Preparing for a natural disaster, whether it's a flood, tropical storm, hurricane, tsunami, or some other event is now. Hurricane season is officially from June to November and the Pacific is already tracking its first tropical depression. Although weather trackers forecast the current system passing north of the Hawaiian Islands, this should not result in delaying any actions in preparing for the hurricane season.

Below are links to help you prepare for this season. Should a natural disaster strike, I will be sending out emails with information and numbers to contact for shelters and aid.
