H.B. NO. ¹⁴⁰⁹_{H.D. 1}

A BILL FOR AN ACT

RELATING TO EMPLOYEE BENEFITS.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF HAWAII:

SECTION 1. The legislature finds that in 2020, one in ten babies, or ten per cent of live births, was born preterm in the State, meaning that those births occurred before thirty-seven completed weeks of gestation. The legislature also finds that approximately 1.6 per cent of live births in the State are "very preterm", denoting that the babies were born before thirty-two completed weeks of gestation.

8 The legislature further finds that these preterm and very 9 preterm babies spend weeks or months in neonatal intensive care 10 units (NICU), requiring their parents to also spend weeks or 11 months at the NICU in support of their babies' care. Research 12 published in 2015 in the medical journal Pediatrics shows that 13 parental "kangaroo care", meaning continual skin-to-skin 14 contact, reduces infant mortality by thirty-six per cent, lowers 15 risk of sepsis or major infection by forty-seven per cent, and 16 reduces the length of stay in the NICU by up to one week. 17 Additional benefits include better neurological development of

1 the baby, reduced depression for the mother, and a fifty per 2 cent increase in the likelihood of exclusive breastfeeding after 3 discharge, which itself has well-known and unique benefits for 4 child health and development. For babies in the NICU, it is 5 vitally important that mothers continually express breast milk
6 for them, which requires up to an hour of pumping every few 7 hours throughout the day and night.

8 The legislature also finds that 'Oahu has the only high-risk 9 NICU in the State, resulting in parents from other islands being 10 forced to relocate at significant disruption and expense for an 11 extended period of time. Even for parents on 'Oahu, it is nearly impossible to maintain full time employment when they are 12 13 constantly caring for their babies in the NICU. Added to this 14 time, expense, and stress, parents caring for their NICU child 15 may not necessarily qualify for financial assistance through temporary disability insurance or protection from job loss under 16 17 the federal Family and Medical Leave Act. When parents do 18 qualify, they often use a large proportion of their family leave 19 while their baby is in the NICU, and often feel financial 20 pressure to return to work when their babies are still very 21 young, which deprives the babies and parents of early bonding

1 that is an important factor in child development and long-term
2 outcomes. Some parents return to work while their babies are 3 still in the NICU to preserve and use their family leave upon 4 their babies' discharge. Furthermore, many parents are advised 5 not to enroll their babies in childcare upon discharge from the 6 NICU due to concerns of infection, which further interferes with 7 their planned return to work.

8 The legislature additionally finds that according to the 9 State Health Planning and Development Agency's 2020 Health Care 10 Utilization Report, the cost of an average NICU stay is between 11 $7,700 to $8,500 per day in Hawai'i. Thus, the cost of a twelve-12 week NICU stay could easily exceed $650,000. Reducing a NICU 13 stay by one week could save an average of $57,000 per baby. 14 Furthermore, the cost of temporary disability insurance for 15 twelve weeks for two parents is less than $40,000.

Accordingly, the purpose of this Act is to extend, under certain conditions, the family leave period for employees who are unable to perform their employment duties due to the birth of a child who is required to stay in a neonatal intensive care unit for up to eight weeks.

1	SECTION 2. Section 398-3, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is
2	amended to read as follows:
3	"$398-3 Family leave requirement. (a) An employee shall
4	be entitled to a total of four weeks of family leave during any
5	calendar year:
6	(1) Upon the birth of a child of the employee or the
7	adoption of a child; or
8	(2) To care for the employee's child, spouse, reciprocal
9	beneficiary, sibling, grandchild, or parent with a
10	serious health condition $[-]$;
11	provided that any employee who suffers from a total inability to 12	perform the duties of the employee's employment resulting from
13	the birth of a child who is required to stay in a neonatal
14	intensive care unit for up to eight weeks, shall be entitled to 15	additional family leave equivalent to the duration the child is 16	in a neonatal intensive care unit, starting from the date the
17	child is discharged from the neonatal intensive care unit;
18	provided further that during the additional period of family
19	leave, the employee:
20	(1) Provides kangaroo care to the child; or
21	(2) Expresses breast milk for the child.

1	SECTION 3. Section 398-4, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is
2	amended by amending subsections (a) and (b) to read as follows:
3	"(a) [Pursuant to section 398-3, an employee shall be
4	entitled to four weeks of family leave. The family leave shall]
5	Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to require an
6	employer to provide its employees with paid family leave. If an
7	employer provides its employees with paid family leave, family
8	leave taken by an employee pursuant to section 398-3 may consist
9	of unpaid leave, paid leave, or a combination of paid and unpaid
10	leave. If an employer provides paid family leave for fewer than 11	[four weeks,] the family leave period to which an employee is
12	entitled pursuant to section 398-3, [the additional period of 13	leave added leave to attain the four-week total] leave taken by
14	the employee beyond the period of paid family leave provided by 15	the employer may be unpaid.
16	(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (c), an
17	employee may elect to substitute any part of family leave to 18	which the employee is entitled pursuant to section 398-3, with
19	any of the employee's accrued paid leaves, including [but not
20	limited to] vacation[$_{r}$] or personal[, or family leave for any
21	part of the four-week period in subsection (a).] leave."
