A BILL FOR AN ACT

RELATING TO EDUCATION.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF HAWAII:

1

PART I

SECTION 1. The legislature finds that the importance of a quality education cannot be overstated. Significant research has shown that the experiences of children and the environments in which they develop have a lasting impact on their success later in life.

7 The legislature further finds that the State faces a
8 critical shortage of workers in certain career fields. To 9 prevent disruptions in key sectors of the State's economy and to 10 ensure Hawaii's future prosperity, the State must implement 11 programs to connect youth to these high-demand career fields.

A profession in which the State faces a serious shortage of qualified workers is teaching. The legislature finds that the ability of the State to address the existing teacher shortage is a matter of statewide concern.

16 Another industry that is realizing a rising need and will 17 contribute significant economic growth is renewable energy and related industries that are synergistic in supporting the industry and having a symbiotic and interdependent relationship with it.

4 Noting these issues, the legislature recognizes that there 5 is a demand for innovative programs that address the education 6 needs of the State. One example of such a program is Waipahu 7 high school's academy of professional and public services, a 8 career academy that works to increase student achievement 9 through authentic and rigorous experiences in a wide variety of 10 fields, including finance, hospitality and tourism, business 11 management, marketing, culinary arts, law and justice, and 12 teacher education. The academy partners with working 13 professionals to allow students to learn relevant, industry-14 standard skills. Another example of such a program is East 15 Hawaii high schools' academy of professional and public services 16 and career and technical education courses taught by Hawaii 17 community college that works to increase student achievement and 18 pathways to jobs in the renewable energy sector and a wide 19 variety of related fields such as welding, farming, forestry and automotive technology. Coursework includes a high level of 20 21 hands-on experiences to prepare students for employment by

1 working with the industry though internships and mentoring to 2 allow students to learn relevant, industry-standard skills. 3 Students attend field trips and experience fieldwork for 4 practical hands-on opportunities as experiential learning. The 5 students earn dual-credit, applicable to high school and 6 college, towards a career and technical education degree, and 7 department of education teachers are also delivered competency-8 based college credit curriculum. The legislature finds that 9 programs like Waipahu high school's academy of professional and 10 public services and East Hawaii high schools' coursework 11 delivered through the Hawaii community college should be 12 supported and expanded.

Programs having an early college component also provide the State an opportunity to directly encourage youth to consider careers in high-demand fields such as teaching. For example, the State could expand accessibility to careers in these fields by providing grants for high school students to enroll in college courses that are directly applicable to degrees in highdemand fields.

20 The legislature further finds that the Hawaii educator loan
21 program was established in 2001 to address the State's teacher

1 shortage by providing loans to students participating in teacher 2 education programs. Loan recipients who successfully complete 3 their teaching education program and go on to teach in a 4 position that meets the requirements of the program are eligible 5 for forgiveness of the loan. The legislature finds that 6 connecting graduates of Waipahu high school's academy of 7 professional and public services or similar programs at other 8 public schools with the Hawaii educator loan program could boost 9 participation in the Hawaii educator loan program and ultimately 10 help to ease the State's teacher shortage.

Accordingly, the purpose of this Act is to establish career and technical education and other initiatives at the department of education and the University of Hawaii to expand opportunities for prospective future teachers as a model that could be replicated for other high-demand career fields in the future.

17 Specifically, this Act:

18 (1) Appropriates funds to the department of education to 19 establish a pilot program that provides grants for 20 high school students to enroll in college courses
21 through the running start program or other similar
