II. Background and Summary

This section shall clearly and concisely summarize and highlight the contents of the request in such a way as to provide the State Legislature with a broad understanding of the request. Please include the following:

1. A brief description of the applicant's background;

The Pacific & Asian Affairs Council is a Hawai'i based 501(c)(3) nonprofit educational organization established in 1954 with a mission to promote youth understanding of, and engagement in, global and international issues; in particular, Hawai'i's role in the Asia-Pacific region. Pacific & Asian Affairs Council (PAAC) programs prepare the next generation of Hawai'i leaders for an increasingly interconnected world, promoting citizen diplomacy and global competence in our youth. Our programs build bridges from Hawai'i to the world, inspire young leaders, and develop global citizens one handshake at a time.

Throughout PAAC's 70-year history, more than 100,000 high school students statewide have participated in the flagship, award-winning High School Global Education Program, in which students develop 21st century skills through a menu of engaging activities and robust curriculum designed to teach youth the complexities of global issues and ways they can be addressed, developing 21st century skills required to thrive as adults in an increasingly global community, career, and life.

During a typical year, 3,000 students statewide, on average, participate in PAAC programming comprised of Clubs, an interschool conference, and Study Tours, among other non-traditional, experiential learning opportunities, to support development of students' critical thinking, leadership, empathy, and cross-cultural collaboration skills.

Over the past 20 years, more than 400 youth from across the state have participated in PAAC Study Tours, an immersive learning opportunity in which students travel to a country in the Asia-Pacific for 10 days on average, regardless of ability to pay. Since 2004, PAAC has awarded more than $1.4 million in scholarships for over 70 Study Tours in Japan, China, South Korea, Vietnam, Indonesia, New Zealand, and Tahiti.

Schools currently engaged in PAAC programming include:

*'Aiea High School
*Farrington High School
Hawai'i Technology Academy – Oʻahu
*Hilo High School
Honolulu Waldorf Academy
'Iolani School
James Campbell High School
Kaiser High School
Kalani High School
Kamehameha Schools - Kapālama
Kapa'a High School
*Kealakehe High School *King Kekaulike High School *Konawaena High School *Leilehua High School Maui High School Mililani High School Moanalua High School Punahou School Roosevelt High School St. Andrew's Schools – The Priory Waiākea High School Waialua High School Waldorf School *Waipahu High School

* Title I schools, a federal education program to support low-income students.

2. The goals and objectives related to the request;

The Pacific & Asian Affairs Council (PAAC) requests $220,000 for seed funding to establish a Hawai'i Ambassadors Program (HAP) which will aim to select one student from each Title I public high school to participate in a six-month program that develops their self identity, leadership skills, understanding of global issues, and culminates in a scholarship to participate in a PAAC Study Tour to a destination with ties to the State of Hawai'i, be-it through a Sister-State relationship or other developing opportunities. Funding support ensures students statewide are not limited by inability to pay.

Specifically, the goals and objectives of this request are as follows:

Goal 1: Support the personal and career development of students from Hawai'i public schools, specifically those from low-income families and/or Title I High Schools.

Objective 1a: 26 Student Ambassadors will participate in the program with the aim of having all Title I High Schools represented.

Objective 1b: Student Ambassadors will explore their culture, learn about our host culture (Hawai'i), learn more about their leadership styles, and gain a better understanding of the country they will visit.

Objective 1c: Student Ambassadors will experience first-hand the people, culture, history, economy, education system, every day life, and challenges of the country they visit.

Objective 1d: Student Ambassadors will meet with organizations related to their country destination and/or the Sister-State relationship.

Goal 2: Student Ambassadors will share their experience with their communities to inspire others to investigate the world, consider a variety of perspectives, communicate ideas, and take meaningful action.

Objective 2a: Student Ambassadors will create an e-portfolio consisting of a blog and/or video recap of their program journey to share with the community.

Goal 3: PAAC will provide global education to a greater number of students in more areas of our islands.

Objective 3a: In addition to the 26 Student Ambassadors, PAAC anticipates that after the completion of this program (after the end of the grant period) more students from the ambassadors' schools will participate in PAAC programs.

3. The public purpose and need to be served;

Public Purpose

The public purpose served by the proposed project is of great benefit to communities throughout the state. The Hawai'i Ambassadors Program aims to be a powerful experience where student participants start or continue their journey to developing global competence, support connections between the State of Hawai'i's Sister-States and other partner countries, and inspire those in their communities through their experience. In addition, the potency of travel, and traveling together, will help these students, representing a vast majority of the state, build bonds and lasting relationships between each other.

Why does global competence matter? According to Asia Society Education's article, "Five Reasons Why Global Competence Matters":

- 1. Global competence is the toolkit a productive, involved citizenry uses to meet the problems and opportunities of the world.
 - Global competence challenges students to investigate the world, consider a variety of perspectives, communicate ideas, and take meaningful action. A globally focused curriculum engages students in their own learning and motivates them to strive for knowledge and understanding. And a curious, inspired student strives to learn more in school and beyond.
- 2. A new generation of students requires different skills from the generations that came before.
 - The world is changing fast. Boundaries—literal as well as figurative— are shifting and even disappearing altogether. The culture that once lived halfway around the world now lives just down the block. The ability to thrive in this new and rapidly changing environment is grounded in a globally focused curriculum.
- 3. More than ever before, individual actions reach around the globe.
 - Environmental concerns, economic shifts, global poverty, population growth, human rights, and political conflict can seem intractable and overwhelming, yet they absolutely require thoughtful action. In a globally focused curriculum, students learn that the world needs them to act, and that they can make a difference.
- 4. Global competence integrates knowledge of the world and the skill of application with the disposition to think and behave productively.
 - Global competence is not restricted to knowing about other cultures and other perspectives. In addition to knowledge of the world, a globally competent citizen exhibits habits like critical thinking, rational optimism, innovation, empathy, and awareness of the influences of culture on individual behavior and world events.

- 5. Success in career and life will depend on global competence, because career and life will play out on the global stage.
 - Already, government, business, and cultural institutions are called to solve the world's problems cooperatively. Engaging in these challenges requires high-order knowledge and thinking skill, as well as shared language and cultural understanding. In a globally focused curriculum, students prepare to approach problems from multiple perspectives and to thrive in a global future.

The program also aims to support the State of Hawai'i's Sister-State program. By traveling to countries with Sister-State status, or countries developing relationships with Hawai'i, our Student Ambassadors will help to raise Hawai'i's profile internationally, which can support future dynamic cooperative programs which could help to stimulate Hawai'i's economy.

Student Ambassadors will share their experiences with their communities, which will undoubtedly inspire community members, peers, and educators to look at life through a global lens. Based on past experiences, PAAC highly anticipates that after completing the program, Student Ambassadors will be motivated to partake more in school (and life) and take the lead to get more students engaged in PAAC. Many students who travel with PAAC return and start a PAAC Club at their high schools. This provides greater numbers of students in more communities throughout Hawai'i a valuable out of school time experience which will hone their global competence.

Need

PAAC continues to be the only organization to fund and implement year round global education programs, including study tours, to Hawai'i youth regardless if they attend public, private, charter or home school. In addition, PAAC provides scholarships to support students participating on study tours to make it affordable for Hawai'i families exhibiting financial need or who have demonstrated commitment to PAAC.

Global education prepares youth who are inheriting an increasingly interdependent environment (Goren et al., 2019). More than half of new Hawai'i high school graduates are perceived to be ill-prepared for the rigors of Hawai'i's current economy and for the future changing economy, according to a survey conducted by the Hawaii P-20 Partnerships for Education, among 123 Hawai'i employers (2012).

Global competence is also positively correlated with community socioeconomic stability, mobility, and health (Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development 2018). It is also a pathway to increased opportunity for low- to moderate-income (LMI) families – of which this program focuses on supporting through Title I schools – disrupting intergenerational socioeconomic disadvantage, as well as supporting economic stability across our diverse statewide communities, paving the path to more equitable access to fast-growing and high-paying 21st century careers and building non-cognitive skills such as self-efficacy, interest and curiosity, problem-solving, and collaboration (Fredericks, 2017).

Research shows global education and global competence are significant precursors for success in the 21st century workforce for youth worldwide (Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development, Asia Society, 2018). Characteristics of global competence include leadership and socioemotional skills, active listening, civic learning, critical thinking, and tolerance for cultural diversity and differing views, among others. These skills have been identified as critical to students' – and Hawai'i's – short and long-term success and sustainability by Hawai'i educational stakeholders, such as the HiDOE and Hawai'i P-20 Partnerships for Education.

In an increasingly interdependent world, Hawai'i has an opportunity to empower its youth to be the next leaders of a global tomorrow. Support for this project will ensure youth from around the state have access to the experiential educational opportunities and international topics that are overwhelmingly attributed to better outcomes for youth and the communities in which they reside (Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development 2018).

In addition, according to the National Center for Education Statistics, "87% of public schools reported that the COVID-19 pandemic has negatively impacted student socio-emotional development during the 2021–22 school year". Additionally, 84% of public schools agreed or strongly agreed that students' behavioral development has also been negatively impacted. High school youth who have lived through the unexpected and isolating pandemic can greatly benefit from a transformative experience such as an organized study tour with peers which allows them to explore the world, challenge themselves to reach beyond their boundaries and comfort zones, and build new relationships for social and emotional wellbeing.

4. Describe the target population to be served; and

The proposed project serves youth in grades 10-11 who attend Hawai'i public high schools and who are eligible for the Free and Reduced-Price Meal program. The goal is to have one student from each of Hawai'i's public Title I High Schools participate in the program. At the time of writing, the Title I Eligibility Data for School Year 2023-24 lists 28 public schools serving grades 10-11, however, PAAC will not include the following two schools: 1) Ni'ihau High and Elementary; 2) Hawai'i School for the Deaf and Blind.

5. Describe the geographic coverage.

The program aims to directly serve one student from each public Title I High School which would cover six islands (Hawai'i, Kaua'i, Lana'i, Maui, Moloka'i, and O'ahu) and 14 DOE complex areas.

III. Service Summary and Outcomes

The Service Summary shall include a detailed discussion of the applicant's approach to the request. The applicant shall clearly and concisely specify the results, outcomes, and measures of effectiveness from this request. The applicant shall:

1. Describe the scope of work, tasks and responsibilities;

The Hawai'i Ambassadors Program will consist of four major parts: 1) selection of participants, 2) pre-study tour programming, 3) study tour and reflection, and 4) storytelling. All participants will be asked to pay $500 as a guarantee for the program.

Selection of Participants:

PAAC will handle all elements of selecting the 26 Student Ambassadors including communications with school administrators, applications, and selection. Communications with schools will be led by the Executive Director (ED) with support from the Outreach Liaison (OL), while applications and selections will be steered by the Study Tours & WorldQuest Competition Director (STWCD). The High School Global Education Program Director (HSGEPD) and High School Global Education Program Coordinator (HSGEPC) will support with all elements as needed.

Pre-Study Tour Programming:

PAAC will create a curriculum for the Student Ambassadors that will incorporate elements such as: identity (understanding their culture, understanding our host culture in Hawai'i), knowledge (learning about the country they will travel to, learning about global issues such as through the lens of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals), community building, and networking with organizations (businesses, chambers of commerce, cultural groups, etc.) related to the destination country. Curriculum development will be co-developed by the STWQD, HSGEPD, and HSGEPC.

Student Ambassadors will meet five times prior to travel, both in-person and virtually for these workshops. A meeting with parents will also be conducted to provide an overview of the program, review safety policies and ensure students and parents understand goals, expectations, and logistics.

Study Tour and Reflection

To accommodate 26 Student Ambassadors, at least two Study Tours will be planned. The trips are anticipated to take place in June for 10-12 days. Tasks are primarily facilitated by the STWCD and include:

- Conceptualizing and planning the Study Tours and working with a travel agent/international partner to secure flights, hotel and other logistics.
- Conduct inspection trip to meet with local partners, coordinate logistics, map out the schedule, etc.
- Reviewing applications and conducting student interviews with the Study Tour committee to select participants.
- Selecting and preparing co-chaperone(s) for the trip (up to two teachers per trip).
- Serving as the lead chaperone on at least one of the Study Tours; ensuring the safety of students as well as managing trip logistics and funds to ensure the educational components are met.
- Assisting students in sharing their experience and reflection through an eportfolio which will be a continuous work through the project period. This will consist of a blog and recap video done by each Student Ambassador.

PAAC will pursue a partnership with the DOE, which if approved, will allow students to earn a 0.5 Social Studies elective credit after successful completion of the Study Tour.

Storytelling

Along with the Student Ambassadors' e-portfolios, PAAC will hire a video production company to document and create shareable content to best share the impact of the program through the Student Ambassadors' journeys. These stories will be shared through social media and pitched to news media (print, radio, and television) locally, domestically, and internationally (in the destination country).

ED, HSGEPD, HSGEPC and OL will support with all program elements as needed.

2. Provide a projected annual timeline for accomplishing the results or outcomes of the service;

JULY

Project period begins with recruitment planning and finalizing the project work plan with staff and project partners. Initial communication outreach can begin to school administrators for their feedback on application and selection process.

PAAC will begin discussions with the DOE to allow students to earn 0.5 credit upon successful completion of the summer Study Tour.

PAAC staff will adjust programs in response to feedback from evaluations and direction from the PAAC Board of Governors.

Student program evaluations collect qualitative data (depth of experience for individual participants as reflected by their comments, quotes, and stories) and also affirms quantitative (numbers of students participating in each activity). PAAC plans to heavily promote the benefits and success stories that develop throughout the project period to the community in order to raise funds and awareness for future Hawai'i Ambassador Programs to take place, specifically serving mid-to-lowincome students or those attending Title I schools. Investing in using a video production company to create video and other creative content to relay the stories is a key element of securing funding from the community.

If PAAC does not receive State GIA funding after fiscal year 2024-25, the organization will seek other foundational support to keep the program running. If necessary, PAAC may have to make adjustments to the program such as reducing the number of workshops or participants, or think of another funding model to make the trip affordable for students.
