II. Background and Summary

1. Applicant’s Background.

The Hawai‘i Farm Bureau (HFB) is a non-profit organization of farming families united for the purpose of analyzing problems and formulating action to ensure the future of agriculture thereby promoting the well-being of farming and the State’s economy. In 1948 a small group of farmers on the Windward side of Oahu organized HFB to represent the voice of agriculture in Hawai‘i. Today, HFB has grown into a statewide organization consisting of nearly 2,000 members in eleven affiliates located throughout the state.

HFB is the largest agriculture advocacy organization in the State of Hawai‘i. Our members produce crops year in and year out - some growers are new, some over generations. Among these local crops are vegetables, nuts, coffee, tea, orchard crops, fruit, meat, dairy, livestock, flowers, fish, sugar, seeds, herbs, spices, and nursery crops. They produce crops both organically and conventionally, some using aquaculture, hydroponics, and aquaponics, and others using biotechnology. They comprise small, medium, and relatively large-scale farms.

HFB’s ranks include volunteers, staff, and contractors with a depth of knowledge of virtually all issues affecting agriculture. Our organization features a ‘grassroots’ structure comprised of 11 county chapters located across the state. HFB is uniquely positioned to advocate for and facilitate communication between farmers, ranchers, and the public, and to build and maintain communication infrastructure and develop content to further the common goals of a broad spectrum of farmers and ranchers, and by extension their chosen farms methods, the crops they produce and the citizens of Hawai'i.

HFB has extensive grant administration experience. The 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, and 2007 Legislature appropriated grants to the Hawai'i Farm Bureau for the promotion of Hawai'i's agricultural industry through agricultural research and market development projects. The 2015 and 2016 Legislature appropriated grants to assist Hawai'i's farmers to comply with the Food Safety Modernization Act. The 2019 Legislature appropriated a CIP grant for the construction of the repair and restoration of the Hawai'i Farm Bureau building and perimeter wall. The 2023 Legislature appropriated an Operating grant to facilitate the sharing of knowledge, technology, innovation, and best practices with a global agricultural leader. The 2024 Legislature appropriated funds for the return, relocation, and initial site preparation to enable the Farm Fair in Whitmore Village. The 2025 Legislature approved funding for Research and Market Development to support projects that enhance Hawai'i's agricultural sector's competitiveness, sustainability, and productivity. In addition, HFB has received grants from the USDA, the State of Hawai'i, the County of Maui, the County of Kauai, the County of Hawai'i, and the City and County of Honolulu.

In Fiscal Year 2024–25, the Legislature appropriated GIA funds to support the Hawai'i State Farm Fair's relocation to Whitmore Village. Those funds were used in 2025 due to site-readiness constraints and focused on initial land preparation, temporary infrastructure, and one-time transition costs necessary to hold the Farm Fair at a new location.

The present request does not duplicate those prior expenditures. Instead, it represents a second-phase investment to complete site development and establish Whitmore Village as a permanent, shared-use agricultural event venue, with the Hawai'i State Farm Fair serving as the anchor event for additional statewide agricultural and community events.

2. Goals and Objectives.

The goal of the Hawai'i State Farm Fair (HSFF) is to educate, engage, and share the importance of agriculture in Hawai'i. It is an opportunity to interact with the local community and learn about Hawai'i's local culture by enjoying local produce and foods, interacting with live animals, participating in contests, demonstrations, workshops, and hands-on activities, and purchasing local products, foods, and plants. It engages the local community and visitors in learning about agriculture in Hawai'i and new agricultural and farming products, and shares Hawai'i's history and culture through agriculture, a very important part of the State's heritage. The HSFF also creates authentic, fun, and family-oriented activities that has become an annual event for both residents and visitors, all with the goal of increasing support for local agriculture and helping to move Hawai'i closer to food security and food self-sustainability.

The Farm Fair is designed to attract two groups. First, the general local public, particularly families with children (infants to 12 years of age), grandparents and senior citizens, young adults, and students. Second, visitors who are interested in experiencing and understanding Hawai'i and its multi-cultural, diverse agricultural industry. The Fair will run over two days, and it is anticipated that 10,000-12,000 people will attend. The Farm Fair will include 50 farms and ranches, 20-30 agricultural-related local businesses and community organizations presenting educational exhibits, demonstrations, workshops, a farmers' market, food booths, agricultural-related entertainment, and activities.

The annual Farm Fair has been held annually in mid-July, except during COVID-19 in 2020 and 2021 and during our location transition in 2023 and 2024. Each year, approximately 10,000-15,000 fairgoers attend the HSFF. Fairgoers enjoy local food, shop for fresh produce and a diverse array of plants, participate in fun contests and educational exhibits, and enjoy local entertainment and vendors. Support is requested to complete and enhance permanent site infrastructure at Whitmore Village to support the Hawai'i State Farm Fair and additional recurring agricultural events, including, but not limited to, the Pineapple Festival, Mango Festival, a Rodeo, and agricultural education programs, thereby maximizing the State's return on prior public investments.

This project aligns with the goals of the Hawai'i Department of Agriculture (HDOA), the Agribusiness Development Corporation (ADC), and the University of Hawai'i College of Tropical Agriculture and Human Resilience (CTAHR) to help diversify Hawai'i's agriculture industry. Continued work by the Hawai'i Farm Bureau in conjunction with the HDOA, ADC, and CTAHR provides an amazing opportunity to seek new solutions and to help revitalize the agriculture industry in Hawai'i.

3. Public Purpose and Need to be Served.

What was once dominated by sugarcane and pineapple, Hawai'i's agricultural industry has undergone a great change. Although Hawai'i, has transitioned to a more diversified agricultural approach, much of the food consumed in Hawai'i is still produced elsewhere. There is growing concern about the state's high dependency upon outside sources. Hawai'i is located approximately 2,500 miles from the continental United States. As the most geographically isolated state in the country, Hawai'i imports approximately ninety-two percent of its food. While interest in local food production is growing, Hawai'i farmers face keen competition from imports abroad. Today, the vast majority of the food consumed in the Islands is supplied by the U.S. Mainland, Hawai'i's chief source of competition.

For the last four decades, agriculture in Hawai'i has been in decline. In 1980, the value of all crops, livestock, and aquaculture sales in Hawai'i was $634.1 million; in 2017, it was $563.8 million. Currently, Hawai'i has an inventory of fresh produce that would supply consumers for no more than ten days. Ninety percent of the beef, sixty-seven percent of the fresh vegetables, sixty-five percent of the fresh fruits, and eighty percent of all milk purchased in the State are imported.

It is commonly known that the average age of a farmer in Hawai'i is approximately 61 years old. For agriculture to be sustainable and to produce more local crops, we, as a society, must cultivate the next generation of farmers and ranchers. A primary cause of the shortage of new farmers in Hawai'i during the past several decades has been the decline in support for agriculture education. The lack of support for agricultural education has led to disinterest among youth in pursuing agriculture or natural resource management.

To meet our goal of increased food security and self-sufficiency, the number of local farms and farmers, and the amount of food produced for local markets, will need to increase significantly. Agriculture education is key to developing future farmers and a society that values and understands the vital role of agriculture, food, fiber, and natural resource systems in advancing personal, local, and global well-being.

The Hawai'i State Farm Fair was founded by the Hawai'i Farm Bureau in 1962 to raise public awareness of Hawai'i's agricultural and ranching industries. Throughout its history, it has touched the lives of more than four generations of families. Thousands have come every year to sample local produce and products, experience live farm animals, and participate in demonstrations, workshops, and hands-on activities. This event is the single most important vehicle for promoting the significance of agriculture to residents and visitors to Hawai'i.

4. Target Population.

The target population is the people of the State of Hawai'i. When farms struggle with production costs for their operations, food costs will rise and locally produced supplies will dwindle. The cost in terms of impacts on the economy, higher unemployment, less availability of highly nutritional locally produced food, a changing landscape, and a reduction in food security are real but difficult to quantify.

5. Geographic Coverage.

The geographic coverage will encompass farmers, ranchers, students, educators, consumers, and residents throughout the entire State of Hawai'i as well as visitors to Hawai'i.

III. Service Summary and Outcomes

1. Scope of Work, Tasks, and Responsibilities.

The Hawai'i Farm Bureau will implement Phase II development and program delivery activities at the Hawai'i State Farm Fair (HSFF) site in Whitmore Village to support the continued operation of the Farm Fair as the State's anchor agricultural event and to enable additional agricultural and community events throughout the year.

This phase builds upon prior State investments that enabled initial site readiness and relocation and focuses on completing infrastructure, enhancing operational capacity, and supporting public-facing program delivery necessary for sustained, multi-event use.

A. Phase II Site and Infrastructure Enhancements

- Permanent and semi-permanent land improvements, including grading, drainage, and stabilization required for repeated annual events
- Infrastructure upgrades that improve safety, accessibility, and efficiency for large-scale public events

The Hawai'i State Farm Fair Committee, supported by Hawai'i Farm Bureau staff, contractors, and volunteers, will oversee all aspects of implementation. Activities will be monitored through established committee reporting, milestone tracking, and final reporting to ensure timely and compliant completion.

The Farm Fair Committee shall implement projects, programs, and events once approved by the executive board within the established policy guidelines. The committee may offer suggestions or clarification in the implementation of existing Farm Fair policies. The committee will coordinate all facets as described in the duties and responsibilities of each committee member. The Farm Fair Committee will establish subcommittees responsible for various activities, including Finance, Livestock, Plant Sale, Agricultural Exhibits, Advertising, Entertainment, Gates, Construction, Security, Food & Beverage, Home Economics, Floral Exhibits, and Country Market. The Committee will establish additional committees as needed. The committee shall be responsible for the successful implementation of the Farm Fair's programs, projects, and events.

HFB staff will perform the necessary administrative and support functions, assisted by contractors and volunteers from each of the 11 Farm Bureau County chapters located across the state.

2. Projected Timeline

The following anticipated timeline assumes that the funding will become available on July 1, 2026:

0 – 4 Months	Completion of Phase II infrastructure improvements and site enhancements for permanent, multi-event use.
4 – 8 Months	Coordination with State and partner organizations to integrate additional agricultural events into the annual calendar. Review of Farm Fair Committee Membership. Determine the Date and Theme. Retain Public Relations Agency. Develop Format and Schedule of Events. Confirm equipment and supply contracts.
8 – 12 Months	Hosting of the Hawai'i State Farm Fair as the anchor event, followed by additional agricultural and community events.

3. Quality Assurance and Evaluation Plans.

The Farm Fair Committee shall establish a business plan with goals, objectives, and an action plan for implementation of the Farm Fair. The committee shall meet monthly, and members will provide updates on the status of the areas of responsibility. All recommendations and actions of the committee will be reported to the HFB President in writing. All subcommittee recommendations that directly or indirectly affect the Farm Fair require the full committee's approval and shall be submitted to the full committee by the sub-committee chairperson or executive director.

HFB will generate a final report to ensure the project is completed accurately and on time.

4. Measures of Effectiveness.

The Hawai'i State Farm Fair will also continue to stress the value of 'Buying Local' and require all vendors to sell locally grown products or use locally grown produce in their products.

The Hawai'i State Farm Fair is expected to attract about 10,000 – 12,000 individuals over two days. This will be achieved through an aggressive media and public relations campaign, which will start four weeks before the event. Television, radio, print, and Social Media partners targeting residents and visitors will be secured to ensure adequate time to promote the event. Press releases and other media pitches will be prepared and released in a timely fashion throughout the year. In addition, rack cards and other promotional materials will be distributed at each of Hawai'i Farm Bureau's farmers markets to promote the event to visitors. The public relations strategy will include local, regional, national, and international media.
