24 industry is $39.92, which is more than double the $15.53
25 survival level hourly wage for individuals in the State as 26 reported in the 2020 ALICE Report for Hawaii; and

27
28 WHEREAS, the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics data
29 shows that the projected increase in computer and technology
30 occupations between 2020 to 2030 is thirteen percent nationally,

1 however, the projected employment increase in the computer and 2 mathematics occupation group in Hawaii between 2018 and 2028 is 3 limited to seven percent; and 4

5 WHEREAS, the demand for employees in the information
6 technology field in Hawaii exceeds the number of available
7 individuals seeking jobs in the industry; and 8

9 WHEREAS, ensuring that the State's workforce has an 10 adequate and efficient education in information technology is 11 essential for the continued growth of Hawaii's economy; and 12

13 WHEREAS, to develop a thriving information technology
14 workforce, the State must improve various aspects of its 15 workforce development programs; and 16

17 WHEREAS, one of the fundamental components of building a
18 robust qualified workforce is the collection of relevant data 19 that will enable better evaluation of available programs and 20 contribute to better planning for the future; now, therefore,
21

22 BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the Thirty-first
