Sam Slom is a private consulting economist in Honolulu and president/owner of SMS Consultants (since 1982). He has been quoted in national publications: Forbes, The Economist, Money, USA Today, CNN, US News, Washington Post, Wall Street Journal and Investor's Business Daily. An SMS affiliate, Convention Speakers of Hawaii, provides professional speakers to Hawaii and Mainland forums. Sam has spoken in the U.S., Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Originally from Allentown, Pennsylvania, Sam moved to Hawaii in 1960. He earned a B.A. in Economics & Government from the University of Hawaii Manoa (1963) and an LL.B. from LaSalle Law School (1966). He completed financial management and business condition forecasting with the American Institute of Banking (AIB), and Free Market Economics from the Foundation for Economic Education (FEE).

Running for public office for the first time in 1996, Sam defeated a powerful 22-year incumbent and was elected as a Republican to the State Senate (East Oahu's 8th District, Hawaii Kai, Niu, Aina Haina, Waialae to Diamondhead). He served as Minority Floor Leader and member of the Commerce & Consumer Protection, Economic Development, Education & Technology, Labor & Environment, and Transportation/Intergovernmental Affairs Committees, and member of the Joint Long Term Care Financing Committee and Joint Legislative Committee on Early Childhood Education and co-chair of the bipartisan Legislative Small Business Caucus.

Re-elected in 2000 and chosen as Minority

Leader, he was a member of the Ways & Means, Judiciary, Economic Development, Tourism and Labor Committees. After reapportionment, which extended the 8th District into Kahala and Diamondhead, Sam was re-elected to a 4-year term in 2002 serving on the Ways & Means, Labor, and Tourism Committees and was one of 12 Senate-House Felix Special Education Investigation Committee members. He was re-elected in 2006 and is a member of the following committees: Judiciary & Government Affairs, Labor, Higher Education, Economic Development & Technology, Transportation & International Affairs, and Tourism. He served on the 2008 Hydrogen Contract Investigative Committee.

Sam remains President of Small Business Hawaii (SBH), Hawaii's most effective business advocacy organization. SBH is a private, independent, association of 1,000 firms. Sam is editor/publisher of Small Business News.
