A BILL FOR AN ACT

RELATING TO FARM TO FAMILIES.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF HAWAII:

1           SECTION 1. The legislature finds that one in three 2 households in Hawaii is struggling to secure consistent access
3 to food. This data paints a sobering picture of families in 4 distress, underscoring the need for immediate action to restore 5 the basic dignity of nourishment to every household across the 6 islands.

7           The legislature further finds that the crisis
8 disproportionately affects the most vulnerable in Hawaii, the 9 keiki. Nearly thirty per cent of children in Hawaii are growing 10 up in food-insecure homes, some enduring entire days without a
11 meal. When experiencing hunger, keiki can face increased risk
12 of cognitive issues, aggression, anxiety, behavioral problems,
13 depression, and suicidal ideation. For families facing hunger, 14 fresh, healthy produce is often one of the first things removed 15 from grocery lists, negatively affecting long-term health.

16           The legislature also finds that this food access emergency
17 disproportionately impacts Native Hawaiian and Pacific Islanders

1 the most, with more than forty per cent of households
2 experiencing food insecurity, a reflection of longstanding 3 inequities in access to resources, economic opportunity, and 4 essential services. The legislature believes that the State's 5 communities should not bear this burden alone.

6 The legislature recognizes that Hawaii's food banks worked 7 with over five hundred agency partners, such as schools, 8 community-based nonprofits, churches, community centers, and 9 food pantries, to distribute more than twenty-seven million
10 meals in 2023, collectively serving two hundred forty thousand
11 individuals each month, in every community across the State.
12 These numbers are nearing the numbers served during the height 13 of the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic, but the 14 support systems available during the COVID-19 pandemic are no
15 longer in place.

16 The legislature additionally finds that to try to bridge 17 the gap between the State's food banks and their partners to 18 bring fresh, Hawaii-grown produce to families, the food banks 19 have partnered with five hundred seventy-five local farms and 20 food hubs to create a consistent market for Hawaii agriculture 21 producers, strengthening the State's community food systems and

1 creating a healthier, more resilient Hawaii. For example, the 2 Hawaii Foodbank invested over $11,000,000 in Hawaii-grown
3 produce over the last five years, which, using the local foods
4 economic multiplier, equates to an investment of nearly 5 $19,000,000 in the State's local economy.

6 The legislature notes that as the cost of importing food
7 continues to rise, increasing the State's reliance on local 8 agriculture is not only a sustainable solution but also a
9 necessary one. Farmers across Hawaii have the potential to grow 10 more fresh, nutritious food that can directly serve those most 11 in need. By strengthening the connection between local farms
12 and community food systems, the State can reduce its dependence
13 on imports and ensure that more families have access to Hawaii-
14 grown produce like Okinawan sweet potato, choy sum, bok choy,
15 long beans, breadfruit, kalo, and more.

16 The legislature further finds that programs that encourage 17 partnerships between farmers and food assistance programs can 18 make a profound impact. By investing in Hawaii-grown 19 agriculture producers, the State can support not only local 20 farmers but also the communities they feed. This approach 21 aligns with the values of mālama 'āina--caring for the land--and

1 ensures that the State honors the deep connection between the 2 land and the people of Hawaii. Uplifting local farmers will 3 also uplift the entire community, fostering a more resilient
4 food system that can withstand future challenges.

5 Accordingly, the purpose of this Act is to establish and 6 appropriate funds for the Hawaii farm to families program to 7 fund food banks in the State to purchase, store, and transport
8 fresh, Hawaii-grown or -produced food to food insecure
9 communities. This program will serve the State's food needs,
10 provide Hawaii's agriculture producers with a market to support
11 their operations, and keep moneys circulating within the State
12 to boost the local economy.

13 SECTION 2. Chapter 141, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is 14 amended by adding a new part to be appropriately designated and 15 to read as follows:
