Public Purpose

The applicant shall specify whether the grant will be used for a public purpose pursuant to Section 42F-102, Hawai'i Revised Statutes.

Response: The grant from the State of Hawai'i will be used for a public purpose pursuant to Section 42F-102, Hawai'i Revised Statutes

II. Background and Summary

1. Brief description of the applicant's background;

Response: The Hawai'i Mobile Museum of Tolerance (HMMOT) is a free traveling mobile education center ("MEC"), utilizing innovative technology and interactive lessons to bring a message of respect, acceptance, and tolerance directly to schools and communities across the state of Hawai'i. HMMOT is inspired by existing Mobile Museum of Tolerance (mmot.com) operating in Illinois and the Tour for Humanity operating in Toronto (fswc.ca/tour-for-humanity). These mobile education centers (MECs) are designed as innovative learning environments housed in converted RVs. They use interactive technology and lessons to teach about tolerance, human rights, and the history of events such as Japanese Internments Camps. The Tour for Humanity and Mobile Museum of Tolerance have reached thousands of students and community members, imparting lessons on historical and contemporary issues of racism, intolerance, and the importance of diversity and democracy.

HMMOT plans to initially offer two workshops:

1. The Hawaii Experience - In this workshop, participants explore pivotal moments in Hawai'i's history that illustrate the impact of prejudice, courage, and resilience. Topics include the internment of Japanese Americans during World War II, the story of the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai and the Massie Trial, and modern issues such as the discrimination faced by Micronesian communities. Through this historical lens, participants engage in discussions on contemporary challenges like bullying, hate crimes, and systemic intolerance, fostering a deeper understanding of the importance of equity and inclusion in today's world.
2. Combat Hate - Designed for students in grades 7–12, this 45-minute digital media literacy workshop equips participants with tools to identify and analyze potentially harmful media, combat hate online, and create a positive social media presence. Working in small groups and using tablet computers, students apply the Center for Media Literacy's Five Key Questions to evaluate carefully curated examples of online hate. The workshop also covers the concept of a digital footprint, strategies for reporting hate online, and fostering responsible digital behavior. Students conclude the session with a reflective exercise, considering actionable ways to make a positive difference.

2. The goals and objectives related to the request
Response: The goal of the $200,000 GIA request is to help fund the fourth and final payment for the Hawai'i MEC, which has been ordered from Mobility Resource Associates, Inc. (MRA). The Hawai'i MEC was ordered in 2024 and is scheduled for delivery in Q3 2025. The total cost of the Hawai'i MEC is being funded through a combination of private donations and this requested Grant-in-Aid (GIA) funding. The payment structure for the Hawai'i MEC is as follows:
  - Deposit: $250,000 (Paid via private donations)|
  - Payment 2: $174,870 (Pending, sourced from private donations)
  - Payment 3: $265,000 (Pending, sourced from private donations)
  - Final Payment: $249,571 (Pending, partially funded through GIA funding)
3. The public purpose and need to be served
Response: The public purpose served by this initiative is to provide accessible, interactive education on tolerance and human rights directly to communities across Hawai'i, which may otherwise have limited access to such resources. The need addressed is the increasing importance of fostering understanding and respect among diverse populations, combating intolerance, and equipping young people with knowledge and critical thinking skills to confront prejudice and hate.
4. Population to be served
Response: The target population includes students from elementary to high school levels, educators, and community leaders across Hawai'i. Special attention may be given to communities that are typically underserved by traditional educational resources, ensuring inclusivity and a broad impact.
5. Geographic coverage.
Response: The geographic coverage of HMMOT will span the entire state of Hawai'i. Given the archipelago's unique geography, the design will consider the logistical challenges of transporting the MEC between islands, ensuring that the reach includes not just the main urban centers but also the more remote and rural areas, thus providing equitable educational access state-wide.

III. Service Summary and Outcomes

1. Describe the scope of work, tasks and responsibilities;
Response: The Hawai'i Mobile Museum of Tolerance (HMMOT) project involves creating a traveling mobile education center (MEC) tailored to Hawai'i's unique needs and geography. The scope of work includes:
  - Partnering with Mobility Resource Associates, Inc. ("MRA") in Madison Heights, MI for the design and manufacturing of the MEC. The MEC was ordered in late 2024, with initial payments made. GIA funding will be used to make the final payments and take delivery of the MEC.
2. Projected annual timeline for accomplishing the outcomes of the service;
Response:
  - Months 1-3: Final payments made to MRA and taking delivery of MEC.

3. Quality assurance and evaluation plans for the request.

Response: Quality assurance and evaluation plans include, but are not limited to;

- Regular Communication: Establishing a routine of regular Zoom calls and on-site visits with MRA to ensure adherence to quality standards and project timelines.
- Continuous Evaluation: HMMOT staff will actively monitor the manufacturing process, making adjustments as necessary to align with project goals and timelines.
- Post-Delivery Evaluation: After delivery of the MEC, a comprehensive evaluation will be conducted to assess the vehicle's readiness and effectiveness before deployment to schools.

4. Measure(s) of effectiveness that will be reported to the State agency through which grant funds are appropriated (the expending agency).

Response: Measures of effectiveness include, but are not limited to;

- Timely Completion: The successful manufacturing, and delivery of the MEC within the specified timeline.
- Quality Standards: Adherence to the agreed-upon design specifications and quality standards as set by HMMOT.
- Readiness for Deployment: The MEC's readiness to begin educational tours as per the scheduled timeline.

2. Facilities

HMMOT intends to partner with Roberts Hawaii, a well-established tour bus operator, to utilize local infrastructure for the Mobile Education Center (MEC). This partnership will provide essential facilities for maintaining the MEC, along with skilled personnel, including drivers and service staff, to support its operation. Partnering with a local operator ensures the MEC is properly serviced and housed in facilities designed for its care. Additionally, this collaboration highlights HMMOT's commitment to community involvement and the strategic use of local resources.

VI. Personnel: Project Organization and Staffing

1. Proposed Staffing, Staff Qualifications, Supervision and Training

The Hawai'i Mobile Museum of Tolerance (HMMOT) staffing plan is crafted to ensure a high-quality, educational experience with a lean operational approach. The team will consist of an Executive Director with experience in leadership and fundraising, an Office and Logistics Manager adept in administrative and logistical coordination, and two Hawai'i-licensed educators with curriculum development expertise. The Executive Director, already onboard, will oversee all aspects of HMMOT, including coordination with the Simon Wiesenthal Center in Los Angeles, Illinois, and Friends of Simon Wiesenthal Center in Toronto.

The Office and Logistics Manager, slated for part-time hire in Q2 2025 and transitioning to full-time by Q3 2025, will manage office functions and the scheduling logistics of the MEC. This role is critical for the seamless operation and movement of the MEC across Hawai'i.

The licensed educators, to be recruited approximately four months prior to the MEC's arrival, will focus on curriculum development, customization, and delivery. Supervision and training will be hands-on, with direct reporting to the Executive Director, who will ensure that staff are supported, performance is monitored, and the educational objectives are met consistently.

2. Organization Chart

4. Future Sustainability Plan

The Hawai'i Mobile Museum of Tolerance (HMMOT) has a comprehensive and sustainable plan to ensure its continued operation beyond the fiscal year 2024-25, even in the absence of subsequent Grant-in-Aid funding. This plan includes several key components:

Leadership and Community Commitment: The HMMOT board of directors and a Steering Committee, consisting of notable individuals from Hawai'i, are dedicated to securing the necessary funding for long-term operations. This commitment from local leaders is fundamental to the financial stability and ongoing support of HMMOT.

Initial and Ongoing Support from the Weinberg Foundation and McInerny Foundation: The Weinberg Foundation and the McInerny Foundation each provided initial grants of $100,000, with the potential for additional funding in the future.

Funding from the Weinberg Family Foundation: The Weinberg Family Foundation plans to provide multi-year support to HMMOT, granting $250,000 annually over four years, for a total contribution of $1 million.

Board & Leadership Financial Contributions: The HMMOT Board of Directors and Steering Committee have already committed a significant amount of $600,000 to the project, demonstrating strong internal support and confidence in the viability and importance of HMMOT.

Fundraising from High Net Worth Individuals: The Board has established connections with high net worth individuals who have second homes in Hawai'i. It is anticipated that these individuals will contribute significantly to HMMOT, bolstering its funding sources.

Reduced Dependence on GIA Funding: A pivotal aspect of HMMOT's strategy is to minimize reliance on Grant-in-Aid funding for future long-term operations. This approach is critical for fostering financial independence and resilience.

By combining leadership support, strategic fundraising, substantial initial and ongoing grants, and a commitment to financial self-sufficiency, HMMOT is well-positioned for sustainable operations beyond the 2025-26 fiscal year.
