was adopted.

Senator Baker rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, it was very late on Monday when we finally adjourned, and although I wanted to rise because it was perhaps more germane on that day than it is today to talk about and to insert some comments into the Journal about our override of H.B. No. 1043, C.D. 1, I knew that if I rose on that day at that late hour, I would have probably been lynched by my colleagues. And so I chose not to rise at that particular point. But you know, that was a very important bill. For those of you who don't remember numbers, and sometimes I don't either, this is the override of the HGEA arbitrated award veto.

"The concern on that day was that it came down quickly, some people have accused, and perhaps all of us were not prepared to answer. There were only two points of view. I believe that sometimes our colleagues across the way are correct – we don't respond; we don't put things into the Journal; we don't let people know how we feel. And I didn't want this Legislature to adjourn without inserting into the Journal some very important information that LRB provided for us.

"The concern was, well how could we override this veto so quickly when we hadn't really even had a chance to look at the Governor's veto message? Well I would just point out that on April 7th, the Governor in fact sent down a message to the Legislature that asked us not to pass it and basically outlined the same objections that she had in her veto message. So, we had fair warning and we could respond to what she had said.

"She talked about that the award should not have used CAFR, that they should have been more specific. But if you look at the law that's on the books, it doesn't specify that the arbitration panel could have used CAFR. It doesn't say that there are any specific or precise actions that they must take. So the arbitration panel was well within their prerogative to issue the award in the manner that they did.

"The one thing that's curious, Mr. President, is that there's a specified period of time when the employer can announce that there are problems with the way the award was done and ask for technical corrections. None of that was ever done.

"Finally, Mr. President, I must note for the record that all three members of the arbitration panel signed this award free and clear. There were no reservations on the part of the employee member. There were no additional comments.

"So there are two things I'd like to have inserted into the Journal because I think it's important for the historic perspective. I'd like a copy of the entire arbitration award included in our Journal, and I'd also like a copy of the memo that was done for one of our colleagues, the Senator from Makiki, to be inserted. I received his permission as well as the researcher for LRB's permission to insert this into the Journal because it responds to the information that the Governor provided as to the errors and refutes some of that information.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The Chair having so ordered, Senator Baker's inserts of the memo and the arbitration award are identified as ATTACHMENT "C" and ATTACHMENT "D," respectively, to the Journal of this day.

Senator Kawamoto rose on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Mr. President, the good Lord willing and with all the faculties I have in my control, I hope to be back next year, but if I'm not, I'd just like to say, number one, thank you to my staff – Nora, Ross, Neil, Stacey, Art and Ken. I'd like to thank your staff for your support, and the supporting cast of this Senate who for 10 years have done a great job – starting from the print shop to the sergeant-at-arms. I thank my colleagues for an enjoyable 10 years.

"I have only one request. The only request I have is that all of those who are coming back ensure that you take care of this Body. This Body is the only we have in this State. It has a long and proud history, and I ask all of you to really remember this Senate. I ask all you Senators to live up to the golden rule, treat each other with love and respect and honor that you all deserve.

"I thank you for a long journey. Thank you."

Senator English rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Members, I'd like to take this opportunity to thank a number of people, and I'll be very brief because I see we have the House waiting for us. I just have to note that this is one of the first years they came to our Chamber.

"First of all, I'd like to thank my office staff – Elsbeth Mckeen, my office manager; Jennifer Chow, the committee clerk; Libby Kimball, the receptionist; Michele Van Hessen, one of my analysts; and Chris Martelles, an analyst – for supporting all the work that we've done. I'm most grateful to them and I thank them for their dedication and for multi-tasking for all of the things that I had to get done.

"I'd also like to thank the members of the Energy and Environment Committee for serving on that Committee and for working. All of the other Committees that I served on, thank you to the Chairs and members.

"I'd like to thank this Body for the opportunity to serve and thank you for providing me with such insight, such support and guidance. We've all grown together . . . my have we grown together. I think we have done well for the people of Hawaii.

“Finally, Mr. President, I want to thank the people of Maui, Moloka'i, and Lana'i for this great privilege to serve in the Senate as their Senator and to thank them also for their support and their guidance throughout this entire process.

“Mahalo everyone and have a good interim.”

Senator Hemmings, Minority Leader, rose to deliver his closing remarks as follows:

“Mr. President, first of all I do want to have the record reflect that your Loyal Opposition, the Republican Minority, is grateful that you have started the tradition of having closing remarks reflect our point of view on what happened this last Legislative Session. And if nothing else, we have all fought hard for what we believe in our hearts is the right thing to do, and that's what this Legislature is best at doing.

“In my remarks I do want to point out what we feel we did, or more importantly may not have done. The pounding of the gavel will herald the close of this Legislature. I was passed out a quote or a poem yesterday that I wish to enter into the record. What happened is best summed up with these poignant words from the poet John Greenleaf Whittier: ‘For all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these: it might have been.’

“Hawaii entered a new era of politics in the election of 2002. One political party no longer had absolute control over the executive, legislative and therefore the judicial branches of government. With the departure of a monopoly and an emergence of a fledgling two-party system, there were high hopes that we could work together cooperatively to find common solutions to the problems that challenge the people we serve. At the opening of Session, we, your Republican colleagues, offered the Majority Party our hand of cooperation. If you recall, I stated that we hoped our efforts would not be met with partisanship and blind allegiance to the status quo. I'm pleased to report that there were incidences where we cooperated and we did indeed make good things happen.

“Hawaii Rx is something we can all be proud of. During the final passage of Hawaii Rx, it was heartwarming for me to see the more ecumenical amongst the Majority Party recognize the Governor for her cooperation and leadership with this issue. Likewise, the Republicans in the Senate recognize the Majority Party's leadership and spirit of bipartisan cooperation on this issue. Mr. President and colleagues, when we work together everyone wins, especially the public. Unfortunately, incidences of us really working together to make good things happen were few and far between.

“The record should reflect, concerning education, in spite of the words uttered on this Floor today, no one denies that our children are not capable of achieving, and no one denies that our teachers are not devoted. The good news is the education establishment finally acknowledged that the system is broken, or in the words of Superintendent Pat Hamamoto, is obsolete. The numbers also show that the taxpayers of Hawaii, in spite of other's claims, are very generous with education spending. The education status quo for years would have us believe otherwise.

“The Governor, the CARE committee, along with community leaders and the House-Senate Republicans, proposed genuine and honest reform, and what emerged was S.B. No. 3238, what you see is not what you get.

“Ultimately, if S.B. No. 3238 were implemented, the system of governance would remain with the same cabal of leaders in the centralized system. The people of the neighbor islands and Oahu districts were denied the right to even vote on whether to dismantle the statewide system. S.B. No. 3238 was vetoed.

The Governor offered a genuine compromise by amending a bill that included five basic reforms. The compromise proposal, H.B. No. 2002, was passed. At best, the alleged compromise, H.B. No. 2002, represents little reform and much delay. The truth is honest and systemic education reform was a missed opportunity in many ways.

“There is good news – the Governor did negotiate a much-deserved pay raise, and I emphasize the word negotiate, for teachers and the University of Hawaii Professional Assembly. Speaking of salary increases, we are now paying the price for the flip-flop the Majority Party did on binding arbitration. As predicted, the decision on binding arbitration for the HGEA resulted in costs that future state budgets will have a difficult time covering. Once again the Majority Party overrode the veto of the HGEA 7.5 percent pay increases contained in S.B. No. 2724. The HGEA arbitrated pay raises will result in huge future deficits. The numbers cannot be denied. Unfortunately, this could result in layoffs. The Governor will do what needs to be done to keep vital services available to our citizens.

“Senate Republicans also advocated a budget that would get us back to paying our bills with existing cash flow. It always amazes me that the Majority Party claims to be advocates of the sick, the elderly and the keiki, and yet holds public-funded human service programs hostage in raid bills. Human services should be part of the state's operating budget, not an adjunct. We know that balancing the budget by raiding funds, depleting the rainy day fund, taking money out of the retirement system, dismantling one of the best run departments in state government, and other short-term tactics will eventually lead to financial hardship for all the citizens of Hawaii, including the members of the unions of government. Republicans agree some vacant positions should be eliminated, but not at the expense of human services.

“I believe we all now realize that parts of the state's hastily produced omnibus spending bill, H.B. No. 1800, created problems. Fortunately, our Governor offered to fix those problems and, I might add positively, with the cooperation of the Chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee and members of the Finance Committee in the House, something was done. The Majority Party could not muster the votes to override the ill-conceived legislation to dismantle the DCCA, though the subsequent raid of $10 million from their compliance fund is problematic, especially for those businesses that pay into the fund. The Majority Party failed to bring stability and fiscal accountability to the states financial management. We seem to live from year to year. This is another missed opportunity.

“In the wake of Lt. Gov. Aiona's initiatives concerning the ice epidemic, the Majority Party picked up the gauntlet. After a summit and numerous hearings, it became obvious that the road to recovery incorporated two components. First, and we support this, rehabilitation when feasible, and second, law enforcement. Only half the job was done. The classic ploy of throwing more money at the problem addressed rehabilitation. Left out were a number of law enforcement initiatives supported by state and national law enforcement agencies. The Majority Party promptly overrode the Governor's veto of the problematic ice bill, S.B. No. 2003. It seems obvious that once again some in this Legislature are more concerned about criminals than protecting victims and law-abiding citizens.

“The long time ploy of the Majority Party to feign reform and delay it through an election cycle is evident again. If a gas cap, a bottle bill, and education reform are so critical, why was their implementation delayed? It must be noted that this Session was incredibly adversarial to the executive branch of state government. Much was done to try and erode the powers of the Governor. After 40-years of one-party rule, suddenly the power of the executive branch needed to be changed. The Majority Party tried to dismantle her best-running department – DCCA. You tried to curtail the Governor’s appointments to boards and commissions, including the board of regents. You tried to take away her management of this building and abolish security guards that protect her Lt. Governor and his family. You tried to eliminate the pay of her advisors. In short, you tried to hamstring the Governor’s effectiveness rather than work with her cooperatively to move our State forward for the benefit of all. The question that must be asked is why? I believe that the people of Hawaii know the answer. It’s been enunciated on the editorial pages of our state’s newspapers – petty politics.

“The aging and effete agents of the status quo are being challenged by a bold Governor and the growing number of us across this state who support genuine change.

“Before I close I do want to say thank you. I want to say thank you to those who work with us, those hardworking members of the legislative staff, those legislative agencies, especially our Clerk, the Sergeant-at-Arms Office, the Legislative Reference Bureau who do an excellent job of rising above the fray of politics and do indeed treat each of us Legislators individually and aid us in every way possible. For that, your Minority Party is most grateful.

“An honest assessment of this Session has to be that the Majority Party did indeed stifle the reform this government so desperately needs. In closing, our quest was clear, we could have planted seeds whose shade would nurture future generations. Regrettably, some of the seeds have fallen on the fallow ground of petty politics. Mr. President, my colleagues, we’re proud to be here, we’re proud to be part of the process. We’re pleased, Mr. President, that you and the Majority Party has allowed us open and unabated debate on the issues that affect so many of our lives. We the Senate Republicans will continue to till the soil and nourish the seeds of genuine reform and a new beginning. Mr. President, we remain optimistic.

“Aloha.”

The President then delivered his closing remarks as follows:

“I have to say that we are concluding on a very successful Legislative Session. While some among us would prefer to dwell on their losses, their inability to have their ideas resonate with voters, the lack of success in moving their legislation forward in this arena, I say that is simply the nature of governance. I don’t think any of us ever enjoys complete success having his or her proposals enacted. We listen to our constituents, form the ideas, and hope that we can convince others of their merit. And that’s what we did this year.

“We approved major legislation on education, drug abuse, and prescription drugs. They are not the be-all and end-all of legislation. They are merely starting points for further work.

“What we achieved was thanks to all of you. I most especially would like to personally thank all of the Chairs for their creativity and hard work.

“Our Education Chairman Norman Sakamoto and his House counterpart, Representative Roy Takumi, boldly crafted landmark legislation that became a core element of our Senate-House Majority package for 2004. This reform measure will invigorate our schools and support student achievement by directing more money to the classroom, giving principals more authority, and involving parents and the community in school governance.

“Also at the heart of our Majority package was legislation giving us the tools and means to fight the epidemic of drug abuse, ice in particular. Our Joint House-Senate Task Force on Ice and Drug Abuse spent many months crisscrossing the islands to hear from those affected by, or involved in, the ice problem and its cures. The result was legislation which responded to input we received directly from the community and which represented an effective combination of tougher penalties, with more resources for education, prevention, and treatment.

“Senator Colleen Hanabusa, who Co-Chaired the task force along with Senator Melodie Aduja, was instrumental in drafting the ice bills and serving as a staunch champion of the proposals in the face of unreasonable opposition.

“A special recognition is due to the Ways and Means Committee Chairman Brian Taniguchi and his House counterpart, Dwight Takamine, who had the very difficult task of balancing the budget while accommodating the critical funding needs of the education and ice acts, as well as pay raises for teachers and other public employees. They are to be commended for their leadership in shaping a complex, solid budget framework for the coming year.

“Unfortunately, some have chosen to denigrate everything we’ve worked so hard to accomplish. A few vocal parties didn’t get everything they wanted in the ice bills so they got the Governor to veto one. Well, the bills were crafted from recommendations gathered from hundreds of people in hours of testimony across the state, countless site visits, and all manners of public input. The administration, meanwhile, held an invitation-only drug summit, and came to the conclusion that further study was warranted. As the Senator from Waianae pointed out, not only did we listen to the people, but we also knew we couldn’t wait another year before acting. The result was the ice bills, a comprehensive first step in attacking our drug problems.

“The debate over seven local school boards overshadowed the meaningful reform measures we adopted, even when the Governor’s own poll showed that folks care far more deeply about smaller classes, more textbooks, better classrooms, and teacher salaries than school boards.

“Our success this Session had its roots in our 2003 Session. At that time, our willingness to work together to support a common agenda resulted in our ability to help the needy and disadvantaged, to protect our precious farmlands, and to ensure public health and safety.

“Our accomplishments this year build on that foundation. We did so through a commitment to common goals . . . to believing in the necessity of compromise when consensus is unattainable . . . to a willingness to share ideas and approaches to problems affecting us all . . . and to upholding our duty to do our very best in serving the people of Hawaii.

“I hope these principles will inspire us into the 2005 Session of the Legislature and beyond.

“Mahalo.”

Survey Overview

On Wednesday, April 28, an email survey was sent to all public school principals throughout the State of Hawaii. A total of 252 school principals were contacted. By Friday, April 30, a total of 129 school principals responded (51.2 percent). On Friday, April 30, another email was sent to those principals who had not completed the survey. By Tuesday, May 4, a total of 152 school principals responded (60 percent).

Although the survey's authors have spoken to numerous principals over the past few months, they created and implemented this study to accurately assess the general thoughts of our school leaders.

As the governor and state legislators debate the issue of school reform, the authors believe that it is critical to understand how proposed changes to our state laws will impact our schools and how our school leaders feel about these proposed changes.

A total of five questions were asked. Respondents were given five answers for each question. There were Strongly Agree (SA), Agree (A), Neither Agree Nor Disagree (NA), Disagree (D), and Strongly Disagree (SD). No response to a question is listed as a Blank (BLK).

Special mahalo to Lenna Mulipola-Ayres for her assistance in compiling the data.

The survey tool is attached as Appendix A.

Responses by Principals:

Change the way schools are funded. Have our governor/legislators visit schools, spend the day and see what happens daily so they can see the difficulties we actually face. Four or seven school boards is not the answer at this time. – Lindsey Ball, King Kamehameha III Elementary

Timely delivery of educational program supports for our students is critical. In the case of seven school boards, I view it as another layer for the schools to go through. I question what is the difference between what we have now and these seven school boards. In my opinion, nothing. – Myron Brumaghim, Nanaikapono Elementary

Again, more bureaucracy? I believe the SCBM councils (or something like that) should be given that role. That way the voices of the vested public are heard. – Clayton Chun, Kau High and Pahala Elementary

Local school boards actually will work, but only if the funding is similar, i.e., basic funding from the state, but local control of the funds for both spending and raising them. That has always brought up the question of equity between rich and poor districts. Are we ready to use property taxes to fund schools? – Peter Chun, Kaiser High.

Keep the present BOE. The fact that there is only one board now does not determine student achievement either, there are other factors, such as the adequate resources, parent involvement, student responsibility, in addition to high expectations/teaching standards that our teachers have. – Elynne Chung, Pearl Harbor Kai Elementary

There has been no information presented that indicates how local school boards will improve education. Research actually indicates that student achievement is improved through specific efforts taken by the school community. Those efforts include an articulated vision on what we expect for our students, focused attention and alignment on the standards that are to be achieved, varied strategies and supports provided to students in order to facilitate achievement, consistent use of data to assess how well students are meeting the expectations, strong parental involvement in the educational process, and a professional development component. Therefore, I can't agree with local boards until I see how achievement will be impacted by them. – Maureen Duffy, Waiakea Intermediate

From all of the research that I have read, nothing has been found that shows that student achievement is directly or indirectly tied to the layers of governance. – Robert Ginlack, Mililani High

As far as I know, there is no compelling evidence to support this position. – Curtis Young, Honowai Elementary

If the Governor's position is that 'decision-making power' belongs closer to the school, then bring it directly to the school without an intermediary group. No one knows our school better than my faculty, staff and parents. Why create another group outside of our school that may have other interests, since they would represent an area not a school. – Heather Wilhelm, Mauka Lani Elementary

Having more school boards definitely will not impact student achievement. Five years ago, our school adopted a Comprehensive School Reform Model that is Standards-based. Each year since the adoption of the model, our students have continued to make gains in achievement in the Hawaii State Assessment, as well as measures by school wide and classroom assessments. The decision, agreements, commitment, dedication to the hard work required in becoming standards-based was made by the faculty and school community. This was our school's choice, and not because of a school board. We strongly felt a responsibility to our students in preparing them for their future. Also, we are a rural school that is relatively geographically isolated. A school board, be it 1, 4 or 7, would still be a decision-making body that would be very distant from us anyway.

Responses by Principals:

It will improve only if funding is increased substantially. By that I mean schools getting funds to purchase additional teacher positions and part time teacher positions. With the current level of state funding at the school level we already have flexibility. The area of Special Ed has a life of its own which principals truly have very little control. Please keep the Special Ed funding at the State level. Also, I want state level to continue handle transportation, utilities, and school food services. These areas are purely business concerns. Principals do NOT need to deal with these areas to affect student achievement. – Susan Young, Heeia Elementary

I believe that having greater control of funds would enable us to use funding for staffing (hiring more PTT's for example) to target students who need extra help to reach proficiency levels. Having more resources will be the key. I look forward to having more flexibility with resources. A concern that I have is: I am not sure yet how my school will fare under the weighted student formula. That will be important for us to see. I am hoping that we will not lose resources under this system—that it won't take away from small schools that don't have really high levels of SPED, ESLL, etc. I do agree that funds should follow needs but there is a basic level of need that we all have. Small schools tend to have far fewer resources and it makes a big difference in how we can serve our children. – Ruth Holmberg, Sunset Beach Elementary

Often resources are allocated to programs that don't meet the unique needs of our school. As an example, we recently received $4000 to educate students who are suspended for 92+ days, yet we have no students out on long-term suspensions. Given the choice, we would have used this money to purchase books for our reading program. Also, if I had a choice of who needs to be on campus year-round, I would have asked for a counselor to stick around during the summer, rather than a Student Activities Coordinator, as was recently passed in the Omnibus bill. Students request credit checks, letters of recommendation, and parents call all summer and principals usually pick up this responsibility. I also believe that public schools are funded for mediocrity and that, while principals often do Herculean fundraising efforts to supplement our budgets, it's very difficult to find funding for some positions we consider essential. Our 27:1 ratio doesn't allow for much discretion. Right now, for example, curriculum and testing/data coordinators would help us meet NCLB benchmarks, but I haven't yet found a grant source or community partner willing to fund such seemingly mundane initiatives as this. – Lisa DeLong, Kahuku High and Intermediate

On the whole it should help improve student achievement, but there are no guarantees. My school is small with a heavy percentage of special education students (SPED). Several are severely handicapped students and were programmatic placed here from other schools and cannot take any type of standardized test. Unfortunately their test scores, which will either be zero (0) or non-participating, will still count against my total school test scores and will bring my school's scores down. It will appear, on paper, that the school is failing but this is far from the truth. The non-Sped students are learning well and meeting AYP and HCPS goals, but having nearly 1/3 to 40% of those taking the test being SPED students and taking the same standardized test as their normally developing peers will obscure and distort what is really happening at school. I know I'm not alone with this issue, but it will really reflect more at my school due to how small our enrollment is. – James Toyooka, Queen Liliuokalani Elementary

Responses by Principals:

I am held accountable for student achievement as it is. – Joseph Theroux, Keaukaha Elementary

There is nothing 'wrong' with what is going on presently regarding student achievement. I am asked to do more with less. As a small school with a declining enrollment, each year I get fewer teachers, less money yet expected to improve student progress. This is not ok. I am very clear what staff and community need to do to help all children succeed, but unless we are given the resources- it will not happen. I resent the implication that more resources makes it ok for more responsibility or things to do. – Billi Smith, Kekaha School

I already feel that I have great responsibility for student achievement and I cannot be held to more. Teachers have a share in that responsibility, but moreover, students and parents need to be held accountable. It is a two way street. Society has changed from the years when the teachers could teach and students would learn. Now there are so many challenges that come with the students that teachers need to get through barriers before students will actually learn. If there is anything that will drive teachers or administrators to leave education it is the attitude of students and parents today. We educators cannot do the job alone. Every time we get "hit" with criticisms is another reason to go find another job or retire where we wont have to put up with %$#@#$ from people who have no clue of what it takes to teach or operate schools these days. – Annette Nishikawa, Kapolei Middle

I take full responsibility for the success of my students. It's an unwritten rule of our commitment and philosophy. – Amy Martinson, Highlands Intermediate

As the term, "more resources, greater flexibility and autonomy" become clearer, it appears that the principal's time will be spent procuring, monitoring, and evaluating services that are presently done by district and/or state personnel. The important "little details" are being done by the support staff. If principals are given those responsibilities, then even less time will be available to be a curriculum leader. It appears that principals may be expected to do both line and staff functions. Presently, I spend a lot of time at meetings that are related to Special Education, 504, student support teams. Preparation and follow up for each meeting takes time, and in-depth work with regular education teachers are difficult to come by; most are beyond the regular teacher's work day. It is through the goodness of their hearts that teachers are willing to meet with me. – Justin S.N. Mew, Aina Haina Elementary

My plate is overflowing right now. Flexibility in personnel matters would help me, however, I don't want full autonomy because I would have to pick up responsibilities which are currently being done by centralized experts. I am willing to improve for student achievement at my school no matter what. It's all about the students. – Marsha S. Nakamura, Lahaina Intermediate

I will accept more responsibility for student achievement if we are truly given more flexibility and autonomy. I want to be free of certain contractual obligations, e.g., removing bad employees after repeated attempts to remedy situation, I want procurement laws changed to give us more flexibility, I want to be able to hold parents accountable for certain situations that we have no control of, I want more authority over discipline problems, etc. I want to make it clear, as I have done so with the Governor and Randy Roth, we need more than just fiscal flexibility to have true reform. – Bruce Naguwa, Kipapa Elementary

Responses by Principals:

You keep going back to resources and leaving out flexibility and autonomy. I would rather have more flexibility and autonomy with the dollar resources that I have now, than having more dollar that have to go to salary, fringe benefits, and so on. Having earmarked money only accounts for advanced bookkeeping -no additional money for the classroom. – Larry Biggs, Mokapu Elementary

Increased tasks amounts to increased responsibilities and increased personnel to implement this. If this is not met, it would be better to return to centralization of services. – Ruth Silberstein, Palolo Elementary

Not only training is needed. Please give the principals a business person to manage that aspect. Principal's primary responsibility is to be the instructional leader. This will lead to increased student achievement. Being a chief financial officer in addition will give principals 2 jobs. We are already being criticized for not doing one job well. Now we would be expected to do 2 jobs well? That doesn't make sense to me. – Susan Young, Heeia Elementary

If administrators are taking on additional responsibilities, there will need to be additional supports and trainings. I personally do not want to manage the cafeteria, buses, payroll, sped, and other things that are handled state wide. I cannot imagine having the time to do this. My school at 350 does not have a vice principal. There is only me, but, given the choice, I would not use funding for a vice principal if direct classroom services to students were impacted. More training will definitely be necessary. – Ruth Holmberg, Sunset Beach Elementary

Currently, I am not equipped to handle a large sum of money. My responsibilities are increasing but will my support increase? There needs to continuous on-going training. – Lindsay Ball, King Kamehameha III Elementary

Everyone is at different levels of expertise, so training cannot be the "one-size-fits-all" model that is the current approach. Furthermore, teachers are now being pulled out of school far too much for the training that is being mandated. This is not good for students. Some of the additional resources need to go to longer work years for principals and teachers so that training can be accomplished without substitutes replacing teachers on so many days. This would also make it possible for us to require teachers to attend the training without diminishing instructional time for students. – Catherine Payne, Farrington High

When will I have the time to dedicate my time to student achievement if I have to do all the procuring, maintenance of facilities, CIP, processing of personnel, etc.? We are educators first, not business managers. Our product is students with quality education. Does that mean we will have to hire more personnel to assist us? Will we be accused of being top heavy at the school level next? – Marsha S. Nakamura, Lahaina Intermediate

Responses by Principals:

I am a principal, not a business manager. Please let me focus on attaining high student achievement. – Amy Martinson, Highlands Intermediate

These types of responsibilities would be an extra burden to an already demanding job. As it is now EOs (principals) are stretching their health and family lives due to the existing demand. – Beverly McCall, Waiakeawaena Elementary

I already put in 13 hours a day in school, plus a few hours at home. When am I expected to take on this additional responsibility? I am tasked with being a manager of the school, as well as the instructional leader. Realistically, the demands of managing 90 percent of the operational budget, as well as, being the instructional leader are unrealistic and unreasonable. This proposal demonstrates the lack of knowledge of what occurs at the school level and the level of responsibility that the principal is challenged with. – Randall Miura, Leihoku Elementary

There is NO WAY that I want these responsibilities. There is NO WAY that I can do service to the students and families if I was held responsible for everything. There is NO WAY that I will remain an educator in that scenario. I have surpassed the requirements for retirement (55/30). I am here because I want to be. I do not want to be in that scenario. – Annette Nishikawa, Kapolei Middle

I don't think that we should identify a percentage until we identify WHAT tasks the schools will be taking on. After all the talking about how important principals are to school reform and all the talk about making us accountable for our schools (performance contracts and all that), there has been NOTHING forthcoming from the DOE, the BOE, the legislature, HGEA, or the Office of Collective Bargaining that could be viewed as meaningful support or acknowledgement of our role as leaders. I worry about the future. We need to think through the consequences of the decisions that we make. My prediction is that lots of folks, including the governor, will take credit for 'doing something' and the blame for the problems, the failures, and the slow pace of change, will rest solely on the heads of principals. – Catherine Payne, Farrington High

If you want us to concentrate on student achievement, you can't have our time taken up with things that do not relate to student achievement. – Carol Petersen, Mililani Mauka Elementary

If all of these responsibilities are shouldered by the principal, each school will need a fiscal officer to handle all the additional responsibilities. There should be centralized services for particular services such as transportation, special education, food service, etc. – Jane Serikaku, Iliahi Elementary

I am more than willing to manage funding that links directly to student achievement. So much of what is included in this has nothing to do with education and I will not do it. I am trying to reduce the non-educational stuff so I can focus on teachers and what goes on in the classroom. – Billi Smith, Kekaha Elementary

I don't believe schools having 90 percent of the operational budget will result in greater student achievement. Presently, the centralized services we receive allow schools to concentrate on those factors that directly affect student instruction and academic improvement. School level administrators have only so much time and energy and placing additional responsibilities without additional appropriate personnel will not work for schools – Stan Tamashiro, Ewa Elementary

Subject: Governor's Comments on the Hawaii Government Employees Association Arbitration Award

This responds to your request regarding the Governor's Message requesting the Legislature to reject the HGEA arbitration award and determining the validity of her reasons stated therein, I submit the following for your review:

Governor Cites Three Errors

In her April 7, 2004, Governor's Message, Governor Lingle opined that the arbitration panel made at least three errors in assuming the State could afford the arbitrated award. The Governor's three reasons are as follows:

- (1) The arbitrators mistakenly accepted that the State had a balance of $972 million in unrestricted funds at the end of fiscal year 2003.

According to the Governor, "the arbitrators mistakenly accepted that the State had a balance of $972 million in unrestricted funds at the end of FY 2003. This figure represents the net of $1.065 billion in assets from the Airports Fund, the Harbors Fund, and the Unemployment Compensation Special Fund, minus $92.9 million from all other governmental activities. Balances in the airport, harbors, and unemployment funds must, by law, be used for the specific purposes named. It is neither fiscally or legally possible to use these monies for wage settlements. This misleading and incorrect assessment of the State's fiscal condition produced the erroneous conclusion that the State could pay for the wage increase."

- (2) The arbitration panel incorrectly used the State of Hawaii Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) to estimate available funds at the end of fiscal year 2003.

The Governor also states that "the Arbitration Panel incorrectly used the State of Hawaii Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) to estimate available funds at the end of FY 2003. The State's financial reports are published on an accrual basis. This means the end of year figures in 2003 included tax revenues generated in FY 2003 but not collected until FY 2004. The figures also included expenditure liabilities (such as Medicaid and payroll) incurred in FY 2003 but not paid out until FY 2004. To use the CAFR, which is a backward looking document, to project what funds may be available in a future year, is inaccurate and misleading."

- (3) The arbitration panel referenced the State's good credit rating to conclude the State could pay for this award.

Finally, the Governor argues that "the arbitration panel referenced the State's good credit rating to conclude the State could pay for this award. The fact of the matter is credit rating agencies consider a wide variety of factors in their analysis of a jurisdiction's creditworthiness. The credit rating process examines the State's economy, revenue collections, and the Administration's commitment to fiscal discipline. The willingness of the State to control expenditures during periods of slower economic growth, allowing the State to carryover sufficient financial reserves, also contributes to its positive credit rating. The rating is performed to assure bondholders that the State is able to pay its existing debts, not to indicate the State's ability to pay for future salary increases."

Discussion on the Governor's Perceived ErrorsThe arbitrators mistakenly accepted that the State had a balance of $972 million in unrestricted funds at the end of fiscal year 2003

Upon a review of the arbitration decision and award, there is no indication as to the weight that was given by the arbitration panel to this particular factor in rendering its decision on the employer's ability to pay. However, the panel did state that:

In sum, the Employer, in focusing its case on spending priorities, has not presented a convincing argument to the panel. Nor has the Employer rebutted the Union's evidence, i.e., that the CAFRs, when considered in tandem with the Union's last and final offer, establish an ability to pay on the part of each jurisdiction. In re: Hawaii Government Employees Association, AFSCME, Local 152, AFL-CIO (Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, 6, and 13). HLRB Case No. I-02-96. p.20., (2004)

Regardless of the issue as to whether the arbitration panel mistakenly accepted that the State had a balance of $972 million in unrestricted funds at the end of fiscal year 2003, it does seem that the union's representation that the funds comprising the $972 million were unrestricted was incorrect. In the interest arbitration decision and award, In re: United Public Workers, AFSCME, Local 646, AFL-CIO. HLRB Case No. I-10-95. p.11., (2003), Gerald Bachecki, the certified public accountant that prepared the union's position on the employer's ability to pay, testified that "the State had a balance of $959.2 million in its restricted assets as of June 30, 2002, that could be used for any purpose, implying that such monies could be used to fund the Union's wage proposal." However, the decision and award went on to note that "on cross examination, Mr. Bachecki conceded that the $959.2 million figure included the Airports Fund, Harbors Fund, and Emergency and Budget Reserve ("EBR") Fund or "Rainy Day" fund, all of which are restricted funds that are set aside for special purposes." In light of this concession by Mr. Bachecki in the UPW decision and award, and not having access to Mr. Bachecki's actual testimony, it seems that the Governor is correct to the extent that the $972 million is comprised, at least partially, of restricted funds that may not be used for salary or wage purposes.

However, it can also be argued that the presence of healthy special, revolving, and trust fund balances serve to relieve pressure on the need to divert general funds to a special, revolving, or trust fund in the event of a particular fund's insolvency or near insolvency. Although not related to this arbitration proceeding, the arbitration panel for United Public Workers, AFSCME, Local 646, AFL-CIO. HLRB Case No. I-10-95. (2003), noted:

"There is also a need to assess the health of special funds. If these fund balances are healthy, there is no need for the General Fund to support them in meeting their designated obligations, thus freeing monies in the General Fund for other purposes, including the funding of collective bargaining increases. All of these special fund balances appear to be strong and healthy." In re: United Public Workers, AFSCME, Local 646, AFL-CIO. HLRB Case No. I-10-95. p.32., (2003)

The arbitration panel incorrectly used the State of Hawaii Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) to estimate available funds at the end of fiscal year 2003

According to the arbitration panel's decision and award, the panel utilized the CAFR as a basis to determine an employer's ability to pay for the following reason:

Moreover, the Employer's case for inability to pay is based on conservative budgeting and future spending priorities, as opposed to the Employer's audited financial condition. . . . In the opinion of the panel, the CAFRs of each jurisdiction provide more persuasive evidence of the financial condition of each separate jurisdiction than the budgetary documents presented by the employer. In re: Hawaii Government Employees Association, AFSCME, Local 152, AFL-CIO (Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, 6, and 13). HLRB Case No. I-02-96. p.19., (2004)

In a review of Chapter 89, Hawaii Revised Statutes, no provision of law prohibits an arbitration panel's use of CAFRs in rendering a decision. In a previous arbitration case to which the State was a party, a different arbitration panel similarly used CAFRs as a basis to determine an employer's ability to pay. In that instance, the Governor did not recommend that the Legislature reject appropriating moneys to fund the award. For further discussion on this particular arbitration award, see the discussion on section 89-11(f)(1), Hawaii Revised Statutes, below.

The arbitration panel referenced the State's good credit rating to conclude the State could pay for this award

Upon a review of the arbitration decision and award, the only reference to the State's credit rating in the decision and award is contained in the Union's position on refuting the employer's inability to pay. In re: Hawaii Government Employees Association, AFSCME, Local 152, AFL-CIO (Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, 6, and 13). HLRB Case No. I-02-96. p.15., (2004). Nowhere in the arbitration panel's determination of the ability to pay issue section is the subject of the State's "good credit rating" mentioned as a reason for its award.

Governor Cites Five Legal Flaws

The Governor states that in addition to the three erroneous assumptions made by the arbitration panel, there are also legal concerns with the arbitration panel's findings. According to the Governor, the panel failed to adequately explain how it took into account at least five factors set forth in section 89-11(f), Hawaii Revised Statutes. They are:

- (1) Section 89-11 (f)(1) - Lawful Authority of the Employer;
- (2) Section 89-11 (f)(3) - Interest and Welfare of the Public;
- (3) Section 89-11 (f)(4) - Ability to Pay;
- (4) Section 89-11 (f)(6) - Wage Comparisons; and
- (5) Section 89-11 (f)(8) - Overall compensation package.

Discussion on the Governor's Legal Concerns

Lawful Authority of the Employer - Section 89-11 (f)(1), Hawaii Revised Statutes

The Governor argues that the arbitration panel violated section 89-11(f)(1), Hawaii Revised Statutes by substituting reliance on CAFR for the legally imposed process. A review of Chapter 89, Hawaii Revised Statutes, no provision of law prohibits an arbitration panel's use of CAFRs in rendering a decision. According to the decision and award, the arbitration panel stated:

After examining all of the evidence and the arguments of the parties, the panel must conclude that the Employer failed to meet its burden of establishing an inability to pay. (underscoring added) In re: Hawaii Government Employees Association, AFSCME, Local 152, AFL-CIO (Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, 6, and 13). HLRB Case No. I-02-96. p.19., (2004)

This passage would indicate that the arbitration considered the entirety of information provided to it and did not solely rely upon CAFRs to render its decision.

In an arbitration proceeding for the United Public Workers Bargaining Unit 10 (UPW), to which the Governor was a party, a different arbitration panel came to the same conclusion that that the use of CAFRs was a legitimate fiscal tool to measure the State's fiscal health. In its award, the UPW arbitration panel stated:

Although the Employer does not rely on CAFR's, which are retrospective in nature, to calculate budgetary information prospectively, the arbitration panel finds that CAFR's are audited and give a more precise depiction of the State's actual finances and are therefore more useful than the budgetary tools relied upon by the Employer which are more reflective of budgeting priorities. CAFR's reflect the State's past utilization of resources and the use of such information to establish trends in order to ascertain how the State would utilize its resources in the future is accepted by the arbitration panel. Furthermore, use of the GAAP method, as required by the Government Accounting Standards Board ("GASB"), to make adjustments to the information contained in the CAFR's, is appropriate for purposes of assessing the Employer's financial condition. In re: United Public Workers, AFSCME, Local 646, AFL-CIO. HLRB Case No. I-10-95. p.31., (2003)

It may be interesting to note that in this particular instance, the Governor did not elect to petition the Legislature to reject this award nor has she made the argument that the arbitration panel's use of CAFRs was violative of section 89-11(f)(1), Hawaii Revised Statutes.

Interest and Welfare of the Public - Section 89-11 (f)(3), Hawaii Revised Statutes

The Governor argues that the arbitration panel: failed to consider competing interests, most notably the State's spending priorities as reflected in its printed budgets; did not provide a discussion or explanation as to which priorities were not justified or could be reduced to pay for collective bargaining increases; gave no indication or identification of where in the budget the moneys should come from to pay for the award; and cited as its only public interest, a "public interest" in public employees receiving a pay raise.

In its decision and award, the arbitration panel stated:

The panel's award effectuates the legislature's intent and purpose in enacting the law and, therefore, promotes the interests and welfare of the public by contributing to more effective government and the continuation of necessary services.

Bargaining unit employees covered by the panel's award are employed in every facet of governmental operations and provide services to the general public, thereby affecting the lives and well being of individuals, families and businesses throughout the state of Hawaii. In the opinion of the panel, recognizing these employees for their contributions through issuance of a fair and reasonable arbitration award serves the best interests and welfare of the public. In re: Hawaii Government Employees Association, AFSCME, Local 152, AFL-CIO (Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, 6, and 13). HLRB Case No. I-02-96. p.29., (2004)

In a review of Chapter 89, Hawaii Revised Statutes, no provision of law requires that an arbitration panel to specify any of the issues raised by the Governor other than that the panel give weight to the interests and welfare of the public. In a plain reading of the excerpted passage above, it would seem that the panel fulfilled this obligation.

Ability to Pay - Section 89-11 (f)(4), Hawaii Revised Statutes

The Governor argues that "[t]he panel imposed a burden on the State to demonstrate inability to pay. Nowhere in Chapter 89, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is this burden placed on either party. To place a burden of persuasion without any authority or agreement is unlawful." Although Chapter 89, Hawaii Revised Statutes, indeed does not specify this burden, according to the arbitration decision and award, the arbitration panel notes:

"The Employer acknowledges the general rule that employers have the burden of producing sufficient evidence to support a claim of inability to pay. Elkouri & Elkouri, How Arbitration Works, (5th Edition 1997) at page 1126." In re: Hawaii Government Employees Association, AFSCME, Local 152, AFL-CIO (Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, 6, and 13). HLRB Case No. I-02-96. p.8., (2004)

In addition to the tacit acceptance of this evidentiary burden, upon a review of the decision and award, no mention is made of the State arguing against the imposition of this burden.

Wage Comparisons - Section 89-11(f)(6), Hawaii Revised Statutes

The Governor argues that "[t]he panel disregarded the wage comparison analysis conducted by the State's wage expert, despite evidence that she conducted careful job matches with private and public sector employees performing "similar services." Instead, the panel chose to focus its analysis on pay raises awarded to other State and county employees, most notably first responder personnel. In doing so, the panel failed to follow the statutory mandate that requires the panel to consider both the conditions of employment of other persons performing "similar services" and "of other state and county employees of Hawaii."

The Governor also argues that "the panel found that "each party, in presenting wage data pertaining to employees performing similar services, has selected data which is supportive of its own position." This is not borne out by the record. The State's wage expert presented objective wage data for classes where she could find appropriate job matches. She did not selectively present the data. In fact, the record indicates that she provided data that argued in both the affirmative and negative including job classifications where the State fell behind its private and public sector counterparts."

With regard to the Governor's allegation that the panel failed to meet its statutory responsibility to consider both the conditions of employment of other persons performing "similar services" and "of other state and county employees of Hawaii," upon a review of section 89-11(f)(6), Hawaii Revised Statutes, a plain English reading of the law only requires the panel to "give weight" to those factors. While section 89-11(f), Hawaii Revised Statutes, does require an arbitration panel to "give weight" and "include in its written report or decision an explanation of how the factors were taken into account", the statute does not set forth specific requirements as to the form or length at which a panel must elaborate on its deliberation over these factors. Based on the lack of statutory specificity regarding how these factors are to be weighted and reported upon and a review of the arbitration decision and award, it can be argued that panel's discussion of the two comparators could qualify as "giving weight" to the factors. See Hawaii Government Employees Association, AFSCME, Local 152, AFL-CIO (Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, 6, and 13). HLRB Case No. I-02-96. pp.25-27., (2004)

With regard to the Governor's assertion that the arbitration panel erroneously believed that the employer's expert selectively presented wage comparison data, based solely upon what is reported in the arbitration decision and award, it is not possible to ascertain the validity of this allegation.

Overall compensation package - Section 89-11 (f)(8), Hawaii Revised Statutes

The Governor argues that "[i]n evaluating the proposals, the panel only addressed wage comparisons, but it is mandated to consider the overall compensation package including medical and hospitalization benefits, vacation, sick leave, retirement benefits and the like. Additionally the panel was tasked to factor in the continuity and stability of employment. The panel did not incorporate these conditions into its final decision." The Governor also asserts that "[i]n ignoring this evidence, the panel erred in its evaluation of the true value of the State's complete compensation proposal."

Upon a review of the arbitration decision and order, it seems that specific discussion by the panel on this particular factor does not exist. However, whether or not the exclusion of specific discussion on this factor provides a legal basis upon which to nullify the award and absent any specific statutory language to determine the consequences of the exclusion would seem to leave this issue subject to judicial interpretation.

Responsibility of Parties Participating in the Arbitration Process

It should be noted that under section 89-11(e)(2)(D), Hawaii Revised Statutes, it is the responsibility of the parties to the arbitration to review for completeness, technical correctness, and clarity the draft arbitration decision prior to its finalization.

- "(D) Arbitration decision. Within thirty days after the conclusion of the hearing, a majority of the arbitration panel shall reach a decision pursuant to subsection (f) on all provisions that each party proposed in its respective final position for inclusion in the final agreement and transmit a preliminary draft of its decision to the parties. The parties shall review the preliminary draft for completeness, technical correctness, and clarity and may mutually submit to the panel any desired changes or adjustments that shall be incorporated in the final draft of its decision. Within fifteen days after the transmittal of the preliminary draft, a majority of the arbitration panel shall issue the arbitration decision." (underscoring added)

It could be argued that if the Governor or the Governor's representatives were truly concerned over the issue of including a recitation of the arbitration panel's consideration of each of the ten factors enumerated in section 89-11(f), Hawaii Revised Statutes, and if the Governor was participating in the arbitration process in good faith, then it could be assumed that this issue should have surfaced at this juncture. According to anecdotal information, given the short time period under which the arbitration process was to be executed, and to accommodate the employer's request for oral closing arguments, it was mutually agreed upon by both parties to waive the fifteen day review period required under this provision of law. However, regardless of the waiver, either party would have been able to apprise the panel of this concern,

Legislature's Role in the Arbitration Process

According to sections 89-10(b) and 89-11(g), Hawaii Revised Statutes, all items requiring any moneys shall be subject to appropriations by the appropriate legislative bodies.

Section 89-10(b), Hawaii Revised Statutes

"(b) All cost items shall be subject to appropriations by the appropriate legislative bodies. The employer shall submit within ten days of the date on which the agreement is ratified by the employees concerned all cost items contained therein to the appropriate legislative bodies, except that if any cost items require appropriation by the state legislature and it is not in session at the time, the cost items shall be submitted for inclusion in the governor's next operating budget within ten days after the date on which the agreement is ratified. The state legislature or the legislative bodies of the counties acting in concert, as the case may be, may approve or reject the cost items submitted to them, as a whole. If the state legislature or the legislative body of any county rejects any of the cost items submitted to them, all cost items submitted shall be returned to the parties for further bargaining." (underscoring added)

Pertinent Part of Section 89-11(g), Hawaii Revised Statutes:

"Agreements reached pursuant to the decision of an arbitration panel and the amounts of contributions by the State and counties to the Hawaii public employees health fund, as provided herein, shall not be subject to ratification by the employees concerned. All items requiring any moneys for implementation shall be subject to appropriations by the appropriate legislative bodies and the employer shall submit all such items within ten days after the date on which the agreement is entered into as provided herein, to the appropriate legislative bodies." (underscoring added)

According to these provisions, the only duty the Legislature has in the arbitration process is to provide, or not provide adequate moneys to fund an award. As such, it seems that the only issue before the Legislature is whether to fund or not fund a collective bargaining agreement, regardless of whether the amount to be appropriated was reached through a negotiated settlement or an arbitrated agreement. The responsibility of representing the State in negotiating collective bargaining agreements, advocating the State's position as an employer in arbitration proceedings, and reviewing preliminary drafts of arbitration awards for completeness, technical correctness, and clarity, rests with the Governor.

Conclusion

In conclusion, the sole issue before the Legislature at this time is whether to fund, or not fund, the cost items contained in the arbitrated settlement between the State and the Hawaii Government Employees Association. If the Governor believes the amounts decided upon in the arbitration award and appropriated by the Legislature are in excess of what the State can afford, then she has the power to veto the appropriations and risk a veto override. If the Governor wishes to amend the public employment collective bargaining law in a manner that she believes would remedy her perceived flaws in the collective bargaining process, then such an amendment should be appropriately brought before the Legislature for its consideration in the form of legislation. If the Governor believes that the process by which the award was rendered was not executed in accordance with law, then the Governor should seek judicial relief. The circumstances being as outlined above, it appears that the appropriate venue for the legal issues raised by the Governor would be in a court of competent jurisdiction, not the Legislature.

The HAWAII GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES ASSOCIATION, AFSCME, LOCAL 152, AFL-CIO (herein "the Union") is the exclusive bargaining representative of employees in the following six bargaining units which are the subject of this proceeding:

- Unit 2 Blue Collar Supervisory Employees¹
- Unit 3 White Collar Non-Supervisory Employees²
- Unit 4 White Collar Supervisory Employees³
- Unit 6 Educational Officers (Department of Education)⁴
- Unit 8 Administrative, Professional & Technical Employees (University of Hawaii and Community College System)⁵
- Unit 13 Professional and Scientific Employees⁶

The distribution of employees by jurisdiction is as follows:

Bargaining Unit 2 Bargaining Unit 3 Bargaining Unit 4 Bargaining Unit 13	State of Hawaii, Hawaii Health Services Corporation, Judiciary, City and County of Honolulu, County of Hawaii, County of Maui, and County of Kauai
Bargaining Unit 6	State of Hawaii, Board of Education, including the Department of Education
Bargaining Unit 8	State of Hawaii Board of Regents, University of Hawaii

¹ Within Unit 2 are approximately 425 full time equivalent (FTE) positions including school food service managers and institutional food service managers.

² Within Unit 3 are over 13,000 FTE positions including such wide ranging classifications as clerks, water safety personnel, police and fire dispatchers, and state deputy sheriffs.

³ Unit 4 has 834 FTE positions. Its largest classification is school administrative assistant.

⁴ Unit 6 includes 750 FTE positions, i.e., educational officers (Department of Education).

⁵ Unit 8 contains approximately 1086 FTE positions, i.e., institutional support employees of the University of Hawaii.

⁶ Unit 13 includes approximately 7200 FTE positions, i.e., professional and scientific employees working in more than 100 classifications including social workers, accountants, data processing analysts, and engineers.

1 After negotiations for renewed agreements reached impasse approximately one (1) year ago, the
2 Hawaii Labor Relations Board declared February 1, 2003 as the date of impasse. An Order
3 Appointing a Mediator was issued on February 24, 2003. On April 25, 2003, the parties
4 extended their existing agreements (which would have otherwise expired on July 1, 2003)⁷ to 5 and including June 30, 2004

7 On December 9, 2003, the parties agreed, in writing, to a joint alternate impasse
8 procedure, as specifically authorized by HRS 89-11 (a).⁸ By the terms of the alternate impasse 9 procedure, the panel (including the neutral chairperson) was selected, dates were designated for 10 the arbitration hearing, and deadlines were established for preparation of the reporter's
11 transcript,⁹ submission of final argument, and issuance of the panel's decision.
12

13 In accordance with the procedures set forth in HRS Section 89-11, evidentiary hearings
14 were held January 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 19, 2004 at Honolulu. The parties were afforded
15 a full opportunity to present testimonial and documentary evidence, to cross-examine each 16 other's witnesses, and to make argument to the arbitration panel.¹⁰ With the full cooperation and 17 consent of the parties, the panel also exercised its authority under HRS Section 89-11, to assist 18

19
20 ⁷ Over the Governor's veto, HRS 89-11 (e) was revised effective July 8, 2003 to provide for binding arbitration in bargaining units 2, 3,4, 6, 8, and 13

21 ⁸ This section provides: "A public employer and an exclusive representative may enter, at any 22 time, into a written agreement setting forth an alternate impasse procedure culminating in an arbitration 23 decision pursuant to subsection (f), to be invoked in the event of an impasse over the terms of an initial or renewed agreement."

24 ⁹ By agreement of the parties, the proceedings were transcribed by the court reporting firm of 25 Donna N. Baba & Associates.

26 ¹⁰ The parties mutually agreed that the original of the transcript would be supplied to the 27 arbitrator with copies to the parties. In accordance with a stipulation reached at the hearing, post-hearing briefs had been received by the chairperson as of February 25, 2004 at which time the record 28 was closed and the matter was taken under submission by the panel.

1 the parties in a voluntary resolution of the impasse through the mediation process.¹¹ After the 2 briefs were submitted by the parties, the panel conducted its deliberations during telephonic
 3 conferences held on March 19, 20, 22, 23, 24, and 25, 2004.¹²

19 With regards to the proposals listed above with an asterisk, these articles have been withdrawn
 20 from bargaining.¹³ Based on the authority granted to the panel under HRS 89-11, the arbitration
 21 panel must now resolve all of the remaining open issues.

22 The Statutory Criteria

23 In accordance with the requirements of HRS Section 89-11 (f), the arbitration panel, in

25
 26 ¹³ The parties agree that where a proposed modification of an existing article has been 27 withdrawn, the existing article will be carried over into the successor contract without modification 28 except that the proposed new article entitled "Licenses for Bargaining Unit 2" (as proposed by the Union) will not be included in the new Bargaining Unit 2 contract.

1 reaching its decision, must give weight to the following enumerated factors:

3 (1) The lawful authority of the employer, including the ability of the employer to use 4 special funds only for authorized purposes or under specific circumstances because of limitations imposed by federal or state laws or county ordinances, as the case may be.

5 (2) Stipulations of the parties.

6 (3) The interests and welfare of the public.

7 (4) The financial ability of the employer to meet these costs; provided that the 8 employer's ability to fund cost items shall not be predicated on the premise that the 9 employer may increase or impose new taxes, fees, or charges, or develop other sources of revenues.

10 (5) The present and future general economic condition of the counties and the State.

11 (6) Comparison of wages, hours, and conditions of employment of the employees 12 involved in the arbitration proceeding with the wages, hours, and conditions of 13 employment of other persons performing similar services, and of other state and county employees in Hawaii.

14 (7) The average consumer prices for goods or services, commonly known as the cost of 15 living.

16 (8) The overall compensation presently received by the employees, including direct wage 17 compensation, vacation, holidays and excused time, insurance and pensions, medical and 18 hospitalization benefits, the continuity and stability of employment, and all other benefits received.

19 (9) Changes in any of the foregoing circumstances during the pendency of the arbitration
20 proceedings.

21 (10) Such other factors, not confined to the foregoing, which are normally or 22 traditionally taken into consideration in the determination of wages, hours, and 23 conditions of employment through voluntary collective bargaining, mediation, fact-finding, arbitration, or otherwise between the parties, in the public service or in private 24 employment.

25 In accordance with HRS 89-11, the arbitration panel is also required to include in its written 26 report an explanation of how the statutory factors were taken into account in resolving the 27 disputed issues.
28

1 The Parties' Final Offer Positions (Compensation Issues)

2 In its final offer (submitted prior to arbitration), the Union proposed a two-year
3 agreement with a four percent (4%) salary increase effective July 1, 2003 and another four 4 percent (4%) increase effective July 1, 2004 (for all six bargaining units). The Union also 5 proposed step movements as follows:
6

7 Bargaining Unit 2: movement from Step A to Step B during the first year of the 8 agreement, drop Step A and designate Step B as Step A, and implementation of 9 longevity steps (L1 and L2) during the second year

10 Bargaining Unit 3: continuation of step movement plan

11 Bargaining Unit 4: continuation of step movement plan

12 Bargaining Unit 6: grant step increases to eligible employees in each fiscal year

13 Bargaining Unit 8: grant step increases to eligible employees in each fiscal year

14 Bargaining Unit 13: continuation of step movement plan

15 Additionally, the Union proposed an extension of a working condition differential in Bargaining
16 Units 2, 3 and 13. In its final offer (submitted prior to arbitration), the Employer opposed any 17 extension of the working condition differential and proposed a zero percent (0%) wage
18 increase effective July 1, 2003 and a one percent (1%) across the board increase effective July 19 1, 2004.¹⁴ The Employer has not proposed a continuation of step movement plans, or any new 20 step movements.¹⁵
21

22 At the hearing and in post-hearing brief, the Union highlights the undisputed fact that its 23

25 ¹⁴ As further explained herein, the parties agree as to the duration of the contract but disagree as to the language to be included in the Duration article.

26
27 ¹⁵ According to data supplied by Gordon Chang, the increase to base associated with the Union's proposal is 10.33% for those employees paid out of the State's General Fund, as compared to 28 an increase to base of 1% associated with the Employer's wage proposal.

1 salary proposals closely parallel three out of four arbitration awards issued over the last year in
2 Bargaining Units 11 (firefighters), 9 (registered professional nurses) and 10 (institutional, health,
3 and correctional workers).¹⁶ Moreover, the Union urges the panel to find that its members are 4 underpaid in comparison to other employees performing similar services. On the other hand,
5 the Employer has taken the position (in hearing and in final argument) that it cannot afford to 6 pay for the Union's wage proposals, that comparisons with mainland jurisdictions are 7 inappropriate, and that the Union has failed to establish that its members' salaries have not kept
8 pace with the cost of living. As a threshold matter, the panel addresses the parties' contentions
9 with regard to the "inability to pay" issue.
10

11 I. The Claim of Inability to Pay/The Employer's Position

12 A. The State of Hawaii

13
14 The Employer acknowledges the general rule that employers have the burden of 15 producing sufficient evidence to support a claim of inability to pay. Elkouri & Elkouri, How 16 Arbitration Works, (5th Edition 1997) at page 1126. In an effort to meet its burden, the 17 Employer offered an overview of the state's finances through the testimony of the State's 18 Budget and Finance Director Georgina Kawamura. Kawamura explained that her department is 19 mandated by the Hawaii Constitution and statutory law to consider revenue estimates prepared 20 by the Council on Revenues (an independent body) in budget preparation, funding authorization,
21 and expenditure controls and to insure that General Fund expenditures for any fiscal year do not 22
23
24
25

26 ¹⁶ The Union further notes that its salary proposals also mirror the cost of the first two years of 27 the Unit 12 (SHOPO) arbitration award. The Union presented un rebutted evidence that the average
28 increase to base of these four arbitration awards for the period July 1, 2003 to June 30, 2005 is 10.38%.

1 exceed the State's General Fund resources.¹⁷ In her testimony before the panel, she testified that 2 since FY 2002, the State has been operating with annual deficits and that while the annual
3 General Fund revenue has increased nearly $600 million from FY 1996 to FY 2003, over the 4 same period collective bargaining appropriations have totaled over $710 million.¹⁸ Kawamura
5 further noted that 83% of the General Fund operating budget is dedicated to non-discretionary 6 expenses, thus severely limiting the State's flexibility with general fund revenues. She also 7 cautioned the panel that, while the State has transferred excess special fund balances to the 8 General Fund (approximately $669 million from FY 1997 to FY 2004), these one-time measures
9 are not a dependable or recurring sources of revenue. According to Kawamura, the State
10 continues to operate at an annual deficit, which is projected to continue through FY 2006, and 11 these deficits will occur even absent implementation of the Union's proposed wage increases.¹⁹
12
13 The State also presented evidence of the current administration's priorities, e.g., addressing a 14 backlog of $613 million in repair and maintenance for public school classrooms and repair and 15 maintenance of University of Hawaii facilities.
16

17 B. City and County of Honolulu

18 The City and County of Honolulu (herein "Honolulu") presented evidence through its 19 Director of Budget and Fiscal Services Ivan Lui-Kwan that it has no present ability to fund the 20

21 ¹⁷ The Hawaii Constitution also mandates that growth in government spending be limited to a 22 level supportable by the economy.

23 ¹⁸ The Employer has emphasized that even the Union's ability to pay expert (Gerald Bachecki)
24 has acknowledged that the State has been operating at a deficit in six of the eight last fiscal years, for a
25 total of $361 million in deficits on a GAPP basis. However, as explained by the Union's expert, the 26 long-term liabilities portion of the offset against current unrestricted assets can give a false impression
27 as to the true health of the State's unrestricted financial status.

28 ¹⁹ The State will also have to make retirement contributions of $333 million in FY 2004 and $408 million in FY 2005, as well as expected increases in health benefit contributions from $300 million in FY 2004 to $330 million in FY 2005.

1 Union's wage proposal for a 4% increase in each year of the proposed two-year contract. No
2 evidence was presented regarding the ability, or lack thereof, of Honolulu to fund any other
3 economic package. Emphasizing that Honolulu's charter requires a balanced budget, Director
4 Lui-Kwan testified that the "bare bones" budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2004 leaves
5 no room for an approximately $7.3 million salary increase during FY 2004 and approximately 6 $16 million salary increase during FY 2005. Lui Kwan informed the panel that Honolulu, in 7 order to balance the FY 04 budget, had to cut all vacant but funded positions (totaling 33
8 million), close two Satellite City Halls and one Mobile Satellite City Hall, finance equipment
9 purchases with short term general obligation bonds, refinance 8 million in debt service, and use
10 47.8 million in unreserved fund balances from the sewer fund and the solid waste fund, i.e., a
11 non-recurring source of revenue. Lui Kwan also opined that escalating pension and health
12 fund contributions are another barrier to implementing the Union's economic proposals, i.e., 13 for FY 2005, he is projecting an increase in retirement contributions of $13.1 million and an 14 increase in health fund contributions of $10.3 million. Lui Kwan is forecasting decreases in 15 revenues from the Transient Accommodations Tax (TAT), the public utility and franchise tax, 16 federal grants and interest income. He is also projecting a shortfall of 87.3 million without the 17 proposed increases from bargaining units 2, 3, 4 and 13. Thus, Lui-Kwan opined that the 18 only way that the Union's final economic offer could be funded would be to resort to layoffs,
19 i.e., totaling approximately 657 employees, or approximately 16% of the non-public safety
20 work force.²⁰

22
23
24
25 ²⁰ Lui Kwan testified that as a result of the Unit 11 (firefighters) award, Honolulu was forced to 26 use funds from a provisional account (accrued vacations and salary adjustments) to pay firefighter pay
27 increases. He further testified that as a result of the Unit 12 (SHOPO) award, Honolulu was forced to 28 increase the motor vehicle tax to generate an additional $19 million over two years to fund two of the four years of SHOPO pay increases. Both the Unit 11 and Unit 12 awards have been fully funded.

1 C. County of Maui

2 The Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) for the fiscal year ended June 30,
3 2002 reflects that, as of the close of the fiscal year, the County of Maui's governmental funds
4 reported combined ending fund balances of $81.7 million, an increase of $6.1 million in 5 comparison with the prior year. Approximately 33 percent (33%) of this total amount, or 6 $26.7 million, was available for spending at the government's discretion per the CAFR.²¹
8 Deficits which have occurred in Maui's General Fund in the last two fiscal years are directly
9 related to transfers that have been made to the capital projects fund, i.e., an unreserved fund
10 balance in the capital projects fund of $9.5 million. Maui leads all other counties in 2003
11 visitor growth, i.e., visitor arrivals were up 7% during the first half of 2003, and total air seats
12 were up by 15% despite declines in visitor arrivals on Oahu, the Big Island and Kauai. The 13 County of Maui has conceded that it has the financial ability to fund the Union's wage
14 proposals but requests that the panel fashion its award based on the collective and individual 15 financial conditions of all jurisdictions who comprise the Employer.
16

17 D. The County of Kauai

18 Michael Tresler, Director of Finance, testified that the total unreserved undesignated
19 fund balance as of June 30, 2003 was $9, 816, 103. Tresler testified that approximately $6
20 million of that amount has been used to balance the fiscal year 2004 budget and another $.5
21 million has been designated by legislation. Therefore, as of January 9, 2004, Kauai has a net
22 unreserved undesignated fund balance in the amount of 3.285 million. Tresler opined that an 23

25 _____
26 ²¹ At the end of FY 2002, the unreserved fund balance for the general fund was $8.2 million, or 27 7.2% of total general fund expenditures. The CAFR for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2002 notes that 28 First Hawaiian Bank in its Economic Forecast has reported that Maui County was even more insulated than other parts of the State from the 2001 recession and the economic fallout associated with 9-11.

1 increase in retirement contributions of approximately $1.7 million, as well as firefighter raises,
2 will exhaust a large portion of the remaining fund balance. He further opined that, with 3 expected increases in mandated costs and a decrease in real property tax revenue (due to 4 legislation giving a tax break to low income property owners), the remaining ending funding
5 balance will be a negative. Thus, Kauai argues that it cannot afford the proposed wage
6 increases as set forth in the Union's last and final offer. Tresler also expressed concern that a
7 growing movement on Kauai for a rollback of real property values to 1998, i.e., similar to 8 California's Proposition 13, will, if enacted, further deplete Kauai's resources.

10 E. County of Hawaii

11 Mayor Harry Kim presented an overview of Hawaii's financial situation to the panel.
12 While the County of Hawaii has struggled in the past few years with budget shortages, on 13 September 18, 2003, Mayor Kim notified all departments and agencies that they would be 14 allowed to submit budget estimates to maintain current levels of service, thus allowing for 15 inflationary increases of uncontrollable cost items to be included in the budget. As with other
16 jurisdictions, the trend in the Employee Retirement System (ERS) requirements is a major 17 budgetary concern to the County of Hawaii.
18

19
20 F. Hawaii Health Services Corporation (HHSC)

21 Edward Chu, HHSC's Corporate Controller, testified that HHSC was established by 22 the Hawaii state legislature in 1996 to operate twelve (12) hospitals on five islands.²² A
23 thirteen-member board appointed by the governor oversees HHSC's operations. HHSC is the 24 fourth largest public hospital system in the nation with an FY 03-04 budget of over $335
25

26
27 ²² These functions were formerly performed by the Division of Community Hospitals, 28 Department of Health.

1 million. HHSC accepts all patients regardless of financial situation. Since 1998 and continuing 2 through 2002, HHSC has been operating at a loss due in large part to the decline in
3 government reimbursement for programs such as Medicare and Medicaid. Thus, HHSC
4 depends on general fund appropriations to be able to continue to deliver mandated levels of 5 service. HHSC was required to request an emergency appropriation of approximately $20
6 million to cover increases in employee retirement costs. Chu testified that in the event that any 7 economic improvements are ordered as part of the panel's award, HHSC will have to seek a 8 state appropriation.

10 II. The Claim of Inability to Pay/the Union's Position

11 Gerald Bachecki, a certified public accountant for more than thirty (30) years, has been 12 performing analyses of the financial condition of public employers to determine the availability
13 of funds to pay wage and benefit increases since the early seventies. Bachecki principally relies
14 on the CAFRs because these are the audited financial statements of the entity that are certified
15 to present fairly the financial condition of the employer at a particular point in time.²³ Using 16 the CAFRs and other materials, e.g., budgetary analyses and reports by bonding agencies, 17 Bachecki separately analyzed the financial condition of each jurisdiction and rendered an 18 opinion regarding ability to pay.
19
20

21 A. State of Hawaii

22 Using State Budget Analyst Gordon Chang's worksheet, Bachecki determined the cost 23
24

25 ²³ Bachecki noted that the budgetary analyses presented by the Employer in this proceeding are 26 prepared on a cash basis or modified cash basis and that his analysis, performed in accordance with 27 GASB 34, provides a truer picture of how revenues are budgeted and expended. The Employer
28 criticizes Bachecki's methodology because it relies principally on historical data whereas, from the Employer's perspective, a budget analysis is more forward looking.

1 of the Union's wage proposal for both years to be $119, 388, 316.²⁴ Under new GASB 34
2 reporting requirements, there has been a decrease in net assets during the year ending June 30,
3 2003 when compared to the previous fiscal year, i.e., a decline attributable to depreciation
4 allowances which are now offset against historical costs. However, the unrestricted net assets
5 were $972 million at the end of FY 2002, i.e., an increase of $13 million from the previous 6 year. Moreover, while tax revenues declined in FY 2002 from the prior fiscal year (after 9-11),
7 revenues rebounded in FY 2003 by $135 million, i.e., nearly 4% over the previous fiscal year,
8 and total tax collections increased by approximately $209 million, an increase of 5.9% over the 9 previous fiscal year. Bachecki further noted that the Council on Revenues reported a 4.4%
10 increase in General Fund revenue for FY 2003 (actual) and has estimated growth rates of 5.2%
11 in FY 2004 and 7.9% in FY 2005. This is consistent with the projections of the Department of 12 Business Economic Development and Tourism (DBEDT), as contained in its quarterly forecast
13 dated December 18, 2003, that estimates of income and employment growth were being 14 revised upwards. The Council on Revenues is also forecasting tax revenue growth for the 15 years 2005 through 2010 which will exceed 5.2%. The State's General Fund maintains a 16 strong asset to liability ratio and unreserved fund balance well in excess of the 5% benchmark
17 for both revenues and expenditures.²⁵ Special revenue funds, and the two major enterprise

24 ²⁴ This includes the cost of the Union's final offer wage proposal to HHSC, the Judiciary, and 25 the University of Hawaii. Most of this cost would be absorbed by the General Fund; however, some 26 wages are paid by special funds, federal funds, and other smaller funds.

27 ²⁵ As of June 30, 2003 (based on unaudited data), the unreserved fund balance as a percentage
28 of revenues was 8.51% and was 8.78% of expenditures. This ratio does not include the unrestricted fund balance of approximately $53 million contained in the Emergency Budget Reserve Fund, i.e., the Rainy Day Fund.

1 funds (airports and harbors) are healthy.²⁶ After reviewing the financial condition of the State,
2 Moody's Investor Services gave the State an Aa3 rating and both Standard & Poors and Fitch
3 gave the State an AA- rating.²⁷ Based on all of the information he reviewed, Bachecki opined
4 that the State of Hawaii has the ability to fund the Union's wage proposals for employees in 5 bargaining units 2, 3, 4, 6, 8 and 13.

7 B. Honolulu

8 Using State Budget Analyst Gordon Chang's worksheet, Bachecki determined the cost
9 of the Union's wage proposal for both years to be approximately $21.4 million. As with the 10 State of Hawaii, net assets decreased in FY 2002 from the previous fiscal year; however,
11 Bachecki explained that this calculation is misleading because it includes long term liabilities
12 (which are generally not paid out of current resources). Bachecki also noted Honolulu's 13 history of conservative budgeting, i.e., forecasting expenditures which exceed actual final 14 budgeted expenditures. These favorable expenditure variances offset the negative effects of 15 unfavorable revenue variances. Until FY 2003, Honolulu failed to maintain property tax
16 revenues by raising rates to offset the decline in property values; however, the rise in assessed
17 property values in 2003 will increase property tax revenues for FY 2003 by approximately $20
18 million. Recent changes in tax rates, i.e., 2.7% increase for single family homes, 15% increase 19 for commercial property, and 4.5% decrease for condominiums, is expected to increase 20 property tax revenues by another $23 million. Although Honolulu has, on the average, had an 21 unreserved fund balance of less than 5% over the past eleven years, this has not negatively
22
23
24

25 ²⁶ The Union makes the point that not only are these special funds able to pay salary increases
26 to employees whose wages are paid in whole or in part by these funds, but that the unrestricted fund
27 balances in these funds can be used for other purposes, thus "freeing up" other available assets.

28 ²⁷ All of these ratings are the second highest investment grade ratings of the respective agencies.

1 impacted Honolulu's bond ratings, i.e., Honolulu has maintained its AA bond rating from 2 three agencies (Fitch, Standard & Poors and Moody's).²⁸ The Special Reserve Funds are 3 healthy and have reimbursed the General Fund for general and administrative expenses, debt
4 service, and other transfers. Several of the Special Revenue Funds are the funding source for 5 wages. The Department of Water, a component unit of Honolulu, has significant resources
6 and is another funding source for wages. Increases in bus fares are also expected to generate 7 additional revenues of more than $1 million annually. Based on his review of the financial 8 data, Bachecki concluded that Honolulu has the ability to pay the increases being proposed by 9 the Union for employees in Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, and 13.

11 C. County of Maui

12 Using the Employer's cost accounting, Bachecki determined the cost of the Union's 13 proposal for the life of the two-year contract to be approximately $5.5 million. Although the 14 County of Maui is not claiming inability to pay the proposed wage increases, Bachecki noted
15 that the Budget Ordinance for FY 2004 reflects that $2 million has been allocated for collective 16 bargaining increases. Bachecki performed his analysis prior to learning that Maui would not 17 raise the ability to pay issue. He observed that while net assets had increased from $509, 071
18 to $572, 852 from FY 2002 to FY 2003, the ratio of assets to liabilities had decreased from 19 5.15 in 2001-2002 to 3.84 in 2002-2003. During this same period of time, the unreserved 20 general fund balance also decreased from $8, 200,000 to $4, 457,000 and the ratios between 21 unreserved fund balances to revenues (and to expenditures) declined to 3.29% and 3.63%

27 ²⁸ This is the second highest investment rating given by the three agencies.

1 respectively, i.e., below the 5% benchmark.²⁹

2 D. County of Hawaii

3 Using the Employer's cost accounting, the cost of the Union's wage proposals for the 4 two-year contract is approximately $5 million. In his report and in his testimony before the 5 panel, Bachecki noted that the County of Hawaii, as of the fiscal year ended June 30, 2002,
6 had unrestricted net assets of approximately $55.8 million. For each fiscal year since 1996,
7 the County of Hawaii has had net positive variances in revenue and expenditures. While the 8 County of Hawaii has had net positive variances in revenue and expenditures. While the 9 County of Hawaii had a GAPP deficit in FY 2001 and FY 2002, for the fiscal year 2003,
10 unaudited data reflects an approximately $6.2 million surplus largely attributable to increases in 11 assessed values of property. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 2002, County of Hawaii's ratio 12 of unreserved general fund balances to revenues and to expenditures declined to 2.63% and to 13 2.52% respectively; however, unaudited data from the fiscal year ending June 30, 2003 shows
14 substantial increases to 5.61% and 5.8% respectively. Moody's has given the County of 15 Hawaii an A2 rating, i.e., its third highest investment grade rating. Based on his review of the 16 financial data, Bachecki opined that the County of Hawaii has the ability to fund the wage
17 increases being proposed in Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, and 13.
18
19

20 E. County of Kauai

21 Using the Employer's cost accounting, the cost of the Union's wage proposal for the 22 two year contract is approximately $3 million. Like the County of Hawaii, the County of 23 Kauai has experienced positive net variances in expenditures and revenues on a consistent 24

25 ²⁹ Bachecki is of the view that, in general, public employers should maintain an unreserved
26 fund balance in excess of 5% of prior year expenditures. In his testimony before the panel, Bachecki
27 noted that the deficits in Maui's general fund for the last couple of years are directly related to the 28 transfers that have been made to the capital projects as previously discussed at page 11.

1 basis. Unlike Honolulu, the County of Kauai increased its tax rates when assessed values were 2 declining after Hurricane Iniki in an effort to maintain "revenue neutrality." Excluding long
3 term debt, the County of Kauai has unrestricted net assets in the amount of $32.6 million. The 4 unreserved fund balance of the General Fund as of 2003 (unaudited) is $11.9 million.
5 Comparison of the fund balances to general fund revenues and expenditures since 1996 vary 6 from a low of 13.10% to a high of 24.29% (with percentages mostly in the 20s for the last 7 three or four years). Special revenue funds and the capital projects fund are sufficiently funded
8 so that they will not be a drain on the General Fund balance. The County of Kauai has 9 received the third highest investment grade bond rating, i.e., an "A" rating from Fitch and 10 Standard & Poors and an "A1" rating from Moody's. Based on his review of the financial 11 data, Bachecki opined that the County of Kauai has the ability to fund the Union's proposed 12 wage increases in Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, and 13.
13

15 F. University of Hawaii

16 The University of Hawaii, a component of the State of Hawaii, has maintained strong 17 cash and investments over the period covered by Bachecki's report.³⁰ As of June 30, 2003, the 18 University's total cash and investments were $476.9 million of which $166 million was 19 unrestricted. Unrestricted net assets as of June 30, 2003 totaled $220.8 million. State
20 appropriations to the University of Hawaii have increased dramatically in recent years.
21 Although the State's General Fund is the main source of funding for any proposed wage
22 increases to Unit 8 employees,³¹ Bachecki opined that to the extent that funding for Unit 8
23

25 ³⁰ The Employer presented no specific evidence regarding the financial condition of the 26 University of Hawaii.

27 ³¹ Gordon Chang's cost analysis reflects that any increases to Unit 8 employees would be 28 funded out of the State's General Fund, as well as by "special funds, federal funds and other funds."

1 wage increases may be obtained from University of Hawaii funds, the University of Hawaii is 2 able to fund the Union's proposed increases.

3 G. Hawaii Health Services Corporation (HHSC)

4 No one disputes that HHSC, a component of the State of Hawaii, has been operating at 5 a deficit since its inception.³² Thus, HHSC will essentially be relying on the state to pay for 6 collective bargaining increases. In his testimony before the panel, Bachecki opined that the 7 State's financial condition is such that it can afford to fund the requested wage increases
8 for employees of HHSC in Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, and 13.

10 III. The Panel's Determination of the Ability to Pay Issue

11 After examining all of the evidence and arguments of the parties, the panel must 12 conclude that the Employer failed to meet its burden of establishing an inability to pay. Here, 13 the State's Budget and Finance Director has projected that even if the Employer's proposal is 14 accepted, it will lead to negative ending fund balances in the State's General Fund. In offering 15 this opinion, the Employer detracts from its credibility by implying that the Employer's last and 16 final offer is not a reasonable position. Moreover, the Employer's case for inability to pay is 17 based on conservative budgeting and future spending priorities, as opposed to the Employer's 18 audited financial condition. On the other hand, the Union has presented a case based on actual 19 revenue and expenditure patterns as demonstrated by the audited financial statements of each 20 jurisdiction. In the opinion of the panel, the CAFRs of each jurisdiction provide more 21 persuasive evidence of the financial condition of each separate jurisdiction than the budgetary 22 documents presented by the Employer. While the panel recognizes the constitutional and 23

25
26
27 ³² HHSC did report a profit in the fiscal year ended June 30, 2000 after a $28.3 million
28 appropriation from the General Fund.

1 statutory obligations of the Employer with regard to budgeting, the panel is not persuaded that 2 the Union's proposal will preclude compliance with constitutional or statutory mandates. In 3 sum, the Employer, in focusing its case on spending priorities, has not presented a convincing
4 argument to the panel. Nor has the Employer rebutted the Union's evidence, i.e., that the 5 CAFRs, when considered in tandem with the Union's last and final offer, establish an ability to 6 pay on the part of each jurisdiction.

8 IV. The Issue of Duration

9 Both parties are proposing a two-year agreement effective July 1, 2003 to June 30, 10 2005. However, the Union additionally proposes that: 1) Written notice to amend, modify or 11 terminate the agreement be given no later than March 15, 2004 (for BU 2 and BU 3) and no
12 later than May 15, 2004 (for BUs 4, 6, 8 and 13); and 2) After such written notice is given, the 13 parties be required to exchange their specific written proposals, if any, no later than April 15,
14 2004 (for BU 2 and BU 3) and June 14, 2004 (for BUs 4, 6, 8 and 13). Neither party 15 presented any testimonial evidence concerning this issue.
16

17 In the case of Bargaining Units 2 and 3, the proposal for a written notification date of 18 March 15, 2004 would precede the date of issuance of the panel's decision. The proposed 19 deadlines for written notice to amend and for exchange of written proposals, as proposed for 20 Bargaining Units 4, 6, 8 and 13, are more realistic, i.e., May 15, 2004. The panel is convinced 21 that the proposed schedule will be of mutual benefit to the parties in facilitating an exchange of 22 written proposals with sufficient time to prepare for negotiations. Thus, as set forth in the 23 panel's award, the agreement shall be renewed in accordance with applicable statutes unless 24 written notice to amend is given by May 15, 2004 with written proposals to be exchanged by 25

2 V. Comparison of Wages, Hours and Conditions of Employment

3 HRS § 89-11 (f)(6) requires comparisons with both other state and county employees
4 and with other persons performing similar services. Consistent with the determinations of 5 other panels who have considered this issue, the panel does not accept the Employer's 6 interpretation of the statutory language, i.e., that any comparisons of compensation should be 7 limited to public and private employees in the State of Hawaii, because the plain language of 8 the statute does not impose this geographical limitation.

10 A. The Union's Comparability Expert

11 The Union's comparability expert Michael Messina, a Senior Labor Economist in the 12 AFSCME Department of Research and Collective Bargaining Services, has extensive 13 experience in conducting wage surveys to be used in interest arbitration proceedings in Hawaii
14 and the mainland. He began his investigation by looking at how much the salaries of 15 representative classes within all bargaining units had increased since July 1, 1993. He then 16 compared the salaries of employees in the Pacific Rim states, i.e., large metropolitan cities in 17 the western states of Alaska, California, Oregon and Washington and large west coast
18 counties, to see where Hawaii falls in the salary hierarchy. Factoring in the high cost of living
19 in Hawaii, he found that, during the period from October of 1992 to March 2002, Hawaii had 20
21
22

23 ³³ The parties' exchanged proposals regarding duration across all six units are as follows:

24 BU 02 - Article 54 (Employer and Union Proposals)
25 BU 03 - Article 56 (Employer and Union Proposals)
26 BU 04 - Article 56 (Employer and Union Proposals)
27 BU 06 - Article 33 (Employer and Union Proposals)
28 BU 08 - Article 42 (Employer and Union Proposals)
BU 13 - Article 53 (Employer and Union Proposals)

1 slipped from #21 to #37 in the hierarchy. He also conducted wage surveys in which he
2 matched the job duties of representative classes from each unit (BU 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, and 13) with 3 comparable positions in other jurisdictions. Messina selected his comparators because they 4 were "contiguous" to Hawaii and because there is a history, dating back to 1990, of using 5 these same jurisdictions in bargaining and arbitration. Written job descriptions were used to 6 make a match but, if there was any question based on the job description, personnel directors
7 were contacted to determine whether or not a position was comparable. In Bargaining Units
8 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, and 13, Messina typically found that Hawaiian job titles were lagging well behind
9 their counterparts on the mainland.³⁴

11 The Employer claims that Messina improperly compared the Hawaii labor market with 12 the labor market of west coast states, i.e., there was no evidence that the jurisdictions herein
13 were recruiting employees from the mainland except in rare cases. The Employer was also 14 critical of Messina for failing to compare the populations and tax bases of the purported
15 comparable jurisdictions, the size of their school districts, whether schools were operated
16 locally by counties or state-wide as in Hawaii, and for failing to consider other U.S. island
17 jurisdictions such as Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. The Employer also challenges
18 Messina's comparisons because he did not determine the wages paid to private sector workers
19 in Hawaii, i.e., to evaluate to what extent the Employer is competing with private employers
20 for the local labor force.

26 ³⁴ Due to the large number of classifications involved in six different bargaining units, it was 27 impossible for Messina to match every job. Similarly, it would not be possible for the panel to 28 summarize or quantify Messina's findings. Suffice it to say that the discrepancies noted by Messina in many cases far outweigh the "catch-up" which would be achieved by the Union's final offer.

1 B. The Employer's Comparability Expert

2 The Employer offered the testimony of Personnel Management Specialist Joy Inouye of 3 the Classification and Compensation Division of the Department of Human Resources
4 Development. Inouye conducts wage studies to determine the competitiveness of the State's 5 wages against the relevant labor market. She also makes "shortage category designations"
6 where departments are having difficulty recruiting or retaining employees. Like Messina,
7 Inouye also has substantial experience conducting compensation analyses for previous interest
8 arbitrations for the State of Hawaii, including the recent arbitrations involving HGEA
9 Bargaining Unit 9 and United Public Workers Union Bargaining Unit 10. In addition to doing
10 her own surveys, Inouye uses wage surveys from the Hawaii Employer's Council. Inouye
11 rejected the use of mainland data because competition is primarily within the state due, in large 12 part, to residency requirements for public employment.³⁵ Inouye's wage survey reflects that, in 13 general, wages of public sector employees are competitive with the private sector. She opined
14 that the preferred method of adjusting salaries is not an across-the-board increase tied to other 15 public sector raises but rather a more focused effort to adjust salaries, e.g., the shortage
16 category designations.³⁶

17
18
19
20 VI. Cost of Living

21 Personnel Management Specialist Inouye also presented evidence that in the past ten 22 years, employee salaries have increased more than the cost of living in Honolulu. Specifically,
23

24 ³⁵ Inouye presented data that for Units 2 and 4, there have been no non-resident hires within the 25 past two years; for Unit 3, there were only four (4) non-resident hires out of a total of approximately 26 13, 122 employees, and for Unit 13, there were only 30 non-resident hires out of a total of 7230 employees.

27 ³⁶ The panel's determination of the wage comparison factor will be discussed at part VIII of the 28 panel's decision.

1 her data reflects:

- 2 • that Bargaining Unit 2 salaries have increased 7.4% more than the cost of living
- 3 • that Bargaining Unit 3 salaries have increased 12.8% more than the cost of living
- 4 • that Bargaining Unit 4 salaries have increased 12.7% more than the cost of living
- 5 • that Bargaining Unit 8 salaries have increased 6.4% more than the cost of living
- 6 • that Bargaining Unit 13 salaries have increased 11.2% more than the cost of living

7 On the other hand, the Union's comparability expert (Messina) presented cost of living indices as follows:

8	STATE	CITY	COST OF LIVING INDEX
9	Hawaii	Honolulu	161.6
10	California	San Francisco	162.0
11	California	Los Angeles	135.6
12	California	San Diego	130.9
13	California	San Jose	129.3
14	California	Long Beach	125.5
15	Alaska	Anchorage	119.7
16	Washington	Seattle	118.4
17	Oregon	Portland	113.7
18	Oregon	Eugene	106.1

19 Messina also documented cost of living allowances for federal employees working in Hawaii:
 20 City and County of Honolulu (25.00%); County of Hawaii (16.50%); County of Kauai
 21 (23.25%) and County of Maui (23.75%).³⁷ As previously discussed, Messina also presented 22 U.S. Census Bureau data showing that during the period from October of 1992 to March of 23 2002, Hawaii's average monthly payroll for full time government workers (when compared to 24 the other 49 states) fell from #21 to #37 in the hierarchy.³⁸

25 ///

26 ³⁷ The Union's economic expert Sumner La Croix, Ph.D. testified that Honolulu consumer price
 27 inflation is expected to be at 2.0% in 2004 and at 2.0% in 2005.

28 ³⁸ The panel will apply this statutory factor (cost of living) at part VIII of this decision.

1 VII. Present and Future General Economic Condition of the Employer

2 Sumner La Croix, Ph.D., the Chair of the Department of Economics, University of 3 Hawaii was called as a witness by the Union. La Croix performed an analysis of the Hawaii
4 economy for use in this proceeding. In his report to the panel, La Croix opined that Hawaii
5 has shown strong economic growth during the last six months of 2003. He attributes this 6 positive trend to a resurgence of mainland visitors from post 9-11 lows, the persistence of low
7 interest rates contributing to growth in the construction and finance industries, and to growth
8 in other Hawaii service industries. Moreover, he relates his optimistic outlook on Hawaii's 9 economy to expected improvements in economic growth in the United States, Japanese and 10 California economies. Based on the recent appreciation of the yen and the Federal Reserve
11 Board's continuation of a low interest policy, Dr. La Croix is forecasting an increase in real 12 personal income in Hawaii at a slightly higher rate than the DBEDT forecasts: 3.6% in 2004
13 and 3.1% in 2005. The Employer did not present an economics expert.³⁹

16 VIII. The Panel's Determination of the Salary and Step Issues

17 HRS 89-11 (f) requires the arbitration panel, in reaching its decision, to give weight to 18 the statutory factors and to include in its written report or decision an explanation of how the 19 factors were taken into account. However, the panel is precluded from predicating the 20 Employer's ability to fund cost items on the premise that the Employer may increase or impose
21 new taxes, fees, or charges, or develop other sources of revenue. Having reviewed all of the 22 evidence and arguments of the parties and after due consideration of the statutory factors, the 23 panel has determined that neither party's final offer position is an appropriate resolution of
25

26 _____
27 ³⁹ The panel will apply this statutory factor (general economic condition) in its determination of 28 the salary and step issues at part VIII of this decision.

1 the impasse. Rather, the panel, as authorized by HRS 89-11, will order an economic package
2 which represents a compromise between Employer and HGEA final offer positions.

3 In fashioning its award, the panel has accepted the Employer's primary concept that no
4 economic improvements of any kind, including step movements, will be granted for the first
5 fiscal year of the contract. Likewise, the panel has accepted the Union's concept of step 6 movements; however, the step movements will be deferred until the second fiscal year of the 7 contract. In addition to the deferred step movements, the panel has also determined that a 5%
8 across the board wage increase effective January 1, 2005 will fairly compensate employees
9 without compromising the ability of the State, or any other jurisdiction, to accomplish its 10 mission.⁴⁰ The panel is aware that this back loaded wage increase will not be warmly received 11 by either party to this arbitration proceeding but, in light of the statutory factors, it represents 12 a reasonable compromise.
13
14

15 In reaching this conclusion, the panel begins with the observation that each party, in 16 presenting wage data pertaining to employees performing similar services, has selected data
17 which is supportive of its own position. Moreover, the inevitable selection of certain 18 classifications for comparison purposes in such heterogeneous bargaining units makes it
19 extremely difficult to analyze the true impact of wage comparisons across six different 20 bargaining units with a myriad of classifications. While each party may have endeavored to 21 select the most populated classifications for comparison with mainland jurisdictions (Messina)
22 or with Hawaii's private sector (Inouye), a question still arises as to whether these 23 comparisons would be the same with regard to other classifications in the same bargaining unit.
25

26
27 ⁴⁰ According to Gordon Chang, the panel's award results in a 4.77% out of pocket cost and a 28 7.84% increase to base as to included employees.

1 Indeed, the insurmountable challenges faced by the panel in interpreting the real significance of 2 wage comparisons made by Messina and Inouye have caused the panel to shift its attention
3 away from both parties' wage comparisons and to look more closely at the wages of other
4 public employees in Hawaii.

5 As a threshold matter, the panel is in complete agreement with the Employer's position
6 that, in the post 9-11 era, "first responders" should be given special recognition for their 7 important contribution to the public safety. However, the panel cannot agree that the 8 discrepancy between public safety raises and non-public safety raises should be of the 9 magnitude proposed by the Employer, i.e., more than a 9% differential. In the panel's 10 judgment, such a huge differential would unduly trivialize the significant contributions of 11 employees working in the HGEA units. Such an enormous differential would only be justified 12 if the financial circumstances of the Employer had deteriorated sharply during the past year. In 13 fact, the evidence is to the contrary.

14 The record establishes to the panel's satisfaction that overall the Hawaii economy is 15 experiencing sustained growth. The Union's economic expert presented an optimistic view of 16 Hawaii's present and future economic condition and no contrary evidence was presented by 17 the Employer. Deferring any economic improvements until the second year of the contract, 18 and deferring the across the board wage increase until the mid-point of the second year of the 19 contract, is a reasonable approach given the economic indicators which all point to increased 20 revenues in fiscal years 2004 and 2005. For all of these reasons, the panel has concluded that 21 the present and future economic condition of the State and the counties clearly justifies the 22 panel's award of a modest increase.

23 Turning to the cost of living, the panel notes that evidence presented by the 24
25
26
27
28

1 parties can be harmonized. While the Union emphasizes that the cost of living has always been
2 high in Hawaii and remains so, the Employer emphasizes that in the past decade, wage
3 increases have outpaced the rise in the cost of living. These positions are not irreconcilable. In 4 any event, the panel is persuaded that expected consumer price inflation in 2004 of 2% and of 5 an additional 2% in 2005 (per the unrebutted testimony of Dr. LaCroix), provides additional 6 support for the panel's award of a 5% increase at the midpoint of the second fiscal year of the 7 contracts, as well as for the award of step increases.

9 The record as a whole establishes that the purpose of the step movement proposals is 10 to recognize years of service. To reward the contributions of long-term employees, the Union 11 has proposed two longevity steps in Bargaining Unit 2 (1.5% at 10 years of service and 12 another 1.5% at 15 years of service), two step movements (one in each year of the contract) in 13 Units 6 and 8 (effective 7/1/03 and 7/1/04) and the continuation of the existing step 14 movement plans in Units 2, 3, 4, and 13. Other than its overall presentation regarding the 15 financial condition of each of the jurisdictions, the Employer did not present specific evidence
16 to justify its position, i.e., that existing step movement plans should be eliminated and that no
17 new step movements should be granted. While the 5% across the board increase will be 18 received by unit member without regard to longevity, step movements recognize experience
19 and growth on the job, help to promote employee morale, and contribute to work force
20 stability. Thus, the panel determines that the award of step increases, in lieu of other economic 21 improvements, is in the best interests of both parties.

24 IX. The Interests and Welfare of the Public

25 In enacting Hawaii's public bargaining law, the legislature included a "Statement of 26 findings and policy" (HRS 89-1) which provides in pertinent part:
27

1 Where public employees have been granted the right to share in the decision-making
2 process affecting wages and working conditions, they have become more responsive
3 and better able to exchange ideas and information on operations with their 4 administrators. Accordingly, the government is more effective. The legislature
5 further finds that the enactment of positive legislation establishing guidelines for public
6 employment relations is the best way to harness and direct the energies of public 7 employees eager to have a voice in determining their conditions of work; to 8 provide a rational method for dealing with disputes and work stoppages; and to 9 maintain a favorable political and social environment (emphasis supplied).

7 The panel's award effectuates the legislature's intent and purpose in enacting the law and,
8 therefore, promotes the interests and welfare of the public by contributing to more effective
9 government and continuation of necessary services.

10 In its closing brief, the Employer argues that the Union's wage proposals do not 11 consider the interests and welfare of the public. Specifically, the Employer argues that the 12 Union's proposal, if accepted by the panel, inexorably leads the State towards a negative
13 ending fund balance in its General Fund and triple-digit negative fund balances thereafter. The 14 Employer goes so far as to state: "It would be a pyrrhic victory for the Union to get what it
15 wants now, only to suffer layoffs and a California-like disaster soon." Obviously, a California-16 like budgetary crisis would not serve the interests and welfare of the public; however, for 17 reasons already explained, the Employer has failed to establish that the Union's proposal, or 18 much less the panel's award, would bring about layoffs, or any similar negative consequences.

21 Bargaining unit employees covered by the panel's award are employed in every facet of 22 governmental operations and provide services to the general public, thereby affecting the lives
23 and well being of individuals, families and businesses throughout the state of Hawaii. In the 24 opinion of the panel, recognizing these employees for their contributions through issuance of 25 a fair and reasonable arbitration award serves the best interests and welfare of the public.

27 ///

1 X. Compensation Adjustments

2 The Employer has proposed modifications to Article 14 in Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4
3 and 13 as follows:

4 BU 2, 3, 4, and 13: Paragraph A, 4-The Employer is proposing to clarify days that 5 are counted towards a leave of absence without pay.

6 BU 2, 3, and 4: Paragraph P-The Employer proposes to generically identify the 7 various chief personnel or human resources executives, rather 8 than list the respective titles of those positions.

9 BU 13: Paragraph P, 1-The Employer is proposing to correct the 10 misspelled word "ths" to read "this."
11 Paragraph Q (same as paragraph P for BU2, 3, and 4).

12 BU 3 and 4: Paragraph H, 5-The Employer is proposing to require that 13 whenever a BU 3 or 4 employee accepts a temporary assignment
14 to an excluded managerial position, the employee's
15 compensation shall be adjusted in accordance with the provisions
16 applicable to Excluded Managerial employees.

17 The Union proposes only one change to Article 14 in BU 2 as follows:

18 BU 2: Paragraph O- The Union is proposing to provide the procedure
19 to effectuate the longevity movement plan as being proposed by 20 the Union in its Article 51, Salaries proposal.

21 Here the Employer did not provide testimony or documents in support of its proposal
22 for Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, and 13. Consequently, the Employer's proposal to amend 23 paragraph A, 4 for BU 2, 3, 4, and 13 and paragraph H, 5 for BU 3 and 4 are denied.

24 However, the panel will grant the following Employer's proposals on compensation
25 adjustments effective July 1, 2004 which are changes in form rather than substance:

26 BU 2, 3, & 4 Paragraph P-Delete phrase "director of personnel services,
27 director of civil service, or the administrative director of the 28 courts" and replace it with the phrase "chief personnel or human resources executive"

BU 13 Paragraph P, 1-Delete the misspelled word "ths" and replace it

1 with "this"

2 Paragraph Q-Delete the phrase "director of personnel services,
3 director of civil service, or the administrative director of the 4 courts" and replace it with the phrase "chief personnel or human
5 resources executive."

6 In light of the panel's award of the longevity step in BU 2, the BU 2 Compensation
7 Adjustment article shall be amended by the parties to effectuate such award as reflected in the 8 Union's BU 2 compensation proposal and as supported by testimony at arbitration.

9 XI. The Vacation and Sick Leave Issue in Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4 and 13

10 For Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4 and 13, the Employer has affirmatively proposed 11 two new provisions which would permanently establish a two-tier formula for accrual of sick
12 leave and vacation. The language of the proposal is similar to the terms of existing side letters
13 entitled "memoranda of agreement" which were entered into by the Union and the Employer
14 in June of 2002.⁴¹ The Employer contends that if the panel does not accept its proposal, the 15 language of the memoranda of agreement will carry over into the successor agreement (as an 16 unmodified term of the predecessor agreement).⁴² On the other hand, the Union has made no 17 proposal in reliance on its position that the temporary provisions of the memoranda of 18 agreement will expire on June 30, 2004, thus returning the parties to the contract language
19 which pre-existed adoption of the two-tier program.⁴³

20 _____
21
22 ⁴¹ For each of the affected bargaining units the proposals are as follows:
23 Bargaining Unit 2: Article 35 (Vacation Leave) and Article 36 (Sick Leave);
24 Bargaining Unit 3: Article 35 (Vacation Leave) and Article 36 (Sick Leave);
25 Bargaining Unit 4: Article 35 (Vacation Leave) and Article 36 (Sick Leave);
26 Bargaining Unit 13: Article 36 (Vacation Leave) and Article 37 (Sick Leave).

27 ⁴² The Employer claims to have made the proposal to clarify the status quo and insists that the 28 proposal was not necessary in order to retain the two-tier system.

⁴³ Pursuant to a recent arbitration award, the two-tier program was implemented in Unit 9 pursuant to a separate memorandum of agreement.

1 A. History of the Two-Tier Program-the Employer's Perspective

2 The Employer presented the testimony of Henry Kanda, the HHSC Personnel Program
3 Administrator for the last six (6) years, who formerly worked for the Office of Collective 4 Bargaining for almost twenty (20) years. Kanda testified that prior to 2001, the HGEA units
5 (Units 2, 3, 4, 9 and 13) had vacation and sick leave provisions in their contracts which 6 provided for twenty-one (21) days of vacation per year and (21) days of sick leave per year
7 effective the first year of employment. On July 2, 2001, after the 2000 arbitration award had
8 already issued but before it was funded by the legislature, the Employer⁴⁴ and the Union
9 entered into a memorandum of agreement which confirmed their agreement to negotiate a new 10 vacation and sick leave accrual program once the 2000 award was funded. After the award
11 was funded by the legislature, the parties then agreed to a two-tier program which reduced the 12 vacation and sick leave accruals for employees hired after July 2, 2001, placing them on a 13 graduated scale of vacation and sick leave benefit accruals.⁴⁵ Kanda testified that it was his 14 understanding that the provisions of the memoranda of agreement, unless modified by mutual 15 agreement, would be carried over into subsequent contracts.
16

17
18 By looking at how many employees are enrolled in the new benefit structure in the 19 affected units, Kanda estimated that the cost to the Employer would be approximately $7
20 million in lost productivity during the first year and approximately $8.9 million in lost 21 productivity during the second year, i.e., representing the cost of employing individuals who

23
24 ⁴⁴ As previously noted, the State of Hawaii, the HHSC, the Judiciary, Honolulu, and the 25 Counties of Hawaii, Maui, and Kauai employ members of bargaining units 2, 3, 4, and 13.

26 ⁴⁵ Under the two-tiered program, new employees earn twelve (12) days of vacation during the 27 first year of employment and the number of vacation days increases with service so that after twenty 28 (20) years of service, employees can earn 24 vacation days.

1 are not performing their duties while using vacation and sick days (which would be recouped if
2 the Union's position is accepted, i.e., eliminating the two-tier program). The Employer's
3 costing did not attempt to capture any out of pocket costs associated with hiring replacements
4 or paying overtime.

5 B. History of the Two Tier Program-the Union Perspective

6 The Union's Executive Director Russell Okata testified that after his initial exhilaration
7 at receiving a favorable arbitration award in 2000, he learned that then governor Ben 8 Cayetano was taking the position that he would not recommend funding the award.

9 Consequently, the Union was faced with the specter of court litigation, including a thorny issue
10 as to whether the court or the legislature has jurisdiction and whether or not retroactive pay
11 could be funded. During a meeting with Governor Cayetano during the spring of 2001, 12 Governor Cayetano told Okata that United Public Workers (Units 1 and 10) had agreed with 13 him to alter their vacation and sick leave. According to Okata, Governor Cayetano then told
14 him that if HGEA would agree to this modified vacation and sick leave plan, he (Cayetano)
15 would be willing to go to the legislature to fund the agreement. Okata asked Cayetano, "what 16 about the other units?" to which Cayetano replied, "I'll take care of them" and "I will treat you
17 (HGEA) fairly." So Okata went to his membership and told them that an agreement to 18 negotiate a new vacation and sick leave program was necessary in order to get the contract
19 funded and that Governor Cayetano had assured Okata that all public employees would be 20 treated equally. The legislature acted to fund the 2000 arbitration award before the close of 21 the legislative session, and, shortly thereafter, various memoranda of agreement (modifying the 22 vacation and sick leave to a two-tier program) were signed by the HGEA and representatives
23 of the various jurisdictions on a unit by unit basis. Okata further testified that, contrary to
25
26
27
28

1 Governor Cayetano's representations, there was never any discussion with other units, e.g.,
2 Unit 11 or Unit 12, about the two-tier program.

3 Evidence was produced by the Employer that the State proposed the reduced vacation
4 and sick leave schedule in Unit 12 but was unable to secure the votes (from other jurisdictions)
5 for the proposal to go across the table.⁴⁶ With regard to Unit 11, a proposal was passed
6 across but it was withdrawn prior to the arbitration hearing. No persuasive evidence that the 7 Employer sought to introduce the two-tiered program into other bargaining units was 8 presented. A reasonable inference to be drawn from Okata's testimony is that it was his 9 understanding that bringing the two-tiered program to all units (and not just the HGEA units)
10 was a condition precedent to making it a permanent provision of the HGEA contracts.

12 XII. The Panel's Determination of the Vacation and Sick Leave Issue

13
14 In its final offer, the Employer proposes new language regarding vacation and sick
15 leave accrual without regard to the existing side letters. Indeed, the final offer states on its 16 face that each of the existing articles (referring to Articles 35 and 36 in BU 2, 3, and 4 and 17 Articles 36 and 37 in BU 13) is deleted in its entirety and is to be replaced with proposed 18 language. The final offer does not state that the Employer seeks to replace the language in the 19 memoranda of agreement with its proposed new article. All of the documentary evidence, 20 including the Employer's final offer, corroborates Okata's testimony that the memoranda of 21 agreement were temporary and that, as such, they would not be carried over into the new 22 agreements.

23
24 In reaching this conclusions, the panel notes that the memoranda of agreement either 25

26
27 ⁴⁶ By the express terms of HRS 89-6 (d) (2), the Governor has four votes while each of the 28 mayors has one vote.

1 do not explicitly provide a duration or, in some cases, state that the agreement shall have the 2 same expiration date as does the 1999/2003 agreement. The absence of clarifying language,
3 together with the expiration date which appears in some of the memoranda, lends additional 4 support to the panel's conclusion that the parties did not intend a permanent agreement at least 5 not until such time as the new vacation and sick leave program was introduced in all
6 bargaining units. The paucity of evidence demonstrating that the Employer advocated for the 7 two-tiered program in other units is consistent with the panel's interpretation, i.e., that the 8 two-tier program never became permanent. Finally, the fact that the two-tier system was 9 recently bargained in Unit 9 also supports the Union's interpretation, i.e., that the memoranda
10 of agreement did not permanently establish a two-tier system.

11
12 For all of these reasons, the panel concludes that it must consider the Employer's 13 proposal to be a request for a change in the vacation and sick leave accrual program as 14 described in the existing contracts without reference to the soon to expire side letters. Based 15 on the record evidence, the Employer has not met its burden of demonstrating that its proposal
16 should be accepted. In the first place, the Employer has not demonstrated to the satisfaction of 17 the panel the true costs of the vacation and sick leave programs described in the existing 18 contracts. Nor has the Employer demonstrated that the two-tier program has improved 19 efficiency, cut overtime costs, or reduced the use of sick leave and/or vacation days, or that the 20 vacation and sick provisions of the existing agreements will adversely impact its operations.
21 For all of these reasons, the panel must conclude that the Employer's proposals for a change in 22 Articles 35 and 36 (BU 2, 3, and 4) and Articles 36 and 37 (BU 13) are denied. The two-tier
23 program will continue up to the extension date of June 30, 2004, and effective July 1, 2004, 24 employees shall be covered by the vacation and sick leave provisions which are contained in 25
26
27
28

1 the 1999/2003 agreements.

2 XIII. The Employer's Overtime Proposals

3 Under the existing agreements covering Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, and 13, there is no
4 limitation on the number of compensatory time off (CTO) credits that an employee may 5 accumulate, except under the Fair Labor Standards Act. Hence, the Employer is proposing in 6 new paragraphs H and I⁴⁷ that a maximum CTO credit accrual be set at 160 hours and a
7 procedure be established to reduce amounts in excess of the maximum accrual.
8

9 Evidence was presented by both parties regarding Bargaining Unit 3 negotiations. This 10 evidence established that during negotiations, the Union made a counterproposal #1 which 11 contained, among other things, a 160-hour cap on CTO earnings. In response to this 12 counterproposal, the Employer submitted additional language which the Union then rejected.
13 After the Union rejected the proposed additional language, the Employer "accepted" the 14 counterproposal #1. At the next negotiating session, the Union withdrew counterproposal #1.
15

16 The Employer presented evidence that a survey (which was not introduced) reflects that 17 "some employees among the various bargaining units had an average of approximately 250 18 hours of comp. time hours" and that when these employees separate from service they will be 19 compensated for their compensatory time off credits at their current rate of compensation, thus 20 creating a liability for the employer. This was the only testimony offered by the Employer in 21 support of its proposed cap on the number of compensatory time off credits which an 22 employee may accumulate. This evidence is not the quality or quantity of evidence which 23 would support the granting of the Employer's proposals. Therefore, the Employer proposals
25

26 ⁴⁷ The Employer is proposing modifications to the following articles: BU 02 – Article 23;
27 BU 03 – Article 23; BU 04 – Article 23; and BU 13-Article 25.

1 to modify the Overtime articles for Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, and 13 are denied and the existing
2 Overtime articles shall be continued in the successor contracts without modification.

3 XIV. Working Condition Differential

4 This issue involves proposals by both parties to amend the following articles:

5 BU 02 – Article 31 (Employer and Union Proposals)

6 BU 03 – Article 31 (Employer and Union Proposals)

7 BU 13 – Article 44 (Employer and Union Proposals)

8 Specifically, the Employer is proposing the following modifications to existing language:

9 Paragraph A - Grant the differential to all employees working at the Hawaii
10 State Hospital who have contact with certain patients. Current provisions only mention employees in a specific ward of the hospital that no longer exist.

11 Paragraph B-Clarify the provisions pertaining to employees of other hospitals
12 who will also receive the differential when working with certain patients.

13 Paragraph F – Change the “director of personnel services” to the “Employer”
14 because the director of personnel services no longer exercises jurisdiction over 15 employees in the various hospitals throughout the state except for the Hawaii
State Hospital.

16 With regard to Bargaining Units 2 and 3, the Union is proposing essentially the same
17 language as the Employer (as set forth above), except that it is proposing to increase the 18 amount of the differential from 40 cents to 50 cents per hour for employees covered by 19 paragraphs A and B. In paragraph D which covers employees assigned to correctional 20 facilities, the Union is proposing to increase the amount of the differential from 30 cents to 50
21 cents per hour.
22

23 In Bargaining Unit 13, the Union is proposing:

24 In paragraphs A and B, the Union is proposing that the amount of the 25 differential remain at 50 cents per hour. However, in paragraph A, the Union is 26 proposing to expand coverage by including employees who must visit the 27 patient care units at Hawaii State Hospital in carrying out their assigned duties and responsibilities.

1 In paragraph D which covers employees assigned to correctional facilities, the 2 Union is proposing to include those employees who must visit such 3 correctional facilities in the course of carrying out their duties and responsibilities and to keep the amount of the differential at 50 cents per hour.

4 In paragraph F, the Union is proposing that the 50 cents per hour differential
5 be extended to social workers in Child Protective Services.

6 In paragraph G, the Union is proposing that the 50 cents per hour differential
7 be extended to employees who are assigned to community mental health settings.

8 Preliminarily, the panel notes that the only difference between the proposals being made by the 9 parties in Bargaining Units 2 and 3 is in the amount of the working condition differential. The 10 Employer is proposing that the amount remain the same; whereas, the Union is proposing
11 increases of 40 cents to 50 cents in Paragraphs A and B and 30 cents to fifty cents in Paragraph 12 D. The Union through direct testimony has requested an increase in the differential to 50 cents
13 per hour for BU 02 and 03 employees based on comparison with the BU 09 and 13 contracts
14 which currently have a working condition differential at 50 cents per hour for employees
15 assigned to (1) certain units at the Hawaii State Hospital and (2) correction facilities. The 16 panel has determined that an increase in the amount of the differential is justified because 17 Bargaining Unit 2 and Bargaining Unit 3 employees are exposed to similar "unusual and unique 18 working conditions" as those employees in Bargaining Unit 9 and 13 when assigned to the 19 same work environment, and the working condition differential is already established at 50
20 cents per hour for the Bargaining Unit 9 and 13 employees. As more fully set forth in the 21 award, the requested increase in differential will be granted, as well as the Employer's proposed
22 changes to Paragraph F.⁴⁸

26 ⁴⁸ The change in paragraph F is necessary to clarify that the director of personnel services no
27 longer exercises jurisdiction over employees in the various hospitals throughout the state except for the 28 Hawaii State Hospital.

1 With regard to the Union's proposals regarding Unit 13, no evidence was offered to 2 sufficiently explain the justification for extending the working condition differential to 3 employees who must visit patient care units at Hawaii State Hospital, to employees who must 4 visit correctional facilities, to social workers in Child Protective Services, or to employees who 5 are assigned to community mental health settings. Therefore, the panel will deny these 6 proposals.

8 XV. The Parties' Travel Proposals

9 The parties have made the following travel proposals in five out of the six bargaining 10 units as follows:

- 11 BU 02- Article 41 (Employer and Union Proposals)
- 12 BU 03- Article 44 (Employer and Union Proposals)
- 13 BU 04 - Article 44 (Employer and Union Proposals)
- 14 BU 06 - Article 24 (Union Proposal)
- 14 BU 13 - Article 45 (Employer and Union Proposals)

15 Specifically, the Employer is proposing the following:⁴⁹

- 16 Paragraph B, 2-Clarify how the $20 per day allowance is to be calculated
- 17 Paragraph B, 3- This is a new paragraph to give the Employer the option of utilizing 18 non-commercial lodging for its employees whenever such non-commercial lodging is 19 available.
- 19 Non-substantive editorial changes are made throughout this article.

20 On the other hand, the Union is proposing that:

- 21 Paragraph D, 2 - Change the starting time in computing the amount of per diem from 22 30 minutes to 90 minutes before the scheduled flight departure time.
- 23 Paragraph G - Mandatory advanced per diem for all official travel is being proposed in 24 lieu of "whenever possible." Also, an employee shall be reimbursed for excess lodging 25 expenses within 30 days after filing a request rather than "as soon as possible."
- 25 Paragraph H - Increase the mileage allowance from 37 cents per mile to 50 cents per 26 mile for employees who are authorized to use their private vehicles to carry out their 27 duties and responsibilities.

27 ⁴⁹ The Employer made proposals in only four out of six bargaining units (2, 3, 4, and 13) and 28 made no proposal in Bargaining Unit 6.

1 The Union proposal is an agreement with some but not all of the "non-substantive
2 editorial changes" proposed by the Employer
3 BU 06- Paragraph I, 1- The Union withdrew its proposal to include "motorcycles"
4 as part of the definition of "vehicles" during the arbitration hearing since the Employer
5 indicated that motorcycles are covered by the Department of Accounting and General
6 Services travel rules for mileage reimbursement at one-half (½) the rate for automobiles.

7 At the hearing, the Employer presented testimony to the effect that its proposal was to clarify
8 language. However, the proposal for a modification of B, 3, as discussed above, is a substantive
9 change from sleeping in tents or cabins (under paragraph B, 2) to the use of non-commercial 10 lodging.

11 The panel will accept the Employer's reasonable proposal for a change in this 12 language. However, the panel is not persuaded by the testimony offered to support the Union's 13 proposals. In referring to the increase in time allowed for the purpose of calculating per diem, 14 the Union focused on airline requirements and recommendations on passenger check-in times.
15 No testimony was offered as to what additional travel expenses would be incurred to justify any 16 additional per diem allowance. While the Employer offered in its post-hearing brief a proposal
17 to increase the starting time in computing per diem from 30 to 60 minutes, it did so with the 18 proviso that the "per diem clock" starts to run at the start of the sixty minute time period. No 19 explanation was given as to the effect of this proposal.

20 With regard to the mileage reimbursement allowance, the Union's proposal for 50 cents
21 per mile is rejected based on the fact that the Employer would be required to add the excess
22 over the IRS mileage reimbursement rate of $.375 (thirty-seven and a half cents) to employee
23 income for tax purposes. Considering the fact that the existing mileage rate has not been 24 changed for many years, the panel deems it appropriate to change the mileage allowance rate
25 to 37.5 cents per mile. As more fully set forth in the Award, Articles 41 (BU 2), 44 (BU 3), 26
27
28

1 Article 44 (BU 4), Article 26 (BU 6) and Article 45 (BU 13) will be modified to conform to the
2 panel's decision.

3 XVI. Other Leaves of Absence

4 The Employer has proposed to incorporate a separate supplemental agreement into the 5 following Other Leaves of Absence Articles found in Article 42 (BU 2), Article 40 (BU 3), 6 Article 40 (BU 4) and Article 41 (BU 13). However, the Employer did not present any 7 compelling testimonial or documentary evidence to justify inclusion of certain provisions
8 contained in the supplemental memorandum into the Other Leaves of Absence Articles. As set 9 forth in the Award, these proposals are denied.
10

11 Based on the foregoing findings and conclusions, the following award is made:

12 AWARD

13 All articles and provisions of the 1999-2003 collective bargaining agreements (as set
14 forth in Joint Exhibits "2" through "7") not herein revised (including Vacation and Sick 15 Articles) and all provisions already agreed to by the parties shall be incorporated into the 16 successor agreement. The parties shall adopt the following revised contract language which 17 shall replace only those articles or sections affected:
18

- 19
- 20 1. The Duration articles for Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, 6, 8 and 13 shall be amended to 21 include the following:
 - 22 a) The agreement shall become effective as of July 1, 2003 and shall remain in effect 23 to and including June 30, 2005.
 - 24 b) The agreement shall be renewed in accordance with statutes unless either party
25 gives written notice to the other party of its desire to amend, modify, or terminate 26 the agreement, and such written notice is given no later than May 15, 2004.
 - 27 c) After such written notice is given, the parties shall exchange their specific written 28 proposals, if any, no later than June 14, 2004.

1 d) Negotiations for a new agreement shall commence on a mutually agreeable date
 2 following the exchange of written proposals, as applicable.

3 2. The Salary articles for Bargaining Units 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, and 13 shall be amended to reflect:

4 BU 02: Article 51 – Salaries

5 Effective Date Salary Award

6 7/1/03 Continue the step movement plan but defer the step movements due
 7 in the first fiscal year until 7/1/04. As a result of such deferral, there
 8 shall be no retroactive adjustment and no loss of service time credit by affected employees.

9 7/1/04 Employees who were eligible for step movement during the first 10 fiscal year shall be placed on Step B on this date. Delete Step A and designate Step B as Step A.

11 Establish the two-step longevity plan as proposed by the Union and 12 place employees who have the required years of service as of 6/30/04
 13 on the appropriate longevity step. Amend Article 14-Compensation
 Adjustments, as appropriate, to effectuate the longevity step plan.

14 Employees who are eligible for a longevity step movement during the 15 second fiscal year shall be placed on the appropriate step on their 16 eligibility date.

17 1-1-05 Increase the rates on the salary schedule by 5.0%

18 BU 03: Article 53-Salaries

19 BU 04: Article 53-Salaries

20 BU 13: Article 50-Salaries

21 Effective Date Salary Award

22 7/1/03 Continue the step movement plan but defer the step movements due
 23 in the first fiscal year until 7/1/04. As a result of such deferral, there
 24 shall be no retroactive adjustment and no loss of service time credit by affected employees.

25 7/1/04 Employees who were eligible for step movement during the first

Gov. Msg. No. 558, dated May 6, 2004, transmitting her statement of objections to Senate Bill No. 2395 which she has returned to the Senate without her approval and which reads as follows:

"EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

May 6, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 2395

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 2395, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Information Practices.'

The purpose of this bill is to prohibit disclosure of booking records of Hawaii Convention Center licensees until ten days after the event has occurred or when it is canceled. The prohibition would apply when requested by a potential licensee if disclosure could reveal confidential business information or result in the loss of a convention center booking. Booking information could, however, be disclosed to the Legislature.

This bill is objectionable because, first, it would significantly change the public's ability to access records maintained by the Hawaii Tourism Authority (HTA). Presently, under the Uniform Information Practices Act (Modified), chapter 92F, Hawaii Revised Statutes, commonly referred to as the 'UIPA,' the HTA's records are presumed to be public, and most of the records that could be withheld under this bill are now available upon request by members of the public.

Second, existing law allows the HTA to withhold records that must be confidential in order to avoid the frustration of a legitimate government function. Therefore, confidential business information that is submitted by convention center licensees may be withheld under existing law if the facts warrant.

Third, one of the primary purposes of the Uniform Information Practices Act is to open government processes to public scrutiny by allowing public access to government records. Contracts between convention center licensees and the HTA may contain incentives in the form of discounts and subsidies. The public's right to scrutinize HTA's operation and management of the Hawaii Convention Center will be greatly restricted if the public is denied timely access to the records.

Fourth, nondisclosure of records would require only a finding that disclosure 'may' result in loss of a convention center booking or disclosure of confidential information, without any determination that this would actually be the case or that the reasons provided outweigh the advantages of full disclosure.

Fifth, a licensee's name could be withheld under this bill even though such information is not normally considered to be confidential business information or proprietary information. Controversial organizations might, therefore, schedule conventions at the Hawaii Convention Center without the public being aware of the fact and having an opportunity to object. By withholding licensees' names until after an event has occurred, members of the public would also be deprived of the ability to review information about an upcoming convention to, for example, compete with exhibitors, market products or services in connection with the event, or simply to examine how well the Hawaii Convention Center is doing in terms of advance bookings.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 2395 without my approval.

Respectfully,

/s/ Linda Lingle
LINDA LINGLE
Governor of Hawaii"

Gov. Msg. No. 559, dated May 6, 2004, transmitting her statement of objections to House Bill No. 2061 which she has returned to the House of Representatives without her approval and which reads as follows:

“EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

May 6, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 2061

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2061, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to Transient Accommodations Tax.’

The purpose of this bill is to establish an ‘Aloha Aina Patrol’ under the jurisdiction of the respective police departments in each county. The patrol would help curtail crime in high tourist traffic areas.

This bill proposes to fund the operating expenses of the Aloha Aina Patrol by diverting over $1.1 million out of the counties’ portion of the transient accommodations tax (TAT) revenues. Currently, section 237D-6.5(b)(3), Hawaii Revised Statutes, provides that 44.8 percent of TAT revenue is distributed to the respective counties. Under this bill, 1.3 percent of that 44.8 percent of TAT revenue is to be transferred to a sub-account in the tourism special fund for the Aloha Aina Patrol.

While I support measures to ensure Hawaii is safe for visitors and residents, including the concept of the Aloha Aina Patrol, this bill is objectionable for the following reasons:

1. This bill reduces the amount of TAT revenues currently distributed to the counties that can be designated for other county programs. If the counties so desired, the counties could use their TAT revenue allocations for additional security at beaches and parks without this bill. Moreover, this bill establishes a precedent for funding additional programs from the limited TAT revenues that could result in the eventual reduction of the TAT revenues distributed to the convention center enterprise special fund, the tourism special fund, and the respective counties.

2. Three of the four counties objected to this bill because it constitutes a violation of the principle of ‘Home Rule.’ It would place the Hawaii Tourism Authority in the position of telling the county police departments where they should deploy their officers. As stated by Mayor Jeremy Harris of Honolulu, ‘staffing and patrol determinations must fully remain with our police department and should not be dictated by the Hawaii Tourism Authority.’

3. As pointed out by the Hawaii Tourism Authority, the cost of the Aloha Aina Patrol is unknown. The bill resulted from the Senate Tourism Committee gutting a House-passed measure and substituting the Aloha Aina Patrol language without giving adequate time for all parties to cost out and analyze the operational implications of this mandate. Further, the program duplicates similar efforts already underway on the islands of Kauai, Maui, and Oahu.

4. This bill requires that TAT revenues be distributed to the appropriate parties in four quarterly allotments, as opposed to semiannual allotments as is currently the practice. The Financial Administration Division of the Department of Budget and Finance has indicated that the State Treasury may be deprived of interest income due to the more frequent distributions. Further, there are no provisions to restore the TAT allocation to the counties to the former levels should the program not be continued.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2061 without my approval.

Respectfully,

/s/ Linda Lingle

“EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

July 13, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 1491

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 1491, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to State Government.’

The purpose of this bill is to make appropriations for various purposes for fiscal year 2004-2005.

While the bill as a whole has merit, I object to the $675,307 special fund appropriation for fiscal year 2004-2005 from the Hawaiian Home Administration Account for personnel operating expenses, designated in section 42 on pages 17-18 of the bill. This special fund appropriation of $675,307 duplicates the special fund appropriation adjustment made in section 2 of the bill that increased the special fund appropriation for fiscal year 2004-2005 from $7,172,586 to $7,847,893.

Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution provides that, ‘[e]xcept for items appropriated to be expended by the judicial and legislative branches, the governor may veto any specific item or items in any bill which appropriates money for specific purposes by striking out or reducing the same.’ Because of the foregoing objection, pursuant to my line item veto authority, I have stricken out the duplicate $675,307 special fund appropriation out of the Hawaiian Home Administration Account for fiscal year 2004-2005 for personnel operating expenses in section 42 (on page 17, line 19) and changed it to $0.

For the foregoing reason, I am returning Senate Bill No. 1491 with the special fund appropriation of $675,307 for fiscal year 2004-2005, described above, stricken from the bill.

Respectfully,

/s/ Linda Lingle
LINDA LINGLE

Gov. Msg. No. 729, dated July 13, 2004, transmitting her statement of objections to Senate Bill No. 459 which she has returned to the Senate without her approval and which reads as follows:

“EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS
HONOLULU

July 13, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 459

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 459, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to Campaign Spending.’

The purpose of this bill is to restore the public’s confidence in the integrity of the election process by reducing the influence of reliance on campaign contributions.

This bill is objectionable for several reasons, including very serious technical errors in the bill that leave provisions of the bill vulnerable to serious and substantial constitutional challenges, which would lead to the virtually certain prospect of lawsuits, and leave the State open to adverse court judgments on the constitutionality of the bill and to large attorneys’ fee awards against the State. Tied up with these very serious technical errors are provisions that would lead to confusion, uncertainty, and serious questions about who is actually subject to many of the bill’s provisions. It is crucial that a bill regulating campaign contributions be clear in its application, well thought out, and fair. The serious flaws in this bill make it abundantly clear that the bill is not clear in its application, not well thought out, and not fair.

In the order that they appear, the errors and concerns include:

1. In section 11-204(m) (3), Hawaii Revised Statutes, as amended at page 18, lines 12-15, the likely typographical omission of a ‘not’ completely changes the apparent intent of the legislature. Subsection (m) (3) provides that the prohibition against contributions applies to ‘[a] noncandidate committee that has received contributions of $10 or more from ten or more individuals registered to vote in this State during the one hundred and eighty days prior to an election, provided that this subsection does not apply to loans made in the ordinary course of business.’ (emphasis added). The intent of this provision was to bar contributions from a noncandidate committee that had not received at least ten contributions from Hawaii residents. The removal of the word ‘not’ is a clear drafting error that would essentially bar contributions from almost all noncandidate committees whose donors are Hawaii residents.

2. Section 8 replaces what is a monitoring-by-registration process for regulating campaign contributions from entities that contract with State and county agencies, with a twenty-four-month ban on contributions from some but not all entities that contract with the State and counties, to candidates for some, but not all offices. This change is seriously flawed in several respects.

a. Despite several references, including a clear statement in section 1 of the bill, and in the Conference Committee Report, that the bill is intended to prohibit contributions by government contractors ‘selected by a nonbid process’ who seek or hold contracts in excess of $25,000, every reference to the Procurement Code for purposes of describing who is exempt from the restriction on contributions (i.e., who can contribute) is to section 103D-303, Hawaii Revised Statutes, the section for awarding contracts by competitive sealed proposals, rather than section 103D-302, Hawaii Revised Statutes, the section for awarding contracts by competitive sealed bidding. Thus, contractors awarded government contracts under the most objective basis—low prices (competitive sealed bidding)—are actually prohibited from making contributions, while contractors who receive contracts under substantially a more subjective procurement method, i.e., pre-established qualitative evaluation criteria which may or may not include price (competitive sealed proposals), may make contributions. If the legislature actually intended the bill to read as it does, it would be very difficult, if not impossible, to constitutionally defend the line the legislature has drawn against an equal protection and/or due process challenge, because it makes no sense to exclude from contributing those who bid via sealed bidding while allowing contributions from those who bid via sealed bidding proposals. And, if that actually was the intent of the legislature, it is appropriate to veto the bill on policy grounds alone. If the reference to section 103D-303 is simply an error, then the problem—of constitutional dimensions—needs to be fixed before the law can be allowed to go into effect, and vetoing the bill is the only way to accomplish that.

b. It appears to be the intent of the section to have the time limit run commencing with certain procurement activities that the particular government contractor at issue participates in by submitting a bid. However, the section does not state this, and terms critical to determining when the twenty-four-month ban on contributions begins to run are vaguely described or not defined at all. For example, 'procurement activity' is not even defined. At page 20, lines 20-22, and page 21, lines 1-8, the amendment to section 11-205.5, Hawaii Revised Statutes, defines the period of time during which contributions are unlawful as 'commencing with any procurement activity conducted by a purchasing agency' and ending 'Twenty four [sic] months after the termination of the procurement activity' or 'after completion of the government contract if the procurement activity results in acceptance.' In most instances, the public is wholly unaware of preliminary procurement activities, including, for example, deciding whether to issue a request for information or proceeding directly to developing specifications for a bid. It would have been far better if a more publicly discernible starting point (like the posting of an invitation for sealed proposals, or the creation of a selection committee for professional services) had been selected. 'Notice of appropriation,' the alternative clock-starter for the twenty-four-month contribution ban period, is also not defined. Nor is there a mechanism for determining which of the two clock-starters control. The contribution ban period should be tied to a procurement activity involving the government contractor at issue and is unnecessarily and inappropriately vague. This lack of notice risks very substantial constitutional challenges based upon due process. It is crucial that a law that bans activities like making political contributions be very clear in its application, so that those who may be subject to it are not forced to simply guess at what the law means.

c. Again, there appear to be several typographical errors that cloud the process and the meaning of the bill: at page 21, line 4, because 'and' rather than 'or' is used, both successful and unsuccessful bidders appear to be precluded from making contributions for the twenty-four-month contribution ban period; (at page 21, line 17, 'though' should have been 'through,' and 'disbarred' should have been 'debarred.')

d. The bases for distinctions that the ban relies upon are not readily discernible. At page 21, lines 11-17, there is a provision that makes it unlawful for 'any business against which debarment or suspension proceedings are commenced' to make a contribution through the period of debarment or suspension. Commencement of proceedings can, in some circumstances, occur without notice and an opportunity to be heard. Barring contributions based on an accusation without a hearing or finding of guilt or probable cause or reasonable grounds could in some circumstances deny a would-be contributor due process of law. At page 22, lines 1-7, an exception is made such that individuals employed by a government contractor can contribute so long as the contribution comes from the individual's personal funds. However, while an 'officer or director' of the contractor cannot contribute, a major stockholder in the business who is not an officer or director, or a general partner in a partnership can contribute. This is an irrational distinction and creates a very large loophole. There must be a fair and level playing field, and if contributions by an officer and director are to be limited, so too must contributions by major stockholders or general partners, etc.

e. The prohibition against government contractor contribution is extremely vague in its application to contributions to candidates for State and county legislative offices (and even offices like Governor and Mayor in certain circumstances), and appears not to apply to entities with contracts with agencies headed by non-elected officials even though the contracts are funded by 'appropriations.' The language used at page 22, lines 10-20, provides very little notice in many circumstances of whether particular contributions are banned or not. Again, it is crucial that those who are to be subject to a ban not be forced to guess at its application.

f. It is unclear if, when, or how the ban is to be effected when a 'notice of appropriation' starts the clock for the twenty-four-month ban, or the 'procurement activity' involves the acquisition of real property, see definitions of 'government contract' at page 24, line 4, and 'purchasing agency' at page 25, line 6.

3. The section concerning 'coordinated activity,' section 11-207, Hawaii Revised Statutes, as amended at page 27, lines 14-17, page 28, lines 21-22, and page 29, lines 1-5, that is, when an expenditure by a person will be considered a contribution to a candidate and subject to regulation, raises, serious constitutional issues based on vagueness and overbreadth.

'Coordinated activity,' for example, means an expenditure 'by a person ... who is actively engaged in coordination with that candidate' on any campaign activity. What does 'actively engaged' mean? The bill does not define the term. The only way to be sure that one is not participating in a coordinated activity is by not interacting with a candidate or a candidate's committee or agent at all. Another example of a 'coordinated activity' provides at page 28, lines 15-22: 'A payment is made by a person if in the same election period the person making the payment ... (B) Has previously participated in discussions with the candidate, an agent of the candidate's authorized committee, or a committee of a political party which is coordinating with the candidate regarding the candidate's campaign strategy.' Under this provision, it would appear that 'any discussion,' even marginally related to the campaign, would subject a campaign expenditure to regulation as a contribution. Thus, if a person discussed with a candidate, at a rally, any issue related to the campaign, an independent expenditure by that person is considered to be both a contribution to the candidate and an expenditure by the candidate.' This section is both vague and overbroad.

Perhaps the sharpest example of overbreadth appears in subsection (b) (2) at page 28, lines 7-14. A 'coordinated activity' (which means that the expenditure is counted as both a contribution to a candidate and an expenditure by a candidate) includes 'a payment ... for the production, dissemination, distribution, or republication, in whole or in part, of any broadcast or any written, graphic, or other form of campaign material prepared by a candidate, a candidate's authorized committee, or an agent of a candidate or authorized committee or a communication that expressly advocates for or against a candidate.' (emphasis added). The highlighted portion of the provision literally subjects 'express advocacy' to limitations that United States Supreme Court precedent unequivocally holds is violative of the First Amendment. Colorado Republican Federal Campaign Committee v. FEC, 518 U.S. 604, 610, 116 S. Ct. 2309, 2313 (1996) ('Colorado I'), and 533 U.S. 431, 121 S. Ct. 2351 (2001) ('Colorado II'), and more recently McConnell v. Federal Election Commission, 124 S. Ct.

619, 705-06 (2003), say clearly that it is unconstitutional to limit expressions in the form of expenditures that support the election of a candidate or issue that are made independently and separately from any input from a candidate, or person or entity associated with a candidate. Enforcement of the provision is likely to be enjoined as unconstitutionally violative of the First Amendment's prohibition against placing a limit on independent expenditures. In addition, in a circumstance in which there are more than two candidates, and a person advocates against one of the candidates, to which of the other candidates is the 'contribution' attributed?

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 459 without my approval.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 469

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 469, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Employment Practices.'

The purpose of this bill is to add a new section to part I of chapter 378, titled 'Discriminatory Practices,' of the Hawaii Revised Statutes, which prohibits an employer or labor organization from discriminating against an employee who uses accrued and available sick leave in accordance with the terms of a valid collective bargaining agreement or an employer's employment policy.

This bill is objectionable because there is no identified need to legislate in this particular area. Matters pertaining to leave should be determined by collective bargaining negotiations or by company policies. This law could lead to extensive abuse of sick leave disrupting the operations and services of private firms, lead to increased costs, and discriminate against employees who abide by company rules.

Under federal Family and Medical Leave Act, employees who use leave pursuant to that Act are protected from discrimination; under the state Family Leave law, employees also have certain protections. This bill is also objectionable because it protects those employees who abuse sick leave benefits by preventing employers from disciplining employees for excessive absences if the absences qualify for sick leave under collective bargaining agreements or employers' policies. Finally, this bill may, in fact, discourage employers from providing sick leave to their employees.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 469 without my approval.

Respectfully,

"EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS

July 13, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 2056

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 2056, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to the Auditor.'

The purpose of this bill is to make the Legislative Auditor (hereinafter referred to as the 'Auditor') an authorized representative of the Department of Education (DOE) and the Department of Health (DOH). The bill also gives the Auditor access to any student records that may be necessary in connection with any audit or evaluation of any federal or state supported educational program, or in connection with the enforcement of the federal or state legal requirements that relate to the educational program.

This bill is objectionable because there are serious legal concerns about making the Auditor an authorized representative of the DOE and the DOH. This bill is an attempt to circumvent federal law. The Auditor is seeking to become an authorized representative of the DOE and the DOH because of the Family Educational and Privacy Rights Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C. § 1232g, which prohibits the DOE from disclosing educational records or personally identifiable information without the written consent of the student or parent, except under specific exceptions listed in 20 U.S.C. § 1232g(b). One of the exceptions permits authorized representatives of state educational authorities to access education records without written consent of the student or parent. Specifically, this exception is for authorized representatives of state educational authorities acting in connection with an audit and evaluation of federally supported education programs or who are acting in connection with the enforcement of federal legal requirements relating to such programs.

The Family Policy Compliance Office, United States Department of Education, which is the federal agency authorized to administer FERPA, has informed us that the FERPA exception in question applies to an executive branch auditor or an outside auditor controlled by the educational agency, but would not apply to a legislative branch auditor. Therefore, the FERPA exception for 'authorized representatives' does not permit the DOE to disclose education records to the Auditor.

In addition, this bill is unnecessary because the Auditor has the power to issue subpoenas duces tecum for education records under section 23-5(c) (2), Hawaii Revised Statutes. Under FERPA, the DOE may disclose the education records pursuant to a subpoena provided that parents of the children identified in the education records are notified of the subpoena so that they may act to quash the subpoena if they so choose. This bill also contains a parental notification provision so this bill does not expedite access by the Auditor.

This bill seeks to provide an alternative method for the Auditor to obtain education records without having to use her subpoena powers, but this alternative method involves significant risks to the State. The disclosure of education records without a subpoena could result in expensive lawsuits filed by parents challenging this bill as an attempt to circumvent federal law. There already is a valid means under FERPA by which the Auditor may access education records through her subpoena powers. The risk to the State in creating another access method with inherent legal problems clearly outweighs any benefits that an alternative method of access may provide.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 2056 without my approval.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 2077

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 2077, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Planning.'

The purpose of this bill is to require state agencies to update their functional plans by June 30, 2006, and update those plans every ten years.

This bill is objectionable because it creates a mandate without additional resources and funding provided by the Legislature to carry it out.

The significant costs associated with updating functional plans have not been factored into the state financial plan, and no funds were appropriated for this project. Without additional staff and resources, existing staff and resources may have to be diverted from essential departmental programs.

Further, it is not apparent that the functional plans prepared in 1989 and 1991 have served as an effective decision-making tool for State agencies. Additionally, this bill would require duplicative work for areas such as recreation, where a State outdoor recreational plan was completed as recently as 2003.

Currently, the Hawaii State Planning Act, chapter 226, Hawaii Revised Statutes, does not mandate a required interval for updating functional plans. The fast-changing pace of local, national, and global events suggests that greater flexibility is needed. The Governor and executive branch agencies should be given discretion to undertake updates as circumstances may dictate and in the subject areas that reflect Executive Branch priorities.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 2077 without my approval.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 2134

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 2134, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to the Environment.'

The purpose of the bill is to establish an emergency environmental workforce program to be administered by the Research Corporation of the University of Hawaii (RCUH) to assist the countries in their fight against invasive species throughout the State. The bill requires the environmental workforce to employ individuals who are not subject to civil service and collective bargaining laws. The bill further requires RCUH to submit an annual report to the Legislature on the status of the environmental workforce program.

This bill is objectionable for the following reasons:

1. Section 307-4, Hawaii Revised Statutes, exempts RCUH from state personnel statutes. Because RCUH has existing authority to hire employees exempt from the civil service law, chapter 76, HRS, this bill is unnecessary.

2. While earlier versions of the bill appropriated money to fund positions necessary for the workforce, the bill as passed does not contain an appropriation. Instead, the Legislature, via the budget bill, appropriated moneys to fund the workforce through moneys allocated to the Hawaii Invasive Species Council, an agency attached to Department of Land and Natural Resources (DLNR). The funding mechanism may limit the Hawaii Invasive Species Council to contracting with RCUH for its labor needs. Furthermore, due to the limited amount of funds available, DLNR has concerns as to whether the Hawaii Invasive Species Council will realistically be able to allocate adequate funds for the workforce. In addition, an awkward problem with the bill is that the moneys are dispersed to DLNR, yet, RCUH is responsible for administering the program.

3. Finally, administering an environmental workforce is not consistent with RCUH's fundamental mission of supporting research and training programs for the University of Hawaii, or enhancing research, development, and training for Hawaii's citizens in general.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 2134 without my approval.

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 2281, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to the High Technology Development Corporation.'

The purpose of this bill is to allow the High Technology Development Corporation to deposit certain rents and fees received from its operations into a private trust account outside of the state treasury under the control of the High Technology Development Corporation. In addition, this bill repeals the $3,000,000 cap on the fiscal-year-end balance of the High Technology Special Fund.

The establishment of a private trust account outside of the state treasury under the control of the High Technology Development Corporation is objectionable.

I am concerned about the fiscal accountability of receipts and disbursements of the private trust account. Since such activity would not be processed through the state treasury, the private trust account would not be subject to the supervision of the Department of Accounting and General Services to ensure the proper recording and expenditure of such moneys. The High Technology Development Corporation would have to develop internal controls to safeguard such moneys against potential abuse or wrong use. Because the state treasury can handle such moneys in an expeditious manner, I believe that the creation of a private trust account outside of the state treasury for the High Technology Development Corporation is not necessary.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 2281 without my approval.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 2528

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 2528, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Insurance.'

The purposes of this bill are to: (1) amend the standards of the loss mitigation grant program by changing the percentage of a grant reimbursement from fifty to thirty-five percent of the cost of purchasing and installing wind-resistive devices; and (2) appropriate $300,000 out of the general fund for the loss mitigation grant program.

This bill is objectionable because it would take money from the general fund to finance a pilot grant program that would provide inconsequential and meager benefit to the people of this State. The administrative costs that would be needed to establish that program, including costs for providing notice of the program, preparing application forms, processing applications, and other staffing functions that are not included in this bill, could use up much of the appropriation amount.

The remaining grant funds would benefit too few property owners to justify setting up this new program.

Although hurricane mitigation is a worthwhile concept, during these difficult economic times the State must resist the urge to utilize general funds for a pilot program. A fully funded program of this nature, that would benefit a significant number of people and that would have an effect upon hurricane mitigation, could cost hundreds of millions of dollars. Thus, spending money for this pilot program at this time is not a wise choice.

Decisions like the one to veto this bill are not easy, but they are necessary. Without fiscal discipline and prudent management of the budget, it would be impossible to restore trust and integrity in government and expand and diversify the economy. These are things that we must do to achieve a true new beginning for the people of Hawaii.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 2528 without my approval.

“EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS

July 13, 2004

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 3020

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 3020, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to Education.’

Senate Bill No. 3020 appropriates $175,000 in general funds in fiscal year 2004-2005 for the conversion of one ten-month counselor position to a twelve-month term at Kapolei Elementary School, and for the conversion of eight ten-month teachers at Kapolei Middle School to year-round status.

The funds are unnecessary because:

1. Under the lump-sum budgeting approach, the Department of Education has the required flexibility to allocate its positions and funds to address enrollment fluctuations (increases and decreases) at various schools. With an annual general fund budget of over $1.5 billion in fiscal year 2004-2005, the Department of Education can reallocate its resources from those schools with dwindling enrollment to address the needs of higher enrollment schools. It is also important to note that the Department of Education is currently authorized over 11,200 teaching (bargaining unit 5) positions, although only about 8,720 in fiscal year 2004-2005 are designated for classrooms. The other 2,480 teachers are designated for state and district offices and categorical and other programs. The department can reassign position counts and funds to Kapolei Elementary and Middle Schools within its existing resources.

2. Between fiscal year 2000-2001 and fiscal year 2002-2003, the Legislature authorized 35.5 additional counselor positions, increasing the number of counselors by 6.2 percent (from 576 to 611.5 positions), while student enrollment decreased 0.6 percent (from 180,563 to 179,448). The additional positions were authorized to address the department’s request that the counselors’ work exceeded national norms. In addition, with 18,881.60 authorized general fund positions and more than a $1.2 billion (all means of financing) salary base, the department has the flexibility to reallocate payroll savings from vacant positions to address an additional two-month payroll extension.

3. The Department of Education lapsed $19.9 million in unspent funds in the prior fiscal year. Historically, annual lapse rates have averaged $25 million, thus the Department has monies it fails to spend each year which can be used for schools converting from 10-month to 12-month schedules.

The Department of Education should fund the additional payroll requirements within its existing budget, rather than place an additional financial burden on Hawaii’s taxpayers.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 3020 without my approval.

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 3025, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to the Office of Planning.’

The purpose of this bill is to require the Office of Planning to report only to the Director of Business, Economic Development, and Tourism and to clarify that the Department of Business, Economic Development, and Tourism has the sole jurisdiction over the Land Use Commission, state planning, and the Hawaii State Planning Act.

This bill is objectionable because it limits my administration’s flexibility in executing programs and functions to achieve maximum results. The Office of Planning’s major statutory responsibilities of land use planning, coastal zone management, and geographic information systems are not consistent with the Department of Business, Economic development, and Tourism and complement the Department of Land and Natural Resources core functions of land management and protection of resources. My administrative directive to have the Office of Planning consult with and report to the Chairperson of the Board of Land and Natural Resources has resulted in meaningful, productive, and successful undertakings in land use planning issues, and the current working relationship is consistent with the Legislature’s call for more prudent, efficient, and effective government operations.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO SENATE BILL NO. 3170

Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 3170, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to Petroleum Products.’

The purpose of this bill is to promote alternative energy resources in Hawaii by establishing new requirements for the blending of ethanol in gasoline, and requiring, by January 1, 2006, that not less than eighty-five percent of all gasoline sold for use in motor vehicles in Hawaii contain ten percent ethanol by volume. This measure also requires each distributor, within ninety days of the close of the calendar year, to file a statement for the previous year showing the amount of ethanol and non-ethanol blended gasoline sold by the distributor on forms prepared by the Director of Business, Economic Development, and Tourism. Any distributor violating these requirements is subject to a fine of not less than $2 per gallon of non-conforming fuel.

This bill is objectionable because it allows the Director of Business, Economic Development, and Tourism to adopt rules for the administration and enforcement of the ethanol requirements, exempt from the requirements of chapter 91, Hawaii Revised Statutes. This chapter, the Hawaii Administrative Procedure Act, provides for giving public notice and holding a hearing on proposed rules. Exempting the ethanol rulemaking process from these procedural requirements is contrary to our policy of advocating open government and providing the public with opportunity for input.

Under current law, Section 486J-10, Hawaii Revised Statutes, which this bill seeks to amend, the State’s petroleum commissioner is required to adopt rules in accordance with chapter 91, Hawaii Revised Statutes, to require that gasoline sold in the State for use in motor vehicles contain ten percent ethanol by volume. I have reviewed and approved for public hearing the proposed rules entitled ‘Chapter 35 of Title 15, Hawaii Administrative Rules, regarding Ethanol Content in Gasoline.’ These rules were drafted and reviewed with care in a collaborative effort by all stakeholders. I believe that adopting the rules for Section 486J-10, Hawaii Revised Statutes, in a public hearing process is the proper approach for implementing the ethanol requirements. The public hearing process will provide the forum for issues to be examined and for all steps necessary to be taken to ensure that the State’s ethanol requirements are implemented into an orderly manner and that the negative impact, if any, on gasoline is addressed.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 3170 without my approval.

Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 3182, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to the State of Hawaii.'

The purpose of this bill is to grant civil service status to the employees of the Department of Business, Economic Development, and Tourism's Business Action Center whose employee position numbers are 102006, 102007, 102008, and 102009.

This bill is objectionable on policy grounds. This bill 'grandfathers' in four temporary, exempt Business Action Center employees into civil service status, without loss of salary and seniority and without necessity of examination. This is contrary to civil service principles of merit and open competition. Additionally, with the state financial plan projecting a deficit by fiscal year 2005-2006, increasing the permanent position count at this time would not be appropriate, because this would constrain administrative flexibility if it becomes necessary to restructure government.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 3182 without my approval.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 1374

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1374, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Workers' Compensation.'

The purposes of this bill are: (1) to amend section 386-98 (workers' compensation fraud violations and penalties), Hawaii Revised Statutes, to provide that: (A) when a party successfully investigates fraud and a determination is made that fraud has occurred, that party is entitled to recoup payments and attorney's fees and costs through administrative penalties; (B) when a person is charged with fraud and a determination is made that fraud has not occurred, the person is entitled to attorney's fees and costs from the initiating party, except in a criminal prosecution; and (C) no person, subject to administrative penalties in subsection (e), shall be subject to double jeopardy under another subsection; and (2) amend section 431:2-203 (enforcement regarding the insurance code), Hawaii Revised Statutes, to permit the Insurance Commissioner to investigate and enforce Hawaii Revised Statutes chapter 386 relating to workers' compensation fraud, provided that the Insurance Commissioner shall investigate and prosecute only complaints brought against an insurance carrier, a self-insured employer, or a fully insured employer.

This is another example of the Legislature proposing fake reform, which, in fact, only makes the problems worse. The people of Hawaii repeatedly asked the Legislature to reform the workers compensation system, to provide our workers with better care, to make the claim process more efficient and to ease the crushing burden on Hawaii's businesses. Such reforms benefit both workers and businesses. Workers benefit by having a system that processes their claims quickly and efficiently and provides them the rehabilitative care they need. Businesses benefit by having a system that is less costly.

Although this bill is meant to focus on and combat workers' compensation fraud, it does not address the biggest part of the problem. It targets only insurance companies and employers for punishment. Employees and others who commit workers' compensation fraud would not be subject to penalty under this measure. If an investigation of an employer also uncovered fraud by an employee, the Insurance Commissioner could only pursue the action against the employer. Limiting the bill's scope to insurance companies and employers is unfair and inefficient and will add fuel to the argument that Hawaii is anti-business.

The people of Hawaii want to be treated fairly and to have everyone play by the rules. A handful of people don't. Instead, they pursue fraudulent insurance schemes and that increases the cost of insurance for everyone.

The Administration proposed an anti-fraud bill to pursue those who don't play by the rules. The Legislature killed it. The Administration proposed a Comprehensive Workers Compensation Reform Bill and the Legislature chopped it up into nine pieces and, one by one, killed them until only this small piece remained. And this small piece that deals with workers compensation fraud was rewritten such that it ends up making things worse.

To be effective in combating fraud, one governmental unit must be given the authority to focus and pursue fraud wherever it occurs. This bill divides the authority, giving part to the Insurance Division to investigate employers and insurance companies and part to the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations to investigate employees and care providers. This is a recipe for failure. Problems inevitably arise when authority and jurisdiction is split between departments, and this split will make this bill unworkable.

The bill is flawed in many other ways. For example, the Legislature ignored the advice of the Attorney General, the Insurance Commissioner, and others who repeatedly testified that the Insurance Fraud Branch could not pursue Motor Vehicle Insurance Fraud unless the Branch was moved to the General Powers section of the Insurance Code. The Legislature failed to make this important technical correction. Furthermore, the bill provides no resources, i.e., funding or positions, for the Insurance Commissioner to pursue the additional workload of investigating these workers' compensation matters. The Insurance Commissioner is mandated to pursue this area of fraud without additional resources.

We proposed real solutions to the real problems facing our workers and businesses in Hawaii. The Administration's Comprehensive Workers Compensation Reform Bill provided for a more efficient system, reducing costs for businesses while at the same time providing workers with the care they need. Additionally, our Anti-Fraud Bill provided the tools to effectively combat fraud and to pursue those who don't play by the rules. We all would benefit as a result.

We need to insist that our legislators work with us to provide real solutions, pay attention to the details to make laws that will really work, and listen to the people who take time from their jobs, businesses, and families to testify in support of those real solutions.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 1374 without my approval.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 1743

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1743, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Light Pollution.'

The purpose of this bill is to protect avian and marine life by prohibiting within special management areas artificial lights that are 'positioned toward or directly illuminate ocean waters,' unless those lights are authorized and required for public safety or safe ocean navigation, or are located in a hotel/hotel-condo and under water or directed downward illuminating a limited area of no more than thirty feet into ocean water.

While the intent to protect Hawaii's marine and bird life is laudable, the substantive provisions of this bill are objectionable, because they are vague and rely on determinations that will be subjective. For example, the determination as to whether an artificial light source is positioned towards or directly illuminating ocean waters is highly subjective. Enforcement of this statute would likely be difficult and inconsistent due to one person's interpretation of the phrase differing from another's. Similarly, the phrase 'required for public safety' is open to subjective determinations. Also, the bill speaks of lights that are authorized without indicating what the source of that authorization would be.

This bill is objectionable because of the vagueness of much of its operative language. It fails to distinguish artificial light that is outdoors from that which is indoors in the section entitled prohibitions. Except for the part dealing with hotels/condos, the bill contains no standards concerning distances from shore or brightness of lights. Additionally, its substantive provisions will be amendments to chapter 205A, Hawaii Revised Statute, relating to coastal zone management. As such, alleged failures of state and county agencies to enforce these provisions would allow civil actions to be brought against such agencies pursuant to section 205A-6. Because certain terms of the bill are, as noted, seriously imprecise, it would not be fair to subject agencies to civil lawsuits alleging failure to enforce those provisions. For example, the prohibition of artificial lighting exists anywhere within a special management area so long as the light is 'positioned toward' ocean waters. Because of the large size of some shoreline management areas, an artificial light source could be significantly removed from the immediate shoreline and still arguably be 'positioned toward' ocean waters, at least in the view of some.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 1743 without my approval.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 1774

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1774, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Unemployment Benefits.'

The purpose of this bill is to amend section 383-23, Hawaii Revised Statute, to allow unemployment insurance claimants to receive their entire weekly unemployment insurance benefit amount although they are employed and earning wages. Specifically, the bill permits an individual to retain their weekly unemployment insurance benefit and add it to their weekly earnings if they work part-time and their earnings are less than their weekly unemployment insurance benefit. Additionally, the bill provides, if necessary, additional money may be allocated from the federal Reed Act funds and used for the payment of expenses incurred for the administration of unemployment benefits.

This bill is objectionable because the unemployment compensation system was established to provide jobless workers with a means of getting through a temporary period of unemployment and not to make individuals 'whole' by replacing 100 percent or more of their prior income with unemployment benefits plus part-time wages.

This bill also is objectionable because it would apply retroactively to weeks beginning January 1, 2004, and cost approximately $670,000 per month in benefits expended from the unemployment compensation trust fund, or a six percent increase from current levels. By permanently drawing from trust fund reserves, this bill would deplete the unemployment compensation trust fund reserves to below statutorily defined reserve levels, thus triggering an increase in the unemployment insurance tax rate for 2005 and beyond.

Additionally, the measure would create an incentive to work just enough hours so that a person's earnings are slightly less than their weekly benefit. This runs counter to the underlying philosophy of the unemployment insurance system to provide a bridge between periods of work that allows a person to meet their basic expenses while they seek new employment.

Further, the bill's own language acknowledges that the legislation may be in violation of federal statutes in that it would allow the use of federal Reed Act funds to supplement the cost of this measure. The bill acknowledges that its provisions could jeopardize the receipt of Reed Act federal funds and directs the Governor to 'revise any such provision' and report back to the Legislature next session. I believe it is the Legislature's obligation to draft laws that do not potentially jeopardize federal funding and that it would be unwise to sign a bill that knowingly does so.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 1774 without my approval.

This bill directs the Board of Land and Natural Resources and other appropriate state agencies to enter into land exchange negotiations with the George Galbraith Trust for lands situated north of Wahiawa, Oahu.

This bill is objectionable because section 2 of this bill appears to violate Section 5 of Article XI of the Hawaii Constitution, which in pertinent part provides: 'The legislative power over the lands owned by or under the control of the State ... shall be exercised only by general laws[.]' The constitutional history of Section 5 of Article XI indicates that exchanges of public lands for private lands were the precise concerns that led to the adoption of this constitutional prohibition. Consequently, this bill, directing the Board of Land and Natural Resources and other appropriate state agencies to acquire specified private lands by means of exchange of public lands, appears to be the kind of special law prohibited under Section 5 of Article XI.

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1919, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Public Employees.'

This bill amends provisions relating to compensation and benefit adjustments for excluded managerial civil service employees. The bill provides that, in formulating recommendations to the appropriate authority, the respective director shall ensure that proposed adjustments are at least equal to the compensation and benefit packages provided under collective bargaining agreements for counterparts and subordinates within the employer's jurisdiction.

This bill is objectionable and against public policy, because it deletes the statutory reference to adjustments commensurate with performance on the job and instead links the adjustments to benefits obtained by the Unions through negotiation. The bill reverses the legislative intent of the Civil Service Reform Act (Act 253, Session Laws of Hawaii 2000), which sought to improve managerial performance by basing pay raises for excluded managerial personnel on performance on the job and not on length of service. In addition, the bill creates a conflict of interest for excluded managers who participate in pay negotiations, and it is contrary to the underlying rationale for creating excluded employees that are not subject to collective bargaining.

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2025, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Equal Pay.'

The purposes of this bill are to prohibit employers from discriminating against employees in the payment of wages because of gender and to establish a four-year pay equity task force under the Office of the Governor.

This bill is objectionable because state law already prohibits employers, including the State and its political subdivisions, from discriminating on the basis of sex. Section 378-2, Hawaii Revised Statutes, states that it shall be an unlawful discriminatory practice for any employer to discriminate against any individual in compensation or in the terms, conditions, or privileges of employment on the basis of the employee's sex.

Federal law also prohibits employers from discriminating on the basis of gender when it comes to employees' compensation. Specifically, the Equal Pay Act of 1963 requires employers to pay men and women equal pay for equal work within the same establishment. In addition, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, also prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex. In light of these existing laws proscribing discrimination on the basis of gender, this bill is unnecessary.

This bill also creates a four-year pay equity task force. The scope of review for this task force is broad and vague. As it relates to pay equity in public employment, it is unnecessary because compensation is usually tied to the government classification system. Under that system, female employees are paid the same compensation as male employees in the same classification.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2025 without my approval.

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2740, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Notification of Employment Changes.'

The purposes of this bill are to extend the time an employer in a covered establishment subject to chapter 394B, Hawaii Revised Statutes, must give each employee and the Director of Labor and Industrial Relations ('Director') written notification of a closing, partial closing, or relocation from at least sixty days to at least ninety days prior to its occurrence. The bill further requires notification of at least one hundred eighty days to employees who are provided with housing or housing assistance before discontinuance or termination of such housing or housing assistance.

This bill is objectionable because increasing the notification requirement from sixty to ninety days appears to place an unnecessary burden on employers. The Department of Labor reports that the current sixty-day period is sufficient for the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations to carry out its responsibilities in assisting dislocated workers. Further, the current sixty-day notification requirement is consistent with federal law under the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act. Inconsistencies between federal and state law, without good reason, lead to unnecessary confusion both for employers and employees.

In addition, requiring employers to provide each employee written notification one hundred eighty days prior to the discontinuation or termination of housing assistance may discourage employers from offering this type of assistance. Because the housing or housing assistance discontinuation notification requirement is not limited to situations involving the closing, partial closing, or relocation of a business, even an ongoing business will be required to submit a notification.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2740 without my approval.

“EXECUTIVE CHAMBERS

STATEMENT OF OBJECTIONS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 2741

Honorable Members
Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2741, entitled ‘A Bill for an Act Relating to Executive Departments.’

The purpose of this bill is to establish statutory requirements for position justifications and quarterly reporting for deputy director and special assistant positions within the Executive Branch, except those within the Department of Education and the University of Hawaii.

This bill is objectionable for the following reasons:

1. The statutory references to ‘deputy director’ and ‘special assistant’ are defined broadly to include any employee whose position is exempt from chapter 76, Hawaii Revised Statutes, and who has an annual salary that is not less than fifty percent of a department head’s or executive officer’s salary. Under this definition, any exempt employee who earns more than $42,651 could be subject to the requirements of this bill. That amount will increase on July 1, 2004, and will differ from department to department. According to the Department of Human Resources Development, approximately 1,000 exempt positions could be affected by this legislation. Given the significant number of positions involved, and the requirement that quarterly reports be submitted to the Legislature for each position, this will impose an unreasonable and unnecessary administrative burden on Executive Branch personnel.

Some departments will be more significantly impacted than others. For example, in the Department of the Attorney General, all deputy attorney general and child support enforcement hearings officer positions and some non-lawyer professional positions are positions exempt from the civil service positions, most of which are held by incumbents who earn more than $42,651. To require the Attorney General to file position justification requirements for each of these deputies, hearings officers, and non-lawyer professionals and to submit quarterly reports to the Legislature will be unduly burdensome. The bill would also unduly burden certain departments such as the Department of Health where exempt positions have been added as a result of specific legal requirements, such as the Felix Decree and the Makin Settlement.

2. The bill infringes on the Executive Branch’s ability to manage its workforce. The requirement for quarterly reports on 1,000 positions appears to constitute unnecessary micromanaging by the Legislature. Further, the bill does not do what it purports in addressing transparency concerns. Approximately 9% of all positions would be addressed in this issue, leaving 91% of the government position untouched by its transparency provisions. Furthermore the Department of Human Resources Development already prepares an annual report on appointed positions within the State Government. Thus the 9% of all positions addressed in this bill already are subject to transparency reporting requirements.

3. The bill does not impose the same reporting and justification requirements for civil service positions and other exempt positions within the Executive Branch and therefore appears to be arbitrary and capricious.

4. Finally Section 2 of the bill may impose an illegal transfer of monies. Section 2 says that ‘all unexpended funds relating to the funding of the abolished positions shall lapse to the credit of the general fund.’ Some of these exempt positions are paid for out of special funds including Federal funds. Thus the transfer mandate by this section of the bill could constitute an illegal transfer of federal money from a special fund to the state’s general fund. This provision is troublesome and could jeopardize the State of Hawaii eligibility for future Federal funding.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2741 without my approval.

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2786, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Arbitration.'

The purpose of this bill is to amend section 431:10-242, Hawaii Revised Statutes, to require that a policyholder, a beneficiary, or a person acquiring the rights of a policyholder or beneficiary be awarded attorney's fees and costs when an arbitrator or arbitration panel orders an insurer, who contested liability, to pay benefits under the policy.

This bill is objectionable because it would encourage litigation, especially in what are now relatively uncomplicated uninsured and underinsured motorist (UM and UIM) disputes and arbitrations, and would unfairly require that attorney's fees and costs be imposed on the insurer in every case in which an award is made, even if the demand on the insurer greatly exceeded the amount actually awarded.

As passed, language has been added to the original bill that expressly requires the awarding of attorney's fees and costs to a beneficiary or policyholder who successfully establishes an insurer's liability under an insurance policy in arbitration proceedings when the insurer has 'contested its liability under a policy.' This mandate would encourage a claimant to demand policy limits in every UM and UIM case, knowing that even if only a part of that limit is finally awarded, the claimant's attorney's fees and costs would be mandatorily imposed upon the insurer. The result would discourage reasonable and good faith efforts to compromise and settle claims, and would ultimately increase the cost of insurance to consumers.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2786 without my approval.

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2859, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to the Development of an International Equestrian Facility.'

The purpose of this bill is to require the Governor to convene a working group to study the feasibility of establishing a multi-purpose international equestrian facility. This working group would contain both public and private sector members, with the department of business, economic development, and tourism providing staff and support. The working group will consider potential sites, appropriate forms of funding, estimates of costs and job creation, and extent of community support. The working group must report its findings no later than twenty days before the convening of the regular legislative session 2005.

The bill is objectionable for three reasons. First, this is the type of issue that should be handled via a concurrent resolution rather than be codified as a law. The implication is that this working group would be temporary, yet there is no sunset date for the legislation.

Second, this bill is objectionable because it requires state resources to provide staff and support for the working group to conduct a study for a facility that is more appropriately researched and developed by the private sector. Third, the bill calls for an extensive market analysis and detailed business plan, but provides no funding to do the work. It is inappropriate to require a study of the depth required by this bill without appropriating the funding necessary.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2859 without my approval.

Twenty-Second Legislature
State of Hawaii

Pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 2911, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Charter Schools.'

The purpose of House Bill No. 2911 is to improve accountability for charter schools by amending section 302A-1184 (exemptions relating to new century charter schools), Hawaii Revised Statutes, to expressly subject them to (i) state land use laws and county laws, codes, and rules governing land use and public health and safety; and (ii) audit and inspection by the charter school administrative office.

Even though the Legislature created charter schools to 'free [them] from statutory and regulatory requirements that tend to inhibit or restrict [their] ability to make decisions relating to the provision of educational services,' 'nurture the ideal of more autonomous and flexible decision-making at the school level,' and 'define[] a new approach to education that is free of bureaucratic red tape and accomdat[es] the individual needs of students, see Section 1, Act 62, Haw. Sess. Laws 77 (1999), since their creation, charter schools have had to struggle under laws that are unclear, incomplete, uncoordinated, and sometimes so oblique as to be unreasonable.

The confused state of the law has resulted in inadequate funding that is disbursed late. Few, if any laws have been enacted to give charter schools access to state material, equipment, and expertise that other state agencies enjoy. In fact, charter schools' access to state resources has been minimal. They have had no opportunity to benefit from economies of scale, or the State's centralized processing systems. Instead, expenditures that charter schools should not have had to make, have had to be made – already stretched operating dollars have had to be used to pay for capital improvements, repair and maintenance, and many other expenses that individually state agencies ordinarily do not have to bear.

Questions and challenges have unnecessarily distracted the charter schools from fulfilling their purpose of providing alternative learning opportunities for the children of our community. Uncertainty has spawned litigation, and distracted several charter schools from implementing the Legislature's initial vision.

This bill does very little to relieve the inherent confusion and unfairness charter schools endure. The Attorney General has already advised that all state agencies, including public charter schools, are subject to the State's land use laws. There is already more than ample authority for the Board of Education, the Comptroller, and the Auditor to audit the accounts and operations of new century public charter schools.

Most distressingly, the bill compounds the unfairness charter schools already suffer by singling charter schools out from all other state agencies and subjecting them to county zoning ordinances with which other state agencies need not comply.

Charter schools deserve the Legislature's undivided attention. Without a comprehensive and coordinated overhaul of our charter schools laws, charter schools stand little chance of achieving their full potential.

For the foregoing reasons, I am returning House Bill No. 2911 without my approval.

Respectfully,

/s/ Linda Lingle

Senate Bill No. 214 as Act 225, entitled: "RELATING TO WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: Senate Bill No. 214, S.D. 3, H.D. 2, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, Senate Bill No. 214, entitled 'Relating to Workforce Development' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

This bill authorizes Leeward Community College to develop a program to provide services to Freely Associated States (FAS) students, as well as to the Micronesian, Marshallese, and Palauan communities at large, to ensure their success in school through cultural education, language, employment, training, and legal services.

I support the general intent of this bill to establish a program to provide training for Micronesian, Marshallese, and Palauan immigrants in Hawaii to assist them in becoming productive, gainfully employed members of our community.

I have concerns regarding this bill because it prohibits the University of Hawaii from using general funds to finance the program and specifies that this exact program must be conducted at Leeward Community College. The funds restriction conflicts with the fiscal autonomy given to the University and the mandated program conflicts with the operational autonomy usually afforded the University. In addition, the bill sets forth broad ranging responsibilities without a secure funding stream, making it difficult for the University to assure success.

Therefore, I allowed Senate Bill No. 214, S.D. 3, H.D. 2, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 225, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

Sincerely,

Senate Bill No. 2716 as Act 226, entitled: "RELATING TO EDUCATION."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: Senate Bill No. 2716, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, Senate Bill No. 2716, entitled 'Relating to Education' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

This bill establishes a higher education statutory analysis interim study group to review existing state laws and recommend which statutes may be consolidated, amended, or repealed. I support the general intent of this bill to improve the organizational framework of the State's higher educational statutes and, therefore, allowed the bill to become law.

However, I did not sign the bill because I am concerned that this bill's mandate comes at a time when the University is dealing with other pressing issues. Convening a study group that includes the University's president or his designee is not the best use of the University's limited resources given the many other important issues facing the University, including addressing maintenance needs of the existing infrastructure, the demand for adequate student housing and necessary courses, and updating the University's financial plan. Furthermore, the bill provides no resources for conducting the study and requires that the work be completed prior to the start of the next legislative session. There is current statutory authority for the University to undertake this work at a later date, making this measure unnecessary. Finally, the composition of the study group fails to include representation from the Executive Branch even though its work could have significant implications on executive branch operations.

Therefore, I allowed Senate Bill No. 2716, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 226, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

Sincerely,

House Bill No. 1987 as Act 227, entitled: "RELATING TO MOTOR VEHICLES."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: House Bill No. 1987, H.D. 1, S.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, House Bill No. 1987, entitled 'Relating to Motor Vehicles' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

House Bill No. 1987 amends section 291-21.5, Hawaii Revised Statutes, by increasing fines for owners and sun screening device installers who violate the motor vehicle sun screening device law. The bill also requires the installer to issue a certificate of compliance to the vehicle owner at the time of installation and the certificate must be stored in the vehicle. Furthermore, the certificate of the installer would be prima facie evidence of the identity of the installer and aid law enforcement in the prosecution of businesses installing illegal sun screening devices.

This bill also requires the installer to reinstall, free of charge, a sun screening device that complies with section 291-21.5 or reimburse the owner for the cost of reinstallation. When the installer is a commercial business, there appears to be a federal preemption problem with the bill. Installers that are commercial businesses are subject to the Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards, which prohibit a manufacturer, distributor, dealer, or vehicle repair business from applying a glazing material that is darker than the federal standard of seventy percent light transmittance level. Section 291-21.5(d)(7) and (8), Hawaii Revised Statutes, permits the installation of darker sun screening devices that have a light transmittance of only thirty-five percent.

Consequently, this bill, while making changes that will benefit law enforcement, will also compound a pre-existing preemption problem. Additionally, the law appears to prevent the prosecution of the operator of the motor vehicle and instead prosecutes the owner, which is frequently a bank or finance company.

My recommendation is that a bill should be introduced in the next legislative session to eliminate the inconsistency with the federal requirements and address the issue of who should be prosecuted for violations.

Therefore, I allowed House Bill No. 1987, H.D. 1, S.D. 1 to become law as Act 227, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

House Bill No. 1860 as Act 228, entitled: "RELATING TO CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: House Bill No. 1860, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, House Bill No. 1860, entitled 'Relating to Child Abuse and Neglect' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

The purpose of this bill is laudable in that it attempts to provide additional revenue to enhance services for the prevention and intervention of domestic violence and child abuse, as well as to increase community awareness of the problem, by allowing taxpayers to designate $5 of state income tax refunds to be paid into various funds.

Unfortunately, I must object to the administrative burdens and policy concern that would result from this well-intended bill. There is no equivalent voluntary designation for federal income tax purposes. This goes contrary to good tax practices of conforming state returns to federal standards, thereby simplifying and streamlining compliance with tax laws.

Under the current statute, check-off provisions are required to be in the income tax return form itself, as opposed to a separate schedule. The income tax return form already contains three other check-off provisions. There is currently no space on the income tax return form to include another check-off provision. Thus, this bill will require the revision of the individual state income tax return form and instructions.

Not only will this bill require the revision of the income tax return forms and instructions, it will also affect the tax return processing and computerized systems. The costs of processing the tax returns as well as the potential for processing errors will increase. The Department of Taxation's computer system will likely have to be reprogrammed.

The amount the bill will actually generate is difficult to predict. Further, based upon experience with existing check-off provisions, participation wanes over time and the small amounts collected usually do not justify the costs necessary to implement this bill. Additionally, this bill reinforces the precedent that organizations seek direct tax funding rather than be reviewed and evaluated in the context of the annual budgeting process. Moneys provided by a check-off system bypass the normal budget process and are difficult to incorporate into the State's six-year financial plan.

Therefore, I allowed House Bill No. 1860, H.D. 1, S.D. 2, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 228, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

Sincerely,

Gov. Msg. No. 760, informing the Senate that on July 13, 2004, she permitted the following measure to become law without her signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution, which reads as follows:

House Bill No. 2662 as Act 229, entitled: "RELATING TO ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: House Bill No. 2662, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, House Bill No. 2662, entitled 'Relating to Economic Development' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

This bill appropriates $100,000 out of the State's general fund for fiscal year 2004-2005 to provide loans to assist new and existing businesses threatened by military base closures and realignments that encounter difficulty when seeking assistance through private or conventional lenders. The funds appropriated are to be expended by the Department of Business, Economic Development, and Tourism.

I support the general intent to encourage a healthy business climate in Hawaii. However, the intent of this specific bill is unclear. The bill in its original form provided funding to develop infrastructure for communities near military bases. The bill as re-written authorizes loans to assist businesses to 'develop infrastructure' but does not define this term. Normally infrastructure refers to roads, sewer systems, and public facilities, such as schools. An appropriation of $100,000 would not be adequate to cover most, if any 'infrastructure' type projects. Even if the monies were for general business assistance, the amounts are not substantial enough to provide major relief to businesses that may be experiencing difficulties.

Secondly, this bill is yet another example of appropriations by the Legislature approved outside of the normal budget process. These expenditures have not been factored into the State's financial plan and have not been weighed against other State priorities and the general fund expenditure ceiling.

Therefore, I allowed House Bill No. 2662, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 229, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

House Bill No. 2292 as Act 230, entitled: "RELATING TO FEES FOR ELECTRONIC FILING, SIGNING, SERVING, CERTIFICATION, AND VERIFICATION OF COURT DOCUMENTS."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: House Bill No. 2292, H.D. 1, S.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, House Bill No. 2292, entitled 'Relating to Fees for Electronic Filing, Signing, Serving, Certification, and Verification of Court Documents' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

This bill establishes that the State Supreme Court shall have the power to prescribe by rule, fees for electronic filing, signing, serving, certification, and verification of documents, and that those fees shall be deposited into the judiciary computer system special fund.

I support the general intent of this bill to provide funding for upgrading the judiciary information management system project to allow more efficient processing of documents through the judicial system. I have, however, a concern regarding this bill. The deposit of these new fees into the judiciary computer system special fund diverts funds that should, and would normally, be deposited into the State's general fund. This special fund already receives fees for traffic abstracts and fees for civil filings. I believe that funds to upgrade the judiciary's computer system should be appropriated through the normal budget process, subject to other State priorities, and the general fund expenditure ceiling. We must not allow this bill to be used as an unfortunate precedent for future removal of more funds from the normal budget review process.

Therefore, I allowed House Bill No. 2292, H.D. 1, S.D. 1 to become law as Act 230, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: House Bill No. 2294

On July 13, 2004, House Bill No. 2294, entitled 'Relating to Fees for Administrative Costs in Traffic Cases' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

This bill increases the administration fees in certain traffic cases and requires that these new, additional fees shall be deposited into the judiciary computer system special fund.

I support the general intent of this bill to provide funding for upgrading the judiciary information management system project to allow more efficient processing of documents through the judicial system. I have, however, a concern regarding this bill. The special fund already receives fees for traffic abstracts, and recently new fees for civil filings were established that are also to be deposited into the special fund.

This bill doubles certain administrative fees, thus increasing even further the fiscal burdens on Hawaii's taxpayers. If the Judiciary finds that additional funds are required for their system upgrades, then current and planned expenditure levels should be re-examined, and, if necessary, funds should be appropriated through the normal budget process, subject to other State priorities and the general fund expenditure ceiling.

Therefore, I allowed House Bill No. 2294 to become law as Act 231, effective July 14, 2004, without my signature.

Gov. Msg. No. 763, informing the Senate that on July 13, 2004, she permitted the following measure to become law without her signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution, which reads as follows:

House Bill No. 2814 as Act 232, entitled: "RELATING TO KALAUPAPA SETTLEMENT."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: House Bill No. 2814, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, House Bill No. 2814, entitled 'Relating to Kalaupapa Settlement' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

The purpose of this bill is to require the Department of Health to report annually to the Legislature on its efforts to improve conditions for Kalaupapa residents. The report is to discuss improvement in addressing medical and other needs, improvement in the living environment, management of state resources including benefits given to employees, stewardship of State property, development of policies for the Kalaupapa store, establishment of a complaint system, the performance of the Kalaupapa administrator, and justification for employee air travel and trail pay. The bill also requires separate tracking of patient and nonpatient costs.

This bill raises three concerns. First, the Department of Health has already agreed to make the operational improvements required by this bill and, in fact, had begun implementing many of the recommended changes in 2003. The department expects that many of the improvements will have been addressed by the next legislative session or within the next two years. To require the department to report on these matters on a permanent basis is unnecessary and inappropriate. We encourage the Legislature to sunset this measure after corrective actions are taken.

Second, the bill impinges on the responsibilities of the State as an employer. Employee performance reports and approval of employee air travel requests are the responsibility of the employing agency within the Executive Branch. While the Legislature has the authority to ask for this kind of information, it is inappropriate to require annual reports on these matters.

Third, the bill requires separate tracking of patient and nonpatient costs. The Department of Health testified throughout the legislative session that the department is unable at this time to separate patient and employee utility costs such as electricity, phone, and water. Without the ability to produce this kind of reporting, it is inappropriate for the Legislature to mandate the Department of Health to produce a report they are incapable of generating. At best, the department will have to provide pro-rata estimates.

Therefore, I allowed House Bill No. 2814, H.D. 2, S.D. 1, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 232, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature. As stated above, we recommend legislation to sunset this measure as soon as the concerns raised in this bill have been properly and fully addressed.

Sincerely,

/s/ Linda Lingle

Senate Bill No. 2404 as Act 233, entitled: "MAKING AN APPROPRIATION FOR EXPENSES OF THE 2005 NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COUNTIES MEETING IN HONOLULU."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: Senate Bill No. 2404, S.D. 2, H.D. 1, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, Senate Bill No. 2404, entitled 'Making an Appropriation for Expenses of the 2005 National Association of Counties Meeting in Honolulu,' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

This bill appropriates $50,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary for fiscal year 2004-2005 for the City and County of Honolulu to host the 2005 National Association of Counties Annual Conference and Exposition. The State funds will be matched by the City and County of Honolulu on a dollar-for-dollar basis, according to the bill. The legislation also provides that the City and County of Honolulu shall be the expending entity for the State-appropriated monies.

I support the general intent of this bill to encourage the counties to attract businesses, meetings, and conventions to our state as a means of achieving increased visitor exposure and spending. However, I have several concerns with this bill and the precedent it may set. First, the bill makes an appropriation from the State's general fund, the source of capital that is reserved primarily for operations of the State. Further, this measure gives the County of Honolulu sole authority for expending these State monies. The counties have a variety of sources of funding for local events and those should be exhausted prior to seeking funding from the State.

Additionally, the appropriation was not considered in the State budget prioritizing process and, therefore, was approved by the Legislature outside of the normal budget cycle and was not considered under the annual appropriations review for inclusion in the State's six-year financial plan.

Therefore, I allowed Senate Bill No. 2404, S.D. 2, H.D. 1, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 233, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

House Bill No. 1765 as Act 234, entitled: "RELATING TO GOVERNMENT BOARDS, COMMISSIONS, AND AGENCIES."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: House Bill No. 1765, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, House Bill No. 1765, entitled 'A Bill for an Act Relating to Government Boards, Commissions, and Agencies,' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

This bill requires the term of a member of certain boards, commissions, or agencies to expire upon the failure of the member, without valid excuse, to attend three consecutive meetings and where, due to the member's absence, the board failed to have a quorum and thus could not conduct its business. The bill allows the board chair or the chair's designee to determine if the board member had a valid excuse for the absence.

I support the general intent of this bill to encourage individuals who have agreed to serve as board members to take their board membership seriously by attending the board's meetings. However, I have several concerns that are raised, but not answered, by the bill. The bill does not provide standards for deciding what is an excusable absence. It leaves that determination entirely to the discretion of the board chair or the chair's designee. As a consequence, this bill may be unevenly applied to the various boards and commissions that conduct the State's business.

Moreover, the bill does not provide a mechanism or process for notifying the board member that the member's appointment is in jeopardy or has expired, nor does it provide mechanism for notifying the Governor of a vacancy in a timely manner. Finally, I am concerned as to the effectiveness of the bill. If the purpose is to encourage attendance at board meetings, then it should not be relevant whether the three consecutive absences result in lack of a quorum. Three consecutive absences may indicate a lack of interest on the member's part, even if the board is able to conduct its business in the member's absence.

Therefore, I allowed House Bill No. 1765, H.D. 1, S.D. 1, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 234, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

Re: House Bill No. 2181, H.D. 2

On July 13, 2004, House Bill No. 2181, entitled 'Relating to Housing Financing Programs' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

The purpose of this bill is to allow the Housing and Community Development Corporation of Hawaii ('HCDCH') to issue bonds for any program whose primary purpose is to provide housing for active or retired United States military personnel and their families. Also, this bill limits the amount of such bond issuances to $2,000,000,000.

This bill is objectionable because this bill does not constitute a legislative authorization for HCDCH to issue $2,000,000,000 in housing revenue bonds for military housing projects. In Standing Committee Report No. 733-04, the House Committee on Finance specifically pointed out that the $2,000,000,000 amount is not an authorization to issue bonds but a cap on the amount of housing revenue bonds that can be issued for military housing projects. As such, this increase has no actual effect to the amount of bonds that may be issued by HCDCH.

Therefore, I allowed House Bill No. 2181, H.D. 2 to become law as Act 235, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: Senate Bill No. 3230, S.D. 2, H.D. 1, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, Senate Bill No. 3230, entitled 'Relating to Early Childhood Care,' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

The purpose of this bill is to appropriate $200,000 to the Department of Human Services to establish a pilot project in East Hawaii to provide early childhood care services for children under age five and their families in critical need areas as determined by the department.

This bill is questionable because the proposed pilot project is based on Hui Imua O Koolauloa, a program that has been in operation utilizing a multi-year federal fund grant at a cost of about $400,000 to $500,000 a year. The intent of the Legislature was to establish a similar program using State funds but only appropriates $200,000 for the pilot project and then prohibits the use of those funds for planning, studies, or other strategic functions such as coordination. Further, the bill fails to provide monies for the administrative costs of operating this program, thus creating a situation where the Department of Human Services may have to divert other departmental funds to cover the administration and management of this project. Also, the Legislature has failed to demonstrate how the State would find the funds to sustain this program on a permanent, statewide basis.

While the objectives of enriching early childhood care have merit, the use of general funds for a pilot project that has the potential to expand future program requirements without realizing the potential cost impact is not prudent. Given the State's current fiscal situation, the State must exercise sound fiscal discipline and give priority to those State programs already in operation, rather than implement new programs that the State will be unable to sustain.

Therefore, I allowed Senate Bill 3230, S.D. 2, H.D. 1, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 237, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

On July 13, 2004, Senate Bill No. 3153, entitled 'Making an Appropriation for Bioremediation Research,' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

Senate Bill No. 3153 appropriates funds in the amount of $250,000 for fiscal year 2004-2005 to be expended by the Research Corporation of the University of Hawaii for a pilot project on soil renutrition research on former pineapple lands in West Maui to be conducted by Maui Ag Partners. The program is to be coordinated by the Pacific Cooperative Studies Unit of the College of Tropical Agriculture and Human Resources at the University of Hawaii, provided that the appropriated amount shall be matched by non-State funds through Maui Ag Partners.

While soil renutrition may have public benefits, this bill raises concerns because it redirects State taxpayer monies to the benefit of a single private entity. This entity, Maui Land and Pineapple Company, is partially owned by individuals with high net worth who have the financial means to undertake the research proposed in the bill.

Further, this bill appropriates $250,000 outside of the normal budget process, thereby bypassing the checks and balances that occur during the appropriations discussions. Additionally, such a large appropriation raises fiscal concerns on the potential adverse impact this expenditure may have on other State spending priorities.

Therefore, I allowed Senate Bill No. 3153, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 238, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

Gov. Msg. No. 770, informing the Senate that on July 13, 2004, she permitted the following measure to become law without her signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution, which reads as follows:

House Bill No. 2798 as Act 239, entitled: "RELATING TO THE PRACTICE OF PHARMACY."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: House Bill No. 2798, H.D. 1, S.D. 2

On July 13, 2004, House Bill No. 2798, entitled 'Relating to the Practice of Pharmacy,' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

The purpose of this bill is to allow pharmacists to administer drugs by intranasal delivery and vaccines orally and by intranasal delivery. Under the current law, a properly trained pharmacist is authorized to administer drugs both orally or by injection and vaccinations by injection, but is not authorized to administer drugs or vaccinations by intranasal delivery.

I am concerned with allowing pharmacists to engage in the intranasal vaccination of clients without the individual's medical doctor prescribing the medication. Live attenuated influenza virus (LAIV) vaccines are relatively new and can be considered volatile.

The administration of such a product could serve public health goals by providing an alternative to inactivated vaccines for appropriate persons. However, the use of live virus vaccine requires selection of appropriate patients based on age, health status, and the health status of close contacts as stipulated in the prescribing information. House Bill No. 2798 could have been strengthened in specifying appropriate safeguards to assure patient safety.

I believe the Centers for Disease Control makes a sound recommendation in advising that the use of LAIV vaccine involve the patient's physician before administering the vaccine, at least for the time being. Thus, we would encourage pharmacists to work closely with the medical community as they undertake this new responsibility.

Therefore, I allowed House Bill No. 2798, H.D. 1, S.D. 2 to become law as Act 239, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature.

Sincerely,

/s/ Linda Lingle

Gov. Msg. No. 772, informing the Senate that on July 13, 2004, she permitted the following measure to become law without her signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution, which reads as follows:

Senate Bill No. 1611 as Act 241, entitled: "RELATING TO THE DEPOSIT BEVERAGE CONTAINER PROGRAM."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: Senate Bill No. 1611, H.D. 2, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, Senate Bill No. 1611, entitled 'Relating to Deposit Beverage Container Program' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

The purpose of this bill is to amend Chapter 342G, Hawaii Revised Statutes, Integrated Solid Waste Management, Part VIII, Deposit Beverage Container Program. This bill makes substantive amendments to the Deposit Beverage Container Program. These amendments, or adjustments, are necessary to alleviate some of the obstacles to implementing the law. Among other things, this bill will exempt distributors who annually import or manufacture less than 100,000 deposit beverage containers per year from the onerous monthly reporting requirement currently mandated for all distributors. Small businesses will now have to submit reports to the department on a semi-annual basis and this will somewhat ease the burden on small businesses to comply with the law. Senate Bill No. 1611 extends the deadline for dealers to operate a redemption center at their place of business to July 1, 2005. This bill removes the requirement that redemption centers and reverse vending machines must crush or destroy all beverage containers and remove the quarterly reporting requirement for redemption centers. Simplifying the redemption process makes the program more convenient for consumers. Extending the timeline for retailers to comply with establishing redemption centers and relieving businesses of cumbersome reporting will make the program less burdensome for businesses. Senate Bill No. 1611 also clarifies requirements regarding labeling. These amendments increase the probability that deposit containers will be labeled properly by January 1, 2005. The Department of Health is required to provide sticker labels to businesses unable to comply with the labeling requirements before the deadline.

This bill raises four concerns. The first concern involves various deposit deadlines. The bill requires distributors to begin charging dealers and customers a deposit equal to the refund value of the container 'by January 1, 2005,' [emphasis added]. Then the bill clarifies that the Department of Health 'may,' [emphasis added] allow dealers to begin charging customers the refund value 'beginning November 1, 2004,' [emphasis added] and requires the dealer to inform the customer that the deposits paid by the customer prior to January 1, 2005 shall not be redeemable until January 1, 2005. These dates raise two concerns. A distributor may charge dealers the deposit before November 1, 2004. However, the Dealer will not be able to charge the consumer that deposit amount until November 1, 2004 at the earliest. Thus, dealers may bear the five cents per container cost for several months without being able to pass along this cost to the consumer.

Additionally, once dealers are allowed to charge consumers the deposit cost after November 1, 2004, the consumer cannot take the containers to redemption center to receive a refund until after January 1, 2005. The consumer must hold the beverage containers for at least two months before obtaining the deposit refund. Since the customers are responsible for returning and obtaining the refund on the container, by not allowing the redemption for two months, the measure actually is a disincentive for consumers to recycle and redeem beverage containers. It would have been more prudent to operate and fund a consumer-friendly program that encourages and supports voluntary participation by the people of Hawaii, while not placing the weight of responsibility on businesses to ensure the success of the program.

Second, the bill specifies that accumulated funds in the Deposit Beverage Container Deposit Special Fund shall be retained in the fund unless determined by the auditor to be in excess. The bill requires the auditor to conduct management and financial audits of the fund in fiscal years 2005 and 2006 and every even numbered fiscal year thereafter. This action runs contrary to the Legislature's customary practice of determining excess amounts in special funds every year and lapsing the surplus aggregate to the general fund to balance their budget, regardless of auditor review. It is unclear whether the Legislature's intent is to maintain the solvency of the fund or to restrain my Administration from any flexibility in the use of the fund to implement the Deposit Beverage Container Program and ensure rational budgeting practices.

Third, the bill specifies procedures to be used by the Department of Health to implement and administer the Deposit Beverage Container Program and clarifies that the procedures are to be treated as rules of the department. While I have been advised that it is within the authority of the Legislature to incorporate proposed draft administrative rules into statute, it is extremely unusual and sets a disconcerting precedent. I recognize that this bill calls for the repeal of these administrative rules on March 1, 2005. However, Chapter 91, Hawaii Revised Statutes, Administrative Directive 99-02, and my October 10, 2003 memo to the Small Business Regulatory Review Board together form a comprehensive review process for proposed administrative rules that is transparent to the public and takes into consideration the impact of administrative rules on small business. All three of these steps were circumvented by the Legislature with the incorporation of administrative rules into this bill. The rules were placed into Senate Bill No. 1611 in the conference committee without community input and without a single public hearing.

Fourth, within the administrative rules included in this bill are penalties for non-compliance with the program. These penalties include up to a $10,000 fine for each separate offense per day and allows for administrative, civil, or criminal actions to be taken in addition to the fines. The Deposit Beverage Container Program currently in law does not include any penalty provisions. These penalty provisions were placed into Senate Bill No. 1611 during the conference committee and were not discussed in the Legislature's public hearings prior to the passage of the final conference draft. Thus, community input on this rule was not gathered in a public hearing.

While I support efforts to engage our community in meaningful recycling efforts, a limited scope recycling program that addresses only 2% of Hawaii's solid waste while costing $30 million in the first year of implementation will not make the difference Hawaii needs to reduce and eliminate litter. This single-purpose recycling program will only address beverage containers. A comprehensive statewide recycling program that addresses all forms of solid waste materials is a more competent course of action that will yield tangible results. The Legislature has the opportunity to consider statewide recycling programs in the next legislative session. In the meantime, this bill addresses some of the beverage industries' and Department of Health's concerns regarding the implementation of the existing Deposit Beverage Container Program.

Therefore, I allowed Senate Bill No. 1611, H.D. 2, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 241, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature. While this bill is not the comprehensive recycling program I would prefer, the alternative would be to let Act 176, Session Laws Hawaii, 2002 take effect unamended. Act 176, as currently written, has numerous flaws and obstacles that had to be addressed before implementation could occur. This bill will address some of those flaws.

Gov. Msg. No. 773, informing the Senate that on July 13, 2004, she permitted the following measure to become law without her signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution, which reads as follows:

Senate Bill No. 3193 as Act 242, entitled: "RELATING TO CONSUMERS."

"Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Re: Senate Bill No. 3193, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1

On July 13, 2004, Senate Bill No. 3193, entitled 'Relating to Consumers' became law without my signature, pursuant to Section 16 of Article III of the State Constitution.

The main purposes of this bill are: (1) repeal the maximum pre-tax gasoline retail price cap originally enacted by Act 77, Session Laws of Hawaii 2002; (2) revise the formula for calculating the maximum pre-tax wholesale price cap and extend its applicability to all grades of gasoline; (3) change the implementation date for the maximum pre-tax wholesale price cap from July 1, 2004 to September 1, 2005; and (4) establish a legislative task force to investigate the petroleum industry and its operations on the neighbor islands.

In section 1 of Senate Bill No. 3193, the Legislature stated that, since the passage of Act 77, it has found that there is competition at the retail level. The Legislature stated that it also found that the problem of high gasoline prices is principally due to a lack of vigorous competition in the wholesale market. The Legislature, therefore, determined that revisions to Act 77 were necessary and decided to further delay the implementation of gas caps until September 1, 2005. The fact the Legislature passed a measure that will not take effect for over a year and this replaced a bill enacted in 2002 with a two-year delayed start indicates that even supporters of gas caps were not sure of what they were doing.

The revised price caps contained in this bill could create adverse effects for Hawaii's gasoline consumers. First, the price caps may bring unwanted and unwarranted volatility to the Hawaii market. The bill's price caps are benchmarked to gasoline spot prices in three volatile spot markets, namely the New York, Gulf Coast, and Los Angeles spot markets. These markets also exhibit seasonal pricing changes that have no factual nexus to Hawaii. In effect, the bill links Hawaii to external and unrelated markets.

Second, the new benchmark prices will increase the risk of supply shortages beyond the shortage risks posed by Act 77 price caps. The use of price caps, coupled with the low Location Adjustment Factor of $.04 per gallon for shipping, may provide Hawaii refiners with the motivation to ship all grades of gasoline to the higher value West Coast markets. This motivation could bring serious consequences to the entire state.

Third, wholesale caps alone will not achieve the bill's objective 'to enhance the consumer welfare by fostering the opportunity for prices that reflect and correlate with competitive market conditions.' Even if the wholesale price caps could somehow lower wholesale prices, there is no guarantee that they would 'enhance consumer welfare,' which is presumed to mean lower retail prices. Indeed, it is more likely that integrated wholesale/retail marketers would recoup losses from capped wholesale prices by raising uncapped retail prices in their retail outlets.

Moreover, a common problem with price controls is that the price charged has a strong tendency to be at the price cap, even if costs are falling. The phenomenon occurs in order to make up for losses when the caps limit margins. In addition, price caps can legitimize this type of price setting, because the price caps are viewed as an 'implied permission' to price at what government allows.

Fourth, the bill fails to recognize that Hawaii's wholesale gasoline market has a diverse, complicated, and intricate structure. An inaccurately differentiated wholesale price cap could cause major structural market changes. This could mean potential loss of service to small jobbers and re-concentrate the wholesale market, reducing or eliminating improvements in wholesale competition. In addition, the complicated nature of Hawaii's wholesale gasoline market makes it less transparent for purposes of monitoring and enforcing price caps.

The bill's logic, which attributes high gasoline price primarily to a lack of vigorous competition in Hawaii's wholesale market, fails to recognize changes in the market. For example, Aloha Petroleum's import terminal that opened in 1998 spurred wholesale competition in Hawaii. Aloha first imported gasoline and in 2001 used the terminal to leverage a supply agreement with Chevron at or below the import parity price. Increased competition is reflected in new market entrants, most notably Aloha and Costco.

Price controls cannot address the significant challenges Hawaii faces, such as increased crude oil prices buoyed by an unstable Middle East, strong international demand, stagnant local refining capacity, reduced import options, and a variety of national, regional and state environmental specifications that create requirements for specialty petroleum products.

Finally, price caps and the anti-business message they send are likely to discourage investments vital to the fostering and retention of a robust economy in this state. The main benefit of allowing SB 3193 to become law is the fact that this bill postpones the price caps until September 1, 2005.

Therefore, I allowed Senate Bill No. 3193, S.D. 2, H.D. 2, C.D. 1 to become law as Act 242, effective July 13, 2004, without my signature. My Administration will introduce legislation in the next session to repeal this act.

Sincerely,

/s/ Linda Lingle

Rule 21. Meetings of Committees

Meetings, including decision-making sessions, of leadership committees appointed by the President, and Standing Committees shall be public provided that meetings in executive session may be allowed in such exceptional circumstances when committee discussion could unfairly damage the reputation of individuals or where there is a legal question concerning a bill.

A quorum shall be a majority of the membership of the committee.

(2) A favorable vote of a majority of the members present at a decision-making meeting duly constituted with a quorum is required to report a matter out of committee. A member voting "with reservations" shall be counted as a favorable vote.

(3) The presence of a quorum and the final vote of each member who is present at the decision-making meeting of a standing committee shall be recorded by the chair or by a member of the committee designated by the chair. This record shall be attached to and shall be a part of the report of the standing committee.

Rule 23. Public Hearings on Bills

(1) Subject to this rule, the selection and scheduling of a bill for public hearing shall be at the discretion of the chair of the committee having jurisdiction over the bill.

(2) The chair's determination that a bill will have a public hearing shall be final notwithstanding the opposition of a majority of the members of the committee.

(3) At the written request of a majority of the members of the committee, the chair shall schedule a bill for public hearing.

Rule 25. Committees: Factfinding and Content of Reports

If necessary, witnesses shall be summoned or subpoenaed, and everything shall be done to bring all facts pertaining to the matter before the Senate in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 21 of the Hawaii Revised Statutes. The President may exercise such powers authorized under Chapter 21, relating to the issuance of subpoenas, and the President, committee chair and other duly delegated members of the Senate may exercise such powers authorized under Chapter 21 aforesaid, relating to the administering of oaths, and the compelling of witnesses who have been subpoenaed to testify. All committee meetings held on matters referred to it by the Senate shall be open to the public unless otherwise ordered by the Senate or otherwise provided by these Rules.

(2) The report of the committee shall state findings of fact and conclusions based thereon, together with a distinct recommendation as to the disposal of that matter.

(3) A report upon a bill shall state clearly the amendments, if any, proposed. If a substitute bill for one or more referred to the committee shall be reported, such substitute bill shall agree with the subject of the bill or bills referred to the committee.

(4) The committee shall report whenever a majority of the members present at the decision-making meeting duly constituted with a quorum is in favor of reporting the bill or resolution out of the committee. The report, after being made available, for review by the members of the committee, and after subsequent revisions thereto, if any, shall be the final report of the committee. The final report of the committee shall be attested to by the signature of the chair on behalf of the members of the committee. The action of the committee on the bill or resolution or any amendments thereto, if any, and the final vote of each member of the committee recorded by the chair or the chair's designee at a decision-making meeting shall not be changed in the review of the report, unless the change is made at an open decision-making meeting conducted with a quorum of the committee present. The minority of the members present at any decision-making meeting duly constituted with a quorum may report.

Rule 26. Committee of the Whole

(1) The Senate from time to time may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole. Whenever any matter shall be referred to such committee upon the adoption of a motion to that effect, the President shall call some member to take the Chair (unless the Senate shall nominate a chair), which being done, the Senate then shall be in committee.

(2) The Clerk of the Senate shall act as Clerk of the Committee of the Whole without extra compensation, and shall make a careful record of the proceedings, which shall be filed as one of the records of the Senate.

(3) The committee, on motion, may rise and ask leave to sit at any future time.

(4) When a bill shall be referred to the Committee of the Whole, the bill shall be first read throughout by the Clerk, and then again read and debated by sections, leaving the preamble to be the last. All amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported. When a bill is ordered into Committee of the Whole, such order may dispense with the reading of the whole bill before considering it section by section.

(5) In Committee of the Whole, the rules of procedure in the Senate shall be observed except that any member may speak more than once on the same subject, but no person shall speak a second or further time until others desiring to speak shall have had an opportunity, nor shall the motion for the previous question be allowed. All bills shall be introduced under the order of resolutions.

Bills which shall carry over from a regular session in an odd-numbered year to the next regular session shall retain the numbers assigned to them. The Clerk shall keep a record of the status of all bills in possession of the Senate at the end of the odd-numbered year session and shall publish the record of the status of all such bills prior to the convening of the next regular session.

Every bill introduced or reported out of any committee, which amends an existing section or subsection of the Hawaii Revised Statutes or Session Laws of Hawaii, shall set forth the section or subsection in full, and the matter to be deleted shall be enclosed in brackets and stricken and any new matter added to the section or subsection shall be underscored. However, a Supplemental Appropriations Bill need not conform to this rule, nor an amending bill where the intent and effect of the amending bill can be clearly identified and understood without repeating the entire section or subsection, in which case only the paragraphs, subparagraphs, clauses or items to be amended need be set forth as the President may allow. The President may allow additional exceptions to this rule.

Co-sponsors may be added to bills up until the bill introduction deadline and with the consent of the primary sponsor.

(2) If the question to reject be negative, the bill shall go to its second reading without question.

Upon the final passage of any bill, the Ayes and Noes shall be called. Such passage shall require the affirmative vote of a majority of all the members of the Senate and the Ayes and Noes shall be entered on the Journal.

(3) All bills, except on first reading, shall be printed by title on the Order of the Day before consideration by the members unless waived by the President.

Rule 51. Bills: Property of Senate

All bills introduced in the Senate shall be deemed the property of the Senate and under its control unless they shall become law, subject however to the right of the House of Representatives to amend or to refuse to agree with the bills.

Any bill pending at the final adjournment of a regular session in an odd-numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session; provided that if such bill shall have passed third reading in the Senate in an odd-numbered session, it shall pass at least one reading in the Senate in the next regular session upon its return to the Senate from the House.

Rule 52. Bills: Recall from Committee

Twenty days after a bill has been referred to a committee, the same may be recalled from such committee by the affirmative vote of one-third of the members of the Senate.

Rule 54. Bills: Amendments

(1) All amendments proposed to any bill shall be in writing, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, and shall be sent to the Clerk's desk to be filed with the bill.

(2) No floor amendment to a bill shall be voted upon unless a copy of the amendment, together with a copy of the complete bill in a form that incorporates the floor amendment, shall have been presented to the Clerk no later than 2 hours prior to the scheduled convening time of the session on the day of the session at which the amendment is to be offered. The Clerk shall prepare and distribute copies of the floor amendment to each member of the Senate present.

(3) A floor amendment shall be deemed pending only after its proponent has been recognized by the President and its adoption has been properly moved and seconded.

(4) A floor amendment that relates to a different subject, is intended to accomplish a different purpose, incorporates any other bill pending before the Senate, or would alter the nature of the bill as reported, is not germane and shall not be considered by the Senate.

(5) An amendment to a floor amendment that is not germane to both the floor amendment and the bill as reported shall not be considered by the Senate.

Rule 55. Bills: Certification

When a bill is passed it shall be certified by the Clerk who shall note the day of its passage in the journal along with a record of the ayes and noes.

Rule 56. Bills: Received from House of Representatives

Whenever a House bill which has passed Third Reading in the House of Representatives shall be certified to the Senate for its action, such bill shall be read three times before final passage, in accordance with the provision of the rules for the passage of bills introduced in the Senate.

Rule 57. Bills: Transmittal to House of Representatives

When a bill originating in the Senate shall have passed its third reading, or when a bill originating in the House which has been received from the House shall have been amended, or when a carry-over bill from an odd-numbered year originating in the House passes its third reading in the Senate in an even-numbered year session, such bill or such amended bill shall immediately be certified by the President and Clerk and sent to the House of Representatives for its consideration.

Rule 58. Bills: Correction of Errors

When a bill has passed both the Senate and the House of Representatives and an error in it is discovered prior to its having received the approval of the Governor, the bill may be returned by Concurrent Resolution to the house last considering the bill for proper correction.

Rule 59. Bills: Order of Consideration

(1) The Clerk shall send bills that have passed first reading to be printed immediately. When they have been printed and circulated to the members of the Senate, the Majority Leadership shall refer them to the various committees. When the committees have considered them and reported on them, the committees shall return them to the Clerk, and the Clerk shall place them in the Second Reading File. The Senate shall consider them in the order in which they appear in the Second Reading File.

(2) The Clerk shall arrange bills that have passed second reading in the order of their passage on second reading, regardless of the date of their reference to committee or the date of the committee report on them. The Clerk shall place them on the Third Reading File in the order in which they passed second reading and the Senate shall consider them on third reading in that same order. However, if the third reading of a bill is set for some particular date, that bill shall be removed from the Third Reading File.

Rule 60. Bills: Special Order of Consideration

All bills and other matters set for consideration on particular dates, shall be arranged in the order of the several votes making such assignments. A list shall be made of such special orders, and when the time for consideration arrives, such bills and other matters shall be considered in the order of assignment. If an adjournment shall be had before all of such special orders are disposed of, the remainder shall go over and come under the head of unfinished business on the following day, unless otherwise ordered.

PART VI. RESOLUTIONS; MOTIONSRule 61. Resolutions and Motions: Form

All resolutions shall be typewritten, dated and signed by the introducer, otherwise they shall not be considered. The Senate shall not introduce any congratulatory, commemorative or memorial resolution but shall express the sentiment contained in such resolutions by means of a suitable certificate. Motions and amendments may be verbal but shall be reduced to writing if requested by the President, and shall be read from the desk if so ordered.

Rule 62. Motions: Second Required

No motion shall be received and considered by the Senate until the motion is seconded.

Rule 63. Motions: Disposition

After a motion is stated or read by the President, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the Senate, and shall be disposed of by vote of the Senate; however, it may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before an amendment has been adopted or before the decision on the motion if not amended.

Rule 64. Motions Applicable to Pending Matters

Whenever any bill or resolution or other matter shall be under discussion, the only motions relative thereto shall be:

- (1) To lay upon the table,
- (2) To postpone to a certain time,
- (3) To postpone indefinitely,
- (4) To commit, and

(5) To amend, which motions shall have precedence in the order named.

The first two motions shall be decided without debate and shall be put as soon as made.

When any of the motions shall be decided in the negative, they shall not be revived the same day relative to the main question under discussion. If all are negative as aforesaid, the only remaining question shall be as to the adoption of the bill, resolution or other main question.

Rule 65. Matters Postponed Indefinitely

When a question is postponed indefinitely, the question shall not be acted upon again during the session in which it was introduced.

Rule 66. Motion for Previous Question

The object of the motion for the previous question is to cut off debate. It shall always be in order. It shall require a three-fifths vote to carry it.

Whenever the motion shall be carried, the author of the resolution or introducer of the bill under discussion shall be permitted to close the debate, after which the main question, subject to Rule 64, shall be put. The author or introducer may delegate to another such right to close.

Rule 67. Motion for Reconsideration

(2) When a motion for reconsideration has been decided by vote, that vote shall not be reconsidered.

(3) When a bill or resolution or other matter upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate, and shall have been transmitted to the House of Representatives, a motion to reconsider shall be deemed to include a request to the House to return the same. If not complied with by the House, then the vote on the motion to reconsider shall be set aside. If such motion shall pass, the Clerk shall promptly communicate to the House the request for return of the matter to be reconsidered.

PART VIII. ORDER; DEBATE; VOTING

Rule 69. Questions of Order

(1) A question of order may be raised at any stage of the proceedings, except during the calling of the roll when the Ayes and Noes are called for. Unless submitted to the Senate, such questions shall be decided without debate by the presiding officer, subject to an appeal to the Senate. Laying such appeal on the table shall be held as sustaining the ruling of the presiding officer.

(2) Any question of order may be submitted to the Senate for its decision.

Rule 70. Debate: General Limitation

No member shall speak more than twice, unless such member be the mover of the matter pending, in which case such member shall not be permitted to speak in reply until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

Rule 71. Voting: Methods

There shall be five methods of ascertaining the decision of the Senate upon any matter.

(1) First, by voice or raising of hands; Second, by rising; Third, by ballot; Fourth, by call of the roll of the members and a record of the Clerk of the vote of each; and Fifth, by unanimous consent.

(2) Whenever the Senate is ready to vote on any question, the President shall rise, and after stating the question, shall request all those in favor of the affirmative of the question to vote "Aye." The President then shall call upon all voting in the negative of the question to vote "No." The President then shall announce the result to the Senate.

(3) If any member shall doubt the result, as announced, the President again shall state the question and call upon the members to vote by rising in their places, and they shall remain standing until counted, and the result again shall be announced.

(4) The method of voting by ballot shall be as customary. The President shall appoint one or more tellers, or direct the Messengers to collect the ballots, which shall be counted by the Clerk. On motion, the Senate may vote upon any question by ballot.

(5) Whenever one-fifth of the members present shall request, the Clerk shall call the roll of the members of the Senate. Each member, when called, shall vote in a clear loud voice, "Aye," if voting in the affirmative, or "No," if voting in the negative. The Clerk shall record each vote and such record shall become a part of the Journal of the Senate. The President shall announce the results as above set forth.

(6) With the unanimous consent of the Senate, the President may direct the Clerk to record an "Aye" vote for each member of the Senate. If there is no objection, the Clerk shall so record the vote. If there is objection, the President shall ask for the names of the members voting "No" and order the Clerk to record no votes for them.

Rule 72. Voting: Rights of Members

(1) No member, on any account, shall refrain from voting unless excused by the President. A member may vote "Kanalua" the first time the member's name is called by the Clerk on any vote, but if the member votes "Kanalua" on the next call of the member's name, the member's vote shall be recorded as "Aye."

(2) The President may excuse a member who has a monetary interest in the question, or whose right to a seat in the Senate will be affected by the question, or whose official conduct is involved in the question. If a member thinks there may be a personal interest in the question, the member shall rise and disclose the interest to the President. The President then shall Rule whether the member has a conflict of interest. If so, the member shall be excused from voting.

(3) Whenever the Ayes and Noes are called, no one, without unanimous consent, shall be permitted to explain a vote.

(4) After the announcement by the President of the result, no one shall be allowed to vote or to change a vote.

PART IX. DECORUM; DISCLOSURES; PEER REVIEW; PUNISHMENT

Rule 73. Misconduct; Procedure; Peer Review

Upon receipt of the charge, the President shall attempt to resolve the matter in an administrative proceeding. be informed in writing of the presentation of the charge or charges of the committee report to the Senate and be given an opportunity to be heard in the member's own defense. The Senate, by a majority vote, may dismiss the charge or charges without a hearing, or with notice and an opportunity to be heard in the member's own defense, censure a member or, upon a two-thirds vote of all the members of the Senate, suspend or expel a member.

At any stage of the charge against a member, the member shall have a right to be represented by a person or persons of the member's own choosing.

Rule 74. Decorum: Transgression of Rules

If any member transgresses the rules of the Senate, the President, or any member, may call such member to order, and, when so called to order, the member immediately shall sit down. The President then shall decide the question of order without debate, subject to an appeal to the Senate.

When the President is putting any question or addressing the Senate, no one shall walk out of the room or across the floor. When a member is speaking, no one shall entertain a private discourse, nor shall anyone pass between the member speaking and the Chair.

No one shall cause any annoyance or disturbance on the Senate floor by use of sound-emitting electronic devices such as cell phones or pagers.

Rule 79. Decorum: Disorderly Conduct in Session

If, during any session of the Senate, any member should behave in a disorderly manner the President shall order the member to be seated and preserve the peace. If such member then shall persist in disorderly conduct, the President shall order the Sergeant-at-Arms to remove the member from the Senate and the member shall not be permitted to take a seat during the remainder of that day's session, except upon satisfactory pledge given to the Senate for future good behavior.

For the punishment of any person not a member, the provisions of Article III, Section 18 of the Constitution shall govern.

Rule 80. Decorum: Recording of Debate Called to Order

If any Senator is called to order for words spoken in debate, upon the member's demand or on that of any other Senator, the words objected to shall be taken down in writing and noted by the Clerk, and, if required, shall be read for the information of the Senate.

Rule 83. Disclosures

Each member shall file with the Ethics Commission of the State of Hawaii, a disclosure of the member's private financial interests, as prescribed by law. Each member shall file with the Ethics Commission any change in such financial interests.

If a legislative matter which affects a member's interests arises before the member has made a disclosure to the Ethics Commission, the member shall disclose orally such interest to the Senate before voting. Any member who has filed a disclosure as required by this Rule need not make a further oral disclosure on the Senate floor of any interest so filed.

Rule 84. Violating Confidence

If any matter covered in Rule 35 or 36 shall be disclosed by any Senator, the Senator shall be liable to censure, or, by a two-thirds vote, to suspension or expulsion from the Senate. If an officer or other person authorized to hear such matter shall disclose the matter, such officer shall be dismissed and such other person shall be liable to punishment for contempt comparable to the punishment provided for by Article III, Section 18 of the Constitution and in the manner as therein prescribed.

PART X. QUESTIONS TO STATE OFFICERS
