TESTIMONY ON HOUSE BILL 218, HOUSE DRAFT 1
RELATING TO THE CORRECTIONS POPULATION MANAGEMENT COMMISSION
by
Ted Sakai, Director

House Committee on Finance
Representative Sylvia Luke, Chair
Representative Scott Y. Nishimoto, Vice Chair
Representative Aaron Ling Johanson, Vice Chair

Wednesday, February 20, 2013; 2:00 p.m.
State Capitol, Room 308

Chair Luke, Vice Chair Nishimoto, Vice Chair Johanson and Members of the Committee:

The Department of Public Safety (PSD) supports House Bill 218, House Draft 1, relating to the Corrections Population Management Commission (CPMC), which adds two new commission members to represent the Native Hawaiian community. This measure is a recommendation of the Native Hawaii Justice Task Force (Task Force). Travel costs related to the potential appointment of a Neighbor Island representative can be absorbed by the Department and does not require additional funds.

In 2010, the Office of Hawaiian Affairs (OHA) produced a report entitled The Disparate Treatment of Native Hawaiians in the Criminal Justice System which concluded that Native Hawaiians are overrepresented at every stage of the criminal justice system. The same conclusion had been reached in earlier studies on Native Hawaiians and the criminal justice system (Kassebaum, 1981 and 1994).

In response to the report's findings, Act 170, Session Laws of Hawaii 2011, established the Task Force to recommend policies and strategies to "reduce or prevent individuals' unnecessary involvement with the criminal justice system." The Task Force has reported its findings and recommendations to the 2013 Hawaii State Legislature.

During the course of its work, the Task Force held Pae 'Aina Summits across the State in order to engage the Native Hawaiian Community and the community at large in discussions of the 2010 OHA report findings. Those in attendance often addressed the historic social and economic context that contributes to the overrepresentation of Native Hawaiians in the criminal justice system. Poverty, educational achievement, employment opportunities, substance abuse, and mental illness experienced by Native Hawaiians were seen as contributing factors. Many testified that the focus of incarceration should be on rehabilitation and preparing offenders for their successful return to the community, using Native Hawaiian culture and values as the vehicle to provide programs and services.

The purpose of this measure is to ensure the active voice of the Native Hawaiian community is heard when addressing criminal justice policies and programs. The Task Force recommends this is best achieved by expanding the membership of the CPMC through the addition of the OHA administrator and a member of the public knowledgeable about the criminal justice system and who possesses expertise in traditional Native Hawaiian practices.

The CPMC is charged with making recommendations to the Legislature and appropriate authorities concerning a broad array of criminal justice issues, including sentencing policy, pre-trial release, intermediate punishments and alternatives to incarceration, and probation, corrections, and parole programs.

The Department concurs with the recommendation of the Task Force and requests your favorable consideration of this bill.

Thank you for the opportunity to present this testimony.

HB218 HD1
RELATING TO THE CORRECTIONS POPULATION MANAGEMENT COMMISSION
House Committee on Finance

Room 308

The Office of Hawaiian Affairs (OHA) strongly SUPPORTS HB218 HD1, which is a bill in OHA's 2013 Legislative Package. This bill continues the work of the Native Hawaiian Justice Task Force (Act 170, 2011) by adding two members to the Corrections Population Management Commission (CPMC), which we hope will lead to the development of appropriate and effective cultural programs.

In 2010, OHA produced a comprehensive report detailing the disparate treatment of Native Hawaiians in the criminal justice system. Since then, OHA has administered the Native Hawaiian Justice Task Force (NHJTF), which was tasked by the Legislature to address this multi-faceted issue. A copy of the NHJTF 2012 legislative report and related materials are available at:
www.oha.org/nativehawaiianjusticetaskforce

This bill is necessary to further the findings and recommendations of the NHJTF report. Foremost, this bill would allow the continuation of the vital interagency relationships between OHA and other state agencies that started with the NHJTF. The CPMC is an interagency body whose primary function is to address overcrowding and reentry issues in Hawai'i's criminal justice system. Secondly, as a member of CPMC, a Native Hawaiian cultural expert could assist and inform agencies to develop appropriate and effective cultural programs that are responsive to the unique needs of pa'ahao (prisoners).

This bill will not require an appropriation of funds or the hiring of new employees.

Therefore, OHA urges the committee to PASS HB218 HD1. Mahalo for the opportunity to testify on this important measure.

STRONG SUPPORT FOR HB 218 HD1- CPMC TO ADD OHA & HAWAIIAN PRACTITIONER

Aloha Chair Luke, Vice Chairs Nishimoto & Johanson and Members of the Committee!

My name is Kat Brady and I am the Coordinator of Community Alliance on Prisons, a community initiative promoting smart justice policies for more than a decade. This testimony is respectfully offered on behalf of the 5,800 Hawai'i individuals living behind bars, always mindful that approximately 1,500 Hawai'i individuals are serving their sentences abroad, thousands of miles away from their loved ones, their homes and, for the disproportionate number of incarcerated Native Hawaiians, far from their ancestral lands.

HB 218 HD1 adds the OHA administrator and a member of the public, who is knowledgeable about issues relating to the criminal justice system and has substantial experience or expertise in traditional Native Hawaiian practices, to the corrections population management commission (CPMC).

Community Alliance on Prisons is in strong support of this measure that expands the CPMC to 13 members.

The Corrections Population Management Commission (CPMC) was established through Act 343, Session Laws of Hawaii 1993. It expanded from eight to eleven members representing all three branches of state government, the county prosecuting attorney, and two community representatives.

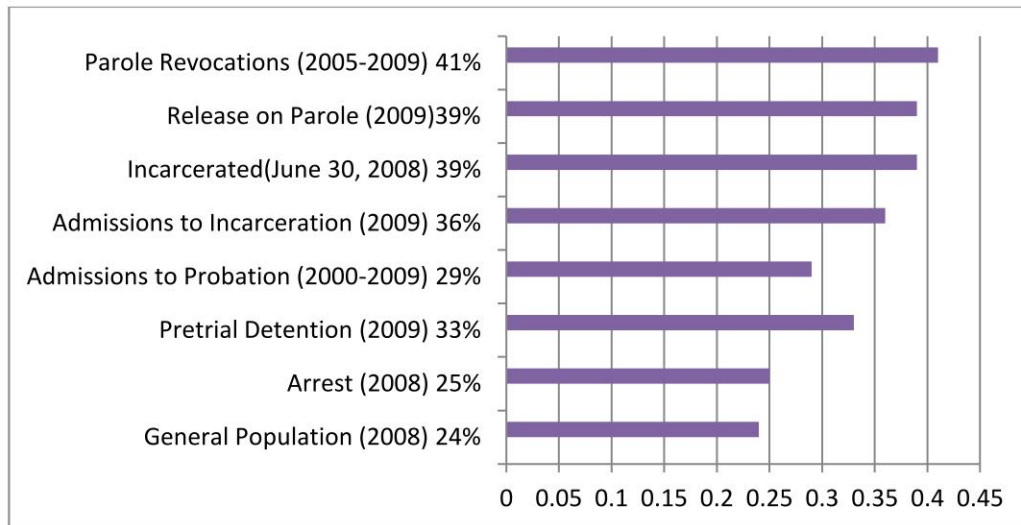

The objective for the CPMC is "establish maximum inmate population limits for each correctional facility and to formulate policies and procedures to prevent the inmate population from exceeding the capacity of each correctional facility" (Section 353F-4, Hawaii Revised Statutes). The CPMC is administratively attached to the Department of Public Safety.

It is no secret that Hawaiians are disproportionately represented in Hawai'i's criminal justice system which is due to the disparate treatment they receive at almost every stage of Hawai'i's justice system. It, therefore, is important to have Hawaiian representation on this important commission.

In 2010, OHA commissioned the Justice Policy Institute to research the disparate treatment of Hawaiians in the criminal justice system¹. The findings of that report are revealing and should be disturbing to all people of good will.

The Disproportionate Impact of the Criminal Justice System on Native Hawaiians Accumulates at Each Stage.

Native Hawaiians are more likely to receive a sentence of incarceration over probation.

Native Hawaiians as a Percentage of Total

Given a determination of guilt, Native Hawaiians are more likely to get a prison sentence than all other groups

An analysis of data from the Hawai'i Criminal Justice Data Center, controlling for age, gender, and type of charge, found that for any given determination of guilt, Native Hawaiians are much more likely to get a prison sentence than almost all other groups, except for Native Americans. Importantly, the other major group of defendants after Native Hawaiians, Whites, are only about 67 percent, or two-thirds, as likely as Native Hawaiians to be incarcerated if judged guilty.²

Native Hawaiians receive longer prison sentences than most other racial or ethnic groups.

Controlling for severity of charge, age at arrest and gender of the person charged, Native Hawaiians are sentenced to 119 days more in prison than Tongans, 73 more days than Native Americans, 68 days more than Hispanics, and 11 days more than Whites.

Native Hawaiians are sentenced to longer probation terms than most other racial or ethnic groups.

A multivariate analysis controlling for severity of the charge, age, gender and race shows that Native Hawaiians also serve more time on probation than other racial and ethnic groups, except for Hispanics. On average, a Japanese person is sentenced to 14 fewer days of probation than a Native Hawaiian person, and Whites are sentenced to nearly 21 fewer days of probation than Native Hawaiians.³

Native Hawaiians make up the highest percentage of people incarcerated in out-of-state facilities.

In 2005, of the 6,092 people who were under the custody of the Public Safety Department, which includes people in jails, 29 percent (1,780) were in facilities operated by other states or private companies on behalf of states. Of the people in out-of-state facilities, 41 percent are Native Hawaiians.⁴

Hawai'i has the largest proportion of its population of women in prison,⁵ with Native Hawaiian women comprising a disproportionate number of women in the prison.

While Native Hawaiian men and women are both disproportionately represented in Hawai'i's criminal justice system, the disparity is greater for women. Forty-four percent of the women incarcerated under the jurisdiction of the state of Hawai'i are Native Hawaiian. Comparatively, 19.8 percent of the general population of women in Hawai'i identify as Native Hawaiian or part Native Hawaiian.⁶

Parole revocations contribute to the number of Native Hawaiians in prison in Hawai'i.

Although Hawai'i released 644 people from prison to parole in 2009, 249 people were also returned to prison by revoking parole. Native Hawaiians had one of the lowest ratios of release to revocations. For every five Native Hawaiians released, two Native Hawaiians had their parole revoked (2.5:1 ratio). Japanese people have a slightly lower ratio (2.4:1) and Chinese people having the highest, with eight people being released for every one person returning to prison on a parole revocation.⁷

Native Hawaiians bear a disproportionate burden of the punitive response to drug use.

Hawai'i's criminal justice approach to drug use was a significant contributor to the total number of people admitted to prison or jail in 2009 (762 or about 13 percent), but has even greater significance for Native Hawaiians. As seen in the pie chart, Native Hawaiians made up the largest portion (32 percent) of the people admitted to prison for drug offenses in 2009.⁸

⁹ Ibid.

This concentrated impact of incarceration for Native Hawaiians is most evident when considering that approximately 80,000 people in Hawai'i over the age of 12 reported using illicit drugs in the previous month. Compared to numbers of people that report using drugs, a relatively small number are arrested and then sent to prison or jail; about 2,000 were arrested for drug offenses in 2009 and 726 were admitted to prison or jail, 32 percent of whom were Native Hawaiian.⁹

In 2011, the Legislature passed and the Governor enacted Act 170 creating a Native Hawaiian Justice Task Force¹⁰ to make recommendations to the Legislature.

In December 2012, the Native Hawaiian Justice Task Force Report¹⁰ was released. Some of the recommendations relevant to the Corrections Population Management Commission and this bill are:

B. The disproportionate representation of Native Hawaiians in the criminal justice system

B. 7. The Office of Hawaiian Affairs and Native Hawaiian community stakeholders should collaborate with State agencies for the further development of culturally-based standards and evaluations that may be applied to Native Hawaiians who come into contact with the criminal justice system. The legislature should assist in funding this effort.

B.10. The legislature should develop guidelines for the Hawai'i Paroling Authority concerning the setting of the minimum term and factors to be considered for parole. One such consideration is access to programs.⁽⁴⁵⁾¹¹

¹¹ (45) Vote taken. Two votes against the Recommendation: Department of the Prosecuting Attorney, City and County of Honolulu, "The specific bases and parameters for this recommendation are unclear." Department of the Attorney General, "Additional time is needed to review this issue due to the breadth of the recommendation. In addition, completing this Recommendation could not be expected to reduce the overrepresentation of Native Hawaiians in the justice system relative to other ethnic groups."

D.7. The Office of Hawaiian Affairs and Native Hawaiian community stakeholders should collaborate with State agencies for the further development of culturally-based standards and evaluations that may be applied to Native Hawaiians who come into contact with the criminal justice system. The legislature should assist in funding this effort.

In summary, it is crucial that Hawaiians (OHA CEO and a practitioner) participate as full members of the Corrections Population Management Commission to bring the cultural perspective so desperately needed on this Commission.

We also suggest that OHA and/or a Native Hawaiian practitioner be appointed as a full member of the Reentry Commission.

Community Alliance on Prisons urges the committee to pass this important legislation to address the growing problems of the disparate treatment and Hawaiian overrepresented in our correctional system

Comments: Chair Rep. Sylvia Luke, V. C. Rep. Scott Nishimito, V. C. Aaron Johansen and Members: My name is Dante K. Carpenter, a former legislator and Chair of the Senate Judiciary Committee. Also, I am a member-advisor to the Hui 'Ohana Ho'opakele, a justice advocacy organization, for whom I have testified in previous years in support of the use of the Kulani Site for use as a Hawaiian Cultural Pu'u'honua type facility in the future. I am in full support of the intent and purpose of this bill which would add two positions to the present Corrections Population Management Commission. The recent findings of the Native Hawaiian Justice Task Force have shown a definite need to continue to address its concerns with a broader cross-sectional representation of our statewide community. I strongly support the passage of HB218 HD1. I may be contacted at (808)596-2980. Mahalo a nui loa.
