I was reared and educated in Hawaii, the Marianas and California. Upon returning home to Hawaii in 1989, I have concentrated on contributing to my community by participating in various efforts and organizations focused on "stewardship and collaborative management" of the natural, cultural and economic resources of Hawaii. I am committed to community based planning and place based management on a watershed scale and believe that practicing "community kuleana (responsibility)" is the most effective tool for this work.

Respectfully,

Barbara Makaala Kaaumoana
