Representative Thielen rose to speak, stating:

"Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I'm rising with reservations on Senate Bill 423, which is relating to appropriations to the Department of the Prosecuting Attorney of the City and County of Honolulu. At the hearing I had asked the representative from the Prosecutor's Office if they had any statistics on property crimes, because Kailua is very hard hit with property crime and has been for several years. They indicated no, they didn't really keep statistics like that.

"And I thought that since in the last just five months there've been 154 thefts and larcenies in Kailua, vehicle break-ins and theft have been 66, burglary 38, motor vehicle theft 26, vandalism 7. And this is from the police department which does keep the records, does arrest the criminals, and then it seems that the system stops when it reaches the Honolulu Prosecutor's Office. The Prosecutor's Office in testimony noted that it is repeat offenders that are committing the majority of the crimes, so one crime, then repeat and repeat and repeat. And without having the prosecution, those criminals are just out on the street.

"In contrast, Mr. Speaker, on the island of Kauai, they keep statistics, and that prosecutor was there from the island of Kauai and shared statistics for 2014, and they completed 296 cases that were burglaries.

"And the very next bill is the Kauai one, and I do support that strongly. I was going to avoid standing up again, Mr. Speaker, because Kauai is doing a good job. It looks like the system has broken down in Honolulu at the Prosecutor's Office where they are not pursuing these property crimes that are plaguing the community in Kailua. So I'm speaking with reservations on Standing Committee Report 1011, which is appropriations for the Prosecutor of the City and County of Honolulu, and just to save time, in strong support for the Kauai Prosecutor's Office, who is, they're doing a very good job and keeping a record of that job of the cases that they do bring to trial. Thank you."

Representative San Buenaventura rose to speak in support of both measures with reservations, stating:

"Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Reservations on this bill as well as the next bill. My reservations are that they should be part of the Prosecutor's budget, and they shouldn't have to keep coming to the Legislature every year asking for the same amount of money. Thank you."

No. 423, SD 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO APPROPRIATIONS TO THE DEPARTMENT OF THE PROSECUTING ATTORNEY OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF HONOLULU," passed Second Reading and was referred to the Committee on Finance, with Representatives San Buenaventura and Thielen voting aye with reservations, and with Representatives Har, Ing and Takumi being excused; and

Representative Saiki moved that the report of the Committee be adopted, and that S.B. No. 979, SD 2 pass Second Reading and be referred to the Committee on Finance, seconded by Representative Evans.

Representative Fukumoto Chang rose to speak in opposition to the measure, stating:

"Thank you, Mr. Speaker. In opposition. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Just very briefly because I know it's Second Reading, but I never actually voted no on this bill before, so I just wanted to explain. I haven't voted no on the bill simply because I think that it's got good intentions and that I understand where the people were coming from when they wanted this bill.

"However, we've now seen it a number of times and it's just not getting better and I think it's just time to vote no. So my concern, just so that it's out there, my concern is just that we shouldn't be contracting youth services, particularly youth services for youth in crisis and youth evaluations, to private entities that are going to be unlicensed and unregulated. And I think there was a chance that we could really put together a good network of providers for our youth, but this bill is not it and it's not, as I said, getting any better. It's not getting any closer to what it needs to be for this to really work. And I think that as it's written now, privatizing our youth services, which is really what this is going to end up doing, is not in the best interest of the youth of our state. So thank you, Mr. Speaker."

Representative McDermott rose to speak in opposition to the measure, stating:

"Mr. Speaker, I'm in opposition of this. Very briefly, just to pick up what my colleague said a moment ago, this bill deputizes folks with far less training and expertise than our good friend, the social worker from Mililani, who goes through a rigorous training program in order to make evaluations like this. So that's the number one problem.

"The second one, the key to the whole measure, is the word 'safe'. The word 'safe'. You see, you can't remove a child from the home that the parents have it in unless it's unsafe. And so my concern, particularly now with these deputized folks who are not professional social workers, that to move the child out they'll coax them into saying, oh, it's unsafe. And we're talking children who are 14 to 18 years old, yeah I don't want to go back there. This puts the parents in a precarious situation because now the balance of power is shifted to the child. Because in order to get that child back in their home they have to go to Family Court, because the worker, the coach, the deputy, says it's unsafe. It's unsafe. So they made that evaluation, now the parents have got to go down to Family Court and prove a negative. This undermines the family structure. It undermines parental rights.

"Now even assuming there's a need for this, we have to assume that there's no other family members that this young person can talk to. There's no older siblings. There's no adult family friends. The young person who we're told in other measures is doing all sorts of things and they're having sex, and you've got to talk to them, they're adults. They don't know where the YMCA is, they don't know where the Boys and Girls Club is, they don't know where the local church is, or clergyman. They don't know where the school counselor's office is to report abuse or get help. And we have to believe that with all their teachers and all their years in school, they haven't developed a relationship with at least one teacher they can confide in and say, I'm having problems. And of course, that teacher would then contact the appropriate social work agency.

"So this is a redundant measure that we can't afford. They're only asking for one position, I believe, but they'll come back and ask for more year after year after year because the task is so large. So for those reasons, Mr. Speaker, I stand in opposition."

Representative Tupola rose to speak in opposition to the measure, stating:

"Mr. Speaker, in opposition. For the same reasons as my colleagues, concern about the fact that there's already different entities within our state that provide these services, and that these entities do also need our attention and help, and privatizing it wouldn't help the situation per say, but I do enjoy all the other services that Hawaii Youth Services Network provides and commend them for what they do for the community. For those reasons, in opposition. Thank you."

Representative Ward rose to speak in opposition to the measure, stating:

"Mr. Speaker, no vote. There's got to be a better way to do this. Thank you."

"Can you please register a no vote for me? And just a brief comment. When I was sitting in the hearing I had a chance to speak with the Department of Education, which is only one of the many entities that will be mandated to have an electronic system for the ERS, which I think is great. I think that we're encouraging them to go into the 21st century or whatever century they're ready for, and getting them to do it online. But they have a really, really steep hill that they have to climb in order to get there. And I know that it's not going to be effective until 2020, but still they've been trying to work with ERS on different things and it's not been getting better, for them to try to move their system into an electronic system.

"So I think that I would support a resolution to this intent, to encourage them to do an electronic system, but to mandate it for these guys, they're struggling right now for the DOE to get the ERS to work. But making the whole thing turn over into an electronic system without our help, I think if we provided a way to help them do that or a way to bridge that gap between them and ERS, I would support that. But for that reason, a no vote. Thank you."

"I rise in support. I know it's Second Reading, Mr. Speaker, but I just want to make some brief comments on 1046, 1047 and 1050. These relate to teacher pay. The teacher shortage in Hawaii seems to never go away, Mr. Speaker. The Honolulu Star-Advertiser stated recently that more than half of Hawaii's public school teachers leave within the first five years of being hired. There's a number of reasons this is the case, I believe, Mr. Speaker, but I believe the single most important reason is rather straight forward, and that's low pay. In fact it's not just low pay, it's the lowest pay in the nation when you factor in cost of living.

"Recently, Civil Beat has determined that even not factoring in the high cost of living, the average teacher in Hawaii earns 19% less than the average teacher in California, 20% less than Massachusetts, 25% less than New York. If we want to retain quality teachers, Mr. Speaker, we have to pay them what they're worth.

"Some of the subsequent resolutions here deal with some ancillary activities that teachers engage in. In addition to being underpaid, Mr. Speaker, they also do a lot of things they don't get paid for. Class prep, evaluation, you name it. They work after school every day, during evenings, over weekends. They need to get paid for the work that they do, and they need a formal mechanism for overtime. Thank you, Mr. Speaker."
