Senator Hee rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Members, Auntie Genoa Keawe is in Queen's Hospice and it doesn't look good. I am having a certificate prepared and would appreciate if you wish to sign it to come to my office. I thought I would get it done this morning, but unfortunately I couldn't get it done. But I will work with the Clerk and we will get it done by early afternoon. I'm planning on going later this afternoon but I wanted to let everyone know that Auntie Genoa is not well. She's at Queen's Hospice. She is not accepting visitors, so I'm sure that any thoughts you might have might be reflected in the certificate.

"Thank you, Madam President."
