Aloha Kākou!

I am excited to share that through community collaboration with the Department of Hawaiian Homelands, Department of Transportation and the City and County of Honolulu, Nānākuli Valley has had Phase 1 installed for traffic calming that includes signage, striping and the installation of 6 speed tables completed on both Nānākuli Avenue and Haleakala Avenue. There is more work and installations that continue to take place and I will have a report ready to share once the project is completed.

I would like to thank the community members and families that have met with myself, my staff and the engineers that are working on this project. There was a lot of tears and aloha shared. It is my hope that once completed residents, both pedestrian and drivers will have safer roads in Nānākuli Valley.

I look forward to working with the departments and community members to identify other areas of concern within House District 43 that need to be addressed.

Mahalo nui,
Stacelynn Eli
