

THIRTY-FIRST DAY

Wednesday, March 18, 2009

JOINT SESSION

The House of Representatives and the Senate of the Twenty-Fifth Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 2009, convened in Joint Session at 12:03 o'clock p.m., with Speaker Calvin K.Y. Say presiding, following a flyover by two F-15 fighter planes from the Hawaii Air National Guard.

Speaker Say called upon Mr. Danny Kaleikini to open the special Joint Session with the singing of the National Anthem and Hawaii Pono'i, after which Reverend Curt Kekuna of the Kawaiaha'o Church delivered the invocation.

House Speaker Say addressed the Members and audience, stating:

"Thank you Mr. Kaleikini, and Reverend Kekuna.

"To all in the Chamber here today and to those offshore viewing these proceedings via the Internet. . . Aloha 'auinalā.

"It is a privilege for me to be here today to preside over these proceedings with Senate President, Colleen Hanabusa. As I look around this Chamber, I recognize a number of familiar faces from Hawaii's rich past . . . visionary people, pioneers in our early Statehood days and years. It is moving to be here in the presence of so much history in one room. It is nearly overwhelming, and I am humbled to be able to recognize and acknowledge such greatness today.

"On this day 50 years ago, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed the Hawaii Admissions Act into law. This stroke of the pen set into motion a plebiscite, which took place on June 27, 1959, whereby Hawaii voters overwhelmingly ratified the congressional vote for statehood.

"The pen used by President Eisenhower has been placed on the Floor here along with other statehood artifacts from the State Archives.

"The road to statehood was not easy. There were those who opposed Hawaii's admission to the union. Some opposition was political. Some opposition was based on economics. And some opposition had harsh racial overtones. However, the people we honor today persevered and overcame those obstacles.

"In order to fully appreciate what was done for us 50 years ago, one must ask, "What does it mean to be a state?" Sure, it means being a star on the flag, and yes, it means being number 11 on an alphabetical list of 50.

"But more important, it means we in Hawaii have a system of justice that is equal and fair. We have the right to face our accusers, and to be deemed "innocent until proven guilty."

"It means we are protected from foreign threats, by a military composed of the most dedicated volunteers in the world, who stand ready to fight . . . not for a dictator, a king or even a president, but for a principal and belief . . . for a constitution . . . for a Nation.

"Being a state also means we have opportunity. We are a part of a Nation where you are your own person, no matter who your parents are, or where they came from. History shows us time and time again, that even if you are born in the poorest part of town, you can achieve.

"We, the people of Hawaii, citizens of the United States of America, are truly blessed.

"Today is a tribute not only to those who worked to gain Hawaii's statehood, it is also a tribute to all who have worked to develop our unique way of doing things and our identity as "the Aloha State."

"We have much to be proud of:

"Since 1959, Hawaii has produced the first U.S. Senators of Chinese, Japanese and Hawaiian ancestries. And we have been lead by governors of Japanese, Hawaiian and Filipino ancestry.

"We have produced a Miss Universe; giants of trade, finance and industry; world renowned scientists, scholars, musicians, astronauts, philosophers, artists, athletes and culinary experts; an Army Chief of Staff; and yes, a President of the United States.

"Even more important to the fabric of Hawaii as "the Aloha State," are the men and women, who may never be on television or on the radio or mentioned in the newspaper. It's the people, who work hard every day to make a living, and who don't give up when faced with life's difficulties. It's the people, who care and provide for their children, so each succeeding generation has a better quality of life. It's the people who keep Hawaii moving forward, growing positively and striving.

"Put simply, it's our people who make Hawaii a great state."

The Speaker then introduced the following special guests:

Governor Linda Lingle, co-host of the event;

Lt. Governor James Aiona and Mrs. Vivian Aiona;

Mr. Barry Fukunaga, the Governor's Chief of Staff and Members of the Executive Cabinet;

Chief Justice Ronald T.Y. Moon of the Hawaii State Supreme Court and members of the Court:

Associate Justice Paula A. Nakayama,
Associate Justice Simeon R. Acoba, Jr., and
Associate Justice James E. Duffy, Jr.;

Chief Judge Mark E. Recktenwald of the Hawaii Intermediate Court of Appeals and members of the Court:

Judge Daniel R. Foley,
Judge Alexa D.M. Fujise,
Judge Katherine G. Leonard,
Judge Craig H. Nakamura, and
Judge Corrine K.A. Watanabe;

General Vern Miyagi, US Pacific Command;

Major General Stephen D. Tom, Deputy Commanding General, Mobilization and Reserve Affairs, U.S. Army Pacific;

Brigadier General Jan-Marc Jouas, Director of Operations, Plans, Requirements & Programs, U.S. Pacific Air Forces;

Captain Lee Hankins, Commodore Submarine Squadron ONE, U.S. Navy – USS Hawaii;

Honolulu Mayor Mufi Hannemann;
Honolulu Council Chair Todd Apo;

Big Island Mayor Billy Kenoi; and

Mr. Kippen deAlba Chu and Mr. Lenny Klompus, Chair and Vice Chair of the 50th Anniversary Statehood Commission, and Members of the State Commemorative Commission.

Senate President Hanabusa then introduced the former Governors and their family members as follows:

"Hawai'i owes a tremendous debt to the men and their families who dedicated themselves to leading our young state through its first four decades. Joining us today are the former governors of the State of Hawai'i and their representatives.

"Representing the State of Hawaii's first governor, William Quinn, are his wife, Mrs. William Quinn and their son, Gregory Quinn. Governor Quinn was appointed as the Territorial Governor by President Eisenhower and then became the State of Hawaii's first elected governor, serving in that capacity from 1959 - 1962.

"Representing Governor John Burns: his son, the Honorable James Burns, along with Ms. Emme Tomingbang, and his daughter, Dr. Sheenagh Burns. Largely credited with building and maintaining Hawaii's Democratic Party through the Territorial years and early statehood, Governor Burns was the State's first elected Democratic governor and served from 1962 - 1974.

"The Honorable George Ariyoshi and Mrs. Jean Ariyoshi. As the State's first governor of Japanese American descent, Governor Ariyoshi served from 1974-1986 and is a visionary who, as governor, understood the need for planned development and managing our precious natural resources. This understanding led to the Hawai'i State Plan, which embodies the State's current and future priorities and laid the groundwork for the Legislature's focus on sustainability.

"The Honorable John Waihee and Mrs. Lynne Waihee. Serving as governor from 1986 - 1994, Governor Waihee, the State's first governor of Hawaiian ancestry, brought a heightened awareness of the plight of the Native Hawaiians. His compassion and personal understanding of Hawaiian issues has led to the enhanced funding for the Hawaiian Home Lands Trust and other important programs.

"And the Honorable Benjamin Cayetano and Mrs. Vicky Cayetano. Raised in modest surroundings, Governor Cayetano's no-nonsense and straight-talking style of governing served the State well during a period in which Hawai'i was facing tough economic times. The State's first governor of Filipino descent, Governor Cayetano served from 1994 - 2002.

"Governors, family members, thank you very much for joining us today."

Speaker Say then assumed the rostrum, stating:

"I would now like to call upon certain House Members to introduce some very, very special guests: pioneering members of the Class of 1959 of the House of Representatives who are here to join us today in the House Chambers."

The Speaker called upon Representative Belatti who introduced former Representative Thomas P. Gill as follows:

"I am privileged to stand before you today to recognize a man whose life is intertwined with the life of our state from its very inception—a son of Makiki whose penchant for sticking to his convictions with unflinching dedication has brought him to great heights as a leader of our state and our nation. That man is Thomas Ponce Gill.

"Following the career path of an individual like Mr. Gill is quite the roller-coaster ride, because he is one of those rare public figures who pursued his political ideals without exception, leading to his fair share of considerable triumph and tribulation. Mr. Gill made a name for himself early on for his ability to argue intelligently and for his mastery of the timely phrase or sharp quip, whose sting I believe has been felt by some leaders in this room.

"This sharp wit, coupled with a strength of character and the courage of his convictions, propelled Mr. Gill to positions in Hawaii's Territorial government, then into the position of House Majority Floor Leader of Hawaii's First State Legislature, and next to Hawaii's last at-large seat in the United States House of Representatives.

"During his single term in Congress, Mr. Gill was appointed as the Floor Manager for the famed Civil Rights Bill. It was his task to move this bill through the House, as well as to write the opening section of Title VI. The Act passed in 1964 due in no small part to the efforts of Congressman Gill, marking one of the greatest milestones toward equal rights in our nation's history.

"Not one to shy away from unpopular ideas or from a political fight, Mr. Gill continued in his quest for equality, his dedication to protecting Hawaii's natural environment, and his commitment to civil rights for all through victory and defeat, losing a bid for the US Senate, winning the Lieutenant Governorship, and then narrowly losing to Governor Burns in the 1970 democratic primary. Through the highs and the lows, Mr. Gill never compromised his integrity, and with the help of his lovely wife, Lois, who is with us today, he has instilled his deep sense of civic responsibility and leadership in his children, several of whom, including Eric Gill who is here with us today, have become prominent public figures themselves.

"And so it is with great respect and admiration that I now present to you a man who has been an integral part of Hawaii's political landscape since our birth as a State; a man whose steadfast commitment to the advancement of human rights alone would justify his attendance here today, but whose impact on Hawaii and our nation has been so broad that it is fitting to introduce him not by the many titles he has borne over the past five decades, but by a few simple accolades; ladies and gentlemen, it is my great pleasure to introduce a beloved husband and father, a staunch advocate of social and economic justice, a true citizen of Hawaii, Mr. Thomas Ponce Gill."

Speaker Say then called upon Representative Nakashima who introduced former Representative Stanley I. Hara as follows:

"Good afternoon Governor and Lt. Governor, Madame President, Mister Speaker, legislative colleagues and members of the audience.

"Stanley I. Hara was one of numerous authors who helped to draft, edit, write and publish the first chapter of the story of the State of Hawaii.

"Mr. Hara, who represented my district on the Big Island, was elected to the Territorial House in 1954. As a freshman to the Legislature, Mr. Hara, a Big Island Democrat, helped to transform the educational system by passing legislation that made education available to all, including the disadvantaged. Before lawmakers restructured the educational system, the Territory of Hawaii only required free education up to the eighth grade level and high school students had to rent their books and pay other school fees.

"During the 1959 Special Sessions, and the 1960 Budget Session and Special Session, which essentially shaped the future of Hawaii, Mr. Hara served as Chairman of the Finance Committee. Concerns that year included reviewing the areas of economic development on the Neighbor Islands, transition and reorganization issues, and budget threats to the health, safety and welfare of Hawaii citizens. It was necessary for lawmakers that year to draft legislation which addressed fiscal problems related to the transition from territory to state.

"Mr. Hara played an integral role in shaping the State of Hawaii through urgent legislation and worked across party lines to create the foundation upon which Hawaii's government and laws now lie.

"In 1968, Mr. Hara became a delegate to the Constitutional Convention, and then on January 14, 1969, he was appointed by Governor John A. Burns to fill the unexpired term of Senator Nelson K. Doi.

"As Chair of the Senate Education Committee in 1971, Mr. Hara played an instrumental role in turning the 2-year University of Hawaii at Hilo into the 4-year University of Hawaii at Hilo that it is today. The University of Hawaii at Hilo recently honored Mr. Hara with the 2008 Distinguished Service Award.

"Please join me in recognizing Mr. Stanley I. Hara, his wife, Diane Hara, and their son, Judge Glenn Hara."

Speaker Say then called upon Representative Nishimoto who introduced former Representatives Walter Heen and George Koga as follows:

"I'm honored to introduce two members of that historic class. The first is Mr. Walter Heen, a native son of Hawaii, active political player and dedicated public servant for almost 50 years.

"Mr. Heen was born in 1928 and raised on the island of Oahu. A motivated and ambitious student, Mr. Heen obtained his bachelor's degree in Economics from the University of Hawaii in 1953 and later a law degree from Georgetown University in 1955.

"Shortly after graduating law school, Mr. Heen was elected to the Territorial House of Representatives in 1959, where he served in the Hawaii Legislature as a Representative until 1964. Mr. Heen began his political career during one of the most exciting and historic times in Hawaii's history, and as a member of the Committees on Government Efficiency, Judiciary, Public Employment and Housing, he not only witnessed, but also assisted in the restructuring and reorganizing of our young state's government.

"After serving in the House of Representatives, Mr. Heen continued his service to our State as a Senator from 1966 thru 1968, and then on the Honolulu City Council from 1969 thru 1972.

"Following his retirement from the Legislature, Mr. Heen began a distinguished judicial career as U.S. Attorney, from 1978 to 1980, and as U.S. District Court Judge, in 1981. He was then appointed to the State Intermediate Court of Appeals in 1982, where he served until 1994.

"In 1998 and 2000, he added to his accomplishments by being elected Chairman of the Hawaii Democratic Party. Finally, in 2006 he was elected to the Board of Trustees of the Office of Hawaiian Affairs.

"Mr. Heen is a man who dedicated almost 50 years of his life to public service in the Administrative, Legislative and Judicial Branches of the county, State and federal government. Please join me in giving a warm welcome and mahalo to Mr. Walter Heen and his lovely wife, Norma Heen.

"Next Mr. Speaker, on behalf of myself and you, I would like to introduce Mr. George 'Scotty' Koga, who along with other members of the Territorial House, crowded the halls of Iolani palace in 1959 to be one of the first citizens of Hawaii to hear the exciting news that the U.S. House of Representatives voted to pass the Hawaii Admission Act.

"Mr. Koga as a member of the House of Representatives from 1959 thru 1964, served in several notable positions including Chairman of the Committee on Government Efficiency and the Vice Chair of the Tourism Committee. During this time he was also a member of the Committees on Harbors & Airports, Transportation, Economic Development and Finance. After leaving the Legislature, he continued his political service as a member of the City Council of Honolulu from 1971 thru 1978.

"Please join me in recognizing and honoring Representative George 'Scotty' Koga and his wife, Ruth Koga."

Speaker Say then called upon Representative Choy for his introduction as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, to introduce our special guest, I would like to defer to a voice that hasn't been heard in this chamber for quite awhile. Mr. Speaker, may I defer to the Senior Senator from Manoa, Senator Brian Taniguchi."

Senator Taniguchi then introduced former Representative Katsugo Miho as follows:

"I would like to introduce, on behalf of Representative Choy, Katsugo Miho. Mr. Miho was a member of the famed 442nd Regimental Combat unit. He served as State judge. He was also the judge that presided over my first case as an attorney. I won't go into the details of that, but suffice it to say that it was an uncontested divorce, and I didn't get my way. But it turned out very well.

"He also served in the 1959 Legislature, and with him today are his wife Laura, and daughter, Mariko."

Speaker Say then called upon Representative Marumoto who introduced former Representative Fred Rohlfling as follows:

"I would like to introduce to you today Fred Rohlfling, who was first elected to the Legislature from the 17th District which ran from Kaimuki to Makapuu Point. To cover his accomplishments would take longer than the time allotted. But don't worry, Fred has been working on his memoirs - and soon hopes to be in print, just like Ex-Governor Ben! The book's tentative title is In Hawaii's Service—the Life and Times of Fred Rohlfling.

"Fred was born in territorial days so he's at least 50 years old. He was raised in Manoa and graduated from Punahou, Yale, and George Washington Law School. Then he came home to run for office and served 11 years in the House, and 9 years in the Senate.

"Some of you here may remember that Fred surprised his colleagues when he was the only Republican to vote for the Maryland Land Law – it was a major Democratic Party plank, and Fred was a Republican. He gave the only speech on that measure. With the help of the late Senator David McClung, Fred's 'Lessees Bill of Rights' that regulated residential leases was incorporated in the groundbreaking Land Reform Act of 1967.

"Always a visionary, Fred was out in front with new issues such as the environment, mass transit for East O'ahu and affordable housing.

"Fred also managed a legal practice and he represented Registered Nurses for collective bargaining. So when the nurses went on strike, Fred was on the line with them.

"He also served in the US Naval Reserve Intelligence program for 36 years. He was also appointed by Presidents Ford and Reagan to the South Pacific Commission, so he's familiar with many of the Pacific Islands and their leaders.

"In 1978 Governor Coleman appointed him Attorney General in American Samoa. In 1972 and 1976 Fred ran for the 1st Congressional District – first against Spark Matsunaga and then against millionaire TV mogul, Cec Heftel. He lost that latter one even though he had the active support of all the major unions.

"Fred and his wife, Patty, retired to Maui in '84. There he was pressed into service as Corporation Counsel by Mayor Hannibal Tavares. After that Fred spent 4 years as a federal Magistrate Judge, and has continued to serve on various State and county commissions ever since.

"Fred is the ultimate public servant, having worked in the federal, State and county levels; in the Executive, Legislative, Judicial Branches, and the military.

"Patty also served in the Legislature working for Fred, and I was there too, and for former legislator, Buddy Soares. Fred's eldest son, Fritz, is a lawyer in town and his other son, Karl, is a Brewer on Maui. Fred and Patty combined have six talented grandchildren.

"But to find out more, please read his book. Please recognize Fred Rohlfling and Patty Rohlfling."

President Hanabusa then assumed the rostrum, stating:

"It is my pleasure to call upon certain Senators to introduce distinguished guests: Members of the 1959 Hawaii State Senate who were able to join us today."

President Hanabusa then called upon Senator Chun Oakland who introduced former Senator and Governor George Ariyoshi as follows:

"Colleagues and guests, I have the honor and distinct privilege to introduce one of Hawaii's foremost pioneers and leaders, the Honorable George Ariyoshi.

"Governor Ariyoshi may be best remembered as one of Hawaii's outstanding Governors and the first Asian-American Governor in our nation.

"George Ariyoshi began his more than 30 years of service to our State as a member of the Legislature. As Hawaii approached Statehood in 1959, he was serving in the State Senate. He dedicated 11 years to addressing the concerns of his Senate district, as well as issues confronting our growing territory and State.

"Even in those early days, Senator George Ariyoshi stood for causes that laid the foundation of our State's future strength. Responsible economic policies, stability for our working men and women and their families, land reform and planned development, and effective business and international relations.

"It is my honor and distinct pleasure to present to you a man of few words, great humility, a man of great vision and action, and a well-respected leader. Governor and Senator George Ariyoshi and our beloved first lady, Jean Ariyoshi."

President Hanabusa called upon Senator Tsutsui who introduced former Senator Nadao Yoshinaga as follows:

"Today I have the great honor to be able to introduce to you today Senator Nadao Yoshinaga who also is widely known as 'Najo.' Senator Yoshinaga was elected into the House of Representatives of the Territory of Hawaii in 1954. In 1959, he was elected into the Senate of the State of Hawaii where he served until he retired in 1974. Senator Yoshinaga was the Chairman of the very influential Senate Labor Committee and the Committee on Ways & Means.

"During his career, he was responsible for landmark legislation such as the Pre-Paid Health Act, the Art in Public Places Act that established the State Foundation on Culture and the Arts, and the creation of the Hawaii State Commission on the Status of Women, among many others.

"At this time, I would like to yield the floor to my colleague, Representative Jon Riki Karamatsu to continue with our introduction."

Representative Karamatsu continued with the introduction, stating:

"Senator Nadao Yoshinaga, or as we like to call him, Senator Najo Yoshinaga, has been a mentor to so many leaders in Hawaii, including many of us here today. He has been my friend, advisor and confidante ever since I met him when I was working for Senator Carol Fukunaga in 2002. It is a dream come true for me to have a mentor who was a member of the 1954 Democratic Revolution and 442nd regimental combat team. I am very appreciative of the knowledge he has shared with me and many others.

"Senator Yoshinaga graduated from Maui High School and the University of Hawaii at Manoa, where he attained his Bachelor of Arts degree. He volunteered for the United States Army and served in the 442nd Regimental Combat Team.

"After the war, Senator Yoshinaga decided to apply his GI benefits to study law at DePaul University, where he attained his Juris Doctorate degree. He returned to work for the law firm of Bouslog and Symonds in Honolulu, then Maui, which was known for its defense of the ILWU, or otherwise known as the International Longshore and Warehouse Union.

"Senator Yoshinaga's pro-active and progressive vision, strength of conviction, organizational and strategic brilliance, helped to shape and inspire legislative, business, and community leaders long after his formal retirement. He continues to encourage, advise and inspire legislators and legislative staff during his many visits to the Hawaii State Capitol. Even today he is making an impact on Hawaii through his many protégés.

"I would like to leave you with a statement Senator Yoshinaga likes to say: "Make Hawaii the Best Place in the World."

"Senator Najo Yoshinaga, thank you for all you have done to make Hawaii the Best Place in the World. Senator Najo Yoshinaga and his daughter, Susan Ward."

President Hanabusa then called upon Mr. Danny Kaleikini to introduce the '50 Voices of Hawaii,' stating:

"Thank you. The Commission is sponsoring a media program entitled, 50 Voices of Hawaii, which showcases a broad spectrum of people from our community. I now call upon Mr. Danny Kaleikini, one of the memorable voices to introduce other participants of the 50 Voices of Hawaii program with us today."

Mr. Danny Kaleikini introduced the 50 Voices of Hawaii as follows:

"Aloha kakou āpau. Aloha. Aloha, the breath of life and love that we share with another. Aloha kekahi i kekahi. The love for one another. But most important, Aloha ke akua. God is love.

"It is my honor to introduce the distinguished citizens who have been featured on the Commission's 50 Voices of Statehood. And they've been airing statewide on Hawaii television, radio stations, since August of last year, so that the young people and all the residents of Hawaii would hear unique perspectives on Statehood.

"As a voice in the series myself, I can tell you that it has been very interesting to watch and listen to all the participants, to see how their memories compare with your own.

"And one of our 50 Voices is no longer with us, but she lives on with her spirit, intellect and passion. Her name, Ah Quon McElrath. She was a key figure in Hawaii's early labor movement, and a tireless advocate for social justice and political change over the past 7 decades. We're going to miss her, and I ask you to join me in a very brief moment of silence to honor Mrs. McElrath's commitment to Hawaii and its people."

At this time, the members of the Legislature, guests and audience observed a moment of silence in honor of the late Mrs. Ah Quon McElrath.

"Thank you. I would like to ask the 50 Voices who are here with us today to please stand when I introduce you so that you can be acknowledged, and I want to ask all of you, the 'ohana, to please hold your applause until the very end.

"Ms. Dodie Bacon Brown. This young wahine, she was only 6 at the time Hawaii became a State, and she soon entered our collective memory as the young wahine featured in a well-known 1959 photograph, holding a newspaper announcing "Statehood!" in big, bold letters. Ms. Dodie Bacon Brown.

"Retired Judge Jim Burns. Not only a judge, but a great golfer. The former Chief Judge for the Hawaii Intermediate Court of Appeals, he is also the son of John Burns, and John served as the delegate for the territory of Hawaii to the US House of Representatives and later became Hawaii's second governor. Judge Jim Kimo Burns.

"And now we have the former State Land Board Chairman, Bill Paty, who is a lifetime resident of Hawaii, World War II veteran, and retired business leader in the sugar industry. And also, a very unique guy, and one good kanaka maoli.

"David Parker. Kawika. David is a Hawaiian history teacher at Kamehameha Schools, and a graduate of Kamehameha Schools for Boys.

"Maui Mayor Elmer Carvalho. Maui no ka oi. Whose distinguished service to Hawaii included election to the Territorial House of Representatives, and later to the State House of Representatives. Mayor Elmer Carvalho from the Island of Maui.

"His duties in Washington D.C. prevent him from being here, as our new secretary of Veterans Affairs, Kauai native, General Eric K. Shinseki. He was a very invaluable addition to the 50 Voices segments. Of course we also know General Shinseki as the first Asian American to become a four star general, and to lead one of the four US Military services, General Eric K. Shinseki.

"Dr. Fujio "Fudge" Matsuda. A member of the famed 442 Regimental Combat Team, Dr. Matsuda later served as Director of the State Department of Transportation under Governor John Burns, before being named the president of University of Hawaii.

"Chester Kahapea, who two days before his 13th birthday was captured in the photograph of him selling Statehood! Edition newspapers, a photo that was seen around the world, around the nation. Chester Kahapea. Mahalo kākou.

"Dr. Larry Price. We know him as Coach, the man who always said it like it was during his quarter century on the morning airwaves and as a journalist. Dr. Larry Price.

"AARP Hawaii President, Stuart Ho. The prominent Hawaii business leader and former politician who has served in the State House of Representatives, Stuart Ho.

"Francis Kahou Lum. E kanaka maoli. Whose career with the State included 40 years as the trusted and highly respected Chief Protocol Officer under 5 Hawaii Governors. He now serves as Hawaiian Homes Commissioner.

"Pat Saiki. One of my favorite ladies. Oh boy, I tell you, this lady is so akamai. The former school teacher from the Big Island, from Hilo, and who went on to represent our State in the United States Congress. Thank you, Pat.

"Mrs. Nancy Quinn had an interesting first-hand glimpse of Hawaii's road to statehood as the wife of Governor William Quinn, who was Hawaii's last territorial Governor, and the State's first elected Governor. Mrs. Quinn, you look lovely. God bless, and thank you.

"Lucy Ramirez. A very successful business wahine who came to Hawaii from China 20 years ago to pursue the American dream. She runs her own company, and we're very proud of Lucy.

"Milton Motooka. A partner in the firm Motooka Yamamoto and Revere, who has been practicing law in Hawaii for more than 30 years. His father served as a member of the famed 442 Regimental Combat Team during WWII. Milton, aloha mae.

"Sam Cooke. That's a good Hawaiian name. A trustee of the Cooke Foundation in 1979, and the great grandson of Amos Cooke, the founder of Castle and Cooke. He is also founding chairman of the Nature Conservancy of Hawaii, and founder of the Manoa Heritage Center. He is one good Hawaiian. Sam, aloha no.

"Danny Young. Kaniela is a member of the 50th Anniversary Statehood Commission and a prominent leader in Hawaii's Chinese community. Danny is Vice Chair of the Emeritus Trustees of United Chinese Society of Hawaii, President of Buck Toy Club, which promotes charity, cooperation and friendship. Kaniela, thank you and mahalo.

"The third Governor of the State of Hawaii, former Governor George Ariyoshi, who in 1974 became the first American of Asian descent to be elected Governor of State, and who would continue to serve our State's chief executive until 1986.

"Walter Dods. Prominent local banker, business man, but most important, a graduate of St. Louis High School. I had to say that. Walter, I just want to say thank you for all the aloha that you share with the people of Hawaii.

"The fifth Governor of Hawaii, former Governor Ben Cayetano, who served as our nation's first Filipino American Lieutenant Governor from 1986 till 1994, and became the first American of Filipino descent to be elected as Governor in 1994. Governor, I want to thank you for putting me in your book, and when I do get in any kind of pilikia, I call 911.

"Dr. Kekuni Blaisdell. President of Medicine, UH Manoa, and the cofounder of E Ola Mau, an organization for Hawaiian health professionals. He is also the founding chair of Department of Medicine at the UH Burns School of Medicine.

"Our next 50 Voices participant was former Hawaii County Mayor Harry Kim, who served as mayor until 2008, and is well known for his 24 years of service as Director of the Hawaii County Civil Defense.

"The series was very fortunate to hear perspectives on statehood from US Senator Daniel Akaka, my Minister of Music at Kawaiha'o Church, and a proud longstanding member of our Congressional Delegation.

"US Senator Daniel Inouye, joining his colleague in providing the series with memories and all that we have to be grateful for. A member of the famed 442 Regimental Combat Team. Inouye was elected to the US House of Representatives as the new State's first Congressman when Hawaii became a state in 1959. He was elected to the Senate in 1962, and is now serving his 7th consecutive term in the Senate.

"It gives me great honor to introduce Hawaii's 4th Governor, Governor John Keoni Waihee, who served in our State's highest office from 1986 to 1994, and who was the first American of Native Hawaiian descent to be elected Governor from any state of the United States. Governor, aloha mae.

"To round out the 50 Voices of statehood, the 50th Anniversary of Statehood Commission will be interviewing 24 additional leaders in Hawaii's community for the past 50 years. And this group will also include 4 students who represent our next 50 years. So now, everybody, one big aloha, clap for all the participants. Aloha mae. I'm very honored to be here today. Governor, mahalo.

"I would like to leave you with this, everybody stand. May I just share this with all of you, because we are all family, one 'ohana:

*'O kou aloha nō
Aia i ka lani
A 'o kou 'oia 'i'o
He hemolele ho'i
'Āmene.*

"Aloha ke akua, God is love. Mahalo akua. We thank you for all these blessings, we thank you for this beautiful day. All this we ask in your name. Amen."

At this time, Mr. Danny Couch entertained the audience in the first musical interlude.

The President then called upon Governor Lingle who delivered her remarks as follows:

"Senate President Hanabusa, Speaker Say, Chief Justice Moon, Lt. Governor and Mrs. Aiona, current legislators, Mrs. Nancy Quinn and son Gregory, Judge Jim Burns, Emme Tomimbang and Dr. Sheenagh Burns, Governor Ariyoshi and Jean, Governor Waihee and Lynn, Governor Cayetano and Vicky, Members of Hawaii's First State Legislature in 1959, especially I want to address you and tell you what an honor it is to be in the same room with you today, to the "50 Voices of Statehood” representatives, to the 50th Anniversary of Statehood Commissioners for the great job that you are all doing, and the people of Hawai‘i, good afternoon and aloha.

"I'm so honored to be joined by former governors, legislators and other special guests to recognize this historic day on which President Dwight David Eisenhower signed the Hawai‘i Admission Act.

"President Eisenhower was an ardent supporter of Hawai‘i's statehood. He would later say, "Years of effort have finally extended the boundaries of our beloved land far out into the Pacific to encircle the islands of Hawai‘i."

"With the stroke of a pen, President Eisenhower changed the landscape of our nation.

"As our nation's 50th state, Hawai‘i is the youngest member of the Union. Our relatively young age is reflected today in the presence of Hawai‘i's only six governors or their representatives since statehood. And what a privilege it was for me to be able to stand with our former governors and their families to have my picture taken. It really was a great privilege.

"Mahalo Mrs. Quinn, members of the Burns family and former governors, for joining the people of Hawai‘i in commemorating this special day.

"The memories of Hawai‘i statehood remain vivid for all of Hawai‘i's people. And the history remains fresh, fresher still after today, in all of our minds.

"This is underscored by the unique "50 Voices of Statehood" audio and video anthology created by the 50th Anniversary of Statehood Commission. Each segment is filled with distinctive memories and personal perspectives on 1959 and Hawai‘i's road to statehood. I want to thank each of the "50 Voices" who are with us today, as well as those who will be part of the series in the months ahead.

"I want to take a moment to mention Mrs. Ah Quon McElrath who was one of the 50 Voices of Statehood, and also a dedicated and vocal member of our Statehood Commission. Although no longer with us, she remains in our hearts and in our minds. Her leadership and her commitment to Hawai‘i and its people will never be forgotten.

"It is also important to recognize the individuals who labored over the period of decades to make statehood possible. These include Joseph Farrington – a territorial senator and delegate to the United States Congress; Samuel Wilder King – a territorial governor and delegate to the United States Congress; Governor William Quinn and Governor John Burns.

"Statehood was achieved through the dedication and perseverance of these great leaders, along with the people of Hawai‘i – who in 1959 voted 17 to one in support of statehood. They voted for basic rights and privileges of American citizenship. They voted to have a voice in Washington. And, as Governor Ariyoshi said so well in his 50 Voices of Statehood piece, they voted for "control over our own destiny."

"In honoring the 50th anniversary of statehood, we are recognizing these leaders as well as the working men and women who were passionate in their conviction about what Hawai‘i's future should look like. What all residents shared then, and what we all share today, is a deep love of Hawai‘i. And this was true even for those who opposed statehood.

"Hawai‘i is truly a place like no other!

"Hawai‘i was and is in many ways a simple place. But at the same time, a place with complex issues and in many ways defined by our contradictions. We are isolated geographically, yet we serve as a vital bridge between the mainland United States and Asia-Pacific region. As a state we are young, yet we are also home to an ancient and proud culture. We are the most diverse state in the Union, yet a place where racial and ethnic lines are often blurred or deemed irrelevant. Hawai‘i is a place of breathtaking natural beauty, but also a world-class center of innovation and scientific discovery. There are moments when living here is like living in the paradise we see depicted on travel posters and in the movies. But, the Pacific Ocean's great expanse does not shield us from the challenges of everyday life. It also doesn't drown out the differing opinions that exist in our community. And I am for grateful that.

"Our differences are our strength and they create the vibrant tapestry of our culture. Statehood brought self-determination and federal dollars to our shores. It conferred benefits of the most powerful and prosperous nation on Earth. And, most importantly, it allowed our citizens to enjoy the rights enshrined in the United States Constitution. Because of this, we can speak our minds freely. We can have vigorous debate, which is the lifeblood of our democratic system and has served our nation well for more than 200 years. We may not always agree, but we all have a voice, and are free to express our views.

"Hawai‘i's road to statehood began decades before 1959. It was a journey beset by many false starts and failed attempts, as it faced a very hesitant United States Congress. But the people of Hawai‘i remained determined, hopeful and focused on their task at hand. They refused to give up and ultimately they convinced Congress of the many ways in which Hawai‘i was a worthy and beneficial addition to the United States.

"It is well known that Hawai‘i's strategic importance was key to victory in the Pacific during World War II. But the more resounding story coming out of the war was the bravery and the sacrifice exemplified by our Nisei soldiers in the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the 100th Battalion and the Military Intelligence Service. These soldiers showed that being loyal to the American cause was in no way defined by ethnicity. It was determined instead, by a belief in the principles of freedom and democracy.

"Hawai‘i provided a model of tolerance ahead of its time. The diversity of Hawai‘i's people was touched on often in statehood testimonies before members of the United States Congress, including in 1935, when Territorial Senator Joseph Farrington said these words:

"To anyone who has lived in Hawai‘i, and has grown up with the boys and girls of other races, it is difficult to understand the suspicions in which they are held by some people... You come to judge people according to their character and not their race after you have lived with them for a long time."

"Since becoming a state, Hawai‘i has contributed to the nation in more unexpected ways. The forms of human expression unique to our islands, such as surfing, hula, our food, words, phrases and our music, have traveled well beyond our shores and ignited the world's imagination. Who could have imagined 50 years ago the degree to which Hawaiian culture would resonate with people of other states and countries.

"We have also put our stamp on science. Today, we are the site of ground-breaking discoveries in a variety of fields, including marine research, genetics research and astronomy. More recently, we have embarked on an ambitious plan to achieve a clean energy future, creating a model for other states and nations.

"When the United States House sent the bill to President Eisenhower granting Hawai‘i statehood, the effect 5,000 miles away was immediate. As our local newspapers reported on that day – and so many of our residents still vividly remember – civil defense horns wailed, church bells pealed, ships' whistles tooted, and motorists leaned on their horns. That evening, there was dancing across the islands that would become America's newest state and fireworks illuminated the sky over the Pacific. If many people were joyful, it was because they had worked so hard to achieve this historic milestone. They had looked forward to seeing this day for decades. It was a day that marked new opportunities – socially, economically and politically. A headline in one of our local newspapers proclaimed on that day, above pictures of diverse Hawai‘i residents, "First Class Citizens Now." This headline reaffirmed that on that special day, that while we were a place like no other... and a people like no other... we were all now citizens.

"Now, on the 50th anniversary of statehood, Hawai'i, the nation and the world face new challenges. Each new day brings more challenging economic news, but also a wealth of new opportunities for the future. In overcoming what is perhaps the biggest challenge Hawai'i has faced since 1959, many of the same qualities shown in the struggle for statehood are needed today.

"We must encourage the participation and collaboration of the entire community. Our efforts must be characterized by determination and hard work. We must embrace flexibility, and have the wisdom to adopt a new plan or strategy when the previous plan falls short. Perhaps most importantly, we must have faith in the strength, resilience and pioneering spirit of Hawai'i's businesses, residents and leaders.

"As Hawai'i's current governor, I will tell you that leading this State has and continues to be the greatest privilege and the most humbling experience of my life. I know the former governors here today feel the same; that it is an honor to lead Hawai'i, which is a place like no other and home to people who are unique in all the world. Our collective history and experience in this House Chambers today offers an incredible reflection of who the people of Hawai'i are, and what they are capable of achieving.

"Columnist Thomas Friedman, in the New York Times last month, pointed out that despite our nation's troubles, the world still looks to America to lead the way out of our current crisis. In the Pacific region, it is up to us to provide that leadership and serve as an example to our neighbors. We did that when we achieved statehood, standing as a model of democracy to Asian and Pacific nations. We will do it again as a model of economic recovery and long-term prosperity.

"And, Hawai'i will always be the model of a community whose diversity is its greatest strength, where people of different ethnic and cultural backgrounds work together and live side-by-side. All of us, one 'ohana, we will ensure the next 50 years will be as rich and diverse as the first 50.

"I feel blessed, and I am proud to be a resident of the State of Hawai'i and a citizen of the United States America. And, I am optimistic and I'm excited about what we can accomplish as we pull together in the months and years ahead. Thank you for the privilege you've given me. Aloha."

Ms. Arshiel Calatrava, a Kalakaua Middle School student entertained the audience in the second musical interlude which showcased Hawai'i's youth.

President Hanabusa then gave her closing remarks as follows:

"Mahalo Arshiel.

"Our development of the Hawai'i that we know today has been a journey, and one that has not been without controversy. It is fitting, then, that we must stop and reflect on those moments, and not only celebrate our progress, but also ask ourselves if we have done the most that we can with what we have been provided.

"The first vital steps toward statehood not only provided Hawai'i's people with the full rights and benefits of citizens of our nation, but also promised a chance of drafting our own Constitution and to fully determine the direction our State would move in. Hawai'i today is the Hawai'i of our own making, just as the Hawai'i of tomorrow will grow from the choices we make today.

"To everyone here today, those who have contributed to our past as well as those helping guide our future, I would like to add my personal thanks for allowing us to reach the heights we have achieved, and to overcome the challenges we have faced together.

"What is great about Hawai'i today, and what will be best about our Hawai'i tomorrow, grows from our shared commitment, not only to our people, to our environment, and let us not forget, our precious host culture. Mahalo to you all for being here and sharing this commemoration. Mahalo to those who have spent endless hours, and put so much effort in planning the commemoration.

"With that, there being no further business, I declare this Joint Session adjourned."

At 1:27 o'clock p.m., President Hanabusa declared the Joint Session of the House of Representatives and the Senate adjourned.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Representative Herkes: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I speak for many of us here, it was worth being here to see the picture of the Chief Justice, the Governor, you, and the Senate President holding hands."

Speaker Say: "Representative Herkes, it was at the request of the entertainer, Danny Couch."

Representative Coffman, for the Committee on Energy & Environmental Protection, requested a waiver of the 48-hour advanced notice requirement for the purpose of reconsidering prior decision-making on Senate Bill 1202, SD 2, 'Relating to Transportation Energy Initiatives' on Thursday, March 19th, 2009, at 10:35 a.m., in Conference Room 325.

Representative Coffman: "This measure is about energy-efficient vehicles. Your Committee will further amend the bill to include a grant program provision to effectuate any federal funds that may become available through the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, or other federal initiatives. Thank you, Mr. Speaker."

Representative Ward: "Mr. Speaker, just a brief reflection, following the Representative from the Big Island. A quote from Mrs. Quinn, regarding the balance between the Majority and the Minority, was much more even back in 1959. It was the first time that some of us actually felt the difference in that historical moment. Thank you."

Representative Carroll: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Your Committee on Hawaiian Affairs, 9 AM hearing agenda will reconvene for decision-making at 4:30, in Room 329. Thank you."

At this time, Representative Evans moved to keep the Journal open until 6:00 o'clock p.m. this legislative day for the purpose of receiving resolutions and concurrent resolutions for introduction, seconded by Representative Pine and carried. (Representatives Souki and Takai were excused.)

At 2:11 o'clock p.m., on motion by Representative Evans, seconded by Representative Pine and carried, the House of Representatives stood in recess until 12:00 o'clock noon tomorrow, Thursday, March 19, 2009. (Representatives Souki and Takai were excused.)

ADJOURNMENT

At 6:00 o'clock p.m., the House of Representatives adjourned until 12:00 o'clock noon tomorrow, Thursday, March 19, 2009.
