

Nancy Elvira Lo

Ms. Elvira Lo was a graduate of University of Hawaii Manoa, since then she had created several businesses.

One of her expertise in the real estate field where she is an active license general contractor and real estate agent. She is responsible for the administration, management, leasing, as well as over looking the design, co-ordinate and development of extensive properties in Honolulu, U. S. mainland and overseas, both in commercial, industrial, single family houses and apartment buildings since 1985 to present.

In 1989 she started Hibiscus Aloha Corporation, Elvira Chocolat of Hawaii and Hawaii Monarch Chocolate in 1992. She currently is the president and CEO of her company and has been instrumental in overseeing the continuous growth and development. She has been selling her gourmet macadamia nut chocolate on Home Shopping Network nationally since 1997 as well as markets her products locally, nationally and internationally.

While she was the President of the Hawaii Food Manufactures Association (1999-2001), which is a 170 members organization of local food manufacturers and affiliates, she leads this active group through her participation in legislative affairs and administration. She also attends national trade shows in Japan, Hong Kong, Singapore, Taiwan, and U.S. mainland to expand Hawaii made products to U. S. mainland and overseas. She also participates in activities that foster opportunities for new and profitable activities for the organization, such as E-commerce, group discounts and financial benefits.
