HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

URGING CONGRESS TO PRESERVE FUNDING AND MAINTAIN PROGRAMS, LAWS, REGULATIONS, AND POLICIES THAT ASSIST VICTIMS OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE.

WHEREAS, domestic violence is a major problem in both Hawaii and throughout the United States; and

WHEREAS, domestic violence is often referred to as intimate partner violence, which involves couples who are dating, spouses, and former spouses or partners; and

WHEREAS, around the world, one in every three women has been beaten, coerced into sex, or otherwise abused during her lifetime; and

WHEREAS, according to the Community Overcoming Relationship Abuse organization, also known as CORA, a woman is abused every nine seconds, and one in five high school females experiences dating violence; and

WHEREAS, a fact sheet prepared by the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence states that in 1999 there were 8,013 reported cases of domestic violence in Hawaii; and

WHEREAS, the Honolulu Police Department estimates that up to one-half of the Department's work time is spent responding to "domestic" calls; and

WHEREAS, domestic violence often involves physical, sexual, verbal, emotional, and psychological abuse; and

WHEREAS, women victimized by abuse are more likely to be diagnosed with serious health problems including depression, panic attacks, migraine headaches, chronic pain, arthritis, and high blood pressure, and are also more likely to display high-

HCR46 SD1.DOC *HCR46 SD1.DOC* *HCR46 SD1.DOC* risk behaviors such as substance abuse and sexual risk-taking; and

WHEREAS, pregnant women are frequent targets of abuse, and as a result are considered at-risk for low birth-weight babies and preterm labor; and

WHEREAS, although domestic violence is the number one cause of injury to women, ten per cent of domestic violence victims are men; and

WHEREAS, in addition to the physical and psychological effects of domestic violence on the victim and the victim's family, there are job-related consequences; and

WHEREAS, CORA estimates that domestic violence costs the American economy $8,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 in absenteeism, medical costs, employee turnover, lost productivity, and other costs; and

WHEREAS, 3,000,000 to 10,000,000 children witness domestic violence every year, and often these children are abused themselves; and

WHEREAS, youth who commit crime often have histories of child abuse and exposure to domestic violence; and

WHEREAS, a change in funding, programs, laws, regulations, or policies that would discourage victims from reporting incidents of domestic violence, would force many victims to remain in violent relationships just to avoid deportation and abandonment of their children, which would in turn cause these children to seek public assistance, possibly end up in foster care, and become more likely to exhibit domestic violence behaviors themselves; now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED by the House of Representatives of the Twenty-fifth Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 2009, the Senate concurring, that the Legislature urges Congress to preserve funding and maintain programs, laws, regulations, and policies that assist victims of domestic violence; and

 BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that certified copies of this Concurrent Resolution be transmitted to the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, Majority Leader of the United States Senate, members of Hawaii's congressional delegation, the Governor, Director of Human Services, Director of Health, and Executive Director of the Hawaii State Coalition Against Domestic Violence.
